Krider Proposes Junior College On County Home Site

School Locating Here Will Mean Much Progress

"We have a site in Seminole County that is one of the most desirable locations in the State for one of the Junior Colleges that are being planned by the State Board of Education," John Krider, Seminole County Chamber of Commerce Executive Secretary said today.

"I have proposed that we do away with the antiquated County Home," Krider commented as he spoke of his proposal to offer the State a site on which to locate one of the new schools.

"This site, where the County Home is now located, is much more desirable for a Junior College than for its present use," he said.

In offering the State Department of Education the site where the County Home is now located, we are offering them a site located on a main highway, easily accessible to a population that runs well up into the six figure bracket, commented Krider.

"A Junior College located on Highway 17-92 would be outside of a heavily populated area that would tend to reflect its exclusive use there," Krider said.

The County Commissioner-elect said that "it would be easy to keep the county's machinery, locate its garage, maintenance and repair shops on property not as valuable as the County Home site, and on property now owned by Seminole County."

"The newly proposed nursing home for our elderly citizens could be located on a site more suitable," according to John Krider.

The property where the County Home is now located is a beautiful site on one of the main highways of the State and easily accessible from the north, south, east and west, and with the proper planning could be offered to the State to be used for one of their new colleges for which they are now searching for locations," John Krider explained.

"I have thought about this proposal for a long time," Krider (Continued on Page 10)

Official Suggests Private Nursing Home For Elderly

"It is time now to provide better care for our elderly people in their sunset years, and at a lower cost," John Krider, City Commissioner and Executive Secretary of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, said today.

"The idea of a county 'poor house' is antiquated and in the proper way to take care of our older citizens," Krider said.

Krider said that it is time that Seminole County modernize its facilities for this important phase of the county's obligation in line with other counties throughout the state.

"It is feasible to do this," said Krider, "for each and everyone of them is entitled to something—Social Security, old age pensions or Welfare Department aid."

The care for our elderly people should be put on a private nursing home basis, said Krider, where they will get the proper care, the proper food, diet, exercise and medical care.

In the proposal for such a radical change in the county's policies, Krider said that the county, perhaps, would necessarily have to subsidize the move to a certain extent—but not at the excessive cost that is now budgeted by the county government, and paid out of the taxpayers' money.

He explained that the average elderly person receives approximately $60 a month while the average cost for operating the nursing home would be in the neighborhood of $100, including the cost of maintenance, the necessary equipment, and everything else in the operating expense.

"All the county would have to do," Krider said, "would be to supplement the income of the elderly people by about $40 a month."

In other words, the cost to maintain the 16 people in the (Continued on Page Seven)

Higginbotham Seeks Re-Election To Post

"I should like to announce that I will be a candidate for re-election to the City Commission for a three year term on Nov. 6, 1936," Earl Higginbotham said this morning.

Commissioner Higginbotham, who is the second commissioner to announce for re-election said "I do this solely on the basis of wanting to see the City of Sanford continue to grow and expand as it has done in the past few years."

"While serving as a commissioner during the past three years," said Higginbotham, "I have had the pleasure of serving with a group of men who have helped the city progress more than any time in the past. We have had some of the major problems of all time come up before the City Commission during this period. The sewer system was constructed which helped to give services to many people. The sewage treatment plant is still a problem to be faced. The city has undertaken a street surfacing program that has been needed for years."

Commissioner Higginbotham recalled that "The past three years has seen the settlement of the electric franchise with the power company. This has meant added revenue to the city in a fair settlement of a big question. The revenue is being used to give the people of Sanford a community center, fire station, and many other things we have needed for years."

In addition, Higginbotham said (Continued on Page Seven)

Board To Discuss Improvement Plan; Okay Appointment

The Board of Sanford City Commissioners will meet tonight to discuss one of the lightest agendas to confront the five-man group of city fathers.

Top item on the two-item agenda will be the discussion relative to the financing of Sanford's Capital Improvement program which includes a Sanford Civic Center, a new Municipal Fire Station, new fire apparatus, a Colored swimming pool for the Goldsboro Recreational Area, the Municipal Boat Basin, and new equipment badly needed for various departments of the city's general government.

A committee appointed by Mayor F. D. Scott to look into Capital Improvement Program financing will probably report on their findings. Two important bids hinged on the success of the committee's securing of the necessary money which is to be backed by the Florida Power and Light Company franchise agreement returns.

The appointment of H. N. Sayer as Finance Director for the City of Sanford will be finally approved by the Board and Sanford City Commissioners. Sayer's position will be the top position in Sanford's City government, next to that of City Manager Warren E. Knowles.

Orchid Expert, Writer To Speak At Luncheon

The Sanford federated Garden club averages 333 members, most of whom will be on hand to welcome Miss Mary Noble, author and orchid expert and her mother, Mrs. Fred B. Noble, garden editor and feature writer for Florida horticultural magazines. The various circles will band together for a reception and covered dish luncheon on Thursday, Oct. 18th.

Requests have been pouring in for Miss Noble to speak of orchid growing and also from another of her four books, "Plants Indoors." She will talk briefly on both subjects. Mrs. Noble has been asked by the majority to speak on the federated clubs and their worthwhile projects as seen in her Listening Post columns and throughout her fourteen years of service to the Florida garden world.

The annual light bulb sale, according to Ben Wade, chairman of the Sanford Lions Club committee for the event, will get underway on October 15.

"We will canvass the entire Sanford area," said Chairman Ben Wade, "to give everyone an opportunity to participate in the 'light conservation' program of our club."

Members of the Sanford Lions Club will go from house to house, in the Sanford area, selling light bulbs, proceeds from which will benefit the light conservation program of the club.

"We have furnished eye glasses, and have had examinations made leading to the prescribing of eye glasses, for children who would not otherwise be able to secure the proper attention for their eyes," Chairman Wade said.

"Of course," he said "this is only a small portion of our program but it is the most outstanding part of the work we do in our Sight Conservation program."

The light bulb sale will start on October 15 and continue throughout that week, Wade said.

ACTIVE CLUB WOMAN DIES MIAMI (E)—Mrs. T. V. Moore, 79, active in politics and Dade County civic affairs since 1901, died last night.

She was past president of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs and the Florida Women's Methodist Missionary Society and a member of the state Democratic central committee.

Lions To Observe District Governor Week At Meeting

A program in honor of District Governor David Lundquist of Orlando, has been planned.

Principal speaker for the occasion will be past District Governor Earl Ziebarth of Pierson.

The annual light bulb sale, according to Ben Wade, chairman of the Sanford Lions Club committee for the event, will get underway on October 15.

"We will canvass the entire Sanford area," said Chairman Ben Wade, "to give everyone an opportunity to participate in the 'light conservation' program of our club."

"YOU CAN GROW ORCHIDS" says Miss Mary Noble to her mother, Mrs. Fred B. Noble. This seems no surprise to her listener, as mother Noble realizes that the book titled "You Can Grow Orchids" by daughter Mary is now in its second printing and the subject of book reviews in the major federated circles of Florida garden clubs. Mother Noble is distinguished in her own right, being garden editor of the Florida Times-Union and for years on the governing board of the Jacksonville federated Garden Club.

Yankees Take 3-2 Lead In Series; Mantle Hits Homer

NEW YORK (E)—Don Larsen of the Yankees pitched the first perfect game in World Series history and Mickey Mantle hit a telling home run today as New York whipped Brooklyn 2-0 in the fifth World Series game and took a 3-2 lead in games. Larsen didn't give a hit or a walk and not a Dodger reached first.

Never before in World Series history had there been a no-hit game, much less one in which a team failed to get a man on base.

Larsen, a 6-foot, 4-inch native of Michigan City, who now lives in San Diego, Calif., pitched superbly with the peculiar no-windup style he adopted during the regular season. He struck out seven, including last man to face him, pinch hitter Dale Mitchell.

A crowd of 65,519 was almost breathless at the finish as Larsen set a new Series record by retiring 24 Dodgers in order through the first eight innings and faced the tail end of the Brooklyn batting order with a perfect game in sight.

Mantle's homer in the eighth inning field stands in the fourth inning was the deciding blow, although the Yanks got three more hits off Sal Maglie in the sixth and scored a second run.

Maglie, winner of the first game of the Series, pitched well enough to win most games. He gave up only five hits walked two and fanned five.

The nearest previous approach to a World Series no-hitter was in 1917, when Floyd Bill Beens of the Yankees held the Dodgers hitless for 8 2/3 innings before pinch-hitter Cookie Lavagetto singled. Bevens gave up ten walks that time and lost the game 3-2.

Drab Walls May Be Converted

CONVERT DRAB WALL INTO ONE WITH GLAMOR

A drab living room wall can be transformed into an expanse of beauty by the application of a handsome exterior siding that looks wonderful indoors. Add a long, custom-made bench and a peak-through divider at one end, and you'll have a room that will be the envy of the neighborhood.

First off, cover the long wall with a permanent facing of Masonite Panelgroove. This is a durable hardboard paneling that has vertical grooves at intervals of four inches. This may be painted a solid color or in stripes, depending on your tastes in decor. This splinter-free material is available at lumber yards.

You can build an eight or 10-foot bench, attaching one side to the new wall and supporting the front with metal or wood legs. On it may be placed a television set, a vase of flowers and, of course, some flat, padded cushions for sitting comfort.

Make this bench by covering a wooden framework with Masonite Tempered Presdwood. It can be painted any color.

The room divider, if you need one to separate the living area from the dining spot or a hall, can be built on a wooden or metal framework. Panels used for ends and for sliding doors to cover storage space may be brightly-enamelled Presdwood. Such a modern divider that's both attractive and functional is low in cost, too.

Complete this attractive room transformation by installing one of the new pulley-type lighting fixtures. If you're skillful with a saw, you can make your own lamp shade of "Peg-board" panels held together with wooden dowels.

New Roofing Stone Combines Beauty, Quality

It's not likely that this young lady-on-a-roof would want to match her abode to the roof of her home; and it's even more unlikely that she'd want to match the roof of her home to a particular skirt. The point is: it's possible. A new coarse aggregate for built-up roofs, "3M" brand Ceramic-Color Stone, is now available in eight sun-fast colors especially designed to please the decorating tastes of Southern home owners.

A high quality roofing stone offering a range of eight durable ceramically-fired colors is available for the first time in this state for use on built-up roofs.

For the Southern home owner interested in a high quality built-up roof which will withstand widely varying effects of intense sunlight, heavy rain and high winds, the new roofing stone offers complete protection to the underlying asphalt because of its opacity and a special chemical treatment which gives it extra-strong adhesion.

The eight sunfast colors—light green, dark green, brown, red, blue, coral, buff and white—will stay bright "years longer" than even the limited range of "natural" colors, according to the manufacturer.

The new coarse aggregate, called "3M" brand Ceramic-Color Stone, is colored by a patented ceramic process developed by Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co., St. Paul, Minn., and Little Rock, Ark.

For the roofing contractor or applicator, Ceramic-Color Stone offers easier application because it is dust-free, and the chemical treatment assures better adhesion to asphalt than was formerly possible for a quality roofing job.

Most Homes Outgrow Electrical Systems

Have you outgrown your original electric system? At least 88% of American homes today are inadequately wired! Many new appliances have come into daily use in the last twenty-five years, but often extra outlets, circuit breakers, fuse boxes and needed wiring haven't been added to take care of them.

Overloaded wiring can lead to fire and in the meantime causes:

- Blackouts (when fuses blow or circuit breakers go out).
- Wasted electricity — due to slow heating of appliances.
- Overworked — and often burned-out motors.
- Shrinking or dimming of TV pictures when other appliances are being used.
- Dimming of lights when appliances start.
- Loss of illumination from bulbs and tubes.

CHECK YOUR HOME TODAY
Go through your home, room

by room and check your present and future electrical needs.

Do you have several lamps or appliances plugged in on one outlet?

Are there any frayed wires or bent prongs on wires?

Do you have a circuit breaker to take care of overloading . . . and do you know where your fuse boxes and circuit breakers are located?

Is your lighting inadequate because of lack of outlets and wiring? See how you can improve the looks and lighting of each room with new fixtures . . . with outlets.

Check outside your home for safety lighting at doors and steps. Do you have an outside outlet? Is your garage properly wired?

Your home do-it-yourself work-shop with new power tools uses more electricity. Make sure that there are enough outlets and safe wiring.

DON'T DO IT YOURSELF!
Call in a reliable electrical contractor! Wiring and repairs are not jobs for the do-it-yourself fan. They require expert, professional care.

Your electrical contractor understands the latest installation techniques and will wire your home according to the strict building codes.

You'll be safer . . . and save money in the long run . . . when you let an expert handle all your electrical problems.

Don't take any more chances with fires that might be caused by defective wiring. Overworked circuits and slow heating appliances eat down on the efficiency of your electrical system.

Don't delay . . . get the needed electrical work done soon! Check your home today . . . and call your electrical contractor!

Brightest Room In House

For the average "Mrs. Home-maker" the kitchen is the pivot point around which her home-making activities revolve. And today's decor has made it the brightest, happiest room in the house!

Today there is a strong tendency in Early American homes to make the kitchen much like the warm, cozy room of grandmother's day. Creating this type of kitchen offers more exciting possibilities than almost any other phase of decor.

Gaily-printed curtains, melon-pine spice shelves and other kitchen accessories copied from early days, natural furnished cabinets, a painted geranium in the window and there's a cozy work-center for any woman who loves a "homey" atmosphere.

For the modern-mood woman, even the streamlined, efficient kitchen need no longer to be a sterile looking area with the charm of a scientific lab.

Now the bold use of color is often an important part of modern decor comes right into the kitchen. Major appliances and enameled steel cabinets are being shown in gay pink, sunny yellow, blue, green, turquoise and copper tones to make the most modern kitchen a delightful room.

Jaycees Urge Citizens To Take Part In 'Fire Prevention Week'

Sanford and Seminole County are not immune to one of the greatest "property destroyers" of the nation.

That's why the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce has the annual "Fire Prevention Week" at the top of their list of important events to observe.

The most common answer to the annual plea to take part in "Fire Prevention Week" is, "I haven't got time—and anyway, that's the job of the local Fire Department."

Apathy toward one of the nation's worst dangers is responsible for more and more answers similar to the one that's called "the most common."

Most business people fail to realize that last year's toll from fire in 78 industrial firms added up to nearly $78 million alone.

There were nine "main causes for fire last year. Smoking and matches were responsible for 122,000 fires; defective or overheated heating and cooking equipment was responsible for 100,500; electricity caused a total of 59,000; rubbish, ignited, unknown caused 59,400; chimney flues caused 37,500; children and matches caused 29,900; and open lights, flames and sparks caused 22,200.

These are not, by far, all of the causes of fire which caused the country last year a $1,140,768,000 loss. Nearly one and a quarter billion dollars in property loss!

Fire is no respecter of persons or kind of property. Whether it be a farm building, woodlands, industry, store, office building, home school church or automobile, fire will take its toll in both property damage and lives every year.

The Jaycees are anxious to get the "Fire Prevention" story to every person, young or old, so that in some way perhaps, a life may be saved or property protected.

This week you will see the members of the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce "hard at work" taking the "Fire Prevention" message to every person possible.

They ask simply that every person give consideration and heed to the necessity for Fire Prevention.

It is with pride they point to the part they play in "Fire Prevention Week" here in Sanford and Seminole County—and point with fear to figures tabulated by the National Fire Protection Association: 11,476 dead by fires 30,000 more injured, 31 dead by fires every day.

The Jaycees say "One death by fire is one too many."

Whatever the fire may be—a farm fire, one in the home, business or office, a car fire, school or church fire—it is a loss that could have been avoided.

Fire is bad business anytime and for everybody.

Don't gamble with fire—the percentages are always against you!

Employment Of Older Women

One of the saddest lives in our society is that of the older woman still capable of doing good work, who cannot get a job. Such women comprise about a third of the nation's unemployed.

The situation is improving. Partly because of a heavy demand for skilled salespeople and office workers, many more women in their late 40s and 50s and 60s are employed than were 15 years ago. Good evidence that more remains to be done, however, is the Department of Labor's decision to conduct a series of forums on the subject in various parts of the country.

The forums will bring together employers, community leaders and women who seek jobs. The project recognizes that, as an assistant to the secretary of labor said, the problem "must be given community-wide interest. It can't be solved by a small group."

As the population changes, such efforts will be increasingly important. They will benefit both older people and society as a whole.

Third Party

It is not widely known that third party now in the field hopes to form a balance of power between Republicans and Democrats. Its most daring hope is to get enough electoral votes to throw the presidential election into the House of Representatives, where by bargaining, it might gain important concessions.

The new group announced its program at a National States Rights Conference at Memphis, Tenn. The attending delegates were all conservatives. Some were Southerners who favor segregation. The majority, however, seem to favor the states rights doctrine as a means of repealing the income tax and much recent social legislation.

For president they are supporting T. Coleman Andrews of Richmond, Va., the former commissioner of internal revenue who has advocated repealing the income tax. His running mate is Thomas H. Wernet, a former Republican representative from California.

The backers of the new movement are likely to find the cards stacked against them when it comes to getting their ticket on the ballot. In almost all states the politicians have purposely made it hard for a new party to develop. It is thus difficult to assess the third party's real strength, which may be greater than its popular vote will show.

It seems most unlikely, however, that the new party will be a significant factor in the election.

Frenchmen Are Working Too Hard

By CARL BARTMAN

PARIS (AP) — Doctors think too many Frenchmen are working too hard, and France is going to do something about it.

The average Frenchman is not a fellow who takes two hours for lunch and spends the afternoon winking at girls on the Champs Elysees.

He really works. This goes too far school kids cramming for examinations and for elderly ladies bogged down in the complexity of pension forms. The French take it all harder than you might think.

The man in charge of remedying the situation—at the behest of the French Academy of Medicine—is Dr. Hugo Blancani.

In addition to handling a prosperous medical practice, Dr. Blancani is an enthusiastic amateur or semiprofessional at painting, writing, philosophizing, wine making, gardening and social service. He also likes to take long country walks and he maintains he isn't overworked himself.

"The reason," he says, "is that I'm doing work I like, I have it well organized, and I get plenty of recreation."

He has been named director of a new organization, the Institute for the Study and Prevention of Overwork. It plans to set up a clinic and research laboratory in Paris.

"Overwork," Dr. Blancani told this reporter, "is the disease of our country. It's worse than cancer, because by the very nature of society. Look at your President Eisenhower. What do you think was at the bottom of his heart attack? Or President Roosevelt? When things happen to men like that, it causes a disturbance to our whole society."

Dr. Blancani says it's not just too much work that causes the kind of exhaustion he is trying to cure. Also involved are the kind of work, the individual's attitude toward it, and the whole environment in which he lives.

It's quite possible, he says, to get up at 5 a.m., work hard, and go to bed at midnight without doing yourself any harm—if you have the temperament, know how to handle yourself and how to relax when necessary.

Lots of city dwellers these days, even in a relatively tranquil house with paper-thin walls, surrounded morning and night with radios and TV sets, they have to struggle with traffic, shop in crowded stores and markets, wait long and nervous minutes to see minor officials on routine errands. All this, Dr. Blancani acknowledges, is more acute in Paris than in provincial towns where the older, more leisurely existence still persists.

Campaign Looks Like One In '52

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Either President Eisenhower is mad as Adlai Stevenson for needling him or he has declined to fight harder. What's happening now is beginning to look like a repetition of 1952.

Monday was the first chance Eisenhower had to hit back since Stevenson ridiculed him last week. Stevenson must have stung. Eisenhower poured sarcasm on Stevenson. The two men belittled each other as a leader.

And Eisenhower is beginning to use some of the very words—"bunk," for instance—he threw at the Democrats when he got fired up in the 1952 campaign.

In the early days of the 1952 race Stevenson, a much wittier man in those days repeatedly poked at Eisenhower, calling him a "me, too" candidate and otherwise making light of him.

At last Eisenhower baited over. Swooping across Indiana in mid-September 1952 he made one speech after another complaining about Stevenson's humor. He told the crowd:

"I can't be amused in this business. These are not laughing matters on which we are speaking; ... now as we face the issues of this campaign I see nothing funny about them."

Stevenson replied that he was just saying what came naturally. As the campaign picked up speed, Eisenhower identified Stevenson with President Truman, calling them the "Siamese twins." And he said: "This has been some campaign. The present incumbent Truman and his proteges have assailed me with the greatest collection of film-flaming accusations made in any campaign."

"Bunk" was one of his favorite words for what the Democrats were saying. He said they were "malicious." He accused them of "slandering."

He hasn't gone that far as yet in this campaign. But he must have decided he was too relaxed for he has decided to campaign harder.

There is little wit in Stevenson this year. The light touch is all but gone. And even Truman, who didn't think much of Stevenson as a campaigner before the Democratic convention has praised him for his new "give 'em hell" approach.

Touches of ridicule to Eisenhower crept into Stevenson's speeches early this year. On Sept. 22 and 23 he said "I respect the kindly intentions of President Eisenhower" and that he was "willing to believe" Eisenhower didn't "understand what he was saying" when he talked of the farm problem in 1952.

Then he added he suspects Eisenhower of "political expediency" in dealing with the farmers this year. On Sept. 25 at Kansas City he made his most scornful attack on Eisenhower as far.

After accusing Eisenhower of failure to live up to his "responsibility of leadership," Stevenson said: "In fact, many people have wondered how much President Eisenhower has had to do with the Eisenhower administration. Sometimes the President seemed to wonder himself."

"There is only one question to be asked about the Eisenhower administration. That is: 'Who's in charge here anyway?' Who, in this businessman's administration keeps the stores?"

Yesterday Eisenhower went to Ohio and Kentucky and made two speeches. He didn't mention Stevenson by name, but there could be no doubt whom he meant when he said:

"We all know that there are people who suffer from living in a world of wafers and phrases for so long that they can no longer recognize action when they see it. And when it comes to a really critical matter like political leadership—we recall a fact that all of us have seen in our own daily lives: The longest lectures almost always come from those with the least experience."

10 Commandments Is Most Expensive Movie Ever Made

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Hollywood has had a preview look at the most expensive movie ever made — "The Ten Commandments"—and it's taking a bigger and better adjective than colossal to describe it.

This 75-year old Cecil B. DeMille's 70th picture and easily the masterpiece of the screen's master showman.

DeMille spent 12 hours a day for five years plus $13,500,000 of Paramount's money to put the life of Moses on the screen. The budget almost doubles the seven million spent on "Quo Vadis," and more than triple the cost of "Gone With The Wind."

The latest picture, which grossed 25 million dollars, is the all time boxoffice champion, but Paramount expects "The Ten Commandments" to bring in 100 million dollars over the next 20 years.

Much of the big cost was due to DeMille's insistence on shooting such scenes as the Exodus on the actual locale—Egypt's Sinai Valley.

And only DeMille, with characteristic lavishness, would build three pyramids and 16 Sphinxes less than five miles from the real ones.

But the old man knew what he was doing. The result is more a religious experience than a movie. It's an armchair pilgrimage.

Research alone cost $250,000. But historically it's money well spent. DeMille hired a team of researchers at the University of Southern California who came up with little known facts of Moses' life.

From the writings of ancient Roman historians, Josephus and Philo; from the rabbinical legends and even from the Koran of Islam, history of Moses. The research turned up proof of the traditional belief and one of its great legends.

Mrs. F. McMurray Gives Trip Report To Westside P-TA

Mrs. Fred McMurray, Grammar School Delegate to the Summer Institute, gave a report on her trip at Thursday's meeting of the Westside P-TA.

There were over 10 people in attendance at the meeting which was conducted by Mrs. Carl Prescott, president. Mrs. Helen Stevenson led the group in singing after which Mrs. Grady Herman presented the devotional. Mrs. R. E. Bedenbaugh membership chairman, announced that the membership of the Westside P-TA is now nearly 110.

Mrs. McMurray, who was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Prescott, told the group that the course was based on the P-TA theme for year "The family and the community, the P-TA serves both and each shapes the other". She quoted from talks given by Dr. J. Broward Culpepper, second vice president of Florida Congress of P-TA, and Dr. Earl Loman Koss, who is professor of Social Welfare at FSU, both of whom were emphatic in saying that we cannot expect our children to conform to standards that were set for us as children in view of the tremendous changes in the world in the past generation. Dr. Culpepper said that "while P-TA accomplishments have been great, its challenge lies in the fact that its value is dependent upon each member, its scope is as broad as the sweep of human affairs, and its opportunity is as great as the needs of children". Dr. Koss said that the "responsibility of P-TA is to help families understand their opportunities and problems and to help the coming generation ready itself for family living". The consensus of all was that in order to make useful and happy citizens of our children we must accept them as they are, love them and let them be sure that we love them.

told The Sanford Herald today, "and I am thoroughly convinced that this is a step in the right direction and I am equally convinced that our educators in the local surrounding areas will be equally convinced if the offer is made."

"With our older people cared for in the manner they deserve, this proposal would mean that our County will be making use of its assets in a manner that would meet with the approval of the greatest number of people who are supporting the county government with their tax dollars," he said.

"There is no doubt that if such an offer is made and accepted, Seminole County would become another educational center of the State," the Chamber of Commerce Executive Secretary said.

"Being accessible to more and more young people of our area, the site that is to be situated on one of the main four-laned thoroughfares of the State, would attract hundreds and hundreds of the high school graduates of Central Florida who would otherwise not have had an opportunity to attend college," Krider said.

"This is a proposal that I think should be the next Number One project that our county attempt to complete," he said.

Seminole County is progressing and going forward at the fastest rate ever experienced in its history, John Krider said this morning, and we should progress educationwise just the same as we are progressing in every other phase of our county's economy.

Letter Writing Week Observed Here This Week

Letter Writing Week will again be celebrated in Sanford during the week of October 13-19. Postmaster Joel S. Field announced today.

Commenting on the significance of National Letter Writing Week, Field pointed out that each year since 1934 this event has been observed as a reminder of the real meaning of a personal letter.

Emphasizing the traditional sanctity of the letter mail, Field reminded Sanford residents that one of the basic American freedoms is the unencumbered transmission of their first class mail. It is the most valuable possession of the citizens of a free country.

"We all know the human importance of letter writing," Field stated, "the way in which it holds scattered families together, of giving comfort and love and news to all the people of the land. But its value is immeasurably greater than that. Its implications are almost infinite.

"We in America have the privilege of unencumbered and unlimited means of communication. With this in mind, I urge all citizens of Sanford to join me in this national celebration. Let's make this year's National Letter Writing Week for 1946 the greatest ever."

Mrs. Camilla Bruce, Seminole County Supervisor of Registration, said that the present total is 12,685 which does not count those who qualified after being disqualified in 1944.

"We now have the largest registration in Seminole County history," Mrs. Bruce said this morning.

"When we total the number of persons who have qualified, outside of the new registrations, we will have a registration list of voters who will take part in the November general election larger than any we have ever experienced," she said.

City Commission Talks Close In Dark

Herald Offers To Stage 2nd 'Pancake Day'

In a letter to the Women's Auxiliary of Seminole Memorial Hospital, the Sanford Herald offered to stage the Second Annual Pancake Day early next year to assist the auxiliary in raising funds for their projects.

Earlier this year, the first annual "Pancake Day" event was held by the Sanford Herald with members of its staff contributing their services and the Sanford Herald contributing the pancake ingredients.

The letter asked that the date for next year's event be set early so that plans could be completed. It is expected that the event, slated for an early date in 1957 will attract at least double the number of Sanford and Seminole County citizens to eat pancakes and sausage and contribute to the Women's Auxiliary fund.

Yesterday, another one of the Women's Auxiliary projects for Seminole Memorial Hospital was climaxed when the Hospitality Cart was put into use for the first time. Mrs. M. L. Raborn, chairman of the Hospitality Shop at the hospital for the auxiliary, presided over the ceremony.

Our first customer was W. E. Watson who is presently confined to the Seminole Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Raborn said Judge Watson celebrated his 76th birthday yesterday, and surrounded by birthday cakes, gifts and flowers, he was the first patient to use and use the services of the Hospitality Cart.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Seminole Memorial Hospital recently announced that it is now a member of the State Auxiliary, Mrs. A. W. Epps, the Women's Auxiliary president, said that there will be a district meeting of the Association of Florida Hospital Auxiliaries in Winter Park at the Langford Hotel beginning on Oct. 15.

The hostess auxiliary in the Hospitality Guild of the Florida Sanitarium and Hospital with Mrs. L. M. Sutter, president, of Orlando. Others are Mrs. Brantley Burcham, president of the Orange Memorial Hospital Auxiliary and Mrs. R. J. Wisner, president of the Winter Park Memorial Hospital Auxiliary.

The meeting on Oct. 18, Thursday, will begin at 10 a. m., said Mrs. Epps, in the Tree Top Room with State Officers on the program. Achievement reports of the auxiliary and a problem clinic will begin at 3 p. m.

Luncheon will be served at the hotel said Mrs. Epps, with registration and luncheon tickets $2.50. Registration will begin at 10 a. m.

All members of the Auxiliary are invited and urged to attend since there will be a discussion at this meeting of the "High Fever" illness, the Broadway production the local auxiliary will stage in February.

Rotarians Hear Impressive Talk By Rev. R. Spear

The Rev. Robert H. Spear Jr., pastor of the Church of the Nazarene here was paid a very high compliment at the weekly meeting of the Sanford Rotary Club yesterday afternoon when practically the entire membership of the club remained to hear his talk and gave up the opportunity to witness a World Series baseball game that made history.

In speaking on "The Experiences and Observations in The Course of a Young Minister's Life," the Rev. Spear, at times, had his audience laughing loudly at the tales he told and then, speaking seriously, he made a tremendous impression on the group with his sincerity and his inspirational message, "The Hand of the Master".

Born in New Jersey, "Bob" Spear received his early schooling in Wilmington, Del. and attending in the early school, he graduated from the Home-Steud, Fla. High School. He spent three and a half years in the Army Infantry after which he prepared for the ministry and started his first pastorate in Pitts-ville where in August 1919, he married Mary Frances Carter. In 1924, he was called to the pastorate of the local Church of the Nazarene. He and his wife have two children, Jim, four and a half years of age, and Joy, aged two.

The Rev. Spear was introduced by Charlie Morrison, program chairman for the day. During the meeting presided over by Dr. Charles E. Peters, the club, upon motion of Mayor F. D. Scott, following some remarks by George Stine, unanimously endorsed Rotarian James B. Keith of the Orlando Club for the post of district governor, to be voted on at the Winter Haven District Conference, Sunday through Tuesday of next week. Local delegates to the conference are: Dr. Peters, secretary Dr. R. W. Ruprecht, Charles Wagner and Harry Simpson.

In other action by the three-man board last night, streets and drainage in Rose Court and Grove Mansions subdivisions were accepted for permanent maintenance by the City of Sanford.

The vacating of an easement and sewer in Grove Manor was approved in order to construct additional houses in the subdivision to which sewer facilities will be installed.

Commissioners A. L. Wilson, who is also president of the Sanford Kiwanis Club, and David Gatchel, a member of the Sanford civic club, are attending a Kiwanis Convention in Fort Lauderdale and were not present at last night's session.

Meeting Scheduled

Mayor F. D. Scott and City Manager Warren E. Knowles will attend a meeting of the Florida Municipal League which will be held in Fort Lauderdale, Nov. 15-17.

Public Housing Now Available To More People

"Congress, last summer, changed the public housing law enabling local housing authorities to rent to a single person if they are over the age of 65, or rent to two persons unrelated, if one of them is over 65," Gordon Bradley, Executive Director of the Sanford and Seminole County Housing Authorities said today.

"This change has made public housing available to more people," Bradley said.

"In the past we have had quite a few requests from older people whose applications we could not handle," the local housing authority official said.

"However," he added, "for people under 65, the present law still controls and there must be two or more that are blood relations, married, or adopted.

"We have quite a few vacancies in Castle Brewer and William Clark Courts, some caused by people going north in the early summer in search of employment," Bradley commented.

"There are no vacancies in Edward Higgins Terrace," he said, "but we are still accepting applications."

The new housing unit making available 30 new apartments will be built just west of Edward Higgins Terrace and another will be constructed in Ovidio located south of the new colored school.

Preliminary plans were taken to Atlanta during the past week-end by Architects John Burton IV and Gordon Bradley for approval with plans to get construction underway around Feb. 1 next year.

The two units are under separate authorities and will cost in the neighborhood of $300,000 each.

CofC Membership Drive Opens Soon

Campaign Plans Are Underway

"The Seminole County Chamber of Commerce membership drive will get underway in the near future," Don Bales, chairman of the important Chamber of Commerce committee said yesterday.

Bales met with Chamber of Commerce President Clifford McKibbin and the Chamber of Commerce Manager John Krider yesterday to begin planning for the membership campaign slated to be staged during this month.

"This is a very important year in the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce history," Don Bales said yesterday as he emphasized that this year's campaign must be one of the most aggressive of any in the past.

"There are numerous projects being planned for this year and each one of them is important to Sanford and Seminole County's continued prosperity and growth," he said.

"However, it is impossible for just a few key citizens to accomplish all that must be done during one of the most significant years in the area's history," Bales pointed out. "We need the cooperation and strength of every merchant, professional man, industry owner, and citizen in order to accomplish all that your Chamber of Commerce has set out to do during 1956 and 1957."

Bales told president Clifford McKibbin and Manager John Krider, "We must have the largest membership our organization has ever experienced in the past for it is very important that we pull together as a team to get results that are expected of us in the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce."

As he explained his membership drive plans to the two Chamber of Commerce leaders, Bales said "This year's campaign for members is going to be the most extensive we have ever staged before. We will have everything ready for the appointed time and complete the solicitation for memberships in a minimum of time."

"We know how important working hours are to our business men and for that reason this year's campaign for members I have shortened so that each person will have only so much to do as more," Bales said.

Chamber of Commerce President Clifford McKibbin assured Bales of the cooperation of public spirited citizens who want to see Sanford and Seminole County accomplish the projects that are ahead of us in the foreseeable future. "I am convinced that this year's membership drive will be the most successful ever staged."

Don Bales, Sanford automobile dealer, and head of the Membership Drive Committee, said that "The date for the beginning of our membership drive will be announced within a very short time and complete plans will also be made known."

"I want to emphasize, though," said Bales, "that we need every business man, professional man, industry owner and citizen as a member of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce."

Krider Will Not Seek Re-Election To Commission

John Krider, City Commissioner, Manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, and Seminole County Commissioner-elect, said this morning that "I will not be a candidate for re-election to the Board of Sanford City Commissioners."

"My commitments and the program of the City and County are of such nature that I would be unable to serve as a City Commissioner," Krider said as he announced that he would not be a candidate in the forthcoming city election.

"I feel like the City is in probably the best shape it has been in its history," he said.

Commissioner Krider stated "I feel that, at the completion of my present term of office, that I will be leaving the City in the very competent hands of the present Board of Sanford City Commissioners."

"I deeply appreciate the privilege of serving the people of the City of Sanford and I appreciate the confidence that has been placed in me," Krider said.

Speaking of his future duties Krider commented, "I will devote my time exclusively to the ambitious program of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce has outlined—also I will take office the first of the coming year as a County Commissioner.

"I will sponsor some progressive movements in the County as a whole," Krider said.

Warner Enters City Commission Race

Merle W. Warner, 42-year-old service station operator, announced his candidacy and qualified near noon today for the Sanford City Commission in the Nov. 6 election.

Warner said this morning that he is announcing his candidacy for the seat on the Board of Sanford City Commissioners now held by John Krider.

"I promised last year that I would be a candidate again this year, and I am not going back on my promise," he said.

In an interview this morning, the former Lucas, Ohio man said, "I am for a progressive city, one that keeps moving ahead in an attempt to keep ahead of the needs of the community."

Warner emphasized that "I am heavily in favor of the present Capital Improvement Program—but in addition—I also favor a continuing program of improvements to benefit the city and its citizens."

Most important for Sanford is a Docks and Terminal so that the business people of Sanford and Central Florida can take advantage of water freight coming into this area by means of a fleet of barges, Warner said.

The continuing improvement of our sewage system by expansion of a sewage treatment plant, a broad street paving program, an air station or airport for our city, annexation of all the necessary fringe area to continue the progress of Sanford, full cooperation with our Navy, and a long range plan are all necessary for the continued growth of the Sanford area, Warner said this morning.

"I am announcing my candidacy for the Sanford City Commission so that I might help continue the aggressive program that has been started by the present board," he said.

Warner lives in Sanford at 2411 S. Myrtle Ave. where he owns his home. He and his wife, Ruth have three children, Autha, who lives in Silver Springs, Md. and has 2 children; Lane and Jimmie. He came to Sanford in 1946 and became affiliated with Otham Motor Co. until 1951 and then (Continued On Page 3)

Chief Williams To Crack Down On Taxi Drivers

Sanford Police Chief Roy G. Williams was instructed last night by the Board of Sanford City Commissioners to call in taxi drivers and warn them that their licenses will be picked up unless they stop double parking, speeding, and their discourtesy.

Chief Williams explained that certain Colored Taxi Drivers had been arrested and charged with various violations but that they continued to operate their cabs in the same manner.

However, said Chief Williams, "we send reports to the Department of Public Safety on every violation we charge them with."

Krider Schedules Talk With Expansion Group

A meeting with the Florida Development Commission has been scheduled by Seminole County Chamber of Commerce Manager John Krider.

Krider leaves for Tallahassee tomorrow where he will meet with the important State commission for talks relative to future programs in Seminole County.

"The purpose of my meeting," Krider said, "is to find out the status of industrial development in Central Florida.

"I will come out of this meeting with a better view of what we may expect in Seminole County during the forthcoming year," he said.

Krider's visit to Tallahassee comes on the heels of the reported applications by two barge lines for permits "to haul commodities into Sanford."

The two reported barge line applications bring to life a revival of efforts to stimulate water freight traffic on the St. Johns River several years ago and a move to establish docks and terminals at Sanford.

"We have waited a long time for a stimulus to get the industrial picture developed for Seminole County," Krider said today, "and it seems as if we might be at the starting point of the greatest industrial development program in Seminole County's history."
