Alumni invited to luncheon, tour

Graduates of the old Seminole High School (now Sanford Middle School) which was located at 1700 French Ave. in Sanford, will have one more chance to walk through the halls of their alma mater before it comes tumbling down next month.

A spaghetti luncheon, prepared by the school's cafeteria staff, will begin at 11:30 tomorrow morning. All alumni are invited to attend.

Following the luncheon, the school building will be open to those who want to tour the facility for the last time.

The school building, constructed in 1926, will be torn down in June, as the new school facility which has been built directly behind the old structure, is completed.

Following the luncheon and tours of the school, there will be a dance for the graduates, young and old, at the Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

The dance, featuring music which was popular in the 1940s, is expected to begin at about 7:30 p.m.

Tickets for the luncheon cost $5 each and are available at the door. Commemorative t-shirts will also be available for sale at $10 each.

Public approves of CDBG plan

SANFORD — The public seems to approve of Seminole County's plan to spend $1.8 million in its Community Development Block Grant program. CDBG program director Buddy Balagia said only four people showed up last night to comment on the spending plan for the 12 months beginning Oct. 1 this year. County commissioners will consider the proposals June 25.

Of the four people attending the 45-minute hearing, Balagia said only Johnell Jackson, an activist for Midway, spoke on the plan. Balagia said Jackson asked that a 21st Street sidewalk project be expanded to include paving of the street itself. Balagia said if commissioners approve the street paving request, it would add $390,000 to the Midway $115,000 sidewalk construction project.

One or more other projects in low-income areas of the county would have to be delayed until another year, Balagia said.

Boat-speed warning

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Smile boaters, you'll be on candid camera this weekend.

Florida Game and Freshwater Fish officers will be stationed in the St. Johns River at the downstream from the Interstate 4 bridge checking boater speeds with radar. The boat's speed will be displayed on an electronic screen to let boaters know how fast that "25-horse" engine can go, game and fish officials said.

"Our purpose is to let people know how fast their boats can go," said Lt. Vinard Hitt spokesman for the fish and game commission.

Warning sign at Sanford's marina

"Boats with speedometers and tachometers don't always work right. Many boats don't have anything."

Hitt wouldn't rule out the possibility boaters violating state laws would be ticketed, but said the main purpose is education.

"It depends on the circumstances," he said. Officers will provide boat safety checks for those requesting them, he said.

The effort is part of a state boater awareness program anticipating permanent speed restrictions in Lake Monroe and other sections of the St. Johns to protect manatees. The restrictions have been in place since March 27 and will remain until June 26. Manatees, the state freshwater mammal, are easily killed or injured by

Sanford and Lake Mary plans OK'd

J. MARK BARFIELD

SANFORD — Seminole County has given the stamp of approval of Sanford's comprehensive growth plan, but objected to several of Lake Mary's plan provisions.

The county, along with several state agencies, comments on city's comprehensive plans under state growth management laws, said Tony VanDerworp, county planning director. The county can't approve or reject the city plan, but their comments are considered by the Florida Department of Community Affairs in their plan review process.

Comprehensive plans, which are required by the state, are guidelines cities and counties establish to follow in granting development requests. They establish residential and commercial areas of the city or county. They also show how they will

Compassionate-leave plan gaining favor

By NICK PFREIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — If ordinance 1036 is approved by the Longwood City Commission Monday night, city employees would be allowed to donate unused sick leave to others. The program is called the "Compassionate Leave Bank".

Such a program, while not in universal use, is not unheard in Seminole County.

The City of Sanford has no such policy but a study is underway toward eventually establishing.

And the City of Lake Mary has no such program.

Seminole County has an open policy that transfers unused sick leave time whenever needed, and does not require participants in the program to donate extra days or agree to the program.

The Seminole County School Board operates a Sick Leave Bank, similar to the one proposed for Longwood, but requires a participant to have donated at least one day of sick leave before being eligible to receive additional time if needed.

In Longwood, the matter is being brought up for its second reading and public hearing. Under the program, Longwood city employees would be allowed to donate sick leave to the leave bank, for use by those employees who may require more paid leave than they have compiled. Any city employee who has accrued sick leave may volunteer to make a donation at a minimum of 8 hours for each calendar year.

There are several delicate points in the proposal, however.

On one hand, sick leave donated to the bank cannot be taxed as earned income, but on the other hand, once the time has been contributed, it cannot be withdrawn even if the donor eventually needs it. The proposal does not include all city employees in that it excludes commission members, committee or board members, part-time or temporary employees even though they are paid by the city.

In order to receive additional sick leave from the compassionate leave bank, an employee must have personally contributed a minimum of 8 hours of his or her own sick leave to the bank, and used up all remaining sick leave and vacation time. Also, the employee cannot be receiving workman's compensation or other city disability benefits. The additional time from the leave bank would be at a maximum of 240 hours per illness or injury.

In order to operate the program, the ordinance calls for the establishment of a five member committee by the City Administrator, with each member to serve on an annual basis.

Washboard Bill won't be forgotten

WEST PALM BEACH — A longtime admirer has found a way to make sure that Washboard Bill, an old-time blues singer who rode the rails and sang with Harry Belafonte and Pete Seeger, won't be forgotten when he's gone.

Washboard Bill, 85, whose full name is William Edward Cooke, plays a ukulele and his homemade washboard, singing in a raspy voice.

His repertoire includes blues songs, railroad tunes, songs from the '20s and '30s, road blues and party lyrics for after hours like "Come on Around to My Home Baby, There's Nobody Home But Me."

Kalyon Campbell, who grew up in Palm Beach Gardens and now runs a small recording studio, has known Washboard Bill for 12 years. His parents heard Bill and his band when they played Palm Beach in the 1960s.

Mayer deluged with mail about turtles

FORT LAUDERDALE — Schoolchildren across the country have deluged the mayor of Fort Lauderdale with letters since a national classroom newspaper published a story about baby sea turtles getting run over on the coastal highway.

Mayor Jim Naugle figures he has received about 300 letters from Washington to West Virginia, all of which offer solutions.

"They're so wonderfully creative. They came up with some of the same ideas we paid consultants millions to come up with," Naugle said this week.

The story in the March issue of Scholastic News explained that baby turtles, which are guided to the ocean by the reflection of moonlight after they hatch, become confused by bright lights from highways and are following these lights to their death.

Man arrested for hurling statues

CORAL GABLES — A postal service worker entered an empty Catholic church and began hurling life-size statues of saints from their pedestals before police arrested him.

The desecration of the Church of the Little Flower occurred Wednesday night shortly after parishioners passing by the church said they saw a shirtless man in shorts trying to enter through a side door and called police.

"When police arrived, they heard the statues going down and they went in," said the Rev. Kenneth Whittaker, the church pastor.

Arrested was James Charles Gardipee, 44, of Cutler Ridge. He is charged with burglary of an unoccupied structure, criminal mischief and resisting arrest without violence.

Damaged during the man's two-minute frenzy inside the ornate, Mediterranean-style church were six statues and some antique marble candlestick holders. Gardipee also allegedly tried to smash the altar. No dollar figure was immediately available for the damages.

Sentencing may be delayed

MIAMI — Attorneys for suspended Hialeah Mayor Raul Martinez asked for a delay for Martinez's sentencing next week until a judge can consider a request for a new trial and a claim of a prosecutor's misconduct.

Martinez, scheduled for sentencing Wednesday before U.S. District Judge James W. Kehoe, was convicted in March of racketeering and extortion for taking money and property from developers seeking zoning favors.

He faces up to 20 years in prison on each of the six counts, for a maximum of 120 years and up to $1.5 million in fines.

In the motion to continue the sentencing, attorneys James J. Hogan and Evelyn Greer who represented Martinez in the trial, said a U.S. Supreme Court decision the day before the request for a new trial was filed May 24 could have a bearing on Martinez's case.

The Supreme Court held that establishing that a public official took something of value was not itself proof of wrongdoing, he had to do something in exchange for that payment.

Gasparilla Day plans revived

TAMPA — Ye Mystic Krewe of Gasparilla's move to admit two black members has triggered the return of its annual Gasparilla invasion and parade.

A new task force of civic, business and government leaders decided Wednesday that the Krewe's integration was the first step in reviving what had been a tradition dating back to 1904.

The last planned Gasparilla Day, scheduled to coincide with Super Bowl XXV, was canceled after a coalition of blacks protested the all-white krewe's sponsorship.

Now, task force members say the new Tampa Bay Gasparilla Festival is being looked upon as the centerpiece of a monthlong winter festival that would include all segments of the community.

Gasparilla, which attracted an estimated crowd of 450,000 in 1980, will have tie-ins with such activities as the Florida State Fair and the Florida Strawberry Festival, task force members said.

Chiles gives sports stadiums tax break

By GARY ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — A $2 million tax break for sports stadiums that is now law could help entice a major league baseball team or other sports franchise to Florida, Gov. Lawton Chiles said.

Chiles said the legislation he signed Thursday will give a boost to the efforts of Miami, Orlando and St. Petersburg to land the two National League baseball franchises to be awarded June 12.

"We're obviously hopeful that, as major league baseball makes a final decision ...

about its two new teams, this legislation will be a major factor in its decision," the governor said.

The legislation (CS-BB 2040) was tabbed the "Pinellas County Field of Dreams" by one lawmaker during debate because it would enable owners of St. Petersburg's Suncoast Dome to do the renovations needed for a major league baseball team.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Peter Rudy Wallace, D-St. Petersburg, will allow stadium owners to keep up to $2 million in sales tax proceeds from concessions, tickets and parking if their team would draw at least 300,000 spectators annually.

It also allows $500,000 in tax breaks for communities trying to build facilities for baseball teams to use during spring training.

The money could be used to finance bond sales to perform stadium renovations. The total tax break couldn't exceed $60 million over 30 years.

Chiles, who wrestled with the bill for weeks, said he was certain the tax break to a for-profit business was outweighed by the economic boost provided by sports teams, including creation of new jobs.

Federal prison suit may be dismissed

By GARY ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — A federal lawsuit that has kept Florida prisons under court supervision since 1972 is closer to dismissal following a new agreement on key health care issues, Gov. Lawton Chiles said.

"We're in control of our own destiny again," Chiles said. "We'll be in control of our own state, as we should be."

The federal lawsuit filed in 1972, known as the Costello case for the inmate who originally brought it, focused mainly on poor health care, overcrowding and bad food at state prisons.

Since then, a federal court has maintained control over much of the prison system, which state officials have admitted was in deplorable condition during the 1970s.

"There is no question that when Michael Costello filed suit against Florida 19 years ago, our prison system was in need of major improvements," Chiles said.

The agreement announced Thursday, which was signed by an attorney for Florida's 45,600 inmates, requires the state to fully fund and operate an independent state agency known as the Correctional Medical Authority to ensure that prisoners obtain adequate health care.

It also calls for keeping the prison capacity at no more than 133 percent of capacity, where it is now. That will require legislative approval.

The settlement, if approved by a federal judge, could lead to final dismissal of the case within 90 days, said Lt. Gov. Buddy Mackay, who handled negotiations for Chiles.

"The days of 'Cool Hand Luke' really are behind us," said Mackay, referring to a popular movie that depicted brutality in prisons.

Bill Sheppard, appointed by the court to represent the inmates in 1981, said the agreement was the most significant step in the suit since it was filed.

Population: More elderly fewer kids

Associated Press

MIAMI — Florida is getting older by the decade, with census figures released Thursday showing that children make up a shrinking share of the state's population and nearly one in five residents is over 64.

The 1990 census results show 18.3 percent of Florida's 12.9 million residents are 65 or older, up from 17.3 percent in 1980 and 15 percent in 1970.

Children under 18 still represent a larger segment of the population, but that share diminished from 28 percent in 1980 to 22 percent in last year's count.

"It's retirees moving down. It's people already here aging," said David Sly, a Florida State University demographer. "It's generally believed that it's the healthier people that make that move, and they survive."

The average Floridian, by statistics, would be a white woman living with her family in a $77,100 house.

That's because 52 percent of the state's residents are female, 83 percent are white, 54 percent of all households are married couples.

Woman gets life for killing new mother to kidnap baby

Associated Press

FORT MYERS — A 32-year-old woman will spend at least 25 years in prison for killing a Lehigh Acres woman in March 1990 in order to kidnap her newborn daughter.

Prosecutors agreed not to seek the death penalty against Betty Ann Kirk in return for a plea of no contest to first-degree murder in the shooting death of Sharon Parker. A kidnapping charge was also dropped as part of the plea agreement Thursday.

Kirk, 32, of North Fort Myers planned the slaying of Parker, 33, and shot her in the back of the head while Parker sat in her living room chair, according to prosecutors.

Kirk, who badly wanted to have a baby by her second husband, then took Parker's 10-day-old daughter, Julie Lynn, and tried to pass the infant off as her own.

Parker's body was discovered March 29 1990, by her 6-year-old twin sons and her 14-year-old daughter as they were returning home from school.

Gary Parker, the victim's husband, said Thursday he was satisfied with the sentence.

"I realize it's an extreme tragedy for everyone involved," Thompson said. "I believe it's an appropriate disposition of this matter."

Kirk, who says she suffered four miscarriages, had tried previously to buy the baby of a pregnant woman for $5,000. She had also paid two visits to a Fort Myers Shores woman who had recently given birth, telling the woman she was from a women's auxiliary that gave baby clothes to newborns.

WW2 vets gathering tonight

By Peter Johnson
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Veterans of World War II will be gathering tonight to mark a half-year long observance of the 50th anniversary of the Pearl Harbor attack.

John Seals, the organizer of the meeting said, "This is an exploratory meeting to see what we might be able to do for the anniversary." He added,

"Because of our age, nearly 70 percent of the service people who were in that war are already gone. It's time for those of us who remain to get together and plan for this event."

December 7, 1941 will be the 50th anniversary of that tragic date in 1941. At that time, nearly 300 Japanese aircraft attacked Pearl Harbor, Hawaii. The raid, which lasted little over one hour, left nearly 3,000 dead.

"We would like as many veterans of that war as possible to attend," Seals said. "Men as well as women, from all branches of service. He added, "It will not only be a time for planning for this December's event, but it will be sort of a reunion of people who served, not only at Pearl Harbor, but elsewhere in the various war zones."

All WW-2 service personnel are invited. There is no charge for admission. One of the evening's events will be the showing of the Pearl Harbor segment of the old Victory at Sea television series. The meeting is set to begin at 7 p.m. tonight, at the Sanford Bible Church, 2460 Sanford Avenue. For further details, call John Seals, 322-7174.

Deductible IRAs

Congress should heed Federal Reserve Board Chairman Alan Greenspan's endorsement of legislation to make tax-deductible individual retirement accounts (IRAs) available again to all workers.

Greenspan sees IRAs as a vehicle to boost this country's dismal savings rate.

Americans put aside only 4 cents of every dollar as savings, compared with 16 cents in Japan and 13 cents in Germany. The decline in personal and business savings along with chronic federal deficits, has deprived the U.S. economy of low-cost capital to finance investment in manufacturing and productivity, and has led to heavy reliance on foreign capital.

Testifying before the Senate Finance Committee recently, Greenspan said the nation must boost its savings or face a capital crunch. Without adequate capital, he noted, businesses have little chance to increase productivity and contribute to economic growth. "Put simply," he said, "inadequate domestic savings is impairing our economic prospects."

President Bush and Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, have offered similar proposals to increase personal savings. Bush proposes a new family savings plan that would generate tax-free interest and allow penalty-free withdrawals for emergencies. He also proposes penalty-free withdrawals from IRAs for first-time homebuyers.

Sen. Bentsen, together with Sen. William Roth, R-Del., is sponsoring a more ambitious proposal to restore fully deductible IRAs for all workers. Workers could make tax-deductible contributions of up to $2,000 annually. And they could make penalty-free withdrawals before retirement to pay for a first home, catastrophic medical bills or education expenses.

Deductible IRAs were made available to all workers in 1981 but were drastically limited in 1986. Bringing IRAs out of retirement will be difficult under new budget rules that require any tax breaks to be offset by tax increases or reduced spending. The Bentsen-Roth legislation would cost an estimated $4.5 billion in lost revenues during the first year and more than $25 billion over five years. Over the long term, however, most if not all of these revenues would be made up by stronger economic growth.

The short-term loss of tax revenues due to IRAs must be weighed against budget savings in other areas. IRAs that help families afford first homes and major medical and educational expenses would reduce reliance on government programs. Moreover, if any tax break is justified in an era of budget constraints, it is one to spur savings and thereby increase the supply of funds available for investments to strengthen the economy.

OBJECTION!

WILLIAM A. RUSHER

Is there a little 'ice age' coming?

As Robert Frost sang, "Some say the world will end in fire. / Some say in ice." During the early 1980s, when Carl Sagan was scaring the wits out of the impressionable with his vision of a "nuclear winter," the ice supporters had the edge. But recently, with the end of the Cold War and a few temperature statistics, Sagan and his icy scenario have been hustled off the stage by the media and replaced by those who favor fire.

According to the latter, global temperatures are rising gradually but inexorably, because of increased emission of "greenhouse gases" such as carbon dioxide. As a result, the 21st century will allegedly see a variety of disasters, ranging from the extension of tropical climates into the temperate zones to the melting of the polar ice caps and the flooding of the world's seacoasts. (Scary, isn't it?)

The rising level of carbon dioxide in the atmosphere is attributable, among other things, to automobile exhausts, and on this rock the "global warming" enthusiasts have accordingly built their church. Reasoning, apparently, that the problem isn't cars but the people who drive them (shades of the NRA!), former Senator Daniel Evans calls population growth "the biggest single driver of atmospheric pollution" — an indictment that implicitly calls for the slaughter of several million more fetuses every year, to keep the pollution down.

Environmentalists are also not for requiring new cars to have a fuel efficiency of 32.5 miles per gallon, instead of 27.5 as at present — breezily disregarding the fact that this will compel manufacturers to build lighter, more fragile cars, thereby increasing the number of people killed in crashes by some unknown figure.

What the environmentalists profoundly dislike, on the other hand, is a recent recommendation of the National Academy of Sciences. The Academy has issued a report endorsing the concern over global warming, and even tried to placate liberals by calling for increased appropriations for mass transit (to reduce the number of cars on the road, you see). But the Academy ruined the environmentalists' day by also calling for development of a whole new generation of nuclear power generators, to reduce reliance on fossil fuels that cause vastly more pollution than nuclear power.

The trouble, though, is that for every scientist who sees evidence of rising world temperatures, there's another who vows that they haven't risen at all. And there are scientists, quite uninvolved in this particular controversy, who see a very different future for the globe.

Take Dr. Salme Balanus, an astronomer at the Harvard-Smithsonian Center for Astrophysics. She has been studying neighboring stars that resemble our sun, and finds that sunspot activity on them (which resembles our sun's in being cyclical) tends to increase their energy output. Four of 13 stars viewed nightly since 1986, however, currently show no sunspot activity — which should lead to lower energy outputs, and colder temperatures on any planets they may have.

Oddly enough, just such a disappearance of sunspots was recorded by Edmund Halley and other astronomers between 1650 and 1720.

The problem isn't cars but the people who drive them.

Beauty, bystander soon part

LEONARDTOWN, Md. — Ralph Waldo Emerson once advised his suitors to seize every opportunity to observe that which is beautiful. "Beauty is God's handwriting," he said, "a wayside sacrament. Welcome it in every fair face, in every fair sky, in every fair flower, and thank God for it as a cup of blessing."

And so each day early this spring I rose from my bed and hurried to the tidewaters of my home so I might see my tundra swan. I call her mine, which exaggerates; she was a seasonal visitor from Canada. Yet I cannot overstate her beauty; as Emerson would have said, she caused the place and the bystander to shine.

I saw the creature first in April. She was separated from her flock, which had already left en masse for the far north. I was surprised she stayed behind, but it happens occasionally, and, at any rate, as she swam past my property she encountered a skiff laden with carefree youngsters who chased her against my scawall.

Naturally, I reminded the boys about the error of their ways. Quoting Emerson, perhaps, I told them gently that if they bothered the swan again, I would twist off their heads. Then I coaxed the worried bird into a tall stand of baygrass, where to my delight she remained for a fortnight, as if she were going to nest.

There began our relationship. Beauty and the bystander. It was initially maintained at a mutually arranged distance. I wanted to get close, because she kept flapping one of her wings as if it were injured; but she wouldn't have it. If I moved in, she moved out, gliding just beyond my reach, an unapproachable ivory lady.

It's difficult to make friends with a swan in the wild. Geese are gregarious. Ducks will follow along like dogs. But swans are creatures of custom, and their habits do not include human beings. The tundra especially; they are born apart, and their character and personalities are steered in necessary suspicion.

The tundra swan breeds in the harsh Arctic wastes. From the Bering Strait to north Hudson Bay. They grow large as hounds, 20 pounds is common, with 5-foot wingspans, and they have long, straight necks, always stiff and alert. They used to be called whistling swans, and they honk with a noisy, high-pitch delivery.

They fly south every winter. It is one of the most magnificent relocations in the animal kingdom. The western birds fly down the Pacific Coast to Washington state and below, and the Canadian swans come to the Atlantic. The latter feed along prairie potholes en route; the distance is 4,000 miles to the Chesapeake Bay.

It's not altogether clear why the beasts make the seasonal flight. But the Chesapeake provides plenty of groceries and comfortable roosting. The water is mostly ice-free during the cold months, and there are thousands of tiny creeks, coves, nooks and crannies that supply seeds, tubers, whole corn and safe harbors for the migrants.

Sixty thousand stop at the Chesapeake in November. An additional 30,000 go to North Carolina. They eat a pound of food a day, and, for the most part, turn around for home in March. Mine was one of the exceptions to the turn-around this year. I don't know why. Emerson said we shouldn't much examine our good fortunes.

And as I say, it was not easy getting acquainted with the malingering. The swan accepted my hospitality quickly enough, but held out longer on affection. I therefore proceeded slowly, bribing her with corn. Tundras are corn junkies. I threw it out to the baygrass at low tide, luring her day by day to the shore.

I made the bond in utter triumph. When she finally came up on the land, she pecked about at the fotsam, and promptly sat down like a tenant. I could not feed her by hand, nor would she let me probe her wiggling wing, but, for the one day at least, I covered her with my shadow and talked of old times in the Yukon.

The next morning she lost her spirit. She was partly prone, which is unusual, and she would not eat. She opened her bill when I walked around her, but she paid no discernible attention and did not make a sound. Even her wing flap was feeble; she lifted it slowly, waded it, and did not bother to fold it back.

That afternoon I watched the lovely thing wobble out to the end of a point, where the trees have given way to the tides, and the wind is brisk. She tried to walk down a small embankment, fell, and slid into the water where she paddled smartly for a short while, then turned on her side and drifted off without moving.

I ran into the water to get her. She struggled momentarily, yet eventually gave it up, and her head dropped under the surface of the bay. Heavy heart, I pulled her to a boat landing. She was still warm, still beautiful, but dead. There was a hunting dart wedged in her breast, under the wing she had kept flapping.

It's difficult to make friends in the wild. I made the bond in utter triumph.

Major works hard to boost England

WASHINGTON — By any yardstick he was a born loser by the age of 16: a high school dropout who flunked a test to become a bus conductor and found his calling as a concrete mixer.

Today John Major is the prime minister of Great Britain and a confidant of the president of the United States. This son of a former trapeze artist is facing a future that will require every bit of the agility and courage displayed by his father. Our associate Scott Sless in London reports that so far Major is putting on quite a show.

Some of his ways have scandalized the starchier elements among his countrymen. There was the time recently when he was spotted with his shirt-tail tucked into his underpants, an act that's regarded as almost counter-culture in Great Britain. And he is known to frequent "The Happy Eater," the British answer to McDonald's.

In a country with a history in which heritage can be destiny, Major is a myth-buster. His boot-strap biography is more indicative of American than British politicians. It might explain why he struck up such a close relationship with President Bush, who recently advised Major to slow down and pace himself better. When Bush was hospitalized for a thyroid condition, Major was one of the first to phone with his concern — and perhaps some good-natured ribbing about how Bush should take care of himself.

Major is meting out bitter medicine to the British economy. His inflation-fighting has sent interest rates up and put the brakes on economic growth. His future in British politics may hinge on how successful he is in jump-starting the economy. Although he belongs to the Conservative Party, which has been accused of indifference to the poor and needy, Major is not unacquainted with the plight of the poor. His family lived in a tiny tenement apartment — with all the families sharing one bathroom — in a working-class section of London.

After working in more menial jobs, Major managed to pass a test to become a junior clerk at the Standard Chartered Bank, and launched his political career by winning election as a town councilman in the late 1960s. He won a seat in Parliament in 1979, and broke away from the pack shortly thereafter by making a rousing speech against the economic policies of the then new Prime Minister, Margaret Thatcher. She was so taken with Major, despite his independent streak, that she elevated him to ever-higher jobs and finally made him foreign secretary in 1989.

Still, Major's victory last year stunned most political observers. He adeptly capitalized on his common man credentials in beating Michael Heseltine, the favorite to win.

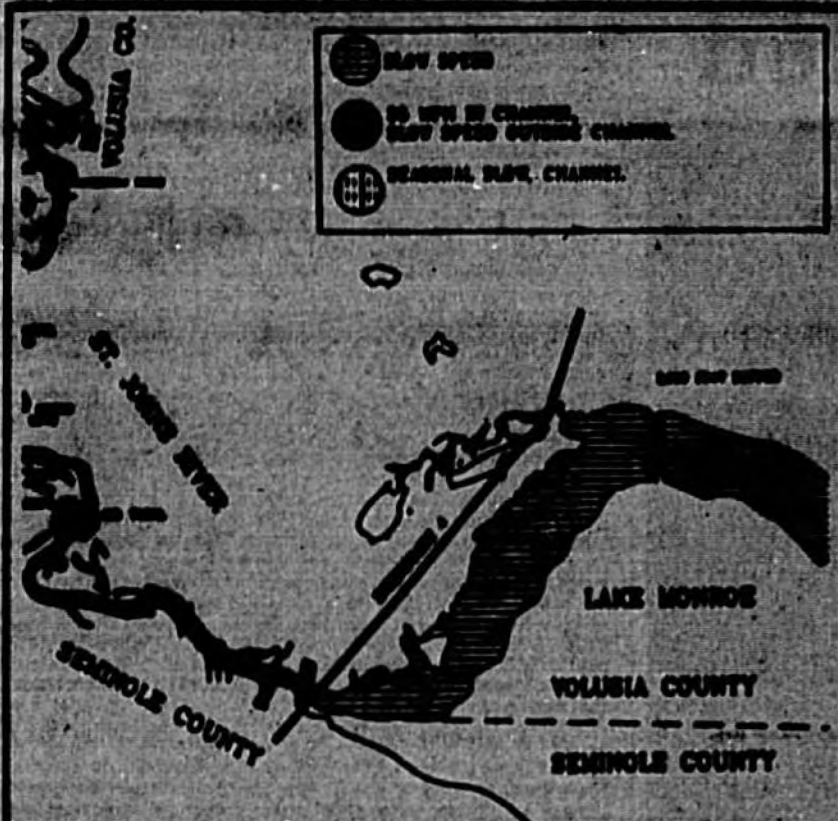

Major found the world at the brink of war, and the British economy battered when he took office. Yet his baptism by fire has raised his international stature and, more importantly, removed him from the long shadow cast by the legacy of his predecessor, known endearingly as the Iron Lady.

Major's call for a refuge for Iraq's Kurds did not sit well at first with some world leaders, but is now the order of the day. He is finding Britain's domestic woes a bit harder to vanquish.

Both Labor and Conservative operatives are preparing for summer campaigns against each other. On the left, Labor can count on making the country's rising unemployment rate a big issue. On the right, Thatcher loyalists within his party are sure to blast him as wishy-washy and meek.

Some of his ways have scandalized the starchier elements among his countrymen.

Restrictions Proposed
 These maximum increases have been recommended for the St. Johns River as for this year, said a Florida Department of Natural Resources spokesman. Another maximum increase has been recommended this year from the Indian River. The commission said. State officials believe there are 1,200 to 1,400 motorboats remaining in the state.
 The game commission will meet June 5 at a public hearing in Daytona Beach to consider permanent restrictions. If the commission approves, the governor and Cabinet will consider the restrictions June 25. They could go into effect within six weeks following Cabinet approval.
 The marine protection laws in the St. Johns extend south through Putnam, Volusia, Lake and Seminole Counties. The area begins at Black Point north of Lake George, south along the western shore of Lake George south to the northern shore of Lake Monroe. Several tributaries and bays of the St. Johns are also included in the restrictions.

 The restrictions also include the Halifax and Indian Rivers from Flagler County south to the Mosquito Canal.
 The speed limit varies from a maximum of 30 mph in some wide channels down to 10 mph, which is 5 to 5 mph. Speed limits are posted in the waterways.
 There is an 18 mph speed restriction for a 5,000-foot-wide area along the northern shore of Lake Monroe from the I-4 bridge to Bethel Creek Cove. Downstream from the lake, the speed limit is 20 mph in the channel and slow speed, 5 to 7 mph, outside the channel.

 them with all they have."
 The Lyman school board grants awards for their academic achievement and vocational progress during the evening. Awards were presented at an earlier ceremony, according to Lyman.
 Students from various colleges and local doctors were also acknowledged at the event which Hickey said was designed to honor the students who sometimes don't receive "proper recognition" for their accomplishments.
 "We do this so that family and friends can have the opportunity to honor these students who have worked so hard all year and throughout their time at Lyman," Hickey said.
 Hickey emphasized that it was important for the school to honor vocational students for their outstanding efforts in the classroom.

"We believe that the vocational student must be well-rounded, with emphasis in the vocational curriculum placed on management as well," he said.
 Lyman High School is a pilot school in the state's blueprint for Career Education that places an emphasis on the practical application of academic principles to vocational classes.
 Among the honorees at last night's ceremony were 27 students who had been given Presidential Academic Fitness awards and four students who had been named National Commended Mark students.
 There are about 375 seniors who will be graduating from Lyman in June.

Plans

 provide services for residents and expand services as population increases.
 The county had few comments for Sanford's plan. County planners suggested city officials give more detail on how capacity for roads, sewage and other city services will be reserved for developments.
 Under state "concurrency" rules, cities and counties cannot allow new construction unless adequate roads and other services are available. Also, adequate services must be provided for previously-allowed development in addition to new development.
 The county commented Sanford needs to show how it will allow development on county roads. The city cannot determine when the county will widen a road to allow more traffic.
 County planners objected for four provisions in the Lake Mary plan, although VanDerwoop said the objections called for more details and were not opposition to the city's development goals.
 One significant objection was the meaning of the city's land use requirements. County planner Don Hastings, who review the section of the plan, said

Lake Mary planners didn't clearly explain whether the city's allowable housing densities for different sections of the city were based on total or usable land area.
 The difference could mean placing a city subdivision with 20 homes next a same-sized county subdivision with 10 homes.

 "We have no concerns about our ability to return to flight under the rules we have set up," said George Rodney, head of NASA's Office of Safety and Mission Quality.
 It is the second countdown for the biomedical research mission.
 NASA test director Mike Leinbach said today everything was going well and the shuttle was in "fine shape." Forecasters expected a 70 percent chance of good weather Saturday morning.
 "All in all, we're right on the money for this countdown," Leinbach said.

PUBLIC NOTICE OF PROPOSED BINDING WRITTEN AGREEMENT
 The Florida Department of Environmental Regulation has received a proposed binding agreement incorporating a Plan of Study for preparation of an application for certification of Florida Power Corporation's planned 230 kV electrical transmission lines known as the DeBarry-Winter Springs 230 kV Transmission Line. The corridor within which rights-of-way will be placed would extend from the DeBarry Power Plant site located in Volusia County to the Winter Springs Substation in Seminole County.
 The Department and other affected agencies are authorized by Florida Administrative Code Rule 17-17.54(1), to enter into binding written agreements with Florida Power Corporation regarding the scope, quantity, and level of information to be provided in the application for certification which will be subsequently filed. The Plan of Study specifies what information will be provided and how. The public may provide comments regarding the substance of such an agreement to its local government or to Joseph M. Norton, Transmission Line Siting Coordinator, Office of Siting Coordination, Department of Environmental Regulation, 3800 Blair Stone Road, Tallahassee, Florida 32399-3400, within 25 days of publication of this notice. A copy of the Plan of Study and proposed binding written agreement may be obtained from the Department at the address listed above.
 Persons whose substantial interests are affected by the above proposed agency action have a right to be heard pursuant to Section 120.57, Florida Statutes, to petition for an administrative determination (hearing) on the proposed action. The petition must contain the information required by Rule 17-17.54(1), Florida Administrative Code, and must be filed (received) with the Department's Office of General Counsel at the above address within 21 days of publication of this notice. A copy of the Petition must also be mailed to the time of filing to Florida Power Corporation, General Counsel's Office, Post Office Box 14842, St. Petersburg, Florida 33723. Failure to file a petition within 21 days constitutes a waiver of any right such person has to an administrative determination pursuant to Section 120.57, F.S. The proposed binding written agreement will be final and effective on the date filed with the Clerk of the Department unless a petition is filed in accordance with this paragraph or unless an affected agency files a written statement of disagreement with the Department pursuant to F.A.C. Rule 17-17.54(1). Upon the timely filing of a petition or statement of disagreement, the agreement will not be effective until final order of the Department following the filing of the petition or until agreement is reached.
 If a petition is filed, the administrative hearing process is designed to formulate agency action. Accordingly, the Department's final action may be different from the proposed Plan of Study or binding written agreement submitted by Florida Power Corporation. Persons whose substantial interests will be affected by any decision of the Department with regard to the proposed binding written agreement have a right to petition to intervene in any proceeding initiated by the filing of a petition as described above. The petition to intervene must conform to the requirements specified in Rule 221-4.010, Florida Administrative Code, and be filed at least 3 days prior to the final hearing with the Division of Administrative Hearings.
 Failure to file a petition for hearing within the allowed time frame constitutes a waiver of any right such person has to request a hearing under Section 120.57, F.S., concerning the proposed agency action.

AWARDS

Locals win OAAU scholarships

ORLANDO — Six Seminole County student-athletes received scholarships from the Orlando Amateur Athletic Association during a banquet held Thursday night at Rosemont Country Club. Picking up awards were Wendy Exely and Kari Schlessinger from Lake Mary and Lake Howell's Sean Middleton and Patricia DePrates. Lake Brantley's Angelo Ramabott received honors while 1990 Oviedo graduate Rob Stock got a grant for the second straight year.

HUNTING

Quota applications available

TALLAHASSEE — Quota hunt applications for sportmen who intend to hunt on Florida's wildlife management areas (WMAs) will be available beginning Saturday, June 1, from county tax collectors, their subagents and most Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission offices.

Quota hunt permits are required of sportmen who take part in regular quota hunts (usually the first nine days of general gun season) and special quota hunts. Special quota hunts are two- to four-day hunts aside from the general gun season which are primarily archery, muzzleloading gun and modern gun hunts.

Hunters are allowed to obtain one regular quota hunt permit and one special hunt permit during the first two phases of the application process. During the first phase, the Commission will issue permits through a computerized random selection process.

Applications must be submitted through a postal delivery service and received by the Commission's Tallahassee office between June 1 and June 11 to be included in the first phase of the selection process.

Hunters must purchase a $25 wildlife management area stamp or a $66 Sportsman's license before submitting a quota hunt permit application.

COLLEGE BASEBALL

Will familiarity help Gators?

GAINESVILLE — Florida, making its second appearance in the College World Series in four years, is certainly not a stranger to its opening game opponent.

The fifth-seeded Gators (49-19) meet No. 4 Louisiana State (51-18) in the double elimination tournament that gets underway today.

Cocher Joe Arnold's team lost four games to their Southeastern Conference rival during the regular season, but soundly defeated the Tigers twice two weeks ago.

Florida has played three of the other seven teams that earned trips to the World Series. Besides having mixed success against LSU, the Gators won two of three games against Long Beach State (44-20) and lost three of four against top-seeded Florida State.

Florida State (57-12) begins play Friday against Fresno State (41-21), the No. 8 seed. No. 2 Clemson (60-8) will meet No. 7 Creighton (49-20) and third-seeded Wichita State (63-12) faces Long Beach State (44-20) on Saturday.

COLLEGE ATHLETICS

SEC opts for Birmingham

DESTIN — Birmingham, Ala., was picked over four other cities as the site of the Southeastern Conference's championship football game beginning in 1992.

The vote Thursday by the presidents of the 12 SEC universities was not unanimous, but conference officials did not disclose the split. The other cities submitting bids were Atlanta, Orlando, Tampa and Memphis, Tenn.

The inaugural game will be played Dec. 5, 1992, at 82,000-seat Legion Field, pitting champions of the conference's new Eastern and Western divisions. The winner will represent the SEC in the Sugar Bowl on New Year's Day.

In other action, the presidents voted to give Florida and Kentucky partial shares of postseason and television football and basketball revenues, respectively, for the fiscal year that ends Aug. 31, even though those programs have been on NCAA probation.

NBA PLAYOFFS

Lakers eliminate Trail Blazers

INGLEWOOD, Calif. — Magic Johnson and Vlade Divac each hit a pair of clutch free throws in the last two minutes and the Los Angeles Lakers beat the Portland Trail Blazers 91-90 Thursday night to move into the NBA Finals against the Chicago Bulls.

The Lakers won the Western Conference series 4-2 with the hard-fought win.

SEMINOLE — Emory Blake isn't concerned with whether his team wins or loses. In fact, during Friday night's spring jamboree at Seminole High School, all Seminole's head coach wants to see from his players is execution and aggressiveness.

The Seminoles will take on Lake Howell in the second quarter after DeLand battles Oviedo in the first, scheduled to kick off at 7 p.m. The losers of each contest will play in the third quarter, the winners in the fourth.

Despite returning just two starters to defense and an entirely new offensive line, Blake looks for good things from his squad.

"We want total execution from them," said Blake. "They (the players) need to go out and play like they've been coached. We want to see what it takes to play a full season of football."

Offensively, Blake will turn to junior Vashaun Williams to lead his potent passing attack which blistered defense throughout the county the past two seasons. Tyrone Williams and Corey Bennett will be two of Williams' primary targets, although tailbacks Bruce McClary and Dale Glielst can catch the ball out of the backfield.

Looking to protect their quarterback is a young offensive line anchored by center Robert Huffman, the only lineman with prior varsity experience. He will be

Rams play Patriots in second half

LAKE MARY — When Doug Peters took over the Lake Mary High School football program in 1989, he said that he needed three years to build it into a power.

So like a scrupulous architect, he carefully designed his blueprints, laying down a solid foundation with youngsters and building upon that with enthusiasm, speed, and skill.

After two years of construction, Peters will get his first glimpse at what the third-year product may look like tonight during the Rams' second-half contest against Lake Brantley. Bishop Moore and Deltona will square off in the first half of the spring jamboree, which begins at 7 p.m.

And Peters is looking forward to witnessing his "creation."

"We're way ahead where we were last year," commented Peters. "We've got the bulk of our lineup returning."

Indeed, Peters does have a wealth of experience, with 16 starters from last year's 5-5 conference runner-up squad suiting up for tonight's game. They are hoping to continue the late success of last season, when the Rams upset Seminole in their season finale and narrowly lost to Dr. Phillips in the Rotary Bowl.

"We're building the season on the fact that we went from last to second place in the conference last season," said Peters, who was 3-7 in his first campaign.

Gator's Dockside widens lead

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — With first place on the line, Gator's Dockside used a five-run fourth inning — highlighted by Jay Crutchfield's home run — to defeat First Baptist 12-3 Thursday evening in the Sanford Recreation Department Men's Softball League at Pinehurst Park.

In other action, the Olive Garden (1-4) defeated AAA Tree Service (0-5) 18-8 in a battle of previously winless teams and Seminole Mobile Radio (4-2) moved into a second place tie with a 9-4 win over Lee's Cabinets (3-4).

After Gator's Dockside broke open a 3-0 game with its five-run rally in the fourth, First Baptist (4-2) tried to come back, scoring three times in the bottom of the fourth to cut the margin to 8-3. But it was as close as they could get as Gator's Dockside (6-0) put the game away with two runs in each of the sixth and seventh innings.

Leading Gator's Dockside were Curtis Tabor (double, two singles, two runs) and Jeff Deen and Derek Pike (three singles and a run each). Lloyd Wall and Jerry Herman doubled, singled and scored a run while Tracey Stitt doubled, singled and scored twice.

Also contributing were Crutchfield (home run, two runs), Barry Hysell (single, run), Frank McEmulty and Brian Rogers (one single each) and Mike Kirby (one run).

Leading First Baptist were Steve Laurence (triple, two singles, one run), Tim Palmer (two singles), Tom Gracey (triple, run), Sidney Brock (single, run), Jordan Beckner, Jack Eltonhead and Head (one single each).

The Olive Garden used a six-run first and a five-run sixth to blast past AAA Tree Service. Brian Spoon paced the 23-hit attack with a double, three singles and three runs scored.

AAA Tree Service	000	012	4	-	8	16
Olive Garden	013	136	2	-	10	23
Lee's Cabinets	202	000	0	-	4	13

Gator's Dockside	201	202	2	-	12	19
First Baptist	000	200	0	-	3	9

Chipping in were John Love (three singles, three runs), Mark Butler (three singles, two runs), Larry Edwards (two singles, three runs), Tony Strleckis and Blake Myton (two singles and two runs each), Scott Edwards and Bill Mahoney (a pair of singles and a run each), Chris Wicks (single, run), Derek Jones and Rick Thomas (one single each) and Steve Wall (run scored).

Brantley Brumley and Rick Carter each hit three singles for AAA Tree Service with Brumley scoring two runs. Other contributors were Larry Smith and Clayton Nichols (two singles and two runs each), Tim Pete and Miguel Soastre (two singles each), Ron Carter (single, two runs) and Randall Rawlings (single).

Seminole Mobile Radio came back from a 4-1 deficit to notch their fourth win of the season and remain two games behind Gator's Dockside.

Leading Seminole Mobile Radio were Ted Freycent (three singles), Jeff Kappart (triple, single, run) and John Hewitt (triple, single). Other contributors include Dave Milliron (two singles, three runs), Gary Littrel (two singles, two runs), Greg Wells (double), Jeff Wilson and Paul Bracker (single and a run each), Jim Speuk (single) and Doug Burleson (run).

Lee's Cabinets was led by Rick Kidd (double, three singles, two runs scored), Allen Peterson (two singles), Bubba Split (two-run home run), Tony Davis (double), Shannon Split (single, run) and Russell Hollomon, Mark Scheider, Craig Appel and Duane Lee (one single each).

Chris Wicks contributed a single and a run scored to help Olive Garden to its first win of the season, an 18-8 decision over AAA Tree Service.

Fred's Lawn Service creates three-way tie for first

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — Fred's Lawn Service knocked off front-running HarCar 16-9 Tuesday night at Pinehurst Park to create a three-way tie for first place in the Sanford Recreation Department Ladies Softball League.

In the other two games, Greenleaf Landscaping clipped Bikini Beach 14-2 and Beer: 30 rallied to edge Intergalactic 9-8 in eight innings. Fred's Lawn Service, HarCar and Greenleaf Landscaping are all 4-2, a game ahead of Intergalactic (3-3) and two games up on Beer: 30 (2-4). Bikini Beach is now 1-5.

Next Tuesday, Beer: 30 will play Bikini Beach at 6:30 p.m., HarCar takes on Intergalactic at 7:30 p.m. and Greenleaf Landscaping squares off against Fred's Lawn Service at 8:30 p.m.

HarCar appeared on its way to its fifth win when it jumped out to a 9-3 lead after two innings. But HarCar managed only four more baserunners while Fred's Lawn Service exploded for 13 runs, eight in the fourth inning.

Jo Sanders led the 20-hit attack of Fred's Lawn Service with four singles and three runs scored. Rose Williams added a double, three singles and two runs scored while Patrice Brown contributed two singles and four runs scored.

Also chipping in were Teresa Dees (two singles, one run), Nicey Wheeler (single, two runs), Mary Hick, Wanda Burke, Maria Bryant and Kaudice Groom (each with a single and a run) and Tammy Bailey, Lisa Thompson and Edith Chester (one single each).

Terri Mannell HarCar's 13-hit offense with a home run, double, single and two runs scored. Theresa Walberger and Michelle Widener each had two singles and a run scored while Renee Lanza singled and scored two runs.

Other contributors were Jackie Suggs and Sue Sojka (a single and run scored each), Dawn McCall (double), Shelly Wilson and Abby DeAlba (one single each) and Jan Sanislow (one run).

Five-run first and fourth innings highlighted Greenleaf Landscaping's rout of Bikini Beach.

Leading Greenleaf Landscaping were Annette Brown (double, two singles, three runs), Shelly Harley (two singles, three runs), Cheri Peterson (home run, two runs) and Sue Mangham (double, single, two runs).

Also contributing were Pam Brown (double, single, one run), Paula Songer (double, run), Antonia Burrs (single, run), Gwen Killingsworth and Michelle Cooke (one single each) and Wanda Killingsworth (one run).

For Bikini Beach, Carol Dick doubled and scored a run while April Rivers singled and scored a run. Lynn Moore added two singles, Christin Stapp doubled and Lori Poe and Becky Beckner each hit a single.

In the nightcap, Intergalactic built an 8-3 lead over Beer: 30 through four innings. But just as HarCar suddenly went cold in the evening's first game, Intergalactic managed just four base runners the rest of the game, none of which advanced past third base.

Meanwhile, Beer: 30 pushed across three runs in the bottom of the fifth and added two more in the seventh to send the game into extra innings. In the bottom of the eighth, Ida White led off with a single and came around to score Marie Byrd's fourth hit of the game.

Byrd finished with a pair of triples, a pair of singles and one run to lead the Beer: 30 19-hit offensive. Carol Tausher and Belinda Anderson each had two singles and two runs. Denise Byrd added three singles while Andrea Grant singled twice and scored once.

Also chipping in were Shelly Jackson, Lisa Correa and White (each with a single and a run) and Mildred Bailey, Linda Byrd and Nellie Gross (one single apiece).

Sally Forst's double, single and two runs scored led Intergalactic. Diana Sowers added two singles and two runs. Sandy Reid had a double, single and one run. Renee Carter singled twice and scored once while Marybeth McCullough singled once and scored twice. Judy Mullin doubled and singled, Janet Morris singled twice and Sue McRae singled once.

Phone machine messages frustrate man

DEAR ABBY: I have a telephone answering machine. It is very handy, but sometimes it's a source of great frustration when someone dials a wrong number and leaves a message.

For example, the following message was left on my machine: "Your daughter, Judy, was in a minor automobile accident. Please pick her up at the suburban police station."

Well, I do not have a daughter named Judy so I called the suburban police station and suggested that they call Judy's parents and dial carefully next time.

Last week, an elderly woman left the following message: "Doctor, I'm sorry I have to cancel my appointment..." Then she went on and on, describing all her symptoms and medications until my entire tape ran out.

I also got this message from a young man in a hurry: "Hi, Joe, dis is Pete. We're gonna have football practice at Baldwin Park. Call da udder guys and tell em!"

Last night I received the following message: "Hi, Gloria! We're leaving right now. Please be ready for a change, OK?" Bang! (I hope Gloria was ready for a change.)

DEAR WRONG GUY: Thanks for reminding all the folks out there to dial very carefully.

DEAR ABBY: Some time ago, you had an article in your column titled "Only in America." It poked fun at Americans who buy everything they wear and use from some foreign country. I think Americans need to be reminded to buy American.

"He drove his German car made of Swedish steel and interior of Argentine leather to a gasoline station, where he filled up with Arab oil shipped in a Liberian tanker and bought two French tires, composed of rubber from Sri Lanka."

"At home, he dropped his Moroccan briefcase, hung up his Scottish tweed wool coat, removed his Italian shoes and Egyptian cotton shirt, then donned a Hong Kong robe and matching slippers from Taiwan.

"More comfortable now, he poured a cup of hot Brazilian coffee into an English coffee mug, set a Mexican placemat on an Irish linen tablecloth atop a Danish table varnished with linseed oil from India. Then he filled his Austrian pipe with Turkish tobacco, lit it, and picked up a Japanese ballpoint pen with which he wrote a letter to his congressman demanding to know why the United States has an unfavorable balance of trade."

REFLECTIONS

Graduation... is it a beginning, an ending, or possibly, a step along the way?

Graduation is a beginning... of life as a young adult, a step along the way... a beginning of new friendships and fresh concepts, of higher education or a fulfilling occupation. Certainly, graduation is a beginning.

Graduation may also bring endings... to familiar surroundings and comfortable routines, to old friendships; a setting aside of childhood fears and second-hand ideas. Yes, graduation may signify endings.

Perhaps, graduation is a significant step along the way... a preparatory pause... a fork in the road. Indeed, the word itself means a gradual transition, a step on life's ladder... a time to remember the past, to ponder the present, and to dream of the future.

Whatever graduation means to you, feel proud of your accomplishment, and praise God for providing you with strength and guidance. Worship Him regularly, so that you may continue to receive His direction during this most meaningful time in your life.

CONGRATULATIONS GRADUATE!

IN BRIEF

Senior day celebrated

LAKE MARY — First Baptist Church Markham Woods, 5400 Markham Woods Rd., will celebrate High School Senior Day in honor of the following graduating seniors: Sunshine Driscoll, M. Dora High School; Jim Nelson, Lake Mary High School; Rebecca Brown, M. Dora High School; Jennifer Thompson, M. Dora High School; and Kevin Vincent, Lake Mary High School. Worship services will be held at 10:45 a.m. and 7 p.m. Graduating seniors will be dressed in cap and gown and will be recognized in the morning worship hour. Rev. Todd Pope, the youth pastor, will bring the morning message, and Gerald Robinson, financial consultant, author and lecturer, will bring the evening message. The evening service will include an awards presentation to Avoca Club members who have achieved honors from their work during the year. For information, call 333-2086.

'Signs of Glory' in concert

DELTONA — The "Signs of Glory," a deaf and hearing ensemble from Tennessee Temple University will present a concert of sacred music at 7 p.m. Sunday at First Baptist Church, 1200 Providence Blvd., Deltona. The lyrics of the music will be interpreted by the deaf students, using the deaf sign language. The public is cordially invited to attend. Nurseries are in operation for small children. For more information or transportation please call the church office at 574-1911.

St. Peter's to honor graduates

LAKE MARY — St. Peter's Episcopal Church, 700 Rinehart Road, will honor graduating high school seniors during the 9 a.m. service of Holy Communion. Those honored will be Devin Herbert, Kevin Millonig and Jenny VanLooven. All are invited to attend this service and a coffee with light refreshments following the service. St. Peter's has changed its schedule for the months of June, July and August. There is only one service on Sunday at 9 a.m. and a service of Holy Communion also on Wednesdays at 7 p.m. During the Sunday service, nursery care is provided and elementary school aged children will attend Children's Church in the education wing. Christian Education for all ages will resume on Sept. 8. "Jesus Calls: Come Follow!" is the theme for the Vacation Bible School beginning July 29. Newcomers and those interested are welcome at any of these events. For information, please call 444-LORD.

Episcopal church continues Bible Study

SANFORD — Holy Cross Episcopal Church, 410 Magnolia Ave., will continue its program of Bible Study through the summer months with both the morning and evening groups meeting. A study of the Gospel according to St. Mark will begin June 12 at 10:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. This will be a "round-table" sharing and reflection led by Bob Crowe. Classes will meet in the Whitner Lounge, formerly called the Parish Hall Lounge. Mark's Gospel is the focus of our Sunday readings during this liturgical year, so our study will enhance our hearing the Gospel on Sundays. Please come join us. The completion of the study of The Acts of the Apostles will be held Wednesday.

Graduates to be presented with Bibles

SANFORD — The First Presbyterian Church, Sanford, will honor its graduating seniors with the presentation of Bibles on the 10 a.m. Sunday morning worship service. This group has been very active since their freshman year, under the guidance of Art Woodruff and Glenn Carter, and been involved in the life of the church. Please come and show your appreciation and support as they now take a "leap of faith" into life.

Let us know what's going on

The Sanford Herald welcomes news about church activities and news for publication in the Religion page each Friday. The following suggestions are recommended to expedite publication: 1. All items should be typed or written legibly and include the name of a person who can be contacted and a daytime phone number. 2. The deadline is 11 a.m. Wednesday before publication. There is no charge for publication.

Will the real Jesus please stand?

By REV. JEFF KRALL

What an exciting time to be a Christian, even the youngest in the Lord can sense the urgency of the hour. It's time for the Body of Christ to come out of our religious closets and proclaim with boldness the gospel of the kingdom to a dark world and a sleeping church.

It is also a time of separation. Jesus said that as the wheat sprouted into maturity that the tares would be more apparent. It's as Christians grow up in Christ that the religious crowd sticks out like a sore thumb.

Just as John the Baptist came to prepare the religious world for Jesus at his first coming, even now the spirit of Elijah rests on His servants to prepare His people for His second coming.

The Lord is cutting away everything that is based on religion and works; the axe is laid to the root of the tree of knowledge, only those Christians who are truly planted in the tree of life (Jesus Himself) will qualify as His bride.

We must remember that accepting the Christian religion does not qualify you for salvation. It is the acceptance and reception of the person of Jesus

We must remember that accepting the Christian religion does not qualify you for salvation.

-Rev. Jeff Krall

Christ that qualifies us for salvation.

That brings us to a crucial issue in the church today. What Jesus is being presented to us? This is of the utmost importance because Jesus warned us Himself that many would come that He was the Christ yet still deceive many.

So who is the real Jesus Christ? Is He some benevolent social do-gooder, is He a nice man who taught us how to be good moral people who vote

Republican, or is He "one of the ways" like our friendly neighborhood cults describe Him.

You and I could discuss many ways of recognizing the real Jesus, but let me touch on a few controversial issues. They are controversial today because they were controversial when Jesus walked among the religious elite of His day.

The real Jesus causes us to worship Him (Luke 19:37), real heartfelt, audible, demonstrative worship which is usually squeaked or put in a box by those who don't know the real Jesus.

The real Jesus never changes (Hebrews 13:8). If you are in a religious institution that is changing its moral standards with the world's moieties, your leaders' feet have slipped off the rock. You know it and so do they. They are afraid of losing parishioners so they acquiesce to the world's standards instead of standing on God's. They are lacking spiritual backbone, pray for them, but don't follow them.

The real Jesus has power (2 Timothy 3:5). Don't try to explain this away as some first century phenomenon. Everywhere in the real world where the real Jesus is lifted up He manifests Himself in power, not just in word.

There are many other ways to determine if we are following the real Jesus, but space is prohibiting further detail. Let's work together as we wait for "This Same Jesus" (Acts 1:11), to return for His church. It is my sincere prayer that each of you will know the real Jesus!

The Rev. Jeff Krall is pastor of the Family Worship Center, 2451 Airport Blvd., Sanford.

Abundant Life Christian Fellowship organized as Mission Church of EPC

LAKE MARY — Abundant Life Christian Fellowship, 232 Seminole Ave., will be organized Sunday, June 9, as a Mission Church of the Evangelical Presbyterian Church, according to the Rev. Robert T. Wilbur, pastor.

Representatives of that denomination will be present to enroll the charter members, officially constitute the church and celebrate Holy Communion.

The Rev. Woody Johnson of Christ Covenant EPC in Tampa will bring the message.

Special music is being prepared for the occasion.

Visitors are cordially invited to attend the event, which will be held at 4 p.m. in the Lake Mary Dance Academy, Suite 205, Driftwood Village, 549 W. Lake Mary Blvd.

Rev. Robert Wilbur

A food and fellowship hour will follow. For more information, call the Rev. Bob Wilbur, pastor, at 323-2436.

God bless Rev. Davis

Sanford First United Methodist Church, and the community at large, is losing a definite asset. The Rev. Jeanne Davis will move her ministry responsibilities to the Geneva First United Methodist Church. Her last service will be held at the church June 9, with a reception in her honor immediately following the 11 a.m. service in Fellowship Hall for those who want to wish her a personal "keep in touch."

Lay Ministry, Family Life co-sponsor conference

WINTER PARK — How can families use "broken moments" to strengthen their relationships and their faith?

How do average Catholics make their faith work in daily life?

How can the average Catholic parish become an effective evangelizing community?

In a decade when personal faith and organized religion are constantly challenged, Father Patrick Brennan — pastor, preacher, and author — has captured a vision of what Catholics, their families and their parishes can become.

"Evangelization is the proclamation of the gospel, to Christians and non-Christians, in an attempt to awaken and/or nourish faith, according to the Father Brennan. "It also includes any activity directed toward the building up of the church and the transformation of the world toward the gospel and the will of God."

The Orlando diocese's Lay Ministry Office and Family Life Office are co-sponsoring a conference next month on "The Evangelizing Community: Reclaiming the Parish."

The three-day conference led by Father Brennan is scheduled for June 10 through June 12, at St. Margaret Mary Parish Center, Winter Park.

Registration will be accepted for all or any of the three days. Registration for the entire conference is $30 and $15 for one-day registration. Pre-registered groups of six or more from the same parish are entitled to a $5 per person discount.

IN BRIEF

Scotland could be 'spiritual superpower'

EDINBURGH, Scotland — In Scotland for a three-city crusade, evangelist Billy Graham said the country could be a "spiritual superpower" in a newly reorganizing Europe.

Graham was scheduled to preach seven times at three stadiums, at Edinburgh, Aberdeen and Glasgow, between May 25 and June 6. Beforehand, he told the general assembly of the Church of Scotland:

"From this little country could come the beginnings of spiritual renewal and revival that the world so desperately needs, and I believe, longs for."

Presbyterians run for moderator

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Two nominees are in the running to become moderator of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) at its general assembly June 4-13 in Baltimore.

They are the Rev. Herbert Valentine of Baltimore and the Rev. William Gillespie of St. Louis. A previously announced nominee, the Rev. John A. Huffman of Newport Beach, Calif., has withdrawn, citing his daughter's battle with cancer.

Catholic Conference in dispute

WASHINGTON — The U.S. Catholic Conference has disputed a report in Variety, a Hollywood trade paper, that the National Council of Churches and U.S. Catholic Conference had given "thumbs up" to the new NC-17 movie rating.

Henry Herz, director of the USCC Office for Film and Broadcasting, said it continues "to regard NC-17 as no more than a new label for X-rated fare." He urged theaters that refused to show X-rated movies to also shun those rated NC-17.

'Public voice' in need of strengthening

NEW YORK — The Rev. Joan Brown Campbell, installed as general secretary of the national Council of Churches, said it needs to strengthen its influence as a "public voice and a witness to the society in which we live."

Ma. Campbell, the first clergywoman to hold the top administrative post in the organization of most major Protestant and Eastern Orthodox denominations, said its effectiveness requires active involvement of member churches.

She told a news conference that the council's work on international issues is important, but she wants greater attention to domestic issues directly affecting people's lives.

New council formed

WASHINGTON — American Indians and native Alaskan Christians of seven denominations have formed a new Council of Native American Ministries and decided to affiliate it with the National Council of Churches.

The new group will serve as an advocacy or lobbying agency on legislative matters affecting Indians and native Alaskans.

Chairman of the new council is the Rev. Lawrence Hart, a Menonite who is director of community services for the Cheyenne Cultural Center in Clinton, Okla.

Church dismisses some employees

CHICAGO — Facing another budgetary shortfall, the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America has dismissed 16 headquarters employees and cut various programs to reduce its 1991 spending by $5.2 million to $90.3 million.

"This is a time of great pain for those affected by these cuts, for those who remain at work in the churchwide office and for others throughout this church," said ELCA Bishop Herbert W. Childstrom.

That trims the number employed by the denomination's national organization to 506.

Program cuts pared grants for campus ministry, colleges, seminaries and continuing education centers and reduced or eliminated various functions in several departments.

Jewish stir seen to renew fellowship

By GEORGE W. SCHMIDT, AP Religion Writer

In childhood, he had religious instruction. But in other fields, he went on to get advanced education. He had much secular learning, but only a child's impression of religion. He could talk knowledgeably of many things, except God.

That's the case among many Americans left with only childish notions of faith, and the attention was cited at a national meeting of rabbis as a cause of an increased and growing preoccupation with God among Jews.

"They're much more interested in God talk, in what they believe about God and their relationship to God," said Rabbi Elliot N. Dorff of the University of Judaism in Los Angeles.

Noting previous concentration on social concerns, he said, "More and more Jews are discovering that secular Jewish identity is not enough and that one has to probe the spiritual resources of Judaism."

The trend keyed a special session of a recent meeting in Klamath Falls, N.Y., of the Rabbinical Assembly, representing Conservative Judaism, and was affirmed by numerous rabbis from across the country.

"God is becoming a hot topic," said Rabbi David J. Wolfe, also of Los Angeles University of Judaism and who in the past year has lectured in 100 communities on the theme.

Rabbi Randall Konigsberg of Orlando, Fla., said "American Jews for many years depended on Israel and the Holocaust for their Jewishness" but "young Jews today are looking for a belief in God."

The concept of Jewishness can go beyond belief in God, since Judaism also is a historic culture of a land — Israel — of Hebrew language and persecutions. "Many Jews have gotten so detached from belief in God that they don't know what they believe about him or what motivates Jewish social concerns," Dorff said. But they're now refocusing on that catalyzing center, he added.

"They've realized they were losing a lot of the richness of Judaism by not exploring their own beliefs about God and the relationship of those beliefs to Jewishness," he said.

"Jews have become more serious about Judaism. They are rediscovering its roots in God as adults."
