ODAY

Road survey

The University of Central Florida will conduct a survey between now and the end of July regarding Central Florida's Expressway system. At least 1,800 people will be asked by telephone their opinions on road safety, if there is a need for a park and ride express bus service, and other questions. Final results, which should be available in August, will be used to evaluate existing service and for setting policy.

Hurricane workshop

The Central Florida Chapter National Safety Council and the University of Central Florida will offer a free seminar on severe weather preparedness June 17 at 8 a.m. at the university's student union building in the Key West Room. Guest speakers will include Joe Myers. director of emergency management for the state. Eve Rainey, bureau chief of compliance planning and support. Robert Lemley, director of Orange County civil emergency management. and Marty Stebbins, weekend weather forecaster for News Channel 2.

Pre-registration is required. For information and to register, call 897-4443.

Brantley improvements

The Seminole County School Board last week approved concept plans for a $37 million renovation of Lake Brantley High School in Altamonte Springs. The project is expected to begin this fall and will take about three years to complete. Students would remain on campus during the remodeling.

The school, built in 1972 with a 1,500 student capacity, now crowds in 3,000. Poor air quality is also a problem.

Proposed design changes will include a large interior courtyard surrounded by the main buildings, four two-story academic buildings with three new ones and renovation of the current science building, a new administration building, gym, media center, practice field, six new tennis courts and 200 more parking spaces. The old Teague Middle School across the street will be demolished and a softball field, football and band practice field and concessions building would be built on the site.

Town hall meetings

State Representative Tom Feeney, R. Oviedo, will hold a series of town hall meetings starting on Thursday from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at the city commission chambers, 300 Park Avenue, Sanford. Additional local meetings will be held June 25 at the Oviedo High School auditorium, 601 King Street, Oviedo: July 15 at Geneva Elementary School multipurpose room. ### Goldsboro marks 81 years with pride

By MARYA HAWKINS Herald Columnist

History continues to be written by the historical 81 year old Goldsboro Elementary School.

Throughout the week of May 19-24, Goldsboro Elementary at 1300 West 20th Street, reached out in time to reminisce over the good, bad and great educational success of the thousands of students who had the privilege of walking the hallowed halls of "The Little Red School House", "Goldsboro Primary" and "Goldsboro Elementary".

"Moments in Time II" will forever hold the written and pictorial history of the 81 years of the great educational institution that has been the leader of this community.

County reinstates bid for emergency service

LifeFleet/Atlantic received the green flag on Tuesday from the Board of Seminole County Commissioners to keep on hauling in a fast and furious contractual race against the county's fire/ rescue division.

On June 24, either LifeFleet or the county's fire-rescue division anticipates being awarded exclusive emergency medical services duty responding to all calls, treating all patients and providing all ambulance transport.

The BCC voted, 3-2, on Tuesday to allow LifeFleet to compete to the finish despite warnings from Kelly Loll, the county's purchasing manager that the private company 'clearly violated" the rules of the road - and compromised the way the county handles bids for services.

law partner is lawouite filed in Loll, who is the president of the Florida Association of Public Purchasing Officers, urged the commissioners to "throw out" LifeFleet's proposal because the company did not specifically quote how much residents would be charged for ambulance services.

LifeFleet attorney Frederick W. Leonhardt maintained that the rate was attainable from information contained in the bid and clarifies through additional information aubmitted at the county's request.

After more than two hours of questioning and debate. Chairman Randy Morris said the BCC made a decision that stripped the "last bit of integrity" the commission had on the EMS leads. Commissioner Daryl McLain joined Morris in the effort to disqualify LifeFleet.

True, Commissioner Win Adams said there was a deviation in the method LifeFleet made its bid "BUT is it enough of a deviation to disqualifaction?" Adams, commissioners Dick Van Der Weide and Orani Malloy voted that LifeFleet be allowed to continue.

Sheriff cracks down on drunk drivers

By DAVID FRAZIER Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County Sheriff's Office did its part in the state's Booze It & Lose It" campaign this Memorial Day weekend.

On Friday, May 23rd, the Sher-III's Department conducted a DUI checkpoint that resulted in a large number of arrests and citations. The checkpoint was conducted by the Seminole County DUI Task

Florida's "Booze It & Lose It" campaign was a scries of highway checkpoints and police in unmarked patrol cars that targeted drunk drivers in cities and towns across the state. Of course, the police were on patrol the whole weekend watching for those who had a little too much.

The "Booze It & Lose It" campaign is a program implemented by Drive Smart Florida Inc., a nonprofit organization committed to developing traffic safety programs. State Treasurer and Insurance Commissioner Bill Nelson serves as honorary chairman of the organization. Nelson is scheduled to release statewide statistics on the Bee Crackdown, Page 3A

SANFORD - As lightning flashed brightly across the sky. turning clouds into bursts of searing white light and thunder shook the walls, hurricane force winds pushed through Seminole County on Tuesday afternoon.

The regular afternoon thunderstorms that move across the county from the north and east turned violent, ripped up trees, tore off branches and smashed large signs to the ground like so many dominoes.

While there was officially less than an inch of rain, many streets in Sanford were nearly impassable because of flooding as the storm sewers had trouble accommodating the rupid accumulation of water. Cars. parked along Park Avenue near Sanford City Hall, were partially submerged before the rains began to let up.

Going by the Good Book

The Rey, John Butler Book made more than a fashion statement at the Seminole County commission meeting Tuesday. Book was Inattendance for the adult entertainment issue, over which he had been criticized by a newspaper columnist for wearing his Christianity on his sleeve. Book had voiced concern with the way the law firm was chosen to represent the county in that issue. Because adult entertainment was not the subject of a public hearing, Book was not permitted to address the commission at Tuesday's meeting.

SANFORD - The students at All Souls Catholic School in Sanford have shown they are able to do the work for their grade level better than most students around the country

According to principal Tom-Dovle, the students scored well above the national average on the lowa Tests of Basic Skills

"The results are wonderful." Dovic said

The scores on the test are reported according to national percentiles. For example, it as student carns a score of 89. that means he scored better than 92 percent of the students in the nation who took that test

The test scores at All Souls were reported to be among the best in the country, Doyle

In the Basic Skills portion of the testing program, the fourth graders at All Souls scored 89.

The sixth graders at the school scored a 92

Finally, the eighth grader scored a 74.

In the Performance Assessment of the testing program, the seventh graders scored a 76 in Math and an 82 in Social Studies

The fifth graders scored a 62 in science

The third graders scored an 88 in Language Arts and an 86.

Doyle attributes the students' success in part to their emphasis on the basic academic skills and in part on the school's emphasis on keeping the class size small

All Souls is a Catholic elementary and middle school located in the heart of the downtown Santord historic residential district

Pigging out

The students at Longwood Elementary School did a great deal of reading during the last school year. As a matter of fact, they pigged out on reading. The students logged more than one million hours of reading over the course of the year Principal Paul Murphy had promised the youngsters he would kiss a pig if they could reach that milestone. True to his word, Murphy planted one on Piglet the Pig (left) during a ceremony at the conclusion of the year. In honor of the event students (below) wore commemorative head gear and cheered on their principal as he fulfilled his obligation. Murphy retired at the end of the school year

Bright Futures scholarships available

From Staff Reports

TALLAHASSEE -- Education Commissioner Frank T. Brogan's two year effort to establish postsecondary scholarships for Florida students paid off this week when the governor signed the Bright Future Scholarships into law. The Florida Department of Education estimates that the $75 million earmarked by the Legislature will provide scholarships for more than 42,000 students entering community college, university and advanced vocational programs in the fall of 1997.

"Bright Futures scholarships will provide Florida's students great opportunities and incentives to continue their education beyond high school," said Commissioner Brogan, a former classroom teacher, princtpal and superintendent. "Establishing Bright Futures is also an important step in responding to the many Floridians who have called for earmarking Lottery dollars for specific initiatives that directly benefit students," said Brogan,

The Florida Department of Education has established a toll free number, 1-888-827-2004, for anyone interested in applying for one of the three Bright Futures scholarships. Students should begin by contacting their school's guidance counselor if they have not already applied for one of the scholarships. The deadline for submitting an application is July 1, 1997.

Additional details regarding the Bright Futures scholarships can be accessed through the Florida Department of Education's website http://www.firn.edu/doe/ by clicking on the Bright Futures Scholarships icon

Women have another grudge to hold against the Kennedys

BOSTON-Now Massachusetts women have another grudge to hold against the Kennedys: Mom has to drive the baby sitters home.

in case you haven't been following the Latest Adventures of the Kennedy Clan, let me fill you in. You remember the Founding Philanderer, Joe? Remember the Brothers K, whose reputation with women, ran the gamut from Judith Exner to Marilyn Monroe?

The Cousins K have turned up enough black sheep--how come the ewes are immune?-- o make people wonder whether their problen a with women are coded in their DNA.

We will pass over William Kennedy Smith, acquitted, but not forgiven of the Palm Beach scandal. This time it's Joe II and Michael.

Joe Kennedy, the congressman and would-be governor, is not in political trouble for breaking his vows, but for trying to expunge-excuse me, annul--his first marriage. His first wife's book against annulment had some unhappy little tidbits about how Joe the K tried to browbeat and then deny her.

This might have faded, except for the story that came right on its heels: the Tale of Brother Michael and the family baby sitter.

It appears that Michael, the family campaign manager, had a five-year involvement with the daughter of friends that began when she wis 14 years old. Call it statutory rape or an "affair," but it ended Michael's marriage to the daughter of Frank Gifford, whose own marriage, by the way--well, enough of that.

The Michael and Joe stories have little in common except clan, politics, and a growing sense, especially among the state's women, that we've had quite enough of these boys.

But back to the car keys. So far the most widespread fallout of the so-called Baby Sitter Affair, has been a nervousness on the part of perfectly respectable men. With lechery all across the media, they don't even want to get in the car with the sitter.

Assorted fathers in my sample have concluded (1) that every 15-year-old regards him as a potential sexual predator or (2) that if his hand lingers too long while passing out the money, he'll be accused of making a pass.

I don't mind men getting a little nervous. It kind of balances things out. But there is an edginess, bordering on paranola, that is going around these days. And not just around the

Kennedy clan. in the wake of sexual harassment scandals In the Army, male officers now say they can't any schoolteacher is found guilty of sexual assault other teachers decide they can't even some undergraduate is sure to say that you can't even kiss a girl these days. And in business, some men think you can't be a mentor without being regarded as a molester.

To all of this, may I say: Snap Out Of It. This is as exaggerated as the number of missing children on milk cartons.

How many false accusations are there in this world? Let's remember that the most heralded "recant" in the Army sex scandal was when a few military women held a news conference to say they were urged--but refused--to cry rape.

For years, we've tried to teach daughters to go through the world neither naive nor cynical, neither numbingly dumb nor terminally suspicious. If women can negotiate this terrain--and most do--so can men.

I suppose there's bound to be some gender unease every time a creep pops into the headlines. In a way, the reports are progress, The problem is the reaction, or the overreaction.

Today there's an urge to send men and women back to their own corners. In the Army there's a call to resegregate the sexes. In schools, there are second thoughts about "male role models" in the classroom. In transporting the sitter, it's girls only.

One of the great pluses of the generation of change has been friendship. The camaraderie of dorm mates and co-workers, the loosening of roles, has helped us to see each other through some prism other than sex. Michael notwithstanding. Kennedys familiar coexistence is what builds--and rebuilds--trust.

As for the designated driver? First of all, may I suggest that we open up the baby sitter club to include more boys.

Second of all, nice guys share the wheel.

Maybe the sitter has been reading the newspaper, maybe it's midnight and raining, but this is dad chance for a teeny-weeny political act. Grab the keys and, um, go be a credit to your sex.

ctreuit court Tuesday against two unlicensed nude dance clubs that recently opened in Fern Park.

The Board of County Commissioners gave a 3-2 approval to the hiring of the firm. Commisioners Grant Maloy and Dick Van Der Weide opposed the move.

The suits say that the Sassy Meriots on U.S. Highway 17-92 and VIP Gold on Fernwood

Boulevard are operating without proper licensing. Both clubs began business during the time the county's legal staff was writing up a tougher, more defensible adult entertainment ordinance. Moratoriums on land use and licensing restricted any new sexually-oriented businesses to open in the meantime.

Shutts & Bowen attorney Ken Wright said he anticipates a hearing to consider the injunctions soon will be on schedule.

Chairman Randy Morris Went on a half-hour distribe at Tuesday afternoon's BCC meeting, criticizing Maloy for a memo questioning Morris for his hiring Shutts & Bowen to work for the county.

Among Maloy's charges were that Morris acted without first notifying County Attorney, Robert McMillan and his office.

Indeed, McMillan initially was not told that Shutts & Bowen were getting the call. Observing Ken Wright last Tuesday morning at a BCC meeting, McMillan asked. "What are you doing here?"

Shortly after, the county's legal staff was busy preparing the documents to bring in the private law firm. Morris called for a unified action while berating Maloy's memo as 'sophomoric."

increased by 20 percent -- but even that increase is no thanks to Clinton. Routinely, he proposes budgets that increase research spending by less than the rate of inflation -this year, 2.6 percent -- and Congress raises the mark to 5 percent or 6 percent, around 3 percent over the inflation rate.

Moreover, the budget agreement that Clinton worked out with Congress calls for an overall cut of $100 million in federal health spending

In Fiscal 1998 and $2.2 billion over five years.

Recently, the Clinton administration opposed a floor amendment by Sens. Arien Specter, R-Pa., and Tom Harkin, D-lowa, to increase NIH funding by $1 billion this year, or 7.5 percent. White House aides declared it "inconsistent with the budget agreement."

Administration officials say that they don't ask for spending increases for NIH because they know that the House Appropriations Committee -- especially subcommittee chairman John Porter, R-III. -- will raise the Indeed, Porter is calling for a 6 percent increase this year, but he doesn't appreciate the administration's "lack of leadership" on health research. He called Clinton's 'AIDS announcement "more grandstanding." "He's very good at rhetoric." Porter said in an interview, "but there's been no leadership when it comes to substance or resources." While admitting that "politics has played its part" in allocating resources to AIDS ahead of other diseases, Porter said that "science" has been the main justification for the disparity. However, he said, now that treatments for AIDS are showing dramatic results -- making HIV infection no longer an automatic death sentence -- Porter said that AIDS spending at NIH might "level off" in future years, although not immediately.

Clinton's golden opportunity to make a place in history lies in backing -- and leading -- bipartisan efforts to double the NIH budget from its present $13 billion to $26 billion over a five-year period, an effort that would increase overall spending -- in this case, a real investment -- by $30 billion.

People Pork, the lite alternative

Fellow carnivores: Are you feeling doomed to a diet high in saturated fat? Resigned to a life spent aneaking bites of mest while more virtuous friends and family dine on legumes and grains?

I'm here to tell you that you can have your steak and eat it too.

Two excellent cookbooks from two excellent magazines ... Eating Well and Prevention -have arrived to help you carve out a healthy diet that includes ·· hallelujah! ·- meat. It should be no surprise. These magazines have test kitchens staffed by some of the most knowl-edgeable low-fat cooks around, end we should all be thrilled to reap the rewards of their re-

One of the rewards is the knowledge that meat can be a part of a low-fat, healthy diet. Eating Well's "Secrets of Low-Fat Cooking," for example, of-fers the grilled pork tenderloin. Prevention's The Healthy Cook" brings you a savory beef tenderloin and a Moroccan lamb dish, along with many others. And once you're finished with your hearty entree, you can move on to the Sour Cream Layer Cake (from 'The Healthy Cook") or the Marbled Pumpkin Cheesecake (from 'Secrets of Low-Fat Cooking'). Low-fat, of

Sexual communication is best conducted privately

DEAR ABBY: In response to the man who wrote you asking for a definition of a "lousy lover": Sexual communication is the most difficult communication of all. As a marital and family therapist and a clinical psychologist who has practiced for 23 years in the state of California and taught at the university level on human sexuality, I can assure him that the polite avoidance he receives when asking women to define that question is a major part of the prob-

Healthy sexual behavior is behavior practiced between consenting adults in private. It is not public behavior. There are individual differences in what is preferred sexual stimulation and behavior. It is a matter to be discussed and worked out between the individuals involved. Many persons do not know what their sexual values, preferences and beliefs are until they have received some sort of instruction. To raise such a question to an individual with whom one is not involved in an intimate relationship is an invasion of personal privacy.

Abby, please tell "Needing More in Minneapolis" and the gentleman who wrote you to seek out, with their partner, a licensed professional in the field of relationship therapy who specializes in sex therapy. The professional will assist them in determining the type of sexual interaction that best fits them as a unique couple. Referrals can be obtained from local chapters of the association of psychologists and marriage and family therapists, which usually have listings in the Yellow Pages of local phone books.

MARGRETA KLASSEN, PH.D. NEWPORT BEACH, CALIF.

DEAR DR. KLASSEN: Thank you for a helpful letter. I agree that sexual compatibility is more of a negotiated settlement than following the steps in a "how-to" manual. The assistance of a professional may be needed to open the lines of communication because many couples have hang-ups about confiding their likes and dislikes to each other. However, sometimes there is more wrong with a sexual relationship than lack of communication. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: In answer to your question, "What makes a lousy lover?" my first response is lack of good personal hygiene. I've been trying to tell this to my husband for years, but he just doesn't get it! Perhaps if he reads this, he will: Take a shower and scrub with soap and a washcloth — all over every day; trim your eyebrows, the hair in your nose and ears, and see a dental hygienist a couple of times a year; put on deodorant and wear fresh clothes every day and keep your mustache clean. How can we make love if I can't even stand to get close to him?

ANONYMOUS IN ST. PAUL, MINN.

DEAR ABBY: A lousy lover is not interested in what he can do for me, only what I can do for him. A lousy lover doesn't listen to what he is told that could enhance my pleasure, or take gentle or subtle suggestions. A lousy lover says, "I really wanted you to have an orgasm," just before he rolls over to go to sleep, leaving me lying frustrated beside him. A lousy lover is selfish and self-centered and brags about his conquests and sexual skills (which usually means he has none). It has nothing to do with "size."

TULSA, OKLA

DEAR ABBY: A lousy lover is someone who walks into a room and says, "Do you want some?" He considers a few squeezes and pinches to be sufficient foreplay. Within 15 minutes it's all over, as far as he's concerned, whether his partner is satisfied or not. You know the old saying, Wham-bam-thank you, ma'am." It seems to me that if someone has to ask, you already know which class he falls into.

PATRICIA W., VIRGINIA BEACH, VA.

TOMORROW: We'll hear from readers who answer the question, "What makes a great lover?

DEAR ABBY: Last night my husband asked me if I had noticed that whenever we go out for dinner, the server never asks him what he would like to eat. Instead, she turns to me and asks, "And what will be have?"

Abby, my husband has Parkinson's disease and his head now wobbles, his hands shake and he drags his foot a little, but there is nothing wrong with his mind. His hearing is excellent, he understands what people say, and he is not deaf, dumb or

When I am asked, "And what will he have?" I always say, "I don't know. Why don't you ask him?"

Abby, I'm constantly amazed at how stigmatized handicapped people are. My husband has a quick wit, a great sense of humor and is a kind, generous man. Nobody is perfect. We all have some kind of disability. His hands may shake, but he can still put his arms around me, hold me and tell me how he loves me.

I doubt this will do any good, but I just had to get it off my chest. Just because a person has a physical dis-ability doesn't make him less a person. Actually, he is more of a person because he's had to cope with so many difficult things in life — including stupid, insensitive people. Thanks, Abby.

HARRIET R. IN TAUNTON, MASS.

DEAR HARRIET: Thank you for a letter that I hope will educate many thoughtless people. I have had similar letters in my column over the years, but this message is so important it is well worth repeating.

P.S. The next time a server asks for your order, say, "Thank you. My husband will order for both of us."

Summer is now for improving abilities

SANFORD - Unless you were a baseball allstar summer was always a time for relaxing, going to the beach, doing yard work or getting a job.

Now it is a time for going to a sports camp to improve your athletic skills or to keep in shape for the upcoming fall, winter and spring seasons.

There are offerings for everything, baseball, basketball, softball, track, tennis, etc., etc., etc.

Now there is nothing wrong with wanting to improve one's self and there is certainly nothing wrong with wanting to get in better shape. I wish some of these camps had been available when I was growing up. But you should not overdo it for fear of becoming burned out when the "real" season rolls around.

Among those camps being offered are:

 The Lake Mary Summer Track Program that will be run over the next four Monday evenings at Lake Mary High School's Don T. Reynolds

Field events will run at 5:30 p.m. and running events begin at 6:30 p.m. on June 2, 9, 16 and 23.

The cost is $1 per meet and each competitor may enter four events (%-inch or 5MM spikes allowed). Ribbons to first, second and third place in all events, male, female and all age groups.

Events offered are Long Jump (8-Under through 50-Over); Triple Jump (11-13 through 50-Over); 50 Meter Dash (8-Over through 9-10); 100 Meter Dash (11-12 through 50-Over); 800 Meter Run (8-Over through 12-13); 1,600 Meter Run J14-15 through 50-Over): 200 Meter Run (8-Over through 9 and 400 Meter Run (11-12 through 50-Over).

 Sabal Point Country Club in Longwood is home of Tennis Tech Academy. Tennis Tech is offering a Junior Tennis and Swim Camp through July 25th from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Monday through Friday, for players starting at 6 years of age.

Sabal Point also offeres three age level camps in its After School Tennis Tech Academy.

Little People Teach. Introducing tennis the "Tech" way...for beginners ages 6 to 9. Junior Development Tech. Programs targeting a competitive edge in both mental and physical aspects for ages 9 to 12. Tennis Tech Academy. Players seeking to play tournament tennis or a position on their high school tennis team for ages 10 and Up. • The University of Central Florida Athletic Department will offer three Football Camps this summer for youth players and coaches 9-through high school age. The Junior Knight Camp will be held June 9-11 for ages 9-12 and covers all of the basics. The Team Camp for High School will be held June 13-15 and brings together high school teams. players and coaches in a learing and competitive environment. In addition to the individual training for players, coaches can work with their teams in specially designed training sessions. The Kicking and Punting Camp that will be held June 15-18 is for ages 9-17.

 Valencia Community College head softball coach Terri Holmes will be conducting a pair of fast pitch softball camps.

The 1997 Valencia Fastpitch Softball Camps will be held from June 9-12 and June 16-19 from 9 a.m. to noon each day.

Age groups are 6-18 with players being divided up by age and skill level on the first day of camp.

And these are just a few of the camps that will be offered as we will soon here about UCF's summer baseball camp and basketball camps at Stetson University, the University of Central Florida, Lake Brantley High School and Rollins College.

Not to mention several AAU basketball tournaments, baseball and softball tournaments for all of the major sponsoring bodies and the Summer Junior Golf Tour.

So if your are into summer athletic camps just keep watching the paper, there is plenty for all to

Thunderstorms delay start of Bambino Series

Herald Sports Editor

SANFORD - Mother Nature came out the big, and scary, winner at Ft. Mellon Park's Roy Hollar Field Tuesday night.

Because of the nasty wind and severe thunderstorms that moved through Florida last night, the Sanford Recreation Department was forced to postpone the start of the Babe Ruth Baseball Bambino League City Championship Series.

The first game of the Best Two-out-of-Three series between a pair of National Division teams. the division champion Fisher, Laurence, Deen and Fromang Diamondbacks and the runner-up Enterprise Trucking Braves, the defending City Champions, will now be on Thursday night at Roy Hollar Field at 6:15 p.m..

Game two will now be scheduled for Saturday at Roy Hollar Field starting at 2:30 p.m., with the if necessary game (if both teams have a win). being pushed back to next Tuesday, June 3rd, at 6:15 p.m. at Roy Hollar Field.

The Diamondbacks, under coaches Jeff Deen and Bobby Breum, have a 15-3 record and advanced by knocking out American Division runner-up D.A.V. (Disabled American Veterans) Royals two games to none, 6-0 and 4-3.

The Braves, under coaches Jason Bender and Mike Taylor, had a much harder time making the series, having to win on the final day of the season to secure a spot. They are now 11-7 on the season and pulled off a major upset in the semifinals, dumping the American Division, and overall regular season, champion Railroaders White Sox in two games, 3-0 and 9-8.

Despite the difference in the records this still figures to be a close series on paper as the Braves are hot, having won eight out of their last 12 games, and lost two close regular season games to the Diamondbacks, 2-1 on April 3 and 4-2 on

FUN AND DESPAIR AT ROY HOLLAR FIELD

The Enterprise Trucking Braves (top photo) appear to be loose and in good spirits prior to their battle with the Fisher, Laurence, Deen and Fromang Diamondbacks, but Jessica Osteen (bottom photo) looks very disappointed that the first game of the Sanford Recreation Department Babe Ruth Baseball Bambino League City Championship Series had to be postponned because of the severe weather. The two teams will attempt to play the first game at 6:15 p.m. tonight at Ft. Mellon Park's Roy Hollar Field.

Patrick's top aides leaving; UCF inks standout

SANFORD - Seminole Community College head women's basketball coach Ken Patrick finds himself suddenly alone on the Raider bench.

His top two assistants from last year's state tournament team have accepted coaching positions as NCAA Division I pr Lisa Nuxol, a Lake Howell High School and University of Central Florida graduate, is heading north to become first assistant at Georgia Southern University.

Johnny Carlsson, a student assistant at SCC who also played for the Raiders' men's team at the end of the season, has accepted a full scholarship to the University of Central Florida where he will help head coach Lynn Bria with Knights' building program. Carlsson, 27, came to SCC from

Sweden, where he had been coaching girls basketball for the past 10 years. UCF SIGNS SHOOTER

ORLANDO - University of Centria Florida head women's basketball coach Lynn Bria announced Tuesday that Nancy Richter signed a letter-of-intent to play basketball at UCF.

Richter, a 5-foot-10 guard from Wellington (near West Palm Beach). attended Wellington High School. She served as the team's captain as a junior and senior and is the school's all-time leading scorer with 1,802 points. She also holds the school record for career threepointers made, sinking 178 treys.

A three-year starter, Richter guided her team to a 57-7 record over the past two year. She averaged 20.1 points, 5.6 rebounds and 4.0 assists per game as a senior. Richter was named Player of the Year by the Fort Lauderdale Sun Sentinel and Palm Beach Post and was selected third team All-State as

"We're delighted to have Nancy join our team." said Bria. "She is a potential three-point threat and gives us a solid all-around game at the guard position."

Richter intends to major in psychology at UCF.

Celebrity Mascot Games come to Central Florida in July

Special to the Herald

Find a more attentive HMO doctor

DEAR DR. GOTT: My blood pressure consistently runs about 180/80. My doctor, who is in a local HMO. says: "Don't worry about it. I don't need to see you for this." I'm a 73year-old woman and have never been treated in this manner. Am I in danger? Why does the doctor seem to ignore me?

DEAR READER: You are in some danger. I suspect that the doctor brushes you off because of capitation: He is paid a set amount each month for you to be enrolled in the HMO, whether he sees you or not.

Therefore, he is financially motivated to ignore your concerns, preferring instead to examine someone who is sicker than you are.

Even though our blood pressures tant to over the counter shampoos. usually rise as we age, a value of 180 80 is clearly high and puts you at risk for stroke and heart disease.

One's blood pressure should not exceed about 150-90. If your pressure remains high during the course of several readings, you should be treated with prescription drugs to bring it down. For most elderly hypertensives, experts recommend - as a start - a mild diuretic, such as hydrochlorothiazide. If this fails to reduce the blood pressure, second step drugs, such as beta-blockers or ACE inhibitors,

Of course, even with therapy, your blood pressure should be periodically monitored, a fact that won't please your HMO doctor, because - unlike older, more traditional practitioners he seems more motivated to get paid for NOT seeing patients. In short,

he may have his own well being, not should be prescribed.

yours, at heart, If I were you, I'd try to find another, more sympathetic doctor in the HMO. Most managed care physicians still care about their patients and want to do the best for them. I think that you're presently stuck with a lemon. Make a change.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have a 12-yearold girl who is showing signs of gray hair is this something to worry about?

DEAR READER: To a large degree. the age at which the hair grays or whitens is governed by the genes. Perfectly healthy children and adolescents will sometimes start to exhibit gray hair and, although it is a bit offputting this is nothing to worry about - PROVIDING the youngster is othcraise in good health, as determined by a pediatrician or family physician. I had a college classmate whose hair turned silver in his early twenties. To my knowledge, he is still actively rock-climbing, biking and swimming 40 years later.

On the other hand, some young peowho are prematurely gray suffer from anemia or glandular disturnces, which should be checked out with blood and other tests. That's why I qualified my previous comments.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have terrible eborrheic dermatitis, which is resis-

Could the medicine I am takin, (Pravachol, Hytrin and aspirin) b contributing to the problem?

DEAR READER: I doubt that thes drugs, which are used to treat hig cholesterol and high blood pressure ere the cause of your dermetitis. Thi common, chronic skin disorder, o unknown causes, is marked by red dish skin patches covered by a yellow ish scale that usually affects the scalp face and chest. The most successfu treatments are cortisone creams and selenium shampoos. Because non-prescription therapy has failed, I urge you to see a dermatologist who may be able to control the problem with prescription drugs that are stronger.

Political and bridge mover

By Phillip Alder

It is rare that leading politicians are also bridge experts. Three exceptions spring to my mind: lain MacLeod, Deng Xiaoping and Wan Li. The first was a founder of the Acol bidding system in England, and the Chancellor of the Exchequer when he died in 1970.

Deng Xiaoping, the architect of China's economic reform and modernization following the cultural revolution, was an avid bridge player. The drive of Deng and Wan Li, the former chairman of the People's Congress, dummy, has led to China's becoming a force in world bridge.

Deng died February 19 at the age of

In this deal, Deng was playing with Kathie Wei Sender, who has been the link between Chinese players and international bridge. They were using Precision Club, which was devised by Kathie's late husband, C.C. Wei, It is the system of choice in China.

One club was strong and artificial. One diamond was weak and artificial. Two spades was natural, stronger and forcing. Two no trump was weaker and artificial. Following two natural bids. Wei Sender bid an exuberant six diamonda

Deng won the first trick with dummy's heart ace, cashed the spade ace. and ruffed a spade in hand. Declarer drew trumps in two rounds and ruffed another spade. When the king dropped. Deng claimed 13 tricks: three spades, one heart, six diamonds, one club and two heart ruffs in the Deng had a keen sense of humor. After this deal, he said to Kathie, "If I can make seven, you should have bid
