First Day Of Lottery

Ticket Sales High In Area

By Nancy Simmons and Brian Hedberg

Thousands of people hoping to win millions of dollars created a heavy demand for lottery tickets Tuesday in Sanford and Lake Mary stores with at least one buyer becoming a $5,000 instant winner.

Most purchasers were not so lucky but that did not stop ticket buyers as they hoped they would strike it rich. Several stores in Sanford reported 300-500 tickets sold by mid-afternoon. Employees at the 7-11 Store at 112 N. French Ave. said they had sold about 4,000 tickets.

Four $50 winners bought tickets at that store, along with 50 five dollar and two dollar winners. Store employees estimated that fewer than 150 free tickets were won.

At Publix, 3609 Orlando Drive, a cashier said that between 300-500 tickets had been sold just at the office with an additional 500 tickets being purchased at the store's checkout lines. She said they had many free ticket winners and about 50 two and five dollar winners.

About 265 tickets were sold by mid-afternoon at The Barn, 1200 S. French Ave. Employees were not sure how many free tickets had been won, but several two dollar tickets had been won. Two five dollar winners bought tickets at The Barn and one $25 winner purchased his ticket there.

Tranell's Fashions, 900 W. 13th St., also reported selling about 300 tickets, with about 40 of those being winners of either free tickets, or two and five dollar tickets. The clothing shop was expecting to stay open later than usual last night because of lottery sales.

Sunshine Liquors, 1610 W. 13th St., reported about 200 sales by mid-afternoon. Fifteen were two dollar winners, seven were five dollar winners, and eight were free ticket winners.

Some words Lake Mary lottery ticket agents had for Tuesday were "good," "quite well," "great," "fantastic," "excellent" and "too much work."

One store owner said a man had won $5,000 but other than that, the known big wins at the eight stores were confined to $50.

Mansour Sirizi, store manager for the 7-Eleven at 100 Lake Mary Boulevard, has had his share of enthusiastic ticket-buyers, but has coaxed some of the more reluctant ones.

"Some people say, 'I can't buy any tickets. I have a lot of bills to pay.' I tell them, 'Come on, you could win the $1 million prize and pay all your bills off.' They say, 'You're right, give me a ticket.'"

When Publix, 651 W. Lake Mary Blvd., opened at 7 a.m. Tuesday, there were no lines or

Lockridge Offered Longwood Finance Job

By Jane Casselberry Herald Staff Writer

Winter Park investment consultant Robert L. Lockridge has been offered the position of Longwood finance director, which has been vacant since former finance director Barry Weeks resigned under pressure in September 1987.

Terry is scheduled to meet with Lockridge today to negotiate his salary. He said he anticipated it would be in the price range that Weeks received, which was $32,651 in the 1986-87 fiscal year and was budgeted for $35,815 this year. With benefits, the 1987-88 salary would have totaled $43,518.

Weeks had been finance director since June 17, 1985, but came under fire when problems in the bookkeeping department prevented the city auditor from getting a correct audit. The city's occupational and business license clerk Mary Triplett is acting finance director with a salary of $24,000 a year.

Acting City Administrator Don Terry interviewed Lockridge after his name was recommended by a committee screening the applicants for the job.

Terry, who was made acting city administrator after the Jan. 4 resignation of City Administrator Ron Waller, was given the go ahead by the city commission to fill the finance vacancy subject to their approval.

Prior to opening his private consulting business, Terry said,

Scene of Longwood shooting

Attorney Remains In Critical Condition

By Jane Casselberry and Brian Hedberg

Murray Lee Gay Jr., 45, of Orlando remains in critical condition this morning in the Neurological Intensive Care Unit at Florida Hospital—Orlando, where he was taken after being shot at point blank range with a .25 caliber automatic handgun allegedly by his client, Roger Maynard, of 1037 N. Bunby Ave., Orlando.

Maynard, a 72-year-old Orlando man, is being held without bond in the Seminole County Jail charged with attempted first degree murder in the Tuesday night shooting of his attorney during a meeting at a Longwood doctor's office in a malpractice case.

According to Longwood Police Lt. Jack Bisland, police are still trying to establish a motive in the shooting. Should the victim die, Bisland said charges would be changed to first degree murder.

Maynard was treated in the emergency room of South Seminole Community Hospital for abrasions on his face before being booked at the jail, Bisland said.

Mrs. Maynard, 62, said her husband had been very distraught for several days over the malpractice suit. She said she didn't know he was carrying a gun and has no idea why he shot the lawyer. She said her husband called her Tuesday night after his arrest so that she would know what had happened and wouldn't be so upset when she heard it on the news.

Mrs. Maynard refused to give the details of the medical problem that provoked the suit, because "it is going to be in court someday." However, she did say she is recovering, but still has a bad leg.

She said Dr. Broderick, who is with Seminole Orthopaedic Associates, is not her regular doctor, but had treated her on occasion. He also has offices in Sanford and Deltona.

There was an apparent delay in transporting Gay to a hospital, according to reports.

Gay was taken to South Seminole, then he was transferred to Florida Hospital—Orlando.

He forfeited rights to undeniable admission to Orlando Regional Medical Center, the closest facility to South Seminole with a neurosurgeon, because he was first taken to South Seminole, said Benjamin G. Newman, medical director of Emergency Medical Services for Seminole County.

"Normally, we would take the patient to that hospital that had

Man Shoots His Lawyer In Longwood Doctor's Office

By Susan Loden Herald Staff Writer

"I couldn't take it anymore," said Roger Edward Maynard, who allegedly shot Orlando attorney Murray Lee Gay Jr., 45, in the head following a Longwood meeting with that attorney in a doctor's office Tuesday.

That's what Maynard allegedly told South Seminole Community Hospital emergency room nurse Judith Quintero as she treated Maynard after he allegedly shot Gay in the head at about 7 p.m. while in the office of Dr. Thomas Broderick, next door to the hospital, on State Road 434, a Longwood police report said.

Maynard, 72, of Orlando, who was being held today in the Seminole County jail without bond charged with attempted murder, allegedly told Quintero that Gay "has lied to him too much. It's a long story."

Maynard reportedly said he intended to shoot both himself and Gay, but he did not intend to harm Broderick or anyone else. Broderick who struggled with Maynard twice after Gay was shot, told police that before he disarmed Maynard, Maynard fired two more shots inside Broderick's office. Broderick said that one bullet narrowly missed his own head.

Gay remained in critical condition early today in Florida Hospital—Orlando. Maynard is on suicide watch at the jail.

Broderick, who was in a meeting with Gay and Maynard when Maynard, at the conclusion of the 6 p.m. meeting, allegedly put a pistol to the right side of Gay's head and fired a shot. Gay was seated to the left of Maynard and Broderick was seated across from them. Also in the room was Gay's legal assistant, Joan Magnusson-Woods, 41, of St. Cloud.

The four had been discussing legal action taken by Maynard against Broderick, an orthopaedic surgeon, in connection with Broderick's medical treatment of Maynard's wife Josephine E. Maynard, from 1981 through 1987.

Magnusson-Woods told Longwood police that the discussion had ended and Gay told her, "Well, Joan, lets go home to our kids." She turned away and heard a shot. The room filled with smoke and she turned back and saw Gay slumped in his chair. Blood was running out his nose. Maynard was standing. He was looking at Broderick, who was rising from his seat. Magnusson-Woods told police she thought the doctor had been shot.

But, Broderick lunged toward Maynard and said "You shot that man." As the two men struggled, Magnusson-Woods said she dove behind the desk and dialed to the operator on a telephone, but couldn't get a line. She ran out of the office.

Broderick and Maynard were struggling when a second shot and third shot were fired. The third shot almost hit Broderick in the right side of his head. He took the gun from Maynard after he noticed the semi-automatic gun was jammed. Broderick ran outside and asked Magnusson-Woods to call for help. They were outside the building when Maynard followed them out and again struggled with Broderick. Broderick knocked him to the ground and held him there until help arrived.

Magnusson-Woods told police that as she was exiting the building she passed a couple going in and she warned them that an armed man had shot someone inside the building. She asked the male bystander to go to a nearby fire station to call the police.

Magnusson-Woods tried to re-enter Broderick's office to check on Gay, but the doors had locked as they had exited the building. She went next door to the hospital and returned to the office with a security guard who had a key to the office. A security guard assisted Broderick in holding Maynard for police.

Paramedics and police arrived and Gay and Maynard were moved to the hospital, with Gay being transferred to the Orlando hospital.

Maynard was arrested by

Commission Plans To Pass Adult Entertainment Law

By Brad Church Herald Staff Writer

A proposed ordinance to control adult entertainment in Seminole County was presented to county commissioners Tuesday and will be acted on next month after a public hearing.

The proposed ordinance, drawn up by the county attorney's office in consultation with the state attorney's office and county sheriff's office, is closely based on the Orange County ordinance.

It would require licensing of adult entertainment establishments and their employees, set structural standards for adult dancing establishments and adult theaters, and prohibit certain activities.

Separate from this proposed ordinance, the updated land development code, which is has been proposed for approval, includes new definitions of adult entertainment identical to those in the proposed ordinance, and a provision which would require any adult entertainment establishment to obtain a "special exception" to the zoning ordinance in order to open. Special exceptions are granted by the board of adjustment.

Sheriff John Polk said the county needs the ordinance "or we will have another South Orange Blossom Trail in Seminole County in a few years." Polk said there are some loopholes in state law concerning lewdness and obscenity, and this ordinance will give his department a tool to control adult entertainment.

One of its chief advantages, he said, is that it would apply to establishments whether or not they sell alcoholic beverages, while state laws apply only to those which sell alcohol. He pointed out that one of the county's two present adult entertainment businesses, House of Babes on Highway 17-92, doesn't have a liquor license.

Three types of required licenses for adult entertainment businesses are established by the ordinance: adult bookstore, adult theater and adult cabaret, the latter defined as a place where nude or semi-nude dancing takes

Apopka Man Found Innocent Of Poaching Alligators

By Richard Whittaker Herald Staff Writer

A six-member Seminole County jury Tuesday found an Apopka man innocent of poaching six alligators from Lake Jesup last May.

Less than an hour after the trial of Joseph Stanley Koon, 35, began the jury returned the verdict acquitting him of the charges made by an undercover officer of the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

Assistant State Attorney Woody Igou brought a live three-foot gator into the courtroom to use as evidence against Koon, but even that didn't convince the jurors the man was guilty.

The alligator, which was the first ever to be used in a Florida courtroom as evidence, according to Igou, was about three feet long. The alligator's mouth was taped shut with electrical tape.

The FG&FC agent claimed he was at the Black Hammock Fish Camp in Oviedo on May 28, when Koon offered to take him alligator hunting with him and two other men. The agent said he accepted the invitation and rode around with the men on Koon's air boat until about 11 p.m. that evening.

The agent said the alligator presented to the jury by the state as evidence was one that Koon gave him after the party came back from their alleged poaching trip that night. "When we got back to Black Hammock (the fish camp) I asked him (Koon) if I could have one of the gators for my girlfriend," the agent said.

The alligator Koon allegedly gave the agent was kept at a FG&FC site near Ocala until the trial, according to Igou.

During the time they were out on the lake the agent said Koon caught six alligators by crouching down in the front of the boat and grabbing them with his hands as they swam by. One of the gators was reported to be at least seven feet long, according to the agent.

Koon's attorney Jim Powers argued that the agent was making the story up, and that his client was afraid of alligators. He also said it was difficult to believe anyone would attempt to capture a live alligator with his hands.

IN BRIEF

Man Comes Home To Find Armed Intruder Leaving

When J.C. Mandy arrived at his home at 780 Marker St., rural Altamonte Springs, Monday morning, a woman he knows was reportedly armed with a butcher knife and walked out past him to leave the home, a Seminole County sheriff's report said.

Mandy asked the woman how she got inside the home and she reportedly said through the front door, which Mandy said had been locked. He called sheriff's deputies to the scene and told them the woman had run north. A witness said she had entered a home on Ford Avenue.

Sheriff's deputies asked an occupant of that home if the suspect was there. He was told she wasn't. But 45 minutes later deputies reported seeing the suspect flee out a backdoor of that home.

Helen E. Walker, 18, of 713 Marker St., was arrested on Deoto Street at about 11:45 a.m. Monday. She has been charged with armed burglary and grand theft of a firearm and was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Fingerprints Link Man To Crimes

Fingerprints taken from the scene of two Sanford burglaries have reportedly linked an 18-year-old Sanford man to those crimes. Kenneth Batton of 203 Terry Lane has been arrested in connection with the cases.

Sanford police said that fingerprints were taken from a burglarized car on Dec. 12, at 260 Terry Street. A purse and its contents, including a handgun, with a total value of $240 were taken in that breakin.

In the other case, on Jan. 1 a keyboard and $10 were stolen from a home at 209 Terry Lane. The suspect was reportedly seen and questioned by police near the scene shortly after that burglary. At that time the suspect was said to be in possession of a keyboard. Police said his fingerprints were compared to ones found inside the burglarized home.

Batton who has been charged with armed burglary, grand theft, burglary and theft, was being held in lieu of $13,000 bond. He was arrested at 1:03 p.m. Friday at Seminole High School, Sanford.

Arrest In Theft Of Pump

Longwood police reported charging Lawrence Dean O'Donnell, 19, of 502 Lavon Drive, Altamonte Springs, with grand theft in connection with the Jan. 5 theft of a $345 irrigation pump from Central Florida Irrigation, 1340 Bennett St., Longwood.

The arrest was made at 2:50 p.m. Friday at that company. O'Donnell was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Burglaries And Thefts Reported

A $500 handgun, $150 binoculars, a $200 ring and a $25 umbrella were stolen between Oct. 19 and Dec. 18 from 140 E. Faith Terrace, Mattland. A sheriff's report filed Sunday said the items belong to Howard F. Wallace Jr., of Orlando.

Three firearms, ammunition and two knives were stolen Saturday or Sunday from the car of Teddy Wayne Reynolds, 27, of 1089 Diaz Court, Winter Springs, a sheriff's report said. The loss totaled about $1,500.

Court Bans Federal Intervention In State Child Custody Cases Decisions

By Andrea Neal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled 8-0 Tuesday federal courts may not step in when states issue conflicting child custody decrees, a decision critics say will encourage child snatching by parents.

The justices, acting in the case of two neurologists fighting over custody of their son, affirmed a ruling by the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in holding that federal courts lack authority to determine which of two state custody decisions is valid.

David Lloyd, general counsel of the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children, said the ruling could encourage parents to kidnap children living with a former spouse. Such child snatchings are "occurring with alarming frequency now," he said.

At issue were provisions in the Parental Kidnapping Prevention Act of 1980, which was passed by Congress in an effort to force uniformity in child custody jurisdictional standards.

Experts say between 25,000 and 100,000 children from broken marriages are snatched each year by parents seeking to relitigate custody disputes by moving to another state.

Writing for the court, Justice Thurgood Marshall said the act does not create a federal forum for resolving custody battles, but merely requires states to accord "full faith and credit" to custody decrees issued in other states. If states choose to ignore the decrees, he said, there is nothing federal courts can do about it.

"State courts faithfully administer the Full Faith and Credit Clause every day," Marshall wrote. "Now that Congress has extended full faith and credit requirements to child custody orders, we can think of no reason why the courts' administration of federal law in custody disputes will be any less vigilant."

"Should state courts prove as obstinate as petitioner predicts, Congress may choose to revisit the issue," he said. "But any more radical approach to the problem will have to await further legislative action."

"It is obvious that no Supreme Court justice has been in the middle of a custody battle," said David Levy, president of the National Council for Children's Rights. "There is chaos in the custody area. This decision will produce more chaos. And children will be in the middle as parents in two or more states fight for custody. Only one state should have jurisdiction at a time."

In other action, the court: —Overturned the conviction of South Carolina death row prisoner Dale Robert Yates, ruling 8-0 in an opinion by Justice John Paul Stevens that its 1985 court ruling striking down "burden shifting" jury instructions should be applied retroactively.

—Stripped state court judges of their cloak of absolute immunity from lawsuits. The court, in an 8-0 opinion by Justice Sandra Day O'Connor, refused to extend the absolute immunity from lawsuits that all judges enjoy in their official, judicial capacity to their administrative functions.

The child custody case arose in California in 1976 when Susan Clay began divorce proceedings against her husband, David Thompson. The Los Angeles County Superior Court granted the couple joint legal custody of their 1-year-old son, Matthew, with Clay being given physical custody and Thompson full visitation rights.

In November 1980, Clay sought permission to move with her son to Louisiana so she could accept a job as head of the Child Neurology Division of the Louisiana State University School of Medicine. The court granted her temporary custody pending further study of who should be given permanent custody of the boy.

After moving to Louisiana, Clay filed a petition in state court to enforce the California decision giving her sole custody and to modify her ex-husband's visitation rights, claiming he had abused and mistreated their son. The court granted the mother full custody.

The California court, meanwhile, reviewed an investigator's report and awarded custody of Matthew to his father. He then went to federal court, seeking enforcement of the decree, but the judge said he lacked jurisdiction over the matter.

Lloyd said there are dozens of families involved in similar custody disputes who will be harmed by Tuesday's ruling.

"We have situations where the courts of two states are at an impasse ... and neither court will back down," Lloyd said. He said the court's action was a "great discouragement to those of us who were hoping the federal law would alleviate inter-jurisdictional conflict."

Numerous child advocacy groups had entered the case as friends of the court, urging reversal of the lower court ruling. The California attorney general's office said the upholding the decision would create "an incentive for parental kidnapping."

Taiwan's President Dies

TAIPEI, Taiwan (UPI) — Taiwanese President Chiang Ching-kuo died of a heart attack at his home today, the military Chinese Television Service reported. He was 76.

The television reported Chiang died at his suburban residence at 3:55 p.m. It gave no details.

Official sources who asked not to be identified said arrangements are being made for Vice President Lee Tung-hui, 65, to succeed Chiang. Lee is the constitutional heir to the presidency.

Love Weather Today Week-End'll Be Same

By Fred H. Cooper
Herald Staff Writer

Today is called "humpday" by some. This means that since it is the middle of the week we're in, or on, the hump and thoughts are even now beaming towards the week-end. So, let's think about the week-end.

Temperatures today are ranging from a low of around 50 to well within the 70s. So it shall be on Saturday. There is a chance of showers in the afternoon today. So it shall be on Saturday. It is cloudy overhead. So it shall be. So note it.

Thus you have it. Today is a day like Saturday - except for the frivolous activities normally associated with week-ends. So be happy with the thoughts of the days approaching - the weather should be nice.

You know we often talk about the kooky folks out in California but there's a bunch studying earthquakes that just have to qualify for the dumbest award of the year.

Scientists in Parkfield can hardly wait for the major earthquake they insist soon will rock this small Monterey County farm community with a population of 34.

State agencies have set up a vast outdoor laboratory in the area to spot the first sign of a quake. Scientists hope they will be able to predict up to 72 hours in advance the likelihood of a tremor measuring at least 6.0 on the Richter scale.

The experts note that Parkfield is a spot where major earthquakes occur with almost clock-like regularity every 22 years.

This month, according to the calculations, is the middle of the "window of probability."

The hills and valleys of this area in southern Monterey

County are jammed at more than 80 places with hundreds of seismographs, tiltmeters, strainmeters, water-well gauges, magnetometers and other devices to monitor every subterranean move.

The Geological Survey has put at least $2 million into the array along with computers, relay and alarm networks in Menlo Park that record and analyze the data. The state Division of Mines and Geology has put in an additional $1 million.

A blizzard that has closed schools, businesses and interstate highways barreled across Minnesota and into Iowa, Wisconsin and upper Michigan today, leaving up to 17 inches of snow.

Snow driven by 51-mph wind gusts whipped across northern and north-central Iowa Tuesday, prompting the Iowa State Patrol to close parts of Interstate 35. The National Weather Service warned against travel because "visibility was near zero in blowing snow, especially in open areas."

The interstate was reopened late Tuesday.

The winds, coupled with steadily dropping temperatures, drove wind chills to 45 degrees below zero in Mason City, Iowa, and 36 below in Sioux City, Iowa, overnight.

At least two traffic deaths have been blamed on the blizzard conditions, one in Sioux County, Iowa, and another in L'Anse, Mich. In the western part of the upper peninsula.

State police in Calumet, Mich., said 17 inches of snow had fallen since Tuesday morning at the town on the Keweenaw Peninsula.

At least 14 inches of wind-blown snow fell across a wide area from Fargo, N.D., to Ely, Minn., in northeastern Minnesota.

Reagan Hails King, Cites Progress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan proclaimed Monday Martin Luther King Jr. Day and hailed the slain civil rights leader as a martyr who sacrificed his life for a principle, and a time capsule honoring King was buried.

Coretta Scott King, along with Housing and Urban Development Secretary Samuel Pierce, buried a 7-foot time capsule Tuesday beneath the Western Plaza near the White House containing artifacts from King's life.

Among the items placed some 12 feet underground in the 500-pound aluminum cylinder were King's ministry robes, his personal Bible, and the clothing he wore and a copy of the speech he made when he accepted the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize.

As a crane lowered the capsule, the several hundred people who attended the ceremony sang the civil rights anthem "We Shall Overcome." The capsule will be dug up in the year 2088.

At a White House ceremony Tuesday with Mrs. King attending, Reagan, who opposed the 1983 act of Congress making King's birthday a national holiday, said, "We're here today to honor a man who dedicated his life to the pursuit of a dream."

"In honoring one man's commitment, we're also re-dedicating ourselves to the fundamental principle behind that dream," Reagan said. "That principle, which goes to the very essence of America, is simply this — that it is self-evident that all men are created equal and that they are endowed by their creator with certain unalienable rights."

Reagan, formally declaring the holiday that is already set by federal law, urged Americans not to ignore the "great strides that are being made toward ending discrimination and bigotry."

He cited improvements in black education and said black employment has risen 26 percent during the past five years, more than twice the rate for whites.

But he acknowledged, "The fight for genuine equality of opportunity goes on."

King, assassinated almost 20 years ago, would have been 59 Friday.

After signing the proclamation, which hails King as one who was "martyred not only for his beliefs, but for the passionate conviction and consistency with which he espoused them," Reagan gave the pen to Mrs. King.

Following the ceremony, she agreed with Reagan that "tremendous progress" has been made in education, employment, housing and health care but she said the president should do more to help blacks and poor people during his final months in office.

"We have too many poor people in this country, too many people who are hungry and go to bed at night with no food and no place to sleep," she said. "This is really a disgrace, I think, for a nation that is wealthy as our nation. No person of conscience should sleep easily at night."

Mrs. King said there is "greater sensitivity" to black issues now than when Reagan took office in 1981. "There has been change, certainly, some change, but not enough change."

At the same time, Mrs. King issued a statement deploring recent violence in the Gaza Strip and the plight of the Palestinians who live in the Israeli-occupied area.

"I call on Israeli and Palestinian leaders to seize the opportunity of the Martin Luther King Jr. holiday to declare a moratorium on further violence," she said.

"The Palestinian people have a right to protest for their full human and civil rights, just as the state of Israel has a right to protect its security," the statement said.

Standing Up For Women Sailors

James Webb, ex-Marine, Vietnam vet and writer, has always been a tough-talking machismo man. War was for men, he insisted. Having women around distracted the warriors, made them weaker and less aggressive in combat.

In a 1979 article in The Washingtonian, Webb—wading fearlessly into the battle of the sexes—said he thought women should be barred from military academies. It wasn't that he didn't like females, he wrote. It was just that he admired them "more for who they are than for what they are doing."

So, it is ironic that James Webb, now the Navy secretary, is doing more to eliminate sexual harassment and discrimination—and remove career barriers for Navy women—than anyone in recent memory.

Webb insists he hasn't changed his mind; he still opposes the idea of letting women serve in combat roles. But he announced recently that he had changed a key passage in the Navy's interpretation of the combat exclusion law; the change will give women 9,000 additional jobs aboard 26 of the Navy's 37 combat supply ships.

This is a welcome break for the Navy's 54,000 women sailors, who until just recently, were limited to only 6,000 ocean-going jobs aboard small repair boats and other short-duty vessels. They still won't be able to work aboard carriers or other combat ships. But supply ship duty will give them more opportunities to advance their careers and get out of dead-end shore jobs. And it means the Navy will be able to recruit more women since they'll be able to assume duties formerly reserved for male sailors.

That isn't all that Webb has done for Navy women. He formed a panel to investigate their complaints. It found that of 1,400 Navy women interviewed around the world, half said they had been victims of harassment and virtually all said they'd seen incidents of harassment against others.

Webb responded by beefing up the Navy's anti-harassment programs and encouraging women to come forward with complaints. By making it clear that the Navy's leading official won't tolerate harassment, Webb will surely help reduce a torrent of obnoxious interchange to a trickle of isolated incidents. Once men and women sailors clearly understand the rules—and understand that officers in charge will enforce them—they will gradually come to respect each other as co-workers.

Why did the secretary make these changes? We doubt he became a feminist overnight. He was under pressure from women officers and from the visible and vocal Defense Advisory Committee on Women in the Services, which makes recommendations to the defense secretary.

But to his credit, this erst-while warrior, who once described Naval Academy women as "spirited but confused, tolerated but never accepted," has shown himself willing to listen and react to criticism and suggestions. While he may still be enamored with the mystique of war, he was intelligent enough to make the peacetime Navy a better place for its women. Navy women will remember and appreciate him—not just for who he was but for what he did.

School Boards Have Grown Too Political

Dinosaurs didn't survive, but cockroaches have. Pesky little busybodies of irrelevancy, scurrying to fulfill their agenda, they make everybody else miserable. They're not dangerous; just anachronistic. Like boards of education.

Initially, boards of education were necessary to guarantee the fiscal independence and teaching integrity of our school systems. Today, the boards are political baronies. Their most important functions are to distribute patronage, facilitate labor union raids on the public treasury, advance personal careers at education's expense, serve as hostages to special interests, be an elective source of discontent for issues unrelated to education, and provide sinecures for political hacks who don't represent the school system's demographics.

If you doubt the outlived usefulness of boards of education, look no farther than the nation's largest city. And if big, bawdy and bodacious New York City somehow seems an isolated basket case, then cross "over the river and through the wood" to tiny Paterson, N.J., where a similar educational farce is being played out.

New York City's board of education just appointed a new school chancellor. In the process, it revealed two depressing facts of life: (1) The nation's largest school system is magnificently screwed-up; (2) The board of education is too paralyzed to remedy the problem.

In Paterson, the board of education just ruled that a popular black principal's success in redeeming a dope-ravaged, violence-plagued high school is meaningless if the principal, Joe Clark, doesn't kow-tow to bureaucratic nugacities.

Granted, former drill sergeant Clark has tended to confuse his mission with Lou Gossett's Oscar-winning, butt-kicking role in "An Officer and a Gentleman." But imperious Clark (and the brother do be imperious!) has gotten results by bending a couple of rules. He has secured Eastside High School, given students a sense of pride and a desire to learn, and turned alienated parents into strong advocates of public education.

Even Education Secretary William J. Bennett telephoned his encouragement. It's typical of Clark's mammoth ego that he responded by saying, "Now that I know America is behind me, I won't leave." Still, personality wars and all, he has done an outstanding job. Education needs more principals like him and fewer school boards.

In New York City, the appointment of Richard Green as the school system's first black chancellor has not inspired confidence that the former Minneapolis school superintendent can drain the New York City cesspool of its educational failures. During the interviews of candidates, it became apparent that one board of education member was a complete captive of the city's teachers union (one of the system's biggest problems). Only after the teachers union Queen Bee (a.k.a. its president) gave her permission and the board president threatened to resign did the union's flunky support Green.

Meanwhile, the board has been unable to prevent the custodians union from raping the high schools with patronage and sloppy work. Many custodians don't even clean the bathrooms or provide toilet paper.

Still More Budget Battles

By Linda Worfelman

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Even though the basics of next year's budget are already down on paper, there's no guarantee the White House and Congress can agree on a fiscal 1989 budget without a new battle.

White House budget director James Miller says he expects a less contentious battle than last year with Congress over the $1.1 trillion spending proposal President Reagan will submit next month.

Miller bases his optimism largely on the two-year agreement negotiated with congressional leaders in November calling for $14 billion in new taxes in the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1 and setting defense spending authority for the year at $299.5 billion — two items that normally would generate weeks or months of debate.

But just because the tax plan has already been approved and the limits of the defense spending package have been set, details of both the military and domestic spending plans remain to be worked out and many of those details promise to be controversial.

Among them are decisions over how to allocate scarce funds for domestic programs, one congressional budget committee aide said. As an example, he predicted a virtually certain — but probably quick — fight over whether to take money that otherwise might be spent on Medicare and Medicaid health care programs for the elderly and poor and use it instead to finance the space program.

Another squabble left over from last year's budget debate is the future of the Midgetman missile, which received just enough money in fiscal 1988 to keep missile research alive. The extra funds meant Congress could delay for a few more months a final decision on whether to choose between Midgetman and the competing mobile MX missile.

Reagan also is likely to propose money-saving items Congress has rejected in the past, including the sale of the northeastern corridor of Amtrak's passenger rail service. Amtrak's supporters in Congress successfully obliterated the sale suggestion from past budgets.

Other proposals likely to be revived in the February budget message to Congress also involve attempts to sell federal programs, including the Naval Petroleum Reserves and the Alaska Power Marketing Authority — one of five government-run power authorities.

Behavior And AIDS

When the subject of AIDS came up during the presidential debate on TV, it is remarkable that not one of the 12 candidates dared to stand on his hind legs and say that the kinds of behavior that transmit the disease are just not a good idea. They gabbed about increased funding, and so forth, and talked about "crisis" and about "compassion," but not a single person among those asking to lead us dared to say that male anal intercourse and needle sharing should cease. They would not have hesitated to come out against drunken driving, but they would not breathe a word against homosexual anal sex, let alone such bizarre practices as "fisting."

In this connection, you should be alert to a term that has crept into the vocabulary: "sexual orientation." This term sounds neutral, but it is propagandistic.

It means to say that one "sexual orientation" is like another, just a matter of personal preference, like a preference for tennis or golf. Senator Paul Simon, who is running for president, has introduced legislation forbidding discrimination on the basis of "sexual orientation," i.e., homosexuality, the intention being to equate such discrimination with racial discrimination, and, not incidentally, appeal to a strong Democratic lobby.

But when we speak of "sexual orientation" what we are talking about is behavior, not skin color or gender.

And the behavior connected with the "sexual orientation" is markedly different from both heterosexual and lesbian behavior. And, furthermore, such male homosexual behavior is directly connected with the AIDS plague.

In 1978, the Kinsey Institute published the volume "Homosexualities" based on data collected in 1970. The text of the volume is propagandistically favorable to male homosexuality, and is a product of the "sexual revolution," but pay attention to the statistics. The Kinsey researchers found that almost half of their white male homosexual respondents reported at least 500 different sexual partners, and this at the average age of 37.

That's right. Five hundred different partners. The behavioral pattern among this group involves a great deal of anonymous sex, often several partners a day, pick ups in bars and bath houses and discos.

The behavior pattern among lesbians is strikingly different. The lesbians in the Kinsey study had fewer than 10 sexual partners up to age 37, and, in general, their behavior tended toward monogamy, stable communities, and so forth. Not all "sexual orientations" were created equal.

Now, think of that "five hundred partners" behavior pattern. I dare say that a heterosexual who had five hundred partners might well pick up and transmit some strange disease. He might well find himself in a bottle at the Harvard Medical School.

The "needle" transmission of AIDS is now affecting mostly blacks and hispanics, and here too the term "needle" is a euphemism. It's not the needle. What these people do is pull the blood out of a vein up into the syringe, where it mixes with the heroin or whatever. They then shoot the mixture back into the vein. If the user has AIDS blood, the next user gets AIDS. Beautiful.

No Matter How You Slice It

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Question: What do an advertising art director, an overnight mail carrier, a college student, a "creative consultant," a comic and a job-hunter have in common?

Answer: They all know how to sell 83 percent fat-free salami!

I personally would feel better if they could guarantee the salami was free of salmonella, as well as fat.

Granted, the company some of whose salami was suspect had nothing to do with a nationwide contest sponsored by the Hebrew National people. Nevertheless, as an avid cold-cuts activist might say, it depends on how you slice it.

Slice the salmonella, that is, not the salami.

Given the hyphenated dietary habits of contemporary Americans, salmonella that is 83 percent salt-free, as well as low-fat, might be a best-seller.

I prefer salmonella sliced thin and served on salami that is free of fat. That, however, is a personal choice, to which you may not subscribe. Go ahead and subscribe to proscuitto ham if you like.

That may be recalled, too.

A spokesman for the Agriculture Department's Food Safety and Inspection Service said that "we found salmonella bacteria" in samples of boneless proscuitto submitted by Citterio-U.S.A. So that firm, which previously had recalled a batch of its Sopressata Campagna salami, recalled about 30,000 pounds of ham in 23 states.

The latter recall included 10-pound hams marketed as Citterio's Boneless Proscuitto. Ten pounds is a bit thicker than I like cold cuts sliced.

A Hebrew National executive said all six finalists in the contest it sponsored demonstrated "keen insight" into the problem. I assume the spokesman was talking about selling fat-free salami rather than salmonella.

The winner, who received an $83,000 prize last month, submitted slogans and jingles. You, a veteran of televised commercials, may be asking, "What else is there?"

The sponsor's product, incidentally, has been on the market 83 years. I'm sure, however, that fact had nothing to do with the size of the prize or the fact that it is advertised as being 83 percent fat-free.

Still, it may be a pity that all the company didn't start making salami 85 years ago.

Soviets' Murder Of A U.S. Soldier

By Jack Anderson
And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — Major Arthur D. Nicholson has been dead for three years. For three years his family and friends have waited for an apology from the Soviet Union, waited for sanctions against the trigger-happy Soviet sentry who gunned him down, waited for a sheepish confession that the shooting was a tragic mistake.

They will have to wait a long time. The smiling Mikhail Gorbachev, a product of born-again Soviet marketing skills, has been personally unapologetic about the unprovoked killing of Nicholson in East Germany. Now, we have new evidence that Gorbachev's men were so unfazed by the heinous tragedy that they engaged in bully-boy actions against the United States and Great Britain after the shooting.

Nicholson was part of a 14-member liaison team stationed in East Germany to observe the Soviets. The Soviets have a team in West Germany doing the same thing. The arrangement is sanctioned by a 1947 agreement between the United States and the Soviet Union. Both sides are supposed to stay out of restricted areas.

The Soviets claim Nicholson and his driver, Sgt. Jessie Schatz, were in a restricted area on March 24, 1985, when the Soviet sentry fired a warning shot and then gunned down Nicholson. Schatz said there was no warning, and the United States claims that the area was not restricted.

Here are some of the untold details of that day:

● After Nicholson was shot, at 3:45 p.m., Schatz was held by the Soviets in his car until midnight. He was berated by Soviet military officials, who accused him of shooting Nicholson. Two Pentagon sources familiar with the details say that Schatz was physically assaulted by the Soviets.

● Our Pentagon sources say that an American colonel who arrived on the scene within hours of the incident was not allowed to help Nicholson. American officials do not know how long it took Nicholson to die as he lay on the ground with a single gunshot wound in his stomach.

● The Soviets wouldn't hand over Nicholson's body until the following day. U.S. Army intelligence officials believe the Soviets took Nicholson to East Berlin for an examination by doctors. It was not until 5:30 p.m. on March 25, more than 24 hours after the shooting, that an American doctor was allowed to examine Nicholson's body. Americans did an autopsy on March 26.

● In a touching move of solidarity, British liaison team members drove to the site of the shooting in Ludwigslust, East Germany, the day after Nicholson was shot and "squatted" in a silent protest. One Pentagon source said the British

"sat there for three days on the spot with the Soviets fuming."

That unpublicized show of support may have put the British team members in mortal danger. Two months later, on June 4, two Soviet trucks in a military convoy rammed a British liaison car carrying three men. The incident was on an East German country road three miles from any restricted area, and the British officers were trying to back their car away from the menacing Soviet trucks. Several Soviet soldiers hurled bricks and shovels at the British, who managed to drive their car on tire rims to the nearest village. The Soviet soldiers tailgated them and then held them at gunpoint for five hours.

It was simple luck that the British weren't killed. A year earlier, a heavy-duty East German army truck rammed a French liaison car, killing one French officer and injuring another. Officers of the three liaison teams call that a thinly disguised homicide.

Jury Selection Expected In Winter Springs Taping Case

Jury selection in the case of a Winter Springs utilities employee charged with illegally taping a conversation with his supervisor and city manager without their permission is expected to start this week.

Howard Browning was charged with intercepting and disclosing oral communication, after he allegedly taped the conversation in Winter Springs City Manager Richard Razansky's office last February. Browning was reportedly called to the meeting to discuss complaints made about his performance as a supervisor in the city's utilities department. Doug Taylor, Browning's department head, was also present at the meeting.

The case was originally to be heard by Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr., but he was transferred to civil cases at the start of the new year, so it was heard instead by Circuit Judge Robert B. McGregor.

Browning's attorney Tom Turner asked McGregor Monday if his being a friend of Razansky's would have any influence on his ability to fairly try the case.

McGregor said he is an acquaintance of Razansky, but said they are not close friends.

McGregor told Browning he certainly had the option of asking for another judge because of his relationship with Razansky. However, Browning decided not to request another judge. "I think I can get a fair shake from him (McGregor)," Browning said.

The situation leading to the interception charges began last year after members of the work crew assigned to Browning had reportedly made complaints to Taylor and Razansky about his job performance.

The state contends that Browning had a tape recorder hidden in his pocket during the meeting and that he later played a recording of the conversation that occurred for at least two people.

Browning, who still works for Winter Springs, pleaded not guilty to the charge. He was released from the Seminole County jail on $1,000 bond after being arrested for the alleged crime last year.

Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr. presided over preliminary hearings in the case, but wouldn't allow it to go to trial until after he ruled on two motions to dismiss the case filed by Turner.

In the motions, Turner contended that because Razansky was a public official the conversation Browning allegedly recorded should have come under the Florida "Sunshine Law," and therefore could have been recorded without permission of the parties involved. The law provides that all meetings and records of public officials in Florida must be open to public access. —Richard Whittaker

Car Collides With Train

Two Sanford men were treated and released at Central Florida Regional Hospital Monday night after the car they were in collided with a train which was crossing McCracken Road.

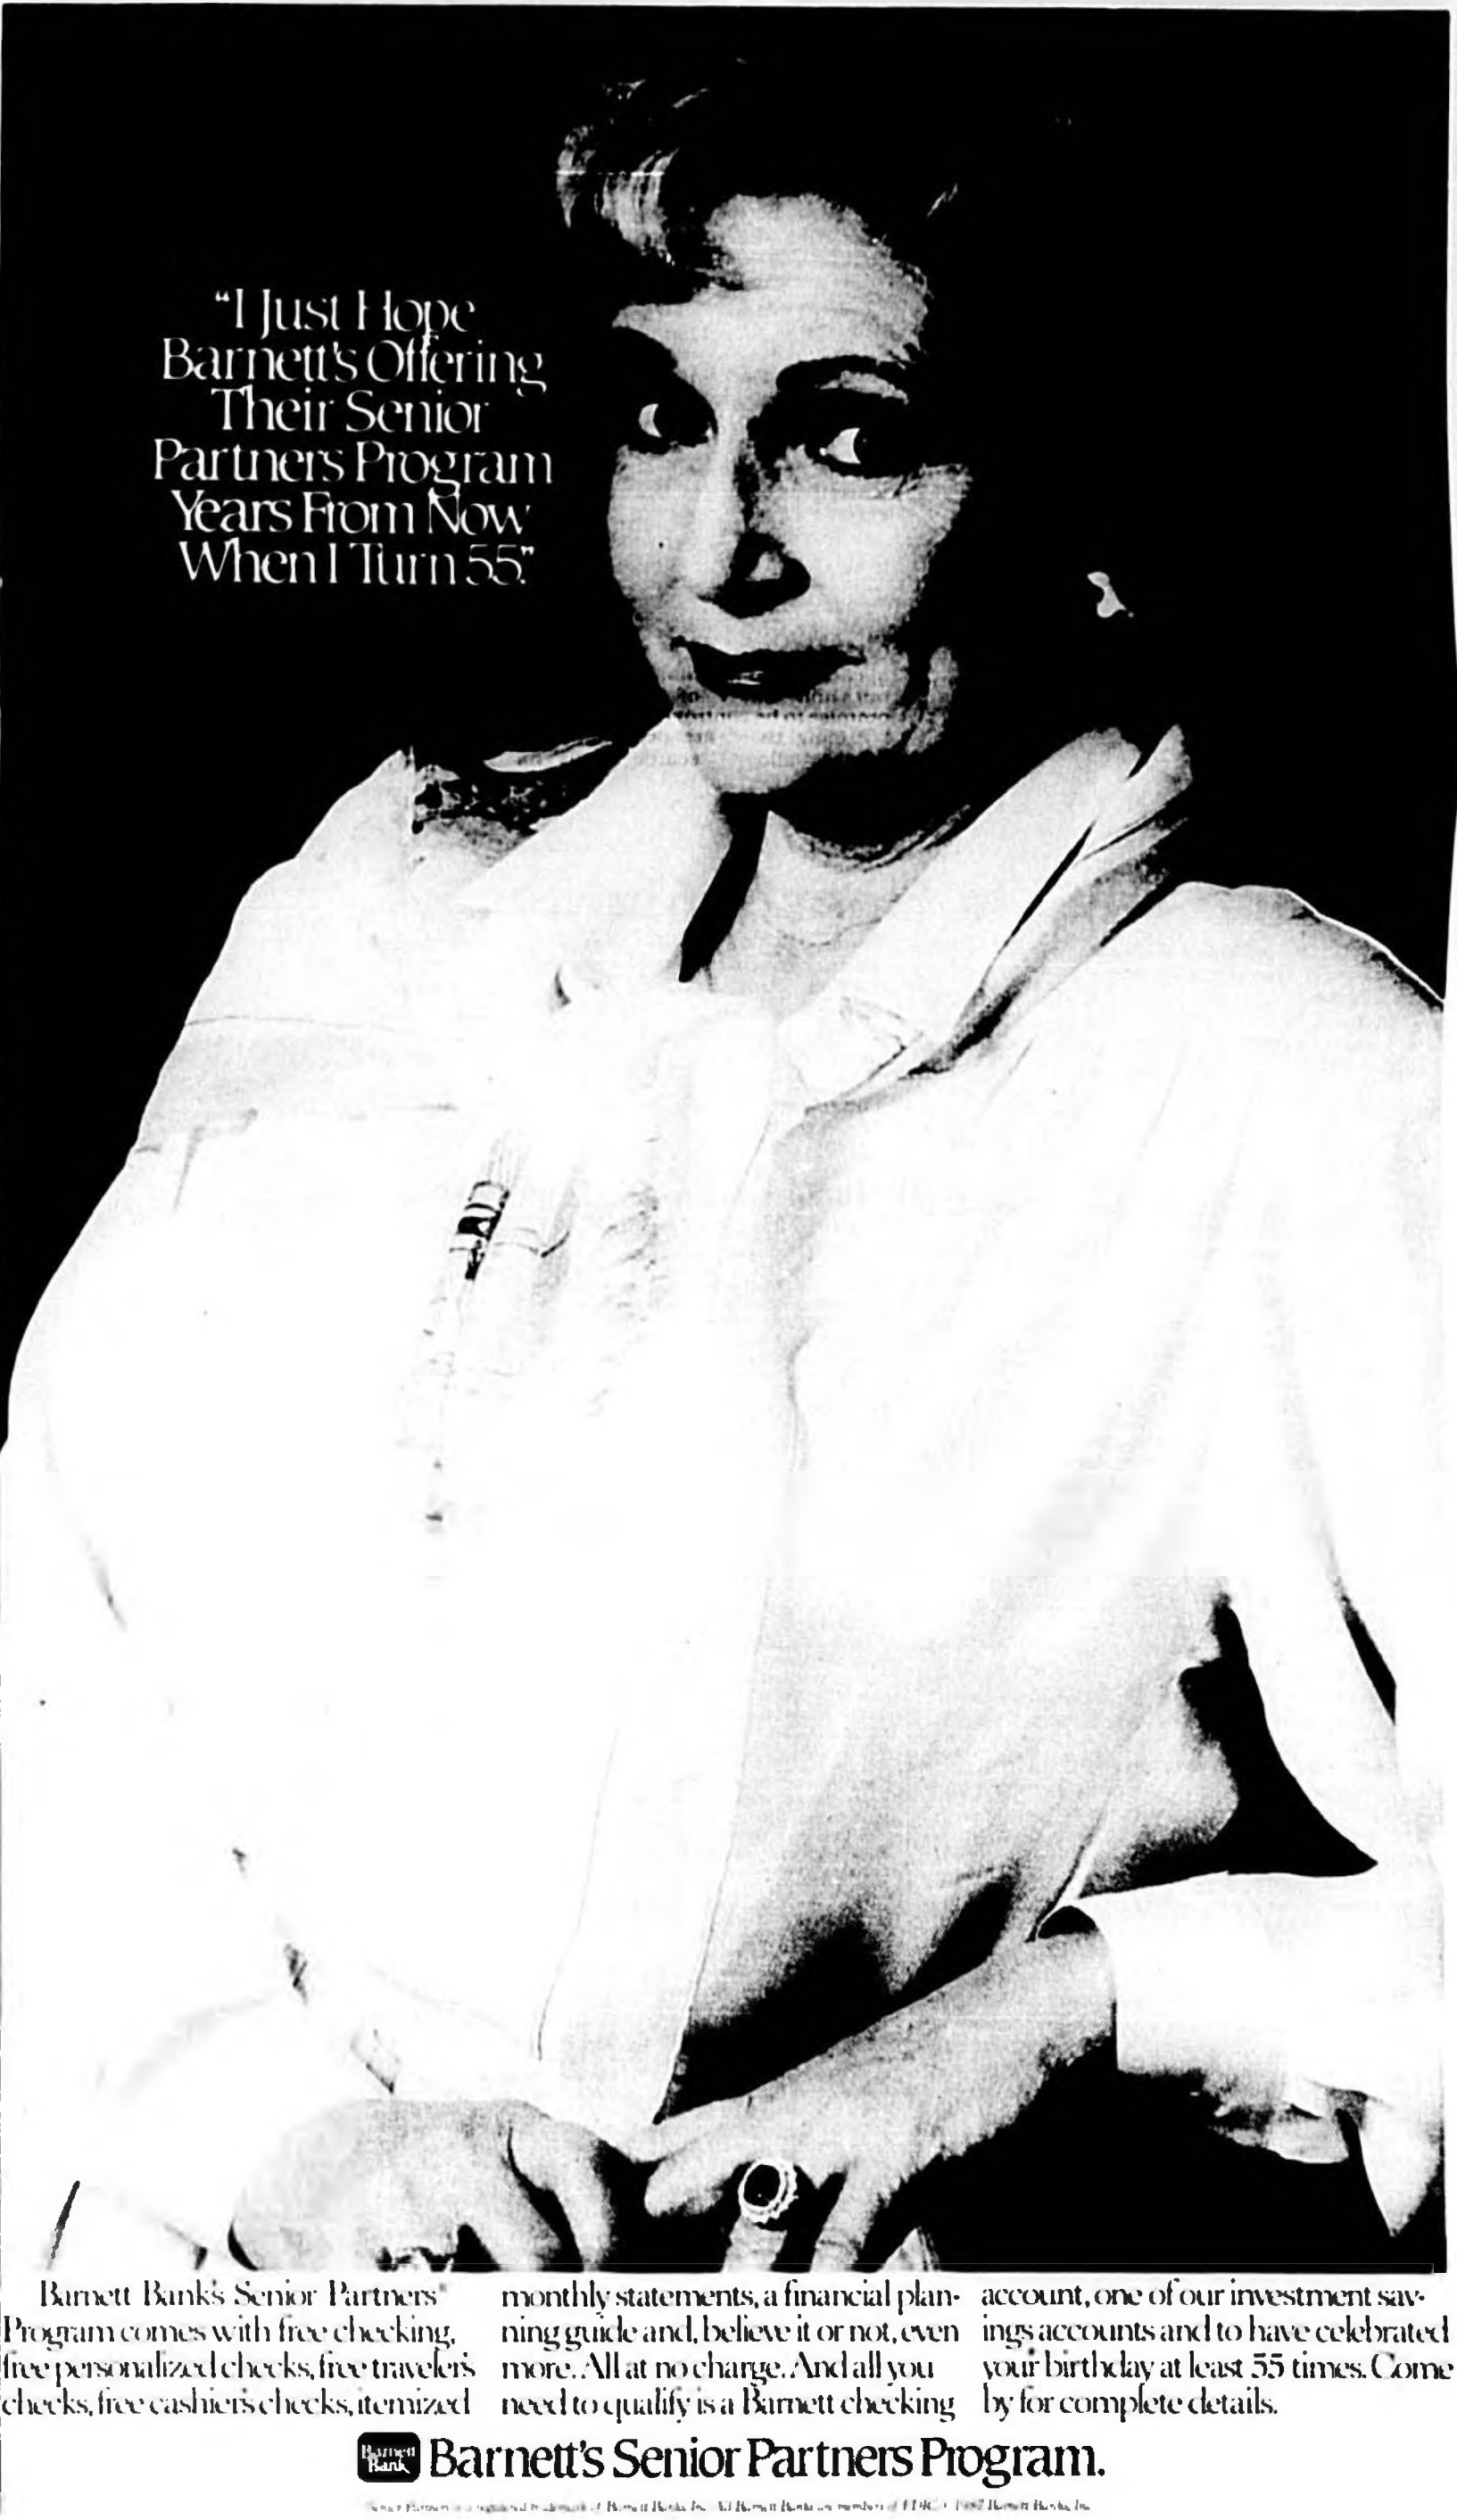

Perry L. Peake, 22, 1603 Oleander Ave., was the driver of a 1981 Datsun. He received multiple lacerations and contusions, according to hospital authorities. Willie Stevens, age unknown, 1212 W. 16th St., was a passenger in the car. Stevens received multiple abrasions.

Both men were taken to the hospital shortly after 8:30 p.m. and were released by 11:30 p.m.

The Peake car had been traveling east on McCracken Road, according to Sanford Police, when it collided with three locomotives which were crossing the road. CSX Railroad Engineer R.D. Fordham told firemen the locomotives had been traveling at only about 20 miles an hour. Fordham and another engineer, D.O. Colvin, were on board the engines. Fordham also explained that the car ran into the third unit of the train.

Charges may be filed against the driver, according to Sanford Police Chief Steven D. Barnett.

IN BRIEF

Sistersville Ready For Oil Slick; Officials Foresee No Problems

SISTERSVILLE, W. Va. (UPI) — The advance wave of an oil slick inched toward Sistersville and officials said an ice jam on the Ohio River that trapped part of the million-gallon mess north of Wheeling should not affect the city's drinking water.

Sistersville has been preparing for the oil slick for a week — already too long for some of the town's residents — and Mayor Lester Leach said, "We don't foresee any problem at all."

Ray Germann of the Environmental Protection Agency in Pittsburgh said the leading edge of the foul-smelling slick was 10 miles north of Sistersville Tuesday night "and it should get there sometime tomorrow (Wednesday)."

About 1 million gallons of diesel fuel spilled into the Monongahela River near Jefferson, Pa., when an Ashland Oil Co. tank ruptured Jan. 2. The slick traveled downstream to the Ohio, contaminating water supplies in towns feeding from the river.

Mecham 'At It Again'

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Embattled Gov. Evan Mecham, whose allegedly insensitive remarks about Jews, blacks, women and homosexuals have spurred on a recall petition drive, is at it again.

Less than 24 hours after indicating he would soften his often abrasive style, Mecham told a Kiwanis Club luncheon Tuesday that Japanese businessmen "suddenly ... get round eyes" when they learn Arizona has more than 200 golf courses.

The Republican governor responded to the nervous laughter that greeted the remark by saying, "I hope that wasn't anything out of line."

Mecham's repeated racial gaffes have fueled a petition drive that is almost certain to result in a recall election. He also is under indictment on felony fraud and perjury charges and faces possible impeachment in a Legislature controlled by his own party.

'Test-Tube' Quints Doing Well

ROYAL OAK, Mich. (UPI) — The nation's first "test-tube" quintuplets are "real fighters" and doctors say they should be ready to leave the hospital in mid-March for the new four-bedroom house their estate parents are building.

"I'm excited, I'm sore, I'm everything right now," said Michele L'Esperance, 34, mother of the four girls and a boy delivered by Caesarian section Monday night. "They're all beautiful. I want to hold them. They're so beautiful."

Her husband, Raymond L'Esperance, of Clarkston, Mich., dropped by to see his wife at Beaumont Hospital when "the doctors said they couldn't delay the delivery any longer."

The quintuplets, ranging in weight from 1 pound, 14 1/2 ounces, to 3 pounds, 2 1/2 ounces, are in the neonatal intensive care unit and all are breathing on their own, hospital spokeswoman Valerie Mahaczek said.

Poor Want Jobs, Training

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When the poor are asked how they would solve the problem of poverty, the keys most often cited are decent jobs, effective training and education, a study said today.

The Ford Foundation-funded report, compiled during the last 18 months by the Coalition on Human Needs, is one of the first efforts to systematically seek the point of view of the poor on how poverty should be eliminated.

Lottery Cry: 'I've Got $2'

MIAMI (UPI) — Frenzied betting swept Florida on the first day of lottery ticket sales as gamblers hoping for a shot at a fortune scratched and rubbed Kelly green latex off more than 7 million cards.

"There have been no problems today," Lottery Secretary Rebecca Paul said late Tuesday at a celebration in Miami's Orange Bowl featuring the Beach Boys. "Retailers have been selling tickets like crazy."

Preliminary figures exceeded all expectations. Paul had predicted that over 1 million tickets would be sold on the first day of the lottery she hopes to make the largest in the country. By 7 p.m., she said, 7 million shiny magenta and green cards had been sold, and some retailers had run out.

The odds did not favor Esperanza Martinez, 61, of Hialeah, who said she spent $20 with no success. Martinez, whose first try "means hope" in Spanish, was still trying in a dingy hallway at the Orange Bowl where 7-Eleven had set up concession tables to sell tickets.

"I got $2!" she screamed suddenly, and asked for two more tickets. "I'm happy."

Court: Prep Newspaper Rights Limited

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled today that high school students do not enjoy the same First Amendment protections as adults in a decision restricting the rights of high school journalists.

The court's 5-3 decision by Justice Byron White overturns a ruling by the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals that held in favor of a group of students from the Hazelwood School District, St. Louis County, Mo., who had sought to print articles in their high school newspaper about pregnancy and divorce.

While noting that "students in the public schools do not shed their constitutional rights to freedom of speech or expression at the schoolhouse gate," the court said it has "nonetheless recognized that the First Amendment rights of students in the public schools are not automatically coextensive with the rights of adults in other settings."

"A school need not tolerate student speech that is inconsistent with its 'basic educational mission' ... even though the government could not censor similar speech outside the school," White said for the majority.

White was joined in his ruling by Chief Justice William Rehnquist and Justices John Paul Stevens, Sandra Day O'Connor and Antonin Scalia.

In dissent, Justice William Brennan, joined by Justices Thurgood Marshall and Harry Blackmun, said the message the court sends to high school students is a wrong one.

"The court today teaches youth to discount important principles of our government as mere platitudes. ... The young men and women at Hazelwood East expected a civics lesson, but not the one the court teaches them today."

Today's decision continues a trend that gives high school students lesser constitutional rights than adults. The Supreme Court, in 1969, first recognized high school students have First Amendment rights, reasoning that the students do not "shed their constitutional rights to freedom of speech or expression at the schoolhouse gate."

However, the court has also recognized the special circumstances of a high school and has set limits on those rights when exercise of the rights would disrupt classwork, create disorder or invade the rights of others.

The Supreme Court in recent years has also placed limits on other rights guaranteed in the Constitution such as the Fourth Amendment right to be free from warrantless searches.

Seeking high court review, the school district maintained the student newspaper was a part of the classroom and school authorities had a right to censor it.

...Hospital

a neurosurgeon," Newman said. "We knew that South Seminole didn't. But he was dying. A hospital was 100 yards away. You stabilize the patient first. We felt it was the best thing to do."

Newman said he has just discovered state regulations concerning emergency patients. If someone is shot in the street, the first hospital he is transported to must accept him regardless of patient care ability, he said. "The rules change when the patient is in a hospital and we want to transport him to another hospital." He said the second hospital then has refusal rights.

Newman said that when the shooting occurred he suggested to ORMC that they have their Air Care One helicopter transport Gay to their hospital. That was the first delay. The helicopter was committed on another emergency call.

"Even if they weren't on another call, ORMC would have some delay in accepting the patient," Newman said. He said that seeing there was a procedural delay in accepting Gay, he took it upon himself to expedite things and made no attempt to have him admitted to ORMC.

Newman's next call was to the Orange County Sheriff's Department to see if its helicopter, Chase One, could transport Gay. He was told that Chase One, used for police and EMS calls, was not licensed for interhospital transfers, but only for transporting patients to the first hospital.

Finally, Newman said he elected to put Gay in an ambulance bound toward Florida Hospital—Orlando. He said ORMC has a round-the-clock neurosurgeon, while Florida Hospital's neurosurgeon is on call. The trip by ambulance lasted about 15 minutes whereas helicopter transport would have taken 5 minutes, Newman said.

In August of 1987, a 17-year-old was shot in the head in Midway, near Sanford, and was transported to Central Florida Regional Hospital, which had no neurosurgeon to treat the boy. He died the next day, after he had spent his first critical hour after the shooting getting no real treatment for his wound.

"That case is similar to this one only in the sense that we were hospital shopping," Newman said. "It wasn't as bad, because in this case we were able to transport the patient to a local facility." The boy, Luray Demair Aikens, died shortly following his arrival at University Hospital in Jacksonville, after a shuffle over which hospital would and could accept him.

Civil Suit Filed In Florist's Murder

By Richard Whittaker
Herald Staff Writer

The teenage girl now serving nine years in prison for her part in the robbery and execution style murder of a Forest City florist clerk last June is being sued for wrongful death, along with her parents and the owners of the shopping mall where the crime took place.

Suzanne Marie Phillips, 15, pleaded guilty to manslaughter in connection to the June 23 murder of Diane McGinnis, 39, who was employed as a clerk at Floral Creations, a business located in Forest City.

McGinnis's husband, Donald, initiated the suit on behalf of himself and their two children, Donald Jr., 21, and Lee, 18.

Phillips, along with her boyfriend, Edwin Paul Bateman, robbed the business of less than $100 and then took McGinnis out into a nearby field where he tried to get Phillips to shoot the clerk.

Phillips later said that after she refused to pull the trigger, Bateman took the stolen revolver she originally gave him and shot McGinnis in the head as she rested on her knees with her hands tied behind her back. She died as a result to the gunshot wound to the base of her skull, according to medical reports.

Phillips said she participated in the crime to prove her love for Bateman, but couldn't bring herself to actually pull the trigger.

Bateman and Phillips were arrested on June 26, after being identified by composite drawings from witnesses, who saw the two teens in the area, descriptions. Both were charged with first degree murder.

On Aug. 27, Bateman was found dead in his cell at the Seminole County jail, after he hanged himself with a sheet from a metal shelf.

Bateman apparently killed himself because he was afraid of being raped in prison.

Just prior to the discovery of Bateman's body, Phillips accepted a plea with the state to have her charge downgraded to manslaughter in exchange for testifying against her boyfriend.

Phillips was sentenced to nine years in prison and six years on probation by Circuit Judge O.H. Eaton on Nov. 2. She's serving her sentence at the Lowell Prison Facility in Ocala, where she's in a drug and alcohol treatment program. The suit filed at the Seminole County courthouse claims Phillips was negligent in the crime by giving Bateman the .38 caliber Smith & Wesson revolver, which she allegedly knew he would use to hurt someone. It also claims Phillips didn't inform her parents Thomas and Joanne Phillips, of Bateman's criminal past when they allowed him to live at their home in Forest City.

The suit also hold Phillips' parents partly responsible for the death of McGinnis because they didn't supervise their daughter well enough.

Hunt Club Partners, owners of Shoppes on the Hunt Club, located on Hunt Club Boulevard, near State road 436, where the flower shop was located are also being named as defendants in the suit.

The McGinnis claim Hunt Club Partners failed to provide adequate security for the shops in the center, even though they were aware of frequent criminal activity in the area of the florist shop. The suit also claims the business group should have organized a neighborhood watch program for the merchants in the shopping center, who weren't trained to detect criminal activity.

None of the defendants named in the suit, or their attorney's would make any comment concerning the legal action taken by the McGinnis family.

IN BRIEF

Environmentalists Recant Criticism Of Martinez

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Environmentalists and Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter say the Save Our Everglades program is moving again and they are recanting their criticism of Gov. Bob Martinez.

Martinez and the Cabinet received Tuesday the first in what is to become a regular series of quarterly reports on an ambitious state-local government effort to restore the Everglades and the Lake Okechobee, Kissimmee River and Big Cypress Swamp systems that feed into it.

The report outlines plans for continued acquisition of wetlands and other property, including efforts in conjunction with the federal government to expand the Big Cypress National Preserve and state purchase of 700 acres along Alligator Alley.

It addresses other Everglades restoration issues, including the need for a comprehensive policy on the use of state land in the Everglades Agricultural Area.

Cabinet OKs New Regents

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Cabinet has approved Gov. Bob Martinez' appointment of two longtime political supporters to the Board of Regents.

Without comment, Cabinet members Tuesday accepted the selections of J. Clint Brown and Alec Courtelis.

Brown, a lawyer from Tampa, and Courtelis, a Miami realtor and prominent political fundraiser, are Republicans with long, close ties to GOP Gov. Martinez. They replace Democrats on the BOR, Terrell Sessums of Tampa and Frank Scruggs of Miami.

The appointments go to the Florida Senate this spring for final approval.

Martinez has now made seven appointments on the 13-member board that runs the university system. Robin Gibson, a Democrat dumped by the governor in September, has warned a largely inexperienced BOR may run into problems later.

Jackson Speaks At Black College

MIAMI (UPI) — Economic rights should be the next priority in the struggle for civil rights by minorities and the poor, says Democratic presidential hopeful Rev. Jesse Jackson.

Jackson, in a very 55-minute speech Tuesday before about 1,000 students and supporters at the predominantly black Florida Memorial College, said the long-range importance of a presidential win by him transcends immediate benefits because it would signal a new era in American politics.

Jackson was at the college for an observance of slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr.'s 59th birthday, as part of a campaign swing through Florida about four weeks before the critical Iowa Caucus and two months before the decisive March 8 Super Tuesday battle that could involve about 20 states.

IN BRIEF

Police Detain Passengers, Crew After Mid-Flight Bomb Threat

EDMONTON, Alberta (UPI) — Police scoured a Canadian Airlines International DC-10 and questioned 255 passengers and 13 crew members about a written bomb threat discovered in flight, but found no explosives or suspects.

Airline spokesman Peter Lema said Edmonton International Airport was on "full alert" Tuesday and emergency procedures were taken for the scheduled landing of Flight 43 from Amsterdam.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police detained passengers and crew for up to seven hours after the flight landed safely at about 2:30 p.m. Authorities kept passengers and crew on the plane for more than an hour after it landed, escorted to the airport by another plane and a helicopter.

Police sources indicated the note was found in a washroom.

No explosives were found in two searches — one employed dogs and the second involved police bomb experts — and authorities began releasing passengers five hours after the flight landed.

Crewmen 'Never Had Chance'

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — Some of the seamen "never had a chance" when an Iraqi Exocet missile slammed into a Cypriot tanker fully laden with Iranian gasoline, killing two crewmen and leaving six missing, shipping sources said.

An Iraqi jet fighter fired the French-made Exocet into the crew's quarters of the United Venture Monday night as the tanker steamed down the Iranian coastline under cover of darkness, officials said Tuesday.

At least two Filipinos were killed and six Greek and Filipino crewmen are missing and feared dead in the attack, the third by Iraq this week. One crewman was wounded.

If the eight crewman are confirmed dead, the Iraqi attack would be among the worst carried out by either Iran or Iraq since the two nations began striking merchant shipping in the Persian Gulf in March 1984.

Israeli's Foil U.N. Envoy Visits

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Israeli soldiers and continuing Arab unrest foiled U.N. Undersecretary-General Marrack Goulding's bid to get an insider's look at the turmoil in Gaza refugee camps.

Troops prevented Goulding from visiting two refugee camps in the Gaza Strip Tuesday morning because both were under military curfews to calm violent unrest inside.

Later in the day, after meeting with Arab leaders and U.N. relief workers, he went to visit Mughazi, the only one of the eight camps in the 25-mile-long strip left open by the military.

At the gate he found a row of burning barrels and hundreds of refugees "in a very excited state" and decided against venturing inside the U.N.-administered camp where 10,000 of Gaza's 600,000 refugees live.

U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar sent Goulding to Israel last week to gather facts for the Security Council, which "strongly deplored" Israel's handling of unrest in the occupied territories.

Soviet Reform Opposition Noted

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev has acknowledged his economic restructuring program is meeting opposition but declared there can be no turning back on the road to reform because "we have nowhere to retreat."

"We will not surrender to panic, we will not become nervous," Gorbachev vowed in a speech delivered Friday and released Tuesday.

Survey Cites Historic Designation Study

Copies of "A Sanford Historic Survey" recently completed by Florida Preservation Services, which identifies one historic district in the city and names two areas of the city as needing greater study to determine their historic significance, has been made available to the Sanford City Commission.

According to the study two French Avenue structures could be eligible for listing on the National Register of Historic Places.

When the city received the results of the survey this week, City Manager Frank Faison distributed the copies, but suggested the document be dealt with in a later work session, rather than at the regular City Commission meeting Monday night.

The survey will also be a topic of discussion at the Historic Preservation board meeting, Thursday, 4:30 p.m., in the City Manager's conference room.

The survey identifies the historic district as a 70 block area, bounded on the west by S. Laurel Avenue, on the east by 13th Street, on the east by S. Sanford Avenue, and on the north by Second and Third streets. Included in that area are about 469 buildings, 75 of which may not be of historic significance. However, four churches, four schools, four parks, and the old library are in that area.

Several old houses are also in the area deemed historic, according to Florida Preservation Services. The houses are located primarily along Park and Mellenville Ave., south of the railroad tracks, are associated with large celery and citrus farms, and were owned by leading businessmen through the years, the study says.

Some of those homes are: The Alex Vaughn house at 2000 S. Park Ave.

- The J. Dodd house at 2318 S. Mellenville Road.
- The M.J. Doyle house at 2317 S. Mellenville Road.
- The George Fernald house at 701 W. Third St.

The study specifically notes that the Fernald house, an elaborate Italianate home, is one of the most important individual homes. Fernald was a major hardware wholesaler and businessman in Sanford, and his house is considered one of the best of its types in the state.

The old Sanford High School and the Sanford Water Works, both on French Avenue, are two of several buildings identified as historically significant. The study says that both buildings would possibly be eligible for listing on the National Register of Historic Places. The high school is termed an "outstanding example of the Mediterranean Revival style."

The two areas recommended for further study are the Orange Heights area, south of the railroad tracks and west of S. Park Ave., and the east side of Sanford, a historic black community. The study states that several individually important churches and houses are found in the area. It also names the old Sanford Colored High School as an excellent example of wood frame school construction in Florida. The school "should be considered of major social importance to the community," the study says.

Also, Florida Preservation Services recommends that "a survey should be conducted to date and research in detail the homes of blacks in the area, particularly along Cypress and Pine streets, where the main concentration of historic housing is located."

The study also recommends amending the current local historic preservation ordinance to provide for an additional zoning classification called a historic and conservation zone, for marginal residential areas which contain mixed uses, and which will not be developed into single family residential areas. It also recommends the ordinance be amended to designate a Sanford Residential Historic district, "to provide protection from insensitive rehabilitation."

Florida Preservation Services recommends that the Sanford Residential Historic district be nominated to the Nation Register of Historic places, that local designation be pursued for the district, that markers and street signs be put up to designate the edges of the district, and that a written brochure or walking tour be created, which explains the various buildings in the district.

City Commissioner John Y. Mercer also stated at the Monday city commission meeting that he thinks plaques should be installed at the various historic homes and buildings.

Santa Fe Continues Lady Raiders' Frustration

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Editor

Seminole Community College's Lady Raiders already have a hustling team and in a week or two they will have a healthy team. Now what coach Ileana Gallagher wants more than anything else is a confident team.

Tuesday night's Mid-Florida Conference game with Santa Fe at the SCC Health Center was the same old story for the Lady Raiders. SCC fell behind early, got frustrated and could not come back in an 84-68 loss to the Lady Saints.

"I'm really having trouble building confidence but we will have it by the conference tournament," Gallagher said. "The girls just have to believe in themselves and not get frustrated when they get behind."

SCC dropped to 1-13 overall and 0-2 in the conference. The Lady Raiders return to conference action Thursday night at home against Central Florida.

"We need to be mentally ready for our next few games because we still have a chance to make something of the season," Gallagher said. "We're just as talented as the other teams in the conference, we just need some confidence."

Santa Fe, behind the shooting and ballhandling of Winter Park graduate Astrid Soulette and the inside play of Sandra Gilley, built an early 30-12 lead. Tammy Johnson later scored four points in a row to pull SCC within 13 points but Soulette hit a pair of three point shots in the late going of the half and Santa Fe went on to take a 49-27 halftime lead.

"We had 13 turnovers in the first half and six of those resulted in layups for Santa Fe," Gallagher said. "We also got beat on the boards and we weren't hitting the shots in the paint that you expect to hit."

Santa Fe dominated the early part of the second half and took a 56-29 lead when SCC finally got on track and put together a nine-point run to cut the lead under 20 points, 56-38.

The Lady Raiders could not keep the momentum, though, as Santa Fe came back with 11 points in a row to pull away. SCC which outscored Santa Fe, 41-34, in the second half, put on another run in the last five minutes but it was too little, too late.

"I was proud of the way the girls played in the second half, especially the last 10 minutes," Gallagher said. "That looked like the real us. We have to be able to play like that for an entire game, though."

Johnson led the Lady Raiders with a game-high 30 points while Kathy Cleveland and Bridget Thomas tossed in 13 each. Tawana Appling's 21 points were high for Santa Fe while Gilley tossed in 20 and Soulette hit 16.

SCC was without point guard Shelia Higgins and forward Pam Chatman but Gallagher expects to have both back within the next two weeks.

"We're having a conference tournament (winner goes to state) this year and that's what we're shooting for," Gallagher said. "I'm certainly not giving up on this season. We will have our confidence back and be on top of our game by then."

Hot Rivalry Raiders Hope To Have Blast At Daytona Beach

By Mark Blythe
Herald Sports Writer

Seminole Community College will hope its inside game can get rolling to offset the Daytona Beach Community College run and gun attack tonight at Daytona Beach Community College at 7:30.

Seminole is now 12-5 overall and coach Bill Payne just wants to stay close in the Raiders first Mid-Florida Conference road game. Seminole is 0-1 in conference action with a loss to Valencia early in the season.

"I hope they (DBCC) don't beat us by 30 points," Payne said. "I don't know much about them, but I do know they have a lot of talent."

The Scots (13-6) are ranked as the states eighth best squad but have had a rash of injuries they are just know getting over.

"I knew injuries were hurting them a few weeks back but I'm pretty sure he has all his players back," Payne said. "I also know they have been scouting us the past few games."

Seminole's shooting guard Malcolm Houston, the Raiders leading scorer, will be looked to lead the Raiders in a different fashion than scoring. Payne expects Daytona will have a special defense to prevent Houston from getting into a rhythm.

"They'll definitely stop him (Houston) from getting off," Payne said. "If we want to win our inside game will have to come up with a great game."

Houston has had a history of playing well against Daytona and DBCC coach Ray Ridenour hopes to stop that tonight. Houston scored his career-high (41 points) against the Scots last season.

"They'll play a zone and overplay wherever he is," Payne said. "He's really only had one great game against Daytona in the three times

we've played them."

Payne is hoping his guards can control the tempo as they have in their last two outings to slow the game down. Four different guards have seen a lot of playing time for the Raiders in the last two games and each has done their share while on the floor.

Houston has been a key to the Raiders in the past two games without putting points on the board. Houston's defense has become much stronger and he has not been forcing the shot and feeding the ball inside.

"He didn't need to score in the past two games," Payne said. "He's played two great games without scoring anywhere near his average."

Holly Keller, the Raider point guard, has also been a vital factor to their attack this season. Keller, a 6-4 sophomore, has also been playing the off guard when Houston is out of the game and filled the slot well.

"Holly (Keller) is really playing out of position at point guard," Payne said. "It's easier for him to play the off guard."

When Keller is at the off guard Lyman graduate Robert Thomas is filling in running the Seminole offense. Thomas has adjusted well and looks to be the Raiders future point guard.

"Robert is really fitting in well," Payne said. "He does a real good job breaking the press and getting the ball to the necessary people."

Freshman Ralph Fabian has also aided the Raiders ball control and filled in nicely. Fabian has come off the bench and given Payne strong play and giving the starting guards rest.

SCC's Rod Williams splits a pair of UCF Junior Varsity defenders for two points.

"Our guards have been playing very good basketball," Payne said. "They have done just about everything we've asked for them."

The inside game is where Payne believes the game will be won. Seminole has a strong interior but may be without top threat Barry Dunning who is out with an elbow injury.

"He (Dunning) has a cast on his arm right now and will find out today whether he can play or not," Payne said. "We're going to need a good game out of everyone in the middle though." Center Rob Williams, a 6-7 sophomore, will be looked upon to take the leadership role and hit the boards for the Raiders. Vince Emerson and Terrell Barnes will also be counted on for their play in the paint.

"Every game is decided in the paint," Payne said. "Look at any team in college of professional basketball that is winning, they all have good players down low."

Barnes has led the Raiders since the break playing the small forward. Barnes has also become a force on the boards to aid in the Raiders.

"Terrell (Barnes) has a very quick first step and likes to go to the basket," Payne said. "He's not very tall but has very long arms and it is hard to block his shot."

Emerson filled in for Dunning in the Raiders last outing against Palm Beach and came up with 17 points and eight rebounds. Emerson will need another game like that tonight against the Scots for SCC to control the middle.

Stargell Joins Elite

NEW YORK (UPI) — Willie Stargell, who anchored the powerhouse Pittsburgh teams of the 1970s on the field and in the clubhouse, has joined the Hall of Fame in his first year of eligibility.

The slugging outfielder-first baseman was elected to the shrine in Cooperstown, N.Y., in voting announced Tuesday night by the Baseball Writers Association of America. He is scheduled to be inducted July 31.

"To be in the same room as Babe, Hank, Ernie, what a feeling, what an honor," Stargell said from Atlanta. "All that hard work and sacrifice, I never thought it would feel like this. I never thought I would have a day like this. I'm overwhelmed."

Stargell, the 17th player to be elected in his first year on the ballot, hit 475 homers in his 20-year career, tying him with Stan Musial for 16th on the all-time list. He had a lifetime batting average of .281, with 475 homers and 1,540 RBI, and played on two World Series winners.

Known as "Pops" to his teammates, the left-handed power hitter enjoyed his finest season in 1979. As the inspirational leader of the "Famalee," he earned co-Most Valuable Player honors that year and was named MVP of the NL Championship Series and World Series.

Stargell was a leader off the field as well. Teammates often went to him with their personal problems, seeking Stargell's guidance.

"During the last decade, the Pirates will be remembered as one of the most competitive and successful teams in all of baseball but, perhaps more significantly, they also will be remembered as the Stargell Pirates for he truly has been leader on and off the field," said Dan Galbreath, former owner of the Pirates.

Stargell was the only player named on the required 75 percent of the 427 ballots cast, receiving 352 votes (82.3 percent), 31 more than necessary.

Pitcher Jim Bunning, who posted a 224-184 record and 3.27 ERA in 17 seasons, missed making the Hall by four votes after finishing 21 shy a year ago.

None of the other 42 candidates received more than 50 percent of the votes cast. Nine signed ballots were returned with no vote, the largest number of abstentions in the history of the balloting.

Following Stargell and Bunning in the voting were Tony Oliva (202 votes), Orlando Cepeda (199), Roger Maris (184), Harvey Kuenn (168), Bill Mazeroski (143), Luis Tiant (132), Maury Wills (127) and Ken Boyer and Mickey Lolich (109 each).

Stargell became the 12th Pirate to be elected to the Hall of Fame but the first since Ralph Kiner in 1975.

Consistency was Stargell's trademark. He hit 20 or more homers in a season 13 consecutive seasons (1964-76) and drove in 70 or more runs in 11 of those years. Only three times during that span did his batting average fall below .270.

Stargell, now a coach with the Atlanta Braves, serves on the National Advisory Council on Sickle Cell Anemia, a position appointed by the President. In that role, he supervises groups that are involved in raising funds for research on the disease.

Air Ball

Lyman's Karen Mott prepares to boot the ball out of the air while Lake Brantley's Jennifer McMaster turns the other way in case Mott's kick heads for the wrong spot (like her face). Lake Brantley defeated Lyman, 2-0, earlier in the season and the rematch between the Seminole County rivals will take place Thursday night at Lyman High School. Lake Brantley goes in with a 14-0-1 record and ranked No. 1 in the state while Lyman is 7-7 for the season and unranked. Brantley is 7-0 in the Seminole Athletic Conference while Lyman is 5-3.

Rollins Excited About '88 Tars Look To Contend For NCAA Division II Title

It will only be a short time now until the college tennis season begins. Usually during the last week or so in January, teams in the warm weather states such as Florida, start playing a few matches against in-state opponents. As warmer weather approaches and spring breaks take place, teams from all over the U.S. will start their annual treks to Florida to play what for many will be their first matches of the year.

One of the traditional stops for many of these teams is Rollins College in Winter Park. Actually during the last week in February and all of March, you can see some outstanding collegiate teams on the Rollins courts. It's free and it's fun and it's a tennis happening.

Most of the time the upcoming matches are advertised but you can find out when the matches are scheduled if you call the Rollins College courts and just ask whoever answers what time the match starts and who they play.

I got excited about it myself. One thing I have found out about Norm in the many years that I have known him, is this. If he has a bad team, he will tell you. If they are average, then that's what he says and if they are good, he says they are good. No sandbagging, no hedging, no pulled punches. I like that a lot. I had to deal with too many coaches that would never give the straight scoop on their team. They would moan and groan about how bad they were and then turn up with a great team.

Anyway, Coach Copeland says that this year's Rollins team is very, very, good and that's enough to excite most any avid college tennis fan, anywhere.

This is Norm's 33rd season as Men's Tennis Coach at Rollins.

He is certainly the Dean of NCAA Division II Coaches and ranks with the top two or three of all college coaches in the nation in terms of years of service. With about 800 wins under his belt and a winning percentage of about 80%, he has done just about all there is to do in college tennis. Add the fact that Rollins won the Division II National Championship in 1966 and 1972, and has been in the top ten in the nation every year for over 30 years, well, you really have a remarkable success story.

Norm badly states that this year's team is the best he has ever coached. That's really saying something in view of the past record, but a look at his lineup tells us why this is so.

All-American Pat Emmett is back at #1. Emmett is a great player. A bone fide pro prospect. Copeland says that Pat is the best player he has ever coached. Rollins is set at one. Emmett is ranked #1 in the nation in Division II single players. Robert Green is also back from last year's team. Green is currently ranked #9 in the nation. He probably will play #2 singles.

Wilkens Gets 600th Victory

United Press International
Lenny Wilkens, a premier player in the NBA, Tuesday night moved closer to the same reputation as a coach.

Wilkens notched his 600th coaching victory in the Cleveland Cavaliers' 119-111 triumph over the New York Knicks. Wilkens, who played 15 years, is 600-559 in his 15th season as a coach. He was a player-coach for Seattle for three years.

Wilkens is seventh on the all-time coaching list, behind Red Auerbach (938), Jack Ramsay (842), Dick Motta (808), Gene Shue (785), Bill Fitch (734) and Red Holzman (698). John MacLeod, coach of the Dallas Mavericks, has 599 victories.

"I'm happy with this victory, but I'm more excited about this ballclub," said Wilkens, who is second on the all-time assists list with 7,211. "The players are more important. Some day, I'll look back and reflect, but this team is my only concern right now."

Mark Price scored a career-high 29 points to pace the Cleveland. Craig Ehlo added 14 points and Brad Daugherty 11 as Cleveland won its fourth straight home game.

"Mark Price is the guy I want to have the ball in his hand down the stretch," Wilkens said. "If they foul him, he'll hit free throws. If he's open, he'll make the shot."

New York, which has lost four of its last five games, was paced by Gerald Wilkins with 27 points and Patrick Ewing, who scored 12 of his 21 in a fourth-quarter surge.

Cleveland led 65-53 at halftime and 91-77 after three quarters. New York rallied with a 10-2 spurt, and pulled within 107-104 on Wilkins' jumper with 1:47 to play. After Price and Johnny Newman traded 3-point baskets, Cavaliers rookie Chris Dudley tipped in a rebound to make it 112-107 with 37 seconds left. Dudley added 2 free throws with 11 seconds remaining.

"The Cavs were getting second shots, and that just killed us," New York Coach Rick Pitino said. "They're last in the league in rebounds, but they had 23 offensively."

Celtics 104, Bulls 97
At Chicago, Larry Bird scored 16 of his 38 points in the fourth quarter, pacing the Celtics and stopping the Bulls' four-game winning streak. Michael Jordan scored 42 points, including 32 in the second half, for Chicago. Danny Ainge extended to 16 his NBA record for consecutive games with a 3-point basket.

Basketball

Bucks 106, Blazers 103
At Milwaukee, Jack Sikma scored 22 points and Terry Cummings added 17 to help snap Philadelphia's four-game winning streak. Philadelphia's Albert King missed a 3-point attempt at the buzzer. Charles Barkley scored 25 and Cliff Robinson added 22 to lead the 76ers.

Lakers 117, Warriors 113
At Inglewood, Calif., Byron Scott scored a game-high 30 points to help the Lakers to their 15th consecutive victory. The Lakers improved to 26-6, tops in the NBA. The winning streak is the league's longest since Boston won 18 straight during the 1981-82 season. Rod Higgins scored 24 points for the Warriors, who are 0-14 on the road and 5-24 overall.

NANCE, AGUIRE FINED
NEW YORK (UPI) — The NBA has fined Larry Nance of Phoenix $3,000 and Mark Aguirre of Dallas $1,500 for their parts in a fight Jan. 7 during a Mavericks-Suns game. The league announced Tuesday.

Rod Thorn, the NBA's vice president of operations, fined Nance more for initiating the altercation and throwing punches during the game at Phoenix. Aguirre was fined for punching and escalating the fight.

JORDAN LEADS BALLOTING
NEW YORK (UPI) — NBA scoring leader Michael Jordan of Chicago continues to lead all Eastern Conference players in balloting for the starting spots in the All-Star game, the league announced Tuesday.

Jordan, averaging 32.7 points per game, had received 542,728 votes in the latest tally for the Feb. 7 game in Chicago. Isiah Thomas of Detroit was leading Glenn Rivers of Atlanta in the battle for the second starting guard spot. 331,691 to 264,474.

Lenny Wilkens got his 600th coaching victory Tuesday night when the Cleveland Cavaliers topped the New York Knicks. Wilkens currently ranks seventh on the all-time victories list among NBA coaches.

Valvano: Too Much Parity For 'Upsets'

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — If Jim Valvano had his way, the term "upset" would not apply to college basketball.

The North Carolina State coach had watched No. 15 Indiana fall Monday night to Northwestern. On the same evening, third-ranked Oklahoma lost to Louisiana State and Villanova knocked off No. 9 Syracuse. Auburn slipped into Kentucky last week and escaped with a victory over the top-ranked Wildcats.

"It was tremendous," Valvano said of Monday's outcomes. "I was wringing wet by the end of the day. But I'm not so sure a lot of them are upsets."

Valvano, speaking during Tuesday's teleconference among Atlantic Coast Conference coaches, said parity is so much a part of college basketball that there should be a "Top 50 or Top 75 rather than a Top 20."

"Everyone can beat everyone else," he said. "That's the difference between our game and the professional game — that passion and emotion every time out."

Duke Coach Mike Krzyzewski, whose team is ranked sixth in this week's poll, said he hopes the recent spate of upsets is not lost on the media.

"Maybe it will eliminate some of the dumb questions," Krzyzewski said. "I was asked (after the Blue Devils defeated Virginia 77-59 Saturday) why I had said I was afraid we were going to get beat. You can't go into a game that way. Kids know one another these days and there are a lot of great players out there. They're not in awe of the other teams."

"I don't think (Monday's games) are the last upsets you're going to see."

North Carolina Coach Dean Smith is one who knows about upsets. Including this year, Smith's Tar Heels have been ranked No. 1 at some point in seven of the last eight seasons. But they have just one national championship, in 1982, to show for it.

This season, North Carolina was No. 1 when it lost Dec. 5 at Vanderbilt. Smith said teams faved to win at home should be underdogs on the road.

"Weren't they all on the road?" Smith asked of Monday's Top 20 losses. "You can put

Basketball

(current No. 1) Arizona or any other Top 10 team on another team's home court and I think it's an upset if they win (on the road). The rules dictate so much. It's not like the pros where you have a 24-second clock and man-to-man defense. The college rules (45-second clock and unrestricted defenses) equalize things."

Krzyzewski said the days are gone when a team "could just walk on the court and expect to win."

"That doesn't mean there aren't good teams," he said. "But the talent is just so spread around."

BC TOPS SETON HALL

Dana Barros collected 27 points and Jamie Benton added 22 Tuesday night to lead Boston College to its first Big East victory, an 85-70 triumph over Seton Hall.

The Eagles, who have won seven of their last eight home games against Seton Hall, improved to 9-5 overall and 1-3 in the conference. The Pirates fell to 12-5 and 1-2.

After missing their first 8 shots from the floor, the Eagles connected on 19 of their next 25 attempts to grab a 48-27 halftime edge. Boston College closed out the half with a 7-0 spree in the final 2:28.

Seton Hall, which was led by Mark Bryant with 20 points, never closed the gap below double figures in the second half.

In other games, it was: St. John's 73, Rutgers 55; Xavier 98, Cincinnati 80; Dartmouth 83, New Hampshire 65; Fairleigh Dickinson 76, Iowa 75; Lehigh 62, Harvard 59; Western Carolina 74, North Carolina-Asheville 69; Western Kentucky 50, Murray State 49 and West Virginia 78, North Carolina-Charlotte 52.

At New York, Shelton Jones scored a game-high 22 points to power St. John's past Rutgers. The Redmen led by as many as 26 points, 58-32 midway through the second half.

At Cincinnati, Byron Larkin scored 26 points and four teammates also hit in double figures to help Xavier rout crosstown rival Cincinnati.

DePaul's Strickland Returns

CHICAGO (UPI) — DePaul guard Rod Strickland, absent from practice Monday for the second time in two weeks, returned to practice Tuesday after talking to Coach Joey Meyer.

Meyer said he was unsure if the junior point guard would dress for Thursday's game against Dayton. Strickland was told by Meyer not to talk with reporters and no reason was given for his absence from practice.

"The big issue for me is to get his mind right," Meyer said. Strickland missed practice Jan. 4 after visiting family in New York while the rest of the team returned to Chicago from a game in Hartford, Conn.

Because of the unexcused absence, Meyer took Strickland out of the starting lineup for a game against Georgetown Sunday and Strickland scored only 9 points and turned the ball over 4 times against the Hoyas.

Strickland was ruled academically ineligible for DePaul's first three games and has since missed three starts, including one for being late to a team meeting.

Browns Simulate Denver Conditions

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI) — Cleveland Coach Marty Schottenheimer Tuesday opened practice for the Browns' AFC championship game with a light workout.

The Browns, preparing for the title game in Denver Sunday, are working out at the University of New Mexico campus, a locale with altitude and weather conditions similar to Mile High Stadium.

"I think matters went very well," said Schottenheimer. "Players can get acclimated to this in a day or so, and we'll take our regular turns (Wednesday)."

Running back Kevin Mack, who played only the first series in Saturday's playoff victory over Indianapolis because of a stomach virus, participated fully in the opening session.

"I thought the plane ride might unsettle me, but it went OK," said Mack. "I'm a little tired still, but I feel much better than I did (Saturday)."

Nose tackle Bob Golic, who broke his right arm in the regular-season finale against the Pittsburgh Steelers, warmed up and ran with his teammates. Golic was placed on injured reserve and isn't eligible for the AFC Championship.

"The plan is for me to fly back to Cleveland Friday for a rehab brace," said Golic. "They took the measurements (Monday) for it. They'll adjust it Friday to where I can move the elbow and the wrist."

"I'll need to get some of the motion and muscle tone back. While I'm working on the rehab, they'll be working on a Robocop, action-figure playing arm."

Should the Browns defeat the Broncos, Golic would be available for the Super Bowl against the winner of the Washington-Minnesota NFC title game.

"Obviously, that's where it stands," said Golic. "When the doctors first saw the break, they saw what needed to be done, they said it would take a 10-week recovery period. But then they said six weeks."

"Right now, though, I need something to shoot for. I need something to push myself and the Super Bowl is it."

In other news, the Browns had armed guards posted at every entrance to the Lobos' facility. Starting left guard Larry Williams, suffering from a severely sprained right ankle, went through the light workout Tuesday.

"He is making steady progress," said Schottenheimer. "I'll know better on Saturday or Sunday."

Rookie Gregg Rokoczy will start if Williams is unable.

NFL Playoff Notebook
By United Press International
ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI) — The Cleveland Browns have carted more than three tons of equipment with them in preparation for Sunday's AFC championship game at Denver.

Equipment manager Charlie Cusick and his assistants packed "over 4,000 pounds of stuff," including three uniforms and four pairs of shoes for each Browns player, for use during a week of practices at University of New Mexico.

"I've heard it said we take everything that isn't nailed down but we need all this," Cusick said. "It's better to be prepared for both hot and cold weather, for example, so we've got the shoes, the heavier T-shirts, the right cleats."

None of the 800 tickets made available to the Cleveland Browns for Sunday's AFC Championship game in Denver will be offered to the team's fans. Kevin Byrne, the Browns' vice president of public relations, said the allotment of tickets would be used to fulfill needs of players and staff.

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Although the Minnesota Vikings will practice in Tampa, to play at Washington in the NFC title game this week, their fans can still partake in some tailgating.

Managers of a downtown Minneapolis night spot called Juke Box Saturday Night are sponsoring an outdoor tailgate party that is to begin at 11 a.m. EST Sunday. The game begins 12:30 p.m. The fans attending the party will not see the Vikings live, but they will see the Vikings cheerleaders, who are to attend.

DENVER (UPI) — Denver Broncos Coach Dan Reeves says he is "kind of hurt" that President Reagan would side with the Cleveland Browns.

Reagan endorsed the Browns on a visit to Cleveland Monday, showing a sweatshirt that read "Go Browns. Win one for the Gipper." The character he played in a movie about Knute Rockne.

On his weekly television show Monday night, Reeves suggested he might turn in his GOP card.

Two members of the Broncos' replacement team won't receive any playoff money. Any replacement player on the roster for all three games will receive half of the money earned in the next two playoff games, but Ray Woodard and Jeff Tupper won't receive a dime.

They signed contracts with the Kansas City Chiefs after leaving the Broncos, making them ineligible for playoff money. If the Broncos win the AFC championship and the Super Bowl, the replacement players will receive $7,000 each.

Oviedo Eludes Eustis

By Mark Mythe
Herald Sports Writer

Jodie Switzer came up with a team-high 12 points and received strong help from Susanne Hughes and Bridget Jenerette to lead the Oviedo Lady Lions past Eustis, 44-31, in prep action Tuesday night at Oviedo High School.

Oviedo improved to 10-5 and will return to action Saturday at home against Kissimmee Osceola. Eustis fell to 2-9 overall this season.

"We were down early and had to make a few defensive adjustments," Oviedo coach John Thomas said. "Once we got the lead we kept pulling away."

Oviedo was down, 11-10, after a period of play before the defensive change was made. Kristi Cheetham led the Lady Panthers with a game-high 14 points and was trouble for Oviedo to handle in the early going.

"She (Cheetham) is a real good shooter," Thomas said. "She can kill you if you let her keep getting the ball."

After the change to prevent the inside pass, Oviedo slowly but surely took control of the game and led 22-17 at halftime. The Lady Lions kept rolling and built up a 37-25 lead entering the final period of play.

Switzer, playing a small forward, scored 12 points, grabbed four rebounds and handed out two assists on the night as Hughes netted 11 points, ripped down a game-high 10 boards and blocked three shots. Jenerette chipped in 10 points with five rebounds and a block. Bobbie Kelley chipped in nine points.

"We played a much better second half," Thomas said. "We were able to steadily pull away and take control of the game after our adjustments."

Cheetham scored 10 points in the first half and four in the third period. The Lady Lions shut her down in the final period to prevent any chance of a comeback.

"We did a real good job of denying her the ball in the second half," Thomas said. "She killed us in the first half so I was happy to see the girls stop her in the second half."

OVIEDO JV TRIUMPHS

Oviedo's junior varsity ran its record to 9-3 for the season with a 41-23 thrashing of Eustis Tuesday night at Oviedo High. Melissa Zille led a balanced scoring attack with nine points. Wendy Ware added seven. Shannon Wilcoxson and Debbie Brewer contributed six each and Becky Pittman, Alice Meade and Pam Lindsay all scored four points.

EUSTIS (31) — McMillan 4, Monroe 3, McCrary 4, Martin 2, Ferguson 1, Cheetham 14, Mallico 2, Totals: 134-93.
OVIEDO (44) — S. Hughes 11, B. Hughes 8, Switzer 12, Wood 2, Kelly 9, Jenerette 10, Totals: 204-134.
Halftime — Eustis 17, Oviedo 22. Fouls — Eustis 16; Oviedo 12. Fouled out — none. Technicals — none. 3-pointers — Eustis 1 (Monroe). Records — Oviedo 10-1, Eustis 2-9.

Hillery Continues Assault On Stetson Record Book

Sanford's Dieldre Hillery continues to move up in the record books at Stetson University. In Saturday's victory over Georgia State, Hillery pumped in a game-high 30 points 13 of 17 shooting from the floor and 4 of 5 from the free throw line.

The 30 points moved the 6-2 senior center into fourth place on the all-time Stetson scoring list. At 1,263 points, she trails Brenda Elrod (1977-81) by seven. Ahead of Elrod are Donna Johnson ('79-82) with 1,362 and Dallas Boychuk ('82-86) with 1,457.

Hillery, already the holder of all blocked shots records, all single season scoring records and many single-game records, has a chance to catch Boychuk on the all-time scoring list. Hillery needs to average a little over 12 points per game (playing in at least 16 more games) to overtake Boychuk.

Also on Saturday, Hillery moved into second time on the all-time rebounding list. Boychuk tops the list with 976 rebounds, safely out of Hillery's reach.

Hillery's 30-point effort was only the eighth time a Lady Hatter had scored 30 or more points in a game. She holds the single-game record with 39 last year against Georgia State.

SAC Race Tightens Up

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Editor

After the seven teams traded knockout punches last week, the fight for the Seminole Athletic Conference championship is pretty tight going into Friday night's action.

Seminole High leads the pack with a 3-1 record but was prevented from seizing early command in the conference last Wednesday with a loss to DeLand. The 'Noles, 8-5 overall, rebounded with a 76-48 thrashing of Lyman High on Friday night.

"We didn't play well at all against DeLand," Seminole coach Greg Robinson said. "But the kids showed a lot of character the way they came back against Lyman. We still have some things to work on but we're going in the right direction."

Seminole returns to action Friday night at Oviedo High in a matchup of District 3A-6 teams. Oviedo stands at 7-3 overall and 1-1 in the conference.

"The Lions had a chance to take sole possession of first place in the SAC last Friday but Lake Mary's Rams pulled off the upset behind the 23-point effort of Bernard Mitchell.

"Lake Mary, 6-5 overall, got itself back into the running with the win over Oviedo after a disappointing loss at Lyman on Wednesday. The Rams are 2-2 in the conference. Lake Mary has the entire week off before going to Daytona Mainland Tuesday and hosting Lake Brantley next Friday.

Basketball

Lyman, 3-7 overall, is next to last in the conference standings but still within one and a half game of frontrunning Seminole. Lyman had its best performance of the season in the victory over Lake Mary on Wednesday but could not keep the momentum going against Seminole. Lyman hosts Lake Brantley Friday night.

Lake Brantley was another team that had a chance to take at least a share of the lead in the SAC on Friday night but the Patriots were defeated by DeLand. Brantley, 7-5 overall, now stands at 1-1 in the conference. The Patriots have a nonconference game tonight at home against Spruce Creek (6-6).

DeLand, in its first season in the SAC, had the biggest week of the conference teams as it defeated Seminole and Lake Brantley to improve to 2-1 in the league. DeLand, 7-6 overall, lost its conference opener to Lake Mary.

Lake Howell, 4-8 overall, is the only team without a win in the conference as the Silver Hawks stand at 0-2. Lake Howell was defeated by Brantley in its last SAC outing and will look to further tighten things up in the league Friday night when it plays at DeLand.

Annual Elks Hoop Shoot Saturday At Seminole High

By Mark Mythe
Herald Sports Writer

The Elks Club Hoop Shoot will be held at Seminole High School Saturday, Jan. 16, beginning at 8 a.m. There will be three separate age groups with contestants ranging between 8-13 years old.

The contest marks the first round of competition in the 16th annual Elks Club Hoop Shoot. Hoop Shoot is the copyright trademark owned by the Elks for this national free throw shooting contest. It was originated by Frank Hise, a past Grand Exalted Ruler of the fraternal organization, in Corvallis Ore., in 1946. The Elks' Oregon State Association took it to a state level of competition in 1958. Gerald L. (Getty) Powell directed the program on a national level beginning in 1972. Three million youngsters, ages 8 through 13, participated last year.

The contest will begin at 8 a.m. The event is open to the public at no charge. The 8-9 year old boys will begin the contest shooting from one end of the court while the 8-9 year old girls will shoot at the other end. This age category will shoot from four feet in front of the regulation foul line. The other ages will shoot from the regulation foul line. Each contestant will be given five warm up shots and then 25 shots for score. When all contestants in the age category have completed their first round of 10, the contestants will return to the line, in the same shooting order, to complete their 25 total shots for score. No warm ups will be allowed in the second round. They will be broken by shoot-offs to be conducted in rounds of five until a winner is decided. The awards ceremony will be held immediately following the event.

Today's contestants are winners of competition in schools and in boys and girls clubs throughout the area. The three boys and three girls in each category who score the highest here will advance to the district finals at New Smyrna Beach High School on Jan. 30, 1988. From there, winners continue on to the State and National finals. The names of the national winners are engraved on plaques at the New Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass.

This program is totally sponsored by the Benevolent and Protective Order of the Elks of the U.S.A. It is endorsed by hundreds of school systems around the country. The Elks fund the program primarily through its National Foundation and the support of its subordinate and state associations. Travel and lodging expenses for the contestants and their parents are paid for by the Elks.

Raines To Speak At Rollins

Montreal Expo superstar Tim Raines, a native of Sanford, will be the featured speaker in the first event of the Rollins College Alcohol and Substance Abuse Seminar Jan. 19 at 7 p.m. in the Bush Auditorium on the Rollins campus. The seminar is sponsored by the department of physical education and athletics. Orlando Federal Judge Walter Kaminski will be the featured speaker at 7 p.m. Jan. 21 also in Bush Auditorium. Both of the sessions, which will include films, information and the two guest speakers, are available for the general public along with Rollins students and faculty and staff. The NCAA 1987-88 Drug Testing film will be shown Jan. 19 and Jan. 21, a video titled "Cocaine—A Deadly Elective," will be shown. Raines, a high school phenom at Seminole High School, had one of his greatest years with the Expos last season. He was third in the National League in hitting at .330 and despite missing the first month of the season with an injury, led the league in runs scored with 123. He also ranked in the top 10 in the league in numerous other categories including stolen bases (5th) with 50. Raines was also MVP of the 1987 All-Star game, going 3-3 and banging an 11th inning triple that won the contest for the Nationals. He also became the second youngest player to steal 500 bases in major league history (he now has 511).

...Raiders

"Vince (Emerson) is a great kid," Payne said. "He can jump out of the gym and has a nice perimeter shot."

If all goes well tonight Payne and the Raiders should return home with their first conference victory. Payne, though, is not as concerned with the conference standings as he has in the past.

...Castle

At #3 will probably be another returning player, All-American Pat Johnson. Johnson also teams with Emmett to form the top doubles team in the NCAA II rankings.

When you look at these first three players, there is no secret as to why Rollins is so good this year. All three are outstanding players, enough to make any team a contender. But you know what? Rollins would have a very, very, strong team even without its top three.

Listen to this. The Tars have Donnie Martin, Scott Spielberger, Barry Pelts and Andy Platt back from last year. All are very solid players and any one would play the number one position at many, many colleges in the U.S. Add to that a very talented freshman from Pa., named Mike Saloman and you have an awesome array of talent. In fact, Saloman is so good that he could play as high as #2.

Rollins already has played the Florida Intercollegiate and fought South Florida for the top spot. Florida has strong college tennis and Rollins ranks right near the top. I rank Miami #1 and pretty far ahead of the rest. In my book, Rollins would rank #2 in the state, South Florida 3rd, Florida State 4th, West Florida 5th and the Gators (sadly) as low as 6th.

As of this writing, Rollins is ranked #3 in the nation. Chapman College of Calif. is #1 and Hampton Inst. is ranked #2. I firmly believe that when it is all said and done this year, Rollins will come out on top. The Tars will win the Nationals and win it in a big way. At least three of Rollins players will make All-American and Coach Copeland will be named Coach of the Year. Hdr's hoping...

Best of luck to Rollins this year. It will be exciting.

Lady Hornets Sting Lady Lions, 4-0

Oviedo's Lady Lions had a hard time contending with two of the top goal scoring threats in the area Tuesday night as Amy Geltz and Kristin Adamkiewicz scored two goals each to lead Orlando Bishop Moore's Lady Hornets to a 4-0 victory at Bishop Moore High.

Bishop Moore evened its record at 8-8 for the season while Oviedo dropped to 1-12-1.

Oviedo's defense, led by sweeperback Ingrid Lyn and goalkeeper Whitney Yonker, kept Bishop Moore at bay for 17 minutes Tuesday but Adamkiewicz then broke the scoreless tie with her first goal. Adamkiewicz made it 2-0 with 11 minutes left in the first half when she scored on a breakaway.

Geltz, only a freshman, got her first goal with just 31 seconds left in the half when she lofted a shot in from 35 yards out to give the Lady Hornets a comfortable 3-0 halftime edge.

Bishop Moore pumped most of its 32 shots on goal at the Oviedo cage in the first half while Oviedo got its offense going in the second half where it produced most of its 13 shots.

Geltz wiped out any chance of an Oviedo comeback, though, when she scored with 16 minutes remaining to make the final 4-0.

While Geltz and Adamkiewicz were the offensive stars, goalkeeper Suzy Strazzulla kept Oviedo out of the net for her sixth shutout of the season.

Oviedo's best chance to score came late in the game on a penalty kick, but Jennifer Whitaker could not connect.

Lake Howell Wrestler Unbeaten

CORRECTION — It was incorrectly reported in Tuesday's Sanford Herald that Lake Howell wrestler John White was pinned in Saturday's match against Seminole High. White, who usually wrestles at 109 pounds, has an 8-0 record this season.

Bolivar Impressive In Debut

Bolivar, the No. 1 player in the world, made his debut at the Orlando-Seminole Jai-Alai Fronton Saturday night and there were 2,000 fans on hand to greet him.

Mark Blythe SANFORD HERALD SPORTS WRITER

It is hard to say who had the hot csta for the week but newcomer Frias is a good choice. Frias, who played 48 games and was in the money 24 times, had 13 wins. Frias has all the shots and throws extremely hard from the front court.

WINNERS: Leading in wins for the week was Frias with 13. Eduardo 9 and Ricardo and Mikel finished with 8. Leading in wins for the year is Ricardo with 88 followed by Andia with 79 and Pierre with 71.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — The nation's biggest schools showed an unwillingness to debate a fact Dodd attributed to the belief people "didn't want their name on a list that bowl people could go through."

But the Pell Grants drew the most heated debate of Tuesday's Division I sessions, with Michigan State Athletics Director Doug Weaver accusing schools unwilling to part with the federal money of requesting "a license to steal."

NCAA

The vote to increase the athletes' share of the Pell Grant money to $1,400 a year came on a 208-101 vote after an earlier attempt to give the athletes the full $2,100 was rejected by a 208-100 margin.

The remainder goes to schools for what purpose Lord knows. Pittsburgh AD Edward Bokstic said, "Simple equity and justice calls for that money to go to students who earned it."

ABC Gambles Viewers Will Tune In Olympics

CHICAGO (UPI) — The setting for ABC would seem to be as perfect as a camera shot of the mountains around Calgary. The network, which has billed itself as the "network of the Olympics" for nearly 20 years, has several things working for it when it begins coverage of the Winter Olympics Saturday, Feb. 13.

Trading Low, Prices Lower

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices fell at the start of trading today on New York Stock Exchange issues as negative momentum from the previous session's losses carried over into the morning's opening.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which fell 16.58 Tuesday, was off 17.91 to 1910.64 shortly after the market opened.

Declines outnumbered advances 876-260 among the 1,315 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 13,900,000 shares.

The stock market escaped a solid beating Tuesday but still closed lower when a late rally erased most but not all of the sharp losses inflicted in the early going by program-related selling.

Trade Worries Push Dollar Down Gold Lower, Silver Unchanged

By United Press International

The dollar was lower on major world money markets today as traders expressed concerns over the U.S. merchandise trade report due out later in the week.

The dollar remains under strong pressure because of general market pessimism about U.S. trade figures and other leading indicators, a trader for a leading Zurich bank said.

"Governments say the figures are not that important, but the market thinks otherwise," he added.

The trade report for November is scheduled for release on Friday. The October deficit was a record $17.6 billion.

In London one money market analyst said referring to erratic trading and the falling dollar, "It's a zoo out there. ... Clearly nobody is willing to wait" for Friday's trade figures.

In earlier trading in the Far East, the dollar fell sharply against the Japanese yen in heavy trading for the third straight session, closing at 126.30 yen, down 1.70 yen from Tuesday's close of 128 yen.

Dealers in Japan said the dollar's decline was accelerated Earlier reports said the G-7 countries — the United States, Japan, France, West Germany, Britain, Italy and Canada — secretly set a target range of 125-140 yen.

In Europe, the dollar opened in Frankfurt at 1.627 German marks, down from Tuesday's close of 1.6369.

Lockridge worked for the city of Gainesville from December 1980 to 1985 as auditor and deputy city manager in charge of management and finance; from March 1976 to 1980, he was employed by the city of Dallas, Texas, as assistant city auditor; from February 1975 to March 1976, he was employed by Fulton County, Ga., in the Finance Department.

According to Terry, Lockridge received his BA degree from Mercer University in Macon, Ga., in 1969. He did his graduate studies at University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Terry has also advertised for applicants to fill the position of city administrator vacated when Ron Waller resigned under pressure.

A committee to screen the applications for that position includes former Sanford City Manager Pete Knowles, Phil Penland, city manager for Altamonte Springs, and David Harden, city manager for Winter Park. The city commission is scheduled to meet with the committee at a workshop on Feb. 9 before they begin reviewing the applications.

The committee is expected to recommend the top five applicants to the commission to interview and vote on. Three commissioners — Lynette Dennis, Richard Bullington and Henry Hardy — said they would like also like the option to read the applications themselves and, if they wished, to recommend one to the committee, but agreed to wait until after they met with the committee to decide on it.

Mayor Dave Gunter was opposed to allowing such an option. "We would be taking away from the blue ribbon commission when we start directing these people to take another look at some one," Gunter said he had been asked to serve on similar committees in the past by other cities and if someone had given suggestions to him he would have said he would not participate in the screening process.

Gunter said the commission has the option to screen the all the applications themselves, but if they want to go that route should not ask the group of outside experts to do the job.

Commissioner Ted Polking said the preliminary selection process should be left up to those qualified to pick the best of the applicants, because he admitted he was not knowledgeable enough to do so.

Terry placed the ads Tuesday in three publications, ICMA (International City Management Association) Newsletter, the FCCMA Newsletter and Quality Cities Magazine seeking a city administrator with "salary negotiable $38,000 to $43,000 plus benefits, depending on qualifications."

Requirements listed for the job include a degree in public administration or related field, MPA preferred, three years experience in public management, strong background in finance, communications and planning.

Longwood has a 89 million budget and 120 employees.

Terry expects at least 80 applications, in fact one was received the day after Waller submitted his resignation at a city meeting at which commissioners were ready to vote on his removal.

The position personnel director is also open and Terry had been tentatively given the go-ahead to fill it as well. Commissioners are now asking Terry to hold back on hiring a personnel director until he submits comprehensive organizational chart is worked out spelling out the various departmental functions and duties and criteria for department heads for their consideration.

Terry said the position of personnel director was created in the new personnel policy manual adopted in June, but couldn't be funded until the new budget year, which began Oct. 1, 1987. "For reasons unknown", Terry said, the former city administrator did not hire anyone even though 40 or 50 applicants responded to the job advertisement. "I feel there is a real need to accomplish this," Terry said.

Dennis is pressing for hiring of a management consulting firm to straighten out organization of city departments, but she said this might also be accomplished by utilizing the help available from Tallahassee and the University of Central Florida.

place. The licenses are to be issued by the county clerk within 45 days after it is applied for.

A non-refundable application fee, and the cost of the license, is to be set by the county commission after the ordinance is passed. The proposed ordinance also provides for investigation of the application by the sheriff's office, the building department, department of public safety, department of health and human services, and department of land management.

Bob McMillen, assistant county attorney, told commissioners that the only reason for denying a license would be that the applicant did not comply with the ordinance. He said a circuit court in this district struck down part of the Jacksonville adult entertainment ordinance that allowed denial of an adult entertainment license because of a prior conviction for violating obscenity laws, and that ruling applies to this district.

The ordinance provides that existing adult entertainment businesses would have to buy a license after the ordinance is passed, but would not have to comply with certain provisions, such as physical requirements of their buildings.

The ordinance also requires all employees of an adult entertainment business except for janitorial or maintenance personnel to buy a two-year permit after investigation by the sheriff's and health department. Present employees will have 60 days after the ordinance becomes effective in which to obtain a permit.

Licensed businesses must make a monthly report to the county clerk listing all employees in the past month, according to the proposed ordinance.

The proposed ordinance also includes standards for adult theaters, including having individual, separate seats, not benches; and having a continuous aisle from which all seated persons are visible. If the theater has booths, they must have a doorway six feet tall and two feet wide which cannot be closed.

Adult cabarets would be required to have a stage 18 inches high and covering 100 square feet.

The proposed ordinance also would prohibit "straddle dancing", engaging in sexual activity, or advertising any prohibited activity.

Neil McShane, an attorney representing the House of Babes, told commissioners the county had adequate control over adult entertainment through its requirement of a special exception to zoning. He said only two such businesses exist in the county now and the board of adjustment has never given a special exception for another one.

He said since the House of Babes is the only establishment in the county which allows starddle dancing, that prohibition in the proposed ordinance is aimed at only one business.

Sheriff Polk said "According to our intelligence, customers can get drinks spiked for a price at the House of Babes, and other illegal activity takes place there." He said the ordinance would give his department the tools it needs to clean up illegal activity.

crowds, said Dave Liger, store director.

"Lunchtime was nuts, though," Liger said of $700 in ticket sales.

During the day, Liger had been watching the heavy traffic at a 7-Eleven across the street, at 700 Lake Mary Blvd. "They must really be hoppin', I'd estimate they've sold about 1,100 tickets."

Actually, that number was about 4,200, according to Carol Gallant, assistant manager.

"People are real hyped up about it," Gallant said.

Siziri's 7-Eleven, which also began sales at the 12:01 a.m. lottery sales launch Tuesday, sold 3,500 tickets and Siziri expected as many sales today.

One man called Siziri back after he bought a ticket, asking how he should go about claiming his $5,000 prize.

"I have a feeling it will continue to be hot and heavy," said Betty Collier, assistant manager at the 895 Lake Mary Blvd. 7-Eleven. Her store had sold 1,300 tickets in an 11-hour span to everyone from construction workers and factory workers to businessmen and housewives.

Most store spokesmen reported high merchandise sales, as ticket purchasers bought chips, soft drinks or other sundries simultaneously.

Since store employees are not allowed to buy tickets from their own store, Liger said several clerks pressed dollars into his hand for tickets when he took a break to gas up his car.

"The curious people just buy one," he said. "Pretty much everybody has won something."

Gallant has seen customers buying as much as 30, 50 and 100 tickets at one time.

Sharon Pearson, assistant to Broderick, told police that the meeting began at about 6:12 p.m. and she left the office at that time. Pearson said that when Gay arrived for the meeting she questioned him, asking if he was sure he had the right patient, because her records showed that Broderick had last seen Mrs. Maynard in 1981. Gay said she was the right patient and Pearson said she found additional records that showed Mrs. Maynard's last contact with Broderick was in August 1987. Mrs. Maynard today refused to discuss her illness with the Sanford Herald.

When Gay handed Pearson her business card, she said, he laughed and said, "You may be the one who pays the bill."

Tymi Howard, dance adjudicator.

'Dance' Central Florida Calls Auditions

By Doris Dietrich
PEOPLE Editor

"Dance" Central Florida will hold auditions Sunday, Jan. 17, at 1:30 p.m., at the home studio, Betty Vaccaro's World of Dance and Performing Arts, 2585 Park Drive, Sanford. According to Mrs. Vaccaro, all interested dancers, 11 years and up, are welcome to audition.

"Dance" Central Florida is a not-for-profit dance company designed for all area dancers, regardless of dance school affiliation. Instruction is free with four hours of rehearsals held weekly.

Mrs. Vaccaro said, "Our company is made up of students from all different schools, so you do not have to be enrolled in any particular school to qualify. Our company will perform all forms of dance, so you need not be exceptional in one form in particular."

Mrs. Vaccaro continued, "The whole idea in being a company dancer is not supposed to cost these kids any money."

Dancers will be auditioned and adjudicated by an instructor from the following dance schools: Karen Capone's Academy of Dance, Lake Mary, Tap; Cathy Gillaspie's Showtime, Longwood, jazz; and Mini Rozak's School of Dance.

Orange City, modern.

Tymi Howard of Sanford, a student on leave from the North Carolina School of the Arts, Winston-Salem, will adjudicate the ballet segment. Tymi is taking classes at Southern Ballet Theatre, Winter Park, until she returns to North Carolina in March where she is studying under a scholarship.

Mrs. Vaccaro suggests that dancers who plan to audition wear practice clothing and bring appropriate shoes.

During "Dance" Central Florida's first year, the dancers performed throughout the area as guest artists including the prestigious Lake Mary Heathrow Festival of the Arts in the fall.

This year, dancers will attend a seminar or perform at least once a month. Mrs. Vaccaro said, "All expenses will be paid for by the board of directors."

Sending the dancers to several seminars during the forthcoming season is part of the format. Mrs. Vaccaro said, "The seminar classes are conducted by leading teachers from throughout the United States, she added, and are excellent." Also, a major production is scheduled in November with performances at civic events, art shows and other functions in the community.

Cook Of The Week

Auctioneer By Day Dons Chef's Hat For Moonlighting Career

By Dorothy Greene
Herald Correspondent

Now here's a young man who knows exactly where he's going and how to get there. With a good measure of self-confidence, a cupful of experience, a spoonful of faith, and a large pinch of charisma, Gary Tuttle, our Cook of the Week, has all the ingredients for a perfect career in cooking. Combine that with all his other interests and you have the makings of a man whose talents are not confined to fine cuisine, but branch out to form a well-balanced lifestyle.

Tuttle, a Winter Park native, has a good head start in the food service business, and, at 30, already has 20 years of experience to his credit. "I started working, actually, in food service when I was 10," he says, "so I was working after school pretty much all through school. And never have I worked in a fast food place. I started, basically, in a very old deli in Winter Park which was established in the '20s, and there I made pasta, similar to what you would get today in some of these pasta houses. It's a very big thing, now. Everybody makes their own pasta. But we were going that 20 years ago with probably one of the only pasta machines in Central Florida. It was very rare then to even find a pasta machine around. Today, everywhere I go, there's a pasta machine sitting around!"

"It was a full deli," he continues, "and I did that and then I started baking bread for them and pastries. After school, I usually worked from three until seven or eight at night." When Tuttle was 15, the deli was sold, but right next door was a well-established Italian restaurant and again he put his know-how to use by cooking full meals for the patrons. "The owner taught me a lot of things," he explains, "but most of what I've learned is basically experimental and from reading. I collect cook books and I've got about 80."

Adding to his knowledge of the world of "chefing," our cook has recently finished a 5-year stint in the New England states, noted for country inns, bed and breakfast style cooking and gourmet foods. "I started going to these places loving to eat and loving all kinds of weird sauces—Hollandaises and Bourdeaulaises and things like that," he says. "That's basically where I picked up presentation, and I'd also research different things. I worked with a chef up there who is younger than I am, and is a very, very good casual gourmet chef."

New Lebanon, N.Y., became the nucleus of Tuttle's chelving odyssey, he says. "It was five minutes from Pittsfield, Massachusetts, an hour from Boston, and 25 minutes from Albany," he explains. "You could be in New Hampshire in 45 minutes and in Vermont in 20 minutes. It was all right there in a tri-state area."

Leaving the food service business for a brief period when he was 23 to pursue another goal, Tuttle attended the Missouri Auction School in Kansas City to become an auctioneer. This tied in with his second love, antiques. Working full time in his uncle's antique business in Sanford, Tuttle handled the auctioneering, the advertising and even traveled to New York to purchase merchandise, while simultaneously working for five auction houses. A move to New York for four years allowed him to work with a national company, gaining the knowledge and experience for a fine future in auctioneering. "Now I'm back down here, starting my own company," he says. Armed with a realtor's license, Tuttle is working with a realty firm in Orlando as its principal auctioneer and promoter, with his sights set on being his own boss some day in a full service auction company. "That's the only way I handle real estate," he says. "Through auctions."

Going on to phase two of Tuttle's well-planned goals, one can see that his cooking skills have not been neglected. When he leaves his realty post at days'

end, he can be found in the busy kitchen of the Lake Monroe Inn, located on Sanford's lakelakefront. As head chef, our cook is dedicated to "restructuring" the restaurant while preserving its charm and character. "Like an inn you would find in New England," he says, "with the quality an inn would offer using all fresh products. I think the key to that is all high quality, fresh food," he says. "I even cut my own steaks from the loin," says Tuttle, "and fresh seafood is delivered three times a week." Our cook has introduced a more palatable menu by adding garnishes to the dishes and describes himself as the kind of chef who likes to mingle with the guests. "You're likely to see me in the dining room," he states. "And on less busy nights, I try to make it to every table. I like to see that my standards are up and that everything is fine with the service. If I'm chelving somewhere, they see me. I spend a lot of time out in the dining room."

Maintaining high standards in his cooking means that Tuttle uses nothing but the best ingredients in his recipes. "I always use fresh, high-quality products," he says. "I don't buy canned anything. If it isn't fresh, I don't use it. I am not one to cut corners when I'm cooking. I follow instructions carefully, unlike some cooks who use a little of this and little of that. I have created a few recipes myself, and most of the time I have a ball with it." Tuttle says he sticks mostly to the "casual gourmet" type cooking with no particular ethnic style as a specialty.

"I do Cajun," he says, "and I do all kinds of fishes with 15 or 20 different butters, either broiled or on an open fire. I hardly do any fried foods. Most everything I fry up is sauteed." Lamb, pheasant and veal take up a good part of his repertoire, "and from the very beginning, a lot of pastas," he adds. He is very selective about what meats he marinates, insisting that a good steak should be rare and free of flavors. "I'll marinate chicken, and once in a while ribs," he says, "or I'll marinate kabobs, but when it comes to steaks I like salt, pepper and garlic and very rare."

At home in Longwood, Tuttle cooks for himself most of the time, but loves to entertain

Microwave Magic

The Secret To A Good Soup Is The Stock

You can save a lot of time if you make soups and stews in your microwave oven. Most conventional recipes for soups require 3-4 hours slow cooking time. For best results in the microwave, cook the soup for 45 minutes to one hour, stirring every 15 minutes. This will distribute the ingredients and flavors and allow for more even microcooking. Use a low-power level equivalent to "simmer" temperature on a conventional surface unit. I usually use 50%, but 30% will do, but requires a little longer microcooking time.

The secret to a good soup is the stock. Making your own is always best.

SOUP STOCK

- 6 cups water
- 1 ham hock
- 2 medium onions, chopped
- 3-4 celery tops
- 1 teaspoon pepper
- 3-4 bay leaves
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 3-4 carrots, cut into small pieces

Place all ingredients into a 4-quart casserole with lid. Microwave on 100% power 7 minutes; reduce power to 50% and microwave for another 35-40 minutes. Allow stock to cool. Strain and store/freeze until ready to use.

Chicken stock can be prepared the same way using backs, wings, necks or microwave a whole chicken and use the meat for any recipe needing cooked chicken. The stock can then be used for soup.

This soup, as is true with most soups, is better if made at least a day before you plan to serve it. The flavors develop as the soup stands.

Cut into cubes
 2 saffron threads, crumbled
 1 teaspoon salt
 1 teaspoon pepper

Place water in a 4-quart casserole with a lid. Add ham hock, onions, potatoes, salt and pepper. Microwave on 100% power 20 minutes. Reduce power to 50% and microcook for 10-15 minutes or until potatoes can be pierced easily with a fork. Stir in garbanzo beans and allow to stand covered for 15-20 minutes before serving. Better if refrigerated overnight and then reheated before serving.

Chowders are hearty one-dish meals that are great for these cooler weather days. Serve the chowder with a good crusty bread and a crisp green salad for a satisfying meal.

CORN CHOWDER

2 cups diced potatoes
 1 small onion, finely chopped
 1 stick margarine
 3-4 tablespoons flour

1 cup chicken stock (home-made if possible) or 1 tablespoon chicken bouillon granules dissolved in 1 cup of water
 2 cups canned cream corn
 1 cup milk
 salt and pepper to taste
 paprika

In a 2-quart casserole microwave on 100% power for 6-7 minutes the potatoes and onions with 4 tablespoons of water. Allow to stand for 3-4 minutes. Drain liquid from vegetables, then mash potatoes and onions thoroughly. In a large glass measure, melt margarine for 45 seconds on 100% power. Gradually stir in flour. Microcook for 1 minute. Slowly add chicken stock, making sure there are no lumps. Microwave on 80% power 6-8 minutes, stirring every 2 minutes, until thickened. Put corn and milk in blender and blend until thoroughly combined. Add the potato-onion mixture to the thickened stock, then add corn, milk, salt and pepper. Microcook the chowder on 100% power 4-5, stirring after 2 minutes. Sprinkle with paprika for color.

A fish chowder conventionally takes many hours to prepare. Flour was used in this recipe, but your favorite fish filets can be used.

FISH CHOWDER

6 cups water
 Juice of 1 fresh lemon
 8 tablespoons margarine
 1 teaspoon pickling spice, cloves removed
 6 tablespoons flour
 2 onions finely chopped
 3 medium baking potatoes, dried
 2 1-pound cans whole tomatoes
 12 ounces tomato catsup
 2 1/2 pounds flounder filets, skin and bone removed
 salt and pepper to taste

Place water, lemon juice and pickling spice in a 4-quart casserole with a lid. Microwave on 100% power, covered, for 15 minutes. Remove all pickling spice from mixture. Tie the spice in a small piece of cheesecloth and remove the bag (much easier).

To make roux:
 In large glass measure melt the margarine for 45-60 seconds on 100% power. Stir in the flour and microcook for 5 minutes stirring several times.

In a 2-quart casserole microwave the onions for 3-5 minutes. Allow to stand for 3 minutes. To the seasoned water add canned tomatoes, breaking up the whole tomatoes with a spoon. Also add catsup, fish filets, onions and the roux. Place potatoes in a small covered container with 2 tablespoons of water. Microwave on 100% power 6-8 minutes. Allow to stand 4 minutes. Drain away water and add potatoes to the rest of the chowder. Stir until well blended. Microwave for 10 minutes on 100% power or until boiling, then reduce power to 50% and microcook for 45-50 minutes more, stirring every 15 minutes. Break up the filets as you stir. Allow to stand 15 minutes, then season with salt and pepper to taste. This chowder is best served freshly cooked or in the next day or two. Freezing causes the potatoes to become mushy.

Marijuana Smoke Clouds Man's Marriage And Mind

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Shortly after I was married, I learned that my husband is a habitual marijuana smoker and has been for the last 20 years. I'm 25 and he's 41—a product of the '60s. Had I known this beforehand, I never would have married him. Unfortunately, I didn't find out until after I became pregnant, and now that we have a 3-month-old son, it's not easy to leave.

I asked him why the subject of pot never came up while we were dating, and he said "he knew that I was 'straight'" so he never smoked in front of me. Even now, he never smokes in front of me, but I can smell it on him quite often. He says he doesn't "need" it, but I don't believe him because every time I step out—even for 20 minutes—I'll come back to the smell of pot.

He's a good husband and father, but we argue about this constantly. More and more I notice that his eyes are constantly bloodshot and he seems drowsy and lethargic and has to be reminded several times to do something. I'm concerned.

AM I making a mountain out of a molehill? How serious is this? Could he really quit if he wanted to? Please help me. I love him, but can't live this way.

TORN

DEAR TORN: If your husband

smoked pot "every time you step out," he's hooked. A 20-year habit is no "molehill," and you are wise to be concerned. Marijuana affects different people in different ways, but a habitual user will usually suffer from impaired vision, inability to respond quickly in emergency situations, diminished memory and lack of motivation. He shouldn't drive, and you should refuse to allow him to drive you and the baby.

Tell him that if he doesn't seek professional help to kick the habit, you are leaving. Contact the National Institute on Drug Abuse hot-line: (800) 662-HELP. They can put you in touch with drug-rehabilitation facilities in your area. Pot smokers don't just fade away—they go up in smoke!

DEAR ABBY: For "California Girl" whose Prince Charming has had breath: There is a simple remedy to eliminate bad breath: Use a soft toothbrush and brush the tongue well.

TORONTO SUN READER

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter from "Reluctant Gift Collector," the schoolteacher who resented receiving such "useless gimcracks" as mugs, plaques and pins that say "No. 1 Teacher."

She (and you) missed the point: It was not a "self-proclaiming" item, but an expression of love and respect for the teacher.

I have taught school for eight years and I drink my tea from a No. 1 Teacher cup, and I have a No. 1 Teacher pin in my jewelry box.

NANCY LAWRENCE

DEAR NANCY: I heard from hundreds of schoolteachers who wanted to teach "Reluctant Gift Collector" (and me) a lesson. They succeeded. Here's one from a teacher with a sense of humor:

DEAR ABBY: As a teacher in a major metropolitan area, I have a suggestion for "Reluctant Gift Collector." Be thankful for the gift, but next time suggest lottery tickets.

You have a better chance of winning the sweepstakes than having the school board give you a raise.

...Cook

occasionally. "When I do entertain," he says, "I like to make it a memorable experience. I like to create a nice atmosphere: tablecloth, candles, wine, and have things they haven't eaten before or won't eat again. About a year ago, I cooked for my immediate family and I made strawberry soup and my nephew hasn't let me hear the end of that yet! He thought that was totally insane." Describing what is very likely a gourmet concoction of pureed strawberries, heavy cream and white wine, Tuttle says, "Served cold, it makes a very nice summertime luncheon dessert, or a nice thing for a casual gourmet breakfast." Most of what he has learned, researched and studied, Tuttle adds, are things that are different, and can be modified and presented in many ways.

"I really like doing big, eventful things," says Tuttle, "with 50, 100, 150 people. I recently did a 135-pound pig at my brother's wedding reception that kept everybody talking for weeks!" Carefully done on a portable outdoor grill, the roasted pig was a big hit with the guests and declared a winner by the bride and groom. In keeping with his desire to do things on a grand scale, Tuttle says that any time his schedule permits he would be happy to preside over the doings at a civic function or a fund raising event whenever an experienced cook is needed.

When he can find time away from his busy schedule, Tuttle enjoys fly fishing. He also collects and refinishes antique furniture. "I've also been doing a tremendous amount of research on real estate auctions," he says. "Basically, on beginning my own firm. Entering the business is a very complicated thing to do." Writing is another interest of Tuttle's which keeps him out front in the business world. "It's mostly corporate correspondence," he says. "That's how I solicit my business, through major corporations. It's a very unusual type of writing. Everything has to be perfect and legal and documented. It's quite interesting."

With future plans all mapped out, our cook of the week is in the enviable position of being able to juggle two careers with success. "I plan to have a gourmet restaurant in the Lake Mary area," says Tuttle. "It's going to be a $19.95 per plate restaurant. It's going to be a very personalized place with about 70 seats, offering a variety of gourmet dishes. I'll be doing a lot of tableside flaming. That will get me into the dining room!" To add to the unique atmosphere of his restaurant, Tuttle is collecting a number of odd chairs to be used in furnishing the dining room. While his dream is still about "three years down the road," he is concentrating on researching the area for the perfect location.

Tuttle firmly believes in himself and his qualifications, and that spells success for our cook of the week. "Not only with my real estate business," he explains, "but also with my cooking career—I have no competition. I'm not worried. The competition in the restaurant business out there is very, very stiff, the expenses are big. However, a lot of what I'm going to be selling in my restaurant is top-quality food and personality. Most of the restaurants are lacking in both, especially the personality part." He often reaps rewards for his efforts, he says, even if it's just a roaring cheer from a football team after he's served a buffet for 180 players and their parents. "You get a lot of gratitude from that," he says, "and it builds my confidence even more."

Summing up his philosophy on how he achieves his goals, Tuttle says, "It takes, in this society, a lot of self-confidence. I'm very, very busy and I overcome objections real fast. Every day you're faced with objections and the only thing you can do is overcome them. To imagine is to achieve, to dream is to become, so I try not to let things get in my way."

And, summing up his culinary achievements, Gary Tuttle shares some of his preferences when it comes to preparing and serving exquisite foods. "To me," he says, "one of the most important factors of a meal is the bread. I eat bread before my meal, during my meal and after my meal. I just love it, but I don't care for bagged bread, so I use fresh baked breads. My recipe for Herb Bread has all kinds of things in it, and it's a heavy, very different bread. And it's very easy; just follow the instructions."

Another of Tuttle's recipes, Cheddar Cheese Soup, originated in New England and was published in Country Inns, a cook book written by a couple who visited the finest inns in that part of the country and compiled the best of the best. "It's very good, and different," he says. One of his own creations is the Potatoes in Wine. "I make potatoes 21 different ways," he says, laughing. "Diced, sliced, minced, mashed, with tomatoes, with garlic, dry sherry, with leeks, with cream. I get bored with potatoes fast, so I just started doing some weird things one day. I happened to have some chicken stock sitting there to make this other tomato dish, and I spilled white wine in it. I got a brainstorm that it might be pretty good in the potatoes." His accidental creation of a delicious potato dish won him a chafing award in a food show in Albany, N.Y., after he had perfected it.

When baking his favorite pies, Tuttle says, "the crust is not only made from white flour, but also wheat flour. So it again goes back to my loving breads. I love grainy breads, and I love wheat breads, so this just gives a nice touch to a different pie. It gives it a grainy touch, almost, and it flakes very nicely." For the creamiest cheesecake you ever tasted, Tuttle recommends whipping the filling for a very long time. "When I say a long time," he says, "I mean, if you think you're done whipping it, whip it just as long as you've just finished, then it'll be done."

Below is a complete menu of Gary Tuttle's favorite dishes, selected to complement each other:

HERB BREAD

2 cups milk
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 envelopes active dry yeast
2 eggs, well beaten
1 teaspoon powdered nutmeg or cloves
2 teaspoons crumbled dried sage

4 teaspoons caraway seeds
1 teaspoon dried rosemary
1 teaspoon dried dill
7 1/2-8 cups pre-sifted flour
1/2 cup melted butter
Scald milk. Stir in sugar and salt; cool to lukewarm. Add yeast. Stir well until completely dissolved. Add eggs, nutmeg, herbs and 4 cups of flour. Beat until smooth. Add butter and enough of the remaining flour to make a soft dough that is easy to handle. Turn onto a lightly floured board. Knead until smooth and elastic. Place onto a lightly floured board. Knead until smooth and elastic. Place dough in greased bowl. Let rise for about 2 hours or until doubled in bulk. Grease 2 loaf pans. Punch dough down. Divide in half. Fill each pan, cover, let rise again 1 hour, or until doubled. Preheat oven to 425°. Bake 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 375°. Bake 35 minutes. A nice addition is two teaspoons of celery seeds.

CHEDDAR CHEESE SOUP
4 tablespoons (1/2 stick) butter
4 tablespoons flour
1 1/2 quarts milk, room temperature
2 cups chicken stock

2 cups grated cheddar cheese
1/4 cup diced celery
1/4 cup diced onions
1/4 cup diced carrots
1/4 teaspoon minced garlic
salt and pepper
2 tablespoons Sherry

In 4-quart saucepan, melt 3 tablespoons butter. Add flour and stir to make roux. Remove from heat, add milk and stir with wire whisk until creamy. Return to medium heat and add chicken stock and cheese. Simmer 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Meanwhile, in 10-inch skillet, saute onions, celery, carrots and garlic in remaining butter until onions and celery are soft and not brown, about 5 to 10 minutes. Strain soup and return to saucepan. Add vegetables and mix well. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Just before serving, stir in Sherry. Serves 6 to 8.

ROAST LEG OF LAMB
One 5 to 6 pound leg of lamb, trimmed of fat
3 cloves garlic, cut thin (Julienne)
dried rosemary
1/2 cup cold water
1/2 cup dry red wine

1 to 2 tablespoons tamar (a low-salt soy sauce available at health food stores), or to taste one bunch fresh mint or parsley for garnish mint jelly for garnish
Preheat oven to 500°. Wipe roast with damp cloth. Slash skin in a dozen places and insert strips of fresh garlic. Sprinkle top of lamb with dried rosemary. Put lamb in shallow roasting pan and pour in cold water. Seal lamb in oven until well browned on all sides. Reduce oven to 350° and continue roasting until meat reaches desired doneness, about 18 minutes per pound for medium rare.

Remove roast to warm platter. Let stand 5 minutes before slicing. Remove as much fat as possible from pan. Pour red wine and tamar into roasting pan. Place over low heat on top of stove. Stir up lamb bits from bottom of pan to include in sauce. Cook slightly until reduced. Pour sauce over thinly sliced meat. Garnish with mint jelly. Serves 8 to 10.

POTATOES IN WINE
6 medium potatoes, about 5 cups, peeled and thinly sliced (1/4 inch slices)
1/2 cup dry white wine
1/2 cup chicken broth
1/2 cup unsalted butter, melted
1/2 bunch green onions, minced
1/2 teaspoon dried dill
salt and pepper to taste

Preheat oven to 400°. Butter an 11 1/2"x7 1/2" two-quart glass baking dish. Fill with potato slices. In small bowl, combine wine, broth, butter, green onions, dill, salt and pepper. Pour over potatoes. Liquid should come up at least halfway to top of pan. Cover with foil and bake until tender, about 40 minutes.

Topping:
1 egg
1/2 cup cream
paprika for garnish
In small bowl, beat together egg, cream and about 2 to 3 tablespoons of liquid from top of potatoes. Sprinkle lightly with paprika and bake until top is brown and crusty, about 20 minutes longer. Serves 6 to 8.

MICHAEL'S CHEESECAKE Crust:
1 cup flour
1/2 cup brown sugar, lightly packed
1/2 cup butter, melted

Preheat oven to 350°. Combine flour, brown sugar. Stir in butter. Mix with hands until consistency of dough is light and crumbly. Place 1/4 the dough in a 9-inch deep dish pie pan or a springform pan. Cover with aluminum foil weighed down with beans. Bake until crust is set and lightly browned, about 10 to 12 minutes. Remove beans and foil and allow center to dry in oven for at least 3 minutes. Remove from oven and let cool.
Cheese Filling:
two 8-ounce packages cream cheese, room temperature
1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs
5 tablespoons whipping cream
2 teaspoons vanilla
juice of lemon
In large bowl with electric mixer, beat cream cheese with sugar until smooth. Beat in eggs, cream, vanilla and lemon juice blending well. Pour mixture into crust. Sprinkle with reserved dough crumbs. Return to oven and bake until edges of cheese cake become golden brown, about 20 to 25 minutes. Refrigerate at least 3 to 4 hours before serving.

DEEP DISH STRAWBERRY AND APPLE PIE
Crust:
1/2 cup all purpose flour
1/2 cup whole wheat flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup solid vegetable shortening, or lard, chilled
3 tablespoons ice water
1 slightly fresh lemon juice
In bowl, combine flours and salt. Cut in lard with pastry blender or two knives until mixture resembles coarse meal. Add water and lemon juice and mix with fork until dough leaves sides of bowl. Divide dough in half. Roll out one half and line an 8x8-inch baking pan or 10-inch deep dish pie pan. Roll other half for top crust and set aside.

Filling:
2 to 2 1/2 tablespoons sugar
1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 teaspoon cinnamon
4 large, tart apples, peeled, cored and thinly sliced
1 pint strawberries, halved
1 tablespoon butter
Preheat oven to 400°. In a 3-quart mixing bowl, combine sugar, cornstarch and cinnamon. Add apples and toss to coat evenly. Arrange half in lined pan. Layer with half of strawberries. Repeat with remaining apples, then remaining strawberries. Dot with butter. Cover with top crust and cut vents. Bake until crust is firm and lightly browned, about 30 minutes. Serves 4 to 6.

Fungus Infection May Run Its Course

DEAR DR. GOTT: My son has just developed histoplasmosis of the eyes. How is this cured?
DEAR READER: Histoplasmosis is a fungus infection that rarely needs treatment. It runs its course and, after healing, leaves scars in lungs, lymph glands and the eyes. Ordinarily, the scars themselves do not affect health.

A more serious form, called progressive histoplasmosis, can sometimes be fatal and can infect large areas of the body. The problem faced by doctors is to determine whether the histoplasmosis is "burned out" (leaving scars) or whether it is active and requires treatment. Special blood tests can help differentiate between active and inactive forms of the disease. If your son lives in an area — such as the Mississippi and Ohio River valleys — where histoplasmosis is endemic (very common), he may simply be showing the innocuous consequences of the infection. Nevertheless, his ophthalmologist will wish to test him in the event that the eye lesions reflect active disease and, hence, should be treated.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm female, 60 and play senior tennis tournaments. During matches, my heart beats rapidly, I become lightheaded and tired, and my arms seem to be made of lead. I'm 5 feet 1 and weigh 100 pounds. Your natural advice would be "give up tennis," but it gives me real pleasure. Should I worry?

DEAR READER: As a tennis player, my "natural advice" is: Don't give up the sport! However, I do encourage you to see a doctor, because the symptoms you describe may indicate illness. In particular, you may be anemic or have a heart condition that needs attention.

At rest, our bodies have a basic metabolic demand. This demand is increased enormously when we exercise. Your tennis-induced fatigue and rapid heartbeat suggest that your system is overworking in order to supply your muscles with the oxygen necessary for strenuous activity. If you are anemic, less oxygen is carried in the blood cells; if your heart's efficiency is impaired, less blood — and less oxygen — will circulate. See a doctor and get checked out before your next tennis match. For further inspiration, I'm sending you a free copy of my Health Report, EATING RIGHT FOR A HEALTHY HEART, which offers suggestions on how

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
 Although six no-trump was a good contract, it could be set with a diamond lead. But West made the normal safe lead of the heart jack. That gave declarer time. He won his heart ace, played a club to dummy and a spade toward his queen. West took the king and switched to a diamond. Although it was a 50 percent chance that West held the diamond king, declarer knew that a defender is not likely to lead away from a king against a slam when he sees the dummy with A-10. (Declarer might hold Q-x-x of diamonds and this would be the only way to make a second trick in the suit.) So South won dummy's diamond ace, cashed out the high clubs and hearts, and eventually played ace of spades and a spade to dummy's jack. When the 10 did not fall, the slam failed. There is a way to preserve all options. Ideally declarer would like first to find out if the spade 10 is coming down before taking the diamond finesse. At trick two, South should play a low spade away from his A-Q up to dummy's jack. If East has the spade king, he will not be able to attack diamonds. If West has the king and takes it, declarer has 12 tricks (the A-Q and J of spades, plus nine others.) If the spade jack wins in dummy, declarer can come to his hand and take the diamond finesse. Although it loses, he will have 12 tricks (two diamonds, two spades, and eight winners in clubs and hearts.)

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

By Bernice Bede Osol
JANUARY 14, 1988
 Dare to be a bolder person in the year ahead. Establish definite objectives financially and careerwise. Don't be afraid to try methods others don't endorse.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You will be greatly influenced by the company you keep today. Fortunately, you'll be associating with nice people, but they could have extravagant tastes. Major changes are ahead for Capricorns in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If there is a secret ambition you want to fulfill today, don't allow yourself to be sidetracked by outside influences. Home in on your target.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)

Don't let someone create complications for you today just because this person doesn't like certain people that you do. It's not your problem.
ARIES (March 21-April 19) There are people who might try to trip you up today, but they'll have very tiny feet. A little deft maneuvering on your behalf will enable you to skip over them.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) The reason you've been unable to resolve a problem could be due to the angle from which you've been viewing it. A fresh slant may provide the elusive answer.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't look for an easy out today in a tedious career matter. The sure-fire way to shift the tide in your favor can only be accomplished through hard work.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your performance level will be up a few notches today, so strive to make the most of it. Don't worry about making a few boo-boos. They can easily be corrected.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Something you thought could be easily accomplished today may turn out to be a bit more difficult than you had anticipated. Nevertheless, you won't be confronted by anything you can't overcome.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) In order to further a personal interest today, you may be required to take a chance. Don't be afraid to gamble if you feel the odds are in your favor.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Should you buy anything expensive today, be sure to keep the sales slip and the warranty. There's a slim possibility that you may need one or both.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You are likely to be better at making money today than you will be at making friends. However, if you put your mind to it, you can do both equally well.

'Philly' Contest Winners Announced

Creamy Chicken And Pasta Dish, Spicy Pear Tart Take Top Prizes

A creamy chicken and pasta main dish and a spicy pear tart were judged grand prize winners in the 1987 "Philly" Hall of Fame Recipe Contest sponsored by Philadelphia Brand cream cheese.

The creators of these original recipes had never previously entered a food competition, but believed enough in their enthusiasm for cooking to take the plunge.

The two grand prize entries have been tested by the Kraft Kitchens and are presented here to provide inspiration for would-be entrants to the third annual "Philly" Hall of Fame Recipe Contest coming up this spring.

Stephen Thomas, 40, a freelance writer from Bethlehem, PA, won the Main & Side Dish category of the contest for his "Sautéed Chicken Breasts in Cream Sauce." He credits his mom for his strong interest and capabilities in cooking. "My mother raised four boys and believed a man should do things for himself," he explains. "Although both my wife and I cook, I'm the one who is always experimenting in the kitchen."

It was one of Stephen's experiments which resulted in the winning entry. "It was actually a leftover meal," says Stephen. "I wanted to make a sour cream sauce, but there was none in the refrigerator. I spotted the cream cheese, so I used that. I thought the sauce was a bit too thick at first. Since I was drinking a beer at the time, I added some to the sauce—that's the kind of cook I am."

Stephen's wife and stepson pronounced the dish supreme and encouraged Stephen to enter the competition.

Jane Exline, 24, a computer operator from Milwaukee, WI, shares a similar enthusiasm for creating in the kitchen. Jane's entry, "Caramelized Gingersnap Pear Tart," winner in the Cookies & Desserts category, was a result of her love of baking and preparing dishes from scratch. Her interest in cooking began as a little girl, when she worked alongside her grandmother who showed her all the basics of baking.

Jane prepared the tart especially for the contest, starting with pears and ginger, two of her favorite ingredients. "The rich cream cheese topping," she says, "just seemed to be the perfect complement."

Upon returning from their grand prize, all-expense paid trip to San Francisco, Stephen and Jane had these encouraging words for future entrants: "You never know until you try. It was great fun!"

The two were among 6,444 contestants from across the country. From this total, 20 semifinalist recipes were selected and taste-tested by a distinguished panel of judges which included Jeff Smith, "The Frugal Gourmet."

Winners in the other two categories were Debbie Vanni from Libertyville, IL, for Appetizers & Snacks and Kim Marsden from Renton, WA, for Cheesecakes.

Entries for the 1988 competition will be accepted from March 1 to June 30. Contestants must submit an original recipe using as an ingredient a minimum of one 8-ounce package of Philadelphia Brand cream cheese.

The Grand Prize this year for the four winners is a trip to New Orleans for two from April 13-17, 1989. In addition, the winners will be featured in an ad to appear in the October 1989 issue of the prestigious national magazine, Better Homes & Gardens.

For a complete set of contest rules, see the specially marked packages of Philadelphia Brand cream cheese or send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to "PHILLY" Hall of Fame Recipe Contest Rules, P.O. Box 1225, Skokie, IL 60076-8225.

SAUTEED CHICKEN BREASTS IN CREAM SAUCE

- 2 whole chicken breasts, split, boned, skinned
- 2 tablespoons margarine
- 1 1/2 cups mushroom slices
- 1 cup celery slices
- 1/2 medium onion, thinly sliced
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon dried basil leaves, crushed
- 1/2 teaspoon dried chervil, crushed
- 1/2 teaspoon dried thyme leaves, crushed
- 1/2 cup dry white wine or sherry
- 1 8-ounce package cream cheese, cubed
- 1/2 cup milk
- 2 1/2 cups (8 ounces) tricolor corkscrew noodles, cooked, drained

Cut chicken into strips. Melt margarine in large skillet; add chicken, vegetables and seasonings. Cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, 10 minutes or until chicken is tender. Add 2 tablespoons wine; simmer 5 minutes. Combine cream cheese, milk and remaining wine in saucepan; stirring over low heat until smooth. To serve, place noodles on serving platter. Top with chicken mixture and cream cheese mixture. Garnish with fresh basil, if desired. 4 to 6 servings.

CARAMELIZED GINGERSNAP PEAR TART

- 1 1/2 cups gingersnap cookies crumbs
- 1/2 cup finely chopped nuts
- 1/2 cup margarine, melted
- 2 8-ounce packages cream cheese, softened
- 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 2 tablespoons pear nectar or pear brandy
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Sautéed chicken breasts and gingered pear tart win contest.

- 3 ripe pears, peeled, thinly sliced
- 1/4 cup packed dark brown sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
- Combine crumbs, nuts and margarine; press into bottom and sides of 10-inch quiche dish or 9-inch pie plate. Bake at 350°, 5 minutes. Cool.
- Combine cream cheese and granulated sugar, mixing at medium speed on electric mixer until well blended. Blend in nectar and vanilla. Pour over crust; spread evenly. Cover; chill several - hours or overnight.

- Arrange pears on top of cream cheese mixture. Sprinkle with combined brown sugar and ginger. Broil 3 to 5 minutes or until sugar is melted and bubbly. Serve immediately. Garnish with strawberry, if desired.
- 6 to 8 servings.
- Variation: Substitute 16-ounce can pear halves, drained, thinly sliced, for fresh pears.

Shortcut To Tasty Treats

Old Fashioned Praline Pecan Rolls are fun to make with the time-saving convenience of frozen bread ready-dough. You get home-baked goodness and freshness without mixing or kneading of dough. And frozen bread dough only needs to rise once!

Your Praline Pecan Rolls will be tender and delicious with half the work. No one will know the bread wasn't made from scratch!

Try this recipe for tempting, sticky Pecan rolls and enjoy an old-time favorite.

OLD FASHIONED PRALINE PECAN ROLLS

- 1 (one-pound) loaf frozen bread ready-dough
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted
- 1/4 cup brown sugar
- 1/2 cup pecan halves
- Filling:
- 1/2 cup chopped pecans
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons flour

Let dough thaw until pliable. (Dough may be thawed overnight in the refrigerator or in the microwave oven for 6 minutes on LOW power.) Place 4 tablespoons melted butter in bottom of a well greased 13" x 9" cake pan.

Sprinkle 1/4 cup brown sugar and 1/2 cup pecan halves over butter. On a lightly floured board, roll dough out to a 10"x14" rectangle. Brush with 2 tablespoons melted butter. Combine filling ingredients and sprinkle evenly over dough. Beginning with 10-inch side, roll dough up tightly in jelly roll fashion. Pinch dough along edge to seal. Slice rolled dough into 12 pieces. Place slices cut side down in prepared pan.

Praline pecan rolls are made the time-saving way.

Brush dough with remaining butter. Let rise until rolls have doubled in size (2-3 hours). Bake in a 350° oven for 25 minutes or until golden brown. Carefully invert rolls onto serving platter at once (syrup is very hot!). Makes 12 rolls.

Potpourri

Dazzle Guests With Potato, Carrot Bundles

SWEET POTATO AND CARROT BUNDLES

You're able to dazzle guests with these eye-catching vegetable packages that can be assembled ahead and stored tightly wrapped in the refrigerator until minutes before dinner. At serving time, dip each bundle in the egg-and-herb mixture and bake as directed below. Go ahead, let your guests believe you fussed.

- 2 medium sweet potatoes
- 2 large carrots, peeled and cut into julienne
- 3 medium parsnips, peeled and cut into julienne
- 2 eggs
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
- 1 teaspoon dried marjoram, crushed or
- 1 tablespoon snipped fresh marjoram
- 1 tablespoon grated fresh ginger root
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 10' to 12, 8-inch chives or green onion tops, blanched

Cook sweet potatoes covered, in enough boiling salted water to cover for 30 to 35 minutes or until tender around the outer edges but slightly firm in center. When cool enough to handle, peel potatoes and cut into julienne. Meanwhile, cook carrots and parsnips in enough boiling salted water to cover for 10 to 12 minutes or until tender. Drain and cool.

To assemble, in medium bowl gently toss together cooked sweet potatoes, carrots and parsnips. In small bowl combine eggs, melted butter, gingerroot, marjoram, salt and pepper. Working with one portion of the julienne mixture at a time, form a bundle about 1-inch in diameter. Gently tie bundle together with one chive or green onion. Holding chive securely in place, dip bundle into egg mixture till well-coated. Place on greased baking sheet. Repeat with remaining julienne mixture and chives. Bake in a 375° oven for 10 to 12 minutes or till set. Makes 10 to 12 side-dish servings.

CORN AND OYSTER CHOWDER

The secret to success when you prepare this quick and easy soup is keeping the heat low. This guarantees the soup's velvety-smooth texture.

- 1 10-ounce package frozen cut corn
- 1/2 pound leeks, cut into 1/2-inch slices (1 1/2 cups)
- 1 teaspoon instant chicken bouillon granules
- 1/4 teaspoon white pepper
- Dash salt
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 bay leaf
- 2 cups milk
- 5 slices processed Swiss cheese cut in small pieces
- 2 8-ounce cans whole oysters
- Fresh chives
- Julienne of red pepper

In a 3-quart saucepan combine corn, leeks, bouillon granules, white pepper, salt, bay leaf and 1/4 cup water. Bring to a boil; reduce heat. Cover and simmer over medium heat for 6 to 8 minutes or until vegetables are crisp-tender. Do not drain. Stir in milk. Cook and stir over low heat for 2 to 3 minutes or until milk is heated through. Stir in undrained oysters. Heat through. Remove bay leaf. Ladle into individual serving bowls. Garnish with chives and red pepper.
