By Paul Schaefer Herald Staff Writer

School lunchrooms in Seminole County will continue to be operated by the district for the 1986-87 school year, as the result of action taken by the county's school board Wednesday night.

A standing room only crowd, comprised mostly of district food service employees, attended the meeting to hear Superintendent Robert Hughes recommendation, at the conclusion of the two hour, emotion-charged meeting.

The meeting was billed by many as a showdown between the food service employees and school board member Bill Kroll, who has steadfastly argued that further research is needed

Subcommittee Votes To Bar Aid To Marcos

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Senate, adding to congressional momentum for a cutoff of U.S. aid to the Philippines, overwhelmingly approved a resolution declaring that President Ferdinand Marcos is holding office in defiance of his people. in the House, Rep. Stephen Solarz, D-N.Y., predicted today his Asian and Pacific Affairs subcommittee will approve legislation by late af-ternoon that would withhold U.S. aid from the Marcos regime. The bill would channel humanitarian and economic aid to private Philippine groups while putting military aid into an "escrow account" to await Marcos's departure.

The Senate's non-binding resolution, approved on an 85-9 vote Wednesday, condemned the Feb. 7 presidential election in the Philippines as a fraud. The resolution expresses the Senate's sentiments, but carries no sanctions.

Passage of the measure came after Secretary of State George Shultz warned the Senate Budget Committee that a moratorium on American ald to the Philippines would be remature. 'We shouldn't be doing anything moment, Shuffz said. "We have to be very much in favor of democracy and freedom and we'll stick to our principles. But, as I say, we need to do it with care." Shultz also said the administration puts its stake in democracy in the Philippines "over and above" two key military installations there. But State Department officials said Shultz was not hinting at giving up the bases. The Senate resolution stated that the Philippines elections were marred "by such widespread fraud that they cannot be considered a fair reflection of the will of the people of the Philippines." House Speaker Thomas O'Neill. D-Mass., said he would support a similar resolution in the House and would "promptly" send it to the floor for a vote if reported out by the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

In Manila, Soviet Ambassador Vadim Shabalin congratulated Marcos while presenting his diplomatte credentials Wednesday. Marcos responded by saying he favored expanded trade with the Soviet Union.

Sanford Gets $650,000 Grant

By Karen Tailey Herald Staff Writer

Sanford learned Wednesday the comprehensive effort its commissioners, staff and citizens undertook earlier this winter has paid off with a $650,000 community revitalization grant.

The city "is eestatic," it was able to successfully apply for the Florida Department of Community Affairs grant. Director of Administrative Services Kim Smith said today. "A lot of people worked long and hard so that others would benefit. We're very excited the effort was a success."

The funding will be used to rehabilitate approximately 180 homes located within the confines of Orange and Locust Avenues and 7th and 12th

The city also hopes to perpetuate the grant by distributing it through low interest loans, in addition to outright

When the city decided in late November to seek grant, it had less than a month to compile and submit a complex and comprehensive application.

With assistance from the Seminole member citizens advisory board, the application was sent off one day prior to the state's Dec. 23 cut off date.

Also, according to Ms. Smith, the community affairs department has its own "stringent requirements" for management of the grant.

The city, she said, "must develop a very defined administrative process" to comply with the agency's mandates.

She called these requirements "rigid. but well worth it. I'm sure we'll be able to adhere them."

Next week, community affairs staff will come to Sanford to survey the target area and, in April, city representatives will go to the agency's Tampa headquarters to work out a High School football team and a nine timetable for receipt and distribution of the grant, Ms. Smith said, "Once all the paperwork has been completed, we hope to have the funding in hand sometime this fall.

Revised GNP Figures Decrease From Earlier Official Estimates

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Revised figures for the gross national product in the fourth quarter of 1985 show the U.S. economy grew by only 1.2 percent in the three month period, the government announced today.

Figures released by the Commerce Department's Bureau of Economic Analysis for the October-to-December period declined 1.2 percentage points from a prelimary estimate of 2.4 percent economic growth.

Real GNP for all of 1985 remained at 2.3 percent, the analysts said.

The revision reflected a sharply increased trade deficit and sharply declining inventories toward the end of 1985.

Meese: Revamp Antitrust Laws

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Critics of an administration move to overhaul the nation's antitrust laws say more mergers and bigger companies will not solve the U.S. trade problems abroad and could harm consumers at home.

The administration sent Attorney General Edwin Meese. Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige and budget director James Miller to Congress Wednesday to ask for a revamping of federal antitrust law, opening the drive for President Reagan's 1986 legislative "wish list."

Included in the five-part proposal to overhaul longstanding anti-monopoly statutes, is a proposal meant to cool protectionist fever on Capitol Hill and let the president exempt U.S. companies battered by foreign imports for up to five years.

Nader Calls For Insurance Reform

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Consumer advocate Ralph Nader, urging Congress to lift the exemption from antitrust laws enjoyed by insurance companies, blamed the industry for soaring premiums and scarce coverage.

In testimony before the Senate Commerce Committee Wednesday. Nader disputed claims that insurance carriers are losing money, calling the industry "a sacred cow feeding the public a line of bull."

But industry spokesmen and others blamed the insurance "crisis" on an unusually severe "cyclical downturn in the insurance market" and the enormous judgments awarded by courts to claimants.

Murder Said Political Reprisal

GLENDALE, Calif. (UPI) - An executive of a Filipino-American newspaper opposed to Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos was shot to death one day after receiving a death-threat letter.

The death of Oscar Salvatierra, 41, marketing director for The Philippine News, sparked an outery from Alex Esclamedo, publisher of the San Francisco-based weekly with a circulation of about 100,000. He blamed the slaying on the recently re-elected Marcos regime.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Petition Filed To Void Election: Halt Marcos' Inauguration

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) - Civil rights lawyers asked the Supreme Court today to halt the inauguration of President Ferdinand Marcos and nullify the National Assembly proclamation awarding him a victory in the disputed presidential election.

The lawyers, headed by Attorney Francisco Chavez, filed a petition with the court arguing the assembly had 'grossly violated a public right, the right of the people to have their votes properly counted."

Attorney Juan David, a noted constitutional expert, urged the nation's highest tribunal to order National Assembly Speaker Nicanor Yniguez to submit for examination 90 of the 140 ballot tally sheets from provincial, city and district board canvassers questioned by the opposition.

The National Assembly Saturday proclaimed Marcos, 68, the winner over opposition leader Corazon Aquino in the controversial Feb. 7 election. Opposition lawmakers walked out on the assembly vote counting.

Iraq Stalls Iranian Drive

BAGHDAD (UPI) Iraq pounded an Iranian drive into the strategic Faw Peninsula and 1 ut its third and fourth army on alert in readiness for an anticipated Iranian offensive along the Tigris River, diplomats and official reports said

Diplomatic sources said earlier that Iranians have concentrated about 400,000 troops on the marshes along the east bank of the river.

Iraqi military sources were quoted recently as saying Baghdad thinks the expected attack through the Tigris marshes will be much bigger than the attack on Faw, making the Faw offensive look like a diversionary tactic.

Iran's forces launched their latest offensive Feb. 9 in a bid to capture the Faw Peninsula, near Kuwait, and have since occupied the Iraqi port of Faw and hold nearly 300 square miles of Iraqi soil.

Botha Agrees To Meet With Tutu

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) - President Pieter Botha agreed today to meet for the first time with Bishop Desmond Tutu, who announced he would tell Botha the government's harsh measures to calm unrest were making things worse.

South African Council of Churches leader Christian Beyers Naude told reporters Botha agreed to the meeting in the President's Cape Town residence in an early morning telephone call today.

Botha has never acknowledged the 1984 Nobel Peace Prize awarded Tutu and refused to meet him last year when Tutu requested an interview.

Police Arrest Key Opponents

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) - Police today placed more opposition leaders under house arrest and surrounded their headquarters as part of a continuing crackdown on a petition drive for direct presidential elections.

In what they described as a preventive measure, police placed opposition New Korea Democratic Party (NKDP) President Rep. Lee Min-woo and other party officials under house arrest.

Teenager Resentenced

Although an appeal court order a reduction of sentence for a teenager because his 30-year sentence exceeded the law, the judge managed to sentenced him for armed robbery and attempted rape to 18 years, the maximum prison time allowed and more than twice the recommended sentence.

Resentenced by Circuit Judge Robert B. McGregor was Charles Hayes Jr., 19, of Eustis. Hayes, who pleaded guilty to robbery and attempted sexual assault, was originally sentenced in July 1985 to 30 years followed by a lifetime of probation, included in that sentence was a concurrent 3-year term for armed robbery. The 5th District Court of Appeal. however, ruled that 30 years was twice the limit allowed by statute for attempted sexual battery and ordered McGregor to resentence Hayes.

The recommended sentence was 51/2 to 7 years.

McGergor, however, exceeded the guideline recommendation and sentenced Haves Friday to 15 years to be served after 3 years for the robbery. He also ordered a lifetime of probation. McGregor cited Haves' criminal activities and the emotional trauma he caused to his victim as reasons for exceeding the guideline but staying within the state statute. McGregor said Hayes preyed on a lone, unprotected woman.

Hayes was arrested Nov. 5. 1984, after robbing the One-Stop store on State Road 46 west of Sanford. He had entered the store armed with a blue-steel revolver, took money from the cash register then tried to rape the clerk. He was scared off by someone outside the store.

The incident occurred during the last day of a four-day crime spree by Haves in Lake and Seminole counties.

Hayes has already been sentenced in Lake County to 7 years for armed robbery and burglary. The 18 years of consecutive sentence will not begin until after Hayes serves the 7-year sentence, McGergor ruled.

Bad Intelligence =Bad Judgment

Israel's intelligence information was wrong. and the Israeli government is making no attempt to hide it. "We went fishing, and we didn't catch fish," a senior official told the press. "The people we thought would be on board were not there."

And so Israel sent the Libyan aircraft it had intercepted — a civilian executive jet with seven Syrian politicians and two Lebanese military officials on board — back on its way to Damascus. Whatever terrorists Israeli intelligence thought would be captured are still at large, and the applause Israel expected from the world was just as noticeable for its absence. The price of that failure to achieve its ends was sharp international criticism of the means Israel was willing to employ, and Israel came out of it none the better for it.

Any interception of another country's civilian aircraft is a breach of international law - even the United States' interception of the Egyptian craft carrying the Achille Lauro hijackers to Libya last October. If the latter incident seemed a special case — in which we were acting at the moment of crisis and with exact knowledge of who was on board and what crime they had committed — the Israeli fiasco demonstrates just how slippery and dangerous that particular slope can get.

The Israelis acted months after the fact and with considerable less certainty of information. At what point do nations start taking it upon themselves to force down aircraft about which they have only the slimmest of suspicions, detaining passengers whose supposed crimes are only vaguely defined? If the Israelis can do it, why not the Libyans. the Cubans, the Iranians or the Russians?

It is not the American success in bringing the Achille Lauro's hijackers to justice that should be allowed to set the international precedent, but the Israeli failure to do the same for those who mastermined that and other acts of terrorism. There is a grave danger to the civilized world if this international law becomes negotiable, and the danger was palpable at a remote Israeli airport where nine Syrian and Lebanase passengers and three Libvan crew members were detained for seven hours. That nothing worse was precipitated by the incident is, in too large part, a matter of luck. "We did not achieve our aim," Defense Minister Yitzhak Rabin told the Israeli parliament that night. But the error was much worse than that.

It's All It Takes

"Just a pinch between the cheek and gum is all it takes," says the television cowboy pitching smokeless tobacco. He's more right than he knows. Medical research shows that use of smokeless tobacco - snuff and chewing tobacco - strongly contributes to the risk of developing cancers of the mouth and throat. The nicotine in smokeless tobacco also has the same systemic affects as that in cigarettes, which are a leading factor in heart and artery disease. Smokeless tobacco is not a safe way around the health dangers of cigarettes.

Unfortunately, chewing tobacco and snuff are now enjoying something of a renaissance. particularly among the young. According to a recent estimate by a panel of the National Institute of Health, 10 million Americans use smokeless tobacco, a third of whom are under 21. That's why Congress is on the right road now with legislation to require health warnings on smokeless tobacco products.

Both the House and Senate have passed bills requiring labels, but the House bill goes too far by also banning broadcast advertising of smokeless tobacco products. There's no doubt that, in a society where few ole models, apart from baseball players, exist for the use of chewing tobacco, television and radio ads are a prime method of introducing the young to the habit. But if smokeless tobacco ads can be prohibited, why not beer and wine ads, or ads for anything else that someone considers dangerous or offensive?

Taken alone, the requirement for warnings of the cancer risks of smokeless tobacco won't put the cuspidor back in the museum, but it is as far as an open society ought to go.

Women's Movement At New Threshold

decay and despair are wrong.

While the so-called sexual revolution is kaput. there is ongoing affirmation of the women's movement as a growing force for social change. As I see it, like life itself, the movement has its own passages.

The first took place within us as individual women. That was when our sense of entitlement was first awakened. We are entitled to vote, we said, entitled to equal opportunity and equal options in the direction of our lives. We are entitled to equal rights and to identities as

Next, we set about convincing men of the justice of our self-proclaimed entitlements. Millions of men have been persuaded to support us. They are sensitized to our desires for personhood and our yearnings to test the limits of our abilities.

Now, we are on the threshold of a third stage: changing institutions to reflect our goals.

In a newspaper interview last fall, Gloria Steinem. Ms. magazine editor, said that women are just beginning to have an impact on institutions. "We now have major support for equal pay, which we didn't have 10 years ago," she said. "but we don't have equal pay. We have the idea of shared parenthood, but we don't have the institutional changes that would make shared parenthood possible."

Those who say the women's movement is in have the institutional changes that would make ecay and despair are wrong.

In the short time since her comments. however, we have seen significant headway for pay equity with the settlement of the Washington state case. Some 35,000 state workers, mostly women, will receive pay raises totaling $106 million by 1992. The raises are an earnest effort to correct sex-based wage discrimination in jobs equivalent in value to higher-paid positions held by men.

Elsewhere, 22 states are working to adjust pay gaps or are initiating studies to determine the extent of sex-based wage discrimination.

Steinem's second point about shared parenthood is likewise an idea corporate institutions are beginning to recognize. One study showed that in 1980 only 8.6 percent of major businesses offered paternity leave, whereas now more than a third give men that option.

The number of firms providing some kind of child-care aid for working mothers has tripled since 1982, according to the Department of Health and Human Services.

Working women are being recognized by the corporate world in other ways too. Thirty percent of today's managerial employees are women and the number of women running the fastest-growing businesses is steadily, if slowly,

I see reponses to the women's movement changing other institutions as well. It wasn't long ago that hospitals didn't allow fathers a role in the birth experience. Now, with the popularity of shared birth, husbands cohabit the delivery

The insurance industry has likewise been affected. Five states adopted unisex rate schedules for auto insurance, and Montana is the first state to require equal rates for men and women in all kinds of insurance.

More police departments are making arrests in cases of domestic violence in a national crackdown on wife abuse, according to a new study by the Crime Control Institute.

Columbia University admitted women undergraduates for the first time three years ago. Last month, a woman, Barbara Aronstein Black, was named dean of the law school.

This is not to say that women still don't have a long way to go to gain complete equality. Yet 1 think we are at the beginning, not the end, of a far-reaching evolution. Those who can't see that can't see the forest for a few failen trees. Granted, the sexual revolution is burning out. But that never was the essence of the women's movement. Its truth goes marching on.

Close-up Of The Contras

Who exactly are the Nicaraguan contras? Terrorists, as the Sandinista regime in Managua charges? Or "freedom fighters," as the Reagan administration claims?

The question is at the heart of Christopher Dickey's "With the Contras." If the book doesn't come right out with a definitive answer, it does offer a wealth of evidence from which the reading public can draw conclusions of its own.

Dickey is a Washington Post correspondent whose beat from 1980 through 1983 was Central America. As such, he was witness to the development of the contrarrevolucion against the Sandinistas.

The book covers its beginnings among remnants of the defeated Somoza National Guard, subsequent American pre-emption and efforts to shape an effective fighting force, infighting and upheavals in the contra leadership and growing public-relations problems as the dirtier aspects of their war became public knowledge.

All that is prologue and epilogue, however, to six days Dickey spent in the field with the contra force of "Suicida," a leader given his nom de guerre by followers who said he led them into situations from which no one should expect to get out alive.

Suicida was the pride of the contra command at the time. Striking into northwestern Nicaragua from bases in Honduras. he was inflicting real damage on the Sandinistas while otherwise the war was mostly one of words.

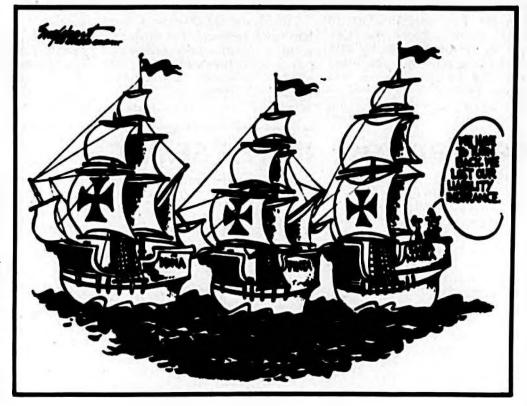

Suicida's reputation turned out to be deserved, as Dickey discovered in accompanying a column advancing on the town of Jalapa that ended in a pitched battle with Sandinista

More harrowing was the subsequent withdrawal. After an exhausting forced march, they reached the Poteca River. On the other side. Honduras and safety:

"And then the fighting started. There was a burst from one of the FALs. A pause. The clatter of fire from behind. An M-60 answered. The Sandinistas had followed us ... I had found a refuge behind a little dip in the ground near a deserted shack ... I lay down totally exposed. unable to go farther, in the ash of a burned garden plot. My only thought was the rhythm of my labored breathing and the expectation of the shot that would kill me." That shot was never fired. The Sandinistas broke off the engage-

The experience did more than convince Dickey that the reputation of these contras as a fighting force was deserved. Talks with Sulcida's men indicated there also was substance to the reports of brutality.

Locals Cleaning Up

WASHINGTON (NEA) - Like hundreds of other communities throughout the country, the town of Pelham. Ala., has received conflicting signals from the federal government when seeking guidance on waste-water treatment requirements.

A burgeoning suburb just south of Birmingham, Ala., Pelham must comply with several federal laws enacted during the past 15 years establishing national water quality requirements and fixing a inid-1988 deadline for compliance with those stringent standards.

That means the water carrying municipal wastes from residential. commercial and industrial users must be treated to eliminate polluted discharges into natural waterways that eventually should be clean enough for fishing and swimming.

Both the Federal Water Pollution Control Act of 1972 and the Clean Water Act of 1977 also authorized generous federal financing for municipal sewage treatment plants. By the late 1970s, waste-water treatment was the second largest federal public works program. ranking behind only highway construction.

In recent years, however, that financial assistance has been drastically reduced. "We couldn't get federal money because it's being cut back," says Pelham Mayor Bobby Hayes. "Even if we could qualify, it would take seven to 10 years."

Thus Pelham faced a situation in which federal officials remained insistent upon local compliance with clean water standards and deadlines but were no longer willing to be a reliable source of financial Until now, most of Pelham's sewage has gone into septic tanks. while a few residents have been linked to an inadequate waste-water treatment facility Hayes says is approximately the size of "a small ice cream plant.

The community's growth made upgrading those facilities a necessity. Its population soared from fewer than 1,000 in 1970 to more than 6,700 in 1980, and local officials say that number now has reached 9,000.

Like many other communities, stretching from Gilbert, Ariz, to Downingtown, Pa., Pelham surmounted its problems by entering into a relatively new but increasingly popular type of public-private partnership.

The town contracted with the Parsons Corp., a large engineering and construction firm based in Pasadena, Calif., to not only design and build but also to operate and maintain a complete waste-water collection and treatment facility for the community with an initial capacity of 2 million gallons per day and the potential to handle almost 7 million gallons per day.

Financing for the project, arranged by the Alexandria, Va., firm of Eden Hannon & Co., will be obtained through the sale of $16 million worth of industrial development bonds. The project's joint sponsorship means that it can take advantage of tax benefits available to both public and private entities.

"Most communities don't build their own public works projects under any circumstances," explains Larry J. Scully of Eden Hannon. "They contract with one company for design, another for construction and maybe a third for operation and then they have no guarantee that it's going to work."

With one firm responsible for all stages of the project, there can be no finger-pointing among various contractors when something goes wrong. Parsons will make a profit by collecting and processing Pelham's sewage, but Pelham will be reasonably assured that the Job is being done properly.

Theory Explains Nature

By Deithia Ricks UPI Science Writer

PASADENA. Calif. (UPI) - Not long after Einstein published his Theory of Relativity 71 years ago. physicists began searching for something they call TOE - or Theory of Everything.

Now they think they are on the brink of that discovery with a theory called superstrings.

The concept seeks to illustrate the interrelationship among the four basic forces of nature — gravity, electromagnetism and the quantum strong and weak forces. These. forces are responsible for all things in nature.

Physicist John Schwarz of Caltech, who developed superstring theory with another theoretician in London, has set the scientific community astir with the concept. Superstring theory grows out of the notion that prior to the Big Bang - the supposed catastrophic explosion that created the cosmos - only one force existed. According that idea, Schwarz said, the single force then split into four.

"Superstring theory is a proposed, mathematical theory of elementary particles which is based on three new ideas," the physicist explained, that show how the forces of nature are all intimately related.

Superstrings define the forces of nature not as pointlike elementary particles such as tiny gravitons that transmit gravity or electromagnetic photons that transmit light, but as infinitesimally small onedimensional loops and strings of energy.

These invisible loops and strings also would include the atomic strong force, responsible for holding together protons and neutrons in an atom and the weak force, which is the key in radioactive decay.

The loops and strings, according to Schwarz, are so intimately linked, they indicate there was just one force prior to the Big Bang.

He said the strings may be curled. packed into tiny balls of energy and occupy up to 10 dimensions, changing current concepts of space and

Schwarz also theorizes that because superstrings are not points but oscillating, vibrating strings -one-billionth of a trillionth of a trillionth of a centimeter long their rotation, configuration and interaction would determine the force they represent.

But proving the configurations that the loops and strings create requires development of a new branch of mathematics.

Schwarz said superstrings could ultimately provide the tool to "understand the physics that controlled the universe at the very beginning."

One Reporter's Commitment Lives

Jack Anderson And Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON - It was two years ago that Jock Hatfleld died at the age of 26, and we still feel his absence acutely. Jock was a talented and caring reporter who followed the basic rule of investigative lournalism: Comfort the afflicted and afflict the comfortable.

Jock had arrived in our chaotic offices from California with one rumpled suit, enough money for about three meals - and a burning ambition the size of the Capitol dome. He was as green as new grass, but tempered by obvious physical handicaps that would have caused a lesser person to give up.

Roaming Washington's sterile corridors of power, Jock was soon diligently and cheerfully exposing the graft and the gaffes, the mistakes and malfeasance that are red meat to a good reporter. His first story exposed an Interior Department giveaway of 300,000 acres of public land to the coal barons - an exclusive that set the standard for a string of scoops on similar deals for those favored by the high and mighty.

Jock's personal courage was limitless. He was particularly proud of the columns he filed from Haiti. At no small risk to himself, he detailed the repression and corruption that blighted the wretched inhabitants of the Duvalier domain, and planned to return for a follow-up even after the Haitian government had made its displeasure with his first series 'clear. He never made the trip. He learned that, in addition to his physical disfigurement, he had inoperable cancer. Jock chose to spend his remaining weeks doing investigative stories on Capitol Hill.

It was in those final days of pain and debilitation that Jock showed courage of an even rarer sort. He never whined or bemoaned the lousy hand fate had dealt him. He retained his capacity for both outrage and amusement at the ethical frailties that he had set himself to expose. Never revealing the hopelessness of his situation, refusing to play his sources for sympathy, Jock poured all his energies into his chosen craft. He died without fuse or complaint.

His friends, determined to preserve his memory in an appropriate way, set up the Jock Hatfield Memorial Scholarship Fund to compensate young reporters who will cover the stories that Jock would have. Donations to the fund and scholarship applications will be accepted by its director, Susan Benesch, at 945 West End Ave., No. 6-B, New York, NY 10025.

A woman has filed suit against Raffles Restaurant in Altamonte Springs for injuries she says she received when she fell off of a ladder in the business.

Cynthia Levan filed the suit asking for unspecified damages in excess of $5,000.

1985-86 year.)

"All I ever wanted was more data," Kroll reacted after the meeting. "I have not been trying to push for outside management of the food service operation," he said, indicating the unanimous decision of the board to approve Hughes' recommendation will allow him more time to completely examine the possibilities for bettering the program.

"I think the Superindendent's recommendation handles everything." he continued. "The food service employees know they have their jobs, and for who they will be working: (District Food Service Manager) Eldon Chambers keeps his job: and I get the information I want."

Kroll was pleased that food service businessmen from the private sector would be included on the new steering committee, as well as students. "I'm glad the Superintendent included students on the committee. I hope the meetings will be held at a time when the student representatives can attend," he said.

Chambers, who has been a central figure during debate, and who would probably lose his tob if an outside management firm is hired, said after the meeting he was "very pleased" by the outcome of the meeting.

"We feel given time, we will be in a much better position next year." Chambers said. "The study will help us." Kroll told the Evening Herald earlier Wednesday that his stand on the issue may harm him politically, since he is one of several board members up for re-election this fall. He contended that it was his position that more time was needed to study the options, and he would be willing to risk an election loss in trying to get the information he feels is needed to make a decision on who would manage the district's school

But board chairman Nancy Warren opened the meeting by saying that "all alternatives should be explored to determine whether to seek proposals from outside management companies.

"The board is trying to do a good job of decision making, and we are sensitive that this is an uncomfortable situation for our loyal, dedicated, hard working food service staff. This is a very complex issue," Ms. Warren said.

It was Assistant Superintendent Carey E. Ferrell's recommendation that the food service

Students Lisa LoPiccolo, left, and Cass Cornely, display results of a survey on school food taken at Teague Middle School. The results showed, while the food is more accepted lately, further improvement is needed. Teague is one of the schools that must have pre-cooked meals brought in because it is not equipped with a full-service kitchen.

operation remain in-house, saying current management, staff, and employees had done the job the board had told them to do during the past

The food service program was expected to get to a break-even financial level, from the $250,000 deficit the previous year and increase student participation in eating district prepared food by 10 percent.

"The personnel at all levels in the Food Service Program accepted the challenge and committed themselves to meeting the Board's objectives and expectations. This was done with the full knowledge that failure to achieve these objectives would almost certainly result in transfer of management of the program in 1986-87 to a (contracted) food management firm." Ferrell said.

"Conversely, they also assumed that accomplishment of these objectives would place the program at the level of expectation and would therefore justify continuation of the present system of internal operation," he continued.

'With this challenge providing the impetus. they joined together in a concerted effort to develop a program, in a relatively short time and under some very adverse conditions, that would be acceptable to the board. They also determined among themselves to build a program that we in Seminole County could point to with pride."

"It is now obvious that, by the end of the year, they will totally accomplish these objectives,"

Ferrell called the turnaround effected by the food service director and personnel "phenomenai".

"I think they deserve the appreciation of the board, the faculty and staff, and the students of every school in this district." Ferrell continued.

Ferrell said one of the arguments for an outside management firm is that they can buy food at volume prices. But because of the large size of the student population in the district and the amount of food consumed, the district is already paying the lowest possible price for food purchases, he Ferrell's detailed report also included concerns about employee relations, and the fact that dictrict food service employees are unionized. He also said that legislation now under consideration in Tallahassee could effect the tax exempt status of the bonds the district is now selling if the school lunchrooms are used for a profit-making business by an outside contractor.

He also pointed to districts in Ohio and Alabama that were served by one contractor. ARA Services, Philadelphia, and were not satisfied with the company's service.

Kroll polled the food service employees attending, asking how many thought they might lose their jobs if an outside company managed the program. A majority of those in the room indicated they thought their jobs would be in

Kroll theorized that if an outside company increased the number of students eating school-prepared food, then they would have more job security, because of increased business.

Nancy Wheeler spoke on behalf of the food service employee's union. She claimed that an outside company would try to break the union, and brought out further questions about ARA's reliability, including a 1981 Wall Street Journal article headlined, "Image Problem - ARA Services Strives to Overcome History of Many Legal Scrapes".

She concluded, "I urge you to make a decision tonight. Your employees deserve to know your intentions now. I ask you allow the program to continue in its present format, and I challenge you to challenge your employees by providing them with a clear cut and attainable expectations, and the facilities which will allow them to perform to the high standards you desire.

Two Teague Middle School students, Cass Cornely and Lisa LoPiccolo, reported to the board that most students surveyed at Teague recently rated the food quality low, and that 100 percent of the teachers surveyed said they didn't like the food, and that improvement was needed.

Hamilton Elementary School Principal Carem Gager said food at his school, which has a full service kitchen, is "well cooked and seasoned, and good to eat. He said it was "tremendous to work with the food service employees," noting they were flexible to needs of the school. "I am proud of the staff," he said of the employees at his Barbara Hixon, the food service manager at Keeth Elementary School, spoke emotionally.

"At my school, those are my kids, and I love them," she said. "If you take this away from me, I'll be sad. We have done out best. We are being condemed for something that isn't our fault."

She agreed that meals cooked elsewhere and brought to the school to be served later aren't as good as meals prepared in-house, but it wasn't the food service operation's fault that all schools weren't constructed with full service kitchens.

Board member Jean Bryant said. "If it ain't broken, don't fix it." implying she felt the program was headed in the right direction with in-house management.

Another board member, Pat Telson agreed with Bryant, and thanked the food service employees for their efforts in turning the program around.

Board member Joseph Williams said he had visited school lunch rooms and thanked Chambers for a "darn good job" and commended him for his efforts.

Ms. Warren said she saw the basis of most complaints as being related to those schools which must have their food brought in.

"We need to do something," she said. "I don't know how we can make a decision without knowing as much as possible," about alternatives.

Prior to making his recommendation, Hughes said he felt the reason so much effort had been put into the discussion because the district has set a goal to be the best in the state on an academic basis. The new steering committee will report back to the board in early 1987.

District Mess Aids DeLand

Never mind the drug tests for athletes, there is a tournament committee for the District 4A-9 Girls Basketball Tournament that needs it much more.

Basketball tournaments, regardless of financial considerations, should be held at one alte. The format for the District 4A-9 girls tournament, which begins tonight at four sites, is a farce.

The whole idea of a tournament is a second season. The teams should go in even and records are meaningless, except for determining the seeds. How fair is it for the four lesser teams to open on the top seeds homecourt?

And speaking of seeds, how can the committee seed the top four teams via record and then draw their opponents. Why not seed the whole field? Then, pair them off. 1-8, 2-7, 3-8 and 4-5. That's how the boys do it and there's never a problem.

The greatest injustice, however, was done to coach Charles Steele's Lady Seminoles. They were supposed to open at home against DeLand but since the boys' junior varsity and varsity are hosting Seabreeze in a meaningless nonconference, nondistrict game, the site has been moved to DeLand. The tournament resumes with its final four Friday and Saturday at Daytona Beach Mainland.

DeLand, which whipped the Lady Seminoles at home earlier this year, must be loving it. When I asked Seminole athletic director Jerry LOSC. wny inc game couldn't have been played at 4 p.m. in Sanford, he cited

Gallaghers Double Up DBCC; Raiders In Final

Brothers Darris and David Gallagher, a pair of pint-sized marauders for Seminole Community College, should have Division II Mid-Florida Conference Playoff semifinal with $141. Daytona Beach Community College Wednesday night.

They stole everything that wasn't tied down.

Darris, the freshman brother from Orlando's Edgewater High School, also swiped the life from eback with a 10-foot jumper with Fouls — Deviens Beech 27, Seminate 19. 32 seconds to play as the Raiders turned back the Scots. 87-81, before 1,012 boisterous fans at the SCC Health Center.

The victory was the 26th in 32 games for the Raiders. They play Santa Fe, a surprise 103-98 winner over Lake City in Wednesday's first game, tonight at 7:30. The winner earns a berth in the state tournament.

The Gallaghers, who usually play at different intervals since both are point guards, combined for eight steals.

They've got quick little hands," SCC coach Bill Payne said. "They are excellent defensive players and they understand what needs to be done to win."

Darris finished with 12 points but none were bigger than the last two. Seminole held a 78-69 bulge with 2:35 to play but two Lake Mary High products, Sanford's Fred Miller and Darryl Merthic, sliced it to a bucket with a hustling 1:35 effort. Merthie, who poured in a career-high 24 points, acrobatically grabbed a rebound and dropped it home as he was fouled with 2:19 to play. He to 81-79 with 1:02 to play. missed the free throw but Tim Johnson grabbed the rebound.

SCC's Tony Roberts, who finished with 21 points, promptly took it down to the lane to push the lead back to six. The Raiders had another opportunity on their next possession but they missed a short jumper.

Miller again rebounded and took it on the break. He found Merthie open on the left wing and the Daytona freshman drilled it home to cut the deficit to 81-77. "I know if I get open Fred will get me the ball," Merthie said. "When we got running, we got going."

Miller made another big play seconds later when he picked off a pass a midcourt and rifled a pass to Merthie on the left wing. Merthie took it down the baseline and reversed it with a touch of English to pare the lead

Payne called a timeout with one minute to play. The Raiders After a missed shot, Miller went to a spread attack while grabbed the rebound with one running the shot clock down to 17 seconds. Miller, who was guarding Darris Gallagher, slacked off to help out on Hall as Darris brought the ball to the top of the key.

Seizing the opportunity, Darris took two dribbles into the paint and arched a 10-footer. The ball hung tantalizingly for a second and then fell home for an 83-79 lead with 32 seconds to play.

"Somebody had to take the shot," Darris said. "I saw the opening and went. I didn't think about it, I just shot it."

Which surprised Miller and the Scots. "He (Darris) penetrated and made a good move," Miller said. "I was playing high and trying to help out on Hall. I was surprised that he shot it but that's the way it goes. It got a lucky roll and went in."

Miller then forced a shot at the other end. David Gallagher grabbed the long rebound and outletted to his brother who laid in the clincher with 14 seconds to go. Miller threw a way a pass and Roberts converted two free throws with nine seconds left for an 87-69 lead. Miller acored at the buzzer for the final duece.

Merthie and Willie Mitchell, a Seminole High grad who finished with eight points and 13 rebounds, both pointed to the Gallaghers as the difference. "They're both real quick." Mitchell said. "And they can handle the ball."

Daytona turned the ball over 24 times to SCC's mere 10. "They're used to playing together," Merthie said. "They handled the pressure and we got sloppy when we had the lead."

The Raiders took an early advantage as 6-5 forward Carl Poellnitz asserted himself inside, scoring five points as SCC took an 11-7 lead. Roberts and Hall grew to 15-9 before Daytona

Parity Takes Center Stage As District Opens

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

Parity is a word that isn't often used when talking about District 4A-9. In the past, it's usually been the top four teams — then the rest. Upsets have been few and far between in the first round in recent years.

However, in 1985-86, all but one or two of the eight teams in the district are capable of going all the way. The 4A-9 District Tournament opens tonight at four different sites, then shifts to Daytona Beach Mainland High for Friday's semifinals and Saturday's finals. In a one-year experiment, the top two teams in the district advance to regional play.

Top-seeded Lake Mary hosts Lake Howell at 6:30 while all other games are scheduled for 7. Second-seeded Seminole has been forced to go on the road to DeLand because of a nonconference. nondistrict boys' game between Seminole and Seabreeze tonight at Seminole High. In other first-round action, third-seeded Lake Brantley hosts Spruce Creek while fourth-seeded Lyman entertains Mainland.

The 4A-9 District Junior varsity championship will be played Saturday night at 6:15 prior to the finals. Lake Mary and Lake Brantley will battle it out for the JV crown.

Basketball

Lake Howell at Lake Mary - Of the four bottom teams in the district, Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks are perhaps the most dangerous. The Lady Hawks upset Lyman and came close to knocking off every other one of the top four. Lake Mary's Lady Rams, playing Lake Howell for the second time this week, can't look past this first-round foe,

"We started off really good against them (Lake Howell) on Monday (81-67 win)," Lake Mary coach Bill Moore said. "But we slacked up a bit after we built a big lead in the first quarter."

Junior forward Cynthia Patterson has been red-hot for the Lady Rams lately and she is coming off a career-high and school-record breaking 31 points against Lake Howell on Monday. Patterson hit 17 of 21 free throws in that

"We're going to have to keep her off the line," Lake Howell coach Dennis Codrey said of Patterson. "She doesn't have a real pretty shot, but it sure goes in."

Both Patterson and junior forward Tonya

Lawson are averaging 15 points per game for the Lady Rams. Sophomore center Teri Whyte averages 10 points and 10 rebounds per outing. Keeping Whyte out of foul trouble will be a key for Lake Mary.

"Teri (Whyte) has to play more minutes," Moore said. "She was effective in the time she was in Monday, but she played maybe eight minutes the whole game."

Moore is also looking for more production out of senior guard Karen DeShetler who hit just 1 of 8 shots from the floor Monday night. Senior point guard Anquenette Whack runs the offense and can also fill it up if left alone. Bench strength for the Lady Rams comes from senior guard Heather Leckie, the county's free throw champion. sophomore forward Gina Dawson and junior forward Marcie Dalziel.

Leading the way for Lake Howell is junior guard Erin Hankins, who has shot the eyes out of just about every basket in the county this season. Hankins, who averages 14 points per game and is close to breaking the school record for free throw shooting, is also a good ballhandler and one of the top defensive performers around.

The most experienced players on the squad and those who bring control to what is often a helter-skelter attack are senior forwards Jolee and Kellee Johnson. Jolee Johnson is having a tremendous season and is among the county leaders in scoring, rebounds, assists and leads in steals. Kellee started off the season on a roll but quited down a little in midseason before coming on strong late. The inside game for the Lady Hawks is hurting a bit with the absence of Carey Manuel who is out with an ankle injury. Freshman center Sarina Winston, though, has picked up the slack. In the Lady Hawks' last three games, Winston has 10, 14 and 15 rebounds, respectively.

Seminole at DeLand - If they were playing anywhere else but DeLand, Seminole would probably be overwhelming favorites in this game. But the Lady Bulldogs are tough on their homecourt and already own a win over Seminole there. But the Lady Tribe played one of its worst games of the season in that loss and coach Charles Steele doesn't expect that to happen

"I don't like it one bit that we have to go to DeLand, but we've just got to go over there and do it." Steele said. "The girls weren't into the game at all the last time we played there but they'll be ready Thursday night."

Seminole's Rumler Named First-Team Goalkeeper

Seminole Athletic Conference champion Lyman and runnerup Lake Brantley combined to take up nine of the 11 slots on the All-SAC Soccer First Team which was selected by the county coaches Monday night.

While those two teams dominated the selections, Seminole High Junior Sherri Rumler was chosen first team goalkeeper. Rumler's selection is quite an attribute to her talent considering the Lady Seminoles finished last in the conference.

Lyman, which plays in the state tournament starting Friday at Coconut Creek, placed five players on the first team including senior forwards Dawn Boyesen and Sheila Mandy, senior midfielder Alyson Barnes and junior defenders Karen

Believe It Or Not: Anglers Pray For Cold Weather

It sounds hard to believe, but many ardent seatrout fishermen here in Central Florida pray for cold weather in January and February.

When the air temperature deops into the 20's and 30's, the water temperature in the saltwater rivers drops into the 50's. This sudden drop in water temperature forces a mass migration of scatrout, redfish, snook, and other saltwater species of fish into the sanctuary of deeper water. These fish huddle together in canals and dredge holes, along with schools of mullet and other baitfish.

Seatrout of all sizes crowd into this deeper water. The smaller scatrout are not as discriminating, and are much easier to catch than the "gator" trout. They'll hit live shrimp, grubs, Touts, small spoons, Mirrorlures, and about any other reasonable looking offering.

The huge gator trout require a more specialized approach. They did not become so large by gobbling up everything in sight.

Anglers who successfully pursue these monster scatrout are divided into two different groups - the pluggers and the live batters. Each group of fishermen has developed specific methods to catch gator trout.

Many of the pluggers like to fish after dark. The first two hours of darkness are considered the best time to fish. because the natural baitfish feel more secure under the protection of darkness and begin to move at this time.

The most successful plugs are those that resemble mullet and needlefish. the two primary baitfish on the trout's winter diet. The 52 M and the TT series Mirrorlures and the Boone Needlefish are favorites among the pluggers. The Bagley Finger Mullet is also very popular.

Deeper plugs, such as the FM3 series of Mirrorlure, are also used with success. The best colors are black on silver, which resembles a finger Successful pluggers look for dropoffs, docks, rock formations, and natural points. Gator trout position themselves in areas such as these in order to ambush battfish.

Because the trout are sluggish, the plugs should be worked as slowly as possible. Good looking areas should be worked over thoroughly before moving on to another spot.

The second group of fishermen, the live batters, prefer to use frisky live shrimp for gator trout.

The most successful live batters use spinning tackle and six to eight pound test line. They feel that this light equipment allows the shrimp greater freedom of movement.

No weights or swivels are used, and the shrimp are allowed to swim freely about 31/2 feet under a small, natural cork bobber. The shrimp are either hooked in the horn or the tail, which allows the shrimp to swim around and attract trout.

Serious live baiters prefer to fish in the early morning hours, before boat traffic makes fishing conditions uncomfortable.

The most effective method is to use an electric trolling motor and slowly move down the shoreline. The live shrimp are cast as close as possible to the edge, and are allowed to work into every pocket.

The Honest Johns canals south of Sebastian, the barge canal between the Banana and Indian rivers, Sykes Creek, and the many residential canals in the Cocoa Beach area are hot spots for this cold weather trout fishing. The Blue Hole and El Dora are some of the favorite spots in the Oak Hill area.

Don't let the winter doldrums get you down. Bundle up and catch some gator trout!

SHUPE'S SCOOP — When fishing with a topwater lure, many anglers react to the surface commotion of a strike and often miss the fish. Experienced topwater pluggers do not set the hook until they feel the weight of the FORECAST — Dell Abernethy from Osteen Bridge Fish Comp reports that shad are rated as strong in the Multer Lake Pork area. Speckled perch are also rated good in Smokeheuse Cove and Stone Island; with some boots bringing in 4640 specks. Bass fishing is still slow, but the river is dropping, and Dell is leaking for bass fishing to improve each day.

Ren Revine from Highland Park Fish Compressions that speck fishing is fair in Lake Weedruff. Anglers are trolling in open water with Beetle Spins or Hal Files. Bass fishing is rated as fair, with many good fish being caught on wild shiners fished near heavy cover. Many of these bass are being caught in water as shallow as two lest. Bluetish and a few large seatrout are providing the only action at Sebestian Intel. Some real gator trout are being cought on slowly worked Mirrorlures.

Captain Jack from Port Canavoral reports that the bluefish are still terrorizing schools of baitfish in port waters. Topwater plugs are good early in the morning, and trolling with Rag Mops and tube luret is more productive later in the day.

Captain Jack also said that the bait pods made an unexpected early appearance the first of last week and that some large cobia were caught from these huge schools of baitfish.

The last cold front dispersed the bail pods, but one would be well advised to keep an eye out for the return of these schools of menhaden. Trout and went on a tear.

Coach Ray Ridenour's Scurryin' Scots outscored SCC, 15-2, over the next five minutes to assume a 24-17 lead. The Raiders came back as Hall and Mike Landell combined for 10 points but Darrin Miller got the last bucket of the half to give Daytona a 37-36 lead at intermission.

David Gallagher, who has been hobbled for three weeks with a badly sprained ankle, made his first appearance with 13:35 left in the first half.

Several of the sophomore Gallagher's steals came after Daytona had pulled down a rebound, a deft move he said he perfected on the playgrounds. "I just hold my hand out and ball just sits in my hand," he laughed. "That's all that playground experience."

Both Gallaghers were happy for the opportunity to play together. "That was a real good move by coach Payne." David Darris agreed. "David and I have a little quickness," he said.

"It was fun working with him." Payne also lauded relief efforts by Jeff Day, who hit three key jumpers in the second half when SCC started to build its lead. On all three occasions. Day patiently waited for the defenders to soar past before dropping home his jumper.

"That's what I've had to do all my life." Day said about his leaning jumper. "Everybody could always outjump me, so I just had to wait until they jumped past."

In Wednesday's first game. Santa Fe. which had lost two regular season games to Lake City, jumped out to a big lead and then held off a determined closing bid by the Timberwolves.

Mike Summers, who dropped in 18 of his game-high 27 points in the first half, was the hottest Saint. Point guard Steve Edelson, who knocked down 12 of 13 free throws down the stretch, finished with 22 points. Rodne Rush, Santa Fe's power forward, totaled 21 while 6-9 John Yonge had 13.

"Santa Fe always plays us tough." Roberts said about to night's foc. "The other two games went down to the wire before we won. Thursday's probably will, too."

Hysell Joins Lisle On Rampage

Rams Capture 7th Victory — St. Pete Explosion Trips Raiders

By Chris Pister Herald Sports Writer

Lake Mary coach Allen Tuttle has counted on the bat of Ryan Lisle to provide plenty of firepower for the Rams this season. And the tunior catcher has not let Tuttle down as he has pounded the ball the first two weeks of the season.

While Lisle has come through time and again, one player who Tuttle hasn't counted on too heavily for power is junior outfielder Kelly Hysell. But Hysell has come through when some of the other heavy lumber hasn't produced in the early going.

Wednesday night. Lisle cracked a grandslam homer in the first inning and Hysell drove in a pair of runs with a single and his first career homer as the Rams cruised to an 8-1 victory over Lake Brantley's Patriots in the Lyman Preseason Invitational Tournament at Lyman High.

Lake Mary, 7-0, returns to tournament action today at 4:30 against Leesburg with Sean Flaherty getting the starting pitching assignment. Leesburg dropped a 10-2 decision to Orlando Boone in Wednesday's first game. In tonight's second game, scheduled to start at 7:30. Lyman takes on Lake Mary took the early lead Wednesday and rode the three-hit pitching performance of senior Mike Schmit to victory. Schmit, 3-0, wasn't overpowering as he struck out just four, but he had good control as he issued only two free passes.

Afte Schmit retired Brantley in the top of the first, the Rams erupted for four runs in the bottom half. Shane Letterio led off with a single and, with one out, Mike Pinckes and Schmit drew consecutive walks off Brantley's Zac Maddox to load the bases. Lisle then stepped up and smacked a shot over the left field fence for his third homer and 14th RBI of the season.

"Lisle has been unbelievable at the plate so far." Tuttle said. "He's just real loose every time he goes up."

Brantley cut the lead to 4-1 with an unearned run in the top of the third. David Rabaja rapped a single, was bunted to second by Rick Koch and scored when Anthony Laszaic made two errors on a grounder by Mike Beams.

The Rams got the run back in the bottom of the fourth when Hysell launched a solo homer to left center. Tuttle said Hysell had just hit his first practice home run on Monday.

Lake Mary added some insurance in the bottom of the fifth. With one out, Brett Molle and Neal Harris walked and Hysell ripped a line drive over the first baseman's head to score Molle. After Hysell stole second. Letterio unloaded a double to chase home both Harris and Hysell for an 8-1 Lake Mary lead.

"Hysell's 7 for 14 (.500 average) so far this season." Tuttle said. "I knew he'd come around one day but I didn't expect that much production out of him. The preseason has really helped his confidence a lot."

GREENÉ HOMERS, DRIVES IN 3 RUNS In junior college baseball Wednesday, Jeff Greene and Mike Songini each ripped a homer but St. Petersburg used a six-run eighth inning to upend Seminole, 9-4, at

The Raiders picked up a run in the seventh to tie the game. However, St. Petc. which has won 10 of 17 games, exploded for six runs, aided by some shoddy Raider fielding, in the eighth inning to wrap up the SCC coach Jack Pantelias went to a pair of relievers. Steve Soyer and Terry Simon, in the eighth but neither could check the St. Pete outburst. Scott Widdows earned the victory for St. Pete. Soyer suffered the loss.

Hershiser Looks For Million Club

NEW YORK (UPI) - Orel Hershiser should learn today whether he joins baseball's millionaire club.

The Los Angeles Dodgers pitcher put his 1986 salary demands to an arbitrator Wednesday, seeking to become the first major leaguer this year to be awarded $1 million through the process.

The Seminole backcourt has been strengthened significantly with the addition of freshman Adrian Hillsman who has performed impressively since joining the team at midseason.

Inside, senior forward Kim "Big Wheel" Johnson has come on strong in the last two weeks of the season and freshman center Liz Long has also performed well. Juntor center Yolanda Robinson will be a key tonight as Seminole tries to stop DeLand's sophomore sensation C.C. Hayden.

Hayden, a 6-1 center, has devastated Seminole County opponents this season as DeLand has knocked off three of the top four seeds. Lake Mary, Lyman and Seminole, on its home court. The only county team to win at DeLand was Lake Brantley but the Lady Patriots have won there two years in a row.

Spruce Creek at Lake Brantley - Spruce Creek is the type of team that is capable of pulling off a major upset, but rarely plays two good games back-to-back. Thus the Lady Hawks are considered a first-round threat, but not a threat to Seminole County teams have pretty much handled the Creek this season as the Lady Hawks have dropped two games each to Lake Mary, Seminole and Lake Howell. The Creek and Lake Brandley have not met this wason, Lake Brantley is looking for senior guard Sherry "Ice" Asplen to light it up tonight. Asplen. averaging 15 points per game, is coming off a 24-point performance against Oviedo on Monday. But the Lady Patriots don't look to "Ice" just for her sizzling shooting, she is also an excellent ballhandler, passer and has lended support on the boards as well.

Leading the inside game for the Lady Patriots is senior forward Kim Waln who averages 10 points and close to 11 rebounds per game. Waln has a county season-high of 24 rebounds in one game. The Lady Patriots also look to senior forward Michelle Hagan, junior forward Janice Abaray, junior center Laurie Rivers and freshman center Gretchen Mull for strength inside.

While Asplen leads the outside game, junior guard Ashley Thomas is also capable of melting the cords. Thomas scored a career-high 20 points in a narrow loss to Lake Mary. Freshman point guard Tracy Brandenburg has improved her ballhandling and shooting skills a lot since the season began and sophomore guard Susan Asplen has also improved her game significantly.

Mainland at Lyman - The luck of the draw in this year's tournament goes to Lyman's Lady Greyhounds. Mainland owns wins over DeLand and Spruce Creek, but the Lady Bucs only chance of an upset is if Lyman's big three, Kim Forsyth, LaTanya Johnson and Denise Stevens, is held well below its averages.

Forsyth is the county's leader in both scoring and rebounding and she has also worked to improved her balihandling skills to help Lyman handle pressure. Johnson is a streak shooter who is almost impossible to stop when she's on. She is also a fine ballhandler and lends support on the boards. Stevens was counted on mostly as a rebounder last season but has become a scoring threat as well this year with a high-game of 20.

Joining Johnson in the Lyman backcourt is junior guard Chandra Roberts while senior forward Kim Boyle has been a key addition since transferring back to Lyman. Bench strength comes from guard Deleonarda Bouey and forward Joine Richardson.

before you make any announcements to your friends, search your conscience for your motives - and don't try to pass off your anger as altruism.

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column. "Modern Mom" said that a child's bedroom should be a private, comfortable place to call his own and, unlike most mothers, she did not believe in screaming at a child to clean up his room. Then you said, "I agree. Keep the door closed and go in once a week to rake it." and added. "If there is any snacking in the room, insist that all dishes and leftovers should be taken to the kitchen before bedtime." Thanks for that, Abby, but most child psychologists advocate training children to keep neat and orderly rooms. They say parents who allow their children to live in messy rooms are abdicating their responsibilities as parents. How do you justify your answer, Abby? SCREAMING MOTHER DEAR MOTHER: I think the child who learns by experiencing the consequences of his actions learns faster. Example: Johnny forgets his lunch. No problem. NATURE/SCOPE OF WORK SPRING VALLEY

The Spring Valley Study area is inclusive in the area shown on Sheets 14, 15, 22 and 23 of the Little Wekiva Drainage Basin Study prepared by Abrams Survey Corporation for the St. Johns River Water Management District at a scale of 1" 7200". The principle objectives of this study is to identify drainage patterns, provide a survey defailing the existing drainage system, evaluate the adequacy and functioning of the existing system, to determine those areas where system retrofit is required and provide solutions and associated costs to upgrade the deficient areas to present

I. DATA COLLECTION PHASE A. Assemble and review prior drainage or drainage related studies which have been completed within or contiguous to the Spring Valley Study area. These studies shall inloude but not be limited to the following:

1. City of Altemonte Springs Drainage Studies. 2. City of Altamonte Springs Sanitary Sewer Plans.

3. Seminale County Comprehensive Drainage Plan prepared by Post, Buckley, Schuh & Jernigan, Inc. 4. Seminole County Soil Survey prepared by Soll Conservation Service. Seminole County will acquire these studies.

B. Contact those agencies which may have input on the formulation of this project to ascertain their applicable requi lations or restrictions and also their activity in the area. These agency contacts will include, but not be limited to the following: 1. City of Altamonte Springs

D. Meet with the Seminale County Water Management Engineer and other Seminole County staff to discuss the results of the data collection Phase.

II. SYSTEM DEFINITION PHASE

A. Conduct a detailed field reconnaissance of the study area to identify the character of the existing drainage systems. which is necessary to define the major drainage ways. The nature of this field survey work should include typical cross sections, culvert sizes, invert elevations, control structure descriptions, roadway underdrain descriptions, etc. C. Perform soil borings, tests or sub-surface investigations as dictated by site conditions to determine impacts to the system via subsurface water D. On reproducible mylars of topographic maps. Illustrate the existing drainage patterns, field information and other topographic and drainage related survey information. These maps will be identified as the Existing Drainage System Map of Spring Valley Area. These maps will
