New York Giants, Chicago Cubs Are Running Riot In Spring Season Contests

By David J. Walsh
International News Service
Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Apr. 5.—If early speed could be made to mean anything more than it usually does, which is approximately nothing, the New York Giants and the Chicago Cubs would figure today to make a two-club matter of the National League event this season. This pair is running riot through its exhibition schedules and with-out question both of them are yards beyond the rest of the field in the midst of Spring development.

That goes for both leagues, too, as the Yanks, Senators and Red Sox have fared poorly or not at all in their inter-league series; the Athletics and Browns have done nothing about what to ring the gong in the old town bell'ry and the Tigers, White Sox and Indians have been occupied largely with Minor League outfits.

Compared with the Giants and Cubs, the champion Pirates and the ex-champion Cardinals have looked simply immense—like a flat foot in a florist's window. The Pirates, as a matter of fact, have furnished most of the sustenance for the Clubs' record of fourteen victories in their first sixteen exhibition games. The 1927 champions having been knocked off for five straight up to yesterday.

This performance might come as slightly more acceptable to McCarthey if it happened in Sept. instead of Mar., but it represents fairly enough the Spring spirit of the two contenders at bat.

The answer is that "Kiki" Cuyler and Jack Wilson have gone on a hitting debauch and this added to excellent pitching, has sent the Cubs careering along at a mad pace. If they really have infield weaknesses, these will become more apparent when Cuyler and Wilson decide to step back into character. This, they must inevitably do unless we have misjudged them these several years. Nobody, for example, could expect Cuyler to maintain his crazy pace of the first fourteen games, during which he scored no less than twenty-two runs, got twenty-six hits for fifty-one total bases, socked seven home runs, and hit .434. Meantime Wilson was getting six homers in his first twelve games and hitting .381. How could the Cubs go on with that kind of hitting behind steadily and sometimes brilliant pitching? The fact is they couldn't and didn't.

The Giants' streak of clever straight was brought up to date yesterday with another victory over the Washington Senators. McGraw certainly has the ball about moving along, and if there is anything permanent about the recent hitting of men like O'Doul and Cohen, the outfit is made. However, I'll be polite and let some else try to answer that one.

All I can venture is that the Giants to me lose two nice in-line pitchers a few days ago in Benton and Henry, who allowed the Senators only three runs over eight innings, which is pitching this time of the year; that the club is hitting far over its collective head and that Hough is ready for the season's opening for the first time in years.

It would be strange if the Giants won after trading Hornsby for Luke McFaker and his brother would it not? No, Gregory, it wouldn't be strange at all. It would be almost a miracle.

American Tennis Players Will Compete With Team Of Mexicans Tomorrow

BY DAVID J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Apr. 5.—Just one of the masses now—the great or really masses, designated from right to left by those who are rich and those who only hope to be—American lawn tennis is about to begin the tedious back-trick over the trail that all but champions must travel. It's a long way to Paris, as Herr Hohenzollern discovered, so America will start today from Mexico City, one of the rules of the contest being that all Davis Cup challengers must take the worst of it or the air, in the order named.

In line with that idea, the American team, which for upward of eight years tolled an upward of 11,000 and German while waiting for the advance is now miles into a foreign country and will begin its first round matches tomorrow at an altitude thousands of feet above sea level. This is the only break the Mexicans figure to get, at that. Unless air tennis has fallen on away fifty per cent, Tilden et al could win this round match in their street clothes.

However, the event is only a foothill of the long upward climb before them. If they take it in stride, they can look forward to Kansas City, which I understand is one of the things you do to that town. If successful against Mexico, they will play China at the mid-western metropolis on May 24, 25 and 26. Laundry baskets won't be permitted on the courts, so it is presumed that America will survive this one, too. That being the case, they will be asked to appear next at Chicago on June 1, 2, 3, where the survivor of the Canadian-Cuba series will be ready for the American zone final. Japan and America generally are esteemed as the probable American zone finalists. If we win that one, we then can start for the scene of real show down, to wit Europe.

By that time, too, he will be up to the war time strength with Francis T. Hunter, and perhaps Dick Williams and George Lott added to the squad. American is composed of Tilden, White, Alston, Johnny Hennessey, Junior Conn and Arnold Jones and E. T. Bennett, which for upward of eight years tolled an upward of 11,000 and German while waiting for the advance is now miles into a foreign country and will begin its first round matches tomorrow at an altitude thousands of feet above sea level. LARGE CROWD HEARS SPEECH OF MRS. OWEN repeated laughter and applause from the audience with her tales of Oriental merchants as found in the bazaars.

One story concerned a high British General she took shopping to the bazaar. She stopped at a perfume seller's and the merchanta squinted the officer with all kinds of perfume. Then she said the officer went to a staff meeting and found his fellow officers sitting as far from him as possible.

She told of meeting Colonel Lawrence, the 24 year-old Englishman who went among the Arabs and led their revolt against the Turks. At that time this young man was called the "Uncrowned King of Arabia." She said he was a successful leader in spite of his youth because he dressed as an Arab and knew all their customs. She told of meeting him on the street one day in Cairo. He was dressed in Arab costume and she asked him if he had just ridden over from Arabia. He said no, he had come by plane from Damascus and that he had brought a wreath of the Kaiser's, which had been a landmark there, to the museum of Cairo.

She described in detail the entry of the victorious British and Arab army into Jerusalem after the officers had dismounted from their horses and automobiles. She told how a British army cook was the first soldier to enter the city when he was searching for eggs and how the populace attempted to surrender to him.

She told how she saw a picture, in a building erected by the Kaiser in his honor, which portrayed him in company with Matthew, Mark, Luke and John, and another picture in the same building of the Kaiser's family and the Holy Family. She told how the star she was wearing had come to her from the defeated Turkish general, who when he found his men were starving surrendered to the British because they provided food. She said the British soldiers built a shelter of palm branches to protect the defeated officers from the blaze of the sun.

In closing her speech, Mrs. Owen urged that every means be employed to bring more voters to the polls than the 45 per cent which usually casts its ballot.

Circuit Judge Wallace W. Wright presided Mrs. Owen on the program. He talked on Law Enforcement and National Defense. During his speech he urged that love for and respect of the law must be taught to children in the home, the school and the churches, if the people of America want law enforcement better in the future than it is today. He said law was the result of the best thought of all ages and that all laws in the United States are based on the old English common law which was handed down by English

When a man has been tried in office and has succeeded, it is best to return him, but where he has been found wanting, it is best to look for another.

Chauncey Depew returned North too soon. It is always best for tourists to wait until April showers have melted the winter snows before leaving the sunshine of Florida.

We have no personal criticism to make of those who bet on horse races but we condemn the hypocrisy of the man who seeks to link God with gambling in the same platform.

Tom Heeney says that when he needs Gene Tunney the champion will know there's been a fight going on. We don't doubt it at all. But Heeney won't know much about the fight until he reads about it in the papers.

Mrs. Rosebud Hudson has been selected as "Miss Chattahoochee, the Queen of Chattahoochee county. Now we don't know as we would want to be known as "Miss Chattahoochee" even if we were the prettiest one there.

President Mase of the state hotel association said recently: "Every hotel operator is aware of the vicious propaganda and adverse public sentiment that existed against the hotels after the boom. That feeling has been changed and the attitude of the public now is one of general kindness."

Candidates for Governor of the State are firing broadsides in each other. Catts is taking it out on Carson, Carson on Catts, Hathaway on Carlton and Carlton on Hathaway. Old Catts is a candidate. He member how the election turned out last time. We looked for Catts to be bottom count man, but he was near the top. We believe that Hathaway is leading for the Governorship at this time, though, and will have Catts to beat. Hate to believe that way, but such is such—Catts Tribune.

The British empire on which the sun never sets is "ruled" by a man who weighs 150 pounds. King George got himself weighed at the British Industries Fair at Birmingham, Eng., the other day. But the man, who saw the weighing, refused to admit to it himself. "Oh, dear, no, thank you!" she exclaimed, backing off. She is either above or below what she thinks a queen should weigh, whatever that is, we guess.—Lake Land Ledger. Have you ever seen a woman who did weigh what she thought she ought to weigh?

Chauncey Depew

The death of Chauncey Depew has removed from the sphere of the living one of the most remarkable men in the history of this country. Beginning life as he did in 1834 he has been a prominent figure on the stage of business and politics for nearly seventy years.

In politics he began to command attention when scarcely thirty. At the age of twenty-seven he was elected to the New York legislature where he served several terms. In 1888 he started going to Republican conventions and thereafter did not miss a one until 1924 when a slight indisposition prevented him from going to Cleveland.

Although serving his state in the United States Senate for twelve years, Mr. Depew declined more governmental offices than he accepted. In 1885 he declined an election to the Senate, and during Harrison's administration he refused an appointment as ambassador to Japan, and also the portfolio of secretary of state.

But far out-doing his career in politics was his success in business. At the time of his appointment to the embassy in Tokio, he was offered the position of general counsel to the New York and Harlem railroad and it took considerable persuasion on the part of Commodore Vanderbilt to turn the brilliant young Depew to the railroad field.

Depew's greatest claim to fame undoubtedly rests, not on his success in politics or business, but in his ability as an orator and after-dinner speaker and his reputation as a philosopher and humorist. There was a time when no man was in greater demand at New York banquets, and no monument could be unveiled or memorial dedicated without an oration by Depew.

The secret of Depew's longevity lay, not so much in his failure to indulge in excesses of any kind or in the extreme care he exercised over his physical well being, as in his incurable spirit of optimism. He often said, "I've always been an optimist. My father and my grandfather died of the blues, and I decided to look at things differently. The way to be contented with life is to be contented."

A Friend Of Florida

The Manufacturers Record often has nice things to say about Florida. Since the boom its editor, Richard H. Edmonds, has never failed to come to the front in defense of Florida. Writing recently of the excitement of 1925, he said, "The boom was a tremendous advertisement for this whole Southeast because it made the nation discuss this section as never before."

"Florida's resources in its fishing industry are a great source of large wealth. An ocean and gulf frontage of over 2,000 miles, and inland rivers and lakes teeming with fish for local consumption and for shipment elsewhere, never went away, and, therefore, never had to come back."

"Florida's growing lumbering interests and all the ramifications of this industry and the increased attention that is being given to forestry have remained at home and never had to come back."

"The splendid hotels which dot the entire state are there for permanency. Some of them were there long before the town-lot boom. Some of them were built as an outcome of that boom. They are there to stay. They never went away, and as the years go by and some of the exaggerated prices put on some of these properties have been adjusted, the tide of tourists will keep on increasing and all the hotel facilities of Florida will be needed to take care of this ever-swelling tide of people who for pleasure or health seek to escape the biting blasts of Northern and Western winters, and bask in the sunshine and health-giving qualities of Florida climate."

"Florida's wonderful system of highways covering the whole state not only never went away, but has kept on rapidly growing until that state has become known nation-wide for its superb roads and therefore it is a permanent asset of measureless value."

"The Florida of the orange grove, and the grapefruit grove, is still there, and has never gone away. Every year it is increasing its acreage in citrus fruits, and as its marketing system is developed to make more certain of securing the best results for the growers and the best of oranges and grapefruit for the consumer, the demand will increase as rapidly as production."

"The Florida whose soil and sunshine combine to make this the vegetable garden of the nation is still there. It never went away."

"Florida is here to stay, here to grow, here to command the ever-increasing attention of the nation, here to draw thousands and tens of thousands of well-to-do people and the great rich and people of moderate means who can find in this climate renewed health and strength, and win a longer life thereby than they could possibly have had if they had not caught the joy of spending a few months every winter, or a lifetime in Florida."

"ORGANS" AND NEWSPAPERS

The Times-Union refuses publication to news stories of the Doyle Carlton meetings and speeches. It does not permit their editorial preference to close their columns to the news of the campaign, which must include the utterances and activities of all candidates. And that is just the difference between an "organ" and a newspaper. The Tampa papers, although vigorously supporting Carlton, print in their news columns accounts of the Hathaway meetings and speeches. They do not permit their editorial preference to close their columns to the news of the campaign, which must include the utterances and activities of all candidates.

DON MELLET'S VICTORY

The jury's verdict at Canton Mellett fought, and fighting for which he lost his life. The work is going on, to completion, and at its completion justice will be done.

In the same issue of The News we find a news story of remarkable significance. It gives the annual police reports and these show that whereas ten homicides occurred in Canton in the first seven months of 1926, no one has been murdered since July 16, when Don Mellett was assassinated. So he died that others might live.

The conviction of Patrick McDermott, the paid assassin of much worse people than he, takes its place as one of the notable incidents in the history of American journalism. It followed an exposure, officially confirmed in a criminal court, of one of the worst failures of government ever recorded.

Not only were the processes of the law impotent at Canton, but public servants were found to be the venal partners of a coterie of murderous crooks and prostitutes that snapped their fingers in the face of law, order and civic decency.

But worse—the big revelation concerned the cowardice of a supreme public. Don Mellett knew only what hundreds and perhaps thousands of his fellow citizens knew. He alone had the red blood to stand out and call the bluff. And when friends slaughtered him there were people in Canton who deplored, not this monstrous act, but the "bad name" Canton might get.

Sometimes the heart sinks as a stone in contemplation of a type of American, insensible to emotion when the cause is inhuman and altruistic—the greedy and small-souled hushers and slushers we all come to know in our travels.

Through the sacrifice of the brave young editor's blood the fair name of Canton has been redeemed. That is what has happened. The conviction of McDermott is a social and political vindication. It is notice to the world that justice still sits her throne at Canton. A man and his family may live there in safety and decency. "Decency and the law will rule here, hereafter," said an editorial in The Canton News of last Sunday. "It was to establish such conduct, to make clean the city he loved, to break the unholy alliance between the sworn officers of the law and criminals, that Don

Bebe Daniels Stars In Picture At Milane

When Bebe Daniels gets her man he stays "got". Having captured Richard Arlen after the romantic chase over the hot sands in "She's A Sheik," her last starring comedy for Paramount, Miss Daniels retains Arlen as her leading man in her latest picture, "Feel My Pulse" which is shown at the Milane Theater today.

And thus does Paramount answer the public demand of "We Want Arlen" that has been going up and down Broadway since the opening of "Wings", road-show sensation of all time, in which Arlen has a featured role with Charles Rogers and Clara Bow. Arlen's performance in "Wings" has made him an overnight sensation.

The associate producer of Paramount pictures announced that Arlen would play the lead with Mary Brian in "Under The Tonto Rim," the next Zane Grey western to be made at the Hollywood studio. This picture was made under the direction of John Waters before production of "Feel My Pulse" started.

Health HINTS

PROTRUDING AND BLEEDING HEMORRHOIDS

An Orlando business man, age 48, came in complaining of hemorrhoids that protruded and bled a great deal. There was also a great deal of pain, he had poor digestion and was troubled with constipation like most of these cases of hemorrhoids. Physical examination disclosed nothing very alarming but the piles were very bad, and were giving him a great deal of pain and trouble.

He was given the regular annual method for treating hemorrhoids, was given our special diet, and internal medicated baths. Within forty-eight hours there was great relief and he gradually improved until now, not only are his hemorrhoids and constipation gone, but he claims to feel one hundred percent better.

$30,000 LOPPED OFF MUNICIPAL EXPENSE LISTS

$300 a year from the salary of Municipal Judge Weyman E. White, making his new salary $600 a year. They ordered that no addition police equipment be purchased and that the officers should wear their last summer's uniforms, if they had them, or their winter uniforms to save the cost of new ones.
Dr. C. E. Vincent was appointed to take over the work formerly done by Dr. Frank Field, city bacteriologist, who was discharged following his arrest and confinement in the city jail last Monday. The vacating of that office will save the city approximately $2,100 annually. The bacteriologist was also city sanitary inspector. The office of city building and electrical inspector was also abolished at a saving of $2,100 a year. City Manager George H. Cairnes will take charge of the inspection work.
The commission's final swing was at the municipal golf course which is costing the city approximately $7,500 a year to operate. The course will, in all probability, be closed after May 1. Mayor Housholder told the commission they could sell the course to Edward Higgins for $15,000 and that he would undertake to maintain it. No action was taken on this matter. Commissioner Miller suggested leasing the course but the matter was temporarily dropped.
The commissioners will consider further steps toward economy Monday and may possibly change some of the actions they have already voted upon.

Celery Markets

Bureau of Agricultural Economics co-operating with the Florida State Bureau of Markets.—R. E. Corbin, Local Representative

Sixty-eight cars of celery rolled out of Sanford Section yesterday. Fourteen from Manatee District, making the Florida total 82; 17 were shipped from Southern Calif. which brought the U. There is no change in the f. o. b. market. Demand was just fair, and the market about steady. Some cars are rolling unsold, but sales are made each day at about the prices, which have prevailed for the past three or four weeks.

Thirty-three cars passed Potomac Yards and Cincinnati on the way to their following destinations: 10 New York, 6 Philadelphia, 4 Boston, 4 Montreal, 2 Buffalo, and 1 each Baltimore, Cleveland, Providence, Rochester, Syracuse, Washington, and Wilkes Barre.

Telegraphic report from Philadelphia this morning says that the weather is 56 clear. The supplies are moderate, the demand slow, and market dull. Police Seek Spouse Of Woman Killed By Small Automatic BROOKSVILLE, Fla., Apr. 6.—(INS)—Efforts were made by police to locate the husband of Mrs. A. F. Carselle, 40, whose body elad only in a single undergarment, stockings and one shoe, was found in an automobile near Hernando yesterday.

Mrs. Carselle, believed to be from a Georgia city, was killed by a bullet wound under the left eye, apparently made by a .25 calibre automatic, but the pistol was not found in the car.

Governor Addresses Citrus County Folks

INVERNESS, Apr. 6.—Belief that Citrus County will be the second that he will lose out of forty-four counties visited in his Senatorial race was expressed by Gov. John W. Martin before leaving for North Florida today. The executive made speeches here, at Crystal River and Homosassa yesterday taking his opponent to task for complaining about a "political machine" in Florida. Governor Martin told two hundred fifty people in the court house here last night that the Senator virtually admits defeat by such a plea. "The last resort of a defeated man is to cry that he has to fight a political machine," the Governor stated. "The only kind of a machine I control is the automobile that carries me over Florida, but the Senator will think he has been through a threshing machine before the election returns are counted. His man's trouble is that he never has faced a hard fight before and so he thinks he is in the grip of some kind of phantom machine."

Police are convinced that the murder was committed for motives other than robbery, because a purse containing $138 was found beside the body.

Only "the Fittest" Pass Tests of These Inspectors of Telephones

Sometimes in technical schools a practical joker will substitute a piece of hexagonal iron rod for the piece of steel that one of the school's embryo blacksmiths is to make into a chisel. As the substitute piece of metal looks exactly like the original, he painstakingly forms his chisel, heats it for tempering, watches the colors follow each other until the edge is just the proper shade of blue, plunges the iron into a tank of water, and proudly displays a fine looking chisel to the instructor.

But the instructor, knowing better than to trust to appearances, tries it out and soon comes back with a blunted tool and with the admonition that the pupil should be clever and be sure that he starts with the right kind of stock.

The same rule applies wherever products are fashioned. Indeed in the modern factories, thorough inspection of raw material does not take a back seat even for manufacturing laboratories or mills. For industrial plants long ago learned that even the most skilled of craftsmen working in the heat of factory buildings with the best of equipment cannot make good objects if their "steel" is not plain ordinary iron.

The importance of this phase of manufacturing is a large concern can be judged from a study of the list of raw materials needed by the Western Electric Company in its job of manufacturing telephones and other equipment for the Bell Telephone System. The list of raw materials includes not such men things as iron, copper, lumber, crystal rubber and the like, but also many manufactured articles, such

Pitching Staff Of Crackers Will Not Be Under Suspicion

ATLANTA, Apr. 5.—(INS)—In view of every man's legal right to be adjudged innocent until proven guilty, it seems a bit unfair that the Cracker pitching staff should be under suspicion at this particular time.

Right now Manager Bert Niehoff intends naming his flinging crew with Ray Francis, Sherrill Smith and Johnny Adeock, south paws, Red Bates, Art Olson, Russell Pence and Climax Bletcher, righthanders. On top of that he will get a good righthander from the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Outside of the pitching staff owner Red J. Spiller thinks he has a permanent contender, because of the following:

Best defense outfield in the league.

Walter, Gilbert, the best third sacker in the loop, and that also goes for Jim Poole, lanky guardian of first base.

Johany Brock has no peer as catcher.

At least six of the regulars will hit .300 or better.

The Crackers look like a hitting club this year. Max West, Billy Rhlei, Paul Strand and Jim Poole figure to hit well above .300 and Frankie Zouler and Walter Gilbert may be expected to hit perhaps better than that.

On the defensive side, the outlook looks encouraging. The key-stone sack seems to have been strengthened by Johnny Jones, who fields more accurately, and throws faster than Manuel Cueto did.

Poole looks like the best fielding first sacker since Ivy Griffin of the 1919 Crackers. If Gilbert hits .300 the general opinion is that he will be in the big leagues next year.

The outfielders will rob many of the poses of a hit. Zouler

East Fares Poorly In Prep Games For Basketball Title

CHICAGO, Apr. 5.—(INS)—The East had one lone hope today in the free-for-all "battle" being waged at the University of Chicago for the intercollegiate basketball championship of the United States. That one hope is aimed on a husky quintet from Bristol, Conn. A half dozen other Eastern teams have been routed by Southern and Western fives.

Bristol gave a noble exhibition covers left field like a mask and then there has been, general all around improvement in his work.

Wets is an old fashioned ball hawk while Strand has mastered the difficult art of sealing the rightfield bank and catching flies on the fly.

All in all, we look for the Crackers to be one two three before the first half of the season ends on June 27.

of skillful cage play late yesterday against Pine Bluff, Ark., the score was 14 to 13. The Easterners meet the tough Car Creek, Ky., five in a third round game today.

Vienna, Ga., leaped to prominence by swamping the highly touted Yankton, S. D., five, 42 to 21. Another Southern team that is making strong bid for the title is Mize, Miss., this flashy quintet triumphed yesterday over South Portland, Me., 29 to 19. Other second round results included:

St. George, Utah, 36; Purdy, Tenn., 20; Grand Forks, N. D., 33; Wilmington, N. C., 17; Oregon, Mo., 23; Spartanburg, S. C., 13.

HORRORS OF WAR WITH BIG PLANES TOLD BY EXPERT

Element of Surprise Which Made Possible by The Use Of The Air Will Be Factor Which Determines Next War

LONDON, Apr. 5.—(INS)—All the horrors of a future war and the super part which the aeroplane will play in it, are brought out in a book by Lieut. Col. P. T. Etherton, England's famous commander of the 51st Anti Aircraft Brigade in the London Air Defense, who organized the famous raid on London three years ago.

Bombing airplanes that will rise a good deal higher than Mount Everest, and travel over 300 miles an hour; diving towards the earth at a speed of 800 miles an hour; are among the astonishing properties made by Colonel Etherton in his book, "Adventures in the Continents," which has just been published in London.

Amazingly Rapid
"Future wars will be characterized by their amazing rapidity. Everything will depend upon the element of surprise," writes Colonel Etherton. "The declaration of war will synchronize with the departure of the enemy air fleet from the capital city. A thousand of these super bombing planes, able to cover 4,000 miles non-stop, and carry four tons of bombs, as they do now, would, if successful in penetrating the defenses, spread death and destruction in several forms. The damage to property would be enormous. The poison gases and vapors released from chemical bombs would render entire districts untenable.

Colonel Etherton points out that the countries involved will be at the mercy of the aeroplane in the next European war, which will probably be decided within six months.

The fast bombing planes, able to travel at not less than 300 miles an hour, will move in the sky at a height of 35,000 feet to 40,000 feet. They will move in safety through dense fog in the blackest of nights.

Fought In Air
"If gained by the opposite side not only would the point assailed be reduced to a gas-flooded, wrecked, and burning area, but the moral effect would be incalculable with a population flying from the doomed area, harassed by fast swooping airplanes dealing out bombs, sprays and poisonous vapors with pitiless persistency. After such a raid little would be left of a once prosperous city teeming with life and industry."

The immense height of the future air wars will call for super searchlights, and Colonel Etherton says, "The air war will be fought in the sky."

How Many Will You Save?

If your newly-arrived chicks could talk they would say: "Do not feed us until we are 72 hours old. We are supplied with food during this period by the remaining part of the egg yolks which we absorbed into our bodies just before we were hatched. When we are 72 hours old give us a feed which will provide life and growth vitamins." There are 1592 hatcheries which say, "Feed Purina." They know what it takes to keep chicks alive and growing. Explorer Of Arctic Believes Meat Diet Is Most Healthful

NEW YORK, Apr. 6.—(INS)— Vilhjalmur Stefansson, Arctic explorer has been substituting for two weeks on a 100 per cent meat diet. "It's O. K. for me at any rate," he said at the end of the twenty-third day. In fact, he "felt a little more energetic" than when he started. Stefansson has been eating nothing but meat for so long a period for the purpose of scientific demonstration. The experiment was conducted by the Russel Sage Institute of Pathology, a part of extensive study of diets which it has been carrying on for the past fifteen years. The institute wanted information on the effects of an exclusive meat diet on head production and blood pressure. Gains Weighd Karsten Anderson, who accompanied Stefansson on many of his Arctic expeditions, went him one better. He has been living on nothing but meat for nearly two months. At the end of that time Anderson reported no change in his physical well being. "I gained a few pounds, but I was otherwise unaffected," said Anderson.

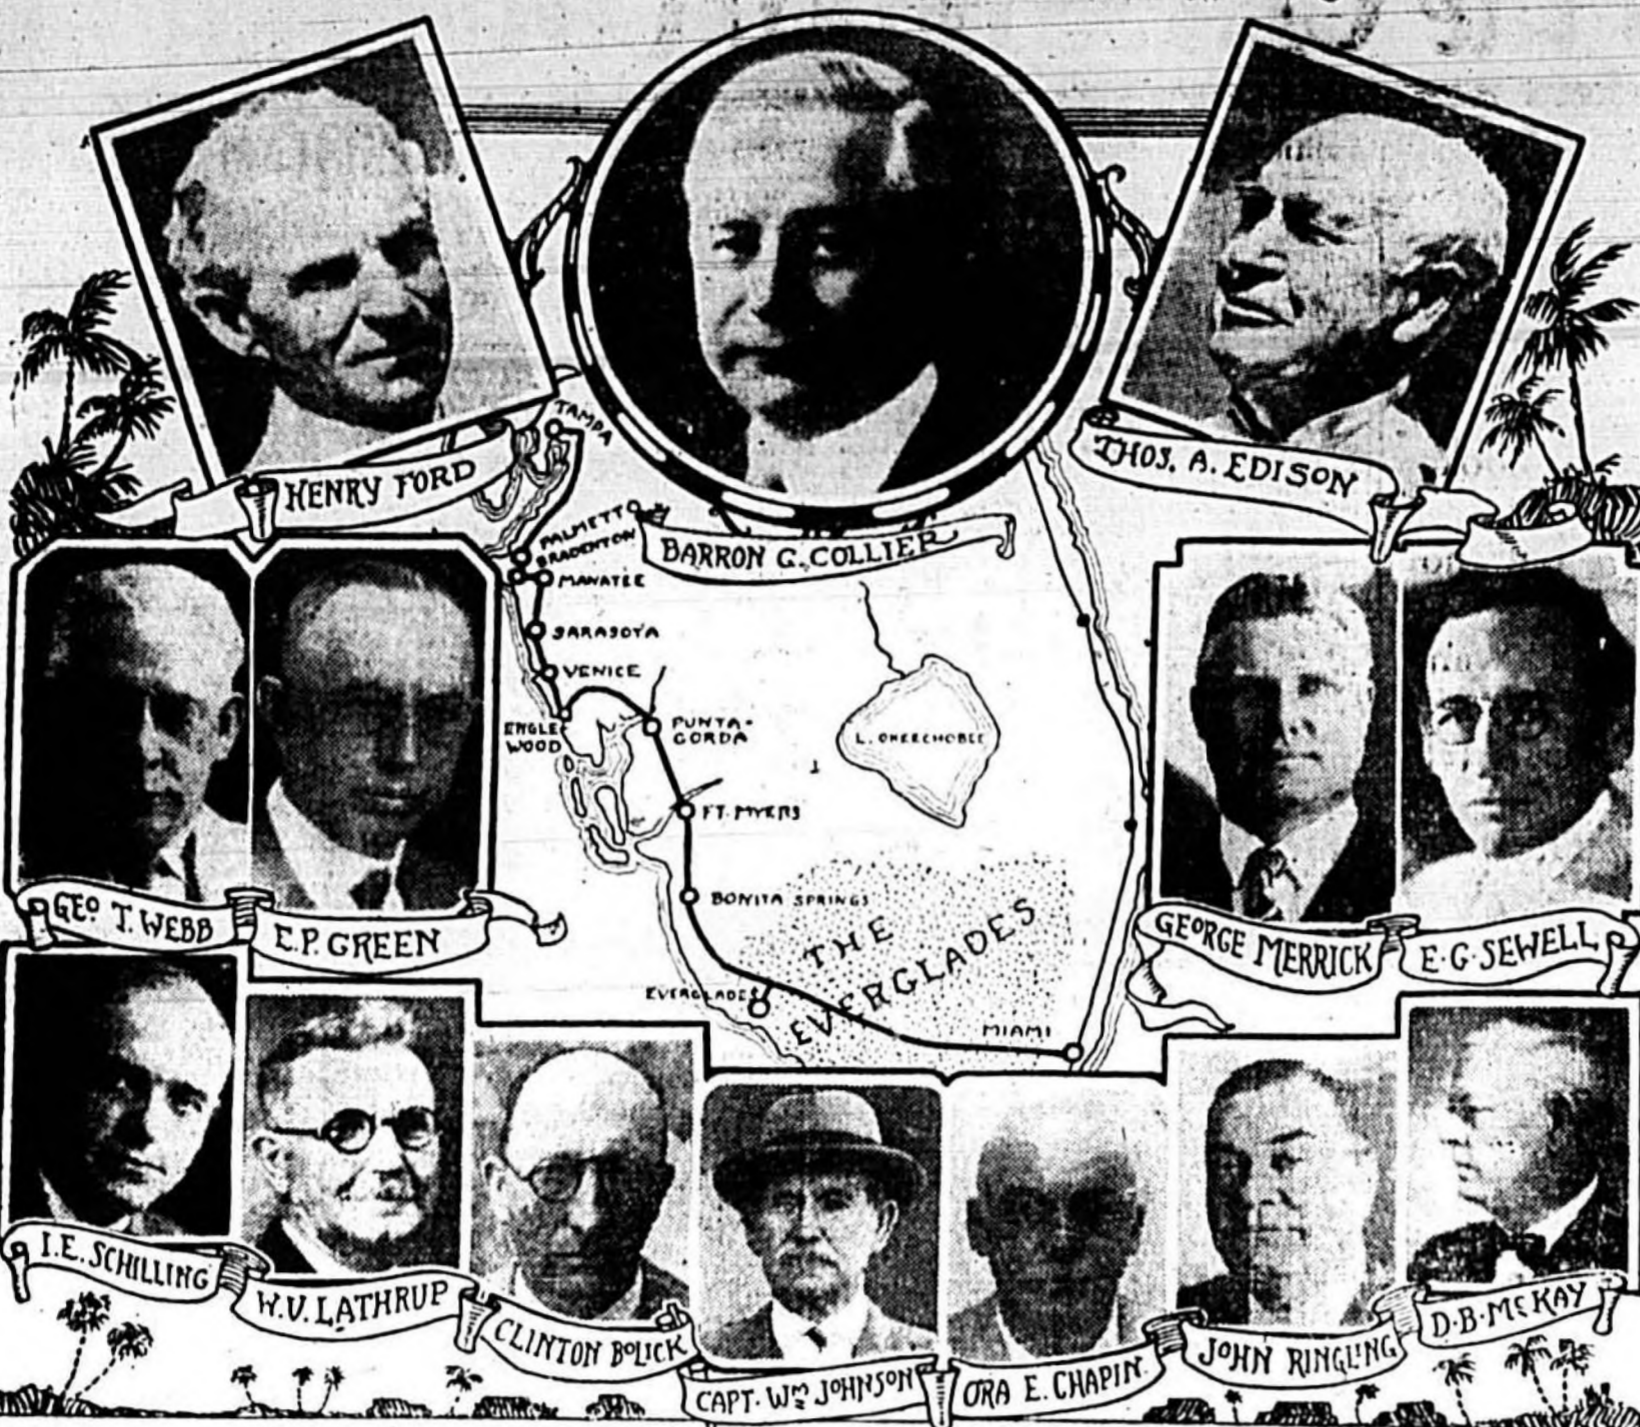

No Harmful Results Stefansson said he wanted to prove to skeptical vegetarians that he could live on an all-meat diet in New York's temperate climate with out harmful results. He remarked that the meat-eating Eskimos usually die of old age or injuries and that as a rule they are well-built, being neither thin nor fat. While Anderson gained weight, Stefansson lost five pounds. When Stefansson started on his meat diet he felt lackadaisical about getting up in the morning. Now, he said, he "feels like jumping out of bed and getting to work."

Stefansson and Anderson planned to continue the meat diet indefinitely. The experiment is in charge of a committee of twelve physicians, headed by Professor Raymond Pearl of Johns Hopkins. The committee found no evidence in Stefansson of high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries, kidney trouble or other ailments attributed to meat eating by some doctors. Anderson was also found to be in good physical condition. While Anderson gained weight, Stefansson lost five pounds. When Stefansson started on his meat diet he felt lackadaisical about getting up in the morning. Now, he said, he "feels like jumping out of bed and getting to work."

British Shipping Is Reporting Gains In Marine Commerce

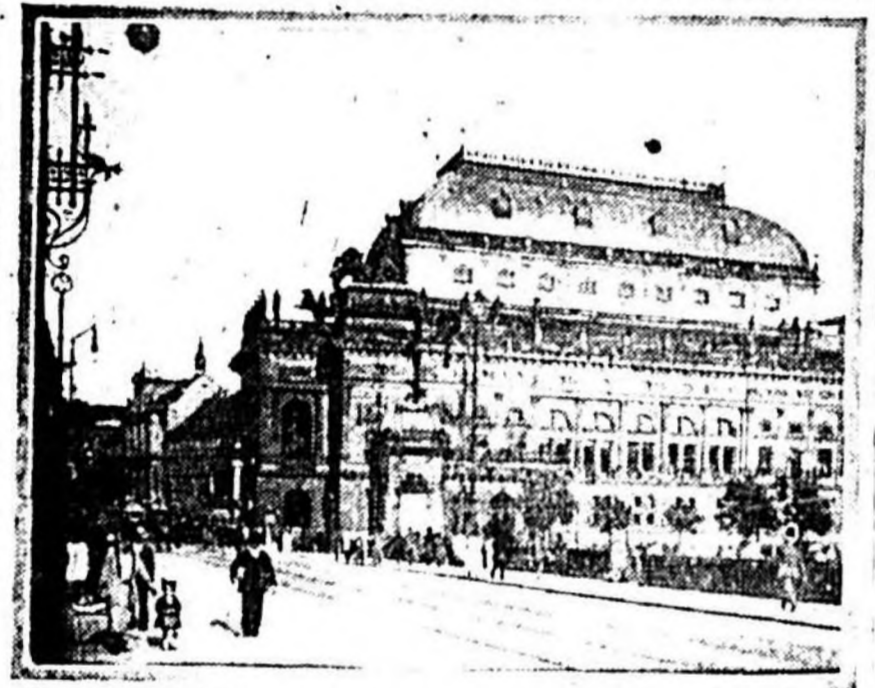

LONDON, Apr. 6.—(INS)— Despite the tremendous handicap placed on private ownership by Government Control of the Merchant Marine, the British shipping industry is on the upward grade, or the first time since the war. During the seven years, from 1919 to 1926, the amount of new tonnage placed in commission in the British Empire has only made up the amount of wastage through losses and breaking up. But during last year there was an increase of 820,000 gross tons in the total amount of tonnage under construction, which gave evidence of an expansion in world trade. Orders From Abroad Proof of the latter is shown in a fact that over 200,000 tons of building, under construction in British yards at the end of 1927, was for foreign owners. Another increase of only 120,000 tons would put British shipping on a par with what it was before the war. Many authoritative shipping experts believe that this increase will occur during the present year. In the movement of shipping tonnage has made enormous strides in the past. The arrivals and departures of ships with cargoes in the coasting trade of the United Kingdom were 28 million net tons in 1927. The total for 1927 was 35 million net tons. Exports Increase An even greater increase was noted in the foreign trade of the Kingdom, when the exports and clearances of British ships rose from 49 million net tons in 1921 to nearly 83 million tons last year. In 1927, the total tonnage of British ships carried 57,000 more than in 1926, while there was a decrease of 23,476,255 tons in 1926. While the British shipping industry is under the shadow of a long ban, signs of a revival to a creative prosperity are not far off. British ships still carry 70 per cent of the world's trade, and the amount of tonnage, 1,580,000, construction on December 31st last year represented more than half of the world's tonnage.

Famous Explorer To Await Fair Weather

SEWARD, Alaska, Apr. 6.—(INS)—The United States army wireless station here today waited for signal from the plane in which Captain George H. Wilkins, famous explorer, will attempt to fly across the top of the world from Point Barrow to Spitzbergen. A message from Wilkins stated that he may hop today on his North Polar expedition, if the weather permits. The explorer and his pilot, Carl Eielson, have been waiting for moderation of the fierce Arctic storms at Point Barrow. Because of the small size of the radio sending apparatus aboard the Wilkins plane, it was pointed out, the government station will be able to pick up messages only under the most favorable atmospheric conditions.

QUALITY BAKERS OF AMERICA This Mark Stands For Bread Goodness

You know as well as we do that every business man whose chief aim is to give the public Honest Service—meaning, of course, selling people things that are reliable and that give full value—is a very big factor in building a good reputation for his community.

You know that a community's prosperity depends upon the integrity of its business interests as a whole. If the business interests do not stick to the line of common sense, which is in reality, Business Honor, in dealing with people, then the reaction is always unfavorable and militates against progress.

The thing that delights us as a member of Quality Bakers of America is our knowledge that there are 90 of us faithfully serving 90 communities that cover every large area in the United States, which represents one-fifth of the population.

We are giving—NOT AIMING TO GIVE—25,000,000 people a chance to get Quality Products every day in the year.

Most of these people, we are proud to say, think so much of the effort of Quality Bakers of America to establish fixed principles of business in their respective communities, and to give them continued products of Character and Quality, that they are spreading the news wherever they travel, that the name QUALITY BAKERS OF AMERICA means what it signifies—and to look for the insignia on the wrappers of the bread they buy.

Without doubt, there will have to be an extension of the public service that Quality Bakers of America render, so that all territories in the country will be represented—so that there will be an unbroken line of members of the Quality Bakers of America doing their part in building good reputations for their community.

The keynote of the splendid success Quality Bakers of America have attained, individually and collectively, is furnished through a Central Bureau of our organization, which retains regularly more than 60 people working every day in the year to perfect our service.

These specialists and their associates are all highly trained and very efficient. They keep in touch with us all the time with suggestions that are practical and helpful. They operate without partiality. Their chief objective is to put every one of our plants on an equal plain of efficiency and help us maintain high standards of Quality on a uniform basis.

Quality always comes first in their considerations and deliberations.

While all other branches of our business are subordinated to this one big and vital thing—Uniform Quality—nevertheless, there are many other features that are likewise vital and we get valuable help from the Bureau in standardizing them, too.

You folks must appreciate the advantages that we, as a member of Quality Bakers of America, are getting from this Central Service Bureau.

We could not afford to retain any one of these specialists and keep him on our payroll regularly—let alone employ 60 people in addition to those we now employ—to help us give you the service that we know you like, for you indicate your satisfaction by your continued patronage of our Quality Products—for which we thank you.

We are not in the least envious of the success of other good bakers in our territory, because we are busy attending to our own business, which is making definite and satisfactory progress.

ANOTHER "AT COST" INSURER FAILS

FEDERAL AUTO ASSOCIATION SHOWS $200,000 DEFICIT Federal Savings and Abraham Lincoln Life Are Affected by Failure

FLORIDA BANS FEDERAL AUTO

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 30.—(UP)— Notice is being sent out by State Insurance Commissioner John C. Luning that he has further business to be done in Florida by the Federal Automobile Insurance Association because of receivership proceedings. The receivership litigation is filed at the home office of the organization, Indianapolis, Ind., and Charles C. Wasson, Indiana Commissioner of Insurance, notified Mr. Luning of the proceedings. In addition to placing a ban upon the writing of further business by the insurance association, Mr. Luning is refusing to renew the certificate of authority under which the organization was operated in Florida, the notice says.

Examination made by the Indiana department of the Federal Automobile Insurance Association and its attorney-in-fact, the Federal Underwriters of Indianapolis which concerns were recently placed in the hands of receivers, disclosed that liabilities amounted to $200,000 with only $100,000 of assets. The receivers announced that they will levy an assessment on the policy holders as soon as the exact figures of the concerns can be established. Two other concerns managed by the Federal Underwriters are affected by the failure. The Federal Savings, which did an accident and health business, and has been re-insured by the Abraham Lincoln Life and the Federal Mutual Life is to go into receivership. The Federal Automobile Association's loss ratio last year was 85 per cent and it is declared that inadequate reserves had been maintained and that loss claims had been persistently underestimated. The Federal Underwriters at one time operated in eleven states and had a premium income of more than $1,000,000 a year, selling it insurance at 25 per cent below the market rates. —Insurance Field, Mar. 15, 1928.

Huge Canvas Will Keep Yale's Grid In Playing Shape

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Apr. 6.—(INS)— Hay from the salt mounds of New Haven has been abandoned by Yale athletic authorities as a means of keeping dry the playing surface of the famous football field here, and instead of hay the field will be lined with over 70,000 square feet of canvas, now on the way here from Detroit. Salt hay, a product turned out by the thousands of tons every year, has been used ever since football leaders at Yale learned that a fairly dry gridiron made a better surface than a soggy or ice-bound field. But the present-day leaders are certain the day of salt hay is gone, and they have ordered two pieces of canvas each 30 by 150 feet, and four other pieces, each one 30 by 120 feet. Since the strips are laid overlapping no moisture can enter, and since the whole covering can be put down and taken up in a mere twenty minutes, the Yale Bowl is believed to be facing an entirely dry spell every fall. When the canvas isn't working on the Bowl it will be used on the Varsity baseball diamond or stored. LAKE WORTH— Building permits issued here during February totaled $18,670.
