

Convention Preliminaries Crowd Political Arenas As Nomination Dates Approach

By SIGRID ARNE
WASHINGTON, May 25.—(AP)—Involved political machinery is grinding away at the job of selecting more than 2,000 men and women to represent the major political parties at their national conventions.

The delegates are being chosen according to state laws, at primaries, in state conventions, or by state central committees. Their actions at the national gatherings are being determined to some extent by the expressed majority will of party members.

Their numbers and the ratios allotted to the different states are determined variously in the two parties. There will be 1,001 votes cast when the Republicans meet in Cleveland June 9, and 1,100 ballots count when the Democrats meet at Philadelphia June 23.

How long the sleepless, perspiring, gesticulating, speech-hour men and women stay in the two cities will depend on the fights which develop. But the Republicans are expected this year to hold the longest session. Their loyalties are divided among several candidates, and that may mean hours of balloting before the candidate is chosen. The Democrats are expected to renominate their leader in the White House on the first ballot.

Besides the official delegates more than 2,000 alternates, who attain voting rights only when and if the regulars drop out, will attend the conventions. There will be political camps for the various candidates, and lobbies with representatives of various organizations lobbying committee members with pleas for special planks in the party platforms.

Convention business actually begins months before the final gathering. It starts when the national committees, 48 men and 48 women in each party, meet to name the convention city. At a later gathering they name the temporary chairmen to open the conventions.

More pre-convention work starts when the delegates are named. Most of the delegates and alternates pay their own expenses. They like the excitement, and if they are politically ambitious, serving as delegates helps to spotlight them in party affairs.

When the convention date nears, state delegations and various candidates open camps in hotels near the convention hall. State delegations in caucus name one person each for convention committees, of which the most important are the committees on rules, credentials, and resolutions.

The first establishes the rules under which the convention works. The second approves the delegations, and in cases where the personnel is contested, determine the delegates who may cast their state's votes. The third writes the party's platform.

The convention opens with the key-note speech by the temporary chairman. Then the permanent chairman is elected by the convention, and the rules and credentials committees report. Over the findings of the credentials committee very often, the first battle of the meeting develops. Protesting delegates are heard, and the official personnel of the convention finally established.

Next on the program is the report of the platform committee. The proposed course of the party for the next four years is read, argued, and a plan adopted.

Then begins the real show. The balloting for candidates starts. The roll of states is called, "Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas—," and so on. Each answers, "So many

RECEIVE ALUMNAE MEDALLIONS

TALLAHASSEE, May 25.—Florida State College for Women graduates who received "alumnae medallions" Saturday for "distinguished achievement" since their graduation are shown in the above picture. Not in the picture are Miss Shirley Long, English instructor at Hunter College, New York, and Miss Mary Bailey Sloan, deceased, who attained prominence in the profession of medicine.

Mrs. Olson, who has held key positions in the Florida Education Association including that of president of the Florida Classroom Teachers, and who is connected with P. K. Yonge laboratory school at Gainesville, was awarded the medallion for achievement in the field of education. Mrs. Haun, a singer, who has filled engagements in this country and Australia, and who now is appearing in a Gilbert and Sullivan opera in Philadelphia, received the award for musical distinction. Mrs. Van Doren, editor of the York Herald Tribune's Sunday literary supplement, and former advertising manager and literary editor of The Nation, received the award in liberal arts and literature. Miss Longshore, associate professor of English at the state college here and former president of the Florida Education Association, was awarded the medallion for her service to the college. Mrs. McCollum, a former president of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs and the Florida State College Alumnae Association, who now is on the State Board of Social Welfare, received the award for civic service.

Both sides of the medallion, which is being awarded for the first time, are shown in the above picture. The Gustav Bohlands, of Miami, nationally known sculptor, created and executed the design. A close study of the portraits and towers of the Administration building at the state college are shown on the obverse side of the medallion. The three torches, the insignia of the institution, are shown on the reverse side. The wreath of plant life represents beneficent productiveness.

Borah's Anger Bolsters Idea He Might Bolt

By PRESTON GROVER
WASHINGTON, May 25.—(AP)—Associates of Senator Borah have expressed some amazement at the wrath generated in Idaho by his Republican primary tilt.

They find him still ranking at the conduct of the Ohio campaign, his fire only partly assuaged by the percentage of the Republican vote he received.

Those in the party who would like to see him come into the convention, put his ideas into the platform as fully as his foes will permit, and then "go down the line" for whoever is nominated, are of the opinion he may not do that.

Some associates have expressed belief that Borah considers Governor Landon as harmonizing with the factors in the party he would like to drive out.

Borah has announced his intention of speaking again about June 1. He brushes aside questions as to whether at that time he will discuss Landon.

There is still scattering debate as to just how badly Borah was beaten in Ohio. He won only five delegates of the 52, but on the delegates-at-large, involving a state-wide vote, he accumulated about 35 per cent of the Republican votes cast. His backers argue that he actually may have received more votes than any other candidate.

Their argument is based on the presumption that he was compelled to contest "against the field," including not only Robert A. Taft, the "favorite son," but other principal candidates.

Their displeasure was heightened by receipt from an Ohio friend of a printed card which they assumed was one of a number distributed before the primary. It stated it was "issued by the Republican state primary camaign committee, Ed. D. Schorr, chairman."

At the top of the card was printed: "If you favor Governor Alf M. Landon of Kansas, or Colonel Frank Knox of Illinois, or Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, or Senator L. J. Dickinson of Iowa, or any other person excepting Senator William E. Borah, for the Republican presidential nomination, mark 'x' before each of the following names."

Then were listed the candidates pledged to Taft as a "favorite son."

Janitor Work Done By School Students

CHICAGO, May 25.—(AP)—Twenty-five young men and a girl are working their way through the Art Institute of Chicago by mopping floors, dusting stairs or flicking specks from prized paintings.

Once a day the students leave their palettes or molding boards, pick up mops, brooms, dusters, water pails and ladders and scurry to work as janitors. Nor does this menial labor submerge their artistic sensibilities, for now they have on display at the institute more than 20 paintings and pieces of sculpture.

Seasonal observers come away from Carter Meetings absolutely amazed at the reception he has had.

Jerry Carter everywhere is breaking all records for attendance at political meetings.

County Asks Bulk Of WPA Appropriation

City Engineer Tells City That It Got Most Of The Last Federal Allotment

Expect $55,000 More This Year

Municipality Hopes To Get Some For Useful Projects

Around $55,000, in addition to $81,000 already appropriated, will probably be allotted to Seminole County by the WPA during the next fiscal year, City Engineer Fred T. Williams told the City Commission last night, but he coupled that information with the advice that the County will doubtless insist on getting the bulk of it since most of last year's appropriation went for City projects.

An allotment of $124,000 was made Seminole County last year, and some of this is left over. Of the amount expended, Mr. Williams said, only about $14,800 was spent on strictly County projects. In the City was spent (or is being spent) $24,188 on the Park Avenue pavement, $22,854 for First Street pavement, $24,410 for sewers, $19,418 for the airport, $10,400 for the green house, $23,718 for the Army house, $23,718 for the Army house, and the Army house, all the others are strictly City projects, he said, and the green house and the Army house being erected within the corporate limits.

The County is desirous of getting $14,000 for improving Sanford Avenue south of the City limits, $18,700 for widening the Paola road, and smaller funds for other projects, Mr. Williams said. With the exception of an appropriation for an athletic field at the High School, which has been approved by the County Planning Board, the schools, he said, have received no WPA funds.

Mayor E. O. Ebnsholer listed several important projects, such as the municipal pier, extension of the sewer system, more paving and building a lake front park west of the Mayfair Hotel.

The Gubernatorial Circus

Russell Kay, the incorrigible, presents about as perfect a picture of the present governor's race as we have seen yet. Russell is not tooting the horn of any particular candidate, not as we know, but he puts on a circus barking act in behalf of all of them which is certainly entertaining, if not illuminating. He says if Mr. Ringling will just give him a chance and let him be the barker at this gubernatorial circus, he will sure wow 'em in.

"Hurry, hurry, hurry, folks. Going on now, going on all the time, never ending and never over. See this grand and glorious galaxy of brain, brawn and baloney. The most colossal stack of gubernatorial timber ever assembled under one tent. FOURTEEN—count 'em—FOURTEEN! (Get back, boys, you better me.)"

"See the great HODGES. Watch his iron muscles swell and quiver under the burden of taxation as he lifts it from the homesteads and the backs of widows and orphans. Watch him lift the old folks out of the mire of poverty and pension 'em, with one hand tied behind him. And then those who care to remain for the concert will see 'Old Homestead Bill' take the thirteen other candidates, tie 'em up in knots and throw 'em for a forty yard loss!

"See the one and only PATY. Watch him get down among those creeping, crawling racketeers, wind 'em 'round his body, bite their heads off and eat 'em alive. Watch him pit his strength against the venomous 'One Armed Bandit.' See him grapple the Administration Dragon in a mighty death struggle!

"See PETTEWAY the Pious. The man Diogenes searched the known world to find. The ONLY living specimen in captivity. See the only HONEST candidate. Hear him explain the phenomena; the man Robert L. Ripley will feature in 'Believe It Or Not.'

"Stand in awe before the Great Chappell. The man who breathes fire. See the smoke and vivid flames leap from his mouth and nostrils. Watch him build fires under other people. Ladies and gentlemen, the Great Chappell is the only living man who washes his face in red hot coals and juggles molten lava which he hurls in the face of his enemy.

"See JERRY, the Jovial Jester. Greater than JO-JO, the Dog Faced Boy. You'll laugh, you'll howl, you'll roar. Jerry the Jokester—now you see him and now you don't. He pulls ducks out of your shirt fronts and money out of your pockets.—The greatest side-show attraction since Catta.

"See with your own eyes a banker whose bank didn't bust. One of the few living, breathing specimens in captivity. Interesting, entertaining and educational. And, folks, he's REAL, ALIVE—not a motion picture, not a phonograph record, but FRED CONE in person.

"Witness the Battle of a Century. See the mighty CALDWELL enter the glass tank in the center of the tent and wrestle the giant chain-store octopus. See him wiggle and squirm as those great, slimy tentacles wind about him. Caldwell, the Dare Devil of the Deep. Strong men faint—women cry out in horror at this death-defying spectacle.

"See Tomasello, the THIN MAN. Walks, talks and acts like an ordinary human being but you can SEE THROUGH HIM.

"BURTON, the Sword Swallower. See him toss the giant duPont dagger into the air, and, catching it in his open mouth, balance it on one tonsil.

"Stop and shake hands with MAPOLES, who will present you with a FREE state lottery ticket. See the Great GAUTIER, the Mystifying YEARWOOD, MARTIN the Marvelous and the Mighty LEWIS. Politely the Greatest Show on Earth, and all for the price of one thin poll tax receipt. Step right up, folks—don't miss it. Hurry! Hurry! Hurry! Something entertaining. Something new—never ending and never over. (Stand back, boys—you better me!)"

Changes To Come

A quarter of a century from now, says Henry Ford in an interview with S. J. Woolf in the June Rotarian Magazine, people will look back at these times in much the same way as we now do at the stagecoach era of the world's development. However, he explains that while improvements are taking place and new things are being created, it does not follow that old things must be abandoned, if there is any good in them.

"Aviation," says Mr. Ford, "will not come into its own until the automobile has been absolutely perfected. But there is much still to be done in automobiles. Give us a few years more, and the automobile will be improved and refined beyond all present imagination. Motor-car manufacturing is still a new industry. There will be changes for the better in almost every part of the car.

"All our machinery will be lighter and better. This is true not only of automobile machinery but of machinery in general. Almost every mechanism today is unnecessarily overburdened with weight—due to a system of interlocking directorates; manufacturers have been only selling materials instead of also studying their best use.

"No one can speak of the future," he continues, "without taking into thoughtful consideration just what the last few years have seen in the increased employment of agricultural products in manufacturing. We grow much of our automobiles now; it is not beyond possibility that eventually we shall grow most or all of it.

"Shorter hours and higher wages are inevitable," Mr. Ford predicts. "We cannot escape them. If we go on making things, we must have money to buy them and leisure to use them. These will result from economies, improvements, and refinements of manufacturing methods which in turn result from the incessant labor and creative experience of management.

"We shall find out that no social advance can be introduced into industry by law; it will come because it is right, and what is right will support itself. We shall have shorter hours because work will be plentiful and production ample, not in order to spread work but to enable man to enjoy and use the things they make.

"As far as competition is concerned, that must continue. But we must learn what competition really is. It is a striving to attain the best. To throttle it would mean to stop all progress."

FLORIDA HIGHLIGHTS

For the first time in the history of our army, almost an entire command of trained soldiers was ambushed and exterminated by the Indians in what was known as the DADE MASSACRE, near Bushnell, Florida, in 1835. Out of a force consisting of 198 privates and non-commissioned officers and officers that had left Fort Brooke (Tampa) for Fort King (Ocala), only three escaped. One was a private named Daniel F. Clark, who on finally reaching Tampa badly wounded and barely alive after untold hardships, reported the dreadful affair. It was one of the most bloody massacres in the history of the American Army.

From the seed of the TUNG OIL tree is produced one of the best "drying" oils known to mankind and because of uncertain conditions in China, where the oil is often adulterated, an American source of supply is almost essential. Because of its great value to the paint and varnish industry, vast acreages are now being cultivated in Florida. In China the oil has many uses. The Chinese junk man uses the crude grades on his boat instead of paint. The oil is used extensively as a natural varnish for houses, furniture and other woodwork. It is also used as a waterproofing material for masonry, cloth, shoes, clothing and paper. The residue, after the oil is extracted, is used as a fertilizer and in the manufacture of lamp black.

 My Dear Mr. Editor:
 We may all disagree on the merits of the Townsend Plan but please let me congratulate you on your Americanism in your editorial in the Sanford Herald Friday in regard to Dr. Townsend.

Respectfully,

 Dear Sir:
 Just a word of appreciation for your editorial in issue of May 22, regarding the "inquisition" of Dr. Townsend, under the name of "Congressional Investigation." While you do not understand the plan enough to be one of our members, you at least favor a square deal, and a fair trial of the case on its merits—which is all we Townsendites are seeking for. Thanks and compliments to you for taking the stand you have regarding this matter, with malice toward none.

Legend of Gold Mine Sustains 40-Yr. Hunt

FORT DAVIS, Tex., May 26.—(AP)—The legend of the Lost Nigger gold mine continues to live.

Robert C. Withers recently gave a ride to a hitch-hiking Mexican who said he had been hunting for three months along the Rio Grande for the mine and was returning to Pecos for another grubstake.

The legend dates back 40 years when a negro cowpuncher working for the Reagan outfit, left one morning and didn't return for days. He brought back some gold nuggets and the tale of finding a gold mine. It was never relocated.

SYDNEY, Australia, May 26.—In quest of a rare water feeding on insects, Prof. F. E. Lloyd of McGill University, Montreal, expects to spend at least a year in Queensland swamps.

The plant—strigulate, trichite to a biologist—is among the rarest of the 475 plants known to feed on flesh. It feeds on minute insects which it entraps in its waving tentacles.

Since its discovery in 1875, no other specimen has been found in any other part of the world.

Democrats Await Indication Of Glass's Platform Views

WASHINGTON, May 26.—(AP)—Democratic leaders are wondering whether Senator Carter of Virginia will play his accustomed role in shaping the 1936 platform or will conceal himself from deliberations of the resolutions committee.

Ever since 1896 the Virginia has had a part in writing virtually every Democratic platform. He has been especially interested in monetary and banking matters, but in no case has he been restricted to those subjects.

While he has differed with some Administration policies, Glass has emphasized that he will support President Roosevelt.

He drafted the "sound money" plank in the 1932 platform, since then he has rarely lost an opportunity to intimate his disagreement with monetary policies of the Administration. His wry observation that "if you have any gold they'll put you in jail" has brought many a Senate chuckle.

The 1932 plank states: "We advocate a sound currency to be preserved at all hazards and an international monetary conference called on the invitation of our government to consider the rehabilitation of silver and related questions."

As chairman of the Senate appropriations committee he led the debate for the $4,200,000,000 work-relief bill last session although indicating throughout that he was concerned about the growing debt and the effect on banks required to carry the government bonds.

The request for another billion and a half this session also was referred to his committee.

Will he want to say something about that at Philadelphia?

Glass has had a splendid opportunity to rehearse his platform ideas. Since well before the turn of the century he has been writing them into the Virginia state platforms.

The result has been that in presidential election years the appearance of the Virginia state platform has been news of special importance to Democrats and Republicans alike who have looked to it as an indication of what the little Virginian had on his mind.

The Virginia convention this year will be at Norfolk, June 16, a week before the national convention.

He has said he has not decided what part he would play in the state convention. Glass is up for re-election but has no apparent in either major party.

He heard it would give President Roosevelt authority to make new allocations to the two projects provided proposed boards of engineers report they are feasible.

The committee last Wednesday took detailed testimony on Passanauddy from Governor Brann of Maine and others, but adjourned without discussing the merits of the Florida canal.

A message to all voters whom I have been unable to contact personally.

In electing your County Commissioners, it is my opinion that you are employing a group of men to supervise and direct the affairs of your County. The men selected to fill these important positions should be men who have demonstrated their ability by managing their own business successfully.

In the operation of your County certain functions of government must go on and the expense of these services should be carefully studied and wisely controlled.

Our taxes are now higher than they should be due to the fact that not enough people are paying their taxes. If this burden can be properly re-distributed on a basis where all men pay their tax it may easily be seen that every man's part will be less than it now is.

Public funds should be rightly safeguarded and spent as carefully as one would spend his own money.

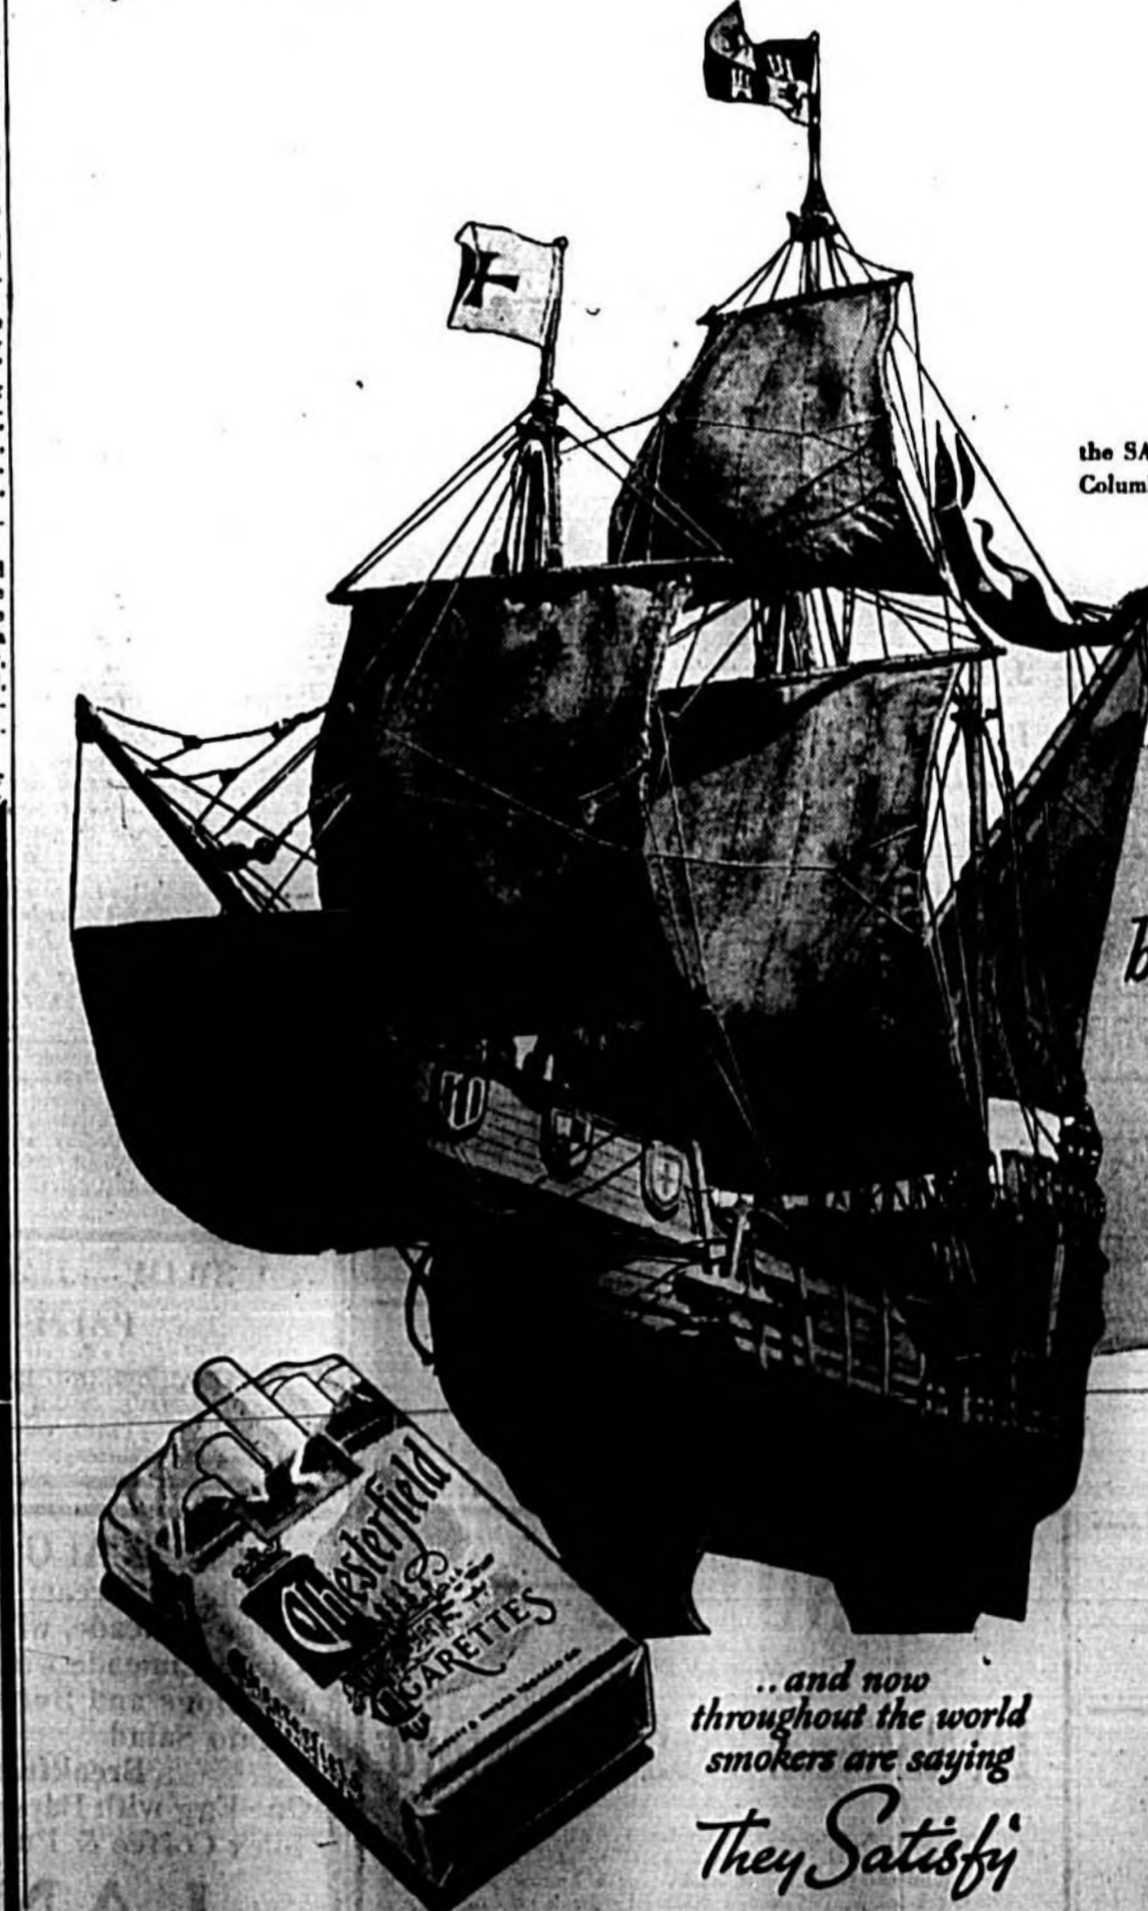

I have had experience in the handling of my own affairs since early manhood. If I am elected I pledge my earnest efforts toward a careful auditing and accounting for the County's funds.

I favor all benefits and improvements in the County which may be provided within a properly balanced budget and a carefully supervised expenditure of the funds provided in the law with such budget and the laws governing same.

I recommend the removal of our County Commissioners by providing for the needs of the good and frugal further aid for those of advanced age who are unable to provide for themselves.

If my statements above meet with your approval I respectfully solicit your vote.

Selassie's Pilot Feted As Hero By Harlem Residents

Make Whoopee Over Colonel Robinson, The 'Brown Condor'

By CHARLES NORMAN
NEW YORK, May 28.—(AP)—They are making whoopee in Harlem over a new hero—flying Colonel John C. Robinson, erst-while pilot to Emperor Haile Selassie.

In a brown stone house just off Lenox Avenue, the negro community's Main Street, Robinson received visiting admirers as the guest of Dr. P. M. H. E. E. E. E., negro physician and president of the United Ethiopian Aid Society.

Dusky servants tiptoe solemnly. Downstairs patients wore proud faces. They were lucky to be sick.

Sporting a stubby little beard which made a black fringe under his chin, Robinson sat in a plush easy chair in an upstairs parlor. He was attired in leather jacket emblazoned with the insignia of the "Conquering Lion of Judah"—a lion rampant with crown and flag, a gift of the emperor—light brown shirt, tan tie and khaki trousers and shining leather boots.

Despite his impressive apparel, his bearing was modest, almost shy. Modest, too, was his account of his experiences in war-torn Ethiopia for which Harlem has named him the "Brown Condor." Forgotten in the black and tan region of New York was Colonel Hubert Julian, the "Black Eagle" who left Addis Ababa in a huff and is now out of the limelight like the doves.

Robinson said, he got word to Haile Selassie proposing development of commercial flying in Ethiopia. The result was a bid. "His Majesty," said Robinson, "did not believe war would come. He believed the League of Nations would prevent war.

"With the war on, I had to concentrate on military aviation, but found the equipment inadequate. I worked out a system to carry doctors and Red Cross and other medical supplies to the front. I flew His Majesty three times.

"The emperor is not the big warrior type of Ethiopian, but he is fearless. His friends finally prevailed on him to give up flying. Once the Italians were only two hours behind us in the air.

Robinson left Addis Ababa two days before Haile Selassie. "The Italians might have shot me first and investigated afterwards," he explained.

Robinson says he attended an aeronautical school in Chicago where he became an instructor prior to his departure for Ethiopia. He is now considering an offer from Tuskegee Institute, Alabama, to teach aviation.

Asked about Colonel Julian, he hesitated, then said: "I guess I just have nothing in common with him.

"In Addis Ababa he came over to the hotel where I was staying and slapped my face. He was angry because he thought I had had something to do with an article's making fun of him which appeared in the United States.

Robinson's face, which had taken on a sombre appearance at the mention of Julian's name, brightened at the mention of Joe Louis, sensational negro heavyweight from Detroit.

"One of the greatest fighters and one of the greatest men that ever lived—I think he's wonderful," he said.

Robinson admitted a deep attachment for Haile Selassie.

"His Majesty is very considerate. I expect to hear from him some time."

Half Nude Dancers Shock City Fathers

PITTSFIELD, Mass., May 28.—(AP)—Counselman Daniel Casey says that if Police Chief John Sullivan "wants to be fair" he should issue an edict against women wearing "hardly anything more than a couple of straps from the waist up" while attending dances.

The chief has decreed that men should not dance costless.

Casey says he was "shocked" at rows worn by some of the women at the last policeman's ball.

Two Candidates For Governor In Sanford Monday

The first plank in Mr. Gautier's platform is the initiative, and recall, a provision he wrote in the Miami city charter when city attorney there 20 years ago. He declared himself as being in favor of old age pensions and the Townsend Plan, and for increased compensation for teachers and public servants because the cost of living has gone up 40 percent and their salaries have not. This can be accomplished, he said, even with a lowering of taxes, by reducing government costs, wealth and profit distribution, equalization of taxes and establishing a maximum interest rate of 8 percent. This last item alone, he said, would save the people $10,000,000 each year.

Mr. Gautier favors a $2.50 license tag for small automobiles, a reduction of the gasoline tax, abolition of the poll tax, and guarantee by the state of bank deposits.

Chappell At Home MIAMI, May 28.—After a week's intensive campaigning averaging better than four meetings a day, Dan Chappell, candidate for governor, returned to his home county of Dade Sunday, prepared to concentrate his efforts during the final week in the Fourth Congressional district, with the exception of speeches at Jacksonville, Thursday night, and Tampa Saturday night and possibly at St. Petersburg Saturday night.

Chappell declared himself more than optimistic over the situation, asserting reports from Pensacola to Miami and Jacksonville to Fort Myers place him either first or second in the rank among the fourteen candidates for gubernatorial honors.

He reported acquisitions of new support to bolster up his already strong position in the contest had been coming to him from every quarter during the past week and he anticipated there would be more of this in the final week of the campaign.

The Miamian will spend Sunday, Monday and Tuesday in Miami, he having crossed the state from Fort Myers early Sunday morning delivering the final speech of last week at Fort Myers to one of the largest crowds of the campaign.

Wild West Talked By James Roosevelt, If You Would Believe London Journals

By ROGER D. GREENE
LONDON, May 28.—(AP)—Harvard-educated James Roosevelt, eldest son of the President, picked up a new accent within 24 hours of his arrival in England—just not a British accent.

The tall, sunny smiling American, who uses a fastidious Back Bay Boston accent, found that his interview with British journalists came out in print in the phraseology of an old-time Wild West cowboy.

"Gosh!" he was quoted as saying, when asked what people in the United States thought about the maiden voyage of the giant new liner Queen Mary. "I reckon I guess about half the good 'ole U. S. A. is a-comin' over here to sail back on 'er."

The tendency to dress up every visiting American as a verbal Daniel Boone, whether university professor or Nobel prize winner, is no hard-lying in England as the tradition, in America, that every Briton wears a monocle, spats, silk top-hat and drops stitches by the bushel.

A typical example of this deathless guffaw appeared recently in a London newspaper—a cartoon depicting a "typical" American, clad in flaring pinks-fours and a tango hat, standing in front of the English Speaking Union headquarters in London.

"Say!" he addresses the high-rhined British doorman. "We guys kinda blab the same lingo, huh, partner?"

Coincidentally, the humorous magazine Punch coiled its readers with an example of what happens when an English vicar attempts to pronounce an American song title. "You can't do that the-ah-he-ah."

Americans puzzled to hear their own self-description of their nationality come out as "Amur-r-i-can," as jokingly repeated by Britons, may wonder who speaks the "King's English" when they overhear some such conversation as this between two London debaters:

"Oh, I dent nrow, re.I, I cepose seh—"
"Rally!"
"Um. Bot dent breathe it to a sewl."

Ambassador Robert W. Bingham, after three years' residence in England, has told London banquet audiences that "there is no American accent; the educated speech of both countries is the same"—but James Roosevelt, with a brand-new cowboy accent bestowed on him by the British press, may feel inclined to retort: "Wal, partner, you shote are wrong!"

At Milport, Ala., a tomato plant was grown on a wooden floor. The seed sprouted from a crack.

G. O. P. Leader Who Would Not Give Up Sholtz Names Loflin Senator

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
WASHINGTON, May 28.—(AP)—A survivor of the 1932 Democratic landslide, the G. O. P. Congress to rally shattered Republican forces into dogged resistance against Administration measures is slated to preside at the G. O. P. national convention in June.

Representative Bertrand H. Snell, designated by the committee on arrangements as its choice for the permanent chairmanship at the Cleveland convocation, has been in the thick of the political fighting for 22 years.

The rugged stand of the 66-year-old New Yorker against New Deal measures has won the acclaim of Republican loyalists, some of whom have suggested his eligibility for a place on the national ticket this year.

New York, almost always a powerful factor in the determining of presidential nominations as well as elections, also is the home state of Representative James Wadsworth, frequently mentioned as a possible Republican vice-presidential nominee.

Adverse Decision On Wilcox Law To Hit Many Cities

(Continued from page 1) The Wilcox bill, as the act is commonly called, grew out of individual and collective efforts by Florida cities, counties and special taxing districts to find a workable solution to a financial problem directly resulting from the Florida real estate boom and the deflation which followed it.

Admittedly blinded by inflated values and confused by too-rapid growth, the cities, counties and districts over-bonded themselves to build streets, sewer systems, sidewalks, whiteways and other public improvements—some of them apparently needed at the time but many of them far exceeding actual needs, after the "bubble burst."

When deflation followed inflation and the creditors came to collect many public units found themselves unable to pay. Creditors went to court and obtained judgments which boosted taxes so high the public agents protested they were unable to collect the levies. In some cases paying even a part of the bondholders' claims meant there was nothing left in the treasury to maintain fire and police protection, to light the streets at night, to provide sanitation and to do other things necessary for the public welfare.

There were endless negotiations, almost countless court proceedings and plenty of public headaches. Many plans were tried and then J. Mark Wilcox of West Palm Beach and J. Hardin Peterson of Lakeland went to Congress. Both were former city attorneys and legal advisors for the Florida League of Municipalities. They took with them the Wilcox bill—the remedy which most officials finally agreed would do the public patient the most good—and the measure was enacted.

Broadly, it offered the public unit an opportunity to go into the bankruptcy courts just as the insolvent individual may do.

E. P. Owens, Jr., of Jacksonville, secretary of Florida League of Municipalities said six cities and a number of districts in the state already had availed themselves of the act's provisions. He listed the cities as Clearwater, Dunedin, Belleair, Lake Wales, Safety Harbor and Sarasota.

Many others, he said, including West Palm Beach and Palatka, were preparing to invoke the act.

"Maintenance work on municipal buildings would be a fine thing," he said. "The band shell, jail, library, all need work, as well as the grandstand at the ball park, and improvements at the cemetery."

Commissioner W. A. Laffler also urged improvements at the fair. "Something ought to be done to resurrect the fountain," he said, "it is a sore spot. And there ought to be some place along the lake front where a boat could be put in. We had a boat basin project up at one time, but it was one of those things that got lost."

City Fathers Went To Game Thursday And They Got Wet

Most of the members of the City Commission, as well as many other city officials, it seems, went to the ball park last Thursday, the day that Jupiter Pivius defeated both the Sanford Lookouts and the Gainesville G-Men, and they got "soaked and wet," as City Clerk F. E. Lamson expressed it.

Commissioner W. A. Laffor said that Jimmy Wright told him they got wet because the roof of the grandstand leaks, and Commissioner W. R. D'Arce was of the same opinion, but Mayor S. O. Shinkholer was of the opinion they got wet when the wind drove the rain in the open front of the grandstand.

Famous Horse Won't Race Again This Season, Says Hirsch

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—Bold Venture, the American turf's horse of the year, owed a tendon yesterday at Belmont Park and Trainer Max Hirsch said, will not race again this year.

Bold Venture turned up lame after finishing a six-furlong workout in 1:15. Examination revealed a bowed tendon in the right foreleg. The injury, even if it responds satisfactorily to treatment, means the colt will be out of training indefinitely, Hirsch said. It may cause permanent retirement.

The injury deprives Bold Venture of a chance to win the classic Belmont Stakes, June 6, and renew rivalry with Brevity and Granville, the two colts which have fought it out with the Schwartz filer this spring on separate occasions. Brevity was beaten a head by Bold Venture in the Derby. Granville lost a nose decision in the Preakness two weeks later.

The two victories were worth $65,000 to Bold Venture's owner, who kept possession of the colt only because nobody topped his reserve bid of $7,500 when his racing establishment was put up for sale this spring.

Pirates Defeated 24 To 12 Before Many Adult Fans

Defeating the Pirates, 24 to 12, the Seminole yesterday evened the score in the "little world series" of the Lions League. The first game of the series, played last Friday, was won by the Pirates, 9 to 6.

The Seminole started off with a bang yesterday, scoring nine runs in the first inning. Glenn Cochran was on the mound for the Pirates and he allowed six hits and walked four men. In their half of the first canto the Pirates scored twice, but in the third inning the Seminole came back with three more runs.

It was the fatal fourth, though, that sealed the doom of the Pirates. In that inning Cochran walked four men, hit two with pitched balls and allowed eight strikes, with the result that the Seminole pushed an even dozen men across the home plate in that one inning.

LeRoy Estridge was sent in to pitch for the Pirates at the beginning of the fifth inning, but though he kept the Seminole from making another run it was too late to save the day.

Thomas Cobb pitched the first three innings for the Seminole and Williams Bragan pitched the last four. Roland Floyd caught for the Seminole and George Willis caught for the Pirates. The Seminole connected for 20 hits and the Pirates got 13. W. A. Ludwig umpired the game.

More than 100 adults and scores of children witnessed the game. The third game in the "little world series" will be on the Grammar School grounds tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Score: Seminole 9 0 5 12 0 0 0—24. Pirates 2 0 0 2 3 4 1—12.

Chase Says State Loses In Letting Chemists Leave

Advocating a plan whereby students of chemistry might be retained in Florida to carry on research work, Randall Chase, the principal speaker at the Kiwanis luncheon today, said that "we are passing up a good opportunity by allowing large numbers of other states to draft our youthful chemists into their lines of business."

In commenting upon his trip to Dearborn, Mich., Mr. Chase pointed out that such men as Ford, and the DuPonts are much interested in advancing the use of agricultural products into the fields of industry and that already automobile steering wheels and other parts are made from styrene. "And Mr. Ford expects to build a car in the near future made approximately 90 percent from agricultural products," Mr. Chase said.

Burned Man Hopes He Can Count His Charred Currency

Henry Carroll, 70, severely burned when fire practically destroyed his automobile, was sufficiently recovered today to send to the sheriff's office for the charred remnants of currency and quite a quantity of melted coins, which he hopes to be able to count.

Money Sheriff Would Not Try To Count Sent To Hospital

The currency in a bundle as large as a man's wrist is so badly charred that neither Sheriff J. F. McClendon or any of his assistants dared attempt to count it, fearing the paper money would fall to pieces. Deputy Sheriff O. R. Estridge expressed the opinion that Treasury officials would have difficulty in ascertaining the denomination of the bills so restitution could be made to Mr. Carroll.

Some of the coins are all right, the officers said, but many were melted together in the fire. Mr. Carroll's car caught fire on Lake Front Boulevard near the Dew Drop Inn and when assistance arrived Mr. Carroll had been severely burned about the head, face and hands as he was vainly struggling to release the spare tire. The money was in the tire.

Compensation To Be Paid Railroad Man Hurt On City Job

E. C. Gifford, a foreman employed by the railroad, is to receive $18 per week from last March 18 until such a time as he is able to work again, because he was injured during an employment of one and one-half days by the City. The payment will be made under provisions of the Workman's Compensation Act and papers were signed by City officials Monday.

In accordance with law, a railroad man had to superintend the placing of sewer pipe under the railroad tracks, and while so employed last March Mr. Gifford was technically an employee of the City. It was explained. He fell and injured his knee so seriously that it will probably be some time before he will be able to return to duty.

Immense Throng Expected To Attend Great, Free Picnic In Chuluota Field

All roads lead to Chuluota tomorrow, as that is the date for the annual free barbecue County Commissioner S. F. "Sammy" Long gives on the Jacob's picnic grounds near the town. It is to be an all day affair, and the general public is invited.

It is expected that the politicians will be out in force, but they will not provide all the entertainment. Mr. Long said the celebration is to be a "real old time Cracker Day" and he wants everybody there.

The speaking program is to begin at 10 o'clock, and all candidates will have plenty of time in which to address the gathering. There will be no division as to groups, but all candidates for every office will be given the opportunity to speak.

The closing rallies of the primary campaign will be held in Sanford next Saturday and Monday evenings. These meetings will be in the County Court House. The Saturday evening rally, to begin at 7:30 o'clock, will be addressed by the "B" Group, and the Monday evening rally, beginning at the same hour, will be addressed by the "A" Group candidates.

Candidates for County commissioner, sheriff, County judge and superintendent of schools compose the "A" Group. The "B" Group is made up of the other candidates, those for the Legislature, school board, for prosecuting attorney, clerk, tax assessor, tax collector, supervisor of registration, constable, justice of the peace and state committeemen.

Sherman Lloyd, secretary of the Democratic County Executive Committee, stated that the Court House has been chosen for these closing rallies because of the recent unsettled weather and because there are seats in the Court room. The candidates will speak there, but a loud speaker will be placed in front of the building to carry the voice of the speakers to those on the street.

Honoring past presidents of the organization, the Junior Chamber of Commerce last night presented a silver service to Gordon Barnett, who helped organize and was the first president of the organization, and has remained an active worker. Marion L. Raborn, immediate past president, also received a silver presentation from the group.

T. W. This is the first of a series in which the various County officers will speak before the Junior Chamber of Commerce, telling the reasons for and the duties of their particular offices.

General Collins Visits Sanford, Inspects Armory

National Guard Head Seeks Re-Election To Important Post

Among the candidates for state offices visiting Sanford during the past week was Adjutant General Vivian Collins, who is a candidate for re-election to the office he has held for eight years, without previous opposition. General Collins has hundreds of friends in Seminole County, many of whom are active in his behalf.

General Collins has recently been cited by Major General Moseley, fourth corps area commander, for his efficiency and ability in building up one of the finest National Guard organizations in the United States.

Federal inspectors and auditors, as well as state auditors, have all recently made reports concerning the condition of the Florida National Guard, and in every instance the reports commended General Collins for the excellent condition of the forces in the state, as well as the property and finances.

The Seminole County Army project is one example of the cooperation that General Collins has given to the Guard in this County. His efforts were largely responsible for the securing of this worthwhile building. While in the City he inspected the Armory, now nearing completion.

Attorney Will Tell Power Plant What Franchise Provides

City Attorney Fred R. Wilson has been instructed by the City Commission to advise the Florida Power & Light Company that under the terms of its franchise it shall change street lights upon 30 days' notice and the paying by the City of the cost of such change.

City Clerk F. S. Lamson on April 17 notified the company to cut out three lights little needed and turn the current on three lamps on Lake Shore Boulevard between Park and Maple Avenues. However, the company has refused to make the change unless the commission passed a certain special resolution wanted by the company.

'Funie' Steed To Speak Here This Evening

Congress Candidate, Who Married Sanford Girl, To Address Home Folks

Coming back to Sanford where he married Miss Katherine Ball, a daughter of the late J. G. Ball and Mrs. Ball, W. J. "Funie" Steed of Kissimmee announced today that he will address the voters of Seminole County, whom he says he considers as his "home folks," in the furtherance of his candidacy for Congress. His address will be delivered at the corner of Magnolia Avenue and First Street at 8 o'clock this evening.

Although born in Georgia, Mr. Steed went to DeLand when eight years of age and resided there for 12 years. He was educated in the public schools of Volusia county, and was graduated with a law degree from Stetson University.

Shortly after his graduation he moved to Kissimmee, where in 1919 and 1920 he served as mayor. Osceola county sent him to the Legislature in 1931 and '32. "Funie" married Katherine Ball in 1919, and they have four children.

He promises those who come to hear him tonight that they will hear an entirely different talk from any they have heard from a candidate for any public office heretofore. Candidates for Congress, and political experts who have been touring the district in interest of other men, declare that "Steed is the man to beat. He is sure to be in the second primary."

J. W. Holland Appointed To Federal Bench

Will Succeed Ritter As Federal Judge Of South Florida District At Miami

JACKSONVILLE, May 27.—John Warthen Holland, United States attorney for the Southern District of Florida, yesterday was nominated by President Roosevelt as federal judge to succeed Halsted L. Ritter of Miami. It was made upon recommendation of Senator Duncan U. Fletcher.

Mr. Holland will be located at Miami, where he will take over the duties handled by Judge Ritter until his conviction in the Senate on House impeachment charges. The judicial set-up of the district will remain in effect at present, it was understood, with Judge Alexander at Tampa and Judge Louis W. Strum at Jacksonville.

Mr. Holland's appointment to the high and exalted office of United States District Judge was recognized by his friends and associates as the reward of 30 years as a prominent practicing lawyer in the manner in which he had administered the duties of the district attorney's office for nearly three years. He became district attorney in July, 1933, succeeding Wilburn P. Hughes, a Republican.

Mr. Holland was born Sept. 30, 1883, at Jackson, Tenn., the son of William Holland, a merchant, who went there from Greenville county, S. C., and Harriet Elizabeth Holland, nee Sullivan, also a native of Greenville county.

He took his academic work at Union University, Jackson, graduating in 1904 with a bachelor of arts degree. In 1906 he received his bachelor of laws degree at Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn. During his junior year he won a scholarship and in his senior year he won the Founder's Medal, the highest award of merit at the university.

Mr. Holland continued to live at Jackson, engaging in the general practice of law, both civil and criminal, for four years, when he moved to Jacksonville in November, 1910. Since then he has continuously engaged in the practice of law until he accepted President Roosevelt's appointment as United States district attorney for the Southern District of Florida. His duties have been the administering of the affairs of that office for the entire district, with offices at Jacksonville, Miami and Tampa.

Mr. Holland has been admitted to practice in the courts of Tennessee, Florida and the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit.

In 1927 he married Mrs. Winifred Matthews Walker of Oak Hill, Ga., and she has a stepson, John Wilkins Walker, now in the Harvard University law school.

He has been a life-long Methodist and is a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South; Kappa Sigma, his college fraternity; the Jacksonville Bar Association, of which he was president in 1926; the Florida Bar Association and the American Bar Association.

Supreme Court Denies Habeas Corpus Writ In Tampa Whip Case

TALLAHASSEE, May 27.—(AP)—The Supreme Court today refused to take jurisdiction in the Tampa flogging cases in which five former policemen were convicted of kidnaping Eugene F. Poulnot.

It denied a habeas corpus application presented by Pat Whitaker, chief defense counsel. Whitaker sought the writ on the grounds that the warrant against the policemen failed to charge an offense. They were convicted at Bartow Saturday and now await sentence by the trial court.

About the same time, defense attorneys filed a motion for a new trial in the Criminal Court at Bartow.

Townsend May Be Prosecuted For Contempt

Committee Votes To Ask House To Lay Case Before U. S. District Attorney.

Lawyer Demands Speedy Hearing

Punitive Action By House Defied By Sheridan Downey

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—The House investigating committee today voted six to two to recommend to the House that Dr. F. E. Townsend and two of his old age pension organization aides be cited for contempt and the case be turned over to the United States District attorney.

Before the vote was taken Sheridan Downey, counsel for Dr. F. E. Townsend, advised the committee "I shall not honor your subpoena" to appear for examination. I like Dr. Townsend and I challenge you to punitive action for the unholty records that the investigation (into the Townsend old age pension movement) is a shield that will protect us." He said Downey's statement was submitted by Thomas W. Hardwick, counsel for Old Age Revolving Pension, Ltd.

"All over America, hundreds of newspapers and citizens by millions approve our conduct," Downey said. "Though they energetically oppose our economics, they enthusiastically defend our defiance of your oppressive conduct. So, gentlemen, proceed. Congressional inquiries are on trial. Your delay to force the issue against us weakens your prestige and increases ours. We seek the opportunity to present before the bar of Congress or before an American jury our charges against you. Will you not, therefore, hasten your action, make good your threats and proceed against us!"

Strikers Spawn Growing Trouble In Many States

(By The Associated Press)

Fifteen states sought today to quell labor discord that spawned a vast and swiftly growing army of strikers. Peace negotiations were generally deadlocked after 24 hours marked by a tightening of lines by both employers and strikers, and claims of union leaders that the roll of strikers already out or called out had mounted from 30,000 to 45,000. Hundreds of farms and factories are affected from coast to coast.

Employers generally challenged union claims of effectiveness of the strikers. Settlements were reached in only isolated cases affecting a negligible number of workers.

Seven thousand seamen are participating in the strikes. Six thousand barbers in lower Manhattan were to join 5,000 others in a strike which has spread over a wide area in Manhattan, Bronx and Brooklyn.

Other strikers: Arkansas, 3,000 tenant farmers; California, 1,000 celery workers.

Oregon and Washington, 7,000 loggers.

Wisconsin 2,500 workers in various industries.

Minnesota, about 500 millwrights, fur and cereal workers.

Vermont, 300 marble workers near Rutland.

Various workers in Iowa, South Dakota, Nebraska and Texas are on strike.
