NATION IN BRIEF

Justice Department Probes Question Of FBI Influence

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department is conducting an internal investigation into the possibility that the FBI tried to influence the direction of a congressional probe of security problems in the nuclear industry, two sources close to the investigation have disclosed. A Justice Department source confirmed that the department's inquiry has been "fruitful" but refused to reveal what had been discovered. An FBI official also confirmed that the subject was under investigation. However, he said Tuesday no evidence had yet been found that the bureau attempted to influence the House panel.

Nuclear Plants Stay Secure

WASHINGTON (AP) — There has been no attempt to breach the security at any of the nation's 18 nuclear power plants since a preparedness alert was issued last week, says the Nuclear Regulatory Commission. An NRC spokesman said Tuesday there have been no incidents at plants since the commission last Thursday sent out a "low level" warning for added vigilance by security forces guarding nuclear plants. The agency refused to disclose what prompted the alert, but an inquiring congressman said he was reminded of a written explanation "soon." An aide to Rep. George Miller, D-Calif., said the congressman met with NRC safety and security officials Tuesday and got assurances of a later reply.

IMF Conducts Gold Auction

WASHINGTON (AP) — The International Monetary Fund is selling 700,000 ounces of gold worth almost $100 million at an auction that symbolizes gold's low status as a measure of national wealth. The auction today is the first of many such sales planned over the next four years. Proceeds will go to a special fund for low-interest loans to the world's poorest nations. An IMF spokesman said the minimum purchase was set at 2,000 ounces. The agency will accept a single price from the bids it receive for the gold. Officials say they reserve the right to reject bids they consider too low, even if it means not all the gold will be sold.

Stevens Votes With Liberals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice John Paul Stevens sided with the liberal and moderate members of the Supreme Court in writing his first opinion for the court since his appointment by President Ford. In the opinion written by Stevens, the court ruled 5 to 4 Tuesday that the Civil Service Commission cannot bar aliens from federal employment, although it has done so since 1962. Stevens was in agreement with Justice William J. Brennan, Jr., and Thurgood Marshall, the court's most liberal members, and Potter Stewart and Lewis F. Powell, considered to be moderates.

Medicaid Warning Issued

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Accounting Office, flexing a rarely used muscle, says the federal government cannot pay states for certain Medicaid programs unless it makes sure the Medicaid patients are receiving proper care. The GAO, the auditing arm of Congress, warned Health, Education and Welfare Secretary David Mathews and Treasury Secretary William E. Simon on Tuesday that they could be held personally responsible for any illegal payments made after July 1. At stake are millions of dollars in Medicaid payments to the states for long-term hospitalization of poor patients.

Moon Festival Held

NEW YORK (AP) — Lower-than-expected attendance, rain, unruly guests inside and protesters outside failed to halt Sun Myung Moon's "God Bless America Festival" in Yankee Stadium or to muffle his message that he has come from Korea to save the world. "God sent me to America as a doctor, as a firefighter," Moon boomed in Korean while Bo Hi Pak, a former South Korean colonel, yelled the English translation. "The treatment may be painful, but it must begin at once." Well-orchestrated chadors applauded vigorously as the self-styled minister made his points.

Plymouth Rock Bombed

PLYMOUTH, Mass. (AP) — An explosive attack on historic Plymouth Rock caused no more than powder burns and didn't budge the granite boulder that tradition says is where the first Pilgrims stepped ashore. The blast Tuesday night dug a hole in the sand on the ocean side of the rock, which is on the beach under a masonry canopy. Police Chief Ernest Leonard said the hole was about 3 feet long, 18 inches wide and 7 inches deep. By early today, the sand had been raked and only a small depression remained.

Showers, Tornadoes Reported

By The Associated Press Scattered thundershowers linger in the Plains and in the East today. By the late Tuesday night, most thundershowers activity was diminishing in intensity. Isolated severe weather developed during the afternoon and evening from the eastern Gulf Coast into the Middle Atlantic states and over the northern Plains. During that time, tornadoes were reported, four in Alabama, two in Florida and one each in Mississippi and Georgia.

Burglary Suspect Held; Stolen Pistol Recovered

Sanford police said today a suspect had been arrested in connection with a daylight burglary of a residence on Lily Court and investigators have recovered a pistol stolen earlier in a burglary at the home of City Manager Warren E. Knowles. David Lee Anderson, 18, of 194 McKay Blvd., Sanford, was arrested by Patrolman J.A. Cash on Tuesday, 10 minutes after witnesses reported seeing a man leaving via the rear door at the burglarized residence of J.F. Hunt, 2008 Lily Court. Police said items valued in excess of $100 were taken from the Hunt home. Officers said they later recovered Knowles' pistol at the suspect's residence. The $200 stainless steel, snub-nosed revolver in a custom-made black holster embossed with Knowles' initials was taken along with $20 in coins last Wednesday in a burglary at Knowles' 2015 Lily Court residence.

A Fern Park juvenile indicted as an adult for trial for burglary has pleaded no contest to the charge in circuit court at Sanford. Francisco Barros, 16, entered the plea on Tuesday before Circuit Court Judge J. William Woodson.

The Seminole County Grand Jury indicted Barros in connection with the burglary of an Altamonte Springs residence on March 4 in which the suspect allegedly armed himself with a pistol. Judge Woodson allowed Barros to remain free on bond pending completion of a court-ordered pre-sentence investigation (PSI).

Public Interest May Be Served Key Bills Introduced In Sunset Hour

By JOHN VAN GIESON Associated Press Writer TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Many interests will be served by the bills that the legislature passes during the final week of the 1976 legislative session. The longer one waits to move a bill offering special favors to some interest, the easier it is to avoid detection by meddlesome lawmakers and nosy reporters. Debate is almost always limited to the final weeks of a session, and it's easy to intimidate lawmakers who might otherwise raise a ruckus.

It was generally agreed when the session started 58 days ago that there were three "must" bills lawmakers had to pass: An appropriations bill to fund state operations, a bill on legislation on auto insurance and medical malpractice insurance that would offer motorists and doctors some relief from constantly increasing costs. But at the beginning of the session, the scheduled final week of the session, lawmakers were far from agreement on any of the must-to-pass bills.

Fern Park Youth Files Court Plea

A Fern Park juvenile indicted as an adult for trial for burglary has pleaded no contest to the charge in circuit court at Sanford. Francisco Barros, 16, entered the plea on Tuesday before Circuit Court Judge J. William Woodson.

The Seminole County Grand Jury indicted Barros in connection with the burglary of an Altamonte Springs residence on March 4 in which the suspect allegedly armed himself with a pistol. Judge Woodson allowed Barros to remain free on bond pending completion of a court-ordered pre-sentence investigation (PSI).

Panel May Probe Drainage Funds

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — A House panel will investigate the staff director of the Rules Committee if charges are brought against him involving an alleged $4,000 payoff, says House Speaker Donald Tucker. Tucker's comments came after Tommy Warren, a suspended attorney, testified Tuesday at a federal court hearing that he had paid Barrett, 40, last year to get drug charges dropped against two of Warren's clients.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Zeigler Trial Opens With Jury Selection

ORLANDO (AP) — Eighteen of 25 persons have passed the first examination in jury selection for the mass-murder trial of W.T. Zeigler Jr., charged with slaying four persons in an alleged plot to collect $500,000 in life insurance. As the trial opened Tuesday, seven Orange County citizens interviewed for the jury cited extensive news coverage of the Christmas Eve slayings at Zeigler's furniture store in nearby Winter Garden. They asked to be excused and were.

Bomb Trial Pleas Entered

MIAMI (AP) — A judge has entered innocent pleas for two men indicted by a federal grand jury in the attempted bombing last month of a Little Havana bookstore. A third suspect has pleaded innocent. U.S. Magistrate Charlene Sorrentino entered innocent pleas Tuesday for Antonio Rafael de la Cova, 25, and Gary E. Lathama, 22. On the advice of defense lawyers, they stood mute when the judge asked how they pleaded to the charges.

Bond Set In Shooting Case

TAMPA (AP) — Bond has been set at $500,000 for Manuel Gisbert, described by a prosecutor as one of the major catalysts in a successful plot to kill dissident Sen. Ted Kennedy. U.S. Magistrate Paul Game refused a request to deny bail Tuesday for Gisbert, charged with supplying the .32-caliber pistol used on Kennedy. Game said there wasn't sufficient evidence to deny bond.

Religious Center Burns

BOCA RATON (AP) — An early morning explosion and fire at Bibbittown, a religious education center, caused heavy damage today to a building containing a cafeteria, meeting hall and offices, officials said. No injuries were reported. Fire officials said seven units were dispatched after residents of the center heard an explosion at the single-level building.

Teachers Plan Bike Trek

JACKSONVILLE (AP) — Three school teachers plan a cross-country bicycle ride, but they won't be roughing it any more than necessary. Chris Kelly, Randy Giarraputo and Nick Albertson — teachers at Jacksonville Episcopal High — are shipping their bikes to San Francisco. They will fly there to begin the 3,500-mile trip about June 9. They expected to make it to Cape Cod, Mass., in 56 days.

New FP&L Rates Okayed

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — The Public Service Commission has adopted flat rate schedules for Florida Power and Light Co. and Tampa Electric Co. that may lead to lower electric bills this summer. The schedules, adopted 2-1 Tuesday, will replace rate structures that allowed the two companies to charge slightly higher rates in the summer than in the winter. The schedules became effective Tuesday.

Many Uncertainties Are Facing NATO

Foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization held an unusual meeting in Oslo, the subject of which were the agreements which were less important than the subjects which were not. The Atlantic Alliance may be at a significant crossroads, yet the ministers could not discuss officially — the decisions that lie ahead.

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has let it be known that he regards himself as something of a "caretaker" of U.S. foreign policy during the U.S. presidential campaign. This is a time when incumbent presidents traditionally are anxious to avoid rocking the boat in foreign affairs. Mr. Kissinger also has disclosed that regardless of how the election turns out, his tenure as Secretary of State is nearing an end.

He was not alone in representing an element of uncertainty at Oslo. The elections to be held in Italy in June could lead to Communist participation in a new Italian government, posing a major problem for the other NATO allies. The strength of the Communist Party in France could raise the same issue in the future. Other nettles remain in the NATO picture — the dispute between Greece and Turkey over Cyprus, the effort to form a democratic government in Portugal, the economic problems of Great Britain which are cutting into her ability to keep NATO commitments, and the issue of NATO membership for post-Franco Spain.

The number of "ifs" and "buts" involved in any discussion of NATO's future is greater than at any time in the history of the alliance. And by an ironic turn of history, the Soviet military build-up and the fading confidence in the concept of detente are making it more important than ever that Atlantic and Western European defenses be strong and credible.

The age of Marshal Tito, and the possibility that the Soviet Union will try to draw Yugoslavia into the ranks of its Eastern European satellites after Tito departs the scene, could confront NATO with a first-rate crisis at a time when its own house is not in order.

Even if there were some "caretaker" ministers at Oslo, we can hope their private discussions explored the possibilities that could not be broached on the formal agenda. Domestic politics inevitably influences foreign policy. Relations between the NATO allies could suffer serious questioning and severe strain depending on the outcome of some of the political decisions to be made this year within the member countries. For the alliance to be weakened could be in invitation to Soviet adventurism in Yugoslavia or elsewhere. While NATO's military planners no doubt are well equipped with contingency plans involving potential moves from the East, contingency plans for political developments within NATO itself deserve as much attention.

Violence Censorship

Juveniles are protected by law and by custom from exposure to obscenity. But they are exposed daily to television shows and movies containing scenes of violence.

The Chicago City Council is considering an ordinance to prohibit persons under 18 from seeing films containing scenes of "harmful" violence, defined in the ordinance as "beatings, sluggings, hoggings and eye gougings."

We do not believe new censorship laws are the answer. But we do share widespread concern over the effects on the young of continual exposure to scenes of violence and aggressive behavior, both on television and in the movies.

The "family viewing hour" on television has served to protect children from the impact of ever increasing, ever more violent crime shows. It should be continued.

The movie rating system, which is voluntary, should put as much emphasis on protecting children from violence as from sex and nudity.

BERRY'S WORLD

WASHINGTON — Is Jimmy Carter, the trust-me candidate, a phony, as his detractors claim? We sent our roving reporter, Hal Berton, to Carter's hometown to seek the answer. With a knapsack on his back, Berton called on Carter's neighbors in Plains, Ga., and stayed overnight at Carter's peanut farm, helping with a few chores. Berton's grass-roots inquiry lasted nearly a week.

Plains is a quiet, sleepy town, which rises out of the red earth and quickly slumps back into it. Most activity takes place along Main Street, which bisects the town. A railroad track meanders through town, but the train no longer stops there for passengers.

Gentle people live there — a gracious white gentry and easy-going black laborers. The Carters, of course, belong to the gentry. But Berton found that Jimmy Carter's white neighbors, within their delicately sculptured white frame houses, sometimes muttered against him.

There was the issue, for example, of public education. The board of education is run by white parents who send their own children to private academies. Most of the whites, therefore, are unwilling to raise taxes to improve the two public schools, which are attended predominantly by blacks.

Carter has annoyed his neighbors by reproving them over the rundown schoolhouse,

Around

The Clock

By ED PRICKETT

Once a highly-touted candidate for county commission, Sanford City Commissioner John Morris has officially killed the persistent rumor that he would seek the Seminole County Commission seat occupied by Sid Vilhen Jr.

"I'm not going to have time," Morris declared. "I've got to feed my family, and my business interests come first."

Though he never officially announced, Morris' name consistently came up when anyone mentioned this year's county commission race.

With Morris out, that leaves one Democrat and one Republican in contention for Vilhen's post. Former Commissioner John Alexander, a Democrat, is still in the running. The Republican, Bill Kirchhoff, has officially announced. Kirchhoff is chairman of the county's planning and zoning board.

Sources say former commissioner Ed Yarborough, a Democrat, is turning the leaves over to see what his chances might be against Commission Chairman Mike Hattaway, also a Democrat.

A Republican, Vince Perry, has announced he will run in Hattaway's district. And Tom Binford, Independent, also is gearing up for a race against Hattaway. Binford is seeking 130 signatures, the number he says is required by law to run as an Independent.

Heaven heard much lately from former Commissioner Chairman Greg Drummond about his race for state representation. However, Drummond does not seek the seat occupied by Bob Hattaway, D-Altoona. State representatives will probably have to move if elected. The law states a representative must live in the district he represents.

Hattaway is finishing up in Tallahassee where this year's legislative session is gearing down. He says plans are to get back to Seminole County and

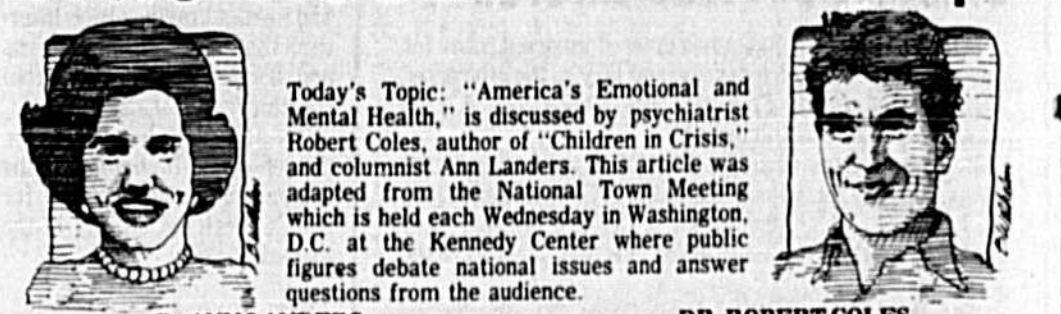

"start shaking hands" in preparation for this year's race for the state legislature.

Altona Springs Police Capt. David Guter has resigned his post. Guter is seeking the county commission seat occupied by Richard Williams, a Republican. Guter, a Democrat, was forced into Guter told reporters he hoped to get a leave of absence to enter the race.

Guter got himself into hot water a year ago when he announced he would run against Mayor Norman Floyd. Floyd said Guter would have to resign then, but Guter said state law indicated that wasn't true. However, within a few days Guter backed out of the race for mayor again.

A candidate who's willing to give up his family's bread and butter must be serious about the campaign and confident of winning. Wonder what Williams thinks of that?

PRO/CON Who Needs More Help?

Today's Topic: "America's Emotional and Mental Health," is discussed by psychiatrist Robert Coles, author of "Children in Crisis," and columnist Ann Landers. This article was adapted from the National Town Meeting which is held each Wednesday in Washington, D.C. at the Kennedy Center where public figures debate national issues and answer questions from the audience.

By ANN LANDERS

DR. ROBERT COLES

How is America's mental health?

How is America's mental health?

Long ago, Soren Kierkegaard, a 19th century Danish theologian, kept emphasizing to his highly academic colleagues how important it was to draw upon personal experience and remove oneself from abstractions — not only in the academic world but at times in psychiatric clinics and offices. Let me tell of a personal experience I had as an Air Force psychiatrist in 1968. A pilot — a SAC pilot who was living over this nation in powerful planes loaded with atomic bombs — came to me because he noticed a moment of anxiety when he got on an elevator and when he was crossing the street, he felt as if he were being struck by an automobile. The incongruity of this needs no emphasis. And one can look upon this as the usual psychiatric problem except for the fact that my sworn duty was to try to get him back to duty, not only on special missions but back to duty so he could devastate whole communities. What is a psychiatrist supposed to do? Get him back to work? Or begin to ask questions about what is normal? Who are the crazy and who are the so-called healthy and what is mental health? Is mental health an abstraction that can be removed from the concrete particulars — not only that pilot's life but a nation's life? There are people in mental hospitals who have never hurt anyone except themselves and there are others who have killed and killed and killed and are known as nation killers. This, at the very least, is the stuff of tragedy and maybe an occasion for thought, if not nightmares, for all of us.

Is the nation undergoing a spiritual revival?

There has always been in this country a deep sense of religious or spiritual concern. The country was founded by deeply religious people. In many ways, it has been people like myself — the northeastern intellectual, the people who are very influential in the news media — who have been hearing and hearing from this kind of concern. It has always surprised when they find it in existence. This also includes, by the way, segments of my profession, which has a heavily agnostic side to it. We have failed to appreciate the importance of people's need to know the meaning of life. And the meaning of life is not always obtained from reading books and getting six degrees. Isn't the search for simple solutions a problem itself?

Read a column, find a religion — of course those are simple solutions but people need something to do for the moment — they need something to hang on to. I know that I cannot patch up a life that has been loused for 20 years. But I also realize that there is a great deal of anxiety in people today and they need something and something is better than nothing. I try to be for people, for the people who are only someone who will listen. I'm not a psychiatrist. I'm not a physician. But I am there. . . and this is what people need, something for the moment and then they are talking about having to do with inequality, and exploitation and the nature of the economic system.

There are structural problems in society which are hard to solve and are not going to be resolved by the work we do. However, I want to say this as a card-carrying intellectual — I think it is all too easy to dismiss the fact that there are a lot of people who are going to have access to information through a newspaper. In any way, what Miss Landers is doing is running a kind of social agency for the American people. The people who are writing to her have serious and depressing problems and these problems are as significant in their eyes as the moment and then they are talking about having to do with inequality, and exploitation and the nature of the economic system.

Syrian Forces Seize Harbor, Oil Refinery

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Syrian troops and tanks took over the harbor at Sidon, 25 miles south of Beirut, today and occupied the neighboring American oil refinery, leftist Lebanese sources reported. Observers said the Syrian command was safeguarding its oil supplies before sending troops to Beirut to force an end to the 14-month-old civil war in which an estimated 26,000 Lebanese and Palestinians have been killed. Syria has been getting much of its military fuel from the Sidon refinery, which is operated by the Mediterranean Refining Co. (Medrefco), since Iraq stopped pumping oil through pipelines across Syria two months ago. Medrefco processes crude oil from Saudi Arabia.

Bomb Responsibility Claimed

FRANKFURT, West Germany (AP) — A group calling itself "Revolutionary Cellbrigade Ulrike Meinhof" claimed responsibility today for bombings that injured 16 persons at a U.S. Army headquarters. And the destruction of two trucks by arsonists at a U.S. Air Force base near here this morning prompted the Air Force to pin the Army in tightening security at all West German bases. In a letter addressed to The Associated Press and mailed in Frankfurt, the group said "The Revolutionary Cell laid bombs in the headquarters of the U.S.-imperialist occupation army, the European nerve center of NATO and all U.S. secret services, and in their officers club."

LITTLETON, Colo. (AP) — Sen. Floyd Haskell, D-Colo., and his wife of 34 years have filed a joint divorce petition in Arapahoe County District Court, an aide says. The spokesman said Tuesday that a hearing on the petition by the first-term senator and his wife, Ellen, has been set for Oct. 12. Under Colorado law when a joint petition is filed, no grounds need be stated. The couple has three daughters, none of whom lives at home. Mrs. Haskell, who lives in Littleton, a Denver suburb, declined to discuss the petition when contacted.

Pollution Program Pending

By ED PRICKETT Herald Staff Writer

Creation of a special zoning district and matching funds from the state are all that are needed to get a $100,000 pollution fighting program underway, according to County Commissioner Richard Williams. For months Williams has tried to get the commission to agree to his proposal for a program to rid the county's lakes of aquatic weeds. Now, he feels, the answer is at hand. "We're going to have to get into it one way or another — someday. It's just a matter of whether we want to do it now or later."

Williams said his latest proposal asks for no additional funds or personnel. Williams said during a work session Tuesday that sufficient matching funds are available to fund a portion of his proposed program. The remainder, Williams now says, could be generated by creation of a special taxing district. Under the special taxing district concept, lake-dwellers could be required to pay up to three mills if 67 per cent of the persons within the boundaries approve the plan for its creation.

Williams said at present the county monitors lakes. All that is needed, he says, is some type of program to combat the spread of aquatic weeds. The commissioner says the state will pay in 50 cents for every dollar the county comes up with.

He said he will resubmit his program next Tuesday for the commission's perusal. Williams previously attempted to sell his program to Commissioner John Kimbrough said he would not approve the program if residents who didn't live on lakes were required to fund a program which would benefit only lake-dwellers. Commissioner Harry Kwiatkowski's objection was timing. Kwiatkowski said Williams should place his project in the capital improvements program, along with others.

Tonight to present their top priorities. The board will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the county courthouse in Sanford. The board will be presented a list of teacher concerns which was compiled by some 40 first grade teachers at an April meeting sponsored by the Seminole Education Association. The concerns, which center around class size, class hours, classroom aides and student testing programs, will be presented by Red Bug Elementary School teacher Judy Moore.

According to Mrs. Moore, teachers at the meeting agreed that the large class size was their biggest concern. In order to give first grade students valuable individualized attention, she said teachers felt 20 students per class should be the limit. Mrs. Moore said teachers were pleased with the new teaching hours introduced last year — 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Formerly, first graders were in school from 9 a.m. to 3:45 p.m. like other students. Teachers said it was difficult to hold a child's attention for that long a period of time.

Teachers will ask the board to provide more paid teacher aides for the classroom, particularly if class size cannot be reduced. They will also ask school officials to evaluate special education candidates at an earlier stage so that they can be channeled into the appropriate classes sooner. Other school programs to be presented will include the Kappa Sigma Omega Chapter reading program, by Rebecca Sweet and Carletha Merckerson, and the early childhood education program by Brenda Stewart.

The board will also give a status report on the proposed purchase of a county office site.

WEIGH INSURANCE BILLS

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Bills to revise the no-fault auto insurance law and cut the spiral of premium costs are finally headed toward a House-Senate conference with just three days left in the 1976 legislative session. Senate Democrat Dempsey Barron, D-Panama City, said conferees would be appointed today after a Senate vote on rejection of the House plan. The measure reached the House Tuesday after the House corrected part of a hastily approved amendment that would have done away with motor vehicle inspections. Some House members refused to first to send the bill (CS-2825) back to the Senate after amending it. But the House leadership overrode attempts to remove the fight over revision of the state's auto insurance laws.

School Board To Get Teacher Priority List

By JEAN PATTESON Herald Staff Writer

If first grade teachers in Seminole County had a fairy godmother to offer them one wish, it would probably be for class size to be reduced to no more than 20 students. They would also like to see teaching hours reduced, the number of paid teacher aides increased and student testing programs started at an earlier stage. Solzhenitsyn Criticizes Americans' Materialism

SANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Nobel Laureate Alexander Solzhenitsyn says Americans are too concerned with petty freedoms and materialism. Solzhenitsyn, exiled from his homeland for criticizing Soviet policy, said Tuesday that his criticism of the United States was meant to be constructive. The author, who has lived in the United States for more than a year, made the remarks Tuesday in accepting the American Friendship Award at Stanford University. He chastised the press for "being too concerned with gossip," unions for "disrupting the lives of people," pacifists for "not defending what they believe" and teachers for "wasting time."

Star Queried About Fire

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Country music singer Tammy Wynette and a member of her band have been questioned in connection with last week's fire which heavily damaged her $1.2 million Spanish-style home, officials say. "Today we are questioning others," Eugene Hartsock, state arson investigator, said Tuesday. "Miss Wynette is on tour until Thursday and when she returns we plan on questioning her children, with her present." Three separate fires were reported at the singer's home early last Friday, which officials say caused an estimated $100,000 in damages. Hartsock said Miss Wynette and Rudy Galatin, a member of her band, both have been questioned.

First Victory Since May 7 For Pirate Pitcher

Candelaria Breaks Losing Streak, Stops Mets 3-2

By Ken Rapoport AP Sports Writer

John Candelaria watched one fly over the outfield fence in the first inning and whispered: "Oh, well, here we go again."

Candelaria was still pitching in the ninth inning, much to his own surprise. By then he didn't mind giving up another home run to Joe Torre.

"The double play in the fourth inning gave me a lift and I bore down after that," said the youthful Pittsburgh Pirate left-hander after a 3-2 victory over the New York Mets Tuesday night.

A less artistic victory would have pleased Candelaria. He hadn't won a game in nearly a month. But this one had extra luster to it, since Candelaria struck out 12 batters to tie a National League high for the season and allowed the Mets only six hits.

The victory was Candelaria's fourth in seven decisions, but only his first since May 7. The Pirates expected more of him this season after an impressive showing at the end of last year that included a strong, if losing, performance against the Cincinnati Reds in the National League playoffs.

In the other National League games, the Atlanta Braves walloped the Chicago Cubs 6-1 in a six-inning game, the Houston Astros nipped the Cincinnati Reds 2-1 and the San Francisco Giants blanked the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-0.

Bob Robertson, with a two-run homer in the fourth inning, provided Candelaria with a 2-1 lead. The Pirates then scored their eventual winning run on a double by Bill Robinson and a single by Richie Zisk in the sixth inning. Jerry Kosman, 6-2, gave up all three Pittsburgh runs in working the first eight innings for the Mets.

St. Louis Cardinals 6, Philadelphia Phillies 1. The Cardinals turned back the Phillies, 6-1, in a game stopped by a rainout in the bottom of the sixth. Red, 4-1, struck out seven and walked none as the red-hot Phillies won their 18th game in 22.

Phillies 6, Cubs 1. Ron Reay, making his first start of the season after 14 relief appearances, pitched a four-hitter and Greg Luzinski hit a two-run homer as Philadelphia beat Chicago in a game stopped by a rainout in the bottom of the sixth. Red, 4-1, struck out seven and walked none as the red-hot Phillies won their 18th game in 22.

The rain helped wash out a couple of 12-game Chicago hitting streaks, one by Bill Madlock and the other by Manny Trillo. Madlock was hitless in three trips and Trillo in two, including a line drive into a double play.

Cardinals 6, Expos 2. Ed Halicki fired a two-hitter for his first shutout of the season and Gary Matthews slugged three hits, leading San Francisco over Los Angeles. The Giants got to Don Sutton, 4-6, for a run in the sixth and added an unearned run in the eighth as San Francisco defeated Los Angeles for the fourth time this season without a loss.

Tigers Win With Late Rallies

Defeat Was Replay For Rodriguez

By HERSHEL NISSENSEN AP Sports Writer

It was like an LP record when Ed Rodriguez... only in this case LP stood for Losing Pitcher.

Rodriguez also picked up a WP... but that stood for the wild pitch he threw, capping a three-run Detroit rally in the ninth inning that enabled the Tigers to beat the Brewers 8-7 in the opener of Tuesday's two-night doubleheader.

Rodriguez then surrendered two runs in the ninth inning of the nightcap... the last on Ben Oglivie's two-out homer... as the Tigers completed a sweep by a 6-0 score.

The evening must have seemed like a nightmare instant replay to the Brewers, who also saw Detroit rally twice Monday night with two runs in the ninth inning and two more in the 11th to split a 5-1 victory.

In other American League action, the Texas Rangers edged the Chicago White Sox 6-5 in 16 innings.

ings, the Kansas City Royals downed the Oakland A's 5-2 and the California Angels beat the Minnesota Twins 6-4. New York and Boston were rained out, Baltimore and Cleveland were not scheduled.

Detroit reliever John Hiller was the beneficiary of the Tigers' late rallies, earning the win in both ends of the twin bill.

Haag, 6, White Sox 5. Lenny Randle's run-scoring double with two out in the 16th inning drew in Gene Clines, who stole second after forcing Jim Sundberg, who had singled.

The White Sox played the game under protest on grounds the Rangers used an ineligible player in starting pitcher Singer. Long before the game was over and shortly after Singer had been knocked out in the sixth inning, it was announced he had been traded to Minnesota. The White Sox contended Singer's contract already belonged to the Twins when he started the game.

Royals 5, A's 2. Nolan Ryan won his first game in exactly a month, scattering seven hits... including home runs by Larry Hise and Craig Kusiek... while walking five and fanning seven. Ryan had dropped five decisions since his last victory May 1.

Blyleven Put On Spot In Trade To Rangers

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Bert Blyleven, a young man with an ambitious future, is a man on the spot.

Blyleven was the key player in a six-man trade Tuesday night that sent the talented pitcher and infielder Danny Thompson to the Texas Rangers.

"I know everyone will be expecting a lot of me," said Blyleven, who was playing out his option at Minnesota. "My goal is to be consistent like I think I have been with the Twins the last six years."

Minnesota received infielders Roy Smalley and Mike Cubbage, veteran pitcher Bill Cingale and minor league pitching prospect Jim Gideon in the trade.

"I think without any question, Blyleven will pitch the way he's capable of at Texas," said Twins Manager Gene Mauch. "His record is impressive and new his mind is clear having all his monetary problems behind him."

The 25-year-old Blyleven will become the Rangers highest paid player, having agreed to a three-year contract calling for $500,000 in salary and deferred payments.

"The last two years or so have really been tough," said Blyleven, who had a 99-90 record since joining Minnesota in June 1970 at the age of 19. He was 4-5 at the time of the trade.

"I expect to be in Texas a long time and hope to win more than 100 games there," continued Blyleven. "I feel good and I can help them win. They've got a great manager."

Thompson, who also joined the Twins in 1970, was elated with the trade. The veteran infielder, who was also unsigned, agreed to contract terms with the Rangers and will receive a salary of $38,000 from Texas — about $1,000 more than he was offered by the Twins.

Thompson has a lifetime average of .232 and was hitting .224 this season and enjoying the best year of his career at shortstop.

NEW YORK (AP) — A field of six or seven is shaping up for Saturday's 108th Belmont Stakes with Ogden Mills Phipps' Majestic Light the latest to join the list of 3-year-olds expected to go to the post in the third jewel of racing's Triple Crown.

Majestic Light worked a mile at Belmont Tuesday under trainer Paul Adewale and his effort pleased trainer John Russell.

"He started slowly but finished in a pleasing manner that both Brullio and me," said Russell, who said Majestic Light covered a mile in 1:40.55 and galloped out 1/4 mile in 53.5.

"He'll probably run Saturday," Russell added. "If he does, it will bring in the number of horses going to the post. Also expected are B.R. Taylor's Kentucky Derby winner, Bold Forbes; Christiana Stable's Best Laid Plans, winner of three of four starts this year; Mrs. Douglas Carver's McKenzie Bridge, an invader from California who won an allowance race here last week; Elmendorf's Play The Red, runnerup in the Kentucky Derby; and another possible entry is Lita's Hope in the stakes. Trainer Sunny Hill indicated Cokaj would run in the Florida Derby.

Others who definitely won't run are Pleasant, the beaten favorite in both the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness, and Mrs. Connie Ring's Crystal Water, winner of the Hollywood Derby. The latter will remain on the West Coast and point for the Aragonet June 13 and the Swaps June 27.

Bold Forbes, who figures to be the odds-on favorite Saturday, galloped a strong 1/4 mile on Monday.

Blazers Coach Replaced

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — "It's going to take a healthy Bill Walton" to turn Portland into a winner, says Portland Trail Blazers Coach Frank Ramsey.

"Like I had a healthy one, right?" responded Lenny Wilkens, who was fired by the National Basketball Association club after completing two years of a four-year contract.

Ramsey's hiring was announced at a news conference Tuesday, making him the fourth coach in the six-year history of the Blazers.

"I had heard some rumors the past couple of weeks, but I still didn't think anything would happen," Wilkens said in a telephone interview. "I mean why should I? We had a lot of injuries, other problems I don't think any coach could control."

Few Presidents Matched His Influence

J. Edgar Hoover's Power Over Men Comes To Light

WASHINGTON (AP)—With J. Edgar Hoover four years in his grave, it's safe to say that few men in the history of the United States have had as much influence over men as he. Hoover's power over men was not just a matter of his position as director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, but of his personality, his vanity, his eccentric behavior. He was double-edged, revealing both a man's amusing, oddities and also his remarkable power over men and the course of a nation throughout a half-century.

Few presidents matched Hoover's influence over America's culture and its government. None held such power for so long. For most of his 48 years as director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, he ruled without challenge, never rebuked by an adoring public, never seriously questioned by Congress. Presidents, even those who wanted him out, backed away from the confrontation.

Shortly before his death in May 1972, the horror stories began to emerge from Hoover's FBI.

The reports described wiretapping, burglaries, buggings, files of nasty gossip about politicians, the campaign to discredit Martin Luther King, the efforts to harass and disrupt nonviolent civil rights organizations and antiwar groups as well as the more militant left-wing and right-wing dissidents.

Year by year, the scandalous allegations mushroomed and were confirmed as many of the FBI's own files were forced open to the public. Year by year, FBI men themselves began to feel free to tell what they knew of the Boss, a man they sometimes treated as God or at least his 20th-century surrogate in Washington.

As the times changed, the people and their representatives in Congress became more receptive to a critical examination of one of their most secret agencies. The trend has produced a wealth of new material about the man and his power. Some of it has been collected in three recently published books examining, in one form or another, what Hoover was and what he ought to have been.

"He was, above all, a lonely man," concluded Sanford J. Ungar in "FBI: An Uncensored Look Behind the Walls," the most comprehensive of the three works. "His life was the FBI and there were few diversions from it."

For all his devotion to the bureau, Hoover ran it in a way that inspired more fear than affection from his subordinates. His agents slaved to please him, knowing that their failure would be met with swift and severe punishment. This image of Hoover as ultimate master gave rise to some bitter jokes, related by Ungar and heard from others as well. As one story goes, Hoover and his constant companion, Clyde Tolson, are walking along a beach.

Tolson surveys the vicinity and reports to Hoover: "Okay, Boss. The coast is clear. Now you can practice walking on the water."

The fear of Hoover was so great within the bureau that some agents went to the extreme contortions to carry out his commands. Or at least to persuade Hoover that they had done so. Former agent Joseph L. Schott, in his book, "No Left Turns," reports that some pudgy agents panicked when Hoover began enforcing weight restrictions in the late 1930s. But one hopelessly overweight agent in the Washington field office pulled a slick con job, deceiving both Hoover's wrath and a cottage cheese diet.

After he was told to lose 22 pounds in 30 days, the agent went to a secondhand clothing store, bought an oversized suit and shirt, and immediately wangled an appointment with Hoover.

Wearing his baggy clothing, the agent lied to the director, "I just wanted to come by and tell you how much I appreciate you instituting this weight program. I've lost 25 pounds and feel 25 years younger. My doctor says I need to lose another 20 pounds, but I ought to spread it over the next six or eight months."

Hoover was pleased, and the agent happily went back to lunches of spaghetti and meatballs. It was well-known within the bureau that a sure way to curry favor with the Boss was to send him flattering notes and expensive gifts.

"Sometimes, if Hoover was not particularly fond of a gift, he would not receive it, but he would receive an expensive pair of cuff links from his boss; then he discovered that they were engraved with JEH on the back." Ungar reported.

The stories go on and on, and pieces in the jigsaw puzzle of a man who once was a hero to millions of children who dreamed of being G-men. When they grew up, some found him to be their villain. Some stories show Hoover as a prejudiced man, biased against blacks and Harvard graduates, and women as any thing but servants of men.

Some illustrate his fondness for horse-racing and the luxury spas of Florida and southern California. Some show him as a man with many comrades but few intimate friends.

In the repertoire of Hoover anecdotes collected since his death, there's no suggestion of romance or sentiment or sympathy, no hint of a capacity to laugh at himself.

Cook Of The Week Mrs. Payne: Cooking Work, But Fun

By ELDA NICHOLS
Herald Correspondent
Martha Payne of Longwood is an enthusiastic cook, who admits she loves it. "I've cooked as long as I can remember," she said.

A healthy vegetable garden is now paying off for the Paynes. "I just finished freezing 15 quarts of cut creamed corn out of our garden," Mrs. Payne said. A fall garden is planned, with a compost heap now in the process of being filled in. "Everything goes in it!" she laughed.

Mrs. Payne's other interests include sketching with pen and ink and doing charcoal. Her favorite subjects are old houses and faces. "I love to watch faces and sketch them," she said. She is also an antique collector, especially glassware.

Her husband Jim is a teacher at Lyman High School, and daughter Glenda teaches at Spring Lake Elementary. Darryl, her son, is at Stetson University.

Regarding Mrs. Payne said, "You have to do a lot of it to be a good cook. You can't expect to just walk in the kitchen and be a whiz at it. I learn all the time."

She laughed, and said, "It helps to have a family who enjoys your cooking. My husband has never in his life complained about my cooking, and believe me, he's had to try some of my odd dishes."

Her Party Cake is great for special events.

PARTY CAKE
12 oz. package semi-sweet chocolate morsels
1 1/2 cups graham cracker crumbs
1/2 cup butter, melted
1 cup sifted nuts
2 cups sugar

PIECRUST
Makes at least 4 piecrusts
4 cups unfluffed all-purpose flour
1 tsp. sugar
2 tsp. salt
1 1/2 cups Crisco (not refrigerated)
1 Tbsp. white or cider vinegar
1 large egg
Put first 4 ingredients in large bowl and

regular flour
1 tsp. soda
1/2 cup butter
1 1/2 cups, plus 4 tablespoons sugar
2 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla extract
1 1/2 cups buttermilk
2 cups heavy cream
Melt 1 cup chocolate morsels. Grease and flour bottom of three 9 inch layer pans. Combine graham cracker crumbs and melted butter. Stir in nuts and 1 cup chocolate morsels, set aside. Combine flour with soda and salt. Cream butter in a large mixing bowl. Gradually add 1 1/2 cups sugar. Cream until light and fluffy. Add eggs one at a time, beating well after each. Blend in melted chocolate and vanilla extract. At low speed add dry ingredients alternately with buttermilk, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Mix well after each addition. Pour into pans. Sprinkle with graham cracker, nuts, and chocolate morsel mixture. Bake at 350 degrees, for 30 to 40 minutes, until cake springs back when touched lightly in center. Cool. Beat cream with four tablespoons sugar until stiff. Fill and frost sides of cake, keeping layers for top. Frost and refrigerate until ready to serve.

Combine 1-1/3 cups sugar, cornstarch and salt in a medium size saucer, gradually stir in water. Cook over medium heat, until evenly cooked, until mixture comes to boiling and is thickened. Boil 1 minute. Remove from heat. Beat egg yolks slightly in a small bowl, slowly blend in about 1/4 cup of the hot cornstarch mixture, slowly stir back into remaining mixture in saucepan. Cook, stirring constantly, over low heat for 2 minutes, remove from heat. Do not overcook! Stir in butter, lemon rind, and lemon juice, pour into cooled pastry shell, top with meringue and brown lightly.

Put cheese on top. Pour tomato juice over it.

Dear Abby
DEAR ABBY: My beautiful 18-year-old daughter is engaged to marry a 23-year-old, congenial fellow with good looks and no character. She and Bud planned to be married in August.

Tonight, my daughter tells me that Bud wants to get married next week! He says a girl he saw only a few times is suing him for the support of a child she claims is his. He says it's not his.

I told my daughter to forget Bud as there is nothing but trouble ahead. He tells her that if she marries him right away, it will fix things. What do you think?

WORRIED MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: I think if your daughter marries this fellow hastily to supposedly "fix things," the "things" that could need fixing later will be HER marriage. Bud needs the services of a lawyer far more than he needs those of a preacher.

DEAR ABBY: This morning I took a test for a job in a local school district. I was one of about 30 women. Before the test began, I heard several women saying that they really didn't need the work; they just wanted something to do while their children were in school. One even said, "I don't need the money." Well, I DO need it. My husband has been laid off,

NEEDS TO WORK
DEAR NEEDS: I couldn't have said it better than you. My husband was marvelous. He was proud of me for fighting the man off and then going directly to the police. Let's get these creeps off the streets and into hospitals or, if necessary, prisons where they can be restrained. ATTACKED IN PITTSBURGH
DEAR ATTACKED: Thanks for your helpful first-hand advice. Women, are you listening? DEAR ABBY: I just read an article in the newspaper about the rudeness of smokers, and I had to share it with you because you are always sticking up for the rights of nonsmokers: DEAR SIXTEEN: Good for you. How To Pickle Asparagus Spears

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
 Associated Press Food Editor

Now that first-of-the-season asparagus spears are in many markets, it's time to remind you that every bit of them may be used. The ends, usually snapped off and thrown away, may be saved to make an interesting pickle.

We've never seen a recipe of this sort in a cookbook. The idea was given to us some years ago by a thrifty Pennsylvania cook and it's one of the best "waste not, want not" measures we know.

ASPARAGUS PICKLE
 2 cups sugar
 1/4 cup cider vinegar
 1 cup light corn syrup
 2 teaspoons salt
 2 teaspoons whole cloves
 1/2 teaspoon whole allspice
 2 sticks (each about 3 inches) cinnamon
 Asparagus stem-ends, see Note below
 In a 5-quart saucepot stir together the sugar, vinegar, corn syrup, salt, cloves, allspice and cinnamon. Over medium heat, stirring occasionally, bring to a boil, cover and boil gently for about 10 minutes. Strain syrup into a bowl. Discard spice.
 In the 5-quart saucepot bring 3 quarts water to a boil. Add the prepared asparagus stem-ends and return to boiling; boil 1 minute. Drain in a colander. Pour the pickling syrup into the 5-quart saucepot and bring to a boil; remove from heat. Add stem-ends and let stand about 2 minutes; pack into clean, hot, half-pint jars. Fill with boiling hot syrup leaving 1/2-inch headspace. Wipe top edge of jars with a damp cloth. Seal jars according to manufacturer's directions. Process in boiling-water bath 10 minutes after boiling temperature is reached. Remove and cool on wire rack or folded towel. Label, date and store in a cool, dry, dark place. For best flavor let stand a few months before serving, but use within a year.

Makes about five 1/2-pint jars.
 Note: You'll need about 1 1/2 quarts (about 4 pounds) stem-ends, in other words the tough parts snapped off and usually thrown away, from medium-thick asparagus. You can accumulate the stem-ends by storing them in a closed plastic bag in the refrigerator for a period of about 2 weeks; they should stay fresh and firm for that time. When you have enough, use a wire rack, peeler to remove their outer covering; if you like, cut them into even lengths. After peeling, the stem-ends should weigh about 2 pounds.

 1 cup walnuts, chopped medium-fine

Frankfurter Makers, Bakers To Get Together

Make Your First, Last Mouthful Meat

By LOUISE COOK
 Associated Press Writer

Manufacturers trying to tempt consumers with new foods and fads have come up with some unusual twists on familiar favorites.

Take the hot dog, for example. According to the American Meat Institute, manufacturers produced 1.6 billion pounds of federally inspected frankfurters in 1975. On a per capita basis, assuming 10 hot dogs to the pound, that works out to 76 frank and wieners for every man, woman and child in the country.

For years, frankfurter manufacturers have been turning out five-inch hot dogs. Bakers, meanwhile, have been turning out six-inch rolls. No one is sure why.

Swift & Co. has decided to change all that. It's producing a premium-priced, seven-inch hot dog. Now the meat can stick out from the roll. "The first mouthful and the last mouthful is going to be meat," said a spokesman, explaining that children seem to like it that way.

The content of both varieties will be basically the same — there will be eight of the seven-inch hot dogs in a one-pound package — another move to match the bakers who usually put eight rolls in their packages while the meat processors have been marketing 10 frank to the pound.

A pound of long hot dogs, displayed at a recent convention of the Super Market Institute in Dallas, will cost about 10 cents more than a pound of short hot dogs. That's because of improved packaging and a "different formulation," said a Swift spokesman.

fish hot dogs already on the market.

There is nothing to prevent manufacturers from making hot dogs from just about any meat they want. There are restrictions, however, on what they can call their products and different names mean very different things.

In addition, frankfurters which contain by-products such as lips, tongue and snout, must be clearly labeled as "frankfurter with by-products or variety meat" and may not include more than 15 per cent poultry meat. Other additions such as soy protein or dried milk also must be listed on the label.

Violent Thunderstorms Strike Seminole County Area Again

Violent thunderstorms again lashed Seminole County Wednesday afternoon with tornado winds causing extensive damage in the Altamonte Springs area.

Seminole County School Board member Davis E. Sims, president of Sims Office Supply, is one of four business tenants suffering damage when the tornado ripped off the built-up roof coating from the concrete block building owned by DSJ Developments, Inc.

Sims estimated damage to merchandise and furniture in his Douglas Road offices will run from $5,000 to $10,000.

Sims said he was in the building when the winds lifted the corner of the roof from the steel girders and shattered the skylight causing a waterfall to pour in.

Stephen Wagner, owner of CM Southeast Inc., a wholesale wire and cable firm, estimated water damage to his inventory at $40,000. Officials of American Furniture Rentals estimated damage to their store would run over $100,000 and Jimbo's Pizza, the other tenant, also suffered water damage.

Damage to the building itself was estimated at $10,000 to $15,000 by Dale S. Jones, board chairman for DSJ Developments.

A 100 foot pine tree was uprooted at the home of Eugene K. Hall at 110 Pine Needle Lane, Spring Valley, and fell across the swimming pool onto the house, damaging the roof, wall and sliding glass door. Damage was estimated at $5,000-$10,000.

Another resident, Mrs. Anita Walker of 201 Flame Ave., Altamonte Springs, reported a tornado touched down in the yard and knocked over a 40 foot tree, damaging a chain link fence.

A large billboard, owned by Peterson Outdoor Advertising, was blown onto the roof of a building owned by Chestnut Brothers of Lakeland and based by Sterchi Furniture Store on U.S. 19-92, Fern Park.

Sheriff General Manager D.R. Hannah, who was in the store at the time, said a small tornado apparently touched down, shattering the utility poles holding the sign and slamming the 25 to 30 foot sign on the roof. A hole was knocked in the roof and the rain poured in causing water damage to the carpeting, acoustical tile and some furniture.

Hannah said in 1973 when Sterchi first moved into the building he had recognized the danger posed by the sign in the event of high winds and had written letters asking that it be removed. Although recognizing the hazard, he said the county had apparently decided to allow Peterson's lease to run its course.

Heavy rain and winds were widespread over the county with 1.36 inches of rain recorded Wednesday at the Agri-Center at Five Points south of Sanford; one inch at the Sanford Sewage Treatment Plant; and 1.3 inches at Altamonte Springs Valley Treatment Plant.

Power was disrupted at several locations when limbs were blown onto power lines. In Longwood, Mrs. Geraldine Whittemore of 566 Hand Ave. reported a 40-foot tree crashed down between two houses striking electrical equipment and disrupting power.

Police Searching For Guns

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

Police in Belle Glade today were searching near a high school for guns stolen in a February burglary of a Sanford store.

David Dockery, 25, of New York City, revealed Wednesday in circuit court while pleading guilty to the burglary of the Army-Navy Store, 310 Sanford Ave., that he carried 25 to 30 of the 34 revolvers taken from the store to Belle Glade. He told Circuit Court Judge J. William Woodson that the guns were hidden underneath a house trailer adjacent to a trailer occupied by his cousin, Mattie Ruth Middleton.

A Belle Glade police detective was present in the courtroom and was allowed to question Dockery as to the whereabouts of the stolen weapons.

In a joint investigation following the firearms theft, Sanford police and sheriff's detectives recovered two of the stolen pistols in the Midway community where Dockery was staying.

Dockery pleaded guilty to burglary of a structure—a third-degree felony punishable

Wrong Drug Made; Swine Flu Shots Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government is being forced to delay its mass swine flu vaccination program for four to six weeks because a pharmaceutical company made two million doses of the wrong vaccine.

The slip-up occurred at Parke Davis & Co., the U.S. Public Health Service said Wednesday.

It will push back the government's plans to provide the first shots to high-risk elderly and chronically ill persons starting in late July.

"The company has since changed strains and has significantly increased its production," said Dr. Theodore Cooper, assistant secretary for health in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. But he added, "we will probably not have enough to begin inoculations of the high-risk group in late July."

The government hopes to inoculate most Americans by fall against the rare but potentially deadly swine flu, which broke out at Ft. Dix, N.J., in February.

Parke-Davis was one of four drug companies producing the experimental vaccine for the government. The others have been making the right vaccine, officials said.

Officials said Dockery may receive in Palm Beach County. Dockery is being taken to Palm Beach to face charges of robbery, a drug violation and violation of a later will run concurrent to any parole.

Wayne Hays Steps Down From Committee Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Wayne Hays stepped down today as chairman of the House Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee until the investigation of his role in a payroll-sex scandal is completed.

Hays said he was relinquishing control of the committee to avoid putting "an unnecessary and unwarranted burden on my fellow Democratic candidates."

The congressman said he is confident he will be vindicated. But the Ohio Democrat said he did not want "to have my name on a check which might be used as a campaign issue against any Democratic candidate."

The committee distributes campaign funds to Democratic congressional candidates around the country.

Stepping down marks the first serious blow to Hays' leadership position since a woman charged that he put her on his House Administration Committee payroll to be his mistress.

In making his announcement, Hays did not say what he will do in response to demands that he step down as chairman of the Administration Committee as well. He did not mention his position on that panel.

He said he will call a meeting of the campaign committee next Wednesday for the election of a temporary chairman to replace him.

"Although the charge against me has yet to be substantiated by credible evidence, I am confident that when all the facts are presented at the proper time and in the proper forum, it will be obvious that the charge against me will be shown to be false," Hays said.

He accepted no questions from reporters.

As Hays prepared his statement, the House ethics committee went into closed session to decide how to proceed with its investigation of the charge.

Meanwhile, the woman who made the charge against Hays, Elizabeth Ray, denied a Chicago Tribune report that she told federal agents she tape recorded bedroom intimacies with 13 congressmen and two senators, and that she dated official White House photographer David Kennerly.

"I did not make any accusation like that at any time," Miss Ray told CBS News.

The Tribune, in a copyrighted story, said the recordings included: "A well-known senator whose pillow talk in Miss Ray's apartment revolved around the adventures of his grandchildren..."

"A congressman whose name is a household word who talked compulsively while he was with her..."

"One House committee chairman who asked the 33-year-old woman to submit to bondage during his liaison..."

Teacher Concerns Aired

By JEAN PATTISON
Herald Staff Writer

Reports from educators on the concerns of first grade teachers, the status of early childhood education and an offer to supply volunteer helpers in the school system's summer reading program were heard Wednesday night by the Seminole County School Board.

A lower class size with a student-teacher ratio of 20-1 was at the top of the list of priority concerns expressed by representatives from 23 of the county's 28 elementary schools.

Mrs. Judy Moore, who presented the report, cited the great disparity in maturity and basic skill levels of children entering the first grade as a reason for smaller classes and more individualized teaching.

The retention of the shorter (9 a.m. to 2 p.m.) day for first graders introduced last year was supported by the majority of first grade teachers, Mrs. Moore said.

Early and fast diagnostic testing with expanded follow-up services and better testing instruments available to first grade teachers to use as screening devices in the classroom was the third priority concern.

The teachers would also like to see more paid aides—who are not counted in the pupil teacher ratio—for first grade. Other concerns discussed and considered to be of importance included the availability of more materials and equipment for teaching basic skills and for more individualization; more retention in first grade and kindergarten; and revision of report cards.

Americans Aren't Sure Who They're Voting For—Or Why

NEW YORK (AP)—Ronald Reagan has made a strong impression during this campaign year with his advocacy of higher military spending and a overhaul of the welfare system, an Associated Press poll shows.

Reagan's stands provide the two clearest links between a candidate and an issue in the otherwise blurred picture of presidential contenders and positions that Americans now see after four months of intensive primary campaigning.

In the poll designed to probe Americans' views on the issues, the only other clear link of a candidate and the issues comes from supporters of Rep. Morris Udall with their acute perception of his views and their concern about pollution, civil rights and solving energy problems.

The survey, conducted for The AP by the Roper Organization of New York between May 8 and May 15, found that an average of more than half of the potential voters didn't know where their favored candidate stands on five major issues.

The other major findings of the poll were:

—Economic issues head the list of Americans' concerns during this election year, with 59 per cent of those questioned naming inflation, unemployment or holding down government spending as their main worry.

—Crime was the second biggest concern for Americans. Lawlessness in general, drug abuse and criminal acts by public officials were all in the top five issues.

—About 37 per cent of all Americans are choosing a candidate to support for his personal qualities, not for his stands on the issues. More than 50 per cent of Jimmy Carter's supporters, for example, said personal factors were the basis for their decision, compared to only 20 per cent who cited issues.

—In addition to more than half of the people not knowing where the candidates stand, many supporters were wrong in naming where their favorite candidate stood on five major issues. Carter's backers were the most likely to name the wrong stand for their contender, missing four out of five issues picked to differentiate among the candidates.

During the second week in May when the poll was conducted, California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. and Sen. Frank Church scored their initial primary victories. Because the national perceptions of Brown and Church had not then taken shape, the poll did not test their supporters' perceptions.

Reagan's supporters stand out in the poll above those of other candidates for their precision in pegging his stands on military spending and welfare.

More than 50 per cent of Jimmy Carter's supporters, for example, said personal factors were the basis for their decision, compared to only 20 per cent who cited issues.

—In addition to more than half of the people not knowing where the candidates stand, many supporters were wrong in naming where their favorite candidate stood on five major issues. Carter's backers were the most likely to name the wrong stand for their contender, missing four out of five issues picked to differentiate among the candidates.

During the second week in May when the poll was conducted, California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. and Sen. Frank Church scored their initial primary victories. Because the national perceptions of Brown and Church had not then taken shape, the poll did not test their supporters' perceptions.

Reagan's supporters stand out in the poll above those of other candidates for their precision in pegging his stands on military spending and welfare.

By a 65-9 margin, his backers correctly linked him with pushing for more money for national defense. But even 26 per cent of his supporters could not say where he stood.

Reagan's supporters are the main reservoir of concern about U.S.-U.S.S.R. relations and military spending found by the poll. About 22 per cent of his backers named these two issues as the most important ones, close to double the figure for any other candidate.

The former California governor's supporters also correctly linked him by a 51-8 edge with proposals to turn the welfare system back to state control.

Reagan's supporters were the lowest of any candidates' in saying personal factors were the basis for their decision. But 48 per cent of his backers still cited personality over issues.

About 29 per cent of those who said Reagan is their favorite candidate cited issues as the reason for their decision, the same percentage of Udall's backers who cited issues as their reason. About 57 per cent of his supporters say personal factors were the basis for their decision.

Udall's supporters correctly gauged his stand on all five issues examined in the poll, the best showing of any candidate. Here are the issues and the margins by which his supporters named his stand correctly:

—For government guaranteed jobs, 47-19;
—For breaking up major oil companies, 46-10;
—Against anti-abortion amendment, 41-9;
—Against spending more on military, 33-20;
—Against turning welfare back to state, 25-20.

Only on one of five issues did Carter's supporters pick his position correctly—government guaranteed jobs—which they pegged by a 42 per cent to 17 per cent margin.

President Ford's supporters correctly identified his positions on three issues, missed on one and split evenly on the other.

Ford's backers said he supports turning welfare over to the states by a 40 per cent to 17 per cent margin. Ford has said he favors welfare reform, but has opposed placing the financial burden of welfare solely on the states.

Just over 50 per cent of Ford's supporters say personal factors were the crucial factor in their decision to support him, against 30 per cent who cited his stands on the issues. About 18 per cent said both factors were crucial.

Non-candidate Sen. Hubert Humphrey was the choice of some of those interviewed.
