

Put The Game On Ice

A combination of Little Brother philosophy, Jim Windham and catcher White, got Sanford's goat yesterday. The score was completely reversed over the day previously, 4 to 1. Windham held 'em down to one hit, and they got that in the first inning when they made their only run.

Orlando started in rough shod. Edwards opposed Windham, and amongst the first he put over Bowen touched up for a home run. The score was one to one until the third, but there was nothing to it after Bowen's tap, for the reason that Windham was there with the goods.

Then in the third, as Billy Beardall said the game was put on ice for keeps. In that fatal inning Orlando got a net total of six kits off Edwards, tallying three runs, with two men left of bases.

Windham was first up, and singled to left. White failed in an effort to sacrifice Windham, and the twirler was out at second, leaving White on first. Lree hit the pill into left, and White scored.

Luck kept coming Orlando way. C. Pounds, the next man up, tapped a two bagger into left, scoring Lee. Bowen hit a grounder to short stop, and Boyer scored. Bennett cracked a hot one to third base, retiring the side.

It was the tightest game of the year. After the first inning Sanford never got a pep in. In that inning Farmer walked, but was put out at second on Brittain's bunt. Wofford got a two base hit, and Brittain scored.

Orlando made two errors and Sanford four. Orlando got 8 hits off Edwards, and Sanford got one off Windham. A game is scheduled at Sanford this afternoon, and the teams will meet here tomorrow. Orlando Reporter-Star.

The Game at Orlando

While Wallace held the locals helpless his battery mate, Brittain, and Moreland hammered out four runs and Sanford defeated the locals with ease.

Lowe was the star with the stick, with a double and a triple out of four trips to the plate.

Wallace pitched an excellent game, fanning nine men, and was never really in danger though some ragged support threatened to sew him up for awhile.

Orlando Wins Game

Orlando won another one yesterday and there is joy in the camp of the Tourists.

The visitors bunched four hits in the third inning, which counted for three runs. With Windham pitching a one-hit game, this was enough, and then some to win.

Windham pitched sensational ball and allowed only one hit, while the visitors hit Edwards to all parts of the lot.

Sanford Wins Again

In the sight of one of the largest crowds of the season the Collegians took a fall out of the Tourists yesterday and had it not been for the good work on the part of the Orlando umpire the visitors would not have had but one run. Sanford had to play nine men and one umpire and Tilden was rotten on every decision. However the game was very good after they ceased killing players. Frank Pounds was spiked once and hit with the ball once but stayed in the game. Lee was hit on the ear by a passed ball and it looked for awhile like the game would stop by natural elimination. The game was not remarkable for any brilliant plays and the boys played as though they had Orlando sewed up and had a cinch on the game.

Lee had by far the better of the pitching, holding the visitors to four hits and fanning eight. Wilson was hit hard and opportunely.

Big Things For Lakeland

A northern capitalist arrived in Lakeland the other day and for awhile had the entire city on the jump attending his beck and nod for he promised them everything. He was immensely pleased with Lakeland, and stated that he was going to make everybody in town rich; that he was going to put four hotels and five business colleges on every lake; that he was going to go into the automobile business and run cars around Lake Hollingsworth at 10 cents a trip, and that he was going to make Lakeland out-strip Jacksonville and Tampa in about two weeks.

He also said that he could put J. Pierpont Morgan out of business in twenty minutes and start a panic throughout the country in half an hour, but that he had decided not to do anything of the kind, but was going to make everybody rich and happy by putting the whole country on a cash basis. He tried to buy several business establishments in town, including the First National Bank, and then the people woke up. The man had become deranged during his short stay in Lakeland and imagined things.

HAPPENINGS DURING THE WEEK

Here the Readers Will Find a Brief Historical Spring Flowing For Hurred Readers

The trial of Claude Allen resulted in a mistrial today. It is understood the jury stood four for acquittal and eight for murder in the first degree. The court ordered a new venire and the case will be retried.

Members of the new Democratic national committee met in Chicago this morning to formulate plans for Woodrow Wilson's presidential campaign.

The first new crop of cotton sold at New Orleans today for twenty-eight cents per pound. It came from Texas.

Members of the Senate predicted they would be in session twenty more days. The House is ready to quit now.

Residents of Tybee island are fleeing to Savannah for fear of the storm, the island experiencing the highest tide in years, water coming into the houses there. The weather bureau there predicted the storm but Washington authorities say it may blow out to sea. Residents are taking no chances.

Some of the suffrage agitators trying to make converts in the densely populated sections of the east and west sides of New York were given a taste of their own medicine the other day, and as was expected did not enjoy the experience. They were overloaded with over ripe hen fruit, garbage and bags filled with dirty water and afterwards made indignant complaints to the police department because they had not been given adequate protection.

Preferred To Beg

Monday morning two women, claiming to be mother and daughter, appeared on the streets and began begging for money from place to place, presenting a printed card, pleading sickness as cause of poverty. In several instances they were refused help, but directed to the office of the Associated Charities where they would have been looked after, but it seems they preferred leaving town to calling there and having their cases thoroughly investigated. Before nine a. m. they went to the depot to wait for the next southbound train. However, they were interviewed, and the facts gathered that they came from the country near Orange City. Lakeland was their ultimate destination, but as business with them was rather dull in Sanford, sufficient funds were not collected to finish the trip, so plans had been made to pay Orlando and Kissimmee the next visit.

Death of Little Boy

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hudson died last night of cholera infantum. The little fellow was but one year and ten months of age and had just been upon earth long enough to entwine his personality upon the heart-strings of his devoted parents. Stricken a few days ago with this fatal disease he received the unflinching care and devotion of parents and friends and the skill of the family physician, but the dear little child was probably predestined for a better land and was only on this earth long enough to brighten the lives of his parents and then called to the realms above.

The remains were taken to the family burial lot at Middleburg today for interment.

The sympathy of their friends is extended to the bereaved parents in their sorrow.

Every Week Bridge Club

Mrs. G. F. Smith entertained the Every Week Bridge Club Friday afternoon complimentary to Mrs. W. R. Anno. Two tables of bridge were played. The highest score was made by Mrs. O. W. Brady, who won the first prize, an alligator coin purse. Mrs. C. O. McLaughlin received the booby prize, an Irish crochet hat-pin. Mrs. Anno, the guest of honor, was presented with a silver handled darning. After the games of cards were concluded delicious ice cream and cake were served. Mrs. Smith's guests were Mesdames W. R. Anno, C. M. Vorce, W. D. Holden, C. O. McLaughlin, O. W. Brady, Forrest Lake, Cruise Barnes.

Sanford Votes Bonds For Brick Roads

Made a Special Road District and $200,000 Voted For Building Brick Roads Throughout the Entire District

One of the greatest steps forward in the history of the Sanford section was taken last Saturday when the bond issue for roads was carried by an overwhelming majority.

The results in Sanford were 224 for good roads and 37 against good roads. Paola showed six for and three against; Lake Mary went 12 for and 4 against. Six votes were thrown out as improperly marked. Out of 315 possible votes, 274 were polled and 224 of these were in favor of good roads.

The vote shows that the majority of the people are in favor of roads that will endure and the former methods of constructing the roads of clay or marl, spending a large sum on them to start and spend money every year to keep them in repair will be discarded for the modern brick road. The election also proved that Sanford should become a special road district, and hereafter will look after her own highway, meaning that the district that has always favored good roads will not have to drag along with the other parts of Orange county that are averse to improvements. There is nothing that could give Sanford such a boost in the eyes of the people of this state and of the whole country as this election for bonding at the sum of $200,000 for brick roads in the Sanford Special District. In the face of the defeat suffered last year when Orange county tried to bond for one million the victory of Saturday demonstrates more than anything else that Sanford and the north end of the county is not only the greatest agriculturally, but is composed of a class of people who believe in improvements, and in the next few years the Sanford section will be filled with new people who will be desirous to locate in a section where there are improved highways, improved farms and improved people.

Aside from the direct benefits to be derived from the brick roads by the farmers the indirect benefits of this advertising will be immense and in the matter of good roads and especially brick roads Sanford will lead the south.

It is estimated that there will be about twenty-five miles constructed around Sanford and when the tourist strikes here next winter, after wandering over the sandy wastes adjacent to Sanford and rolls up on our brick roads he will think he has hit truth arrived.

Harking back to the subject of brick roads in Florida brings up the thought that Sanford will be about the finest section in the state for the Farmer, Tourist, Business man and every other man who wants to live in the most progressive section of the state.

DAYLIGHT RUN TO JAX New Company Will Put On Steamer Service On River	RAISED FINE POTATOES Sanford Grower Keeps Land Working Overtime	WE CAN START NOW Mr. Dickson Has Put Seal Of Approval On Plan
-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

Historic old St. Johns river is destined to become the center of winter travel if the plans of a new company now being formed materialize. B. T. Corey, a well known promoter thinks the St. Johns river trip is important enough to warrant a new steamer service that would make a daylight trip to Jacksonville and return to Sanford the following day. He expects to invest capital in his new project and after an exhaustive study of the subject has drawn plans that will appeal to the man who would like to invest in what will become a good service on the famous St. Johns river. The plan is to build a new steamer that will be forced to take freight and will be the rapid development of Florida the freight service is getting larger and the boats cannot make the fast trip that a smaller boat could. The new service would not carry freight but would haul small packages, and in this line would do a large business and compete with the Southern Express Co. A uniform rate of fifteen cents per package would mean that the boat would get all of this business. With good fuel and quick launch service of the boat the passengers would be made comfortable and no staterooms would be needed. The boat would leave here early in the morning and get to Jacksonville the same day, returning to Sanford the following night.

The St. Johns river trip is one of the prettiest water trips in the world and has become famous for the beautiful scenery along the banks. If the new company can arrange for a daylight service and have it in operation before another season the tourists will give it most liberal patronage.

Had To Spend Money

St. Louis, June 15.—Admitting that he was $700 or $800 short in his accounts, Roy W. Jones, a salesman for the H. J. Heinz Pickle Co., excused his offense by the plea to the prosecuting officers Wednesday that he spent the money in entertaining customers and building up his business.

He said at police headquarters that his expense allowance had not been sufficient to enable him to "be a good fellow" in the manner which seemed to him to be necessary in order to get business.

Elks Fight Consumption

Portland, Ore., July 15.—By holding a meeting this evening at which the newly elected officers were installed, the grand lodge, B. P. O. E., were enabled to return tonight. The lodge appropriated $20,000 for the use of the committee on tuberculosis, and decided to take no immediate action on the reconstruction or relocation of the Elks' home, now at Bedford, Va.

Some people say that the old reliable sweet potato will not do to plant upon our high priced lands, but Jim Hicks thinks different and when his celery was shipped and consigned to the commission man with a prayer, he figured that if he wanted to make a living there was nothing quite as billing as sweet potatoes and straightway planted part of the land in Nancy Halls. Today he brought some to The Herald office and they are as fine as ever graced a table. They are large and true and Mr. Hicks states that they will run full measure to the year. He expects to raise in them to his heart's content and will also let his poor brethren in town taste some at $1.50 per bushel or something near that price. Sweet potatoes are not good for some soils if you intend to follow with lettuce, or at least that has been Mr. Hicks' experience, although he finds that celery will follow all right.

Some of our northern neighbors would like themselves to learn that in Sanford such a crop of sweet potatoes could be grown in less than four months and that the same land will produce several crops in one year.

Fighting at Long Range

Atlanta, July 14.—"I am neither a bully nor a braggart, but I am willing to meet Blaise anywhere outside the state of South Carolina and give him any personal satisfaction he desires."

This statement was made today by Thomas B. Felder, on his return to this city after testifying before the special investigation committee of the South Carolina legislature, probing the old state dispensary case in Augusta. The declaration was in answer to a statement made yesterday at Bamberg, S. C., by Governor Blaise in which he said, "I will give $1,000 to any man who will get Tom Felder's two feet on this side of the Savannah river."

The statement also excoriated the members of the investigating committee in bitter terms, adding, "It is against the law to send challenges in South Carolina but if any member of that committee will come to me and tell me that he believes what Tom Felder says, you won't need any duelling law, and Charley Smith will be a war governor."

Continuing the governor referred to the lynching of three negroes recently in Olar and is quoted as follows:

"You did like men and defended your neighbors, and put their black bodies under the ground."

On his return to Atlanta today, Mr. Felder was accompanied by Detective E. S. Reed, whose evidence, secured with a telephonic device, created a sensation at the Augusta hearing.

Mr. H. H. Dickson, the father of the plan to assess abutting real estate to defray a portion of the expense of building brick roads in this county, was asked this morning if the successful bond election for good roads at Sanford would have effect upon his plans.

No, said Mr. Dickson, "we are working quietly, but nothing definite can be accomplished until the next legislature meets. Our main course of action lies in paying the way for the enactment of a law by the legislature to make assessments on property for road building possible. At present there is no such law."

Mr. Dickson's action will stimulate interest in road building in the balance of the county. Mr. Dickson went on to say, "I do not believe in the ultimate wisdom of the plan to break the county up into road districts, but the result shows the people in the north section are public spirited and they have undoubtedly set the pace for the remainder of the county." Reporter Star.

CULLED FROM THE STATE PRESS

An Epitome of the Week's Most Important Happenings in the State's Domain.

"Plans have been drawn for a big hotel for St. Petersburg," says the Independent, and the story that follows the headlines tells of the project of J. M. Williams, who has valuable property in the Sunshine city and is hoping to finance the scheme for the erection of a handsome, modern $100,000 hotel. Instead of building the whole hotel, as planned, at once, Mr. Williams is quoted as saying that it could be built in three sections and thus the financial part would be easier to handle. The first section would be something over 100 feet long, facing First street and the bay. In this section there would be six stores and forty-eight sleeping rooms on the three upper floors. "There is believed to be need for such a hotel," says the Independent, "and leading citizens have been urging its construction, or one of this style."

The big snake which was recently captured in Miami and which has been creating so much interest and excitement because no one had ever before seen a similar one, is said to be known generally as the Asiatic python. The snake is common in the Philippines, Sumatra, and even in the lower part of China.

The Fort Myers Press discusses the probability of the completion of the Panama canal within the next year and repeating what is well known about the huge plant that will be "out of a job" when the big ditch has been finished, urges people of Florida to impress on their senators and congressmen the excellent results that might be accomplished with some of the machinery in this state. "The year 1913 is set for the completion of the canal," says the Press, "and when that period has dawned the arrangements for moving the machinery to well. South Florida, should be made."

A local entertainment entitled "Leon County Fair" is to be given in Tallahassee on the 16th of this month. This will be a real county fair, it is said, with pumpkins, potatoes and cabbage on display and real bicycle races, horse races, tag races and many other attractions.

West Palm Beach has just contracted for a fine new fire engine. The machinery for fighting fire will cost $9,000 and will be delivered about the first of November.

Plans have just been completed for the new Consumers' Ice Company plant which is to be erected on Marion street in Tampa. The building will be five stories high and will have a frontage of 105 feet, 6 inches on Marion street, and 81 feet on Cass street. It will be built of reinforced concrete and will cost in the neighborhood of $50,000.

Letters have been received by the Tampa Board of Trade from two factories which wish to locate in that city. One was from the National Cutlery Co. of Opelika, Ala., the other from the Purity Paper Bottle Co. of Washington, D. C. The cutlery company makes a specialty of manufacturing a new kind of meat cutter and the paper bottle company makes bottles for holding water or any other kind of liquid indefinitely and apparently is the very thing for grocers, dairymen and others, being much less costly than glass and unbreakable. After being once used the paper bottle is thrown away, thus saving the trouble of washing.

A letter has been received by the Miami Board of Trade from the Miami Beach Improvement Company offering the city of Miami as a free gift ten acres of land, containing four hundred feet of ocean front, with riparian rights, for a public park. The location is said to be an ideal one.

The passenger and freight station of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad at Dade City was completely destroyed by fire a few nights ago. The loss included a number of records and files of considerable value to the road.

Cruise Barnes has returned from a visit to Georgia, where he was regaled with Georgia peaches and yellow legged chicken.

A Chiel Is Among Ye Taking Notes and Faith, He'll Prent 'Em"—So Says Saunterer

¶ It seems too bad that we have to have campaigns of misrepresentation. The first false story given out concerning Woodrow Wilson was that he received the news of his nomination while he was in his bath. Governor Marshall also suffered by having it said that he heard the first word of his selection for vice-president while wearing a suit of silk pajamas. Think of the unwashed Democrats nominating such men, one taking a bath on Tuesday and the other wearing silk pajamas!!! The stories must be false.

¶ Doing away with the so-called "unit rule" at the Baltimore convention was a worthy thing in my estimation. I never could see any use or sense in that arrangement. Rather, I could see a lot of use in it for the scheming politicians who want to handle delegations, but the sense, never. Why go to the trouble of selecting many delegates when you are going to place the final say with a few? You are not getting the sentiment of different districts in a state if you make your delegates vote with the majority. To my mind the unit rule is not worth it. It should never have been.

¶ The movement for simplifying spelling goes on though it makes little progress. There is no objection to it. It is well founded. We who were brought up from childhood to the use of English are accustomed to the sight of words spelled in a certain way and we regard people as ill-educated, if not ill-bred, who are not up to the game of accurate spelling.

And yet our spelling differs in some respect from that of the last centuries preceding. In a word, the English language is gradually simplifying itself in its spelling. The efforts of those who are in a hurry about it are excellent, but, like all reformers, they must have their days of disappointment while waiting for the rest of the world to catch up with them.

It is the general view of linguists and of travelers that the English language is the best and easiest to learn that the world has ever known, save in the respect of its spelling. The immigrants learn enough English on the way over on the steamer to be able to get along tolerably well when they land in America.

The fact that it has no grammar, that it has an abundance of very short words with no inflectional endings after verbs, and all that, indicate that English was made for the service of mankind, but in some way, with perversity unexplainable, it has the worst spelling that one can imagine, so that there are whole classes of words with twenty kinds of pronunciation whose spelling is almost alike, at least in their endings.

They are perfectly justified in their action who plead for change and need of reform in English spelling. Some day the descendants of this generation of reformers will see the dream realized that has been in the minds of lovers of English for generations. It is not a new thing. They have always been the men of learning, those who love the language, who sought to improve it so as to make it more serviceable and more easily handled.

When it does reach its best estate in spelling, as it has in every other respect, the English language will so easily conquer the world as to make all competition with it impossible.

¶ Sometimes I have been quoted as being against the present banking system because it did not allow the farmer a chance to borrow money when he wanted it. Sanford would be twice as rich today and the farmer could do twice as much if it were possible to borrow money from the bank in order to start the fall crop. The Democratic platform makers harked to my call when they framed the following plank in the platform:

"Of equal importance with the question of currency reform is the question of rural credits or agricultural finance. The reform we recommend is that an investigation of agricultural credit societies in foreign countries be made, so that it may be ascertained whether a system of rural credits may be devised suitable to conditions in the United States; and we also recommend legislation permitting national banks to lend a reasonable proportion of their funds on real estate security."

In several ways the foregoing plank in the platform, adopted in the Baltimore convention, ranks among the most important reforms to be undertaken by the Democratic party and, as the Republican convention went on record with the statement that it is of "great importance to the social and economic welfare of this country that its farmers have facilities for borrowing easily and cheaply the money they need to increase the production of their land," it is almost certain that some more barriers are to be removed in the course of the "back to the farm" movement.

Farming has been classed as a "gamble," entirely too long. The toss up chance with rain and drought and heat and cold have been so lessened by irrigation and drainage systems, that every day sees agriculture approaching the lines of a perfect science. It is now a vocation in which skill rather than luck is the principal factor and the farmer, under ordinary circumstances, knows what his profits and losses ought to be at the end of the year, quite as well as does the merchant or manufacturer. Under the prevailing credit system, the merchant or manufacturer may fill out a note and carry on his business with comparative ease, while the farmer must execute a mortgage, usually at a high rate of interest, with the feeling constantly hanging over him, of an invalidated farm and his lower rating.

In one sense of the word, he has no business rating. Where men engaged in other pursuits can readily borrow money on their "prospects," the farmer must show his grain in the crib or his fattened cattle in the yard, before he can borrow from the banks, the sums that would have insured success, if the money could have been available at the right season of the year.

It is time that the farmer be given a better deal. Unquestionably recognized as the bulwark of the country, determining to no small degree the cost of living, furnishing the rations of more than ninety millions of people, he must be given the economic and social privileges bestowed upon any other class of business men.

Governor Accused of Grafting

Charges of a highly sensational nature against Governor Blease of South Carolina were sprung at Augusta in the course of the South Carolina legislative investigation committee probe into the old state dispensary system.

Testimony was to the effect that Gov. Blease received $500 for blocking the road legislation; $200 for thwarting the first attempted dispensary investigation; and that the Governor gets his share of the blind tiger "protection" money in Charleston.

Detective Burns on the stand said he would prefer that the committee examine the records his men would have to submit in the case. When asked if the work he had done would show whether or not "Blease has been grafting as Governor and as State Senator" then the direct question was applied to him.

"Do you mean that the records will show whether or not he has been grafting as Governor or Senator?"

"Yes," quietly replied Burns.

ONE LEGISLATOR AWAKE

Van Valzah Will Fight The Insurance Trust

The Florida Legislature will be called upon to investigate the Insurance Trust that now has the business men of the state by the throat and already the various members are sitting up and taking notice. Among them is Dr. Van Valzah who writes the following in Dixie. He will introduce a bill to liberate the people of Florida from the trusts as follows:

In the first bill the people of our state will receive immediate benefits as it will reduce the cost of living about twenty-five per cent if the business people are true to themselves and their fellowmen.

The writer has given this over five years' study and is prepared in due course of time to give figures and facts that will make the people wake up, sit up and perhaps "howl" to see how they have been robbed for so many years by the insurance barons who have held them up in broad daylight while those who were on guard were seemingly oblivious to the fact.

Facts will be given showing that millions of dollars are taken out of this state each year at about 800 per cent profit which will prove this to be one of the principal factors in the high cost of living. State insurance might be suggested, such as already exists in many states, but it is not a panacea. It is a burden in the borders of our own state, which will mean a gain to every citizen and help reduce our taxes.

The second bill is explained in brief as follows. There is now a law requiring the face value of the fire insurance policy to be paid on all buildings destroyed by fire. Why is this? Because as a rule the wealthy of the land own the buildings and they can pass any law. Now comes the chance of the people. Keep your eyes on this bill and insist that it be passed; don't let them scare you by shouting "wild cat" insurance. This is not an experiment we are only behind; as the foremost states in the Union now have this law, and the most approved of these will be your law.

As a rule the common people own the chattels or contents of the burned buildings and I ask in the name of justice what do they get? Experience answers "any old thing" the insurance companies have a mind to give them.

Slick agents beat the common people down oftentimes to a mere pittance, although the present law allows the insurance companies to take an exorbitant, extortionate premium on the face of their policy and then permits them to settle at one-fourth or one-half the amount upon which they have paid this 800 per cent profit. Is this justice? Is it any wonder the poor are growing poorer and the rich richer?

"It has been said that those whom the gods seek to destroy they first make mad." Are the rich growing mad that they are losing all consideration for the rights of the common people? Do they forget who made it possible for them to become rich, that on the prosperity of the people depends their future prosperity, happiness and safety?

Thirteen Killed in Wreck

Chicago, Ill., July 15. Thirteen persons were killed and fifteen to twenty injured in a wreck on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad at Western Springs, a suburb of Chicago, at 6:30 a. m. today.

Coming through a fog with supposedly a clear track ahead, train No. 8, a fast mail, ran at full speed into the rear of train No. 2, known as the Overland Express from Denver, which was standing still on the track, telescoping two of the Overland's Pullman cars.

Railroad officials refuse to fix the blame until after the wreck has been investigated thoroughly. Mrs. F. A. Wilcox, who was in charge of the tower from which the block signals were controlled, said she was certain the block was thrown against both trains. She collapsed after the accident and still is in a nervous condition.

Cloudburst in Illinois

Four persons were drowned at Alton, Illinois, yesterday by a cloudburst which destroyed two miles of streets, wrecked six buildings and the Gas plant of the Alton Gas and Electric Company with a large property loss.

The cloudburst followed a spectacular storm which lasted all night. Three times it passed over Alton, flooding streets and cellars each time. The third time rain fell in torrents, sending a wall of water nine feet deep through the principal business and residence streets.

Sewers broke, washing away the foundations of six residences, which dropped into the cellars.

A culvert under the gas plant of the Alton Gas and Electric Company was washed out and the entire plant sank several yards.

One Moonlight Night

By DONALD ALLEN

(Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press.)

There was no particular excitement when the Hon. John Watkins and his son James arrived at the mountain resort on an August day. The Hon. John was sixty-five years old and rich and a widower. His son was twenty years old and confident and fat. But for the son's confident nature it would not have been known to all the guests within three days that the governor, meaning his old man, was on the lookout for a second wife, and he wanted a young one at that.

The Hon. John neither denied nor confirmed the story. He simply looked about like a man who would marry if he found the right woman. There were mammas who secured introductions to him when they heard of his wealth, and there were a very few daughters who looked at him from afar off and wondered if they wanted another grandpa.

It was when the Widow Savage arrived that the flutter began. She was fair and forty. She had the independent toes of the head that goes with widowhood, after the first year. She had little ways with her eyes and mouth that made all the other women jealous the very first day. Of course, the stupid men simply looked upon her as a widow, but it was her own sex that unmasked her. When one of them said: "That widow has come here to catch a man!" all repeated it in chorus.

There were plenty of young people at the resort. Some widows, as soon as hearing that the Hon. John was wife-hunting would have gone man-hunting in return. The Widow Savage didn't. She eluded him. She didn't coddle the fat son, as some women did. She forced father and son to keep their distance and selected only after three or four days. Her victim was a young man. He had already tangled himself up with a blue-eyed girl a year younger, but that fact did not away the widow the least bit. When she got ready to appropriate him she did so.

The blue-eyed girl made a very poor attempt to show the people she didn't care, and then it was noticed that the Hon. John was giving her all his attention. They sat together and walked together and talked together, and the fat son saw things and took his father to task by saying:

He Began to Tell Her His Life History

"Now, gov. don't make a fool of yourself. That girl won't make a mammy for me. Why don't you go for the widow?"

"James, the widow is base," was the reply. "The second time a woman marries she marries for money. She marries to boss the resort. She marries hoping her husband will soon get off the earth and give her a third show."

"But she's a stayer, gov. Fine looker, and what a walk she has on her! If you are elected to congress next year what a team you'd make!"

"But the Widow Savage, James, has almost snubbed me. I will confess that I had an eye on her for a day or two, but she is cold and distant—cold and distant. She may argue that I would outlive her."

But, as if to prove that the Hon. John's diagnosis was all wrong, the Widow Savage threw herself in his way the very next day and was most entertaining. The nose of Miss Blue Eyes was out of joint again. Her second flirtation was spoiled by the widow. Her eyes flashed with anger, and when the Hon. John asked her to sit in one of the grottoes she coldly declined.

"Forget her, governor, and go for the widow," was the advice of James, who didn't do any flirting but kept his eyes open.

"Blase, James—blase! Blase and artful! She'd twist me around her finger like a string. I will toy with her now and then but my mind is made up on Miss Smith. In fact, I have already talked love to her and led her to expect a proposal."

Miss Smith was walking by herself in the hotel grounds. She was thinking of widows as she walked one widow in particular. Miss Smith was classed 'way up at the head of smart, good looking girls, and she had been humiliated. She bit her lip and gritted her teeth and felt the tears start as she sauntered. Her mother had said it didn't matter in the least, but it did matter. It mattered just the difference between victory and defeat, and—

And then the Widow Savage suddenly appeared and took her arm and walked her up the path to the Outlook, and when they were seated on the rocks she softly said:

"I am not your enemy, but your friend. You don't wish to marry that old man, do you?"

"Mercy, no!" was the reply, as Miss Smith forgot her desire for revenge.

"Well, I do."

"But you—you got Frank away from me."

"And I'm going to give him back. I was just using him as a means to an end. I called him a booby a moment ago, and he'll be on his knees to you tomorrow. The Hon. John is to be my next husband."

"But how—how do you work things?"

"By being a widow. Now, listen to me."

The evening came on with a full, clear moon. The moon so worked on the sentimental nature of the Hon. John, as well as the surrounding corn crop, that he invited Miss Smith to wander with him. To his great joy she accepted his arm. They walked as far as Seal Rock and then sat down and gazed at the moon. Porpoise Rock, Fish Rock and Whale Rock also were near at hand.

After the silence had lasted four or five minutes the Hon. John cleared his throat. The noise set the frogs in the pond a plippling. After another interval he took Miss Smith's hand in his. There came a third interval, and then he began to tell her his life history. It was a sad one. It was full of step-fathers and step-mothers and bolts and colle and kicks from cows that cared not for his forlorn condition. He had married and not been happy and lost his wife and not been happy over that and for years and years had lived a lonely life with only a fat son to cheer him. He was rich but lonely. He was rich but he yearned. He wanted a broode with a cat and a wife. He wanted to come home after a hard day's work in seeing the district leaders of the Tenth ward and have some one call him hubby.

At intervals of about a foot, as marked off on a tape measure, Miss Smith sighed and cuddled, but that was all. As the Hon. John brought his story down to date and his voice broke and he had to use his handkerchief to wipe away the scalding tears. Miss Smith's own handkerchief got away from her and the night breeze carried it to Porpoise Rock. She twisted away her hand and ran after it and even disappeared behind the rock for an instant. She had returned and taken her seat again and surrendered her hand by the time the Hon. John had chased the tear away and was ready to say:

"And now, love, it is for you to say whether this lonely life shall continue or not."

The hand he held squeezed his. "I have loved you since the first moment I saw you."

A harder squeeze.

"And I ask you to be my wife."

"I will, John!"

"By thunder, it's the widow!" exclaimed the Hon. John, as he scrambled to his feet.

"And we'll say a month from today if that will please you!"

The Hon. John hurried away to the hotel to consult his fat son.

"She's got you tight, gov. and you'll have to go through with it," was the information extended. "Put up job, but breach of promise and all that if you don't stand by your word. Splendid looker! Splendid dresser! Superb walker! Say, parent, you just missed making an ass of yourself. Get a move on you!"

And the Hon. John did, and they say he has never regretted it.

Old South Carolina Church. St. Michael's, in Charleston, South Carolina, at the time of its completion, in 1761, was the finest church edifice in the United States, and one of the very few entirely of masonry construction, including the tower as far as the belfry. It now stands apparently as firm as the day it was dedicated. Work on it was begun in 1762. Like almost all the colonial churches, this one suffered vicissitudes during the Revolutionary war; its rector was a Tory and was compelled to resign, leaving the church affairs in a somewhat chaotic condition. Materially it suffered through the loss of its leaden roof, which was removed to furnish bullets for the colonial rifles.

WE WIN WITH WILSON

NOW FOR GOOD ROADS

Sanford has been made a special road district.

Sanford has voted $200,000 for build-

Sanford has taken the initiative for the state of Florida.

Sanford by her unqualified endorsement of the bond issue last Saturday has gone on record as the original good roads section in the original good roads county in Florida.

To those progressive men who voted bonds for good roads The Herald wishes to express the thanks of the entire community. You have made history for yourself, for your county and for posterity. You have cast your bread upon the waters and it will be returned to you one hundred fold. By your works shall you be known far and wide and through future generations. You have acted wisely and well and future development and prosperity will be your reward. To the few who did not vote for the measure we have no condemnation. Many of you did not thoroughly understand the question and your opinion was shaped largely upon former expenditures for roads and you could not realize the benefits to accrue from money in bonds spent in your own road district. You had the prerogative to exercise the franchise and you voted as you thought best. In after years the men who were not in favor of the bond issue and brick roads will be converted and will be the greatest enthusiasts that we have for better roads. The money will be spent here where you can see it and will be handled by your home people. There will be no salaries attached or offices held as sinecures. Every dollar will purchase one dollar's worth of good roads and when finished each tax payer can have a full accounting. The expression given at the polls on Saturday was the decision of honest people who are tax payers. They want full value for the money spent and there will be no graft attached to our proposition. Permanent brick roads and no more repairs will be the slogan. Lateral roads that have never received any attention and never would under the old regime will now be made good clay, matl or straw roads according to the judgment of the supervisor. The brick roads will be constructed first and then work on the principal highways can stop and all the attention given to the side roads that are needed so badly. In this manner every section of the Sanford road district should be reached by a good road. If not important enough to require brick they will get the material that is now given to the principal roads and the laterals should be kept up and dragged smooth and kept in fine shape. In this way every main road and every side road can be traversed by the teams and autos in safety at all times and seasons, and travel will be a pleasure instead of a burden as it is now.

Sanford has again demonstrated to the world that her people have a great and abiding faith in the future of the greatest vegetable growing section in the world. Her people have again demonstrated that they are the most progressive in the south. Such a spirit builds cities and communities and in the building we will have the assistance of other capital, for this spirit will not down and will not be kept under a bushel. New people and new capital will be attracted to Sanford. We have emerged from the swaddling clothes of the infant and donned the habiliments of the full blown and full grown adult and the climb toward greater heights will be easier now than the most difficult part has been traversed.

WATCH THE SANFORD SECTION GROW.

TURN THEM DOWN
This week there have been several different parties around the city begging. They were directed to the office of the Charity Association, but some of them refused to go, preferring to try and work the sympathy racket on the unsuspecting public and get the cash, rather than have the publicity thrown on them and given clothes and food if they really needed them.

The Herald again wishes to call your attention to the fact that Sanford has the finest kind of a Charity Association organized lately and in full working order. The secretary, Mrs. McDaniel is one of the kindest and biggest hearted ladies in the world. No case that is worthy will ever be turned down by her. A Christian, a mother, of intellectual ability and experienced in charity and settlement work, our secretary is the very embodiment of the spirit of charity and there is no excuse for any deserving patient not going to the Association and stating the case to the secretary. The business men of the city have been annoyed long enough by these professional beggars and the Association is the result of long study and deliberation on the subject of the best way to handle this difficult matter. The people of this city by their liberal donations to the Association have signified their intentions of standing by the work. Since you have set your seal of approval upon the work give to it not only by your financial, but also by your moral obligation, and when these cases come to your door direct them to the secretary, and then if they do not heed your admonition the officers should see that they are sent out of the city. The professional beggar does not want to approach the real Charity Association. He will be discovered at once and sent on his way. The professional pan handler wants real money—easy money that can be picked up on the street for the asking. He is the one to receive scant ceremony and the people would be doing themselves, the Association and the beggar good by turning him over to the proper authorities.

We have at last reached the proper solution of this charity affair, and we wish to impress upon every one the necessity of establishing the iron clad rule of donating to no one. Direct each and every case to the secretary's office and rest assured that they will be taken care of and all their wants supplied if they are really worthy.

FLORIDA FEVER BUGABOO

The Herald is in receipt of letters each week from northern people who want to know about the fever that they understand is prevalent in the state. For their benefit we quote the following:

"Joseph M. Howe, M. D., clinical professor of surgery in the Medical Department of the University of New York, Fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine, etc., and an author of medical works, says of Florida:

"The climate of our American Italy has been the subject of considerable misrepresentation. It has been alternately praised and slandered, praised for its mildness and equability, blamed for its swamps and malaria. Only within the last year or two has its paramount claims as a pure, balmy, health giving climate been fully established. Statistics by careful and disinterested observers have decided the truth of some statements and the exaggeration of others. It is often said, for instance, that malarial fevers prevail to a much greater extent in Florida than in any other state, and that the mortality from these fevers is excessive, because the air is constantly loaded with mephitic vapors. But the truth is that intermittent and remittent fevers in Florida are of a milder type, run their course quicker, and are attended by less mortality than is the case in any other state in the Union. These facts are ascertained by Surgeon General Lawson, who found that in the northern section of this country one in every fifty-four cases of remittent fever proved fatal; in the central sections, one in thirty-eight; in Texas, one in seventy-five; and in Florida, only one in two hundred and eighty-seven."

THREE CROPS IN SANFORD

The following regarding the potato crop in Maine is taken from the Produce News:

"It is conceded by all potato growers in Aroostook county that the season is from two to three weeks behind normal. In 75 per cent of the fields the tops show anywhere from a sprout to three and four inches above the ground. The other 25 per cent is beginning to cover the ground and a few fields are in blossom.

A few growers are taking chances and are planting and will no doubt get caught by early frost. It is true the season was late and the weather remained unusually cold up to 10 days ago, but it is believed the bad start will not interfere with the final results.

For the last week the heat has been intense, the temperature rising from 90 to 98 every day with frequent heavy showers. The weather is ideal for a rapid growth and growers are happy.

While it is safe to predict there will be no shipping from Aroostook before the middle of August, it is believed the late planting will make up lost time and Aroostook will produce its usual crop."

Sanford has taken a crop of Irish potatoes from the soil, marketed them, planted a crop of corn on the same land, corn is ready for the crib and fodder is being fed to the stock and in a few weeks the ground will be ready for another crop of potatoes that will bring a good price on account of the scarcity of potatoes the world over. All of which brings us back to the subject of whether Floridians are not living in the best country in the world. Think of the Maine growers who are just now getting the tops of the potatoes above the ground and think of the short season they have and then think of Florida where you can raise a crop every month of the year, and yet there are some people who prefer to live in Maine.

PINELLAS IS PEEVISH

The Herald publishes a sketch of Sanford's proposed big new tourist hotel and starts the long booster article about it off in this way:

"Take Augusta, Ga., the greatest winter resort in the south," etc.

Such ignorance—and in a Florida editor, above all—is pitiful, indeed—but what can be done about it? We ourselves have personally urged Editor Holly several times to see St. Petersburg, but he has never done it.—St. Petersburg Times.

We deny the allegation and defy the alligator. The editor of the Herald never said it. Mr. Fielda wrote the article and signed his name to it. He is a former Augusta man and prominent among the boosters of the Georgia city. He can be pardoned for the lupus Faberius for he is a true Florida booster now. Speaking about St. Petersburg, though how did that item get in the bill of fare while we were discussing Florida resorts?

We wish to warn Straub right now that we expect to come to his beautiful little city soon and then he can show us the exact spot on the map where St. Pete is supposed to be.

At its recent meeting in Palatka, the Florida Press Association did not endorse everything. An effort was made to get it to endorse a certain bill that will be presented at the next legislature. This motion was withdrawn, because some editors said they had not read the bill, and no one had a copy.

There was one motion made that carried an endorsement. The Association by a unanimous vote expressed its approval of Governor's Gilchrist's continued efforts for the elimination of technicalities and delays in court methods. The motion also congratulated His Excellency on the fact that the Florida State Bar Association had prepared and endorsed a bill looking in that direction.

The News has not approved of some of the Governor's vetoes and has not liked his official attitude towards certain questions, yet we are at one with him in the matter of the reform in court methods. To a layman, who sees courts as the people acting to accomplish ends, our courts seem slow. There is, to say the least, too much seeming delay and technicality. How to remedy it we do not know. The Governor from the start, before his election and afterwards, has been hitting and talking with a view towards changing the conditions or practices. Now that the lawyers are moving something will be done.—DeSoto News.

THE ST. LUCIE COUNTY TRIBUNE WAS JUST SEVEN YEARS OLD LAST PRESS DAY and Editor Wilson has just cause for congratulation, because he certainly has one of the neatest and best weeklies in Florida. Printed upon good book paper and filled from cover to cover with WWW and filled from cover to cover with good stuff each week the Tribune reflects the manly editor who conducts it and we would not be surprised to learn that Wilson's wife helps him some, for while not a suffragette Mrs. Wilson is one of the bright lights in the Soroasis of the Florida Press Association. May the Wilsons and the Tribune have many more birthdays and continue to bring honor and credit upon Florida journalism.

THE FORT MYERS BOARD OF TRADE HAS JUST ISSUED ONE OF THE FINEST BITS OF LITERATURE

descriptive of the charms of that beautiful city, and if the Press did the work they are to be commended. It cannot fail to attract home seekers and tourists to Fort Myers and vicinity. Inured as we are to the attractions of Florida we are almost tempted to take a trip to Fort Myers and see the big guns like Nathan Stout, Capt. Hendry, Pete Ruhl and all the other loud noises. Congratulations to the Board of Trade, the Press and all the gang of boosters who are keeping the lower West Coast in the public eye.

AFTER TWENTY YEARS

Sanford Boy Returns to Scenes of His Younger Days

Many of the older citizens of this city will remember F. H. Brusie, who lived here some twenty years ago, belonged to the fire department, Gate City Rifles and took part in everything that was worth while. He was a railroad fireman and broke his arm while trying to crank an engine. Afterward he went to Philadelphia and held some very responsible positions as general machinist. On account of failing health he was forced to give up active work. In the meantime he married and four children blessed the union. He has them today and they are doing a vaudeville stunt at the Imperial this week. In one of the acts one of the little girls wears a plug hat that was presented to Mr. Brusie as winner of the obstacle race on old No. 2 of the Sanford fire department, the event taking place in front of the Sanford House and the presentation being made by Mayor Harris.

Mr. Brusie has many reminiscences of old times in Sanford, and during his stay here expects to look for all his old friends and live again the stirring times of early days.

Practical Motor Ship.

Without funnels, coal, firemen and smoke the forerunner of the new motorship has arrived. The Danish East Asiatic Company has made a "practical test with a new boat of ten thousand tons displacement. The ship is an oil burner and is, in fact, a immense motor boat driven by engines somewhat similar to those in use upon motor cars. The engine room has an oppressive heat and but little noise. It all tanks at the keel carry sufficient fuel for a cruise around the world.

Norway's Water Power.

According to recent reports, the amount of water power which is in the way of preparation in Norway is 1,000,000 horsepower in addition to the existing 400,000 horsepower. Many large projects for the hydraulic work upon the large streams have been the subject of franchise granted during the last few years, and such work is now about finished. The hydraulic work on Mjosen is completed and another enterprise on the Samnanger stream is soon to give the city of Bergen a large amount of electric current.

First Lady Diplomat.

It is not America but Europe that is to be first to recognize the petticoat diplomat. Brussels, in Belgium, is to be the place where this recognition is to take place. Dr. Luis, minister plenipotentiary, representing officially the Republic of Uruguay, has presented proper papers to King Albert of Belgium, and will hereafter be received at court with all the honors given to ambassadors and ministers of foreign powers. And this South American diplomat is a woman, Mademoiselle Clotilde Luis, doctor of laws of the University of Montevideo. The new minister is young, unmarried and, it is said, pretty. The secretaries and attaches of the different embassies at Brussels are now striving in gallantry to make favor with the first woman to arrive at a dignity which had apparently never even been thought of by the most audacious suffragettes.

"Titanic" as Baby's Name.

A baker, on registering the birth of his daughter, at Arad, in Hungary, informed the registrar that he intended to have her christened Titanic, as she was born on the day the White Star liner sank. The official, however, refused to accept this name, as it is not to be found in the calendar of Roman Catholic saints' days, and the baker had to content himself with the less topical name of Rosalia. In this case the rule of the church, which is upheld by the state, saved the child from bearing through life an appellation which is not only unsuitable, to say the least of it, for a little girl, but would also recall for many years one of the most tragic disasters of modern times. Sometimes, however, the rule operates rather hardly, as when recently a Viennese was not allowed to have his child christened Daisy, after her mother, who is an English woman.

Where Moses Studied.

The necropolis of Heliopolis, the intellectual center of Egypt for more than four thousand years, has been discovered by Daninos Pasha. Heliopolis also is known as the town where Moses received the sacerdotal and military training which preceded his leadership of the Israelites in their journey out of Egypt. The necropolis is situated in the desert a little more than three miles to the east of the Matarieh obelisk. There are many burial pits cut out of the rock in the last spurs of the Arabian range. Those which have been excavated by Daninos Pasha were from 65 to 120 feet deep. They were filled to the top with sand and contained embalmed human bodies and the skeletons of sacred animals and birds. Undamaged ibis eggs were found.

FAVORS BRICK ROADS

Hillsborough County Commissioner Wants Brick for County

Strong endorsement for paving the county roads with brick was given yesterday afternoon by W. A. West, chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, in conversation with a representative of the Tribune and several other persons. Mr. West's attention was called to the fact that many roads throughout the county are in need of repairs, and that this situation is due to the policy followed for many years of constructing roads of rock and clay.

When the reporter suggested the suggested construction of brick roads, Mr. West said:

"That is what will have to be done. With the clay and brick roads now existing $100,000 per year is required to keep them in repair, and all the money that can be spared for road work is only about $180,000 a year, leaving only $30,000 for new roads. Brick is the best paving material. If that was not the case, the state of Ohio would not be laying brick. The cost there is very heavy, because the brick paving must be laid on a base of concrete to make it solid.

"Another thing, there is no chance for contractors to fall in specifications in laying brick roads. Either the paving is laid or it is not laid, while with rock and clay roads the contractors can lay what appears to be a good road and at many points leaving it much thinner than the specifications without being found out."

While the original cost of laying brick is considerably more than that of laying rock or clay roads, great saving ultimately results, in the opinion of unbiased authorities on road work, because vitrified brick will last almost forever and requires no repairs. A few years of systematic brick paving work and Hillsborough they declare, would have the finest road system in the state.—Tampa Tribune.

Another Orlando Daily

It is reported on what seems to be good authority that Orlando is really to have another daily newspaper. Mr. Josiah Ferris, proprietor of the South Florida Sentinel says that the building he now occupies has been leased by the new company and that he has got to hunt another location. One of the stockholders of the new enterprise reports that seven thousand dollars' worth of stock has already been sold and other report says a new linotype machine has already been ordered. Messrs. Benedict, Snowden, Thomason and Morse are said to be the promoters. Orlando is hardly large enough to support one daily and it seems inevitable that two cannot succeed, but only time can tell which of the two it will be.—Tampa Tribune.

To Resist The Law

There was a meeting of some thirty-five local automobile owners and drivers in P. J. Beck's office last Wednesday evening. These men are all to be arrested tomorrow; not because of the meeting, but because they have not paid their state and county automobile license. The meeting was for the purpose of organizing and resisting the payment of the tax, which the participants all regard as an imposition on otherwise law abiding citizens. The meeting raised a fund and decided to employ Hon. S. J. Hilburn to fight the case for them. They believe the law to be unconstitutional; anyway they think it would be just as proper to charge a man a license to push a mule cart as it is to push a gasoline wagon.—Palatka Herald.

Strikers Are Rioting

Toledo, Ohio, July 15.—Two men were shot and three injured by stones in a riot early this evening, when a crowd of union sympathizers attacked a dray on which a number of strike breakers were riding. None of the men were seriously injured.

After the shooting, fifteen guards, said by the police to be imported strike breakers, were arrested, on a charge of shooting with intent to kill. They were released on bail.

Militiamen Killed By Lightning

Anniston, Ala., July 15.—Charles Kirby and H. Rape were killed and seven others seriously injured when the mess tent of Company B, Second Alabama Infantry was struck by lightning today.

One of the men injured is not expected to live. The injured were taken to hospitals immediately after the accident.

All are members of the Birmingham company.

Moon Lotus

By JEAN DICKERSON

(Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Trust.)

Sano-koga is an idyllic Japanese village near Tokio. Russell Lane had unsuccessfully tried to put some of its beauties on canvas, but the occidental brush is too heavy to do justice to the delicate airiness of Nipponese scenery.

"I've tried water colors and crayon and pen and ink—and I can't do a thing with it!" he growled at his host who was watching him from the veranda. With a quick stroke he painted out his work and tossed down the brushes.

Lucius White smiled wisely. "Because you're not Nipponese," he said. "Give a native artist a scrap of parchment and with a splash of water colors or a dab of India ink he would reproduce my garden so that you could bear the leaves rustling on the mulberry tree."

"I believe it because you are a missionary and you ought to speak the truth," replied Russell, looking enviously about the miniature garden, where art had so assisted nature that the diversified landscapes of a great estate had been compressed within the confines of the half-acre that belonged to the missionary's house.

On a dwarfed scale there was a sweep of turf, tinkling streams spanned by fairy bridges, stunted trees, beds of flowers, pavilions and tea-houses, graveled walks, and in the center, beneath a circle of willow trees, there was a large lake whose surface was almost covered with lotus leaves.

"Try again," encouraged Mr. White. "Come out tonight when the moon lotus blooms and paint the garden by moonlight."

Russell shook his head. "No," he said regretfully, "if I cannot paint your Japanese garden when the sun shines on it I am sure that I could not do it when it is bathed in moonlight. Sano-koga tempts me so sorely that I shall go away."

"At least you will defer your departure until you have seen my lotus pond in full bloom," protested the missionary.

"When is that to be?"

"It should be in bloom tonight when the moon is full. Then the pink buds will unfold under a cold gaze of Luna, only to close again when she sets. It is a rare sight in the season."

"I will stay," decided Russell, putting away his painting things.

"Good!" cried Mr. White, rousing himself. "Let us ask Millie to give us a lunch of rice cakes and fruit and we will ride out to Sunset Hill and I believe I can promise you a brief glimpse of the top of Fujiyama."

It was after sunset when they returned from the ricksha ride, and they sat down to table by the light of a very American oil lamp.

Mrs. White announced that a message from a sick servant would summon them to the other end of the village.

"I am so sorry, Lucius, because the moon lotus will bloom tonight," she added.

"I have promised Russell a rare sight if he will remain—perhaps we will return in time."

"Don't disturb yourselves on my account," was Russell's assurance; "I will watch the phenomenon myself."

"Look out that you are not snared by the witchery of the moon lotus spirit," teased Mr. White.

"Ah, there is a legend connected with it?"

"Whatever maid or bachelor watches the opening of the moon lotus will see revealed the future."

"Fate! Implying future life partner!" laughed Russell.

"Of course."

"Although I am an avowed bachelor, I will put it to proof this very night! Am I assured of having the lotus lake to myself, or must I share the gift of the gods with one of your servants?"

"Oh, no! There is a lantern festival at Harashi and every one will be there."

"Good! By the time you return I shall no longer be heart-free." Russell Lane waved his friends good-by as they rolled away in their rickshas and made his way back to the garden veranda where he could look down at the little lake lying a few yards beyond.

The full moon was just showing above the tops of some black and ragged cedars on a distant hill, and it would be some time before its silver rays touched the surface of the lake to awaken into life the closed buds of the moon lotus.

There was the chirrup of countless insects in the garden grasses, the cry of an owl, the slip-slipping of straw-sandaled feet on the matted floors within as the servants went to and fro. After a while those sounds died away in a burst of happy laughter from the kitchen entrance and disappeared down a hedged lane.

The moon rose rapidly. Russell strolled down to the shore of the lake and threw himself on a white marble bench. In his white clothes he became part of the snowy bench.

The magic of the moon lotus was working.

There came a whispering rustle as of the opening of hundreds of flower petals, but he derided the fancy. With one idle hand he could have touched the nearest lotus had he wished.

The moon flooded the lake, and even as he gazed the dark patches of leaves and buds stirred and almost imperceptibly their appearance changed. What all had been darkness was now a field of pink bloom and there was a heavily sweet fragrance on the air.

At that moment Russell Lane declared he would believe anything he saw—and yet, almost instantly, his credulity was strained to its utmost.

There came a soft sigh near at hand. His eyes shifted from the lake to the bank beside his bench.

A girl was standing there, half poised on the shore of the lake, one foot on the low stone coping, her hands clasped loosely before her. She was slender and dark-haired and garbed in a loose Japanese robe of some pale shimmering fabric that seemed woven of the white moonlight and the pale pink of the lotus blooms. Russell could see her profile, for she, too, was gazing in rapt delight at the phenomenon of the unclosing of the moon lotus.

She had not seen him—she was entirely oblivious of his presence.

Who was she? The spirit of the moon lotus made visible for one magic hour? Russell looked at the pale robed form and then at the pink glory of the blossoms.

In the second that his attention was diverted she saw him and shrank back with a startled exclamation and he knew that she was flesh and blood and of his own race. Instantly he was upon his feet and apologizing for frightening her.

"It was too beautiful to disturb by mere words," he explained. "The Whites are away this evening and told me of the opening of the flowers; it is a rare sight."

"Yes, indeed," she said in a soft, deep voice that matched the dark beauty of her eyes and the creamy loveliness of her skin. "I live next door to the Whites and I have just returned from Tokio. I thought the garden was deserted, and I could not resist coming over to see the lotus blooms."

"They tell me that there is a legend connected with the opening of the moon lotus."

It was on the tip of Russell's tongue to give utterance to this daring remark, but at that moment the girl turned and her foot slipped on the stone coping. She would have fallen in among the lotus flowers if he had not caught her in his arms.

For an instant they looked in each other's eyes, and in the brief interval each one realized that the fate meted out to every maid and bachelor who looks upon the unclosing of the moon lotus was theirs.

Poisonous Metals in Foods.
A pure food investigation by Dr. Carlo Formenti of Milan has dealt with poisonous metals in food supplies. Most metal salts are poisonous, and are liable to occur in acid foods and drinks from chemical action on containing vessels. Lemonade and other acid drinks so popular in America, and even carbonated waters, often contain lead.

Removing India's Capital.
Arrangements are proceeding rapidly for the removal of the winter capital of India from Calcutta to Delhi. It is expected that by next January accommodations for all departments will be in readiness. The finance and comptroller general's departments are expected to move next October.

Chris. Codrington Nails The Plunder-band Again

On April 19, The News called attention to the unjust "re-rating" given Lake Helen and Cassadaga dwellings by Mr. Harris of the Insurance Trust. The trust has issued a re-rating slip dated April 13th, 1912, in which many of the residences of Lake Helen and Cassadaga had been increased 25 cents per hundred dollars, on the allegation that the chimneys in the houses were not built on brackets. Under date of April 14, dated only one day later than the first slip, another re-rating slip was issued cutting out the additional charge of 25 cents. The second re-rating slip, which dated only one day later than the first one, was not received by insurance agents here until after the middle of May. This was an arbitrary charge, made with the evident intention of extortion, as no such provision is made in the book issued by the insurance companies on which rates are supposed to be based. If other towns in Florida are paying this extra charge of 15 cents per hundred, the citizens should take up the matter, through the press, and force the insurance companies to return to them the amount they have been overcharged. The overcharge does not amount to more than two or three dollars to each property owner, but in the aggregate it will amount to considerable to a whole community—and it is simply a steal. Not satisfied with increasing the property on nearly all DeLand properties that has been re-rated since the town put in a paid fire department, the insurance trust has now added 15 cents per hundred on furniture contained in a dwelling, and 20 cents per hundred on dwellings that are rented from time to time. In other words, if a DeLand man who rents his house for a few weeks during the height of the tourist season has been carrying $2,000 insurance on his house and $1,000 on his furniture, paying in the past $60.00 for a three years policy, now wants to insure his property it will cost him an additional $1.50 for his furniture and $4.00 more for the insurance on his dwelling. This is according to the new rate made under date of May 4, the re-rating granted the people of DeLand in consideration of their increased fire department expense of one or two thousand dollars per year. When our people get real tired of this steal they will force their representatives in the legislature to protect them. In the meantime they should provide the extra $5.50 that the Insurance Trust wants from each one of them. DeLand News

Deeper Waterways Association

Philadelphia, Pa., July 15 Congressman J. Hampton Moore, President of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association, has issued the call for the Fifth Annual Convention of that body which will take place September 10th, 5th and 6th, at New London, Conn. and from the present indications it will far exceed any previous convention in point of attendance.

The New London arrangements are being worked out by a committee of prominent business men and city officials, of which Mayor Bryan F. Mahan is chairman, and it is said that the program of entertainment will equal, if not excel, the best that has been provided at any of the previous gatherings.

One of the features of the convention will be an assemblage of the Governors of the Atlantic Seaboard States on the first day. Fraternal greetings between the north and south will be a feature of these proceedings. Governor Baldwin of Connecticut will make the address of welcome on behalf of the "Nutmeg" state and Governor Mann of Virginia will respond for the south. It is expected that President Taft and Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey will also be present during the exercises.

The Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association was formed in 1907 for the purpose of agitating an inland waterway from Maine to Florida. The agitation resulted in the adoption of a definite project, the largest section of which has been surveyed by Government Engineers and favorably recommended to Congress. This section extends from Boston across Cape Cod by canal to Buzzard's Bay; to Long Island Sound; to Raritan Bay; across New Jersey by the New Jersey sea level canal to the Delaware River; to Delaware Bay; to the Delaware and Chesapeake Canal; to Chesapeake Bay, thence from Norfolk, Va., to Beaufort, N. C., over the Virginia-Carolina Waterway.

The Telephone Girl and the Public

A Cleveland man was "if-you-please" and "yes-sure" so politely by a telephone operator that he called up the manager and said a good word for the girl. It was so very unusual, he said. "Unusual," responded the manager. "Certainly the operator's politeness is not more unusual than your own. I have been in this business a good many years, and you are the first man who ever took the trouble to say a good word to me for an operator. But complaints? Why there seem to be a million women in town with nothing else to do but make complaints about operators."

It is no temporary soothing job that which the telephone girl holds.

She has to serve at once a grasping corporation and exacting public.

She is held responsible not only for her own mistakes but for the countless mistakes made by other people.

You roughly jar your telephone and your nerves if she does not answer instantly; you think she is teasing you when she tells you the line you want is busy; you are furious over her stupidity when you get the wrong party because you give the wrong number, and perhaps you more than half suspect she listens to all you say over the line. She is a sadly misjudged girl. Her work is difficult and her errors marvelously few. She has no time for unnecessary words, though she is as polite as the public will permit her to be.

She knows that you never think of her service except when it goes wrong, and never speak of her except to "knock." Yet she patiently does the best she can for you, through long hours and for poor pay.

Don't imagine that you are distinguishing yourself by complaining against her. Thousands have been ahead of you.

But say a word in her favor at the right place, and you stand almost alone with an approving conscience.

Senator Lorimer Ousted

By a vote of 56 to 28, William Lorimer, who for three years has held a seat in the United States Senate as a member from the state of Illinois, was Saturday afternoon expelled from that body. Under the vote Lorimer has never officially held a seat in the Senate in spite of the fact that he has been there since 1909, and by the vote in the United States Senate he passes out of the records.

When the result of the vote was announced, Lorimer said nothing and walked to the cloak room, Senator Smoot of Utah throwing an arm over his shoulder.

The vote to oust Lorimer was on a resolution offered by Senator Luke Lea of Tennessee, the resolution declaring the Lorimer election invalid on the ground that corrupt methods and practices were employed. The vote came at the end of a long fight and after six days of protracted debate in which Lorimer himself occupied the floor for three sessions, making an impassioned plea in defense of his election.

When the Senate reconvened this morning there was a well defined belief that the case would be continued, the pro-Lorimer forces working for further delay in the final vote in the hope of changing several votes in favor of the Illinois man.

New Building Association

A building and loan association conducted on a strictly cooperative basis can be made to pay a fair return on the investment, and besides such an organization acts as a great factor in promoting the substantial growth of the town, said A. P. Connelly of Sanford, to the Gazette Wednesday.

Mr. Connelly started a building and loan association at Sanford some years ago, and he is in position to testify to the benefits that have followed. The returns have been satisfactory to the stock holders, and Sanford is much better off for being the home of such an organization.

Some of Kissimmee's leading citizens have been looking into the building and loan business with a view of organizing such a company here, and it is likely that this will be a development of the near future.

Mr. Connelly had not visited Kissimmee in a number of years, and he, like all others who have not seen the town in some time, was surprised to see the prosperity that make themselves felt immediately upon entering the business district. Kissimmee Gazette.

Boozers Can't Marry

A bill providing for what are declared to be the most stringent marriage relations ever attempted by process of law was introduced today in the senate of the General Assembly by Senator E. A. Copeland of Nineteenth Georgia district.

The measure would prohibit the marriage of all persons who are habitual users of intoxicating liquors or stimulating drugs. It would also prohibit the marriage of persons afflicted with a transmissible or inheritable disease. Provision is made for the establishment of a commission to investigate all applicants for marriage license. This committee would be authorized to provide punishment for any official performing a marriage ceremony for any person prohibited under the provisions of the act.

Sanford Ten, Orlando Nothing

This is the story. We hate to chronicle such a sad tale. It takes away some of the prestige that the Sandspur League has enjoyed all season—that of playing such good ball that the scores were kept in bounds. Such a score looks like the Bingville Bugle games, but the result is what counts, and even the Orlando score keeper acknowledges that in spite of all his efforts the Orlando team could not make a pass. They just came out the same old way. It seems that Ray, the new southpaw recently acquired by Manager Stevens was responsible for some of this funeral notice. He has a habit of doing this way and could not hold himself in and the Tourists broke their backs trying to connect with his benders and stem winders.

Jimmy Windham and Corporal Vaiden occupied the mound for the Tourists, but they could not prevent the Tourists from slugging the hoarsehide every time they came to the bat and Orlando fans were forced to sit out eight innings and see the Tourists led to the slaughter while the Collegians batted their finest pitchers all over the lot. At the end of eight innings the referee stopped the fight. Several ladies were already hysterical and Orlando fans had to be taken off the field to the Elks' Club. The Sanford fans meantime had several attacks of apoplexy and it was decided to stop the slaughter. The police interfered and took the Orlando players home in the ambulance.

This said that Orlando is making arrangements for Rube Marquard to pitch the game next Thursday. Either that or else they will tie their pitcher's right hand behind his back and force him to fling left handed balls. Somehow Orlando has a great respect for a southpaw since yesterday's game. In closing the funeral oration we will render the following requiem set to figures:

Summary table with columns for player names and statistics (AB, R, H, E). Includes players like C. Pounds, ss; Lee, 1f; Bowen, 3rd; Boyer, rf; Porterfield, 1st; F. Pounds, 2nd; Bennett, cf; White, c; Windham, p; Vaiden, p.

Three base hits, Roberts. Two base hits, Lowe, Bowen and Windham. Stolen bases, Brittain, Wofford, Moreland, Ray. Hit by pitcher, Farmer, Ray and Bennett.

Cheney's Water Works Again

We have called attention to Cheney's water works before. The Hon. J. M. is now Federal Judge or will be, having been slated for the position, and we do not trifle with Judge Cheney. We are now talking about John Cheney, manager of the Orlando ball team, manager of the Orlando Water Works, electric light, gas and ice works and well able to manage everything else in Orlando or any other seaport. Resuming our resume about how nicely Mr. Cheney had the water gauge perfected in Orlando we ventured to remark the other day that he could turn on or off the water at his pleasure, and if it looked threatening for the Tourists he never failed to have it rain at the proper time. This is as it should be, for no well regulated water man ought to have any trouble in controlling the elements. Any one who has controlled the elements and the city council should have no trouble in a simple thing like rain water. Last Friday the Tourists were badly crippled and it just seemed as though they were up against it hard and defeat stared them in the face. The players were worried, the fans were worried, the directors were worried and gloom sat upon the spire of the court house and percolating down through the roof sat playfully upon the broad shoulders of B. M. Robinson. What could be done to prevent the invasion of the victorious Collegians who were even then knocking at the city gates. Like Achilles of old, Mr. Cheney was routed from his tent and came to the relief of his stricken countrymen (accent on the country) with a smile on his face.

Nothing easier! Go back to your homes and eat the midday lunch! I have the solving of the solution already solved by the solution that dissolves. Pressing the button Mr. Cheney turned on a gentle drizzle and when the Collegicus demanded entrance into the beleaguered city they were phoned that it was raining so hard that there was absolutely nothing doing. Mr. Cheney and all his cohorts then marched back to the tents under the San Juan porte cochere to the sounding brass and tinkling cymbals and tinkling glasses and the agony was over. They slept.

But they had not reckoned on Ulysses in the shape of Mayor Spencer and Wallace who crept through the city gates, where the rains from Cheney's water works had washed away the asphaltum and viewed for themselves the wonders of the rain maker.

No rain was falling then and none fell afterward. They proved that by Gray Rush and several others who were on the grounds, looking for errors that had dropped from Louis Dolive's error book.

There was no game! The rain maker had succeeded in saving his army from defeat. Leave it to Manager Cheney and the irrigation question is solved. And just for that we soaked the Tourists to the tune of ten to nothing—but that is another story.

Soaking Express Companies

Swapping reductions in express rates averaging, in general, approximately 15 per cent, drastic reforms in regulations and practices, and comprehensive changes in the methods of operation, are prescribed in a report recently made public by the Interstate commerce commission of its investigation into the business of the thirteen great express companies of the United States.

Dealing with the identity of interest between the various companies, the report finds that while these companies are separate legal entities, "it is of interest to regard this fact that by stock ownership and otherwise they are so interlaced, intertwined, and interlocked that it is with difficulty we can trace any one of the great companies as either wholly independent in its management or the agency of a single railroad system. So that while these companies operate separately and compete with each other for traffic, the express business may be said to be almost a family affair. An interesting genealogical tree in fact, might be drawn, showing a common ancestry in all of the larger companies. And while many names may be used to designate these companies, it is within the fact to say that aside from the operations of the minor and distinctively railroad express companies, the express business of the United States is managed by not more than three groups of interest."

McCombs Will Be Manager

Chicago, Ill., July 15.—In fullest harmony and deferring to Governor Wilson, the Democratic national convention WW the Democratic national committee in session here today selected W. F. McCombs, the New York lawyer, as chairman, which position carries with it the command of the Democratic national campaign.

McCombs is the only man who improved himself so fully in the conduct of the campaign for the nomination.

Previous to convening all members predicted an absolutely harmonious meeting. It is supposed that Joseph E. Davis will be named as secretary of the committee. William F. McAdoo of New York, who was one of the staunchest supporters Wilson had from the Empire state at the Baltimore convention, may be named treasurer. There is also talk of giving this place to Herman Ridder, publisher of the great German paper, the New York Staats-Zeitung, or to ex-Gov. David R. Francis of Missouri or Edwin F. Goltra, national committeeman from Missouri.

There never was any hard luck except mine. Whenever I hear them tell hard luck stories I think to myself, that they don't know what it is. For in reference to hard luck and well laid plans going wrong I have a real instance on my mind that always will remain there. It is the losing of the American league pennant to the Boston club in 1904. The race had narrowed down to New York and Boston. We both came east from our last western trip with one point separating us. There were five more games to be played, all between New York and Boston. The Boston team threw out of the five would win the pennant. All these five games were to be played in New York, on our own grounds, one on Friday, two on Saturday, and two on Monday, and we came east believing that we had every advantage and the pennant right in our grasp. The first bad luck was when we discovered that Owner Farrell, not thinking that we would be in the race at all, had in the middle of the season leased the Highlanders' park to the Columbia university team for football on Saturday. That made it necessary to transfer the two Saturday games to Boston. We beat Boston on Friday 3 to 2, and this put us where we only had to break even in the next four games to win. Chesbro had pitched the Friday game I did my planning and decided to pitch Jack Powell the two games in Boston on Saturday, and to leave Chesbro at home to get a good rest over Sunday and to be ready to pitch the two games on Monday if it became necessary, knowing that with two days of good rest he could do it. When I got down to the depot that night there was Chesbro begging to go with us to Boston. Some fool friends of his had notified him that they intended to present him with diamond cuff buttons in Boston, and he was wild to go. I could not refuse him under the circumstances, but those $8 diamond cuff buttons cost us the championship. Chesbro was crazy to pitch, and he warmed up in Boston and declared he felt better than at any time during his life. I was angry because I had wanted him to rest, and refused him. He almost cried and said he had repeated numerous times during the season and always had won (which was true). I still said "no," that we couldn't take the chance. Then Chesbro got Keeler, Elberfeld and all the boys to come to me and beg me to let him pitch. Powell came to me and said he would keep warmed up and be ready to relieve Chesbro in the first game. I fell for it, seeing Chesbro already had warmed up and my plan of resting him was spoiled. He was good for four innings, but before anyone could relieve him in the next Boston made six runs and the game was lost. We hit Dineen hard and made six runs ourselves, and had Powell pitched we would have won easily. Powell and Cy Young met in the second game and Boston won 1 to 0. The one run was scored on the rankest kind of luck. A ball thrown from the outfield to Conroy got by him and hit a man on the foot, allowing the run to score. The ball would not have rolled five feet from Conroy, but the crowd had pushed up to within three feet of third base. This made it necessary for us to win both games on Monday, and

In the first game, in the ninth inning with two out and two strikes on Farrell, Chesbro let his split ball slip for a wild pitch and gave Boston the game. We won the next 1 to 0, but the pennant was done. If there ever was harder luck than that I don't want to hear of it. (Copyright, 1912, by W. O. Chapman.)

We sometimes hear of people being killed by kindness; about one in every ten billion.

Many railroads would face bankruptcy if the pending demands of the various classes of employees for increase of wages should be granted, said B. A. Worthington, when he resumed his argument in behalf of fifty eastern railroads before the arbitration committee in New York, which is deciding the wage dispute.

Carmel Thompson of Ohio has entered upon his duties as secretary to President Taft. Thompson is the fourth secretary Taft has had since his election.

Missionaries report that the bubonic plague is spreading at an alarming rate.

Further arrests in the murder case of Herman Rosenthal, the New York gambler, who was shot down early yesterday, a few hours before he was to tell the district attorney of the police protection of gamblers, are expected to disclose whether the police or the gamblers plotted to kill Rosenthal. Several men are under the eyes of the police.

A body was found floating Monday in the Hudson, which has been identified as that of Nathan Swartz, indicted for the murder of Julia Connors, in the Bronx on July 7. It is believed that he committed suicide. Swartz confessed to his father and sister that he had enticed the girl to a vacant flat near her home and there attempted to assault her, that when she began to scream he struck her repeatedly with a pocket knife. He then placed the body in the box where it was found, and later conveyed it to a vacant lot.

Sentence upon John Mitchell, the labor leader, for contempt of court, in connection with the famous Buck stove and Range case, has been postponed. President Gompers and Secretary Morrison, of the American Federation of Labor, have been given one year, and six months, respectively.

Postmaster General Frank Hitchcock told the Senate investigating committee that the Republican campaign fund of 1908 amounted to $1,658,580.25. He said that none came from any corporation and nearly all the donations were less than $500.

Plans for reorganizing the army are being threshed out by Secretary of War Stimson in a council at Washington. Two plans are under consideration. One would create a reserve composed of men who had served their enlistment in the regulars, and who, for small pay, would report at stated times for drill and inspection. The other plan would bring the army up to full war strength and eliminate the reserve idea.

The legislative dispensary committee will meet in Columbia today to hear further evidence in connection with the old dispensary system and activities of state officials. The principal witness before the committee will be Sam Nicholls, the Spartanburg lawyer, who was involved in the testimony of Detective Reed, at the Augusta hearing. Nicholls was represented as the go-between to secure a pardon for which $15,000 was to have been paid. Mr. Nicholls promises to develop compensations. He states that he will prove the accusations false and that he also will prove the telegram he is said to have sent saying the pardon was granted, as faked. It is also expected that several blind tigger operators from Charleston will be present to tell what they know of the present organized system of graft in force there at present.

Sanford Wins

The nearest competitor was Coconut Grove which gained 19.1 per cent in attendance, then came West Palm Beach with a gain of 13.7 per cent. Prizes are to be given.

EFFECTS OF BOND ELECTION

Property Increases In Value And Trade Is Increased

It is believed generally by the residents of Sanford that the victory for brick roads at the election held here for the purpose last Saturday is the most advanced step yet taken by the progressive spirits who have the good welfare of Sanford at heart. It has been pointed out that the school system of the counties made little or no progress until such measures were passed as would allow the individual sections or portions of counties to act as units in arranging for buildings and equipment such as they believed they should have. This brought about a large degree of healthy competition between the various portions of counties with the result that the effort was in all cases fraught with the very best possible results.

The voting of $200,000 for the purpose of building twenty-two miles of brick road in this section of Orange county is believed to be a epoch in road building and suburban and rural development, such as has never taken place in this county. The intensive system of culture in vegetable raising has made the rural unit of farm ownership a more attractive acre and this in turn has been the direct cause of building up a very large suburban population, but this line of development has been retarded by the poor roads at the service of the county resident, even though these roads have been built of clay and marl and such other materials as have been available. Now that we are to have brick roads it is believed that those farm operators who live in Sanford will at once hire themselves back to the land just as soon as the roads are available for use. That the building of these roads will have the influence of enhancing property values is demonstrated by the fact that owners of property along the line of proposed road are now asking 25 per cent more for their property than prior to the election. So it will be seen that the idea of good substantial roads does not only have to do with the drawing of larger roads but also adds dollars to one's land account.

The territory to be served by this special road and bridge district is comprised of seventy-two sections of land and the twenty-two miles of brick roads will run through, or between, thirty-six of these sections and forty-eight of the sections will be within one mile or less of the roads, thus making their service to the territory about as potential as the same number of miles could well be. The roads will be distributed over the following routes: Out Celery avenue to the Osteen ferry, the width being sixteen feet; south from Celery avenue on Beardall avenue to Cameron City, east from Beardall avenue on Geneva avenue to the new steel drawbridge across the river at that point. The bridge is now completed and is in daily use south on the Sanford Orlando road to Robinson's Springs, west on First street to Sylvan Lake, north from First street on Monroe avenue to the ferry across the St. Johns river, which leads to DeLand.

NEW RIVER STEAMER

City of Sanford Is Being Constructed Now

WILL BE PLACED IN SANFORD

Clyde Line Gives Contract For Fine New Steamer For St. Johns River Run

Contract for the construction of a palatial new steel river steamer for the Clyde St. Johns river line has been awarded to the Merrill-Stevens Company of Jacksonville, work to commence at once and rushed with all possible speed to a conclusion.

With the award of this contract the expression of "built in Jacksonville" will be added to the term "made in Jacksonville." As stated, the new vessel will be built of steel and will be much larger than the City of Jacksonville and the Frederick DeBary, now being operated by the river line to Sanford and up river points. She will have a length of 187 feet and a breadth of beam of 42 feet and will register 700 tons.

Securing this valuable contract is a great triumph for the Merrill-Stevens Company, inasmuch as the local firm won out in competition with several northern shipbuilding firms, easily putting it over its competitors both in design and contract price.

It is understood that the steamer is to take the place of the steamer Frederick DeBary on the run with the City of Jacksonville during the winter months.

The vessel contracted for, the name of which is not decided upon as yet, but which will perhaps be called the City of Sanford, will be of a rather unique construction, in which she will have a recessed stern wheel of special construction. She is to have four decks with a pilot house on top of a Texas. The decks will be a main, saloon, hurricane and Texas. On the Texas deck will be the captain's cabin and quarters for the pilots, also six special staterooms and a smoking room. In all the vessel will have forty-two staterooms, measuring six and one-half by six and one-half feet. She is to be electrically lighted and will have steam steering gear.

The motive power of the new boat will be double Corliss engines with Scotch boilers of 1,000 horsepower, through which she will attain a speed of fourteen miles an hour. She will also have a carrying capacity of three hundred tons of freight. Her draft will be five feet.

The new steamer will be a coal burner. She will have four rudders, and with her extra powerful steering gear will be enabled to turn the many crooked bends of the river in short order. The dining room of the vessel is to be amidship, on the saloon deck, the galley being on the main deck, a dumb waiter connecting the two with the pantry aft of the dining room. The vessel is to be entirely "built in Jacksonville" and according to A. D. Stevens of the Merrill-Stevens Company will be a handsome product and one which will be a great credit to the city. The Brusies Are Good

The three Brusie Sisters at the Imperial Theatre this week are worthy of more than passing notice. The little tots hardly more than babies show remarkable talent and in their songs and sketches have won a warm spot in the hearts of the people. They show the effects of careful training and their voices have range seldom seen in children so young. Mr. Brusie is a former Sanford resident, and while he expected to have good houses here at each performance is more than pleased at the great outpouring of people that have crowded the Imperial nightly and wishes to thank the people of Sanford for their liberal patronage. The little girls are entitled to full credit and The Herald can recommend the Three Brusies to the other cities who expect to have them during the season.

Sanford Wins

Sanford wins on her $200,000 bonding plan for brick roads in the Sanford district. For Sanford we are glad and also ashamed for Orlando. We believed in a unification of road interests in the county, but as that has failed, we presume the only thing left is to go it by districts. If Orlando follows Sanford it will be rough on the smaller places, but we must have roads. Let Orlando District wake up.—Orlando Citizen.

ANOTHER NEW DRAWBRIDGE

Sanford-New Smyrna Drawbridge Will Be Constructed

The county commissioners in conjunction with the residents of New Smyrna and Osteen, have arranged to build a bridge across the St. Johns river at the Osteen ferry. Plans and specifications have already been drawn and have been submitted to the war department for approval and as soon as this consent is received the contract will be let and the bridge built. The road which has just been cut through on a straight line north from First street to the Monroe ferry at Monroe, being on Monroe avenue is now passable for automobiles from DeLand and the coast and is a very great improvement over the line formerly used. This road, while new, is in fairly good condition and connects direct with the clay road on First street.

The residents of the new road and bridge districts are now anxious to have work commence on the roads at once.

The county commissioners met in special session last Monday and approved the vote taken Saturday and after the necessary legal advertising of the district has been completed the bonds will then be available for sale and work will at once commence on the building and be prosecuted as rapidly as possible.

Change In Business

A change occurred in the personnel of the B. & O. Garage this week. Oliver Hays retiring from the firm and in the future Bob Holland will have the entire business himself. The B. & O. has been very popular with the public since its inception over one year ago. Besides selling the Overland and Buick cars the B. & O. has had a first class machine shop in connection and has made a specialty of treating sick cars to the entire satisfaction of the owners. There is no more popular automobile man in the state than Bob Holland, and has many friends are rejoicing over the fact that he will continue to serve them in Sanford. The firm will be known as formerly, the B. & O. Garage and the same stand will be maintained. In a few days Mr. Holland will have a most important announcement to make to the people who are contemplating purchasing new cars. Don't buy a car until you see his new advertisement in The Herald, because he will save you money on the best self-starting car that is made and it will be right up to the minute with electric lights and all the conveniences. It will especially appeal to the ladies who are becoming the greatest lovers of autos in the city.

Booster Day At Ball Park

At a meeting of the Sanford Base Ball Association held on Wednesday it was decided to give a Booster Day at the ball park and the date was decided for next Thursday, July 25. On that day there will be a fine game of ball between Sanford and Orlando and all the neighboring cities will be invited to come in and watch us put on over one the Orlando team. The game will occur at Holden Park and ought to attract a large crowd, for the two teams have attained a state wide reputation for the many good games they have put up during the season. The day is arranged for the faithful to come across with an extra admission, in order to help out the team and every lover of good ball should be there. The admission will be 50 cents and special tickets will be sold in advance.

The Panama Canal

Everybody right now is interested in the Panama Canal and in order to satisfy the curiosity of the people who cannot afford to make a trip to Colon Manager Herndon has arranged to give a moving picture of the Great Ditch and will show them at the Star tonight and tomorrow night. The pictures are said to faithfully portray the magnitude of this great work that has cost the U. S. so much time and money, and when completed will be the wonder of the world. Some of us may never have the opportunity of seeing the work at close range and the moving pictures will give an accurate idea of the canal and all the work that is now going on at Panama.

Next Thursday will be Boosters' Day at Holden Park and all the loyal fans are expected to turn out and not only root the home team to victory, but put more money into the treasury.

CULLED FROM THE STATE PRESS

An Epitome of the Week's Most Important Happenings in the State's Domain.

W. B. Ogden, the first to make a shipment of avocados this season, has a tree from which he took 49 dozen fruit last year. Some of his trees have a very small crop, but those bearing at all are so loaded down props have had to be placed under the branches.—Miami Herald.

Actual work on the new home for the Elks in Tampa, will not begin before the last of September or the first of October. The plans selected for the club house are said to be very attractive and the interior arrangement is splendid.

The county commissioners met in special session last Monday to submit a $65,000 bonding proposition to the voters of Plant City, the proposed bond issue to be divided among sewerage, city jail and hall and to liquidate present floating indebtedness.

The streets in West Palm Beach have been posted and the houses numbered. The postoffice department at Washington has been notified of this and the free delivery of mail will soon be inaugurated at West Palm Beach.

Everything being satisfactorily arranged the call for the state meeting at Kalamazoo to organize the State Chamber of Commerce has been issued. The meeting will be held August 15th and most of the Boards of Trade in Florida will be represented. Three delegates from each body will be present. These delegates will be the presidents, secretaries and one member from each organization.

Two men, having been found dead Monday morning by the railroad track about four miles southwest of Lakeland on the A. C. L. The men were evidently sitting on the track in a drunken condition Sunday night when struck by the train, as a half filled whiskey bottle lay beside them. No marks of identification could be found on their bodies, and while awaiting information relative to their identities, a subscription has been secured to embalm them. They will then be held until claimed. One of the men is apparently about 25 years old. The other is ten years older. The only thing they had in their pockets was a shoe horn bearing the advertisement of Wolf Shoe Co., of Mulberry.

The illicit sale and use of cocaine and other poisonous drugs, which exist in Tampa, among the negroes, despite the vigilance of the authorities, is believed largely to be the blame for Tuesday's rioting, in which four were killed and two wounded. Bob Harris, a negro, after taking a large dose of cocaine, it is believed, started out to shoot at every person who attracted his attention. Those shot and killed by him are Annie Andrews, Jack Hall and Virginia Simpkins, while bullet fired by Harris wounded Mary Miller, a negro girl, and Patrolman J. T. Riggs of the police department, formerly captain of police. Policemen who arrived on the scene chased Harris into a house, in which the negro barricaded himself, firing at every person who came within range. Riggs opened the door to rescue one of the wounded women, who later died, and was shot in the left arm and right leg. Officers set the house on fire with gasoline and this drove the negro out, when he was shot by several men and instantly killed. The fire department was on the scene to assist in the capture and to put out the fire, after it had done its work. Harris' body was taken to the Reed undertaking establishment, and all yesterday afternoon men and boys struggled to get inside to see the body. Most of them were denied admission.
