Jack Sharkey Will Enrer Ring Tonight As Favorite To Win From Tom Heeney

By Davis J. Walsh

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Two of Mr. Rickard's professional stepchildren will be cut off with a mere fortune at Madison Square Garden tonight when the most baffling of the current list of mystery plays is being carried on to the inevitable conclusion, whereby the diamond stonemason finally is discovered in the rich man's soup. Little is known of Tom Heeney, New Zealand, except that he licked a few millionaires to the big money, nothing is known of Jack Sharkey, beyond a cut-back to that July evening when Dempsey doubled down the right field foul line and scored on a sacrifice.

Many since have claimed that Sharkey laid one down, others that Dempsey fouled it off. He is neither or both, the point is that Sharkey was seen no more in this locality seen the fateful but not necessarily fatal occasion.

All we know about him is that he will fight Tom Heeney twelve rounds to a decision tonight for a probable shot at Tunney and the heavyweight championship, provided Tunney adheres to his announced plan to kill two bouts with one promoter. Mr. Sharkey has been most austere with us. He simply declines to associate himself with anything that had a local appeal, except local money. By a special arrangement with the Treasury Department, this is good anywhere in the United States.

Rickard ordered him on from Boston at least a week before the fight. He says Rickard's week and the commission said he simply must come over. He didn't. At least, the commission insisted upon a Tuesday visit and Sharkey humored the boys by arriving yesterday.

By that time, he had everybody convinced that all was not well. But the commission doctors said that Sharkey was very much so, which gives the boys one more guess or they will be 94. The $100,000, slightly above the current market price for mystery. However, Rickard has said there are no more good ones and only thing a long really want something he thinks he can't do.

Heeney probably will cost a quarter of $25,000 and Sharkey about $10,000, which ration would seem a standard for the odds of the latter were logical. They are. Sharkey has been made a 2 to 1 favorite, in spite of his lustrous finish in the Dempsey fight. His last, and the fact that Heeney has beaten Maloney, Risks and others.

Rumors Spread Of New Deals Among Big League Teams

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—(INS)—In the wake of the deal that sent Rogers Hornsby to Boston for Frank Hogan and Jimmy Welsh rumors were current here today that Brooklyn, Philadelphia and the New York Giants are planning a three-cornered deal. The players named by diamond gossip are Welsh, Dazzy Vance, Brooklyn pitching ace; Fresno Thompson, Philly second baseman; and Virgil Barnes and Fred Lindstrom of the Giants.

John McGraw, manager of the Giants, wants Thompson. He is said to have started negotiations before going to Havana. McGraw said in Havana that last year Brooklyn refused to give up Vance even for the great Hornsby. In view of this, it is not believed that the Robins would trade the strikout king for any other player or players that New York or Philadelphia might offer.

Chiles of Sanford gave two tenor solos, followed by a speaking number. Music was furnished by the Mount Plymouth orchestra.

Following the dinner, which closed at 10:30 o'clock, dancing was enjoyed by the Lions and their guests.

More Than A Billion Dollars Has Been Placed For This Purpose According To Report Of Recreation Group

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—(INS)—More than a billion dollars have been spent in the United States to acquire and equip municipal parks and $100,000,000 are spent annually to maintain them, according to a two year old study of city parks and forests recently completed by the Playground and Recreation Association of America.

Nearly 250,000 acres of parks and forests are reported by 1,681 municipalities, the study shows. Practically all cities in excess of 25,000 population have parks. But millions of persons in small towns have access to neither parks nor playgrounds, and other millions in cities are inadequately provided with these places for relaxation and recreation, says the report.

New York Parks
New York City, with 10,776 acres of parks, enjoys the largest such area within the limits of any American city. Yet its park growth has not nearly kept pace with the growth in population, it is stated. It reports but one acre of parks to 553 persons in contrast to Minneapolis which, with one-half New York's park acreage and a fraction of its population, is provided with an acre to every eighty persons. With 132 different properties, Minneapolis has one of the outstanding park systems in the U. S. with respect to per capita acreage, types and distribution of the parks, character of the development and quality of maintenance.

Of the three largest cities, Philadelphia makes the best showing with respect to per capita park acreage. It can boast more than 8,000 acres, including Fairmount, the largest city park in the United States. Chicago owns more than 5,000 acres of beautiful and extensively used for recreation. In addition, Chicagoans enjoy 2 1/2 acres of the city's United States Park, Forest Preserve, of 1,200 acres.

Denver's Parks
Denver, Colorado, with a park area of 6,000 acres, leads all other cities in the United States in per capita recreation acreage with an acre to every two inhabitants. Boulder's Park program is mainly outside the city limits. One hundred eight other cities have outlying parks due, in part, to the influence of the automobile, says the report. Phoenix, Arizona, has the largest such areas, Mountain Park comprising 15,000 acres. Denver owns a system of mountain parks

Palatka Realtor Is Sought By Indiana To Answer Charge

PALATKA, Fla., Jan. 13.—(INS)—Hinting that he would make startling revelations which will astound residents of Indiana when the proper time comes, W. H. Arnold, of Kokomo, Ind., President of the Arnold Company of Palatka, declined to comment upon the requisition of Governor Ed Jackson for his return to that state to answer a charge of conspiracy to commit a felony in connection with the failure of the American Trust Company.

Arnold and his son, Glenwood, both of whom are under indictment in Indiana, are at liberty because the sheriff's office here refuses to serve the Indiana warrants on the ground that the charge is no crime under Florida laws.

Arnold said he has not been connected with the Indiana bank for a period of more than a year and that he engaged in no act which might be termed "conspiracy."

comprising 10,207 acres in forty-four parcels.

The most significant trend in the municipal park movement in the last twenty-five years has been the use of parks for active recreation, J. H. Weir, editor of the Sports States. At first most park superintendents opposed the use of park areas for games and sports. Today 90 per cent of the executives favor active recreations on the park lands.

Ruth Brown Snyder And Judd Gray Pay Penalty For Crime

plied to the bare skin; she wore black cotton stockings.

She broke down and wept just as she sat in that terrible contraption known as the "death chair" with its straps and buckles, and broad baken arms. She cried and prayed at the same time. "Jesus, have mercy on me, for I have sinned." Her voice had a peculiar refined tone, albeit high pitched and tremulous. Her face was strangely old.

Twenty newspapermen, including this writer, who sat transfixed by the ghastly scene, were seated five in a row, in what resembled church pews. The only other witnesses in the room were four doctors and the attendants.

Warden Lewis E. Lawes, an opponent of capital punishment, stood near the rear door. He turned his head away from the chair. Deadening silence prevailed as the awful moment came. Elliott waited for no signal. He knew by experience that the electrodes had been properly applied to Mrs. Snyder's head and right leg. The executioner seized the switch and pulled it downwards. There was a sizz and a sputter, lasting perhaps ten seconds. About 2,000 volts of electricity were sent through the form, now strangely pathetic.

Five minutes or so later there was a tap at the door leading to the chamber of death and Judd Gray, the man who had forsaken his wife, his home and his daughter for this woman, now dead, was brought into the brilliantly lighted room. It was 11:17 P. M.

Gray shuffled in, a guard on each side, their arms under his armpits. He held his head high and he was mumbling prayers. He wore a gray suit and felt slippers. The right trouser leg was slit from the knee down.

As the condemned man's eyes glanced at the chair, his chin became set. He sat down hardly requiring assistance from the guards. There was no fear in those clear blue eyes. Long since, this man had made his place with God. Since the day he was arrested for the brutal murder of Albert Snyder, the Bible had been his solace. The mask was adjusted. Then the head gear. He looked like a young football player as he sat there. Then the straps were fastened. Executioner Elliott gave one swift look.

He took two or three steps to his alcove and pushed down the switch. Gray's body stiffened. His chest heaved.

Dr. John Kjarney, assistant physician, unloosed Gray's white shirt at the throat and removed the pins which fastened the shirt. Dr. Sweet again stepped up to the chair, applied the stethoscope and, after a second or two, announced: "I declare this man dead."

It was 11:19 P. M.

PRICE $.0007

That's a price per mile. It isn't guaranteed; it depends to some extent on the size of your tires; it depends partly on you. But it's a price actually higher than hundreds of our customers are paying for each Silvertown they own. It's conservative if you take advantage of our specialized tire service.

There are many things that influence the number of miles you get from each tire. We know there are more miles built into the Silvertown than in any other tire. But another thing, equally important, is the condition in which the tire is kept.

Keeping it properly inflated; having occasional inspections to see that dirt and grit are kept out, rims kept in good condition, wheels aligned, any cut or injuries fixed before they subtract thousands of miles from the life of the tire—these are things we can help you with, which will make a sure saving in money for you.

Drop in and let us explain this service to you. You can be sure every recommendation is made from your standpoint. We want to bring you results and to deserve your business by these results.

Jury Trials

The country has recently been treated to two rather disgusting spectacles of trial by jury. The people have seen a great oil magnate under indictment for having attempted to defraud the government out of rich naval oil reserves and they have heard a juror chosen to try him, say that he had been promised a car "as long as a city block" for a favorable verdict.

They have also seen a nationally famous bootlegger, recently released from the Atlanta penitentiary where he served a term for violating federal laws, chase his wife in a fleeing taxicab, overtake her and slay her in a public park. They have seen alienists and psychiatrists declare him sane, but they saw a jury declare him "not guilty on the grounds of insanity." And they heard one of the jurors say, "Congratulations, we were with you from the very start!"

What chance justice then, where such conditions exist? What chance a fair and reasonable verdict in any case where the jury is WITH the defendant, or the plaintiff, from the very start? Would it not be sounder common sense to expect justice from a mob, overwhelmed by passion and bent on lynching, than from jurors, capable of the crimes for which they try, or easily bought and sold?

Charles Dickens, in his Pickwick Papers, gives an interesting account of the seriousness with which jurors of his day regarded their duty. "If it's near dinner time, the foreman takes out his watch when the jury have retired and says: 'Dear me, gentlemen, ten minutes to five, I declare! I dine at five, gentlemen.' 'So do I,' says everybody else except two men who ought to have dined at three, and seem more than half disposed to stand out in consequence. The foreman smiles, and puts up his watch: 'Well, gentlemen, what do we say? Plaintiff, defendant, gentlemen? I rather think so far as I am concerned, gentlemen—I say I rather think—but don't let that influence you—I rather think the plaintiff's the man.' Upon this two or three other men are sure to say they think so too—as of course they do; and then they get on very unanimously and comfortably."

The people of the country are now preparing to watch with interest a number of important cases, notably the trial of Edward Hickman in Los Angeles and the retrial of Fall and Sinclair in Washington, which are soon to be placed in the hands of juries. It would be too trite to call it another travesty if any of these defendants were acquitted.

Resolutions For Growers

An appeal for better marketing facilities for Florida's citrus fruits, for its truck crops and other agricultural products is contained in a recent statement by Nathan Mayo, state commissioner of agriculture. The success of a scheme to bring about improved distribution depends entirely upon the co-operation between growers and shippers. Mr. Mayo points out in his discussion of the subject. The plea is made in the form of New Year's resolutions and although they come at a rather belated time, we think they are worthy of serious consideration and none the less important. They are as follows:

1. I resolve during 1928 to use part of my land to raise foods of every variety for my family.

2. I resolve to make the effort with my neighbor, to raise the necessary food for sale within our own district, so as to remove from Florida the humiliation of importing foodstuffs from other states, when every gift of Nature justifies us in feeding ourselves.

3. I resolve to be in a friendly attitude towards every effort in my county to bring into association all those who raise foods to be sent outside the state for the needs of other states; to the end that by associating with each other co-operatively we may combine in shipping carload lots whenever possible, instead of increasing our expense and our risk by small shipments.

4. I resolve to help in so organizing my county for co-operative marketing that a union of all counties shall result in maintenance within the state of marketing organizations, which by reason of their state-wide knowledge shall know what products are available for shipment for any point from any point, and thus avoid glutting the national markets anywhere.

5. I resolve that I will regard my state as essential to the rest of the states, and thus without any baseless antagonism try to make Florida, through its great gift of climate, and of possible products, essential to the tables of my fellow-citizens of the United States, particularly at those seasons when the climate of the North prohibits local growth.

The need for closer relations between growers has been stressed on numerous occasions, but the demand is felt more keenly now than ever before because of the greatly increased farming activities. The state is now committed to a well-defined program of developing the soil and if Florida is to capitalize on these resources to the fullest extent, there must be organization of the farmers on a most efficient basis.

The Herald is of the opinion that Commissioner Mayo has struck an important chord in the declaration that the biggest mistake Florida farmers can make is to produce huge quantities of products without any idea as to how they are to be shipped or where they are to be consumed. Judicious marketing is, of course, fundamental to the success of any crop and the sooner this fact is recognized the better off Florida growers will be.

THE MULTITUDES REJOICE

MARIANNA FLORIDAN

The announcement of Fons A. Hathaway as a candidate for Governor is most pleasing to thousands of Floridians who have watched with pride the remarkable career of this distinguished citizen. No man in Florida history was ever more earnestly urged to honorable position by so many people.

These desires on the part of the people is the result of the ability, cleanliness, loyalty of the man and the service he has rendered his state.

While Fons A. Hathaway has achieved national fame for his road building, he was famous long before Florida's highway program as an educator. In the cause of education he was a pathfinder, and while Florida is proud of the great highway system he directs, it is equally proud of his educational record.

As Governor of Florida, this state will go forward leading in good roads and in educational affairs, to the grandeur and the glory of the commonwealth.

As Brisbane Sees It

Another Day To Live. Who Shaves Her Head? Rome Stands Firm. A Ford-Edison Choice.

AT THE LAST moment there was hope that Mrs. Ruth Snyder would have one more day to live just outside the little door that leads to the electric chair. That was not much of a favor, considering what goes on in a mind waiting to be killed. This morning you will learn just what happened.

THERE IS LITTLE difference between one more day of life, and an indefinite number of days, since we must all go through the door that leads out of the world. It is the uncertainty as to date that makes death's certainty bearable. Every one of us is condemned, as certainly as Mrs. Snyder. But we think little about it because no day is set.

ONE PHILOSOPHICAL soul, sitting in California sunshine on the hill where this is written, says, "Ask them what they would do if like Ruth, they knew they had only one day more." The answer is that "they"—the average—would do nothing except worry and pity themselves.

MUCH COULD BE MADE of a last day, if you had the philosophy of old Socrates, setting a fine example, paying his debts, "I owe a duck to Esculapius," refusing a chance to live that he might show respect for law. Such a death is worth as much as any life, especially if you have a pupil like Plato to write about it.

A MORE INTERESTING question is this: How can any human being be hired to get that woman ready for her killing and then kill her? The crown of her head must be shaved, to let the dead see, wet electrode press tight to the scalp. What man or woman is found willing to shave the head of the screaming, struggling woman?

Who for pay, consents to cut away the woman's dress, baring the cat of the leg for the other electrode? The horrible current is sent into the brain, down through heart and spine, then out, at the leg, below the knee.

WHAT HORRIBLE prostitution of science to use it for such a shameful killing, in the name of civilization! What are the mental operations of the electrician, by whom the switch is thrown? No wonder the governor of New York regrets that he could find no reason, consistent with his oath of office, for letting the miserable woman live on, in life imprisonment.

OTHER RELIGIONS HAVE risen and fallen, shifted and changed. Luther's name, and Calvin's, once great powers in protestantism, now represent only branches of the Protestant church.

But Rome, and the pope, stand where they stood 1000 years ago. Rome "stays put," admits no fundamental change. No possibility of improving what Rome declares to be the eternal truth. Protestant churches, some near to Rome, some far from her, arrange a "get-together-shury," our differences arrange our doctrines, on a comparative basis" conference, inviting the pope and his church to join.

THE POPE'S ANSWER is "No. Return to Rome, or remain outside of the only true church. What was true 1300 years ago, is true today." If you want to endure, as Rome has endured, map out a program, stick to it, and above all, let no one change it for you.

HENRY FORD AND Thomas A. Edison favor Secretary Hoover for President, next time. They like men that get things done, and are capable of big planning.

If Hoover were President, there is little doubt that this nation would do some building worthy of the world's richest country. There is also no doubt that the backing of Ford and Edison, both a million miles from professional politics, would have great influence on public opinion and voting.

B. C. FORBES, WHO knows finance and men that manage it, says don't invest in tips. "Buy the stock of companies headed by the ablest brains in America."

That is the best "stock tip" ever given, if you can identify the ablest brains, and then be sure that they are using their ability for their stockholders.

SOME VERY ABLE brains years ago managed New York's subways and street car lines and the things they did to their stockholders gave a good financial imitation of Dante's Inferno. They took out tens of millions, their stockholders got stock certificates valuable as wall paper only.

THERE IS, HOWEVER, no doubt that the best investment is in human intelligence, and the moral side of big business has improved. Besides, honesty now pays bigger dividends than the other thing ever did.

KILAUEA, EARTH'S biggest active volcano, is active spouting rock, fire and lava over the Hawaiian landscape. Natives believe that the goddess is angry. And, before missionaries arrived to save them, she organized their sugar business; a few humans might have been thrown into Kilauea's fire pit to pacify the divine anger.

FOOL-HARDY EXPEDITION

ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

The practical certainty that the "Dawn" has met an ill-fate, and that Mrs. Grayson and her three flying companions again accentuate the necessity for the government to prohibit attempted flying expeditions over northern waters during the winter months.

The Grayson expedition was so hazardous that it was nothing short of fool-hardy. Experts advised against it. The weather department in Washington advised against it. The families and friends of the four fliers advised against it. Mrs. Grayson turned a deaf ear, and just what was anticipated throughout the nation, resulted. Her fate, if she is lost, makes her the third woman aviator to have been lost in 1927, in over-sea attempts. Not less than 18 men aviators have met the same fate. The miraculous escape of Ruth Elder was mere "good luck."

The fate of the Grayson expedition also emphasizes the folly of attempting the northern route for trans-Atlantic air flights. Even in summer the fogs and rain become icy, and reason teaches that accumulated ice on the wings of a plane will bring it to the surface. No plane can successfully battle a rough sea. The government should stop such expeditions over these waters.

The feasible and only route is, as has been suggested, from the southeastern coast, via Bermuda and the Azores, and to the coast of Spain. Colonel Lindbergh, the world's greatest aviator, has confirmed this statement.

Mrs. Grayson turned a deaf ear, and just what was anticipated throughout the nation, resulted. Her fate, if she is lost, makes her the third woman aviator to have been lost in 1927, in over-sea attempts. Not less than 18 men aviators have met the same fate.

The practical certainty that the "Dawn" has met an ill-fate, and that Mrs. Grayson and her three flying companions again accentuate the necessity for the government to prohibit attempted flying expeditions over northern waters during the winter months.

The Grayson expedition was so hazardous that it was nothing short of fool-hardy. Experts advised against it. The weather department in Washington advised against it. The families and friends of the four fliers advised against it. Mrs. Grayson turned a deaf ear, and just what was anticipated throughout the nation, resulted. The feasible and only route is, as has been suggested, from the southeastern coast, via Bermuda and the Azores, and to the coast of Spain. Colonel Lindbergh, the world's greatest aviator, has confirmed this statement.

Enter: the baby! ACCOMPANIED by his faithful stork, the Bitner baby arrived this morning. There was a great deal of rushing around, but things have quieted down now, and advice is pouring in! COUNSELORS, well-meaning and many, have arisen: "I used this talcum and that soap," "those bottles are best," and "Blanks have the best carriages." But behind these advices looms the most practical, most modern and most economical counselor of all: advertising. ADVERTISING will tell Mrs. Bitner not only which talcum, which blankets, which carriages are best, but will also give her many helpful hints on keeping her baby healthy and happy. It will suggest toys for his busy hands, shoes for his scampering feet, clothes and foods for his sturdy body, as well as books to set his eager mind to work. And, as the years go by, Mrs. Bitner will keep young and look young too. For advertising will help her solve one of the greatest economic problems of her home—buying the best for her family at the best prices. Read the advertisements. They carry a wealth of sound advice to people who are creating homes

SCENE FROM "QUEEN HIGH" WHICH COMES TO MILANE ON MONDAY

No event of the coming season is more eagerly awaited than the coming of "Queen High" to the Milane Theater on Monday night. Based upon the once-famous comedy "A Pair of Sixes", the book and lyrics are by Laurence Schwab and B. G. DeSylva, who have caught and preserved the true flavor of the play and transposed it into musical form. The musical score is by Lewis E. Gensler, whose catchy melodies in "Captain Jinks" still are in the ears of musical comedy devotees. "Queen High" played one solid year shattering all past records for attendance and receipts so far as musical comedy offerings are concerned. Due to the insistent demand on the part of the public to see this musical comedy sensation, Laurence Schwab, producer also of "The Desert Song" has organized and launched nine companies of equal merit to meet the demand. The company to be seen in this city, is the Philadelphia organization and it is said to be the greatest of all the "Queen High" companies. Eddie Garvie and Dave Mallen will sing and act the leading parts; and the list of principals shows such names as Margaret Lee, Neil Collins, Carrie Glenn, Mary Mason, Gilbert Armstrong, Thomas Hutton, Danny O'Donnell, Arlyn White and Athena Dunn. The chorus of Broadway beauties is organized of the singers and dancers in the matter of scenery this attraction has been mounted in a lavish manner and there is a wealth of striking costumes.

Texas Factory Uses Oxen For Switching Instead Of Engines

NAVOSOTA, Texas, Jan. 14.—(INS)—Modern industry with its speed and power is linked with the dusty centuries here. Oxen are used at an industrial plant for switching cars instead of steam engines.

Jim Brown, quiet, old fashioned negro, and his oxen are a familiar sight in this southern town. While they bring to mind the pictures of the early pioneers who came out of Virginia, Tennessee and many other states to lay the foundation of the Texas Republic, their use here is not based on any sentiment or undue regard for the past.

Six oxen, with the proverbial long horns and powerful shoulders, are capable of pulling 200,000 pounds along the rails. One yoke recently disposed of, could handle a box car alone. These steers weighed 2,200 pounds each.

According to J. J. Piper, superintendent at the cotton mill where the oxen are used, they are the most economical power that can be employed. The unit-

Buck Jones Stars In Western Film At Milane Theater

Buck Jones had more than one show to take care of during the filming of the Fox production, "Black Jack." Buck and his entire troupe were called on to participate in flood benefits sponsored by the American Legion in Bishop, Cal.

Buck made most of the exterior shots in Lone Pine, at the base of Mt. Whitney, but it was found necessary to move to Bishop for a few shots. The American Legion immediately solicited his aid to help put the city's Mississippi flood quota over the top.

Jones accepted and appeared in two benefits at the town theatre under the management of Mark Waterman, head of the Red Cross in Inyo county.

The entire company worked in both benefits. Theodore Larch, the "menace" of the Jones picture, was master of ceremonies.

In the cast of "Black Jack," which is coming to the Milane today, are Barbara Bennett, Sam Allen, Frank Lanning, Mark Ham-
