BRIEFS

Officers battered during arrests

SANFORD — City police who broke up a fight between Jeff Green, 27, of 813 Valencia Court N., Sanford, and his brother said Green turned on them.

Green was charged with battery to two policemen and aggravated battery, resisting with violence and disorderly conduct. He was arrested at home at 6:43 p.m. Saturday.

Motorcyclist dies in accident

SANFORD — LeRoy Dends, 53, 4911 Orange Blvd., Sanford, died Sunday night after another motorcycle hit his motorcycle that was parked with lights off in the southbound lane of State Road 46, west of Sanford at Oregon Avenue, at about 11:40 p.m. Sunday, state troopers report.

A Florida Highway Patrol spokesman today said William Sparling, 31, of the same address as Dends, was operating the bike that sideswiped Dends' bike on the right. Both cycles went into a ditch and Dends was ejected into the path of a car driven by Jason Lee Perkins, 18, 2990 Baily Ave., Sanford. Dends died at Orlando Regional Medical Center. Sparling suffered serious injuries and was hospitalized in Sanford, the FHP said. Charges are pending the outcome of an investigation.

Lotto jackpot rolls over

TALLAHASSEE — Nobody matched all six winning numbers in this week's Florida Lotto drawing, boosting the jackpot for next week to an estimated $20 million, lottery officials said Sunday.

Although nobody won the grand prize, 258,837 tickets qualified for smaller prizes, lottery computers showed. Payouts were:

The winning numbers in Saturday night's Lotto drawing were 1, 6, 18, 36, 45 and 46.

• 13,453 tickets matched four of six to win $121.

• 245 tickets matched five of six numbers to win $4,540.

THUNDER ON LAKE MONROE

City was perfect host for boat races; return next year expected

By J. BRADLEY DILLING
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Champagne corks flew through the air as racers were flung into the pool following the post-race celebrations Sunday night at the Holiday Inn.

Participants on all sides of the Coors Light Super Challenge '90 races had reason to celebrate.

Race officials were enamored with Lake Monroe because it seemed to have all the qualities of Lake Maggiore, St. Petersburg, which gained almost legendary status in power boat racing because records frequently were set and broken there. Two records were broken and another record was established for a new classification of boats that raced this weekend.

Holiday Inn officials were excited because hosting the races means big business and race officials have already asked for permission to bring the races back next year, Holiday Inn General Manager Jeff Blackstone said.

SANFORD — Two world records were broken and new ones set at the power boat races at Lake Monroe over the weekend. A new record was established for a variation on a class of boats that never raced before this weekend. The new boat is the variation III of the Grand National Class (GN), which also have

Lake Jesup restoration group may disband

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — An intergovernmental committee assigned with studying ways to restore Lake Jesup may decide to disband today for a lack of money.

"We'll certainly be putting everything on hold, that's for sure," said Lawson Snyder, chairman of the group and a scientist with the Florida Game and Freshwater Fish Commission. "As chairman, it will be my recommendation that we should disband for now."

Sen. W.W. "Bud" Gardner, D-Titusville, said

"It seems like everybody wants to go in their own direction and not work through the group like it was set up to do."

St. James AME Church considered for distinction

Historic designation review due tonight

By J. BRADLEY DILLING
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — The city commission tonight will hear the first reading of an ordinance to name the St. James African Methodist Episcopal Church in Sanford an historic landmark.

The church was founded by a group of freed slaves in 1867. The congregation grew over the years and eventually came up with the money to construct the red brick building that has stood at 819 Cypress Ave., since 1910.

"It's a really pretty building," Commissioner Lou Howell said. "But the really nice thing about it is that it is such an important part of the history of the black community."

The ordinance must pass on second reading at next week's city commission meeting for the proposal to be forwarded to the state.

The commission's blessing is needed in order for the church to be named to the National Register of Historic Places. State and federal review of the proposal is also a requirement for listing on the historic register.

In other business, the city building department will request permission to increase building fees by about 70 percent.

"We're asking for increases to bring Sanford up with Seminole County and other cities in the county," building official Gary Winn said. "We really are behind."

Winn said each fee would be considered on its own, so it would be difficult to estimate how much building fees might increase.

A 12-page report to the city commission, however, said the building department is requesting "an increase in fees of approximately 70 percent."

According to the report, the department has been making less money than budgeted every year since fiscal year 1985-86.

Sinkhole on I-4 repaired

By NICK PFEPAUF
Herald staff writer

LAKE MARY — The westbound exit ramp of Interstate 4 at the Lake Mary-Heathrow Interchange was reopened at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, following a problem with a sinkhole, but motorists were exercising caution this morning as they traveled over the temporarily-resurfaced area which is not as smooth as the rest of the ramp.

The DeLand office of the Department of Transportation says there is no further sinkhole expansion expected at that particular area.

The bottom dropped out of a portion of the exit ramp late Friday, catching three vehicles unexpectedly. A 1980 Mercury, driven by Dimetrio Sepulveda hit the right side of the sinkhole, which caused the vehicle to veer into a nearby ditch. A Lincoln, driven by Charles Edward Lacy of Winter Springs hit the left side of the sink hole, careening it toward a nearby fence. The third vehicle, a Ford Bronco, driven by Chi Keung Fan, of 320 Dublin, Lake Mary, ended up straddling the hole, suspended by its front and rear bumpers.

"My husband was wearing his seat belt," said Mrs. Fan. "He says he owes his life to those seatbelts." Fan has lived in Lake Mary for the past 8 years. He is originally from Hong Kong. Drivers of all three vehicles were taken to South Seminole Community Hospital in Longwood, where they were treated for minor injuries and released.

By the time the sinkhole had reached its full size, it was measured at 17 feet across, 22 feet wide, and 8 1/2 feet deep. Paul Passe, District Geotechnical Engineer with the Department of Transportation said the hole required 40 yards of sand to fill the chasm. "A temporary patch of cold mix asphalt was put over the hole, and we expect a permanent surface to be put in by later this week or the beginning of next week at the latest," said Passe. He said the ramp was reopened to traffic in less than 24 hours.

When the sinkhole was first reported, Passe was

Building values climb for April in Lake Mary

LAKE MARY — More building permits were taken out for new residential homes in April than the preceding month in Lake Mary, and the average per-home value was $9,345 higher in April than in March. But Senior Planner Matt West says it may not continue that way.

"I expect to see the number of residential permits decreasing and permits for commercial construction increasing over the next few months," said West. Lake Mary is almost

Seventy-nine arrested in Rock Pile V drug sweep in county

By SUSAN LODEN

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — The second day of Rock Pile V in Seminole County saw one suspect flushed out of his mother's attic after City/County Investigative Bureau agents with a warrant broke open the door of the house with a sledge hammer.

For about 10 minutes before the break-in Saturday night, CCIB agents negotiated with a woman in the house who was holding a tiny baby. The woman adamantly refused to open the door. When lawmen entered, they captured Audie James Cleveland, 27, 303 Teakwood Lane, rural Altamonte Springs. Cleveland was wanted on a warrant in connection with sale and an attempt to sell both cocaine and fake cocaine. He

FBI accused of ignoring death threats

MIAMI — Relatives of a murdered 25-year-old man accused the FBI and the U.S. Attorney's office of ignoring hundreds of death threats against the victim because it involved "a homosexual thing."

Jeffrey Dryfka, 25, was fatally shot in the back as he left work in Pompano Beach Feb. 18. The man he lived with for seven years, James Barfield, 47, was charged with first-degree murder the next day and is jailed without bond awaiting trial.

According to a Sunday report in The Miami Herald, Barfield had told his sister, his neighbors and Dryfka's parents repeatedly that he planned to murder Dryfka. Barfield made 163 threatening phone calls to the victim's mother and stepfather in San Diego between September 1989 and February 1990, court records showed.

Customs beefs up computers

MIAMI — The Customs Service has installed a sophisticated new computer and revamped its processing procedures in hopes of catching more smugglers while speeding passengers through the lengthy lines at Miami International Airport.

The new computer system is designed to handle up to 1,200 international passengers an hour. Customs is scheduled to begin using the computer and the new procedures May 21 in the refurbished processing area at the airport entrance.

The computer is linked to law enforcement and immigration records. By typing in the names and addresses of arriving passengers, Customs agents can identify and detain those with outstanding warrants against them and those identified as suspected smugglers or illegal aliens.

Troopers get Harleys

JACKSONVILLE — Florida Highway Patrol troopers in Duval County are about to mount up a modern version of the motorcycle squad abandoned by the state law enforcement agency 40 years ago.

Ten troopers are breaking in new leather jackets, helmets and riding boots. They are also breaking in 10 shiny, new Harley-Davidson FRXP 1,340-cc "police specials."

After 30 days in Tallahassee to learn how to skid, weave, slide and otherwise maneuver the massive bikes, Edmonds' squad will hit the streets of Duval June 11.

Chief discloses drug test results

MIAMI — In the latest dispute with the Miami Police Hispanic Officers Association, Police Chief Perry Anderson disclosed urinalysis results showing he tested negative for illegal drug use.

The association is trying to oust Anderson and accused him two weeks ago of running the department like a dictator and discriminating against Hispanic officers.

In a May 8 letter, association president Martin Garcia asked the chief to disclose results of his periodic drug tests. He wrote that officers' urinalysis tests "can be openly scrutinized by anyone" while Anderson had refused to share his test results. He accused the chief of using a double standard.

Anderson was stunned by the letter.

variations I and II (although the I-class did not race this weekend).

Neal Haraway, 19, Brunswick Ga., was driving an E Production hydroplane with an outboard engine. Referred to as a 50-mph-class boat, Haraway's outboard engine hydroplane shattered the existing 50.5 mph record for the class with a 58.5-record run.

Homer Green broke his own record in the SST-140 Class, a group of v-bottom boats that usually run between 80 and 110 mph.

Some racers competed and finished in more than one class. Final standings for the weekend are as follows:

●Standings for the 7-liter engine hydroplanes, the largest, most powerful craft at the races traveling at speeds approaching 100 mph:

First Place: Chuck "Rookie" Woodruff, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.
Second Place: Steven David, Pompano Beach, Fla.

●Standings for SS in-board engine, v-bottom racers:

First Place: Brian Ohlts, Naples, Fla.
Second Place: Duff Daily, Miami, Fla.

●Standings for the Jersey Speed Skiff class:

First Place: Mike Doud, Ft. Pierce, Fla.
Second Place: Robert Birdsall, West Palm Beach, Fla.

●Standings for the boats with 2.5 liter modified engines:

First Place: James A. Sellers, Pinellas Park, Fla.
Second Place: James Aid, St. Petersburg, Fla.

●Grand National Class II racers:

First Place: Thomas Chandler, Miramar, Fla.
Second Place: Hugh James, Green Cove Springs, Fla.

●Grand National Class III:

First Place: Thomas Rowe, Lake Worth, Fla.
Second Place: Curtis Hanner, Green Cove Springs, Fla.

●Standings for the v-bottom boats with 2.5 liter modified engines:

First Place: Richard Collings, Seffner, Fla.
Second Place: Jack Aldrich, Bradenton, Fla.

Spectators lined the shores on Lake Monroe as well as dotted the water in boats.

An exhausted Blackstone commented on possible future races, between transmissions to other organizers over a hand-held two-way radio.

"They are happy with everything," Blackstone said.

"They have already asked me to set a date for next year. We are talking about becoming part of (an APBA) racing circuit with about 10 races a year. We want to host at least one of them. A couple of officials have asked if we are ready to do it again in October. I don't know about that. We'll have to wait and see," he said.

Mully Craig, one of the scorers for the two-day event, said despite the races having to be called off early Saturday due to bad weather conditions, Lake Monroe is perfect because of the way the course was set up and because of the facilities available to racers.

"We have an excellent course. We have excellent facilities. The Holiday Inn is right here, and there is talk of hosting the National Championships in 1991. We are in love."

Blackstone said APBA officials mentioned the possibility of hosting the 1991 National Championships, but the possibility has not been finalized or ruled out.

Racers said the lake was good for breaking records because the wide turns allowed drivers to keep their speeds up.

Mother's Day for this Mom was powerful rush

By TOM LANHAM
Herald correspondent

SANFORD — Get up, eat breakfast, spend some time with your family, maybe read the paper, then spend the afternoon whipping around Lake Monroe in a hydroplaning power boat at speeds in excess of 70 miles per hour. That's how Cyn Delee Dalton celebrated Mother's Day this year.

"This is a great Mother's Day," said Dalton, that rarest of competitors — a woman on the APBA tour.

From her son Billy, 7, who thinks he has the coolest mom in town, Dalton received a card and a kiss. To her own mom, Dalton presented a fourth-place finish in her EP class race to match Saturday's effort. Not bad considering that the Sanford Super Challenge was but her third race ever.

Not bad either, when you consider that her division is the same one in which Neal Haraway set a world record on Saturday that he missed only seconds on Sunday.

"There are some tough racers out there," she said.

"I'm catching them slowly but surely. So far I've never finished last."

In her other identity, Dalton is the branch manager of a bank in Key Largo. She decided to try boat racing because, "I just get chill bumps when I watch racing."

Dalton said the fact that she is a woman has caused her problems neither in nor out of the water.

"It's like a big family out here. They've all been fair to me, but they don't give me any breaks, even on Mother's Day. To be accepted, all you have to be able to do is drive your boat," she said.

"If anybody asked me, I'd tell all women they should do this. They'd be surprised how much they'd enjoy it," she said.

Part of the reason that seems like a family affair to Dalton may be that much of her family travels with her on the circuit. Providing support this weekend, in addition to her son, were her mother, father, two cousins, and friend Anita Martinelli. All together they comprise the "She's Outrageous" team Dalton hopes to someday lead to many victories.

completely enclosed by adjoining cities, with Sanford on the north and northeast, Longwood to the south, and Interstate 4 to the west. "There's not much more room for us to grow in areas suitable for residential sections," said the City Planner. "The only areas we will soon have left will be for commercial construction."

West said the current building growth is putting the city into "the final frontiers" of land usage, all leading toward what is known as "buildout", that is, when all of the available land is being used.

During April, only one commercial building permit was taken out, for a 38,160 square foot warehouse at 2950 Lake

Emma Road, to be built by Calibron, Inc. There were no commercial building permits issued in March.

The city issued 22 residential building permits in April, compared to 16 in March. The total value estimated for the homes increased from $1,680,717 in March to $2,516,597 in April.

The finer things in life were not overlooked however, Lake Mary home owners showed an increase in building permits for the construction of swimming pools. While 9 were issued for March, there were 14 in April, for a total value of $164,655.

The numbers of permits for miscellaneous residential construction such as re-roofing, porches, pool enclosures and additions to existing structures were down by only three in April, from the preceding month.

POLICE BRIEFS

Dispute with road crew brings arrest

LONGWOOD — Allen L. Lord became hostile when county road crews cutting down a tree placed a plastic cone over a sprinkler head in the county's right of way in front of his residence, according to police reports.

Lord was arrested after threatening to "blow off" the head of county employee James Glamella, police said.

According to arrest reports, Lord repeatedly removed the plastic cone and threw it across the yard. When the road crew refused to keep the cone off the property, police said, Lord went to his van and removed a shot gun which he brought into the house. The report added that Lord never actually pointed the gun at Glamella.

Woman charged in stabbing

SANFORD — Victoria P. Mitchell, 22, 3074 Truman Blvd., Sanford, is charged with aggravated battery in connection with the alleged stabbing of her husband Ranson Mitchell Saturday night at home.

Police report the victim was stabbed in the chest, shoulder, arm and leg, until he escaped and police arrived to arrest Mitchell at 9:34 p.m. Sunday. She allegedly kicked and fought police and was also charged with two counts of battery on a policeman and resisting arrest with violence.

Man accused in pursuit, attack

LAKE MARY — A man who allegedly pursued his ex-girlfriend and another man from Lake Mary to Daytona Beach Shores and pulled the man from his car at one point, has been arrested by Lake Mary police.

Kenneth Jeffery Laney, 19, 2000 Lake Mary Blvd., Sanford, was arrested at the Lake Mary police station at 12:35 a.m. Sunday. He is charged with two counts of aggravated assault with a motor vehicle for allegedly trying to run the victims' car off the road after an encounter on Country Club Road, Lake Mary, police said.

Police nab burglary suspect

SANFORD — City police report catching a burglary suspect in a compound at Scotty's, U.S. Highway 17-92, Sanford, while another suspect fled in a truck and escaped.

William Henry Cash, 37, 115 W. 10th St., Sanford, was charged with burglary at about 11 p.m. Saturday at the business. He was allegedly stealing lumber.

DNR to demolish Wekiva cabins

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald staff writer

LONGWOOD — This may have been the last weekend any "river rats" still living in cabins on islands in the Wekiva River will spend there.

Beginning tomorrow, employees of the Florida Department of Natural Resources will post condemnation signs on about 50 of the structures which extend from Rock Springs Run north towards State Road 46.

Court decisions have held the islands belong to the state, which does not want the cabins. Environmental officials say the sewage and garbage from the cabins pollutes the river.

Many of the structures have already been torn down by volunteers, but many of the more sturdy cabins will require contractors to remove.

Dale Twachtmann, secretary of the Florida Department of Environmental Regulation, recently approved $120,000 for the demolition project. Last week, Seminole County commissioners waived county dumping fees to allow materials to be dumped without charge.

Since 1975, the state has been seeking to evict the squatters from the cabins. Since then, the cabin owners have sued the state for rights to remain there. During the 1980s, the state offered to lease the land to the cabin owners but negotiations broke down.

According to court documents, few of the islands have formal lease or purchase agreements. Most transactions were sealed with nothing more than a handshake.

Boy dies in pond wall collapse

United Press International

MOUNT DORA — Residents say they attempted to no avail to have city officials erect a fence around a retention pond where an 11-year-old boy died in the cave-in of tunnel he was digging with two companions.

Troy Ronald Fitzgerald was pronounced dead Friday night after being freed from the collapsed wall of the city-owned stormwater retention pond.

The cave-in occurred about 7:30 p.m. A 13-year-old boy and a 7-year-old girl were with Fitzgerald at the time. While the girl ran for help, the boy tried digging his friend out on his own. Then about 30 neighbors showed up and began digging with their hands and shovels until rescue workers arrived.

Fitzgerald's head was exposed at one point, but there was another collapse before resuscitation efforts could begin.

Angry residents said they have tried for years to have the city fence off the pond or reinforce the retention walls of the pond, which had become a popular children's playground.

"I was told they didn't have the money to do any of that," Leslie Reigel said.

Mayor Bob Wilson said he was not aware of any complaints, but promised to raise the issue with city staff.

St. Johns water district's plane purchase investigated

From staff and wire reports

PALATKA — The Putnam County grand jury is investigating the St. Johns River Water Management District's purchase and use of a $575,000 twin-engine aircraft for official business.

The panel delivered a questionnaire concerning the 1982 Piper Cheyenne I, purchased last year, to the water board last week. The foreman said the grand jury planned to begin hearing testimony after the district returns the questionnaire.

The district's 19-county area includes Seminole County.

The district estimates the plane is used about 30 hours each month. At about $575 per hour, that is about $17,250 per month to operate the aircraft.

District officials justify the purchase as a way to save money on rental cars and charter flights for board members and staff. All the same, the district spent more than $28,000 on outside air travel since the budget year began Oct. 1.

That included a three-day trip by board member John Minton and three other district officials aboard his private plane to Colorado last year to tour a water reuse plant and attend a weekend retreat. Minton billed the water district based on what commercial air fare would have cost — $724 each.

District officials said they need to get to meetings quickly across the 19-county district and avoid expensive overnight trips. They noted that the Palatka airport lacks commercial service.

The district bought a single-engine Cessna for $94,000 two years ago, but used it about 400 hours per year, so much that officials decided a twin-engine craft would be safer.

They traded up for the seven-seater Piper in September. There was no competitive bidding, but it was not required for a used plane under state procedures.

Henry Dean, the district's executive director, said he welcomed the grand jury probe and knew of only one instance where the single-engine plane was misused. That involved a jump by a skydiver, and ended with the forced resignation of district pilot Rob Self.

Coyotes moving into south Florida

United Press International

MIAMI — Coyotes, which once roved the western U.S. prairies, are moving into Florida in increasing numbers and can now be found about 50 miles northwest of Miami, a published report said Monday.

The proliferation of coyotes is most noticeable in the rural northern part of the state. The animal has been seen in 48 of Florida's 67 counties, said The Miami Herald.

"They are established in Florida, there's no doubt about that," said Jim Brady, a biological administrator with the state Game and Fresh Water Commission. "Coyotes are invading most of the eastern United States."

Coyotes ate every lamb on Florida Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner's 1,000-acre farm in Jefferson County. Conner said he never fenced his lambs because he wanted them to have a sense of freedom and the coyotes ended up eating dozens of them.

"Anything that goes slipping around in the dark, killing little lambs, is a pretty lowlife critter," he said.

State begins investigating controversial drug treatment

United Press International

WEST PALM BEACH — The Palm Beach County sheriff's office and state attorney's office have begun an investigation of a controversial drug treatment program that is already the focus of several child-abuse investigations.

The investigation focuses on the Growing Together program in Lake Worth. A 15-year-old Coral Springs girl was found in March to suffer from post-traumatic stress disorder because of her time spent there. Since then other youngsters have said they were abused at the center.

Parents said the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services was investigating 10 child-abuse cases involving the center, but HRS said it could not comment on the number of cases or the nature of the investigation.

Parents complained that teens were pinned to the ground to restrain them, and that those entering the center were not allowed to talk to their parents for weeks or months.

The non-profit program treats 40 to 44 children at a time and costs about $10,000 for two years of treatment.

Twins abound in senior class

United Press International

WEYMOUTH, Mass. — When Weymouth South High School's class of 1990 graduates next month, there'll be 13 sets of parents who are doubly proud of their children: 26 out of 236 seniors are twins.

"I figure twins skip every other generation, so some place it had to all add up," said Joel Busa, 18, identical twin of Jon. "This is pretty much it."

Five of the 13 pairs of twins are identical; the other eight — including two boy-girl sets — are fraternal.

The Doyle sisters work at the same shop and plan to open a restaurant called "Twins" together.

Joel Busa said he and his brother had different interests, unlike other twins who "don't seem to ever leave each other."

Free-trade tumult

Vocal opposition in some quarters of the United States, Canada and Mexico to proposals to make all of North America a free-trade zone is as predictable as it is premature. Since the disclosure that the government of President Carlos Salinas de Gortari had initiated talks with U.S. and Canadian officials, knee-jerk criticism has been unrelenting.

Organized labor groups in the United States and Canada have led the attack against the proposed three-nation common market without barriers to trade or employment. In Mexico, where fear of yielding sovereignty to the United States has left its mark on economic policy for generations, critics are characterizing Salina's courageous free-market initiative as a headlong rush to exploit Mexicans and rob them of their national identity.

Such facile criticism ignores the long-term benefits for all three nations to be derived from a trilateral free-trade pact or even a common market that would create the world's most powerful trading bloc. This is not the moment to knock this promising concept on the head before it has even been explored.

What is needed at this stage is a cool-headed, comprehensive assessment of the advantages and disadvantages of economic unification. By eliminating quota and tariff protections on all goods and services, economic growth would get a major boost in all three countries. Increased efficiency resulting from the elimination of such barriers as customs, immigration and health inspectors would mean greater productivity. Economists predict the gross national products of the three nations could increase by hundreds of billions of dollars during the next decade. There would be some disadvantages, too, of course. Organized labor in the United States and Canada have strong fears about displacement by lower-paid Mexican workers. Some individual industries would almost certainly suffer if their tariff and quota protections were removed.

Consequently, it will take strong leadership over a long period to overcome the fears raised by economic unity. Each nation will have to make individual sacrifices in the name of long-term prosperity.

The lure of such a glittering goal is likely to dominate trade discussions among the United States, Canada and Mexico for some time to come. More importantly, it should stimulate debate that will provide a much-needed counterbalance to hasty and shallow criticism.

Designer drugs

An experimental drug known as 2-CdA, developed at Scripps Research Institute in San Diego, has shown near-total effectiveness against a rare form of leukemia.

It is significant because it foreshadows the way drugs may be designed in the future to combat other forms of cancer. Unlike most chemotherapy agents, which are discovered by luck or by a grueling process of trial and error, 2-CdA is the result of rational planning.

It had its beginnings in some medical detective work at Scripps by Dr. Dennis Carson. He noted that some children with an inherent disorder of the immune system lack an inherent disorder of the immune system lack a certain enzyme. This leads to a buildup of toxins that kill white blood cells. Applying the same principle, Carson designed a compound that would destroy abnormal blood cells in certain leukemia patients.

In this form of cancer, known as hairy cell leukemia because of the microscopic hair-like protrusions the cells develop, abnormal white blood cells reproduce uncontrollably. They eventually flood the bone marrow, preventing it from making the normal white blood cells needed to fight infection.

But a single, seven-day treatment with a tiny amount of 2-CdA killed all detectable cancer cells in 11 of 12 patients. Furthermore, it has two enormous advantages over alternative, less-effective drugs: It has minimal side-effects and is reasonably cheap to produce.

Scripps scientists have been careful to emphasize that hairy cell leukemia is an uncommon form of cancer, diagnosed in only 500 or 600 people in the United States every year. But the success of the specially targeted 2-CdA has already encouraged researchers at Scripps and elsewhere to turn to supercomputers to design blueprints for drugs for other forms of cancer and specific diseases.

So far, several patients have been free of the disease for four years. But many years of study on larger groups will be needed to determine whether 2-CdA is indeed the one-shot miracle cure it appears to be.

'Thought police' rule universities

Cultural diversity, yes. Political diversity, no. This is the motto of the modern university.

From hundreds of academic hamlets, college presidents make lavish bids for the services of the best minority and female scholars. Undergraduates, meanwhile, must sit through courses in "cultural awareness" and sensitivity even though most escape four years of study without taking a single class in Western history.

Some of the most zealous institutions even try to outlaw critical remarks about other cultures in order to make their campuses all the more inviting to diversity.

Yet let just one truly unorthodox idea raise its unruly head, and the same university presidents will exorcise the devil in public, often with an apology to those who took offense.

The latest two schools to banish unpopular thought are Rutgers and the University of Northern Colorado. Each had invited Linda Chavez to speak at their commencement ceremonies. At each, students and faculty protested the invitation, threatening disruptions — and soon the offers to Chavez were yanked.

The reversal in Colorado was particularly ironic, because Chavez grew up in Denver (she still recalls the playground taunts of a few Anglo punks), and she is a veritable model of minority achievement. After reaching a top position with the American Federation of Teachers, she went on to the U.S. Civil Rights Commission and the White House Office of Public Liaison under the Reagan administration. Today she provides commentary for National Public Radio and the Canadian Broadcasting Corp.

According to the thought police at Rutgers and Northern Colorado, Chavez first betrayed "correct" thinking by serving with the Reagan administration. Her worse treachery, however, was to spend 14 months with U.S. English, a group that seeks to establish English as the official national language.

There is no difference to her critics that Chavez resigned in protest from U.S. English after a memo surfaced disparaging Hispanics' learning ability vis a vis Asian-Americans. Nor did it seem to matter that she has since modified her views on the need for an official language.

Even if she hadn't, U.S. English is hardly a collection of kooks. At one time or another its board has included such luminaries as Saul Bellow, Sidney Hook, Jacques Barzun and Alistair Cooke — not to mention celebrities like Walter Cronkite and Arnold Schwarzenegger.

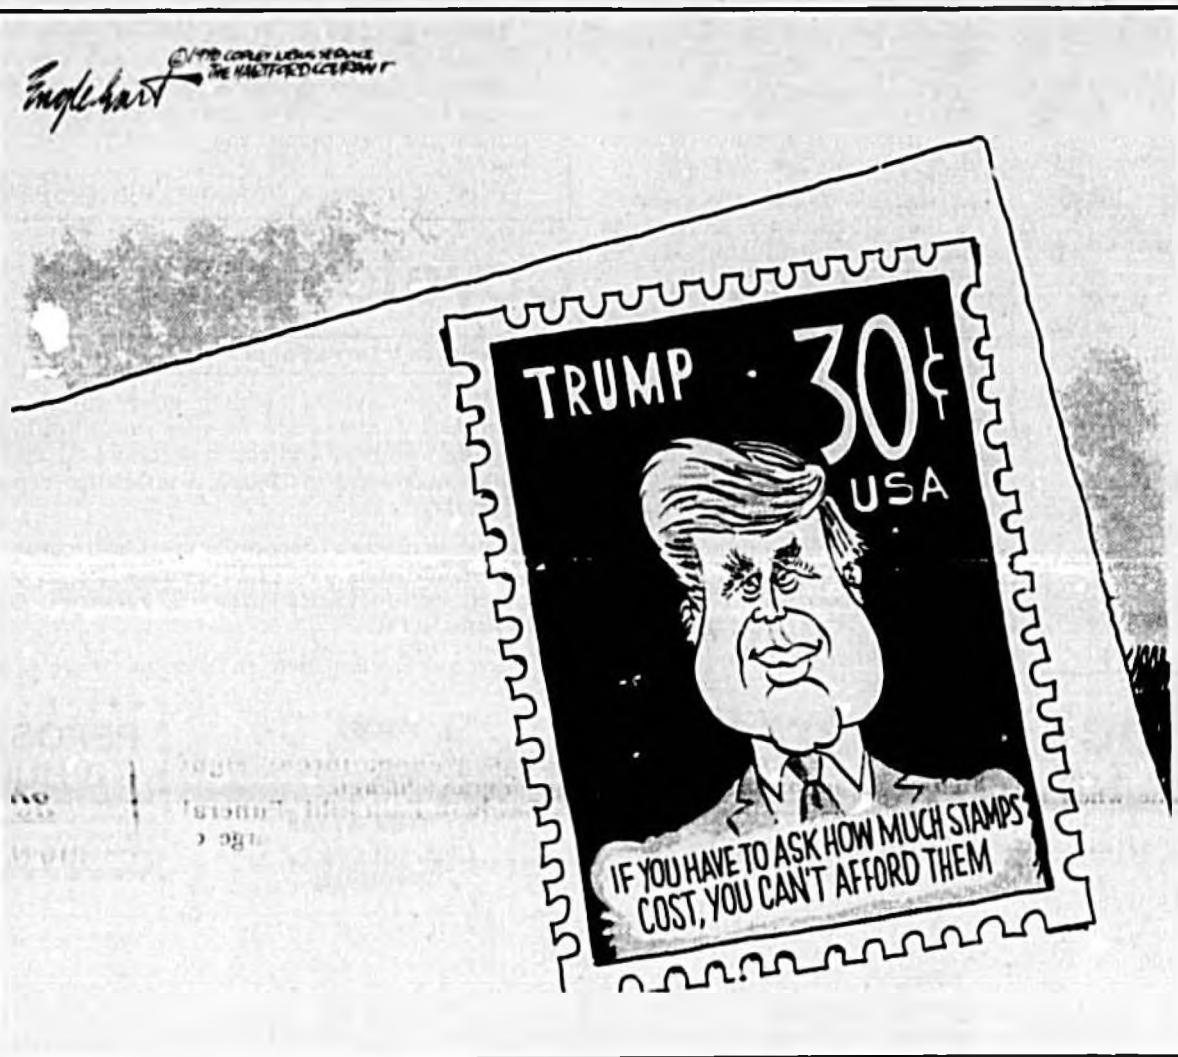

Of course, even the most craven university president will rarely admit that he is silencing someone for purely political reasons. A respectable cover must be found. At the University of Northern Colorado, President Robert Dickeson pathetically brandished the banner of cultural diversity as his excuse.

"The intent of the university in inviting Linda Chavez," he said, "was to be sensitive to cultural diversity.... It is clear that the decision was both uninformed and gave the appearance of being grossly insensitive."

Inviting a prominent Hispanic woman to speak is "grossly insensitive" to cultural diversity? This is doubletalk — the last refuge of a man who has besmirched the high academic mission of free inquiry and the open exchange of ideas. Cultural diversity is fine, the university has decreed, but only so long as everyone thinks alike.

Some of the most zealous institutions even try to outlaw critical remarks about other cultures.

Putting Iran/contra behind us

The conviction of former NSC director Adm. John Poindexter on five felony counts may well be the last chance the Democrats will get to see anybody actually spend time in prison as a result of misdeeds committed during the allegedly horrendous Iran/contra affair.

Ollie North, to their dismay, was sentenced by Judge Gerhard Gesell only to perform a specified number of hours of "community service," and Gen. Richard Secord entered a plea of guilty to certain infractions in return for being let off with a fine. So you can be sure there are a lot of Democratic partisans praying that the judge will throw the book at Poindexter. Interestingly, Poindexter's "guilt" is at once both clearer and even less culpable than North's.

North acted, in the whole affair, on the perfectly legitimate (though incorrect) assumption that President Reagan knew and approved of his actions — because North had reported them all to Poindexter, who stood squarely between Reagan and North in the chain of command. North was so innocent of overreaching that special prosecutor Lawrence Walsh finally had to nail him for accepting from Secord a $14,000 security fence for his house, paid for with arms sale proceeds — hardly a very great wrong in the circumstances.

But Poindexter had not in fact told Reagan about the diversion of arms sale proceeds to the contras. He was confident that the president would be sympathetic to the idea, but wanted to protect Mr. Reagan from any charge of complicity if the facts came out, so he misled Congress all by himself. "The buck stops here," Poindexter courageously and cheerfully told the subsequent congressional inquiry. So, he was technically guilty as charged, on those counts. And I have no doubt whatever that, if prison it must be, John Poindexter will do his time as philosophically and with as clear a conscience as any man ever has.

But, from the standpoint of true justice, Poindexter must of course never spend a single night behind bars. At a time when it seemed that the future course of history itself might stand in the balance, and in the midst of a great and perfectly legitimate constitutional controversy over the respective rights of Congress and the chief executive, Poindexter chose to uphold the policy and authority of the president, and to take the rap himself if he was wrong. Neither George Bush nor any other president should let a high aide walk the plank for such a "crime."

But I do think it is perfectly proper for Mr. Bush to wait until the judge's sentence, whatever it may be, is handed down, and until thereafter the conviction has been appealed and reviewed and the sentence affirmed. For this is, after all, at bottom a political matter. The Democrats will cry out to heaven if Bush pardons Poindexter. Why give them the opportunity, if a pardon may not even prove necessary? If, however, one becomes necessary, Mr. Bush need lose no sleep over what to do.

As the Washington weekly Human Events pointed out recently, three officials of the Kennedy State Department lied themselves blue in the face before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee in 1963. (They denied having tapped the phone of a State Department security officer named Otto Otepka, who was considered too zealous in screening out communist sympathizers.)

Did Mr. Kennedy's fellow Democrats in Congress, on discovering the truth, scream for blood? Not at all; the three perjurers weren't even indicted. They were given the opportunity to "amend" their testimony, and the matter was quietly dropped. The American people have never lost their perspective on the Iran/contra affair, and they will not do so now, if in good time President Bush pardons those involved and puts it officially behind us.

North was so innocent of overreaching that special prosecutor Walsh finally had to nail him for accepting a $14,000 security fence.

No freedom for hostages in 1990

WASHINGTON — The latest intelligence reports coming across President Bush's desk give him bad news about the American hostages. It is unlikely that the remaining six will be out by the end of this year.

The recent release of two hostages has set off a volatile feud — even gun battles — between factions of Hezbollah, the umbrella organization that tenuously controls the grab bag of greedy, egotistical terrorists who hold the hostages.

The fighting is between the groups that follow Iranian hard-liner Ali Akbar Mohtashemi and those that line up behind the more flexible Hashemi Rafsanjani, Iran's president. Rafsanjani wants to use the hostages to get the United States to give Iran more than $1 billion in frozen Iranian assets. And he hopes the hostages can be a bartering chip to pay Iran's way into the community of civilized nations. But the supporters of Mohtashemi are die-hard fundamentalists who would rather live in hell than co-exist peacefully with the "Great Satan" on earth.

Rafsanjani thought he had control of the terrorists when he was able to install his functionary, Sheikh Subhi Tufeyli as the secretary-general of Hezbollah in a secret "election" last December. Rafsanjani also had Hezbollah's spiritual leader Sheikh Fadlallah in his court. But Tufeyli has been unable to win the support of all Hezbollah factions.

It will be difficult for him to get Hezbollah to free any more Americans if the United States, Israel and Kuwait remain unwilling to meet the major demands of the terrorists, according to Central Intelligence Agency reports. The bottom line is, even if Rafsanjani wanted all of the hostages released, he couldn't do it. The CIA has told President Bush that the fate of the hostages is in the hands of a secret seven-man council inside Hezbollah called the Tabbiishi.

Even the CIA doesn't know the names of five of the seven. Bush has been told that the Tabbiishi are skittish about publicity and have no qualms about their mission. They call themselves "the hit men." The top two Tabbiishi are linked to the oldest Hezbollah faction, the Islamic Jihad. Its titular leader is Hussein Musawi, a school teacher-turned-terrorist who orchestrated the bombing of the American Embassy and Marine barracks in Beirut in 1983.

Islamic Jihad holds hostages Terry Anderson and Thomas Sutherland. The group's chief demand is the release of 15 fellow terrorists and relatives from Kuwaiti jails, but Kuwait has refused. Other cells of Hezbollah keep their hostages as insurance against an attack by Israel or the United States, or as bartering chips to get Lebanese and Palestinian prisoners out of Israeli jails. None of that helps Rafsanjani, who simply wants respect and money — Iran's frozen assets and some foreign aid to rebuild the country after the eight-year war with Iraq.

Those clean-out demands are no match for the ego, greed and lust for power that drives Hezbollah and the Tabbiishi. The Tabbiishi can't even agree on who is in charge. The No. 2 man on the council is itching to oust the No. 1 man. According to one intelligence report, only the close friendship between their wives keeps him from doing it.

Some Bush advisers are urging him to seize on the savings-and-loan bailout as an excuse for higher taxes. The bailout may reach $500 billion — about double what the administration has been forecasting.

Rafsanjani wants to use the hostages to get the U.S. to give him more than $1 billion in frozen assets.

U.S. official slams killings of Americans

MANILA, Philippines — A U.S. official said Monday at the start of talks on the future of U.S. military facilities in the Philippines that the slayings of two U.S. airmen on the eve of the discussions would not harm relations between the two allies.

Outside the Central Bank building where the talks were being held, police fired tear gas at several hundred protesters who attempted three times to stage demonstrations. Five police officers and two civilians were wounded in the clashes, hospital sources said. At least 81 protesters were arrested, police said.

U.S. special negotiator Richard Armitage told Philippine Foreign Secretary Raul Manglapus the United States would support the campaign against the "lawlessness and banditry" of the communist-led New People's Army, which is suspected in the killings of the U.S. airmen.

Controversial comedian boosts ratings

NEW YORK — Raunchy comedian Andrew Dice Clay's controversial appearance on "Saturday Night Live" raised the ire of homosexual and women's groups — and the ratings of the show.

Preliminary ratings figures released Sunday gave the show a market share of 31 percent, 6 percentage points higher than SNL's usual 25 share, said Rosemary Keenan, an NBC spokeswoman.

Clay's presence on Saturday's late-night broadcast had sparked protests from homosexual and women's groups and led cast member Nora Dunn and singer Sinead O'Connor to refuse to appear.

was also charged with burglary to a vehicle and throwing a deadly missile into a vehicle.

The Seminole County portion of the Friday and Saturday statewide bust, which for the fifth time in the past year targeted cocaine users and dealers in a massive crackdown, netted 79 arrests, CCIB Lt. Donald Eslinger said today.

More than 2,000 were arrested across the state, equalling or surpassing the totals from earlier Rock Pile busts. The four earlier unfiled busts here netted almost 400 arrests here and about 7,500 statewide.

In Seminole County, 17 vehicles valued at a total of $50,000 were seized this time, along with almost $400, 12 marijuana plants, and 28 pieces of crack cocaine.

In the state, 159 vehicles were seized, and 2,067 arrests reported by this morning. Statewide over $250,000 was confiscated, with $96,000 taken in Volusia County, Eslinger said.

In the Central Florida area, there was a total of 231 arrests and more than $100,000 in cash. Statewide, 64 firearms were taken, along with 250 pounds of marijuana, 6,217 pieces of crack and 8.5 pounds of cocaine, Eslinger said.

Targeted here were cocaine buyers in rural Altamonte Springs, drug dealers throughout the county, and 25 suspects, including 10 in Sanford, who had been identified earlier as drug dealing suspects wanted on warrants.

Theresa Jane Bloomfield, 29, of Casselberry, who allegedly brought her toddler son with her when she shopped for cocaine and was busted, was also charged with child abuse. Agents said she had also left other children ages 5 and 10 years at home alone when she was allegedly making a buy of crack in rural Altamonte Springs.

Jesup

water quality of the lake and restore fishing.

Lake Jesup is a sluggish backwater of the St. Johns River south of Sanford. The pea green lake is lined with an average of four feet of muck which prevents bass from spawning.

The group's main focus is to consider the benefit of a "drawdown" of the lake. In a drawdown, a portion of the lake's water would be pumped into the St. Johns River, allowing the muck to harden to an adobe-like material. Some muck may be scraped away, exposing a sand bottom.

The lake would then be allowed to return to its natural depth which averages about 4 1/2 feet. The shoreline would be planted with grasses favored by spawning bass. Snyder said bass populations could begin to build within a year after the project is complete.

The group has also considered whether to restore a circulation through the lake at its mouth to help keep the bottom clean. The St. Johns River, according to some theories, originally flowed into Lake Jesup east of what is now known as "Marina Isle" and flowed out of the lake west of Marina Isle. Many believe that flow helped "flush" the lake of sediment.

The flow of the river into the lake was first altered in 1928 by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers which constructed a navigation channel north of Marina Isle. Army Corps information shows, The Florida Department of Transportation subsequently built the first state bridge over the site in 1945, later replaced with the State Road 46 bridge.

During the 1946 construction, the easterly mouth of the lake was filled in. Many people living near the believe if the eastern mouth is reopened, the river would reestablish a circulation through the lake, helping to keep it clean.

Another idea considered by the committee and supported by water management officials, would be to buy land next to the lake, pump water from the lake or its tributaries through the land to cleanse it.

But the committee has been forced to end its review of the proposals because it lacks money to complete studies to determine if any of the ideas would work. Among the studies needed are a calculation of the amount of the water flowing into the lake from tributaries and groundwater. Snyder said a drawdown would not be possible unless the amount of water that needs to be pumped out to expose the bottom is known.

DER Secretary Dale Twachtmann, in a May 3 letter to water management director Henry Dean, suggested the project be financed by DER through the Surface Water Improvement and Management (SWIM) program. Although SWIM projects are financed through DER, it is administered by the water management districts.

Although Snyder said he is encouraged by the support from Twachtmann, SWIM could delay the Lake Jesup restoration for five years or more. Snyder had hoped to begin the drawdown by next year if about $300,000 had been made available for the final studies.

Snyder said SWIM requires much more extensive studies and planning that require much more money and time. SWIM projects are also ranked in the districts and Lake Jesup is currently 10th on the list, behind such high-profile projects as the Lake Apopka cleanup.

In his letter, Twachtmann said if the district began a management plan for the restoration, he would be encouraged to pay for that planning with SWIM finances. District officials could not be reached Friday.

among the first from the D.O.T. to arrive at the scene. He said cone soundings were made of the area, to determine if the hole had reached its fullest size, and the first test cone detected some soft soil on the southern side of the sinkhole, but Passe said nine more cone soundings were made in that same area and no further evidence of soft soil was detected. Asked if a similar situation could occur in other parts of the Interstate or other streets and highways, Passe said "There's no way of knowing that."

Until the permanent re-surfacing is completed, the area will be somewhat rough to drive over, but Passe said, "As far as can be determined, it is perfectly safe."

IN BRIEF

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Expos' Wallach has big game

Montreal's Tim Wallach exceeded even his own wildest wishes at the plate Sunday.

Wallach belted two three-run homers and tied a club record with eight RBI, powering the Expos to a 15-0 rout of the San Diego Padres.

Oil Can Boyd pitched his first complete game and shutout in almost five years as Montreal handed the Padres their worst loss since an 18-1 defeat at San Francisco June 23, 1986.

In other National League games Sunday, Philadelphia beat San Francisco 4-1. Atlanta tripped St. Louis 3-1. Cincinnati clubbed Chicago 13-9 and Pittsburgh topped Houston 5-1. Los Angeles at New York was rained out.

GOLF BENEFIT

Optimists scheduled tourney

The Optimist Club of South Seminole has scheduled a golf tournament for this Wednesday at Wekiva Golf Club to raise funds for its high school senior scholarships fund.

Proceeds from the fourth annual John Bethea Memorial Golf Tournament will go to the scholarship fund and other youth programs.

The event is a four-person best-ball scramble. The total team handicap cannot be less than 40 and no more than two players may have a handicap of less than 10. Those with non-established handicaps will be asked to submit scores from their last three rounds.

Entry fee is $45. Registration begins at 11:30 with a 1 p.m. shotgun start. For information call Tom Peters (423-3072), Ron Kenney (788-1331) or the Wekiva Golf Club (862-5513).

James homers twice in split

LAKE MARY — Greg James was 2 for 3 with a pair of three-run home runs to lead the Altamonte Springs Big League club to a 11-7 win over South Daytona and a split of their season-opening doubleheader Sunday at Lake Mary High School.

Mike Merthie also was 3 for 4 with a home run and two RBI for Altamonte Springs. Other contributors included Kent Brubaker (2 for 4, two runs scored), Jason Sewell (2 for 3, two runs scored), Chuck Lamb (2 for 4, RBI) and one run scored) and Matt Pedrotty (1 for 3).

Lamb started and pitched 5 1/3 innings for the win while Pedrotty worked the last 1 2/3 for the save.

In the first game, South Daytona went up 3-0 before Altamonte Springs rallied in the seventh inning on a two-run single by Brubaker to score Pedrotty and James. Also chipping in with hits were Jason Sewell and James (two singles each) and Merthie and Pedrotty (one single each). Sewell was the losing pitcher despite allowing only five hits and striking out nine.

STANLEY CUP

Bruins eager to start finals

BOSTON — It is not who they are playing but when they are playing the Stanley Cup final that pleases the Boston Bruins.

If Edmonton had not won the Campbell Conference title on Saturday night, the Bruins would have had to wait until Friday for Game 1 of the final. Instead, the best-of-seven series begins Tuesday night, sparing Boston a nine-day gap between games.

"That extra three days would have been brutal," said Boston defenseman Ray Bourque. "You can only enjoy practicing so much at this time of the year."

The Bruins have been idle since Wednesday, when they completed their sweep of Washington in the Wales Conference final.

Johnson ignores infield shift.

For Lance Johnson, ignorance was bliss Saturday afternoon.

Johnson overlooked a five-man infield shift by Kansas City, lofting a sacrifice fly with one out in the ninth inning to give the Chicago White Sox a 4-3 victory over the Royals.

"I didn't notice," Johnson said of the move. "I just wanted to get the ball up in the air. I didn't like the swing but I got the job done."

Carlos Martinez, overhearing Johnson's comments, asked: "You didn't see it? They had seven guys in the infield."

Elsewhere in the American League, it was Toronto stopping Detroit 6-3; Minnesota bested Milwaukee 8-6; Baltimore clipped Oakland 4-1; California knocked off Boston 8-4; Seattle thumped New York 10-5; and Cleveland defeated Texas 4-1.

Pride carries Patriots

ship run. In fact, just about every Patriot on the roster made some big contribution at one time or another as Lake Brantley won its first state baseball title.

By DEAN SMITH
 Herald Sports Writer

BASEBALL CITY — The Lake Brantley Patriots are the Class 4A baseball state champions. And they did it the way they have all season.

Showing the confident and never-say-die attitude exhibited by their coach, the Patriots refused to quit or get down on themselves after falling behind No. 1-ranked Brandon 9-5 going into the bottom of the seventh and final inning.

"This game came down to gut-check time and this team refused to give up," said coach Mike Smith. "We call it 'Patriot Pride'. No one wants to make that last out and no one did."

The Patriots still had the confidence that they could come back despite facing a pitcher that was 13-0 this season and playing a team that had won 19 games, a row and had just beaten the No. 1-ranked team in the country (Sarasota).

"I had a feeling we would get to him (Brandon pitcher Gary Graham)," said Smith. "He was getting us out, but he wasn't fooling anybody. I looked into the stands as I was going out to coach third base in the last inning and saw all these people leaving and I thought 'It's not over people.'"

Several Patriots fought off two strike pitches to stay alive in the decisive seventh. With one out and two runners aboard, Doug Wohlstein grounded a single to right on an 0-2 pitch. Tyler Iller then hit a 1-2 chopper to third to load the bases before pinch-hitter Terry Brown spoiled a couple of good 3-2 pitches before walking to force in a run.

"Brown's a gamer," said Smith. "He's a senior and he has been in tough situations before. He came into the game as a pinch hitter against Sarasota earlier and hit a double to tie the game."

Jerrey Thurston also fouled off three 2-2 pitches before dumping

Sellers qualifies for district

By ROBBIE STOCK
 Herald Correspondent

CASSELBERRY — For a high school golfer summer is the most important time of the year. A few good tournaments can make up for a bad high school season and boost an individual's chances for a college scholarship.

And after the results of the regional qualifying for the World Junior Optimist, Jimmy Sellers' stock jumped a few points, as he finished third to advance to the district finals to be played Saturday at Pelican Bay in Daytona Beach.

Sellers posted a 77 at Casseberrry Country Club, where he worked for over a year. Gusting winds and slick greens made the normally reserved 5200-yard, par 69 layout play difficult as no competitor shot even par or better.

"I putted pretty good," stated the junior from Oviedo High School, who had six putts in the first five holes. "It was my putting that saved me."

Included in that was a five-foot snake that Sellers holed on the par-five 15th to save par. Sellers had to make no worse than bogey on the last

Maranatha clinches tie for 'A' title

From staff reports

SANFORD — Maranatha Pentacostal clinched a tie for the regular season A Division championship and First Baptist Geneva retained a one-game lead in the B Division in the Sanford Church Slowpitch Softball League at Chase Park Saturday.

In the A Division, Maranatha scored five runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to beat the Church of God 14-13. Central Baptist dropped First Baptist Osteen out of a share of second with a 10-0 whitewash and St. Stephen Catholic held on to second with a 15-3 decision over Grace Methodist.

In the B Division, Markham Woods Baptist remained a game off the pace with a 7-6 win over Holy Cross Lutheran. Calvary Christian won its second game of the season, 5-4 over First Nazarene and Geneva stopped Grace Christian 6-2.

The standings in the A Division shows Maranatha on top at 8-0 followed by St. Stephen (6-2), Osteen (5-3), Central (3-5) and the Church of God and Grace Methodist (both 1-7).

Little Majors head down home stretch

From staff reports

SANFORD — The Rinker Materials Dodgers and the Disabled American Veterans Royals both clinched ties for the regular season championships in their respective divisions with victories in the Sanford Recreation Department Little Major Baseball League at Roy Holler Field Saturday.

The Dodgers pummeled the Sunnland Pirates 17-2 to clinch a tie in the National Division while the Royals scored a pair of runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to squeak out an 8-7 victory over the Sunbank Orioles to clinch a tie for American Division title.

In the other games, the Railroaders Cubs kept their hopes alive with a 7-4 win over the First Federal of Seminole Cardinals and the First Union A's did likewise with a 17-9 triumph over the Seminole Ford Red Sox.

With two games left the Dodgers lead the National Division with a 13-1 record followed by the Cubs (11-3), the Cardinals (4-10) and the Pirates (2-12).

The B Division has Geneva on top at 6-2 ahead of Markham Woods (5-3), Holy Cross (5-4), Nazarene (4-5), Grace Christian (3-5) and Calvary Christian (2-6).

The Church of God scored eight runs in its last two at bats to take a 13-9 lead going into the bottom of the seventh, but Maranatha used four errors and four singles to rally and stay undefeated.

Getting the hits for Maranatha were Kenny Daniels and Levi Raines (one double and two singles each), Evan Bacon Sr. (three singles), Arthur Jackson, Allen Peterson and Anton Massey (two singles each) and Mike Eason, Thad Brooks, Tom Watson, Mike Bacon and Greg Hardy (one single each).

Providing the offense for the Church of God Larry Smith were Tim Guy and Randy Yates (four hits each), Mark Hill, Tim Pete, Ken Picklesimer and Brantley Brumley (two hits each) and Randy Rawlins and Joe Brinkle (one hit each).

Central Baptist started its rout over Osteen with a four-run second and held Osteen to eight hits as Central ended Osteen's chance at the regular season champion-

See Softball, Page 2B

In the Americans, it's the Royals on top at 11-3 followed by the A's (9-5), the Red Sox (6-8) and the Orioles (1-13).

Damon Coppola led off the game with a home run and, two batters later Terrell Jackson also homered to start the Dodgers on their way to the easy victory.

Contributing to a 17-hit Dodgers attack were Jackson (home run, double, single), Joshua Watson (double, two singles), Virgil Hillsman (double, single), Detrick Quinn and Gerald Bishop (two singles each), Coppola (home run), Terrel Bender (double) and Byron Deese, Joseph Bryant and Chad Sheffield (one single each).

The combined pitching of Watson and Bishop held the Pirates to four singles. Getting the hits were James Fields, Demetrice Turner, Ernest Anderson and Andy Headerlin.

The Royals had a much tougher time of it with the Orioles. The Royals took a 3-0 lead into the top of the fourth and Royals pitcher Corey Williams was pitching

Suns, Pistons, Bulls take 3-1 leads in playoff series

United Press International

The Suns may finally have set upon the Los Angeles Lakers.

Phoenix moved within one victory of posting their first playoff series triumph over the Lakers, beating Los Angeles 114-101 Sunday in Game 4 of their Western Conference semifinal series.

Phoenix, which has lost all six of its previous playoff meetings with the Lakers, can clinch the best-of-seven series with a triumph Tuesday night at the Forum in Inglewood, Calif.

Kevin Johnson led the Phoenix assault, scoring 30 points and dishing out 16 assists. He said the frustration of last season, when the Suns were swept by the Lakers in the Western Conference finals, will help Phoenix close out this series.

"The big key is that we're on familiar ground — we've already been through this before," Johnson said. "Last year, we got caught up in the hype."

The Lakers trailed by as many as 15 points before challenging in the last five minutes. But Johnson's driving layup and free throw with 4:20 left in the game put the Suns ahead 97-90 after the Lakers had closed to within four.

Tom Chambers, who finished with 27 points, added a layup and Dan Majerle a dunk to give Phoenix a 101-90 advantage with 3:40 remaining. The Suns' last 13 points came at the free-throw line, where they were 39 of 48.

Pistons 102, Knicks 90

At New York, James Edwards scored 19 points and Joe Dumars 13 of his 17 in the final three minutes to give Detroit a split of the back-to-back games at Madison Square Garden. New York's Patrick Ewing finished with 30 points, but played just six minutes in the first half because of foul trouble. Game 5 is Tuesday night at The Palace in Auburn Hills, Mich.

"Our job isn't done," Detroit Coach Chuck Daly said. "You've got to get four. They are going to play one of their great games Tuesday night and try to get it back here."

Bulls 111, 76ers 101

At Philadelphia, Michael Jordan scored 45 points for the Bulls and rookie Stacey King added 21 after replacing Scottie Pippen in the starting lineup. Pippen missed the game because of the death of his father. Hersey Hawkins scored 26 points for Philadelphia, which lost for the first time at home in five playoff games. The Bulls can wrap up the series with a victory Wednesday night at Chicago Stadium.

"This was by far the biggest win of the season," Chicago Coach Phil Jackson said. "We did it despite not having Scottie Pippen. We did it with good team play."

Prep year produces plenty of highs, lows

What a long, strange trip it's been.

When the 1989-90 high school athletic year began some 156 days ago, there was no telling what lay ahead.

As it turned out, 1989-90 was like a good book, spice with a little bit of everything.

So, as we head into the last remaining events of the school year, namely the state decathlon and heptathlon this weekend.

That's what Seminole High School boys' track coach Ken Brauman said when the Tribe ran roughshod over the Seminole Athletic Conference meet.

When asked what his team planned to do to stop Lake Howell running back Marquette Smith, that was the strategy.

Stephanie Sanders: A freshman on the Lake Brantley girls' soccer team, Sanders scored over 30 goals this season.

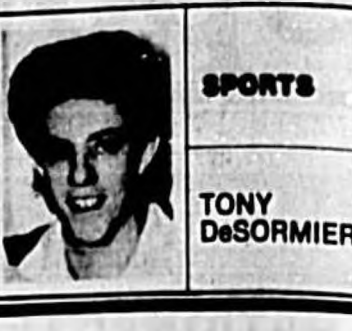

Robert Moore: Seminole's senior Jack of all trades, Moore played football and basketball this year before running track.

Jason came up to me after Jerry's hit and told me he had this guy," said Smith. "And he did."

Smith also showed great restraint in not bringing in ace pitcher Brad Rigby until the sixth inning.

"It was our plan all along not to bring Brad in until the sixth," said Smith. "We hoped to keep the game close until then and bring Brad in to finish it."

Smith's biggest win of my life," said Smith. "I'm sure their are a lot of other young men who feel that way today."

night, winning the triple jump, finishing second in the shot put, taking fifth in the long and running a leg of Seminole's third-place 4 x 100 meter relay.

TRANSACTIONS

Oakland - Traded outfielder Stan Javier to Los Angeles for second baseman Willie Randolph.

Placed first baseman Jack Clark on the 15-day disabled list.

QUOTE OF THE DAY

"It's kind of funny. Some of us were looking at the RBI stats before the game and I said, 'I could sure use about a seven-spot today.'"

Montreal Expos third baseman Tim Lincecum, who set a club record with eight RBI in a 15-0 rout of the San Diego Padres.

Stretch

But Williams tired in the fourth and allowed a single and three walks and two runs before leaving the game.

Both teams scored a run in their next at bat to keep the game tied before a Donnie Hinson two-run homer in the bottom of the fifth gave the Royals a 6-4 lead.

Optimist

He bashed a three wood down the fairway and made an easy par.

"I'm hitting the ball all right," commented the Sellers, who has made second-team all conference the past two years.

The other two qualifiers for the boys were Teke Carson, who had the low round of the day with 70, and Chad Lyttow, who shot 75.

Both attend Titusville-Astronaut High School and had sponsorship from the Cocoa Beach Optimist Club.

Sellers will be sponsored by the Sanford Optimist Club.

Grow your own blueberries

Blueberries are in season, now and they taste great on a bowl of cereal or ice cream. It's time to visit a pick-your-own or purchase some at a produce market. Next year, you may want to grow your own. Did you know that you can grow blueberries very successfully in Central Florida? They can be a nice addition to your garden along with other fruits like citrus and strawberries.

Blueberries like an acid soil pH in range of 3.5 to 5.2. Most of our soils are not that acid. The first step before planting is to get your soil tested to determine what your pH is. Soils with a pH above 6.5 will be difficult to amend and are probably not a good site for blueberries. If you're going to plant a few plants, most soil below 6.5 can be modified by using sulfur at a rate of 1 pound per 100 square feet. Incorporate the sulfur in at least three weeks before planting.

Choose a sunny location and one that is away from garden roots except pine. Don't plant them any closer than 20 feet from the house as the lime from the concrete can raise the soil pH. If the soil is naturally moist and acid (pH 5.5 or below), put 1/4 cubic feet of moist peat moss in the planting hole. If the pH is above 5.5, put at least 1/2 cubic feet of peat beneath and around the roots of each plant.

Probably the best variety to plant here is called "Sharpblue". It grows well here. Sharpblue is Florida's earliest ripening variety. It is self-fruitful and does not require cross-pollination to set fruit. However, fruit will be larger and will ripen earlier if cross-pollination is good.

The best time to plant blueberries is December 20 through February 20. Sharpblue plants in containers should be available in local garden centers. Select plants that are about 2 feet tall with a well-developed root system, but not root-bound. Root ball should be broken up as much as possible and spread in the planting hole. Moisture the soil as you plant. Mulch is essential to help keep the pH low and to prevent weeds. Pine bark, pine straw and oak leaves are all good choices for mulch, but grass clippings should not be used.

Illustration shows limb removal of plant

Blueberries should be pruned at time of planting. Choose the strongest, tallest stem and leave it unpruned. Prune off the twiggy growth at the bottom of the plant. When the plant flowers the first year, put on a pair of gloves and strip off all the blooms. This will prevent fruiting the first year, but will promote vigorous growth, especially with Sharpblue.

Blueberries respond best to frequent, light fertilizations. They can be easily damaged or killed by overfertilization. It is best to keep fertilizer applications on the lean side until you get the feel for your soil type and the fertilizer that you are using.

Do not put fertilizer in the planting hole. Rather, fertilize a few weeks after planting with a 16-4-8 fertilizer with minor elements (especially Magnesium) or an azalea fertilizer. Apply one ounce per plant and spread evenly over a circle 2 feet in diameter around the plant. Repeat the application in April, June and August. If the plants are heavily mulched, use a little more fertilizer. The second year, increase the amount to two ounces; the third year to three ounces. After three years use three ounces per plant in four applications. Do not get fertilizer on wet blueberry leaves. Wash it off.

Blueberries will need to be watered, especially during the first few years as young plants are shallow-rooted. Overwatering, however, can cause root rot. Basically, provide about 1/2 inch of water per watering twice a week (depending on soil type, temperature, the age of the plants etc.). The rainy season of the summer months may eliminate the need for irrigation on established plants.

Blueberries are bothered by few diseases and insects, but bees are required for pollination.

Short man stands tall atop accomplishments

DEAR ABBY: Please permit me to add my own experiences to those of the woman who signed herself "Itty-Bitty Betty in Boise," who wrote about the problems she encountered because she is only 4 feet 10 inches tall. She said she's been accused of trying to "sneak" into R-rated movies — and needed two IDs to go to a bar.

Please don't feel disadvantaged by your small stature and youthful appearance. I am 5 feet 1 1/2 inches tall and couldn't get a girl to dance with me in high school. Neither could I play football or basketball, but I did win the 100-yard dash! My dream was to join the U.S.

Marine Corps, so upon graduation from high school in 1946 (and after nine months of unsuccessful attempts to enlist), I received a height waiver from Gen. A.A. Vandergift, then commandant of the Marine Corps. I became the shortest man in the Marine Corps. In 1947, I was stationed in Hawaii with the tallest man in the Marine Corps. He was 6 foot 9 inches!

During the Korean Conflict, I got two field promotions. I finished nine years in the Marine Corps as first sergeant when I got an appointment as a federal correctional officer at Alcatraz Island in 1955. Yes — all 5 feet 1 1/2 inches of me!

I became a black belt in judo, then a judo instructor. Subsequently I was a deputy sheriff in Jacksonville, Fla. I'm no hero, but I wore 17 ribbons on my Marine uniform, and at 62, nobody takes me for a day over 50.

J.J.V.S.R., MOBILE, ALA.
DEAR J.J.V.: At 5 feet 1 1/2 inches, you have a lot of guys looking up to you. Semper Paratus!

DEAR ABBY: After reading your column stressing the importance of washing one's hands after using the restroom I thought you might enjoy the following story:

In the huge men's room at an automobile plant in Detroit, there was a big sign on the wall stating: "Every employee must wash his hands before returning to work."

A foreman was about to leave the washroom when he spotted a worker about to leave without washing his hands. He stopped him and yelled, "Hey — can't you read that sign?"

The worker looked up at the sign and said, "I'm not going back to work — I'm going to lunch!"

AL LANDY
DEAR READERS: Question: What did the following people have in common? Edward R. Murrow, Humphrey Bogart, Yul Brynner, Nat King Cole and Sarah Vaughan?

Answer: They were all tops in their field. All were heavy cigarette smokers. And they all died of lung cancer.

Drug therapy fails when patient forgets medicine

Most doctors are concerned about the side effects of an increasingly bewildering array of modern medical drugs. However, physicians are now recognizing an equally serious consequence of drug therapy: non-compliance, sometimes called "America's other drug problem." Studies show that about one-third of patients take their medicine as directed, one-third sometimes take their medication and almost a third never take it. In elderly patients, as many as half do not take their medicine at all or do not follow the prescribing directions. Those with diabetes, hypertension, asthma, epilepsy and depression are among the worst offenders.

The National Pharmaceutical Council estimates that 125,000 unnecessary deaths occur each year because patients are unable or unwilling to follow instructions about their medicines. One investigator discovered that 85 percent of hypertensive patients fail to maintain adequate treatment (which may be a lifetime commitment); half stop their therapy within one year and 75 percent within five years.

About 70 percent of elderly patients intentionally alter their intake of prescribed medications in order to avoid side effects. Psychiatric patients deviate from their prescribed treatment plans in up to 66 percent of cases. Antibiotic treatment of children is another non-compliance nightmare: More than 60 percent of pediatric patients in one study were given drugs on an inappropriate schedule. In another study of adults, about 50 percent had trouble remembering to take their antibiotics.

Non-compliance crosses all boundaries: age, sex, educational level and socioeconomic status. Experts have identified two major categories of non-compliers. Well-intentioned patients may merely misunderstand or forget instructions. This pattern is more common in people with chronic diseases, who are required to take more than one drug. Even so, about 50 percent of patients forget what their physicians tell them about how and when to take medicine. This can be due to impaired cognitive abilities (in the aged), poor communication between doctor and patient, anxiety and inability to concentrate during visits to the doctor, or difficult dosage schedules. However, with additional help, support and understanding, these noncompilers can usually be educated to follow instructions.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Success in a particular deal frequently depends on which side must first play a key suit. Today's deal from a team-of-four competition shows how precise defense can avoid an end-position trap. West led the king of hearts. When East followed with the six-spot, West switched to the two of diamonds. East played the queen, and South then drew two rounds of trumps and played another diamond. East won the king, and played jack and another heart. Declarer ruffed. Eventually, when declarer got around to playing clubs, he could not avoid another loser. At the other table

West was careless. After the king of hearts, he cashed the heart queen. Since his partner had followed with the six and 10, he knew the jack was with East. He now switched to a diamond, but look how the defensive play differed from the play at the other table. Declarer won the diamond ace, played a spade to dummy's jack and ruffed a heart. He then played a second spade to dummy's king and ruffed the last heart. The defenders were now exhausted of trumps. South played a diamond, won by East's king. East was forced to play a club. Declarer played the opponents for split club honors and brought in the suit without a loser.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osol
YOUR BIRTHDAY
May 15, 1990

In the year ahead you may participate in an enterprise where you'll have a minor, but rewarding role. Material gains in this case will be more satisfying than being in the spotlight.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Focus your efforts and energies on your most important objective today. A major goal is achievable, but if you spread yourself too thin, nothing of substance will result. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Additional opportunities could start to come your way at this time if you take measures to broaden your horizons. Develop new interests that will enable you to meet new people.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Do not be anxious about changes that occur today which are initiative by others or outside influences. Shifting conditions tend to work for your ultimate benefit.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) There are two sides to every story. Try to keep this in mind today or else you may jump to an erroneous conclusion when you are told something second hand.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be selective regarding the tasks you assign yourself today, so that you do not take on something that's a bit too complicated for you to handle on your own.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be careful regarding with whom you discuss confidential matters today. Don't talk about something you want kept secret to a person who has let the cat out of the bag in the past.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Make an effort to tie up loose ends today, because anything you leave dangling could cause you some headaches tomorrow. Don't begin things you know you won't have time to complete.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Today you may be more mentally than physically re-less. This malady can be assuaged if you'll involve yourself with companions with whom you can exchange stimulating ideas.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Strive to be prudent regarding your expenditures today, especially where non-essentials are concerned. There's a possibility you might have a leak in your purse.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Appearances are of utmost importance today, so be sure your behavior is positive if you hope to inspire or control others. To be a leader, you must first look like one.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your intuition and hunches are moderately valuable assets today, provided they are assessed in a logical fashion. Taken alone, they may count for nothing.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) When socializing with friends, be open minded and receptive. Conversations might be more meaningful than usual today and valuable information could be exchanged.
