

ECONOMIZE ON FOOD STUFFS IMPERATIVE

HOOVER SAYS THIS IS OUR FIRST DUTY TO ALLIES

London, April 23.—The first and most important duty of the American people to their allies is to economize on food stuffs. This is the appeal of Herbert C. Hoover, chairman of the American commission for relief in Belgium, and recently appointed head of the American food board.

"If we do not do it," he declared today to the Associated Press, "we stand a grave chance of losing the war, because our allies cannot fight without food. Our enemies are calculating that Americans will fail in this and our allies will need to give in. America can upset these calculations."

Mr. Hoover's observations were made after three weeks of consultation with members of the British, French and Italian cabinets. He also investigated the food and shipping situations and plans for American cooperation. The net result he arrived at was that between now and the next harvest it would require a supreme effort by the American people.

"I feel it my duty to emphasize," Mr. Hoover continued, "that the food situation is one of the utmost gravity which, unless it is solved may possibly result in the collapse of everything we hold dear in civilization."

"The total stock of food today available in the allied world is simply not sufficient to last until September if America continues its present rate of consumption."

"We are now face to face with the results of last year's poor harvest; the diversion of man power from agriculture all over the world; the unavailing efforts of the European women to plant available fields fully; the isolation of Russia; the sinking of food ships and many other causes."

"England, France and Italy are reducing consumption by drastic steps, but even with all this reduction they must have from us during the next three months more than twice as much food as we should have exported normally or than we can send if we consume as usual."

"The only hope of providing the deficiency is by the elimination of waste and actual and rigorous self-sacrifice on the part of American people."

"The barest essentials the allies must have are, primarily wheat and pork products, secondarily meat, oil and beans. They need a minimum of 90,000,000 bushels of wheat from North America, more than twice today's apparent surplus on a normal export basis."

"There is no time to reorganize the dietary of Europe. To carry the allies over until next harvest we must reduce our wheat consumption 30 per cent. This means that every man, woman and child must forego at least one loaf of wheat bread per week and eat something else or less generally."

"More than 70 per cent of American homes already are places of thrift, economy and a clean plate. In the remaining 30 per cent no one can deny that there is profligate extravagance and waste. Temperance in entertainment, food and drink is likely to become no longer an ethical question among this class, but a grim imposition of war."

"We must also plant everything and everywhere it will grow or next year this time the food problem will be absolutely unsolvable and the world will face absolute starvation. I do not believe there will be any necessity rigidly to ration the American people for, if democracy is of any value as a spiritual and political faith the personal initiative and willingness to volunteer self-sacrifice of every member of the greatest democracy in the world will be ample to solve the problem."

"During the last fortnight we have with the collaboration of the American ambassadors in Europe laid the ground work for inter-allied cooperation in handling and transporting the vast food supplies required from America, one result of which will tend to ameliorate the rise in prices.

"I have proposed a plan by which the allies can consolidate under one hand the whole purchase of staple foodstuffs from our market and not only will competitive bidding be abolished, but by cooperation on our side we can arrange a proper balance between the rights of producers and consumers."

Death of Baby Boy

Francis Steinmeyer, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adams died at the home of the parents last Friday night. The sudden death of this bright little child was a blow to parents and relatives and friends and the news could hardly be believed. The little chap had been in good health to within a few days of his death and no alarm had been felt by parents or friends.

The funeral services occurred from the residence Saturday afternoon at 2:30. Rev. Spenser officiating. Interment was made in Lakeview Cemetery.

The sympathy of many friends goes out to the grieving parents of this little one who was taken from their midst so suddenly, but they have faith in Him who doeth all things for the best and His will be done.

WAR NEWS IS SCARCE THIS WEEK

SILENCE SEEMS TO WRAP THE CENTRAL EMPIRES IN FOLDS

Ushered in by a prolonged artillery bombardment a renewed attack on German lines was begun at dawn by the British on both sides of the river Scarpe. The extent of the attack was not clearly developed, but it is officially announced that it opened on a wide front. Satisfactory progress is reported. Early details shattered the last remaining defenses of the Hindenburg line north of the Scarpe, by taking the town of Gavrelle after advancing a mile. The British south of the Scarpe captured the village of Guesnappes and took a thousand prisoners.

The German announcement said the British entered the German trenches northwest of Lens last night but were repulsed by a counter attack. Infantry is fighting on a wide front this morning. In the mean time the French are consolidating last week's gains. The artillery however, is still busy, breaking up two attempted German attacks last night. It was announced.

What may be a new German move of vital importance was announced in a Petrograd dispatch saying that German transports had departed from Libau on the Baltic for an unknown destination. It may mean a land and sea attack on Petrograd. The Turks are still retreating up the Tigris before the British.

Despite assurances of the Berlin press that the strike which involved at least three hundred thousand was ended, there is evidence of the agitation continuing.

The Austro-Hungarian situation is even greater obscured. Since persistent reports that Premier Tisza, the foremost exponent of the dual monarchy if the German idea has resigned, all information has ceased. One thing appears certain is that socialist and radicals have been drawn closer together, and inflammatory language is used with impunity which would have been inconceivable in the early stages of the war.

Meantime the revolutionary spirit rampant throughout Europe was given sensational demonstration in Sweden. The food situation ostensibly is the cause of the gathering of multitudes of workers in Stockholm. The fact that there are unrebuked shouts for a republic and the word "revolution" is freely used gives a more serious aspect to the situation. More serious outbreaks are expected.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR OF SANFORD

PRESBYTERIAN SOCIETY ARE AGAIN THE BEST IN THE STATE

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Sanford Presbyterian church still holds the banner for being the first society in the world in the official record and especially in efficiency.

This world's record has been held by the Presbyterian Society of this city for the past two years and although the laurels were contested for by many this year and for awhile it looked like Seattle and Philadelphia would wrest the victory from the Sanford folks the good news comes to us that Sanford wins again and the meeting in Orlando last week gave the state banner to the Presbyterians of Sanford and this city was lauded for the good work of all the C. E. societies and especially that of the Presbyterian society that has headed the societies of the whole world for so long and still leads.

This record is one that is the pride of the city and of the state and the Presbyterians can be congratulated by the people of all creeds upon this splendid record. The work of the Christian Endeavor among the young people of this city is bearing fruit and should receive the hearty support of every one interested in the welfare of the young people. The meeting of the C. E. Societies of the state of Florida at Orlando last week was well attended and there were hundreds of delegates and visitors at the convention.

The third day of the Christian Endeavor convention closed Saturday night with a large crowd of local Endeavorers augmenting the already large crowd of delegates attending evening sessions at the Presbyterian church. Throughout the day great interest and enthusiasm was evinced by the Endeavorers and visitors. Rev. W. C. Barber of Des Moines, Iowa, who arrived Friday morning, gave an inspiring talk on the subject, "A Selfless Nation by 1920." Short reports from the different societies were received, with an account of the best thing done by each society in the last year. The Board of Trade, which offered to secure cars for giving the delegates a ride about the city proved equal to the occasion and several cars more than were needed were offered.

The election of officers resulted in the same state officers being re-elected, as follows: President, Duncan B. Curry, Jacksonville; Vice-president, J. P. Simmons, DeLand; secretary, Miss Ruth Coffin, Jacksonville; treasurer, George A. Cayanaugh, Palatka.

At noon lunch was served by the ladies of the home society to the delegates in the church parlors. In the evening two banners were awarded, one to Sanford for the best society in the state, and one to Jacksonville for the largest increase in members in the last month. During the evening donations amounting to $349 were received from the societies and from individuals. The largest single donation was for $225. Mr. Lehmann stated that he was expecting $500; however, when all donations were in and counted, a grand total of $49 more than was expected was found to have been received.

Marcus C. Fagg, state superintendent of the Children's Home Society closed the program for the evening with a brief but interesting and inspiring lecture on "The Spirit of Service."

Anniversary Services

The Sanford Lodge of Odd Fellows will hold their anniversary services at the Baptist Temple next Sunday night at 7:30 and the public is cordially invited to attend. Dr. Hyman will preach a special sermon and the exercises will be most interesting. These services are held at this time each year and are well attended and this year will be no exception. Remember the public is cordially invited to attend.

RAILROAD BOYS RAISE OLD GLORY

FLAG RAISING EXERCISES ON SUNDAY AFTERNOON AT SHOPS

While the people of this city and county are among the most patriotic in the country it remained for the employees of the A. C. L. Railway to have the first flag raising and public patriotic meeting. Under the leadership of Supt. Hansel and Master Mechanic Stevens and the different heads of the departments here the men decided to raise a large flag pole and float Old Glory in the shop yard, thus demonstrating their patriotism during these troublesome times when our nation is at war with Germany and her allies.

Since these boys are busy during the week the official flag raising was made on Sunday afternoon at three o'clock and a large crowd assembled at the yards at that time. Mayor Davison acted as chairman of the meeting and after patriotic airs had been rendered by the Sanford Band and a male quartette the big flag was unfurled and as the beautiful emblem of our country was hung to the brooms closets and miniature flags dropped from the folds and scattered over the crowd.

Hon. Geo. G. Herring was then introduced and gave what was pronounced as one of the finest patriotic speeches that has been given in this city in many years breathing us it did the true spirit of Americans. Judge Herring dwelt at length upon the patriotism and devotion of the railroad men to the flag, their devotion to duty at all times and said that if he wanted to raise a company in defense of the nation he would want nothing better than to have a company of railroad men coming as they do from the ranks of skilled mechanics, men of iron nerve and men who have been trained by the very nature of their work to obey the rules and commands of their superiors. He also praised the men for their patriotism in being the first in Sanford to have an official flag raising and paid them a high compliment upon their devotion to duty not only in their position as employees of the company but as citizens of Sanford and the United States. His beautiful tribute to the flag, to America and to the men who are now in the army and navy and those who stand ready to go and serve the country was well received and at the close he gave our noble President and his cabinet their full meed of praise.

After the benediction by Dr. Hyman the people dispersed after a last glance aloft at Old Glory with the feeling that the railroad men are due a vote of thanks for their grand spirit of true Americanism and that as long as this kind of men are among us the country will never need to conscript good men as the volunteers will fill the ranks and in the front ranks the railroad men will be found fighting for the right and the freedom of the nations of the world.

The flag will float over the western end of the city in full view of the passing trains and at night will have a search light play upon it until nine o'clock and night and day the Stars and Stripes will float over the city of Sanford, demonstrating to the world our patriotism and the devotion of the railroad boys to all that our country holds dear.

All honor to the men who made the flag raising possible and to all who so ably assisted to make it such a success, and may the flag float free until the white dove of peace calls the men from the trenches to again take up the peaceful pursuits of business.

Jacksonville Automobile Show

When the doors are thrown open for Jacksonville's second annual automobile show on April 30th the most stupendous display of motor cars and accessories ever made in the south will be ready for the critical inspection by the people of Florida. The show is being staged by the Jacksonville Automobile Dealers, Incorporated, of which Claude Nolan is president. It will continue through the week. A mammoth auditorium is being built in Confederate Park to house all that is new and attractive in the Motor World. Every car sold in Florida will be on display to its best advantage and persons who contemplate a purchase may look them all over under the same roof and be well entertained while deciding on their choice. A special musical program will be rendered each afternoon and evening by the W. O. W. orchestra, Professor Adolph Marlen, director. Other entertainment features will be in keeping with the progressive spirit of the automobile industry. Railroad rates, equal one rates plus 35 cents have been granted for the round trip from all Florida points, good for the entire week. This is an exhibition of Floridians for Floridians and the Jacksonville dealers invite their friends to join in making this second annual auto show the success it deserves. Special days have been announced as follows: Monday April 30th, Jacksonville and Chamber of Commerce Day; Tuesday, May 1st, Duval Day and Rotary Night; Wednesday, May 2nd, Fraternal Day; Thursday, May 3rd, Good Roads Day; Friday, May 4th, Society Day; Saturday, May 5th, Dealers and all Florida Day.

The executive committee in charge of the show follows: A. S. Morgan, Chairman; E. Scriven, Bond, Max Morganthau, Gus H. Johnson and L. E. Bissell.

JUVENILE PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION

BIG BROTHER MOVEMENT STARTED IN THIS CITY YESTERDAY

One of the greatest movements for the boy is the establishment of the Juvenile Protective Association in this city. At a good meeting held in the Methodist church last Sunday afternoon at four o'clock Judge Housholder presided and the following officers of the association were elected:

President, Leo D. Jenkins; Vice President, Mrs. Henry Wight; Secretary and Treasurer, Henry Peabody; Attorney, J. J. Dickinson; Probation Officer, R. J. Holly.

The object of this association is to act as a Big Brother movement in this city to take charge of the boys who commit some minor crime and come into the courts and if possible have the offenders turned over to the probation officer of the association and held on probation, or good behavior for a certain period rather than to suffer him to be jailed or sent to the county roads or to the state reformatory.

It is a well known fact that more criminals are made by sending boys to jail or to the penitentiary or even to reform schools there to associate with others that are worse and the greatest good has been accomplished by the Juvenile Protective Association and the Big Brother movement in taking these boys or girls out of the hands of the law and if possible changing their surroundings and habits of living and endeavor to get them into the strait and narrow path of better living.

Rev. Crawford Jackson, the General Secretary of the Association with headquarters in Atlanta has spent several days in the city on this mission and has been successful in the organization of the association and has organized associations all over the south in every state. The general association has been for a number of years promoting legislation and in doing this rescue work in many states in behalf of the young people and the reclamation of many wayward youths who taken at the age that they can be turned from the paths of wickedness are started on the high road of better lives and have made good men. If taken to the jails or penitentiaries they would eventually become hardened criminals.

This work in Sanford will also include the negro children and a committee of the prominent negro men will work in conjunction with the organization in helping and assisting (Continued on Page 4)

GOOD WORK OF SANFORD SECRETARY

RAILROAD RATES WILL NOT BE RAISED WITHOUT HEARING

Not only the city of Sanford and Seminole county, but the interior of Florida at large should be proud of the efficient work of the Sanford Board of Trade because of the achievements of Secretary Marlowe, at the meeting of the southeastern states freight receivers and shippers meeting held at Chattanooga, Tenn. April 20th. A general meeting was called to be held in that city and board of governors of the Sanford Board of Trade, realizing the importance of the results and wishing a fair representation for the growers and dealers of Seminole county had their secretary attend this meeting and to say that Sanford was there with the evidence and facts goes without saying when the results of the meeting are seen through the newspaper accounts and from the minutes of the meeting. Nineteen of the largest trade bodies in the southeast were represented in person and many others by letter or proxy, and in addition several wholesale grocers, dry goods men and individual producers and consumers were present and it is evidenced that one of the largest commercial unions ever attempted in southern territory combined their weight to offset the petition of carriers to increase their freight rates 15 per cent. The matters to be handled were strictly railroad questions of vital interest to the shipper and receiver and those organizations which failed to have representatives who were experienced railroad men were at a great loss.

From Florida: Jacksonville, Tampa, Pensacola and Sanford were represented and from this the effective work of Sanford can be seen when it is known that the Sanford Board of Trade secretary, because of his stand in favor of the shippers was elected a member of a committee of seven to take action at once in favor of the shipper, the freight receiver and his interest. On the committee of resolutions were Tip-ton of Jacksonville, Davison of Atlanta, Arn of Chattanooga, Marlowe of Sanford and Richards of Selma, Ala. This committee took immediate action by wire with the Interstate Commerce Commission, asking for a suspension of tariffs and increases until the shipper could be heard and stating that carriers for many reasons were apparently not entitled to an increase in freight rates particularly in the southeastern states.

Another important step was taken when the meeting decided to put their interests in the hands of seven men and back these men up in their efforts to carry out a plan before the Interstate Commerce Commission in favor of the grower, the merchant and the manufacturer. These seven men were selected from the eight southeastern states and have full authority to act. This committee comprises Henderson and Arn of Tennessee, Moore and Spivey of Georgia, Crighton of North Carolina, Marlowe of Florida and Richards of Alabama.

Through the efforts of the Sanford Board of Trade, untold savings will result to the farmers of this section and the interior of Florida and the governors of the Board of Trade are certainly due the hearty approval and support of those who are interested in any way in freight rates in seeing the necessity of the representation and having a man as their secretary who is amply able to represent them in such vital matters.

It should also be pleasing to the people of Seminole county and city of Sanford that despite the presence of representatives of three of our largest Florida cities the Sanford representatives of three of our largest Florida cities the Sanford man was elected to represent the state in the southeastern effort before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Mrs. William Bullock and Miss Margaret Clark will remain in Jacksonville for a week or two before going further north.

Among The Theatres

"The Law Decides"
Domestic difficulties form the complications of a most absorbing play under the title of "The Law Decides." The story by Miss Marguerite Bertsch tells of a thwarted love that rekindles with a fierce passion when the leading male character portrayed by Harry T. Morey discovers that the object of his affections, who has become the wife of another is thrown by chance into his company in an out of the way hunting lodge. Dorothy Kelly does one of her best scenes at this period of the play, when as his wife she defends her honor first, and then with the appearance of her husband is denounced for alleged perjury. Donald Hall as the husband is superb and little Bobbie Connelly as the unhappy offspring tossed rudely about by the storms of the divorce court is wonderful. The play is a great teacher, giving to the public a powerful lesson of the folly of greed for wealth and love denied. It was directed by William P. S. Earle, assisted by William P. S. Earle, as directed by Lyric, Monday.

Kathlyn Williams and Theodore Roberts
Around the Laaky studio, Theodore Roberts is hailed as a past master of meanness. This splendid character actor has presented cruelty in all its forms to the patrons of the Paramount theatres, but in "The Cost of Hatred" which will be seen at the Star tonight with Kathlyn Williams and Mr. Roberts co-starred in is said that he has outdone himself in his methods of villainy.

Theodore Roberts is one of the most beloved persons of the entire studio and the Laaky Paramount Company had no sooner seen him in "The Cost of Hatred" than they insisted that he could not stand being a good respectable citizen as he was in "The American Consul," but had to vent his pent up feelings in his present release.

"The Test"
A wealthy hotel owner discovering that his clerk has raised a check, threatens to prosecute unless the clerk's attractive wife consents to come to his apartment to "talk it over." The husband forces her to go and while there she submits to the test—crucifies her heart to save her spineless husband from prison. But after she has paid the price the hotel owner laughs at his promise—presses the charge and her husband receives a long sentence.

The wife's search for employment, is met with many offers of "stenographer's work" which prove to have much darker motives than more stenographic. Convinced that man's domain is an animal world she seeks a solution in a watery grave. A young writer working among the slums prevents her attempted suicide and offers her a chance to earn a living as his stenographer. The word brings a bitter laugh but she agrees, and arriving at his rooms says, "Bring on the drinks," but to her surprise his offer is sincere and without strings.

Through the young writer her lost faith in humanity blossoms again and her sky clears of its clouds save for the worthless husband in jail. Then comes the word that his death has given her deliverance and the nightmare of her past bleeds into a dream of happiness with a wonderful new found love as its theme. Lyric, Tuesday.

"The Tides of Barnegat" at Star
Blanche Sweet, the brilliant Laaky star, who is to be seen at the Star on Monday in the Laaky Paramount photodramatic version of E. Hopkinson's wonderful story, "The Tides of Barnegat," is in addition to her other accomplishments an excellent swimmer.

From appearances, Miss Sweet is by no means an athlete, yet during the filming of the sea coast scenes where the entire company was in bathing suits, Miss Sweet swam a mile against the tide in very creditable time.

"The Challenge"
Quarrier, a rising young civil engineer, forced by lack of capital to sacrifice the development of his own big ideas and to work for others at a meagre salary makes of Robert Lester, treasurer of the company, for which he works, a bitter enemy, because he exposes him cheating and—Lester awaits his choice and through a well planned trick is instrumental in sending him to prison for a long and unjust term.

While serving his term, there is cradled in the west one of the biggest engineering projects ever attempted and the country is scourged for a man with the brains to tackle the colossal undertaking. After a futile search they awake to the realization that the only man big enough for the job is in jail—Quarrier. Finally, through the influence of men of national importance the Governor is persuaded to pardon him and the door of Quarrier's living tomb is opened and he emerges into God's air again and his golden opportunity.

Arriving out west he again meets Lester, who has been appointed guardian of a spunky little tornado, Alberta Bradley, by her father's death. Lester is again cheating in the game of life, this time using his little ward as his victim who is unaware that he has sold her property and pocketed $50,000 from its sale. This leads to her open defiance to Quarrier and her challenge to dig a pick into her land at his peril. Against him a deep hate is lodged but the old adage proves true that 'love and hate live just around the corner,' and in time Lester's villainy is exposed and she surrenders both her land and love to Quarrier.

Life on Broadway and in Logging Camp Shown in "The Promise"
Life in a logging camp in the deep woods of the great northwest is shown in the "Promise," the Metro Yorke production starring Harold Lockwood and May Allison which will be seen at the Star theatre on Tuesday. "The Promise" is a five-part picture of James B. Hendry's novel of the same name, adapted for the screen by Richard V. Spencer.

Every detail of the activities of a lumber camp is depicted, from the hewing down of the great trees to the final floating of them down river, and the log jams that endanger the lives of the hardy "river drivers." Harold Lockwood, as Bill Carmody, enters with zest into this work.

Contrasted with these scenes of metropolitan gaiety, glimpses of Broadway life in which Carmody figures before his generation. A college football game is one great feature of the production. May Allison as Ethel Manton, Carmody's fiancée heads the contingent of pretty football fans.

The picture version of "The Promise," containing variety of interest as well as absorbing scenes is bound to add to the ever growing popularity of those screen favorites, Mr. Lockwood and Miss Allison.

Lyric Tuesday
Film Villa Causes near riot in studio.

Wallace Beery is another addition to the cast supporting Mrs. Vernon Castle in the great patriotic photoplay, "Patria." He first appears in the 11th chapter to be at the Lyric Theatre. He impersonates Villa on the screen and so successful was he in his make up of the famous bandit chieftain that his first appearance almost caused a riot among the several hundred real Mexican "extras" employed in making the pictures. Some of these had actually been followers of the real Villa, and some have hunted him over the hills and plains of Mexico, but to all of them Mr. Beery's strong resemblance in his make up to the outlaw was so striking as to call forth feelings of admiration or dislike in the breasts of the Mexicans that nearly resulted in a clash between the two factions.

$100,000,000 to the Dogs
One hundred million dollars was recklessly thrown into Lake Erie at Buffalo. At the same time Mrs. Vernon Castle was just as recklessly thrown overboard. Both were rescued through the alarm given by Mrs. Castle's famous police dog, Tell von Fluglerade.

It was all part of the great motion picture serial, "Patria," the 11th episode of which is to be seen at the Lyric Theatre Tuesday. Mrs. Castle and twenty five other members of the Pratria family were transported in a special train from the Wharton Studios in Ithaca to Buffalo.

Mrs. Castle who plays the title role in "Patria" was thrown into the lake from the deck of a passenger steamboat. A fast motor boat owned by Charles I. Crique of Buffalo rescued the famous dancer and beauty from the water.

The $100,000,000 all packed in boxes was stowed away on a Lehigh Valley freighter, which was pursuing the liner, the villains hoping to get it aboard.

But they had not reckoned with Tell von Fluglerade. The dog learned real police work in Germany, and at the proper time the intelligent animal gave the alarm which resulted in the plot being frustrated. The plotters then threw the boxes of money overboard, but they were recovered. The police dog lived up to his name and acted his part to the letter. Lyric Tuesday.

At the Lyric
The things that a house cat are forced to endure are more than any spirited person can stand. Mrs. Kendall, the character played by Miss Ethel Clayton in "Man's Woman" the new World Brady picture was such a person. Bored to desperation by her petted pampered life she decides to be a real woman and help her husband in a way that a wife should. The manner in which she did this forms an exceedingly interesting and pleasing story. Miss Clayton plays her part superbly. She is ably aided by handsome Rockcliffe Fellowes and a particularly capable cast. "Man's Woman" will be the brilliant offering at the Lyric Theatre tonight. Be sure and see it. Lyric Tonight.

Black Diamonds.
Genuine black diamonds, although considerably more valuable than the ordinary white diamond, are not used for ornament, having an appearance no more attractive than a bit of stone or fragment of coal. They are of dark gray, brownish, or black color, and opaque, without crystalline form. They are somewhat harder than the crystal or gem diamond, being, in fact, about the hardest substance known and are found in irregular pieces, ranging in size from one-half to 500 carats.

Argentina's Military System.
Every native or naturalized citizen of Argentina, at home or abroad, on reaching the age of eighteen years must be enrolled. The federal executive power takes charge of this national enrollment, which serves at once as a registration of voters and national defenders. A given individual, if at home, is enrolled in one of the five military districts into which the fourteen states and ten territories of Argentina are divided. If he resides abroad he is enrolled in his consulate, for the government follows him with precision wherever he may wander. With the exception of these consular registrations abroad the general enrollment is entirely in charge of the military authorities, who are counted upon to get more thorough results than a civil census provides.—World's Work.

INSTRUCTIVE CANADIAN EGG EXPERIMENTS

ENGLISH PUREBRED WHITE LEGHORN FOWLS.

In an experiment conducted by the Canada experiment farms to determine the number of eggs that would be fertilized with one mating only, five fertilized eggs appeared to be the maximum. In a fertility test following 12 hours' mating it was apparent that this method was more conducive to results than the one mating only proved to be. In trials to determine the increase of pen fertility after the introduction of the male, maximum fertility, 100 per cent, was reached in a pullet pen six days after mating, and occurred three times in a period of 21 days. The same fertility was reached in a pen of old hens on the seventh day after introducing the male, but the fertility increased more rapidly and continued a great deal longer in the pullet pen than in the pen of old hens. One male was also kept with 14 White Leghorn hens. Though the percentage of fertility was highest when only 56.8 per cent of the hens were laying, the total hatch was only 33.3 per cent. When 86.4 per cent of the pen were laying, the total hatch was 48.1 per cent and the fertility 87.7 per cent. In other tests without mating again fertility could not be traced in eggs laid after hens had been broody for any length of time.

Cooling Eggs.
In an experiment to determine the best method of cooling eggs in an incubator, the eggs in an incubator containing eight trays were cooled for a mere turning 5, 10, 15 and 20-minute periods. The trays that gave the best results were cooled as follows: First week, five minutes in the afternoon, second week, ten minutes in the afternoon; and third week, 15 minutes in the afternoon. Cooling one tray for several hours proved detrimental. In an experiment to determine the profit on ducks hatched in incubators, reared in brooders, and sold on the local market at from ten to twelve weeks old, 3.18 pounds of feed per pound of gain were required, the average weight at the end of ten days being 4 pounds, 11.2 ounces per duck.

Value of Feeds.
The value for poultry feeding of screenings, sculpings (chiefly broken and shrunken wheat and the larger weed seeds), wild buckwheat, "black seeds" (hamb's quater, wild mustard, and tumbling mustard), and each of these three separately, was tested. The presence of the black weed seeds in the ration made it not only unpalatable, but unprofitable as well. Wild buckwheat, however, made a very desirable feed. The mustards and lamb's quarter proved unprofitable and unpalatable. Some birds died but in no case did death result from "poison," but rather from malnutrition. In the birds that suffered most severely, in the case of the mustards upon return to a normal ration the rebound was very rapid. The mustards rather than being poisonous seemed to have a stimulating effect on the digestive organs.

TEMPERANCE NOTES

(By the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union)

COLD-ELOODED BUSINESS.
"The life insurance companies make a business of estimating men's lives, and can only make money by making correct estimates of whatever influences life. Now they expect a man otherwise healthy, who is addicted to beer drinking, will have his life shortened from 40 to 60 per cent. For instance, if he is twenty years old and does not drink beer he may reasonably expect to live until he is sixty-one. If he is a beer drinker he will probably not live to be over thirty-five. If he is thirty years old when he begins to drink beer he will probably drop of somewhere between forty and forty-five instead of living to sixty-four or so. There is no sentiment, prejudice, or assumption about these figures. They are simply cold-blooded business facts, derived from experience, and the companies invest their money on them just the same as a man pays so many dollars for so many feet of ground or bushels of wheat."—Dr. S. S. Thora in U. S. Senate Document.

HOTELS PROSPER UNDER PROHIBITION.
Mr. Irvin B. Allen, manager of the Shirley hotel, Denver, recently made this statement:
"I have run a bar in the Shirley hotel for many years. It used to turn up in an annual net profit of around $1,000. Our business since prohibition went into effect January 1, has more than made up for this loss."
"I notice that since prohibition went into effect we have many visitors from neighboring towns of Colorado, many bringing their families for a holiday. Since they have stopped spending their money for liquor many men are unable to give their families these outings and it has proved a good thing."

NO WONDER WOMEN VOTE FOR PROHIBITION!
"Soon after prohibition went into effect a plainly dressed woman, evidently hardworking and poor, came to my store and made a purchase of $10 worth of kitchen utensils," said a Denver merchant. "She was bubbling over with enthusiasm. She said it was the first time in the 15 years of her married life she had had any money to spend. Her husband had earned $1 a week, but he spent it in the saloons. She proudly exhibited a bank passbook, showing she had started a savings account and had $20 to her credit."

The Tacoma (Wash.) Tribune pointed out the merchants of that city in response to the effects of the prohibition law and found that their decrease in sales was from 25 to 250 per cent.

Tallahassee, April 17. The senate this morning acted favorably upon the motion of Senator Farris to reconsider the vote by which the house consented to a resolution providing for a joint committee to visit the old soldiers' home at Jacksonville and inquire into certain reports concerning the conduct of that institution. It is alleged that the tax money appropriated for the maintenance of the old soldiers of this home is not always spent for the convenience and comfort of the inmates and that the management is not always as patient and considerate of the aged and childless veterans under its care as it should be. Senator Farris stated that the state appropriated $50 for the funeral expenses of every deceased veteran of the home, and that he had been informed by the funeral directors of Jacksonville that they are being paid only $19 of this amount. It has come to a pretty pass when great charity under the control of the state and robs the old boys of the lost cause, whom we all love to honor, of not only the comforts provided for them while they are yet with us, but also deprives them of a decent burial. We hope this committee will be composed of men who will make a searching investigation and that if they find any grounds at all for these rumors, they will report their findings and let this institution get the thorough shaking up that it will richly deserve.

Good Fertilizer Good Value

For 33 years Armour Blood & Bone Tankage has consistently been among the most economical and satisfactory no-potash fertilizers offered. Especially is this true right now. You get 15% ammonia from blood, and 15% phosphoric acid from steamed bone, at several dollars per ton less than the same foods from these sources would cost separately.

Armour Blood & Bone Tankage

Under present conditions this material is, we believe, the best and most economical Ammonia - Phosphoric Acid fertilizer offered. It is well suited to all crops; it furnishes everything except potash. It is a standard material of PROVED crop-making ability; more than 100,000 tons have actually been used in Florida. It is rich, pure, and a splendid humus-builder.

HOW TO PREPARE THE GARDEN SOIL

Fertilizers and Lime Should Be Applied When Ground is Ready.

[Prepared by United States Department of Agriculture.]

A simple test to determine when garden soil is ready for plowing or working is to take a handful of earth from the surface and close the fingers tightly on it. If the earth compacted in this way is dry enough for cultivation it will fall apart when the hand is opened. This test is applicable only to comparatively heavy soils, but it is these which receive the most injury if they are worked when wet. On such soils overzealous gardeners not only waste their time, but frequently do actual damage by attempting to work them too early.

After plowing or working with a spade it is usually desirable to apply some form of fertilizer. Barnyard or stable manure, which furnishes both plant food and humus, is undoubtedly the best, and applications of from twenty to thirty tons to the acre are satisfactory. The manure should be distributed evenly over the surface and later worked in with a hoe and rake. Frequently it is advisable also to apply commercial fertilizer, especially phosphate. An application of 300 to 600 pounds of acid phosphate to the acre is usually sufficient. In order to supply potash, if this is needed, unbleached wood ashes may be distributed over the garden at the rate of 1,000 pounds to the acre. Wet or leached ashes have less fertilizer value. Two thousand pounds of these should be used. In order to start the plants early in the spring applications of 100 pounds to the acre of sulfate of soda are sometimes used. It is important, however, to remember that no form of commercial fertilizer will yield good results unless the soil is well supplied with lignite. This frequently may be provided in the form of soil or other vegetation which has overgrown a garden spot and may be turned under with a plow or spade.

In certain localities it is also advisable to treat the soil for acidity.

Naturally moist soils are likely to be sour and in such a condition are not likely to produce the most satisfactory crops. The test for acidity or sourness is a very simple one. A handful of the soil slightly moistened and a piece of blue litmus paper, which can be obtained from any drug store, are all that is necessary. When placed on sour soil the paper will turn red. To correct such a condition lime should be used. The ground should be covered with a thin coat of air-slaked lime and the latter worked in well. Lime is not a plant food, but it will correct the acidity and will improve the physical condition of the soil.

Let Butcher Figure It Out. Donald was sent to the store by his mother and told to get "Frenched" tenderloin. By the time he reached the butcher shop, however, he had forgotten the butcher part of it, so he said to the butcher: "I want some tenderloins; stand 'em up and knock 'em down."

Indian Dyes From Dogwood. Dogwood was the source of the famous "Indian red" with which the vain warriors dyed their eagle feathers and buckskin clothes. They procured the dye from the inner bark of the tree. This is probably the only dye that can be procured from American trees.

The 1917 Message to Ford Car Owners

GOODRICH 375 SIZE (31x3 1/4 INCHES) 375 BLACK SAFETY TREAD TIRES

HERE is the BIG NEWS of the YEAR for the owners of Ford Automobiles.

The B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company, having centered its 48 years' experience and knowledge directly on the problem of making the best tire for the Ford Automobile, has brought forth a tire that fulfills the special needs of the Ford Automobile, and doubles its virtues.

It is the tire for which Ford drivers have been waiting—a Ford car tire of HEROIC SIZE:

GOODRICH "Three-Seventy-Five"

This husky tire of Super-size and Super-strength lifts the Ford car to the sum-total of perfection.

Generous in rubber and fabric, it is a 31-inch by 3 1/4 inch tire, built with the regular five finger Black Safety Tread to fit 30-inch rims on a Ford car.

That extra inch on the circumference and full three-quarter inch in the cross-section are just what the Ford car tire needed.

Treat your car to longer life and yourself to more enjoyment of the car by asking your dealer for the Ford Car Tire of HEROIC SIZE: Goodrich's THREE-SEVENTY-FIVE.

If wheat goes any higher they expect to feed the Lake county editors on Natal hay.

Since it has been discovered that so many thousands of bushels of good grain go into the making of whiskey we hereby advocate stopping the making of any more whiskey and eat the grain instead of drinking it.

The Easter edition of the Sanford Herald was a hummer and Editor Bob Holly and his able manager Haynes must have been on the job every minute to get out such a mammoth edition. It speaks well for Sanford and its good paper, Moorhaven Times.

When the next tax roll for the city is made up the aldermen should look well to the equalization of taxes in Sanford. Much of the vacant property that is now being held for big prices should be taxed in proportion to the little home of the man who is now paying more than his share of the taxes. Other property is not in proportion and this very important matter should receive the careful consideration of the city fathers.

This paper is not urging any man to join either the army or the navy. When the call comes there will be plenty to answer and they will not need to be conscripted. When the editor gets ready to go to the front he will call for volunteers but we do not and never will urge conscription in this free country. There are plenty of men here in Sanford ready to go to the front if some military authority will just show us the front and the manner in which we can get there.

The Sanford Herald tells of a spiritedly successful FISH FRY that was given in that immediate vicinity. It fairly makes a fellow hungry to read about it you could see the rich brown catches dancin' in the pan. But here's the joker: The affair was given under the auspices of the TRUTH SEEKERS. Whoever heard of looking for truth where catching fish was concerned? It would be a dinged sight more appropriate for that Fish Dinner to have been given by the Benevolent and Astute Order of Perpetual Prevaricators, Larned in St. Augustine Record.

of the sand asphalt roads of Lake county going to pieces. Clarence Woods is ready to fight anyone who knocks his velvet way but Clarence was very ready and willing to knock Orange and Seminole county brick roads and probably knows how it feels to be knocked instead of being the knocker. However, we were offered the plate story about the sand asphalt roads and refused to print it just as we refused to be a party to the brick roads argument. We believe we have the finest roads in the state and we also believe that the sand asphalt roads at the present time are the finest of that kind and only time will tell which is the better material. Meantime, we never knock the honest efforts of any county in the making of good roads. We need all the roads in Florida.

This paper does not believe the rumors that Germans are doing this and that and the other things credited to them. Neither do we believe that any of the negro population are breathing sedition against America in this crisis. During war times you are apt to hear many disquieting rumors but the wisest thing to do is to keep your mouth shut. If you find anything on anybody that you can prove then act but keep your mouth shut at all times. The Germans in our midst are among the best of our citizens and their position in this crisis is a most trying one but now that the dies is cast their patriotism should not be questioned. When it comes to a question of guarding our interests this can be done most thoroughly without any demonstration. The negroes are American citizens and as such will be found ready and willing to fight for America. All that we need to worry about is the food question and planting of staple crops.

SEMINOLE BRICK
The Seminole brick road from the Orange county line to the original brick at Robinson's Springs is in fine shape and the trip to Sanford is now "a joy forever." Oh, yes, of course part of the old original seven miles of Seminole brick is a trifle pocky but it's a heap better than a dirt road.
And say: There will soon be a fine brick road from a point three miles south of Sanford to Oviedo, and so, if the Orange county authorities cannot improve the Orlando Oviedo road, the proper route is via the Seminole brick route.—Orlando Citizen.

"Horns of Venus."
References are made in some esoteric form literature to the "Horns of Venus," from which it is concluded by some that in the clear air of Mexico potania the crescent form of the planet was detected in early time without optical aid. Since Venus when at a sufficient angular distance from the sun, is hardly more than half a minute of arc in diameter at the most, such an observation seems quite out of the question, and Professor Campbell thinks the allusion to the horns was merely a lucky guess of the part of the ancient astronomers.

Thoughtful Bobbie.
When Bobbie went to see his grandmother he was much interested in whatever went on in the kitchen. One morning she said to him: "I'm going to make you a nice little pie in a saucer, Bobbie, all for yourself. Don't you think I'm pretty good to take so much trouble?" Bobbie thought about it a moment. "Grandma," he said "mamma told me not to be a bother, and if it's going to be any trouble you can just as well make my pie the regular size."

HOW SHE WAS WON

By ETHEL HOLMES.

"Dotty," said Mr. Harmon to his daughter, whose real name was Pauline, "don't you think that to please papa you could accept Ernest Towne?"
"How about pleasing myself?"
"Oh, that will come later. If you marry Bob Stewart, instead of increasing your social distinction, you'll feel the pinch of poverty; if you marry Towne you'll be a swell leader later on."

"Aren't you rich enough to keep my position for me, papa?"
"Of course, you see that what I have will be added to what you get by marriage."
"I'll think about it, papa."
She concluded to refer the case to a contest between the two suitors. So she sent word to both of them that she would the next morning be driving her car within the limits of Marion county—a region full of excellent roads, crossing one another like the wires of a twisted gridiron—and would marry whichever of the two men who proposed first.

Both suitors received the information about 10 o'clock at night, the contest to take place the next morning. Neither had any information as to what point the lady would enter the chosen district. The county line was many miles in length, and she might enter at any point. Even if a candidate entered near her he would not know which direction she would take, and he might set off in the opposite one. Both men made their preparations before turning in for the night. Towne went to his garage, where he kept several cars, and ordered his chauffeur to prepare the one best suited to his needs for the contest. He was not a driver himself and expected to use his chauffeur for that purpose.

Stewart on receiving his notification sat down to a job of thinking on the matter. He could see no hope of his securing an advantage over his rival by ordinary methods of transportation. It would be purely a matter of luck, the man having the best car winning. At midnight he had solved the problem.
Before daylight Miss Harrison started, with a single attendant, for the trial ground, and by the first peep of day she was in its center, ready to take any course her fancy dictated. At the starting hour Towne passed the line and began to follow a route he had laid down on the map which he thought would give him the best chance of a meeting. His car was capable of making sixty miles an hour, and when on long stretches his chauffeur was instructed to get that speed out of her.

Miss Harmon, being in the center of the county, worked from that outward, whereas it was supposed that she would enter at the outside and work inward. Towne began by making a speedy zigzag run, following the trend of the line, hoping to come upon the prize soon after she entered. Of course he completed the circuit without meeting her. Nevertheless he continued on the same plan, which was to make shorter and shorter circuits till he arrived at the center.

Miss Harmon's plan was something like this, though she did not make a regular spiral from the center to the line. She saw nothing of either of her suitors. Mr. Towne passed her on his inward, her outward, move on the opposite side of the ground of contest. When they came round again he was within, she was without, though they passed within a quarter of a mile of each other.

All this time nothing was seen of Stewart. Miss Harmon had been on the road three hours and was beginning to tire. At first she assumed that she had missed both her suitors. Indeed, when she came to think of it calmly it was quite likely that she might ride all day over so large a field without meeting either of them. As to Towne, he had not yet reached the center point.

About 4 o'clock in the afternoon Miss Harmon was driving along a stretch of road in which there was no turn when an auto plumped itself from a side path into the middle of the road right before her. She had barely time to stop within a few feet of it when Bob Stewart jumped out of the obstructing car, sprang on to the footboard of Miss Harmon's car and, seizing her hand, asked her to marry him.

WAGNER'S SECRET IS OUT.

Gives Free Swinging Hitter Rule to Follow When at the Bat.
Hans Wagner, the veteran shortstop, with the Pittsburgh Nationals, is a professor of B. A.—batting art. One of the recruits with the Cincinnati Nationals had the nerve to write Hans for a bit of advice on batting. Wagner good naturedly answered. The secret of his batting style is out. Here it is:
"You say you are a free swinger," the veteran wrote. "Then whenever you go up, unless under orders to wait it out, decide before you reach the plate just which ball you are going to hit—and stick to your decision."
If you make up your mind to hit a ball, hit it, and don't stop to think about it. If you have decided to wait for the third ball, don't let even a soft tapping pitch make you change your mind. When the third one comes over go after it with all your might. This rule is about the best advice I can give to a free swinging hitter."

ON GROWING ONIONS.

On Small Areas It is Preferable to Plant Sets.
[Prepared by United States department of agriculture.]

Onions, like potatoes, are a staple crop that is grown commercially on a very extensive scale. As a general rule, it is well to have the crop follow some other one that has been kept under the hoe and free from weeds the previous season.

In the north seed is sown as early in the spring as the soil can be brought to the proper condition. In the south onion sets are frequently put out in the autumn and carried through the winter with the protection of a little hay or straw. There are three methods of propagating onions—the first, by sowing the seed in rows where the crop is to grow; second, by sowing the seed in specially prepared beds and transplanting the seedlings to the open ground, and, third, by planting sets which have been kept through the winter. The first method is used by large commercial growers on account of the amount of labor involved in the others. On small areas, however, it may be preferable to plant sets. Under normal conditions these may usually be obtained at planting time for about $2.50 a bushel, eight or nine bushels being required to plant an acre. Onions planted from sets will ripen earlier than those from seed sown in the field. When the transplanting method is used the seed is sown in greenhouses, hotbeds, cold frames or specially prepared beds at the rate of three and one-half to four pounds for each acre to be planted. The seedlings are transplanted when they are somewhat smaller than a lead pencil and rather stocky. The root end of the seedling is pushed into the soil with one finger, and the soil is then firmed about the plant.

The seed is sown thickly in drills about twelve to fourteen inches apart. After the plants become established they are thinned to two or three inches apart. The maturity of the bulbs may be hastened by preventing the continued growth of the tops. This is sometimes accomplished by rolling an empty barrel over the rows and breaking down the tops. After these are practically dead the onion bulbs may be pulled up by hand from the soil and spread in a dry, well ventilated place to cure. Thereafter they may be stored in crates or bins for winter use. In the north the crop ripens and is harvested during the latter part of the summer and early autumn. In the southern states, where the crop is grown during the winter, the harvesting and marketing period takes place during the spring months.

War Not Likely to Interfere With Tennis; Williams to Defend Title

Photograph by American Press Association

It is not believed that war will seriously interfere with the game of tennis. The announcement that K. Norris Williams, national outdoor tennis champion, will defend his title against all comers has caused the popular sport to take on renewed interest. With the possible exception of Maurice E. McLoughlin, "the California Comet," the present national title holder is the most popular champion the game has ever developed.
Born in Geneva, Switzerland, on Jan. 29, 1890, Williams first took up the game when twelve years of age. For three years previous to this, however, the present champion's father, C. Emma Williams of Philadelphia, had young Williams practice the various strokes. With persevering care the older man taught his son the game. Every stroke was added to his repertory until finally the best professional of the country declared the lad's tennis education complete. In 1914 Williams surprised the tennis community by defeating McLoughlin at the Newport Casino Invitation tournament by the score of 6-4, 6-3, 6-3. It was Williams' solid, unelaborate, but extremely powerful service which proved the undoing of the California Comet. This win probably was the greatest match that the present champion played during his entire career.

Serious Meat Shortage Brings Question Home to Us

United States Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Animal Industry, Jacksonville, Florida.—The serious meat shortage in the United States and the urgent necessity for removing every handicap to increased production, including eradication of the cattle fever ticks in the quarantined area has been emphasized by Government authorities recently.

The inventory of food stuff stocks in the country show that the meat resources are as deficient as the grain resources. The latter can be replenished within a year by planting increased acreage of grain crops and by cultivating city lot gardens, but the meat problem requires a longer time to develop much increase in production.

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Hon. Carl Vrooman, in his address at the Southeastern Food Crop Conference in Atlanta, Ga., on April 6, stressed the following statement: "The necessity for hurrying the work of eradicating the cattle fever ticks."

The cattle tick eradication campaign is now being waged in the tick fever quarantined area of the southern states is one of the most wonderful ful campaigns for good evre carried on in America. "If actual warfare comes to this nation, do not let that campaign stop until the cattle fever ticks are completely eradicated, for we must establish a solid foundation for preparedness, for feeding not only our own people, but helping to feed our allies.

THE QUALITY SHOP IN THE LYRIC THEATRE BUILDING SWEEPING REDUCTIONS IN ALL HATS MRS. I. D. PEARSON, Mgr. MRS. A. D. PARRISH, Asst'

"Do not let any one get up in any of your several legislatures and suggest that economy be introduced by cutting off one dollar of the amount of appropriation necessary to complete this work at the earliest possible moment, for a profitable live stock industry is the basis of a large agricultural development."

The counties, through their officials also must make appropriations to purchase material for dipping vats to pay salaries of inspectors to help the state and Federal representatives. The government is trying to help the state and Federal representatives. The government is willing and anxious to do all it can toward eradicating the ticks, but it will not attempt to carry on the work in any county without hearty cooperation of county officials.

This office will skillfully assign skilled leaders to help county officials or representative cattle owners conduct a preliminary organization campaign and when the county officials are ready to build vats and carry on systematic dipping of cattle a government inspector will be detailed to take supervisory charge of the work in that county.

Every person can demonstrate their patriotism by energetically pushing the tick eradication work, and thus help the government save the life.

PEOPLE AND EVENTS

The following from the Orlando Sentinel will be interesting to Sanford people. The wedding is said to have been a most successful one.

Miss A. J. Cates of Sanford, Fla., and Mr. J. J. Cates of this city were quietly married by Rev. Edw. T. Paulson, at the Baptist parsonage at 7:45 last evening. The bride and groom were attended by the brother of the groom, Mr. Robt W. Furen, the brother of the groom, Mr. Bert Furen, and Miss Gertrude M. McCauley. The groom is a promising young business man, being associated with McLaughlin & Furen, merchants of this city. The bride is a charming and accomplished young lady. The happy couple will make their future home in Orlando after a short wedding tour.

Will Help Sanford Growers

Mr. J. J. Cates of Sanford, Fla., left the city Wednesday for Jacksonville where he will open a wholesale produce and commission business next Monday, the 23rd. Mr. Cates will have associated with him Mr. Berry and Mr. Osburn, now with the Empire Fruit & Produce Co. of Jacksonville. They are both old experienced men in the produce business and as salesmen. Mr. Berry is formerly of our city, having owned the little business known as Candy Land, next to the Lyric Theatre.

He will have full charge of the sales throughout the territory and will call on the trade as usual next week in the interests of the new concern. Mr. Osburn, formerly with A. F. Doekman & Co., will have charge of the shipping department and will see that each customer gets straight goods, just what he brings and fresh stock. Mr. Cates will have the management of the concern and it is the honest intentions of these three gentlemen to do an honest, straightforward produce business and hope to have the full support of each and every one of our friends throughout this territory. If you have any produce for the market ship it to this new concern and give them a trial.

As the new concern has not yet decided on a name you may address J. J. Cates, Jacksonville. He will be looking for your shipments and next week you will see the name of the new concern in this paper. 70-11c

Negroes Die in North

Astounding revelations, indicating the widespread exploitations of unemployed southern negroes in Philadelphia and vicinity and the use of fake promises of work which have cost no less than 500 lives in Philadelphia alone during the last three months, have been made by inspectors in the state department of labor and industry, says the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

"The inspectors have been at work for weeks running down bogus employment agencies in the disguise of beneficial associations and insurance companies or religious organizations which enticed many of the untrained negroes to the north by the thousands. The city has been so flooded with the negroes, unaccustomed to the climate and unable to withstand the rigors of a northern winter, that adequate housing conditions cannot be afforded them. Many have died in the Philadelphia Hospital and tuberculosis and pneumonia are rife among them," the Bulletin states.

"The department of labor and industry which maintain a systematic inspection of the employment agencies in this city, is authority for the statement that no reputable agency here had any part in the negro traffic."

Some Fine Potatoes and Beets

Somehow the good people of this vicinity know that the editor of The Herald likes vegetables and they never fail to bring in something nice when coming to town. This week John Russell brought in a basket of fine Irish potatoes from his farm on Beardsall avenue and they were the largest we have seen this season. John was not stingy with them and we will eat for several days. They are the Spaulding Rose No. 4 and John claims they are running one hundred barrels to the acre which is quite some.

The Ideal Kitchen.

The kitchen is the real workshop of the family. Most of the work there has to do with preparing food for the family, cleaning it up and putting it away. The old fashioned kitchens never took into account economy of steps and time, but today this is always done. There is a logical order for the arrangement of the equipment. Things that belong to each process should be together, within the reach of the worker. The cooking, cold pantry, kitchen cabinet, stove and serving table are used together and should be in a close continuous line. This is the food preparation side of the equipment. For the cleaning up of the same economy should be practiced. The sink should be near the china closet or in a butler's pantry, the track should be straight for clearing up. Always have plenty of table room near the sink. A drain board on each side is the best plan, or at least a set of hanging shelves, a hinged shelf, and extra table or a wheeled table at the right. If the drain table is porcelain a rubber mat will prevent breakage.—Exchange.

Aluminum and Oxygen.

Aluminum is in many ways a wonderful substance, albeit in the natural world most of it is oxidized and turned to clay. Its avidity for oxygen is one of its most salient characteristics. It is said that one never sees the metal directly, in air, but always and only through a veil of superficial oxide which forms on its free surface with marvelous rapidity. It is stated that if a fresh surface of aluminum is prepared by scraping with a knife the oxygen of the air runs in as fast as the scale is peeled off and keeps close behind the knife blade.

If it were not for this superficial scale of oxide, which acts as a barrier to further action, the metal would burn up or degenerate in air. The large amount of heat developed by thermite, a mixture of powdered aluminum with oxygen giving substances, bears witness to the activity of the oxidizing process when completed.—Washington Star.

Tokyo's Prolific Slums.

No tourist crosses the Sumida river unless it is to visit the great amphitheater for a wrestling match or a chrysanthemum show, yet there is where the real secret of Tokyo's future lies. It is the factory and slum sections of the city, and the population there has increased in the last decade ten times as fast as has the population in the district of Kojimachi, which surrounds the palace.

In the last generation the population of the five greatest industrial and commercial cities in Japan has increased by 314 per cent as against an increase in the whole empire of 15 per cent. The trend in Japan is cityward, and the visitor to Tokyo, seeing the streets crowded with people, does not realize that in the suburbs the growth in population has run from 250 to 500 per cent in the last decade.—Christian Herald.

HOME GARDENS

With Planning Much Food May Be Produced In Small Space.

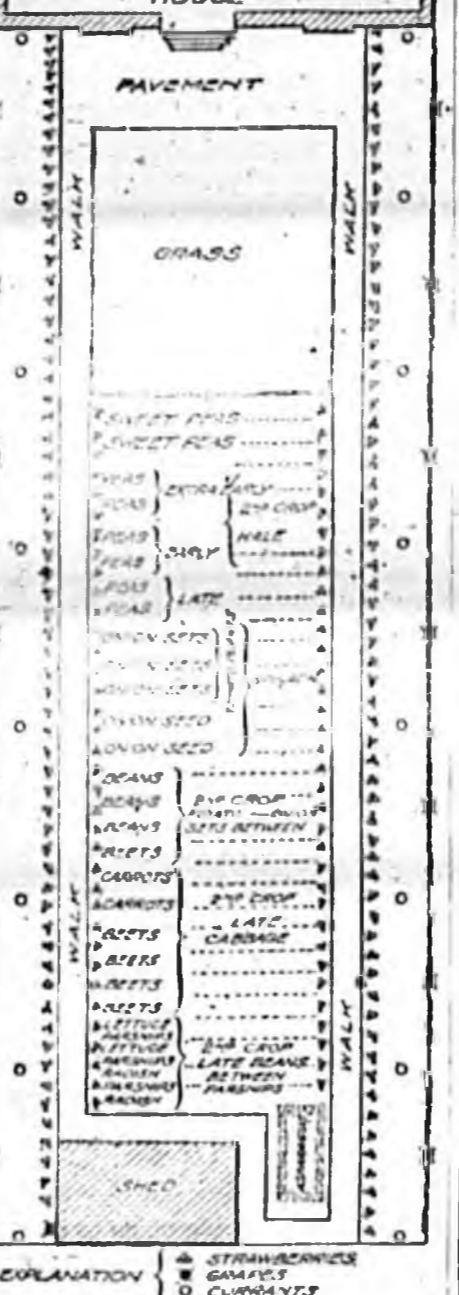

MAKING VEGETABLE PLOTS.

Just What Vegetables to Grow Depends Upon the Individual Tastes of the Family—Can Be Kept Supplied With Seasonable Fresh Garden Truck.

[Prepared by United States department of agriculture.]

A little forethought will enable a comparatively small tract of land to supply the average family with fresh vegetables throughout the growing season, say specialists in the United States department of agriculture. Most owners of small gardens are content to raise a single crop on each plot of land at their disposal. It is quite possible, however, to grow two or three crops in one season, and if these are properly selected the home-grown produce will be both better and cheaper than any that can be purchased on the market.

Just what vegetables are to be grown depends, of course, upon the individual

PLAN FOR A SMALL GARDEN.

In this plan all the vegetables named are planted in rows across from the inside lateral row of strawberries. As rapidly as each kind of peas matures and the crop is over, kale is planted in its place. The ground to be used for tomatoes is first planted with onion plants, and these should be pulled as rapidly as needed. When the time comes to set out the tomatoes some of the onions are due to make space for the tomato plants. When the tomato crop is over the ground is occupied by spinach as the third crop. Spinach is also planted as soon as the bulb onions from the early crop are gathered. The beans, carrots and peas are succeeded by late cabbage, and later in the fall of late cabbage, 'potato-onion' sets are planted. Late beans are planted between the rows of parsnips after the radishes and lettuce have been gathered.

tastes of the family. In general it may be said, however, that the aim of the home gardener should be to raise vegetables in which freshness is an important quality. Peas and string or lima beans, for example, lose much if they are not cooked almost immediately after they are picked.

If the small garden plot, however, is to be made to bring the maximum return in economy and pleasure to the owner every available foot of it must be made to work continuously. This can be accomplished only by careful planning, and it is recommended, therefore, that amateur gardeners draw up in advance a complete layout for their garden. A typical plan of this character is shown in the diagram above. On the plan the gardener should indicate the date when each of his projected crops is to be planted. No more space should be allotted to each than is needed to furnish a sufficient quantity of the vegetable for the family consumption or for local sale. In many cases also space should be left between the rows for the inter-planting of later crops and for easy cultivation. Plants which make a high growth and cause heavy shade should not be located where they will interfere with sun loving small plants. Perennials, too, such as rhubarbs and asparagus, which are not cultivated, should not be grown among plants which call for tillage.

If a garden is planned in this way and the scheme carried out the plan should be kept for use the following year, with notes of the success or failure of the different items in it. For example, if too much or too little of any vegetable was grown this fact should be recorded. It is not desirable, however, to follow too closely the same plan in succeeding years. The same kind of vegetables should not be grown twice, if this can be avoided, in the same part of the garden.

First Milling Process.

The conversion of wheat into flour was one of the earliest developments of civilization, and even the primitive races in the dawn of history submit the grain to a coarse pounding between stones. Perhaps the oldest flour "mills" in existence are the rude stone found among the remains of the ancient lake dwellings in Switzerland. A superior and more advanced arrangement than that was reduced to a coarse meal crude as this method was, it contains the germ of the modern flour mill.

Early Saws and Knives.

The saw appears to be the earliest tool that has been traced in Egyptian history. It was found first in the form of a notched bronze knife in the third dynasty, or about 5,000 years before the Christian era, and was followed in the fourth and fifth dynasties by larger-toothed saws, which were used by carpenters; but there are no dated specimens until the seventh century before the Christian era when the Assyrians used iron saws. The first knives on record were made out of flint, and were, in fact, saws with minute teeth.

DOINGS OF THE LEGISLATURE

Tallahassee, April 20, 1917.—The legislature has passed a resolution urging the people of Florida to grow more crops that will increase the food supply of the state and nation to meet the unprecedented demand incident to war conditions. In this connection a recent bulletin issued by the State Agricultural Department is of unusual value. It contains an article entitled, "Gardening in Florida," and accompanied therewith is a list of things possible of being planted and grown as adapted to various sections of the state by months, and our people were used to grow something and cut down the cost of living.

Now it is proposed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, urging the use of every vacant lot as a garden, and impresses upon our farmers the real need of putting forth every effort to grow food crops. The situation is serious enough that it proposes to mobilize an army with plows and hoes to enlist an army of 2,000,000 workers to raise food for the army of men called upon to bear arms and vindicate the honor of America and the cause of Democracy throughout the world. In addition to fighters we must have producers. The fighters must have food.

The American reserves of food stuffs are the smallest in history and there is no reserve supply in the European countries, we have joined in war, and millions of people across the sea are at the point of starvation. And we are not far from this condition on this side of the water.

In support of this claim it is the declaration of C. C. Hare of the U. S. Bureau of Crop Estimates who reports crop conditions for the Federal Department of Agriculture in Florida that there is not enough food stuff on hand in this state to feed our people for a month. Prices in the primary market are constant.

advancing. Corn last week was quoted in Chicago at $1.35 a bushel and wheat went to $2.15 a bushel. Florida soil can be made to work every month in the year. The moral is—get busy. There was never a grander cause nor a greater opportunity offered for this state to show the possibility of its boundless resources. It don't matter how small the tract of ground; it will raise something if given the proper attention. Good seed is necessary, as like produces like.

During the past year our State Department of Agriculture has put in print a great deal of useful information about Florida, without cost to the state. But this department lacks the funds with which to place the state officially before the outside world, which is so much in need of practical and truthful information about the resources of Florida. Exaggerations by boomers and promoters have put the state in disrepute and there is a crying need for facts originally presented. The literature sent out by individuals and corporations does not have the convincing weight as when it has the state back of it and vouched for in an official way.

A state and county millage for publicity purposes should be provided so that the property owners of the state who profit by its development will have to share their proportionate parts of the expense. There never was a more opportune time to bring the resources of the state to the front. The booster clubs and trade bodies of the state should not overlook the fact.

Tallahassee, April 20, 1917.—The real "bone-dry" bill has passed the house and is on its third reading in the senate, with every indication that it will pass by a big majority. Since the state is going dry, the members of the legislature do not seem to care how dry it gets. The bill now pending permits no shipments into dry territory, prohibits the manufacture of any drink by whatever name containing more than one half of one per cent of alcohol. No clubs or other like organizations will be permitted under this bill to dispense or keep on hand any intoxicants or anything that looks like intoxicants. The bill originally was about as tight as words could make it, but on its second reading in the senate an amendment was slipped over which allows the manufacture of as much as five gallons of wine for domestic purposes, but not to be sold. The bill is being handled by Senator McEachern and Representative Bryan.

Tallahassee, April 20, 1917.—Interest has been aroused in this country since it has taken part in the European war, as to the number of foreign born people living here. The census of 1910 shows 13,516,886, German leading with 2,501,618 and 1,278,667 of them of voting age. German militarism, no doubt accounts for the presence of so many males in this land of the free.

Florida's share in the grand total was 40,633, and 2440 of them are from Germany. From the current report of Commissioner of Agriculture McRae, "Part I—Agriculture"

THE GUARANTEED LEAD AND ZINC PAINT FEWER GALLONS - WEARS LONGER

Of course, any paint you put on is better than no paint. But for long and satisfactory service we always recommend Devoe Lead and Zinc Paint because we can guarantee it to be absolutely pure. It contains no whitening, no silica, or any other worthless adulterants. That's why Devoe paint goes so much further and lasts so much longer than ordinary paint.

Come in and let us tell you how little it will cost you to paint with Devoe.

Two frequent misconceptions of my ideal of wordless songs are first, that they must be very futuristic and beyond the comprehension of any but those of the most advanced musical education.

wheat states have not had moisture enough. Early vegetables in the southern states have been nipped by frost.

Food prices are high already. This careless, easy going America must remember the nut and prepare for next winter.

Selectmen, town committees, town trustees and councilors, spy out the vacant cultivable land and see that it is tickled with the plow.
