Build City Hall Now, Petsos Tells Lake Mary

By Kathy Tyrity Herald Staff Writer

Lake Mary Commissioner Buzz Petsos says he wants to save the city $49,000 outright and another $150,000 in construction-price escalations over three years by voting right now to build a new City Hall-administration building.

Commissioners thought they had laid the issue to rest last month when they voted to forego the new administration center and rent the Community Improvement Association (CIA) building for three years instead. That was expected to cost $49,000 with necessary renovations.

However, the Capital Facilities Committee, which recommended the CIA building, may want to take another look today at building a new City Hall, according to Petsos. The committee is expected to meet with city officials after the swearing-in ceremonies for new commissioners late today, and Petsos says there has been a groundswell of opinion in favor of building a new City

"I've gotten several phone calls and I think the committee will be considering it," Petsos said.

The next official commission meeting is Oct. 16 at 7:30 p.m.

Petsos said the city could make out fine using its current facilities for a year or 18 months until the new building could be built, and it could save the rent money as well as construction-cost escalation money. He says the City Hall, at about 8,000 square feet, would cost about $500,000, not including land. And at a 10-percent increase per year, he says it would cost $150,000 to wait three years.

"I just don't go for the quick-fix idea that would cost the taxpayers $49,000 they don't need to spend," said Petsos, who was the lone dissenter when the city voted to rent space in the CIA building.

He objected to the "quick-fix" on the police hearquarters as well. That function got put in a double-wide mobile home. Police and fire services would likely relocate to the new administration building when it is built, said Pctsos.

The phantom City Hall even has several possible locations already selected. Petsos said two locations would be right downtown - one adjacent to the present City Hall.

Petsos said he utilized the services of an engineer and contractor in making his computations.

Soviet Bombers Intercepted

OTTAWA (UPI) - Two Sories long con-bombers on a reconnaissance mission off the east coast of Canada were intercepted by Canadian fighters and escorted out of the area, Defense Ministry officials said.

The Defense Ministry said the Soviet planes, intercepted early Sunday, were testing for "gape" in Canada's air defense - part of a Soviet reconnaissance program almed at developing the capability of a surprise attack on North America.

The Soviet Jets, flying over international waters, entered the Canadian air defense identification zone about 120 miles east of St. John's, Newfoundland, the Defense Ministry said. The area — outside Canadian airspace — is a type of buffer sone patrolled by Canada.

Under the terms of an International Civil Aeronautics agreement, foreign planes must file flight plans before entering an air defense identification zone.

Israeli Airplanes Hit Militia

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) -Israeli warplanes pounded pro--Syrian Moslem militia above the northern Lebanese city of Tripoli today near the Syrian border.

The Christian Voice of Lebanon and Voice of Free Lebanon radio stations said eight Israeli warplanes were involved in the brief air attacks at 8:05 a.m.

The radio stations said the targets were "bases manned by fighters of the Syrian Social Nationalist Party and the Baath Party" - two pro-Syrian Lebanese Moslem militia groups.

Local radio stations said Amai militiamen, who have laid siege on the Rashidiyeh camp southeast of the port of Tyre since last Tuesday, traded machine gun and sniper fire with the guerrillas, who have hidden behind fortifications around the camp.

Nuclear Stockpile 'Underestimated'

Israel Hiding Warheads Factory?

LONDON (UPI) - Israel's weapons, with yields big enough nuclear stockpile is many times larger than Western intelligence experts have thought and the country may now be able to produce hydrogen bombs capable of destroying entire cities, a newspaper said.

In a front-page story, the Sunday Times said Israel has hidden a nuclear warhead factory from spy satellites by burying it beneath a harmless looking building beside the Dimona nuclear reactor in the Negev desert.

The paper said Israel now ranks as the world's sixth most powerful nuclear power after the United States, the Soviet Union. Britain, France and China.

It also said Israel has "almost certainly begun manufacturing (more powerful) thermonuclear

IN BRIEF

Private Blood Banks To Profit From AIDS Panic

MIAMI (UPI) — The public's fear of contracting AIDS through a blood transfusion has led enterpeneurs to open commercial blood banks that will freeze and store customers' blood to be used in future surgery.

"It's an opportunity right now," said Alan Bigio, who owns three computer stores in the Miami area and plans to open his first blood bank early next year. "It's like when computers started five years ago. We have five or six years to make a lot of money."

Although at least 414 Americans have contracted the AIDS virus after receiving contaminated blood since 1981, only two such cases have been reported since blood banks began routine screening of donated blood for antibodies to the AIDS virus last year.

In both cases, one in Colorado and one in Dade County, the blood tested negative because the donors had contracted the virus shortly before. It often takes several weeks after exposure to the virus for the antibodies to form.

Insurers Force Early Release?

NEW YORK (UPI) — Many insurance companies force doctors to send children home hours after a tonsillectomy, even if the young patients are at risk, entailing complications "too high to make it a mandatory outpatient operation," doctors said.

Two doctors studied 2.944 children who underwent the surgery at Columbus Children's Hospital in Ohio over a two-year period and found only 20 percent of children are well enough to be sent home four hours after the operation.

The remainder needed at least eight hours of observation, and 14 percent of them suffered complications that would require overnight hospitalization.

UPI: Dems To Make House Gains

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democrats are likely to increase their House majority by six or eight seats Nov. 4 but will fall short of historical "throw-'em-out" gains by the opposite party in the sixth year of a sitting president.

A nationwide survey of United Press International's Hot 100 closest and most attention-getting races shows the Democrats will boost their 253-180 majority in the House by a few seats, picking up districts especially in states where a sick farm economy and slumping oil prices have led to voter dissatisfaction with GOP members who tie themselves to President Reagan's policies.

But although Democrats are looking to those pockets of economic decline in hopes of winning back the 14 seats they lost to the Republican Party in 1984, the UPI survey shows that is questionable.

NEW YORK (UPI) — CBS News anchorman Dan Rather credited the superintendent of a Park Avenue apartment for saving him from two well-dressed men who attacked him on the street, chased him into the building and beat him.

Rather, 54, suffered superficial injuries to his face and left side in the attack Saturday night, which was an apparent case of mistaken identity, police said Sunday.

A CBS spokeswoman said Rather would decide today whether to go on the air in tonight's edition of the "CBS Evening News." Thomas Bettag. executive producer of the program, said Rather had swelling on his neck but not on his face.

Rather told police the attack occurred just after he left a friend's apartment on Manhattan's Park Avenue Saturday night. A man approached him, he said, and asked, "Kenneth, what's the frequency?" Police said Rather told the man, "I think you have the wrong guy."

The suit names the Mobile school board and Alabama Gov. George Wallace as and Alabama Gov. George Wallace as defendants. Ironically, both defendants have filed consent documents saying they essentially agree with the 624 fundamentalists pressing the suit.

The parents claim the textbooks, based on facts that may or may not include religious references, give the impression that belief in God is irrelevant and that man is supreme.

They call the lessons 'secular humanism' and are trying to prove the theory is a religion in itself; therefore, the texts they label as such should be banned in the classroom along with required religious teachings.

Civil libertarians, however, say secular humanism is an ill-defined term used to describe a rationalist philosophy unlinked to dogma, so it does not break the law of separation of church and state.

Webster's New World Dictionary does not list the term but defines humanist as "nontheistic," meaning not based on religion but not "anti" religion.

The Alabama case is the second one this year calling for a ban of non-fundamentalist textbooks. In Church Hill, Tenn., seven fundamentalist Christian families are trying to force school officials to provide their children with alternative textbooks. A federal judge is expected to rule later this year.

Expert witnesses from universities from California to New York are scheduled to testify in the Mobile trial that is likely to last two to three weeks before U.S. District Judge Brevard Hand.

Wallace and the school board have signed agreements to settle out of court and Hand has said he intends to release them from the suit.

The case has attracted backers to both sides of the issue. The Freedom Council Foundation, a group established by television evangelist Pat Robertson, and Concerned Women for America back the fundamentalists.

People for the American Way, a Washington group begun by Norman Lear, and the American Civil Liberties Union back the school board and are paying for defense lawyers.

CHICAGO (UPI) — Short children scored slightly lower than tailer students on intelligence tests, perhaps because big kids are thought more mature, but the researchers warned against giving growth hormones to youngsters.

"The effect is actually relatively small. The difference between the very tallest and the very shortest was only about 14 (10) points, and height only accounted for about 2 percent of the difference in intelligence." Dr. Darrell Wilson of Stanford University said Sunday.

The study, reported in the journal Pediatrics, involved nearly 14,000 children age 6 to 17. The researchers examined data from the National Health Examination Survey conducted during the 1960s.

Scientists Discover Long Sought Protein

CAMBRIDGE. Mass. (UPI) — Scientists today reported the discovery of a long-sought protein that stimulates the growth of blood cells and may prove useful for treating diseases of the blood and immune system, including AIDS.

"Scientifically it's extremely significant." said Robert Kamen, senior vice president for scientific affairs for Genetics institute Inc. "its clinical potential is large but has to be tested. We're optimistic but it's very hard to predict what will happen in the body."

The protein, known as interleukin 3 (IL-3) or multi-CSF for colony stimulating factor, is the fourth and last member of a family of proteins known to be involved in the production of blood cells.

Scientists believe IL-3 plays an important role in stimulating and regulating the production and activity of a wide range of blood cells early in their development.

Genetics Institute Inc. plans to test the substance alone and with other substances for a variety of possible applications, including improving bone marrow transplants, reducing adverse affects of cancer therapy and boosting the immune systems of patients suffering from cancer and other diseases, including acquired immune deficiency syndrome.

"There are a variety of disorders, either naturally occurring or induced, which involve impaired ability of the body to produce blood cells." said Kamen.

"It's really premature to predict with confidence it would be useful for AIDS. It might be beneficial for treating some of the symptoms of AIDS." he said.

The substance could reduce adverse affects of radiation and chemotherapy by replenishing blood cells. It could also improve bone marrow transplants by speeding the regeneration of transplanted marrow, Kamen said.

The substance is in the same family as interleukin 2, which has been used in promising cancer therapies.

Midwest Begins Flood Clean-up

Floods blamed for millions of dollars in damage and 13 deaths retreated in much of the nation's midsection, allowing residents to begin cleanup today, but flooding menaced parts of Texas, Oklahoma and Missouri anew.

Mostly clear skies covered the inundated areas Sunday, and water receded in flooded sections of Illinois and Kansas.

"The worst is definitely over." Bill Barlow of the National Weather Service said Sunday night. "The pattern is changing to allow drier conditions in the next five days or so, maybe some light rain, but nothing that is going to aggravate any further flooding problems."

In northeast Oklahoma, damage assessment was expected to begin today in the aftermath of severe flooding that forced nearly 10,000 people to flee to higher ground. Water ran as deep as 18 feet during three days of flooding.

However, fifty miles southeast of Tulsa, Okla., Muskogee residents nervously watched as the Arkansas River inched higher, spreading across Oklahoma highway 16 between Muskogee and Wagoner, closing the road.

The river was expected to crest up to 41 feet in Muskogee today — about 6 feet above flood crest and 5 feet higher than a flood in April 1945 that killed 13 people and destroyed more than 100 buildings, the NWS said.

Thirteen deaths have been blamed on floods since Sept. 13, including four in lilinois, three in Minnesota, three in Missouri and one each in Oklahoma. Texas and Montana.

Illinois was hardest hit, with damage estimated near $40 million. Floods in that began late last month have also swept over Arkansas, Indiana. Kansas and Michigan.

"The burden of the flood is just coming up now. It's not uncommon at the beginning of a disaster to say 'Well, we're OK,' but the cleanup is the most dramatic," said Gregg Durham, assistant director of the Illinois Emergency Services and Disaster Agency.

More than 15,000 people have been evacuated from 3,800 homes in northeastern Illinois since Sept. 28. Many began returning home on Sunday.

In parts of southwest Texas, more than 16 inches of rain have fallen since Saturday morning, and more rain was forecast today for much of the state.

Four inches of rain near Loma Alta, Texas, closed highways 163 and 189 Sunday, and state troopers discouraged travel through a large area west of San Angelo as the Concho River rose to 18 feet above flood stage.

Flash flooding was reported in Frio and Medina counties, where up to 4 inches of rain fell overnight, the weather service said. Flooding also was widespread along the Devils River in Val Verde County, where several roads and highways were closed due to high water.

Eastern Missouri also braced

Eastern Missouri also braced for more flooding today. The swollen Mississippi and Missouri rivers forced the evacuation of at least 500 families during the weekend in the St. Louis area.

A, levee broke Saturday in Rhineland, Mo., 60 miles west of St. Louis, forcing 75 to 100 of the town's 190 inhabitants to flee floods up to 10 feet deep.

"I spent anywhere between $700 and $1,000 a day. That's what I bottomed out at. For one or two years, I might spend $300 a day. I'd say in the last year before I got busted I was up to $5,000 a week.

"When I got from sniffing to free basing the sniffing was cating up all of the membrains of my nose — I thought I found something fantastic. What I didn't know is that it's like going from New York to Florida on a bus and then doing it by jet. Sniffing is like the bus and free-basing the jet. You're in quick. Once I started doing it that that way. I went down fast. I even wanted help capable of doing anything to effect the high. It was through God's grace that I was spared that part of it.

"It doesn't matter how you use, or how much you use. It is important that you know that you have a problem. One side of the coin is not different than the other side. If you're getting high off of solid fuel or liquid fuel you're still getting high.

"I'd have on an expensive ring and be passing through a town and run out. I'd stop and pull the ring off my finger, like this, and say to a guy, 'give me an eight ball.'

"You think a guy's going to hesitate giving you a few hundred dollars worth of drugs for a ring like that?"

The desire for cocaine drove Oscar to set up businesses just to get money to get high. Rental property, a bar, working at a flea market, fencing stolen goods. And lying. and cheating, and stealing.

"I can tell you this. We had a business. Tony's Bar. None of the money got outside the place because I was robbing the till. All of the money we made was diverted into

And unlike some users, Oscar didn't make much profit from dealing coke.

"There are people who make a lot of money off it... and there are people who sell it who don't use it. I think that is the scum of the drug culture, the person who's is aware of the damage that's being done and they're not drugged. Their minds are clear yet they can still sleep at night knowing three houses down a little baby don't have

"This type of person is to me sicker than the addict.

"A person who is racketeering in drugs, and is a career criminal, they should be willing to pay the ultimate price, the death

"You can see drug addicts are totally consumed by the drug. He will walk up to you as if everything is fine and lovely and say: "I'm cool. Everything's fine. It's zero degree weather and I ain't got no shoes on, but I'm cool.'

"When a user gets caught, it should be like stepping in contact paper. He's stuck right there then channeled into a facility where he is educated about his problem.

"Smuggling. Trafficking. Anthing with organized distribution of drugs, is nothing but destorying people's health and lives. That's all drugs are for.

"We're sitting right here, this is America. We're supposed to be secure, in the frame work of a security system. Having had it brought to me through the media that our national security is vunerable to drug addiction, I can believe that. Because I know what people will do to secure a high. I know. I've been there. When a person's on a roll, man you can get anything on them, you can do anything. This country needs to take a long, hard look at it, and local government need to take a hard look at it, and have a meeting of the minds.

"I'm an addict, just like the person on the street is an addict. What separates me from the addict on the street is that people cared enough about me to focus on me and say 'hey this is not Oscar. What's doing. Hey. Oscar is using drugs. What can we do to help.

And I didn't want to talk about it. I'd run them off because I didn't want them digging into my business.

His second arrest made it even more of the public business.

"I praise law enforcement because I know law enforcement saved my life. I know that without a doubt. It was a miracle in that they did find that $25 piece of crack because if they hadn't, I'd still be left out there side their burning apartment two-story building. by burglar bars on the windows, died in the city's worst residential fire in 20 years, Fire Department officials said.

Burglar Bars Trap 6 In Burning Apartment

"We know from the location of the victims that they had made an attempt to get away from the fire, but they were trapped by the iron bars on all the windows." said department spokeswoman Christy Hickman. "Had the bars not been there, we feel quite confident that this tragedy could have been avoided."

The fire in Miami was one of at least three residential blazes nationwide Sunday in which children died.

In Los Angeles, two children playing with matches while their mother was using a neighbor's bathroom sparked a fire that killed their 10-month-old sister in an home that also had metal bars on the doors and windows.

In Nashville, Tenn., a 6-month-old boy was killed and his 4-year-old sister suffered burns in a blaze that broke out when their mother was next door.

> The victims were identified as Peggy Williams, 36, her sons, Freddy, 14, Brad, 12, and Terry, 10: her daughter Risa, 10; and Chris Rogers, 10 months. The baby apparently was a friend's child that Mrs. Williams was babysitting. Hickman said.

The woman's husband, Frank, and a daughter. Sharon, 12, escaped before the flames blocked the doorway.

Frank Williams said he saw Sharon standing in front of the building and thought his wife and the other children also had escaped, Hickman said.

Their bodies were found huddled in a bathroom after the fire was brought under control, some 10 minutes after firemen arrived, officials said.

Metal bars are commonly installed to keep burglars out. The city fire code requires that if windows are barred, there must be an exit nearby, or the bars must be of the "breakaway" variety, which can be pushed out but not in.

The U.N. And Our Existence

President Reagan came to the United Nations to voice new hope on arms control. French Prime Minister Chirac came to plead for cooperation against international terrorism.

Israeli Prime Minister Peres used his visit to talk with Soviet Foreign Minister Shevardnadze about the possibility of resuming diplomatic relations.

And Mexican President de la Madrid spoke of the crushing burden of debt on Third World nations.

Why did they bother?

The United Nations appears as a powerless debating society, in debt and irrelevant. U.N. peace-keeping troops are targets in Lebanon. The Security Council is deadlocked.

The United States is expelling Soviet U.N. workers for spying in America.

Arms-control negotiations are conducted directly between the superpowers, if at all. A proposal for a United Nations conference on the Mideast is hopelessly bogged down.

Beleaguered Third World countries lash back at major powers by passing outrageous resolutions in the General Assembly. Even U.N. General Secretary Perez de Cuellar seems affected by the gloom, saying he for more. doesn't want to preside over the demise of the United Nations.

But the death of the United Nations is, as Mark Twain once remarked about his own reported demise, much exaggerated.

The United Nations is alive and ailing in a world that is also alive and ailing.

The world organization is infected with the same diseases it was set up to cure: war, debt, rivalry, hatred.

is that so surprising?

Did we really think that by signing a charter and building a beautiful building in New York and giving a podium to leaders in dashikis and French-cut suits we would solve the world's problems in a generation?

The will to save the United Nations seems to be flagging. Despair has set in.

To many Americans, it seems uscless at best and a waste of money.

Why not let it die and invest our money elsewhere? Star Wars, Contra "freedom fighters." and other military expenditures may make the United States more secure.

And, then again, they may draw America into wars in the heavens and the jungles, wars which could have been avoided by talk in the corridors and meeting rooms of the United Nations.

in a world of imagery, the United Nations' image is croding. But the potential for use of the United Nations as a podium for projecting values of peace, freedom, democracy and human rights is untapped.

We, in the media, may be partly to blame for putting graphic photographs and accounts of bombings ahead of dull U.N. photographs and speeches. Somehow, the image of gray leaders with earphones sitting in a room gives the appearance of impotence, while dictators rage and terrorists bomb.

The battle going on in the United Nations is the battle of reason against the darker impulses of irrationality and violence.

Reason has always had a tenuous hold on humanity. Yet when it sleeps, the nightmares have outstripped the pen of a Goya or the brush of a Hieronymus Bosch.

Out of the nightmare of World War II came the dream of the Unitred Nations. Must this dream perish? Not if America helps the United Nations fight for its life — and ours.

'Wink Your Eye At Some Homely Girl'

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Some authorities on aging say the government doesn't spend enough money on longevity research.

It may be, as they claim, that science could slow the aging process, but I'm thankful I'll probably be too old to benefit. Not that the alternative is all that great either.

I remember writing an obiturary of H. L. Mencken and lifting a line from one of his

"If, after I depart this vale," he wrote, any man desiring "to please my shade" could, among other things equally bizarre. "wink your eye at some homely girl."

I have since gone almost blind from winking. so many homely girls have I encountered in the shade. Some even had wrinkled faces. There remains, however, a question of whether public or private funds should be used to finance anti-aging research.

Kathy Keeton, president of Omni magazine, contends that "only the federal government can supply money and resources on the scale that modern scientific research demands."

restrictions on importation of horses from Norway because of an equine venereal disease.

I'm not suggesting that any of our elderly citizens have an equine venereal diséase. I just threw that in as an example of what government-backed research can lead to.

We surely wouldn't want to get into a situation in which the importation of elderly Norwegians would be restricted.

Nevertheless, Keeton insists Congress should be channeling more money into longevity research "instead of spending millions of dollars on studies" that predict the Social Security system eventually will be bankrupt unless something is done.

"Brave and visionary men and women are being forced to wage two distinct battles: one against old age, the other against insufficient funding," she writes.

That may be true, but it may lead to steps like their jobs run a higher risk of having heart estrictions on importation of horses from attacks than hard-driving executives. "The workers at greatest risk are people who

Bell's Dial For Dollars

MADISON, Wis. (NEA) — At a time when the profit margins of the nation's leading corporations average 10.6 percent. Wisconsin Bell Telephone Co. is guaranteed 14.3 percent - and it is clamoring

"They're making out like bandits." says Kathleen F. O'Reilly. executive director of the Citizens' Utility Board, a private organization that claims 100,000 dues-paying members in Wisconsin.

Wisconsin Bell's bloated profits are typical of the country's major telephone companies, according to the Consumer Federation of America, which represents more than 200 national and local consumer groups.

CFA recently produced a study that argues convincingly that the Bell telephone companies (the firms that were the operating subsidiaries of American Telephone & Telegraph until the breakup of AT&T) are overcharging their customers by $3 billion annually.

During the first half of this year, the return on equity - a standard measure of profitability — was 10.6 percent for the country's 900 largest corporations and 10.8 percent for the nation's non-Bell utilities, according to CFA.

The comparable rate for the Bell companies was 14.1 percent. Further, their profit is guaranteed because the prices they charge are fixed by state regulatory commissions to assure them a specific rate of return.

The Bell companies argue that they need greater profits because they have entered an era of unprecedented competition. They say they compete with each other and other firms in a variety of businesses. including the publication of telephone directories and the providing of telephone toll service.

But critics note that the core of their business, providing local telephone service, in most instances is a lucrative monopoly protected by state regulatory agencies.

"They face no international competition and little or no competition domestically," says the International Communications Association, which represents 600 major corporations and other institutions that spend $15 billion annually on telephone service.

That organization — whose members include General Motors. General Electric, Westinghouse and Du Pont - has endorsed the CFA study and its conclusions.

Similarly, the General Services Administration, which purchases telephone services for the federal government, has complained to regulatory commissions in approximately 30 states about the Bell companies' inflated profits.

Big Ban On Campus

Nothing more dramatically illustrates the state of affairs on many American college campuses today than the fate of the concept of "free

During the 1950s, liberals strenuously supported the right of Princeton undergraduates to invite Alger Hiss to address them, despite the protest of the university's Catholic chaplain that "In an academic community dedicated to the search for truth, an unrepentant perjuror simply has nothing to say."

And when the New Leftists burst onto the scene at Berkeley during the 1960s, it was under the banner of the "Free Speech Movement." however quickly they abandoned it. Say what one would about liberals in the old days, their Millsian dedication to "hearing the other point of view" seemed, and I am sure was, absolutely sincere — even though, as Bill Buckley remarked. they were often astonished upon discovering that there really was another point of view.

Today, however, many American colleges are in the grip of a leftist dogmatism so absolute that even Stalin might have envied it. As Secretary of Education William Bennett recently noted, many American campuses are virtually closed to speakers holding locally unpopular views, including high officials of the Reagan administra-

Harvard University, for example, celebrating its 350th anniversary, managed to finesse the awful problem of having President Reagan himself on hand, and settled with evident relief for the Prince of Wales. Alfonso Calero, the Nicaraguan contra leader who was also a foe of Somoza, was shouted down at Northwestern and dismissed by a faculty leftist as "lucky to get out of here alive."

At Dartmouth, a bunch of leftist students erected a series of illegal shantles on the Green (allegedly representing the homes of South African blacks) and were in due course forgiven by school authorities; conservative students who tore the shantles down were brusquely disciplined. A Yale sophomore who dared to satirise Gay and Lesbian Awareness Days was put on two years' probation though Yale's new president, Benno Schmidt Jr., who is old enough to remember what liberalism used to stand for, has hinted that he may reverse this ruling, observing that "There is no speech so horrendous in content that it does not serve our purposes."

Meanwhile, all over the land, members of college faculties and administrations wheel and swoop like flocks of birds or schools of fish, in mindless obedience to the dictates of leftist ideology. Just days before the final House vote on contra aid, 100 college presidents signed a statement opposing it. As the Senate neared a vote on the president's nomination of Daniel Manion to the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, 70 law school deans joined in denouncing him as unqualified. Could the Rockettes, or the Marines' precision marching team, have improved on these performances?

What has happened, of course, is that the student leftists of the late 1960s have now taken over the college faculties, and are still employing - and even improving on - their disruptive tactics. But when they were students, there were always at least a few of their classmates and contemporaries ready to speak out against them. Where, today, is the inevitable handful of professors on college faculties who oppose this reign of terror?

Unborn Child Monitored

By Al Rossiter Jr. UPI Science Editor

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI) -Expensive high-tech equipment to monitor the health of an unborn child is unnecessary when all that is needed in most cases is a low-tech stethoscope, an obstetrics professor reports.

in fact, Dr. Timothy Johnson Jr. says most pregnant women can check the condition of their fetus by simply monitoring its movements each day starting with the 28th week of pregnancy. Johnson, assistant professor of obstetrics and gynecology at the Johns Hopkins School of Medicine. savs numerous studies have shown that a fetus in trouble stops moving in the womb about 24 hours before

Therefore, he says, an expectant mother should spend an hour each day in a quiet room counting the number of times she feels the baby

"If the mother does not detect four to five movements in that time, she should call her doctor,' Johnson said at a symposium sponsored by the American Medical Association and Johns Hopkins. Because a sick baby generally will stop moving 24 hours before dying. there's a good chance we can save it by early delivery.

"Unfortunately, we see a lot of women who come in and say. 'I haven't felt my baby in six or seven days," he added. "At that point, we listen and the baby is dead. It's really too late."

Johnson said fetal heart rate is the most important indicator of health status. Heart rate normally accelerates as a fetus moves, so if obstetricians hear faster beats during movement inside the womb. they know the fetus is healthy.

To monitor fetal movement and heart rate during labor, more and more obstetricians are relying on electronic machines which cost $8,000. These devices use two belts with electrodes that are placed around the abdomen to detect fetal heart rate changes.

Johnson said a fetoscope - an ordinary stethoscope with an extra tube attached - can work just as well. Such an instrument costs between $35 and $100.

He also cited a study reported in the latest issue of the Journal of Nurse-Midwifery which found that high technology fetal monitoring did not improve the outcome of the

That, Johnson said, was good news for many women who are 'disenchanted with high technology and looking for a more personal touch in health care."

Justice Stops Probe Of HUD Official

By Jack Anderson And Dele Van Atta

WASHINGTON - The Justice Department quietly killed an FBI investigation of a federal official because it would damage her credibility as the star witness in a civil suit the department was defending.

The official is Kathleen Peroff, a former project director at the Housing and Urban Development Department. She was in charge of the controversial 1984 study that claimed there were only 350,000 homeless people in the country. We broke the story that the study's methodology was questionable and the estimate far too low.

The Community for Creative Non-Violence, a Washington-based advocacy group for the homeless. filed a civil suit against HUD to stop distribution of the report. The suit has yet to come to trial, with the Justice Department's civil division defending HUD's position - and Peroff as the government's star witness.

Meanwhile, CCNV filed charges with the Justice Department claiming that Peroff had committed perjury in testimony before Congress and in sworn depositions taken for the civil suit. The charges were eventually referred to Assistant Attorney General Harry R. Benner, chief of the department's trial and grand jury section.

An FBI agent was sent to interview Peroff. Shortly after that. Benner dropped the Peroff investigation. In an internal Justice Department memo we've obtained, he explained why.

Peroff "became very upset about being questioned by an FBI agent.' Benner wrote. Then Benner was contacted by Royce Lamberth, the assistant attorney general of the civil division who was in charge of defending Peroff's study of the homeless against CCNV. Lamberth told Benner the FBI investigation "was creating an appearance that we did not believe" Peroff, according to the memo. This would damage her credibility in the civil suit, the memo explained.

"Eventually, the message was relayed to me that the U.S. attorney did not want the author (Peroff) interviewed." Benner wrote. So he dropped the FBI investigation, which had been recommended by a subordinate who said the interview should be conducted even though there was no "evidence of criminali-

Suspecting something fishy. CCNV's attorney. Mark Venuti. asked for a court hearing on the possibility of collusion between the Justice Department's criminal and civil divisions. At the hearing, the government assured the three-judge panel that the Justice Department is "compartmentalized." It has "different divisions that look at civil suits as opposed to possibilities of criminal investigations." the government claimed.

The judges agreed, and pointed out that CCNV had failed to show that the decision to drop the Peroff investigation was "flawed or tainted." The judges might have ruled differently if they had known of Lamberth's intervention, as described in Benner's internal memo.

Lamberth told our associate Stewart Harris the reason he intervened in Benner's investigation of Peroff was that it would duplicate the interviews already conducted by his civil division attorneys.

24 Property Owners Face Sanford Housing Code Violations

By Karen Talley

Herald Staff Writer With sweeping surveys of multi-family residences in downtown residential Sanford more than three quarters through, city inspection reports show six of 81 structures were found in full compliance with city codes during inspectors' first visits; 51 structures were up to standard on second inspection, and 24 property owners are facing code enforcement board action for failure to correct cited deficiencies.

Inspectors are granting pro-perty owners 10 days to two weeks before they return to the site to see whether deficiencies cited during their first visit have been corrected, said City Building Official Gary Winn.

Fifty-one property owners evidently put the time to good use by bringing their structures up to city standard, while the 24

Rehnquist Court Convenes, Faces Docket Of Controversial Cases

WASHINGTON (UPI) - After a summer of grueling Senate debate, the Rehnquist court convenes for its first term Monday facing the very issues critics of the new chief justice are most concerned about - affirmative action, women's rights and the separation of church and state.

Rehnquist, 62, was pilloried for his views on those subjects during a week of confirmation hearings before the Senate Judiciary Committee and then during floor debate before his confirmation on 65.33 vote.

Opponents charged he was a segregationist who had voted to restrict minority and women's rights and return prayer to school.

'Justice Rehnquist might have made a brilliant 19th-century chief justice," said Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass. "But brilliance of judicial intellect in the service of racism and injustice is no virtue in our times."

Whether those charges are true and whether Rehnquist will be able to wield increased influence in those areas on the court he now heads - one joined by another staunch conservative, Antonin Scalia - will soon be put to the test.

Cases they will consider include affirmative action plans for minorities and women and a case to determine whether a person with a contagious disease is handicapped and therefore protected by anti-discrimination laws. That case could affect the rights of AIDS sufferers.

The court also will consider pregnancy leave for women and a Louisiana law forcing public school teachers to give equal time to "creation science." No less an expert than Justice Lewis Powell said a change in personnel at the court will not bring about a wholesale rewriting of constitu-

'Commentators who expect radical changes to overlook our fidelity to (the) doctrine (of stare decisis)," he said in a August speech, referring to the Latin phrase that means to stand by that which was decided, or adhering to court precedent.

That practice exerts a strong pull on the court. although justices have overturned previous rulings in such areas as race and sex discrimina-

who lord one shuttes

Even Powell limited his prediction to "radical changes.'

'We shouldn't look for an immediate dramatic change in simply one term," said Bruce Fein. who watches the court for the conservative American Enterprise Institute. "We should look for it in two to five years."

Laurence Tribe, a libral Harvard University professor, agreed and said he did not think the changes would be very "visible in the short run." "I think the combined intellectual firepower of Rehnquist and Scalia will nudge the court somewhat to the right on some issues. One of those issues, he said, is sex discrimination, where Scalia is much more conservative than Burger was. Solicitor General Charles Fried, who handles cases before the high court for the administration. refused to predict how the change in personnel would affect the court or the administration's chances before it. When asked to the administration's liking, he said, "I liked the old one fine. "It's like asking if I like the weather. You win some, you lose some and it will continue to be the same. I'm a great admirer of the new chief justice and of Justice Scalia."

However, he did say major cases from the administration point of view include the affirmative action cases and those concerning the constitutionality of a law that allowed courts to order suspects held without bail if they posed a danger to the community and two cases concerning police advising suspects of their rights.

The administration, which has tried to push the court toward the right, fared poorly in affirmative action and religion cases before the Burger court but has had more success in criminal law.

On The Docket Following is a list of the top cases the Supreme Court already has accepted for review during its 1986-87 term. In the cases, the court has agreed

Affirmative Action -Whether local governments may consider sex as part of the hiring process in a reverse discrimination case brought by a California man passed over for a job. -The constitutionality of a plan to promote one black for each white moved up in the Alabama state trooper force.

Discrimination -If the city of Pleasant Grove, Ala., discriminated against blacks by refusing to annex surrounding areas that included blacks.

-If a person with a contagious disease is handicapped and therefore protected by antidiscrimination laws in a case that could affect the rights of AIDS sufferers.

Religion

-The constitutionality of a Louisiana law that forces public school teachers to give equal time to the teaching of "creation science."

-If a Connecticut school board may limit a teacher to three days of religious leave a year.

-Whether a Florida woman who lost her job because she refused to work on her Sabbath can be denied unemployment benefits. The case will determine if the denial of such benefits violated the Free Exercise Clause.

Women

-If the state of Missouri can deny unemployment benefits to women who leave a job because they are pregnant.

-If a California law requiring employers to give pregnant women four months' maternity leave violates federal laws against sex discrimination. The case was brought by the California Federal Savings and Loan Association, which said it should not have to grant more time off for pregnancy than for other medical disabilities.

-If a defendant in a rape case is entitled to see confidential files about the victim to help in preparing a defense in a case from Pennsylvania.

-Whether child support payments can be deducted from federal disability payments to a triple-amputee Vietnam veteran in a case from Tennessec.

Elections and Government -If the president can stop bills from becoming laws by using a "pocket veto" during recesses between sessions of the same Congress.

-If Connecticut Republicans have a constitutional right to open their nominating process to independent voters.

 Whether a Massachusetts anti-abortion group violated federal election law when it used general funds to print a voting guide.

The constitutionality of a Washington state election law that critics charge gives Republicans and Democrats "a virtually total monopoly" over the ballot. The law requires minor candidates to win 1 percent of the vote in the primary to qualify to run in the general election.

The pain in Tim Raines' chest took a turn for the better Sunday afternoon when Steve Sax was 1 for 3 and Tony Gwynn 1 for 5 to enable an idle Raines to capture his first National League batting championship with a .334 average as the major-league regular season drew to a close.

The former Seminole High School four-sport standout, who suffered a pulled chest muscle while moving luggage Tuesday, had missed games Wednesday, Thursday and Friday before struggling through Saturday's game with a 2 for 7 effort at Philadelphia.

He sat out Sunday's game and hoped neither Sax or Gwynn would overtake him.

"I was lucky to get those hits Saturday," Raines said Sunday night amid a celebration from his parents' home on Airport Boulevard. "I was missing fastballs right down the middle that I usually hit because my chest was so sore. I just couldn't get around on them.'

The game went 14 innings before the Phillies pulled it out, another factor which Raines said helped him. "I was only 1 for 5 the first nine innings." Raines said. "I got a hit in the first inning and I only got that because he (Phillies' pitcher Paul Bittiger) threw me a changeup.

The rest of the game they threw me fastballs and I couldn't get around. In about the 11th, I got my other hit. I was jammed on it and just punched it up the middle."

As important to Raines as the batting crown was his five-year, 70-plus consecutive stolen base streak. It was also in Jeopardy as he had 68 steals before Tuesday's injury. Raines stole his 69th after his single in the first inning but had to wait until the 11th to get his 70th — and then there was some peculiar circumstances.

'When I singled in the 13th, I was hoping there would be no one in front of me," Raines said. "But the runner or second got caught between third and home in a rundown.

"I was going to stay at first but the rundown lasted so long that I figured I better go to second." Once there, he didn't take any chances. "I stole third on the next pitch," Raines laughed. Raines' Saturday performance dropped his average to .3344827. Sax, meanwhile, was at

.331746. Gwynn was third at .3296703. Before Sunday's game, Montreal manager Buck Rodgers called Raines into his office and explained all of the possible circumstances which could develop Sunday. Sax would have to go 4 for 4 or 4 for 5 to beat him while Gywnn would need

Gwynn	160	642	211	.3286804

"If you go 2 for 4, you've got it wrapped up," Rodgers said to Raines. "But if you sit out, the pressure is on them (Sax and Gwynn)." Rodgers told Raines it was his all-star's decision whether he wanted to play or not.

"I was really sore Saturday night," Raines, who can become a free agent this winter, said. "I figured there was no sense going up injured. trying to be a hero and losing the batting title.

"If I wasn't 100 percent, I wasn't going to go out there. I proved myself all year, I didn't back

Raines' .334 average is, of course, the best of his career. It also continued an upward spiral in his average since 1983 when he batted .298. The next season he was up to .307 and last year he climbed to .320 with three hits on the last day of Raines battled teammate Hubie Brooks (sidelined with an injury), Gwynn and Sax most of year before turning on his usual September hot streak to win it. He pointed to back-to-back three-hit games on Sept. 23-24 as making the difference. Raines went 10 for 13 over a three-game stretch to lift his average to .336. During that same stretch. Sax had an 0 for 7 game which hampered his hopes.

"That's what did it for me." Raines said about the six hits. "I was swinging the bat real well at that point and I was very confident."

Raines even upped his average to .337 last Sunday, which gave him a bulging eight-point lead. After a day off, however, disaster struck while carrying some luggage down a flight of stairs at his Montreal condominium. Raines said the luggage slipped and when he reached for it. he felt something pull.

"That really scared me," Raines said. "I was swinging the ball so well and then something like that happened. I figured somebody didn't want me to win the batting title. It was really a freak

Despite the pulled muscle, Raines tried to play Tuesday night and went 0 for 3. "I just couldn't get around on the fastball," he said. "I was only 2 for 10 after I got hurt."

Sax, meanwhile, closed within two points with a 2 for 3 Saturday as Raines' posted his painful 2 for 7. Sax, with the Raines' family watching on satellite dish, could muster just 1 for 3 Sunday to level off at .332.

"You know we were cheering every out." Tim's mother, Florence, said Sunday night. "I was glad, Raines didn't play Sunday but still won the crown when neither Steve Sax or Tony Gwynn could surpass his .334 mark.

glad, glad, glad Sunday. I knew Tim had it sewed when Sax made an out and reached on an error."

Raines said the batting average title was important to him because it will increase his free-agent value, help his endorsements and show that he is not a one-dimensional player.

"This is just great," he said. "The monkey is off my back now. Not only can I steal bases but I can hit, too."

That's right exciting. You remember what exciting football games are don't you?

Three out of five football games last week could be classified as exciting.

The most dramatic game of the evening was played in Sanford where Seminole upset Lake Mary, 10-7. The Lake Mary-Seminole rivalry is intense. Whenever two teams hook up in a true rivalry there is bound to be some excitement in the air. And Friday night was no difscrent.

Seminole, 1-3 with Lake Brantley up next, relied on its always tough defense, but also received an excellent offensive showing, too. Not that 10 points is going to blow up the scoreboard, but ball control was important for the 'Noles.

"The offense carried its share," a jubilant Seminole coach Dave Mosure said. "(Quarterback) Dwayn Willis did a good job with the reads on the option and also re-established himself with Curtis Rudolph on the pitches."

Willis ran for 60 yards and Rudolph chipped in with 107. Seminole also received strong efforts from youngsters Kevin Richardson and Eric Williams along with veteran Ed Banks in the backfield. Mosure said Wen Springfield, Randy Bryant. Kevin Straub and Wilton Hooks carried the load for the offensive Frankly speaking, the Rams are in trouble. Their 1-2 record does not reflect the talent that they have. The defending conference, district and regional champions will have a tough road to the playoffs.

Knepper's Perfect Tune-Up Restores Astros' Firepower

HOUSTON (UPI) - Houston Astros lest-hander Bob Knepper may have crased any doubts about his firepower in his last chance before the National League Championship series against the New York Mets.

Knepper's final regular-season appearance before starting Game 3 of the LCS was perfect as he faced the minimum number of Atlanta Braves Sunday in the five innings he worked.

That kind of performance was vital since Knepper had been struggling and Manager Hal Lanier has decided rookie left-hander Jim Deshales will work in the bullpen during the playoffs.

Deshaies has been impressive late in the season, including one game when he struck out the first eight batters he faced for a major-league record, and the Mets have questioned Lanier's decision to go with a just three-man rotation of Mike Scott, Nolan Ryan and Knepper.

"Instead of the Mets picking pitchers for the other team, they should stick to their own team," Atlanta Manager Chuck Tanner said, "Hal Lanier seems to know what he's doing. If I was managing, I'd go with Knepper, no doubt about it."

Knepper has been the Astros' most successful pitcher against New York. He posted a 3-1 record with a 1.67 ERA in five appearances, including two victories in two days, one in relief. The Mets hit only .151 against him.

But Knepper, 17-12, has won only two games since Aug. 15, and is coming off an eight-day rest.

"I've been working hard," Knepper said. "I looked at the films of my last Gooden enjoys pitching in the Astrodome and has been successful against the Astros. He pitched his first major-league start in Houston in 1984

"I remember how nervous I was and before my first major-league start," Gooden said.

Slow-To-Heal Boggs Worries Red Sox

BOSTON (UPI) - The Boston Red Sox, having lost their final four games of the regular season, are left wondering if they have also lost the American League batting champion for part of the Championship Series.

Third baseman Wade Boggs, who has not played since aggravating a right hamstring problem in Wednesday's game against Baltimore, sat out the New York Yankees' series sweep of the Red Sox.

Improvement has been slow, says Boggs, who covered his concern with a loke on Sunday, saying, "I'll use bailing wire and Elmer's Glue, anything I can do to get it to work."

His recovery could be pivotal: the Red Sox leadoff man reached base more than 300 times this year and scored a team-high 107 runs.

Mets Open Playoffs MAJOR-LEAGUE ROUNDUP With War Of Words STANDINGS FINAL MAJOR LEAGH

United Press International

The New York Mets have opened the playoffs' War of Words.

nesday at the Astrodome. Off the field, however, the verbal warfare has already begun. Some Mets players questioned the Houston Astros' three-man rotation of Mike Scott, Bob Knepper and Nolan Ryan, which left rookie Jim Deshaies as the odd man out.

Atlanta Manager Chuck Tanner, whose Braves got beat 4-1 by Knepper Sunday, thinks the Mets should just worry about themselves.

"Instead of the Mets picking pitchers for the others team. they should stick to their own team," Tanner said. "Hal Lanier seems to know what he's doing. if I was managing, I'd go with Knepper, no doubt about it."

Mets catcher Gary Carter has accused Mike Scott of using sandpaper, rather than a splitfingered fastball in attaining his pitching success.

"All of a sudden, he has turned into a 300-strikeout pitcher," Carter said."There has to be some reason. Sure, he's talented and he developed a split-finger fastball. All in all, though, I think he's had a little help from his 'friend.'"

Scott rebuffed Carter's accusation.

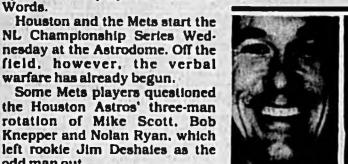

They can think whatever they want," Scott said. "I don't care. If they think I'm scuffing the ball, it just gives them another pitch to worry about. As many times as they (opponents) have asked to check the ball, they've never found anything." Scott, 18-10, will face Dwight Gooden, 17-6, in the series

At Chicago, Guy Hoffman, 6-2, allowed one run over seven innings and the Cubs scored three unearned runs. Mets 9, Pirates 0

At New York, Ron Darling and Sid Fernandez combined on a four-hitter, Darryl Strawberry hit a grand slam and Gary Carter hit a three-run homer, helping the Mets post their 108th victory of the season to tle the record for most victories by a National League team since divisional play began. Darling, 15-6, allowed two singles in five innings. Fernandez finished for his first major-league save.

Phillies 2, Expos 1 At Philadelphia, Luis Aguayo scored on a passed ball by catcher Dann Bilardello in the 10th inning to lead the Phillies. Phillies reliever Dan Schatzeder. 6.5, picked up the win with one inning of relief. Reliever Curt

Brown, 0-1, took the loss. Reds 2, Padres 1

At Cincinnati, Andy Hawkins, 10-8, pitched a three-hitter over eight innings and Buddy Bell's first-inning throwing error permitted the winning run to score, leading San Diego. Craig Lefferts pitched the ninth for his

NEW YORK (UPI) - A review of the top stories of the 1986 baseball season: 1. The New York Mets, without a division title since 1973, celebrated their 25th anniversary by handing themselves the NL Easi crown on a silver platter. The Mets made people stand up and take notice - including, perhaps, some boxing fans. In Houston, four Mets players were arrested following an incident in a bar, started when one Met started to leave with drink in hand. Ron Darling and Tim Teufel were later Indicted on charges. Fans in Houston commemorated the event by buying T-shirts that read "Houston Police 4, Mets 0."

headlines from the Mets and win the American League East. Roger Clemens won his first 14 decisions, didn't lose until July 2 and finished 24-4. Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd, when he wasn't p hide-and-seek, was the Red Sox's second-winningest pitcher at 14-10 Tom Seaver arrived from the White Sox and stabilized the rotation and finished 7-13. 3. Hal Lanler guided the Houston Astros to the NL West title in his first year as big-league manager. Jim Deshales joined a rotation that already included Mike Scott, Bob Knepper and Nolan Ryan Glann Davis emerged as a premier home-run hitter despite playing 4. American League rookies hit. Oakland's Jose Canseco, California's Wally Joyner, the Rangers' Pete Incaviglia, Cleveland's Cory Snyder and Seattle's Danny Tartabuli arrived, setting up the

AL as the power league for years to come. 5. Chicago lost two managers and New York none. Both Tony LaRussa of the White Sox and Jim Frey of the Cubs paid for having awful ballplayers on the roster. Mets Manager Dayey Johnson won a pennant and Yankees Manager Lou Piniella survived, probably because team owner George Steinbrenner was too embarrassed to

4. After most of the season had passed without a no-hitter, Chicago White Sax right-hander Joe Cowley and Houston's Mike Scott threw them a week apart. Cowley defeated the Angels 7-1 Sept. 19 and. despite yielding no hits, earned little respect. Cowley's wildness resulted in seven walks. Scott threw one of the most dominating games of the season by no-hitting the Glants 2-0 Sept. 25. Scott's firming was right, as the no-hitter clinched the NL West for the

7. Kansas City Royals Manager Dick Howser underwent surgery in mid-season for removal of a brain tumor. Only days after guiding the American League to victory in the All-Star Game, Howser learned of the tumor. Surgery showed It to be malignant. Mike Ferraro became the Royals' interim manager.

8. Earl Weaver and the Baltimore Orioles endured a sub-.500 season — the first time the Orioles finished below the break-even mark since 1967. Weaver announced his retirement Sept. 8. The Orioles never even bothered to give him a strong finish. They finished last for the first time in franchise history.

9. Atlanta's Bob Horner hit four home runs in a game July 6 against Montreal. The Braves lost, thus finishing 0-1 in games in which Horner hit four homers. 10. Tommy Lesorda's Injury-riddled and error-prone Dodgers finished with their worst record in a generation. Back then, Walter

Alston was Dodgers manager and Lasorda was managing in the Superlatives For Tuesday? United Press International Presumably the Boston Red Sox and California Angels were saving their championshipcalibre baseball for the American forts over the final weekend of the regular season. The most traditional of baseball rivalries turned sour as the host Red Sox resembled anything but a division champion, dropping four straight to the Yankees, including a 7-0 de-club wasted any superlative efcision Sunday. California closed its AL West championship season by dropping seven of nine games, including three of four to Texas. On Sunday, the Rangers pounded out a 7-4 victory.

"We have to get back to work tomorrow (Monday)," said Roger Clemens, owner of a major league-leading 24 victories and scheduled Red Sox starter in Tuesday night's playoff opener in Boston. "All we have to do is have both sides going together. 'We haven't had any trouble hitting the ball when we needed

it," Clemens said. Said Wade Boggs of the losing streak, which tied Boston's longest of the season: "The intensity level just wasn't there for us in these games. If they would have come in here and beat us four straight with only a three-game lead, it would have been a different story."

Boggs, who won the league batting crown with a .357 average, virtually ensured himself of winning the title by sitting out the entire series with a hamstring injury. New York's Don Mattingly needed to go 6 for 6 Sunday to surpass Boggs, and wound up 2 for 5 for a .352

Broncos, Bears NFL ROUNDUP: Stay Unbeaten

United Press International

The Denver Broncos and Chicago Bears remained unbeaten Sunday with efforts that make it easy to imagine a Jan. 25 meeting between the M two in Super Bowl XXI at Pasadena, Calif.

The Broncos belted Dallas 29-14 to remain on top of the AFC West, and Chicago crushed Minnesota 23-0 to open a two-game lead in the NFC Central. Denver, Chicago and Washington a 14-6 winner over New Orleans Sunday - are De the NFL's only 5-0 clubs. Atlanta fell from the unbeaten ranks when the Falcons were upet 16-0 by Philadelphia.

Despite the Cowboys' mounting injuries, they were expected to give the Broncos a tougher time at Mile High Stadium. But Denver mangled Dallas' high-powered offense, and sparked Gerald SUMMARIES Willhite's three-touchdown second quarter.

Louis Wright's interception on the goal line turned the scoreless game in the Broncos' favor Green Ber early in the second quarter. Before halftime, Willhite scored on pass receptions of 9 and 15 yards from John Elway and on a 1-yard run. Denver defensive end Rulon Jones tacked on a safety when he sacked Steve Pelluer in the end zone for a 22-0 halftime lead.

Pelluer played in place of injured quarterback (Breech tick), 14:27 Danny White. Running back Tony Dorsett also sat out and the Cowboys lost defensive tackle
Randy White and safety Victory Scott during the

"But you never think about all of that," said Elway, who completed 12 of 24 passes for 200 yards and three touchdowns - extending his streak of games with at least one scoring pass to a

"You have to prepare for the team that you're playing as if they are at full strength.'

"Any win is special;" Denver Coach Reeves said of beating his mentor, Dallas Coach Tom Landry, "but this win is extra special. I feel good for the team, but I also feel a little sad for coach Landry. He did not come in at full strength, and I'm sure they would have done better with a complete team.'

"I'm very disappointed in our performance today," Landry said. "We were very dull. We didn't do anything offensively or defensively. Denver did what we expected, giving us 60 minutes of good, aggressive football.

Denver's lead in the AFC West could grow to two games if San Diego upsets Seattle tonight.

The Cowboys, 3-2, fell to third place in the NFC East—two games behind Washington.

At Chicago, the Bears defense again showed its Suney 1-12, Cerryth 1-2, Ross 1-1, Devis 1-4.

Super Boys (form while the offense strengthed)

At Chicago, the Bears defense again showed its Super Bowl form while the offense unveiled another weapon in receiver Keith Ortego. The Edwards 14. Green Bay Carretor 1-13. Harris Bears sacked quarterback Tommy Kramer seven 14. Brown 13.

INTERCEPTIONS Cincinnati Bussey 1times, forced three turnovers and shut down the Minnesota running game.

"We stopped a high-powered offense," Chicago Coach Mike Ditka said. "We gave game balls to all of the defensive coaches. I hope we break the organization giving away game balls."

Ortego, who had only three receptions for 73 (Savida), 12:80 yards entering the game, caught six passes for 157 yards, including a 58-yard touchdown bomb from Jim McMahon.

er Payton gained 108 vards in 26 carr including a 2-yard TD and Kevin Butler kicked field gottle of 24, 42 and 32 yards to drop Minnesota to 3-2. It was Payton's 76th career 100-yard plus game.

Kramer, who threw six TD passes against Green Bay a week ago, completed 11 of 30 for 160 yards. Minnesota was shutout for the first time since a 14-0 loss to Cincinnati in October, 1980.

At New Orleans, George Rogers rushed for 110 yards and a touchdown against his former team. and Jay Schroeder passed for 170 yards and a TD to help the Redskins stay atop the NFC East. Rogers' 4-yard touchdown run and Schroeder's *2-yard scoring pass to Art Monk both came in the first half.

At Atlanta, Ron Jaworski passed for 237 yards and a touchdown, and the Eagles defense shut out the NFL's top offense. Mike Quick capped a 74-yard drive with a one-handed catch of an 8-yard Jaworski pass in the end zone with four minutes left in the first half. Raiders 24, Chiefs 17

At Kansas City, Mo., Jim Plunkett came off the bench and hit Jessie Hester with an 18-yard scoring pass to lift the Raiders from a 17-0 deficit. The Raiders won their second straight after beginning the season with three straight losses. Jets 14, Bills 13

At East Rutherford, N.J., Ken O'Brien's 36-yard TD pass to tight end Mickey Shuler with 57 seconds lifted the Jets and extended the Bills' road losing streak to 19 games. O'Brien marched the Jets 80 yards by completing 4 of 5 passes for the winning score. Giants 13, Cardinals 6

At St. Louis, Joe Morris scored his first career TD against St. Louis, Raul Allegre added two field goals, and New York sacked Neil Lomax seven times to lift the Giants. New York improved to 4-1 with its fourth straight triumph, while St. Louis (M fell to 0-5 under rookie Coach Gene Stallings. 49ers 35, Colts 14

At San Francisco, Jeff Kemp threw three second-half TD passes to Jerry Rice, and the San Francisco defense forced five costly turnovers to roll over the winless Colts. Rice caught six passes for 172 yards. Kemp completed 18 of 27 for 274 yards.

Bengals 34, Packers 28 At Milwaukee, Boomer Esiason threw three TD passes and James Brooks rushed for two more to lift the Bengals. Cincinnati, which trailed 7-0 after the first period, broke open the game with 27 unanswered points in the second quarter. Browns 27, Steelers 24 At Pittsburgh, Earnest Byner scored on a 4-yard run with 8:35 left in the fourth quarter to help the Browns end a 16-year losing streak at Three Rivers Stadium. Lions 24, Oilers 13 At Pontiac, Mich., James Jones scored twice from 1 yard out to key a three-TD second quarter and carry the Lions. Houston mistakes contributed a great deal to the Oilers' fourth straight loss, which dropped them to 1-4. Detroit snapped a three-game losing streak and improved to 2-3.

Dickerson, Rams Toss Buccaneers An Overtime Loss

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) - On a day in which both quarterbacks had trouble throwing the football, it was fitting that the day's most significant toss came from referee Pat Haggerty. Haggerty tossed the coin at the start of overtime. Tampa Bay called heads, it came up tails, and the Los Angeles Rams had the first possession of the extra session.

They also had Eric Dickerson - and those two items proved to be enough Sunday to post a 26-20 victory over the unlucky Buccaneers. Dickerson, the NFL's leading rusher, gained

207 yards, including a 42-yard scoring burst 2:16 into overtime, to lift the Rams into a three-way tie for first place in the NFC West. "I can't stand overtime," Dickerson said after his fourth career 200-yard game. "On that touchdown run in overtime, it was a basic off-tackle play where I stayed behind (right guard) Dennis Harrah and I just hit the gap.' The Bucs, trailing 20-17, marched 80 yards in 17 plays from their 1-yard line to set by Donald igwebuike's 37-yard field goal on the final play on regulation. Those were the first fourth-quarter points of the season for Tampa Bay, which had been outscored 40-0 in the final period. The Bucs also lost in overtime to Atlanta last week. Dickerson, who carried 30 times - including a 40-yard TD run in the first quarter - broke a tackle at the line of scrimmage and scored easily. The Rams took over at their 27 and ran three plays before Dickerson's game-winning run. "It's too bad we didn't get our hands on the balk in overtime," said Tampa Bay quarterback Steve Young, who finished 8-for-20 for 83 yards. "We would have loved to. It's not fair to work that hard and not have a chance to win a game." The Rams improved to 4-1 by limiting Tampa Bay to just 60 net yards passing. The Bucs, who entered ranked last in the NFL in throwing the football, dropped to 1-4. Los Angeles won despite a poor performance from Steve Dils, who was making his first regular-season start since Dec. 5, 1983. He replaced injured Steve Bartkowski and was 11-for-22 for only 118 yards - but did complete both of his overtime passes for 34 yards. "I didn't play as smooth as I'm capable of," admitted Dils. "Tampa Bay changed defenses often. Our line did a phenomenal job in opening holes for Eric. I'm glad I'm on his side."

The Rams took a 20-17 lead with 9:41 left in the fourth quarter. Dils, who had misfired on 6 consecutive passes, hit two straight, then connected with Michael Young for 10 yards to the 23. Mike Lansford then kicked a 40-yard field goal.

Dickerson followed Barry Redden's 1-yard scoring plunge with his 50th NFL touchdown, the 40-yard burst in the first quarter. Lansford also kicked a 34-yard field goal.

The Bucs, trailing 17-10 at halftime, tied it with 5:44 left in the third quarter when Nathan Wonsley, a rookie free agent from Mississippi. burst up the middle, veered right and outraced Jerry Gray to complete a 59-yard scoring play. "We had offensive momentum," said Wonsley. who had a 55-yard TD run two weeks ago against !

lamented Shula, "This brings us as low as we could possibly get. We have to fight and search for the answers to get respectability. "All through the game they dominated us. We're doing everything a losing team does,"

Shula said. Miami's defense, which came into the game ranked No. 27 in the league, allowed New England 429 yards on offense and has permitted an average of 35.2 points in its five games. Tony Eason completed two touchdown passes before injuring his ribs late in the second quarter and Craig James scored on a 7-yard run as New England jumped out to a 27-0 lead at intermissioon, scoring on five of six first-half possessions. The Patriots, 3-2, had squandered 10point halftime leads in their last two games, both losses. They will meet the New York Jets, 4-1, next weekend at Sullivan Stadium with the division lead at stake.

"This puts us back into the thick of the race," said cornerback Raymond Clayborn. "This victory really picks us up when we were down."

The game was not so uplifting for Eason. who suffered bruised ribs on his right side and a possible hairline fracture after being sacked by defensive end Mack Moore.

Slack's Air Attack Keeps UCF On Rags-To-Riches Run

By Scott Sander Herald Sports Writer

The University of Central Florida football team has gone from rags to riches. Last year, the Knights struggled through a 4-7 season.

On Saturaday night before 13,086 fans, the Knights proved that they are legitimate Division II playoff contenders. The Knights upset Division I-AA Murray State, 38-25, thanks to an air show put on by quarterback Darin Slack. The victory ups the Knights' record to 4-1.

Slack threw for a career-high 408 yards and three touchdowns. The former Lake Howell all-state performer went 26 for 46 while throwing one interception.

UCF coach Gene McDowell said the victory proved that Knights can be competitive in I-AA competition. Last week, UCF was edged by Akron, a I-AA school, 20-17, thanks to a controversial call that nullified a Knight touchdown.

"We had a lot to prove out there tonight," UCF coach Gene McDowell said. "We feel that we are one of the best Division II schools in the country. We should move up in the polls this week."

UCF wants to play I-AA football. The Knights schedule is not easy as they face six I-AA' teams and face Wichita State, a I-A team next week. The tough schedule squarely puts the pressure on the Knights. "It is very tough," McDowell said of the schedule. "But we feel that we will be competitive in every game."

UCF had things pretty much its own way offensively as the Knight offense amassed 513 total yards. "We do have a good offense," McDowell said. "It is very balanced."

Football

Senior wide reciever Ted Wilson, the Knights leading reciever, had a great game as he caught 10 passes for 133 yards and a touchdown. Former Lake Brantley product Mac Lantrip, the UCF tight end, had a fine game as he caught five passes for 44 yards and his first career touchdown, a five-yarder. Lake Mary standout Donald Grayson, who backs up Lantrip at tight end, caught three passes for 81 yards. Bernard Ford, the big play man so far this season for UCF, caught two passes for 50 yards including a 31 yard touchdown grab.

The UCF ground game was led by fullback Aaron Sam. San rushed for 72 yards on 14 carries with two touchdowns. Sam gained 72 of the Knights 94 total rushing yards. Taliback Elgin Davis was held to a career low 7 yards on six carries.

UCF didn't was any time against the Racers as the Knights scored on a pair of first quarter touchdowns. The first score came on a 31-yard touchdown strike from Slack to Ford.

Ford made another big play on the Racers (1-2-1) first possesion. Ford broke through the line and blocked David Dercher's punt. The ball was at the Racer 28 yard line giving the Knights a good opportunity.

They didn't waste the opportunity to score as Sam took a handoff and scored from three yards out. Murray State came back with an 80 yard drive that was capped on Bill Bird's one yard touchdown plunge. It made the score 14.7.

UCF retalited when Slack hit Sam for a 27-vard touchdown. A late Murray State field goal made the halftime score 21-10.

On their first possesion of the second half, the Knights went 80 yards on 12 plays. The drive was capped on Lantrip's five-yard touchdown catch. It made the score, 28-10.

Murray State didn't quit as it came back with a 24-yard touchdown pass to make it 28-16.

UCF kicker Eddle O'Brien then booted a 32-vard field goal for a 31-16 lead and, after a Murray State touchdown and field goal closed the gap to 31-25, UCF sealed the win with a 13-play, 80-yard drive. Sam's fiveyard touchdown run closed out Murray

"We wanted to prove the Akron win was a fluke," McDowell said. "Our players are growing up."

Quarterback Blake May Get Green Light For Oviedo Game

How bad did Jeff Blake want to play against Lake Mary Friday night? Bad enough to move a doctor's appointment from today back to Friday, Blake said amid a jubilant Seminole locker room after the Tribe's 10-7 victory over the arch-rival Rams.

Blake, Seminole's junior quarterback who has been sidelined with an injury he suffered last spring, said the doctor (Sanford's Thomas Brodrick) didn't okay him for Friday but he was hoping to be released on Oct. 30.

Blake suffered a compound fracture of his right leg and a broken right arm when he was involved in a motorcycleautomobile collision. Brodrick, Jeff's father, Emory Blake, and the coaching staff are waiting until the calcium sufficiently hardens for Blake to be released to play.

Robin Rogers and the Lyman Greyhounds cross country team turned in an excellent showing Saturday morning at the Florida State Cross Country Invitational held in Tallahassee.

The 'Hounds finished sixth overall in the team standings with a score of 142 without two of its top two runners. Nick Radkewich, who spends his time participating in both swimming and cross country was at a swim meet, and Darren Marshall is still out with a stress fracture and is due back in two Orange Park ran away with the meet compiling a score of 76, Winter Park followed with 96, and always tough Largo was third. Lyman was the top county team to finish as Lake Mary was ninth with a score of 212 and Seminole was 10th with a team score of 237.

Rogers finished third overall with a time of 16:22.5, as last years 4A two-mile track champion Pat McDonough of Largo won with a 15:55.3 effort. Winter Park's Ken Gamber nipped Rogers at the line with a 16:22.4 showing in the the 5,000 meter run as compared to the usual three mile race in all other cross country races.

Backing Rogers were Mike Moehler with a brilliant performance as he finished 12th with a time of 16:35.7. Freshman Teddy Mitchell was next crossing the line at 17 flat good for 24th place. Kevin Quinn was 42th running 17:35.7, and Tom Hansing rounded out the Lyman scoring placing 61st with a 17:56.1 showing.

Rogers, the leading runner for Seminole

Cross Country

County all year, has turned in above average performances in each of his races all year. Not once has the Lyman junior been out of the top five individuals.

"He (Rogers) picked the meet to test himself with the state's competition.' Lyman coach Fred Finke said. "He was right with McDonough at the two mile and was just barely nipped by Gamber at the line. He asserted himself as a competitor on the state level Saturday."

Rogers' time of 15:15 run at the Edgewater Invitational at the University of Central Florida still leads the county.

The Lake Mary Rams were led by juntor Eric Peterson's 16:43.8 was good for a tenth place finish, as the team came away with a top ten showing. Brad Smith turned in other solid performance placing 25th with a time of 17:10. Anthony Surles, moved up from the junior varsity was the next to cross at 18:22 good for 55th place. Paul Evans was next at 18:30 for 59th, and Scott Plyer completed the scorers placing 63rd with an 18:48 effort.

The Rams will host the Seminole Athletic Conference's Postal Run Monday, Oct. 13 at the Lake Mary track.

Seminole High was right behind the Rams. Leading the way for the Tribe was Alan Seward with a 17:22 run good for 36th. David Johnson was next at 38th with a 17:39, as Rufaro Matipano was a step behind at 39th place also running 17:39. John Herberger was next for the Seminole's a 17:40 effort.

finishing 67th with a time of 18:55, as Jason Kalser finished 76th at 19:14.

'We didn't run well Saturday," Seminole coach Sid Blackwell said. "We had a terrible team performance."

Seminole will be taking this weekend off to prepare itself for the Postal Run and DeLand Invitational. "We need to get our team reorganized and set our goals on the meets coming up later in the season." LAKE HOWELL 2ND AT UCF

The Bishop Moore Invitational was also held last Saturday at UCF. State power Melbourne Palm Bay took first with a score of 21 as Angelo "Jose" Bonarrigo led the way finishing first with a time of 15:38. Palm Bay was able to place five runners in the top seven.

Casselberry Lake Howell finished second in the meet with a team score of 54. "We need to close to within 15-20 seconds of Palm Bay's top five to be competitive," Howell coach Joe Corso said. "We had an off day as we had our runners spread out by over a minute. Usually the top two are a little in front of the others and the others usually stay within 15 seconds overall.'

Corso also noted that a couple of the Silver Hawk runners were under the weather.

Howell was led by Jeff VanBuskirk who finished fifth with a time of 16:25. Chuck Buster, one of the ill, finished eighth running 16:40. Kavan Howell was next for the Silver Hawks placing 11th and running 17:01. Steve Steffy was next finishing right behind Howell at 17:02 good for 12th and Jason Springhart, the top freshman finisher in the race, was the next finishing 18th with COLUMBUS, Ga. (UPI) - Fred Wadworth, a 24-year-old in only his second PGA Tour event, is young enough to refer to PGA veteran George Archer as "Mr. Archer" - and Sunday was good enough to beat Archer and three other veterans in the Southern Open.

Wadsworth shot a final round 67 to finish at 11-under 269 and win the Southern Open by two strokes over 1969 Masters champion Archer, 47, and third-round leader Jim Thorpe, John Cook, and defending champion Tim Simpson. The title gave Wadsworth a two-year qualifying exemption on the tour and a $63,000 first-place check.

"I did feel like I was in a type of zone," said Wadsworth, who has lived in the Columbus area the past 12 years. "I never felt threatened, I never felt like I was going to make a bogey. I never felt like it was slipping away.

The Rams and Lyman did receive a bit of good news Friday when Port Orange Spruce Creek upset Daytona Beach Mainland, 3-0. That gave Mainland one district loss like Lake Mary.

When DeLand beat Lake Mary, 13-6, two week ago, it gave the Bulldogs the edge in District 5A-4 action. DeLand's 21-14 win over Lyman Friday puts the 'Dogs in a good situation. If DeLand beats Mainland and Spruce Creek the Bulldogs will win the district. It's that simple.

The ball landed behind the lineman and in front of the deep men. Confused, the 'Hawks did nothing forgetting that any ball that travels over 10 yards is "live." The Blue Darters recovered and Reynolds booted a 29-yard field goal for the 10-7 District 5A-5 win.

Even though the 'Hawks are huge, they will have a tough time in the rugged district with games against top-ranked Evans and Winter Park coming up.

The Soviets, with unprecedented candor about military matters, informed the United States early Saturday that a fire occurred Friday morning aboard the sub laden with nuclear weapons when it was 620 miles northeast of Bermuda, or between 800 to 1,100 miles east of New York.

Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger told reporters aboard a flight to Japan that U.S. intelligence photographs showed the sub sustained "a lot of damage" from a powerful explosion. The Washington Post said today, quoting Weinberger.

"The force of the explosion was very, very great," Weinberger said, noting that the photos showed the submarine's skin peeled back, hatches blown away and a hole in the vessel's side.

A Navy ship, the USS Powhatan, was standing by and was available to help, even to tow the submarine if necessary, officials said. Three Soviet merchant ships also were near the crippled submarine, apparently as part of a rescue. Shultz, on ABC's "This Week with David Brinkley," said the distressed submarine moved a short distance for about 20 minutes but then stopped again. The Pentagon spokesman said P-3C flights later reported the submarine was again "dead in the water." about 480 miles cast of Bermuda or 1,040 miles east of Cape Hatteras, N.C.

Later Sunday, a Pentagon spokesman said, "It was reported under way at about 2 knots under its own power. moving in a northeasterly direction." Two knots is slightly more than 3 mph.

Additional trouble apparently forced the Soviet merchantman finally to take the damaged submarine in tow.

A Pentagon official said Saturday the submarine belonged to the Yankee class, an older model that the Soviets have patrolled off U.S. coasts for 20 years.

Jane's Fighting Ships, the authoritative volume on the world's navies, said a Yankeeclass submarine is 426 feet long and normally carries a crew of 120. It has two nuclear reactors and two steam turbines. Its 16 ballistic missiles have a range of 1,600 miles:

Private Blood Banks To Profit From AIDS Panic

MIAMI (UPI) - The public's fear of contracting AIDS through a blood transfusion has led enterpeneurs to open commercial blood banks that will freeze and store customers' blood to be used in future surgery.

"It's an opportunity right now," said Alan Biglo, who owns three computer stores in the Miami area and plans to open his first blood bank early next year. "It's like when computers started five years ago. We have five or six years to make a lot of money.

Shark Attacks Young Girl

SANIBEL (UPI) - A six to eight-foot shark attacked a six-year-old girl on the leg in three feet of water as she rode piggyback on her mother's flance, police said.

Luizhelma Florez was in critical but stable condition at Lee Memorial Hospital in Sanibel Sunday after emergency surgery on her right leg and hip late Saturday, said Capt. Ray Rhodes of the Sanibel Police Department.

She was attacked about 6 p.m. Saturday as she was going back to shore with her sister. Maria, her mother, Ruth, and the mother's flance, who was unidentified, Rhodes said. The family is from the Fort Lauderdale area.

Good Sense, Vigilance Prevent Tragedy Of Fire

DEAR ABBY: This is Fire Prevention Week, and despite declines, the United States and Canada still have the highest fire death rates of all the developed countries in the free world.

The most recent figures: Fire deaths in the United States: 5,240. The total loss of property $6.71 billion! Each season has its own special fire hazards. Here are some tips for all seasons:

FALL: If you enjoy camping, select a tent made of flameresistant fabric. Pack a reliable flashlight with plenty of extra batteries to light the inside of your tent - never use matches or candles. When building a campfire, place it downwind of your tent. And never try to hasten the burning by using gasoline or other flammable liquld starters.

If you use your fireplace, have your chimney profesionally cleaned in the fall to make sure it's in good condition for the coming season.

WINTER: More fires occur during winter than in any other season. The reasons: home heating and the holiday season.

If you use a portable heater, be sure it is placed away from combustibles - draperies. furniture, paper, etc. Remember, the surface heat of some portables heaters may reach 500 degrees, so keep a careful watch on your children and warn them to keep away from heaters. Hospitals are treating an increasing number of patients with burns resulting from contact with the outside surface of some portable heaters.

For a merry Christmas, choose a Christmas tree that does not have shedding needles, and keep it standing in water while it is in the house. If you choose an artificial tree, choose one that is flame-resistant.

After holiday parties, before retiring, check your ashtrays for smoldering cigarette butts, and carefully examine all uphostered chairs and sofas to make sure that no "live" cigarette butts have fallen between the cushions. Remember, most house fires occur between 8 p.m. and 8 a.m., when people are sleeping. SPRING: Take spring cleaning seriously - clean out your attic. basement, garage and workshop. Throw out trash, especially combustibles such as rags, newspapers, magazines, boxes and scraps of wood. Never smoke while fueling gaspowdered lawn mowers or chain saws. If you must store gasoline, store it in a ventilated area in a can designed especially for that purpose. And store oily rags and paint in a cool place in tightly scaled metal containers.

SUMMER: When cooking out. never use flamable liquids near live coals. An explosion or flash fire could result. When you've finished cooking, soak the coals with water and make absolutely sure they're out when you leave. Smoldering coals that appear to be "dead" can reignite as mych as a day later. If you use a propane gas grill, always have the lighted match in position before turning on the gas. Some tips for all seasons:

-Never smoke in bed. -Never leave invalids or small children alone in the house not even for "a few minutes."

-Never use flammable liquids for dry cleaning indoors. Have periodic fire drills in your home to be sure everyone knows what to do in case of fire. -Keep easy-to-use fire extinguishers in your kitchen, cottage, back bedrooms and on you boat. Invest in smoke detectors, and be sure that they are kept dust-free and in working order. -The telephone number of your fire department should be taped to every telephone in your house. If it isn't, should a fire occur, don't waste time tring to find it; get out, and call from a neighbor's house. And once you are out, stay out. No treasure is worth risking your life for.

It took less than three minutes to read this column. Was it worth it? I hope so.

Save Your Child's Life

Home Accidents Top Killer Of Children

By David Hendin

(Second In A Series) NEA- Your home may be a deathtrap for your children. Accidents kill more children between the ages of 1 and 14 than any disease.

In 1980 alone, accidents killed more than 8,300 in this age group, and about 40 percent of the accidents occurred at home. By far the most common deaths are associated with fires. poisons. If there are dangers in children's reach. and around your nome, and you them, you may be endangering your child's life.

It is equally important for you to know how to treat accidental injuries if they do occur. No matter how carefully you "accident-proof' your home, or how carefully you watch your children, they are bound to be from the top of the toilet tank out of your sight just long enough for an accident to occur.

Here are things you must correct if you wish to cut the chances of accidents involving children in your home.

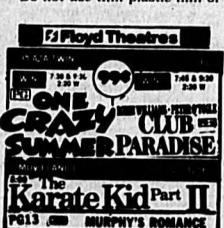

Be certain that all of your rugs and carpets are secured. Are there frayed or loose edges that can cause falls?

Repair falling paint or plaster. Falling plaster can cause concussions in small children, and they may choke on bits of it.

. Make sure your television set is well ventilated, for it can get very hot and catch fire.

You should have guardrails across any windows that a child might be able to reach, as well as guard gates in front of any steps or drop-offs where a child might venture. Do not use thin plastic film or plastic cleaners' bags to cover furniture.

Are there any exposed radiators or steam pipes in reach of a child? If so, they should be covered with insulation.

While cooking, keep your pan and pot handles turned away from the front of the range. A child could easily reach up to the stove and pour boiling liquids all over his or her body.

Store matches in a fireproof followed by falls, firearms and container that you keep out of

Keep knives, scissors and do not take the time to correct other dangerous utensils in places where your child cannot reach them.

feet 4, female and weigh 200 pounds. Since last year I've had tinea versicolor and pedis, enormous boils on my legs, severe chronic colitis, a bleeding navel, pneumonia, dizzy spells, dysmenorrhea, vaginal and urinary-tract infections and hot times be felt as a tender swelling flashes. I also can't lose weight.

DEAR READER - An underlying disease might be causing your problems. For example, diabetes is certainly a possibility. I suggest that you see your family doctor for a complete examination that should, in my opinion, include blood tests, cultures of skin and sputum, and other lab work to establish what is going wrong in your system.

DEAR DR. GOTT - What is the difference between reflux esophagitis and hiatal hernia?

DEAR READER - Hiatal hernia is a weakness in the flat diaphragm muscle of respiration at the point where the esophagus passes from the chest cavity into the abdominal cavity. This weakness permits stomach contents - or part of the stomach itself - to move up into the chest.

Ordinarily, this condition produces no symptoms unless the stomach acid irritates the lining of the lower esophagus. This is called reflux esophagitis and causes heartburn, belching and chest pressure. In people with hiatal hernia, treatment is directed toward relieving reflux esophagitis by using antacids, medicine to reduce production of stomach acid, and — as a last resort - surgery to correct the diaphragmatic weakness.

To give you more information, 60 Small cask I'm sending you a free copy of my Health Report on HIATAL HERNIA. Others who would like a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to mention the

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby finesses left to take? You may have to try a squeeze. The crisscross squeeze is so called because, after a defender makes the crucial discard, declarer hand and then crosses to the other to take the final winning

After asking for aces, North bid six no-trump. Declarer won the opening lead in his hand, cashed the club ace and played to the dummy with a second diamond to take a club finesse. West won the club queen and gave declarer 11 tricks, and it had brought in the slam.

seemed that the 12th trick When you can count 11 win- would depend upon either the ning tricks but need 12, what heart king dropping under the can you do if there are no ace or the spade queen falling when the ace and king were played. But first South played his high clubs, throwing a heart from dummy. East threw a heart and a spade. Declarer played his cashes out high cards in one last diamond, throwing dummy's small spade. That left dummy with A-K of spades and Q-6 of hearts. Declarer had J-6-3 of spades and the lone heart ace. What could defender East hold? If he kept K-10 of hearts and discarded a spade, declarer would take dummy's high spades and come to the heart ace to cash the good spade jack. If he, returned a third diamond as East threw the heart 10, South would pitched a club. A heart from play the heart ace, dropping the dummy was now played and the king, and dummy would be jack successfully finessed. That good. The crisscross squeeze

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY OCTOBER 7, 1986

Friends will play remarkable roles in your personal affairs in the year ahead. Old pals can be relied upon and your newer acquaintances also will prove dependable.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your ability to analyze situations realistically is likely to be superior to your associates' today. However, they'll ignore your assumptions if you are haughty. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker set instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, PO Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Basically you are a very generous and sharing person, but today you might be so concerned with your self-interests that you may overlook the needs of others.

BAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Do not let persons with negative outlooks put a damper on your hopes and aspirations today. Believe in victory, even if they don't.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Self-doubts will impede your progress today, because what you predetermine will eventually come into being. Reverse your outlook and focus on the laurels of success. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Temper hope with realism today, but not with pessimism. Forge a metal that will withstand the stress of strong challenges, and that will bend without breaking.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) An important objective is achievable today, but Lady Luck is not apt to play a role in your success. This is something you'll have to earn.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You may have to handle a situation today similar to one reasons for your behavior, and you mismanaged in the past. this will create resentment.

Don't have a lapse of memory and repeat an old mistake.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Don't let your curiosity draw you into another's complicated affairs today. Once you open the door, you might be asked to handle things you'd rather not.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) It looks as if time is running out regarding a difficult decision that you have been dodging. It must be resolved eventually, so why not do it now? CANCER (June 21-July 22)

Doing what's required of you should be uppermost in your mind today. You are in a cycle where you cannot treat your duties and obligations lightly.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Strive to be a tolerant manager today and those in your retinue will respond willingly. If your demands are unreasonable, you're apt to stir up trouble.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Guard against tendencies today to treat persons you love coolly. They won't comprehend the
