

Sluggers Expected To Balk At Speed Balls Under Lights

By DILLON GRAHAM NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP)—With Bob Feller, wildest Indian in the Tribe, on the loose, burlly ball players who have never been afraid of the dark are liable to develop jittery cases of fear under the shadowy light in Cleveland's park next summer.

Cleveland will play seven night games. Young Murv Roberts likely will be the sharpshooter. Feller has a fast one that stands no more control than a jitterbug.

It takes keen optics to follow Feller's speed ball in the broad daylight. And at night, with shadows dancing crazily around, some chaps are never going to see it.

Only the hardest of men are brave enough to take a toe-hold in the dish in mid-afternoon with that careless thrower on the hill.

When since June used to balk at horseless buggies. Feller may be responsible for an epidemic of "foot-in-the-bushes" disease striking American league batters.

However, the wisest course is to stay on the bench. Splinters in your pants is the worst you can get there.

This business of sampling Feller at night may bring back some of the customs of yesterday. For instance, when Walter Johnson was going strong, some pretty respectable hitters had a habit of developing neuritis in the days the Big Train pitched.

Feller is about as fast as Sir Walter, with no more control than a rowboat in a choppy sea. It would be like getting a reprieve from a firing squad to sit on the bench while he hangs away.

What I'm getting around to saying is that with the twin aids of night and fear Feller may smash his own strikeout record to smithereens. He fanned in one afternoon last season. And if he gets hot on a hot night next summer he's likely to pass that by a full brassie shot.

Anyway, he'll have the ball players guessing—guessing how far they should get from the platter.

Leesburg Wants New Sobriquet For State League Team

LEESBURG, Feb. 15.—The Leesburg baseball club is desirous of a new sobriquet for its entry in the Florida State League, as many have complained that the "Gondollers" is no name for a ball club and does not have any connection with the Venetian Gardens when the club plays away from home.

A contest is open to all and will run until midnight of February 25. All suggestions should be mailed to Emil Yde, president of the club, or the sports editor of the Leesburg Commercial.

Contracts have been mailed to practically all of those who played on the team that won the 1938 championship in the league, namely Steve Risk, third base; Frankie Drews, shortstop; John Travis, southpaw pitcher; Jujo-Marina, pitcher; Billy Gabel, first base; Willie Pas, catcher; Arthur Hardee, pitcher; Marion Johnson, infielder; Sylvester Norvak, pitcher, and Buddy Great, the Mohawk Indian who played in right field.

Emil Yde reports that Walter and Glover, pitchers from Bowling Green, Ky., Thomas, a pitcher from Eustis, and Ray Goolby, an infielder from Apopka, will be with the team in addition to number from Buffalo, N. Y., who will try out in Spring training.

Ocala Downs Jackets By Score Of 34-31

LEESBURG, Feb. 15.—The Yellow Jackets lost another basketball game last night, this time to Ocala, 34-31.

Leesburg several times tied, and several times led the Wild-cats, in the game which was fast and rough. Farrell of the Jackets was put out in the first half for unnecessary roughness, and two of the Ocala players were benched because of excessive fouls.

Herlong scored 15 points, to lead players of both sides. In the "B" game, Ocala came out ahead, 29-9.

My Valentine, Jr. Cops Feature Event At Track

Coming back to average two consecutive defeats in his recent outing, My Valentine Jr., copped the feature race at the Sanford Orlando Kennel Club last night by a neck.

Starting strong, the Mateo Star was soon overtaken by the fast-moving Miss Yancy from the Edward Willard kennels, and it was only with the aid of the camera that the judges were able to ascertain Junior, after a last minute plunge had crossed the wire first. Agricola Sam was third by a length.

The Valentine dog paid $2.50. An outside Daily Double of 2-4 romped home easy victors in the second and third races to reward their backers with $42 for a $2 bet. Im Cuckoo, both of whom finished six lengths in front of the field, Im Cuckoo, incidentally paid $24 for a straight ticket.

In the fifth event last night, Kaw Boy, one of the evening's favorites had a hard tussle of it to cross the wire first, but managed to eke out one length over Traffic Ben, after the E. E. Edwards entry had recovered six lengths by gained at the outset of the 516 event.

Tonight there are not one, but four really feature races scheduled.

Here are some of the entries who will compete: In the eighth, Joe's E. Chance, Charlie, Andy Mike and others; in the ninth, Valentine's Boy, Miss Andrew, Rita's Pride and June's Image; in the tenth, Northern Bpy, Silver Blade, Lusia Tactician, and in the eleventh, Miss Ard Na Loch, Count Me, Quil Your Fooling, Gay Daze, and others.

McCall Gets Delay Until Next Friday

Kidnaper Of Cash Baby Handed Last-Minute Respite Giving Him Time For Final Plea

U. S. High Court To Get Appeal

Bunge Pays Penalty For Slaying Wife And Two Children

SANFORD, Feb. 20.—(AP)—The Ransom Kidnaper, Franklin Pierce McCall, was snatched at least temporarily from death in Florida's electric chair at the eleventh hour today.

State Prison Superintendent L. F. Chapman announced he had postponed McCall's execution until 11 A. M. next Friday to permit the condemned man's attorneys to appeal to the United States Supreme Court.

Chapman acted a little more than an hour before the confessed abductor of five-year-old James Bailey Cash, Jr., of Princeton, Fla., was scheduled to die along with Paul Fried Bunge, condemned for the slaying of his wife and two daughters at Tampa last May 2.

Bunge calmly walked to the chair at 10:08, the current was turned on by Sheriff Jerry McLeod of Hillsborough county at 10:12 and Superintendent Chapman pronounced Bunge legally dead at 10:15.

Bunge was convicted of the triple-slaying which he said was part of a pact with his wife, Elsie, and the trial he chloroformed the two children, slashed his wife's throat and then lost his nerve and did not take his own life as he had planned.

He blamed his act on financial difficulties. Chapman said he held up McCall's execution with the approval of Governor Fred P. Conner. The Governor's office at Tallahassee reported the chief executive talked with the prison superintendent by telephone from Jacksonville today.

Apparently McCall's sale remaining hope lies with the U. S. Supreme Court, although some legal authorities said proceedings to test the prisoner's sanity, rejected by the Florida Supreme Court, might be renewed in circuit court.

Governor Conner had set the week of Feb. 20 for McCall's execution and Superintendent Chapman had scheduled it for today. Postponement until Friday still complied with the death warrant.

Avriett said he told McCall "everything possible" had been done in the courts and his only hope lay with the Governor, who left Tallahassee Saturday and went to Jacksonville for the week-end. The attorney said McCall wept and thanked him for what he had done but declared he expected no mercy from the Governor.

McCall confessed that he took the child, with whom he frequently played, from his bed and collected $10,000 ransom from the kid's father after the child was dead. He insisted, however, that he smothered the little boy accidentally while holding a handkerchief over his mouth.

Judge Will Rule On Motions Filed In Touchton Case

Three Sentences Are Handed Down Today By Millard Smith

Further motions before the arraignment of W. C. Touchton, Jr., and J. E. Weathered, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of two infant girls in an automobile accident, will be heard by Circuit Judge Millard B. Smith shortly after court convenes tomorrow morning at 9:00 o'clock.

Judge Smith is also expected to give a ruling in the motion filed last Friday by attorneys for the defendants, seeking to quash the informations filed against the two men who are jointly charged with culpable negligence and drunken driving in connection with the plunging of their auto through an open drawbridge over the St. Johns River west of here early on the morning of Dec. 23, resulting in the drowning of 19-month-old Myra and Myra Maben.

The attorneys sought to quash the informations on the grounds that the doctrine of joint adventure does not apply in the prosecution of a criminal case of this nature and also on the grounds that the information does not allege who was in physical control of the auto at the time of the mishap.

Motions will also be heard tomorrow in the case of Hubert Green, negro, charged with murder. After these motions the cases will be set for trial. It is expected that the trial of Weathered and Touchton will be set for the first part of next week.

This morning, Lillian Hatcher, negro, charged with murder, pleaded guilty to manslaughter charges and was sentenced to serve five years in Raiford by Judge Smith.

General Turner, charged with a second offense of larceny of a beef, pleaded guilty to the first offense and was sentenced to serve a three-year term at the State Prison.

William Clark, Jr., negro, also pleaded a plea of guilty to charges of larceny of a cow, and was sentenced to serve two years in Raiford, the minimum for this offense.

The lottery cases which were scheduled to be set for trial this morning were postponed.

Talks Given On Latin-America At Rotary Club

Dr. Atwood, Director Of Inter-American Institute At U. Of F., Offers Program

Dr. Rollin Atwood, director of the Institute of Inter-American Affairs at the University of Florida, and Joffre David of Barranquilla, Columbia, South America, talked on international relations in the Western Hemisphere at the regular weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club held at the Valdez Hotel today.

Andrew Caraway was welcomed into the club as a new member by George Rollin, president, who presided at the meeting.

Explaining the general lack of information in this country regarding South America, Dr. Atwood pointed out that a straight line drawn south from Sanford would not touch South America but would run into the Pacific ocean with the entire continent east of that line. The east coast of South America lying to the east of that line. The east coast of Florida, Dr. Atwood explained, coincides with the west coast of South America.

Mr. David, a student at the University of Florida, explained the transportation problems of his country of Colombia and said that considering these problems, remarkable progress has been made in the development of that region during the past five or ten years.

Declaring that when he first went to Columbia 15 years ago, Barranquilla, only 18 miles from the coast was in point of travel time two hours from the coast. Since then, he said, a port has been dug up to the city's gate, and ocean going boats are now able to dock at Barranquilla.

Columbia is a very wealthy nation, he said, with vast exports of coffee, petroleum, and such minerals as coal and copper, not to mention the bulk of its foreign sales. But because of the transportation problem, he added, it is largely undeveloped.

In introducing Mr. David, Dr. Atwood revealed what the University of Florida is trying to do toward improving international relations.

Water Shortage Fears Of Canal Opponents "Silly", FDR States

MIAMI, Feb. 20.—(AP)—The Herald yesterday quoted President Roosevelt as remarking with a broad grin that South Florida's fear of a water shortage resulting from cutting a ship canal across the water of the State was "silly."

(Mr. Roosevelt did not comment on the canal or other Florida problems during his regular press conference. The Herald said he made the statement after the meeting with Washington correspondents ended.)

Instead of ceasing barn, the completed project conceivably would be a boon to Miami and South Florida, the Chief Executive was quoted as saying, because many travelers aboard ships using the canal undoubtedly would stop over for trips to points of interest.

The President was said to have commented that the Overseas Highway was one of the most interesting roads in the United States.

Jackson Day Drive Nets $132.50 Here

Seminole County's contribution to the Jackson Day dinner fund for the Democratic party amounted to $132.50. G. W. Wynn, chairman for Seminole County, announced today.

In the whole state, according to Harry W. Brown, secretary of the Jackson Day celebration, contributions amounted to approximately $30,000.

Declaring that the proposed St. Johns Indian River Canal is important because of its multiple advantages, Col. Lewis H. Watkins, district engineer of Jacksonville, spoke briefly of the benefits which might accrue through construction of the proposed waterway to the East Coast, at a luncheon in his honor at noon today in the Hotel Valdez.

Criticize Statement As To Cutting Short Caribbean Cruise

By Associated Press—With uncertainty still suspending Spain between peace and war and fear growing that the French-Italian tension soon may come to head, the British government asked Parliament to approve what is probably the costliest peace-time re-armament program in history.

Parliament began a two-day debate on defense and was informed Italy had sent 20,000 additional troops to Libya. Negotiations with Generalissimo Franco for peace in Spain have been suspended following the insurgent leader's refusal to guarantee clemency for government leaders.

Meanwhile new press attacks against President Roosevelt appeared in Berlin and Rome.

The German press was particularly severe in its criticism of the President's statement he might cut short his Caribbean cruise because of possible European developments.

THREE GATES OF GOLD

If you are tempted to reveal a tale someone to you has told about another, make it pass. Before you speak, three gates of gold.

U. S. Spending Exceeds Income—headline. Is that news?

As President Wilson used to say, we are in favor of open covenants, openly arrived at.

A cartoonist suggests that FDR is another Roosevelt Rough Rider. He's got the 40th Congress trying to throw him, hasn't he?

House Group Won't Repair Capitol Roof—headline. They are waiting for a Republican investigation to come along and raise it.

Those folks you see going around these days with long faces are the ones who thought property was just around the corner.

All the experts are busy predicting there will be no war in Europe this Spring which shows just how critical the situation has become.

President Roosevelt's another business man by promising there will be no new taxes levied. However, it isn't the new taxes, but the old ones that have got most of them down.

Bruce Lockhart's latest book, "Guns or Butter," is based on Field Marshal Herman Goerring's purported statement to the German people that "Butter will only make you fat. Guns will make you strong."

The report that it was a madman who made an attempt on the life of Roosevelt again raises the question as to whether those on the inside of the asylum are the ones who are insane, or those on the outside.

We don't know why the Administration should be criticized for selling planes to France and England. We'd rather these planes would be used to hold the dictators in check with French and English boys at the controls, than with American boys in them.

Washington Merry-Go-Round insists that if war breaks out this Spring, Germany and Italy will almost certainly win it. If that were the case, we would be sure to break out this Spring, for Hitler and Mussolini can start it any time they think they can win.

The news, Hitler has said something which we can agree on. He said, in announcing the speed limit of 30 miles an hour, he said, "I don't know how to drive fast, but I know how to drive slow."

Sanford Deserves It

The Herald, like most business, agricultural, or civic organizations in Seminole County, is vitally interested in the construction of the St. Johns-Indian River Canal which is being given a thorough hearing by Army engineers in Sanford today.

That something must be done to give this city new commercial vitality goes without saying. No other city in Florida was so thoroughly pillaged and plundered by speculators and binder-boys during the boom.

And if we do say so ourself, no other city has taken its losses in better spirit or with less grumbling and civil strife than Sanford. While middle western homeowners were battling court officials over mortgage foreclosures, families here who had lost their homes moved quietly into less expensive places and made the best of it.

Por twelve long years Sanford has taken its losses without howling. But the time has come when something has got to be done to save this city from further economic suffering.

The St. Johns-Indian River Canal will do more for Sanford and Central Florida than the Overseas Highway has done for Key West.

What this tremendous river traffic would mean to this section cannot be exaggerated. With their yachts tied up at Sanford docks, guests aboard would find all the wonders of Central Florida within easy motoring distance.

In addition to that, this canal would afford a valuable new outlet to the sea for commercial traffic while providing important flood control measures for hundreds of thousands of fertile acres now of little, if any, use because of the frequent floods.

As compared with most projects sponsored these days by various community interests, the cost of the proposed canal is negligible. It is estimated that the entire project can be completed for less than three million dollars.

Cause Of Killings

Gangster murders in the United States take a back seat and are far outnumbered by killings following petty quarrels, while crimes of passion rank second only to the trivial disputes in causing homicides, according to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

In the list of killings arising from petty arguments about family or domestic affairs, money or property usually of small value, and other minor matters, these cases are cited:

An irate husband beats and kills his wife because his dinner is not ready on time.

A man shoots a friend after an argument over being the last to be served a glass of beer.

A lunchroom proprietor shoots a customer after an argument over the quality of a sandwich.

A quarrel over who should be the first to play a mechanical nickelodion causes another homicide.

As has been said long before our time, more people are killed from insult than injury.

CITY BRIEFS

Violators of City ordinances will be tried before Judge Frank L. Miller in a session of the Municipal Court at the Police Station this afternoon at 4:00 o'clock.

The regular business meeting of the Campbell Lumbering Post of the American Legion will be held in the Legion Hut tonight at 8:00 o'clock, according to Commander George Weinstein who urged a full attendance of legionnaires.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Civic Committee of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce was held in the Chamber building this evening.

World's Biggest Airplane Is Ready To Enter Service

One does not dine off the portable lap-tables of the ordinary transport plane. There is a dining room which seats 14 at a time.

The plane is operated from an upper deck, entirely separated from the passengers. Pilot and copilot sit together in a smaller plane; but behind them the navigator, the radio officer and the flight engineer work at separate desks.

Can Cruise 6,500 Miles The craft weighs 23,000 pounds and its four engines, developing 6,000 horsepower in all, can drive it at 200 miles an hour.

There have been two larger planes built, but they no longer exist. An experimental giant built in Russia crashed. The German DIX made a flight to the United States, then was dismantled as impractical for commercial use.

He said the project would be an aid in ridding the river of hyacinths. He also stated that this state has over 3,000 miles of potential waterways in addition to the sea coast and harbors, and that the government has developed approximately half of this mileage.

President Haines declared that opponents of the waterway "start with an advantage" in having men in the Army Engineering Department who are so tremendously interested in the proposal.

Nearly 100 persons from over Central Florida and the St. Johns River valley attended the luncheon in honor of the visiting engineers.

Many Supporters Give Testimony In Hearing On Canal

St. Johns-Indian River Project Endorsed By Leading Central Florida Officials

Multiple Benefits Of Proposal Cited Vero Beach, Wabasso And Fort Pierce Voice Objections

The whole St. Johns River valley is proud of the efficiently handled case presented yesterday before Col. Watkins, a telegram from Karl Lehmann, Secretary of the Lake County Chamber of Commerce stated today.

Before an audience of several hundred interested persons, many of whom gave testimony, a board of Army engineers, presided over by Col. Lewis H. Watkins of Jacksonville, held a hearing in the City Hall auditorium yesterday afternoon on the proposed St. Johns-Indian River Canal.

The $2,750,000 proposal was endorsed by officials and organizations from the St. Johns valley and Central Florida while objections were tendered in letters from Wabasso, Vero Beach, Fort Pierce, and a development company which lies near the proposed course for the canal.

The objections against the project were based on the theory that the lowering of the water table in the upper reaches of the St. Johns valley would result in less frost protection for producers of winter vegetables. Proponents, however, declared that a more even water table could be obtained through construction of the 100 foot canal since locks would afford better control of the water level.

This irrigation feature was cited as one of the advantages of the project, in addition to its advantages for use of yacht owners, commercial shipping, flood control, mosquito control and hyacinth control.

Attempting to show that the project is a 4 percent income producer, one of the requirements of the engineering department before consideration is given such work, Fred T. Williams, chairman of a special committee of the St. Johns River Improvement Association which prepared a brief on the project, read the lengthy report analyzing the varied advantages of the canal.

Mr. Williams told Col. Lewis H. Watkins, U. S. Army district engineer for Jacksonville district, that for 25 years efforts have been made by those interested in the upper St. Johns valley to alleviate flood conditions which occur annually, inundating large areas of adjacent lowlands.

Declaring that control of the water level in the upper part of the river through locks would make possible a growth of the cattle industry in this section, Mr. Williams asserted that cattle raising had increased 218 percent in the St. Johns valley in recent years.

Mr. Williams also listed, among other things, the recreational value of the canal, commercial advantages and hyacinth elimination.

Declaring that this state's principal commodity is phosphate and clinchite, George W. Gibbs, president of the St. Johns River Improvement Association, stated that no means had been evolved for figuring this commodity in dollars and cents but he said this should be taken into consideration in connection with the proposed canal which he said would open up a waterway thereby increasing the availability of the commodity.

George W. Y. War of Orlando, president of the Wabasso and Vero Beach Chamber of Commerce, stated that the proposed canal would be a boon to the citrus industry.

New Support Is Given Completion Of Ship Canal

Commerce Department Withdraws Unfavorable 1934 Report

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—The Commerce Department withdrew its unfavorable report on the Florida ship canal today and declared the $200,000,000 waterway should be completed.

The new report came in response to a Senate resolution asking that the department's 1934 report be studied and brought up to date.

Previously, the department had reported potential traffic of canal did not justify the high cost.

The new report, written by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, said the traffic since 1931, year on which the study was based, had increased nearly 100 percent.

The canal itself, the report noted, has been changed from a lock type to a sea-level waterway. It added that the dimensions had been increased.

Major General Edward M. Markham, retired chief of Army engineers, will appear before the House Rivers and Harbors Committee to defend his two-year-old report recommending the completion of Florida ship canal.

Markham, now in private business in Chicago, told Chairman Mansfield (D-Tex.) in a letter he would be a witness at the committee's canal hearing, which opens next Tuesday.

The engineer's report on the $250,000,000 waterway reversed the findings of the War Department's River and Harbor Board, which held a canal of adequate dimensions would be so costly as to make its construction unfeasible.

Mansfield and the canal witnesses also would include Lieutenant Colonel Helton Somervell, former construction chief of project and now Works Progress Administrator in New York.

Dense Fog Results In Death For Two Pensacola Fliers

PENSACOLA, Feb. 21.—(AP)—One of the heaviest fogs ever experienced along the Gulf Coast sent two Navy fliers plunging to their deaths during the night, causing six others to "fall out," leaving their planes to crash in the darkness, and forced four others to make hazardous but safe landings in southern Alabama.

The impenetrable fog rolled inland from the Gulf of Mexico off 12 planes, all single-seater land craft used by the Navy for training purposes, had taken off for the squadron's final test of night flying.

The fliers were trapped above the fog which blotted out the light of the landing field at Navy's training station here and when the gasoline supply ran low it was a case of every man for himself.

Lieut. G. F. Fosser, Braulio Navy officer receiving instructions at the base here, was killed when his plane crashed and burned.

Lieut. N. M. Ostergren, 30, was found dead this morning in the wreckage of his plane near McDavid, Fla., 25 miles north of here.

Lieut. J. F. Moore, aide to the commandant, said it was the station's greatest equipment loss in actual air maneuvers.

LADIES NIGHT The annual Ladies Night of the Episcopal Club will be celebrated in the Mayfair Hotel tonight at 7:00 o'clock. A program of entertainment has been provided by Frank Lamson, chairman of the program committee.
