Founding Fathers Rejected Democracy Back In 18th Century

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP) — Among the basic ideas which befuddled the citizens in the 18th Century the founding fathers set up the United States with democracy as its form of government.

Constitution for the political system known as a democracy in which the voters count all the heads, empty or not, and give the decision to the most numerous. Political orators and others, even including editorial writers, continue, however, to sound off with such deathless phrases as: "This great democracy, and so forth."

The Founding Fathers deliberately rejected democracy as undesirable and established the United States as a representative republic, specifically guaranteeing to each state a republican form of government (Article IV, Section 4). In contrast to the democratic or head-counting political form which the Constitution rejected, the republican form is properly defined like this:

A state in which the sovereign power resides in the people qualified voters and is exercised by representatives elected by them. James Madison was effective in steering the Constitution away from democracy. He expressed the fear that democracy favored the self-seeking maneuvers of factions or blocs within a political party.

These facts are intimately related to the national and congressional discussion expected this year seeking more satisfactory processes of nominating and electing presidents of the United States. There has been national dissatisfaction with the presidential election process and agitated discussion of it for many more than 100 years.

In establishing the present Electoral College process, some of the authors of the Constitution felt that they had disposed of the most difficult of all the problems confronting them, but without much confidence that they had done it well.

The direction of discussion in recent years has been generally toward more democracy and less representative republicanism in the election of presidents. There has been considerable support for abandonment of the Electoral College and for a direct popular vote.

A direct popular vote for U.S. senators was established by the 17th Amendment in 1912. They had been chosen by state legislatures. That may indicate a trend. Regardless of the 17th Amendment, however, and talk of direct election of presidents, there is no doubt what the Constitution's authors thought of political democracy. They did not trust it and they were against it.

Weather
Cloudy and rather cold today and tonight, low tonight 45 to 50. Saturday cloudy and slightly higher temperatures.

6 Red Army Deserters Flee East Germany

MRS. STELLA PRYOR EXPLAINS to Sanford Jaycees the nominations for "Queen" in the Annual High Fever Follies to be staged by the Womens Auxiliary of Seminole Memorial Hospital.

BERLIN (UP)— Russian refugee groups reported today that six Soviet soldiers deserted in Communist East Germany New Year's Eve, and four of them beat their way to the West through a ring of Soviet troops.

The emigre said one deserter was shot and captured, and another still was at liberty.

The escape plot, coming while the Communists were celebrating their biggest holiday, touched off unprecedented activity by Soviet troops on the borders of Berlin.

The Soviet troops rushed to border posts Wednesday night and conducted an intensive manhunt in the Soviet sector of Berlin. They kept it up until about noon today when they turned the posts back to the East German communist guards.

Harman To Give Top 10 Stories At Rotary Meet

For several years past, it has been traditional at the first meeting of the new year for the members of the Sanford Rotary Club to hear J. Marion Harman, Sr., Executive Editor of the Sanford Herald, discuss the outstanding events of the preceding year. There have been occasions when the club members have taken issue with the selections of the many editors throughout the nation who send in their nominations for the biggest stories of the year and, undoubtedly the meeting next Monday at the Yacht Club will give the Rotarians something to discuss and argue, pro and con.

Merchants Will Stage Courtesy Week Sales

Signs are going up, bumper strips are being attached to automobiles, and badges are being distributed today and tomorrow, said Howard McNulty, Jaycee Courtesy Week Chairman.

"We want everybody to know about Courtesy Week which gets underway Monday morning," said McNulty as he placed Jack Hall of Yowell's in putting up the first of the red and white streamers.

There are going to be a number of various events going on next week, said McNulty, "so we want everyone to watch carefully for announcements and pictures of them."

Jaycees Are Asked To Nominate High Fever Follies Queen

The Sanford Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce heard details yesterday at its luncheon meeting on nominations for "Queen" of the High Fever Follies.

Mrs. Stella Pryor gave the Jaycees a complete rundown on nominations which will be announced on Jan. 21.

She told the Jaycees "We are asking all of the civic organizations to nominate Queens of their choice as candidates in the countywide contest."

Dr. Roberts Named Chief Of Staff At Local Hospital

Dr. W. V. Roberts was elected Chief of Staff at the Seminole Memorial Hospital in a recent meeting of the Medical Staff. Dr. Roberts succeeds Dr. C. L. Park Sr., who has held the office for two years.

Others selected for office were Dr. T. F. McDaniel, vice-chief; Dr. C. F. Brooks Smith, secretary-treasurer.

Fierce Winds Hit Southeast Coast

MIAMI (UP)— Fierce gale winds up to 35 miles an hour raked the southeast Florida coast for the second straight day today, causing heavy property damage.

The gusts broke plate glass windows, knocked down power lines, uprooted trees and shrubs, grounded planes and postponed dog racing in Miami for the first time in history. The Miami police department was virtually knocked out of operation for more than half an hour Thursday night when a palm frond crashed across the main power line near the station.

School Lunch Price Goes Up

Prices of school lunches went up five cents yesterday in six of Seminole County's schools. Mrs. Charlotte Whitmore, School Lunchroom Supervisor said yesterday.

Up until yesterday, prices for the school lunches were 25c at Seminole High, Pinecrest, Sanford Grammar, Lake Monroe, Wilson, and Crooms Academy.

"Some of the schools raised prices earlier and informed parents by either sending notes home by children or making announcements at Parent-Teacher Association meetings."

Firemen Answer 2 Calls Here

The Sanford Fire Department reported today that two calls had been answered yesterday and today.

A kerosene heater had overturned yesterday at Castle Brewer Court causing only slight damage.

THE PROFESSOR

It's not so many years since I played in the Friday Afternoon String Quartet at Professor Johnson's house. I'm the one by the bookshelves, with the violin.

During those sessions, I sometimes wished I were outdoors kicking a football around. Yet if the Professor had told me to go, I would have been disappointed.

Even as a kid, I realized what a good and kind man Mr. Johnson was. We liked to see him in Church every Sunday—I don't think he ever missed—and he did so many fine things. When he died, our minister said that he had been truly humble, and therefore truly great.

Our minister is a wonderful man, too. I should know—I've been going to his church all my life . . . Our church!

These then have been the three great influences in my life—the professor, our minister, and my parents. They have placed my feet on the path I hope to follow always.

Now the rest of the way, with God's help, is up to me.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

E. Kelly Makes Appeal For Circuses

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — Emmett Kelly, the eminent clown, has been appealing to congressmen to save the circus, meaning not any particular circus but all of them. Seems that circuses are in a cost-price squeeze, like the farmers and you and I, and that they may just fold their tents and disappear unless somebody does something. That's pretty bad, but clown Kelly can relax.

All of the other circuses may fold, but the biggest circus of them all will be in business as usual in 1952 playing to capacity crowds. That will be the congressional circus which appears annually here in Washington. There is no other like it nor any chance that it will go out of business, come inflation, deflation, depression, peace or war.

Three Rings Ineffable
Three rings will not be enough for the congressional circus which opens here next week. Consider the high wire, aerial and acrobatic acts which must be put on—and the clowns. The administration will require two or three rings, at the very least, for one of its new acts which it promised the voters some weeks ago would be part of the show.

This act is only slightly more difficult than the Indian rope trick which, itself, generally is regarded as impossible. It will be to persuade congressmen facing a November election to make big economy cuts in programs especially dear to hard-boiled pressure

NO VISIT HER SON IN RED CHINA—Mrs. Ruth Redmond, shown at her home in Yonkers, N. Y., with her grandchildren, who look at a photo of her son, Hugh, 35, who was imprisoned in Red China after his conviction on "spying" charges six years ago. Mrs. Redmond will leave on New Year's Day on a flight to visit Hugh, whom the children have never seen. She is one of three mothers given permission by the Chinese government to visit their sons, American civilians. Mrs. Redmond is taking warm clothing, vitamins and razor blades to her son. In one of three letters from him, he mentioned that he had been stricken with Beri Beri and lost his teeth.

Television Review Of 12 Months Past

By WILLIAM KWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK — This is the time of the year when TV reviewers assess the 12 months past. So let's assess.

The following list foregoes the usual formal categories. Such categories are absurd. Instead, let's roam.

The best regular show of any kind on TV this year, I believe, has been the Jack Paar "Tonight" show on NBC-TV. It is at times pretty plodding, but it has a peculiar fascination — like watching a cobra emerging from a basket.

Good People
I enjoyed it despite the occasional presence of Elsa Maxwell, a tire-some bore of a celebrity collector who takes pot shots at obvious targets like Elvis Presley, King Farouk and Jayne Mansfield. She may be the most tedious TV performer of all time.

"Tonight" is live and alive. It has provided some of the most hilarious moments of the TV year, particularly when it has had guests like Jonathan Winters, Jim Backus and Hans Conrard aboard. And a very low bow to Dody Goodman, an amiable lady who can make "hello" sound funny.

The most exciting moments on TV this year were provided by Charles Van Doren and his guest for the big money on NBC-TV's "Twenty One," TV at its sweetest, tensest and purest.

The best drama was a "Playhouse 90" effort about Helen Keller's childhood, "The Miracle Worker." Teresa Wright and Patty McCormack turned in the best acting jobs of the year on the CBS-TV 90-minute.

"Pastures" Over-rated
The most over-rated play of the year was NBC-TV's "Green Pastures," a spectacular of above average quality bombed out of all proportion, I think, because it was stolied opposite the Mike Todd Madison Square Garden dramady on CBS-TV.

The most over-rated dramatic performance was Peter Ustinov's on an "Omnibus" production of "The Life of Samuel Johnson." A good actor works with his group — he both bounces and furnishes bounce. Ustinov unpackaged a solo performance that frayed heavily on mannerisms and gimmicks.

The worst performance of the year was Sazy Parker's in a "Playhouse 90" offering, "The Death of Manolete." She played a small part but was almost classic in her incompetence.

The best young comedians on TV this year have been Milt Kamen and Tee Redd. Kamen was seen on the Steve Allen Show and on chimp who is inducted into the army. A dip to Sid Caesar, too, and Carl Reiner, Howe Morris and Pat Carroll. And another to Ernie Kovacs for his NBC-TV pantomime show last January.

The Spirit Of Courtesy Week Will Stick For A Long Time

Much can be said about a celebration or observance about to get underway in Sanford and like communities around the state. "Courtesy Week," which the top level state officials hope to extend throughout the year as a continuing effort, will be launched here in Sanford Monday morning. The project is being sponsored by the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and the Sanford-Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce.

With records of successful promotions already accomplished by the two organizations, Courtesy Week is expected to be one of the big events of the year which will be adopted as an annual event — growing in scope each year.

Well-laid plans were reached by officials of both local organizations and approved for a full week.

Badges in colorful orange and white will be worn by sales personnel of local stores through the cooperation of Sanford's business enterprises, heads of which realize that "courtesy is the first requisite of good public relations in that it cultivates friendships, promotes good business, and benefits everyone unconditionally and materially."

As a result of conferences between the officials of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and the local Jaycee organization, contests will be underway throughout the entire week of January 6-12 to determine the most courteous waitress, saleslady, salesman, policeman, and most courteous act in Sanford.

Secret committees, names of members being withheld entirely, have been appointed by the project's Jaycee committee chairman Howard McNulty, whose duty will be to select the winning person in each category. The person selected in each group will receive a $25 U. S. Savings Bond in recognition of his or her achievement.

Even one of the local schools has entered into the spirit of the week—long event and will appoint Courtesy Week Chairmen in each classroom of the school. Results of efforts in the school, and of the school's and pupils' attempts to extend the "spirit of courtesy" throughout the community, will be reported at a chapel exercise of the school.

Local citizens can look forward to a hearty week of competition and local events during the week-long celebration.

Certainly, the spirit of the week, with courtesy the foremost achievement, will benefit not only the community as a whole but individuals within the community.

There's A Reawakening Needed

This country will be beating around the wrong bushes unless we realize that one major reason for our temporary decline in power and prestige is the establishment of false values. Consumption for show, display, prestige and entertainment to an excessive degree has been turning the heads of American people. Achievement, work, force of intellect have suffered a dangerous decline in prestige.

David Reisman, the famous sociologist, has remarked that children are now being educated or trained to become "skilled consumers." Fear of controversy has spread in America, even among informed and intelligent people. Reassurance by platitudes has become virtually a profession. The cult of youth, and especially of the glamor girl, has been made into a vested interest.

In such a cultural climate, the taste for reality has been partially numbed and the appeal of ideas has been denigrated. We must snap out of collective illusions which can weaken us or we will suffer more than we have in the panicked shock brought by Sputnik.

We do not need Khrushchev's criticism, but only own regenerated feeling for reality and a reawakening of the mind. Out of this will come the basis for necessary defensive strength and the vigor and imagination requisites for holding the line of freedom.

Extend A Bit Of Sympathy

When the average citizen thinks about taxes, he is most likely to couch his thoughts in variations of that jockey question, "Are they going up or down?" Consideration of this question is often unpleasant, and sometimes heart-rending. But at least it is relatively simple.

Consider, however, these poor fellows who occupy chairs on the floor of the Senate and the House of Representatives. They are plugged with the up-or-down question raised to the nth power. We think they deserve a little sympathy as they enter the lists for a new joust with the matter of tax changes.

The second session of Congress faces more than fifteen hundred tax bills introduced in 1957. More bills are certain to be introduced—lots more. Some of this mountain of proposed legislation deals with excise rates and corporation income tax rates; some deals with relief for small business; some bills seek to correct inequities, others to plug loopholes. The Mills technical amendments bill alone has 81 sections.

So pause a moment, when the subject of taxes comes up; pause and expend a bit of sympathy on the senators and representatives who have to make the decisions. After all, the rest of us only have to pay the taxes.

At this season there is a race to determine which will wear out first—the children's Christmas toys or Dad's New Year resolutions.

Four States Claim Right To Drill For Offshore Oil: WASHINGTON UP—Four Gulf Coast states claim the right to drill for offshore oil 10.5 miles out to sea regardless of the outcome of their boundary disputes with the federal government.

The states made their claim in papers filed with the Supreme Court Monday in response to a complaint by the Justice Department. The states are Texas, Louisiana, Florida and Mississippi. A fifth Gulf state, Alabama, was expected to present its views in a day or two.

The dispute involves the issue of who gets the fees paid by oil companies for the privilege of drilling in the submerged lands off the Gulf shore.

All five states asked the court to hold a pre-trial conference soon with attorneys for both sides. The purpose would be to simplify the issues and determine how long arguments in the case will take.

The Justice Department has contended for many years that any state's offshore boundary is a three-mile belt seaward from the low-water mark. The Gulf states claim an offshore boundary of 10.5 miles—the equivalent of three marine leagues.

The four states told the court, however, that even if the boundary itself is determined to be the three-mile limit, the right to explore submerged lands farther out still belongs to the states under a law passed by Congress in 1953. The precise meaning of the statute has been in dispute.

THERE'S A TIDE IN THE AFFAIRS OF MEN

My New York

By MEL HEIMER
CARACAS, Venezuela—A foot loose New Yorker limns Caracas: Some of the buses are lavender and there are no fat people. Finding an extra-dry martini is just as difficult here as in, say, Dublin, but not so hard as in London. Except for Manhattan, there surely can be no city with as many assorted autos rumbling through the streets—Citroen, Fiat, Mercedes-Benz, Ferrari, Borgward, Rolls Royce, etc., and all the American cars.

The average income here is between $600 and $800, roughly—but SOMEONE'S buying those cars. The rich Americans, likely, there is a large and, evidently, happy foreign colony here—Italians, English, Americans, Scots, et al. The English are right out of an early Hitchcock movie and one expects to see them worrying deeply over the outcome of the cricket test matches.

A rickety old racetrack, Gaceta Hipica, is open on weekends, and has, of course, the same flavor as racetracks the world over. I bet on No. 7 in one race and the jockey was thrown from the horse coming out of the starting gate. That hasn't happened to me since July at Jamaica.

A few miles away, a magnificent new track is being built, along Hialeah or Santa Anita lines. The Officers' club, a staggering edifice of luxury, is reminiscent of Mussolini's old home—where he and his Clara lived—on a Rome hillside. The low-cost housing developments are everywhere and an undeniable blessing but the gaily painted doesn't seem to last overlong.

ONE OF THE MOST EXCITING, death-defying, remarkable rides of the world is the Teleferico—cable-car—journey from the business district to the top of the 7,000-foot Mount Avila, German-designed and built (it figures), exhilarated me no end and undoubtedly took five years off my life—when the car paused halfway on the journey and swung to and fro, gently, over a 2,000-foot chasm.

Atop the mountain is the $7 million Humboldt hotel, a lavish silo-shaped building with not too many customers but an air of wealth to it that puts Miami Beach's fantastic hotels to shame. President Jimenez has ordered another such cable-car ride built (it's already under way) in the Andes, to the peak of Pico Espejo, 15,300 feet high. Looking down from Mount Avila at dusk, one sees Caracas as a fairytale and it's easy to understand the early Spanish settlers looking down at the long mountain valley and saying "Here! We will settle here!"

Foreign News Commentary

United Press Staff Correspondent
The United States appears to be edging toward full membership in the Middle Eastern Treaty Organization.

The State Department has said that there is no plan for the United States to join "METO"—the so-called Baghdad Pact—"at this time."

That undoubtedly is true. There are good reasons why the United States should not enter fully into the alliance right now. One is that Allied relations with Egypt, which opposes the pact, are improving.

The decision of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles to attend the annual meeting of METO foreign ministers at Ankara, Turkey, on Jan. 27 seems to be another of several moves which the United States has made toward full membership.

The Baghdad Pact was concluded in 1955. Its members are Turkey, Iraq, Iran, Pakistan and Great Britain. It links the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization to form a chain of alliances against Communist aggression extending from arctic Norway to the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand.

Sponsored by U. S. The United States was the chief sponsor of the pact but did not join it. It took the role of observer at METO meetings.

However, the United States has joined three committees of the alliance. After agreeing to take part in the economic and counter-subversion committees, it accepted membership in the military committee last June.

As the danger of Soviet Russian penetration in the Middle East became serious, and the threat of open aggression arose, the United States came up with the Eisenhower Doctrine. This doctrine was worked out by Dulles, and approved by Congress. Under it the President is authorized to use the armed forces of the United States if necessary to combat Communist aggression against a Middle Eastern country.

Little thanks and much criticism for its sponsorship of the Baghdad Pact and its declaration of the Eisenhower Doctrine.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt bitterly opposed the participation of Arab countries in the Baghdad Pact, partly because it clashed with his desire to make himself "Big in the Middle East. Iraq, one of the Arab nations, did join it. But Nasser thwarted an attempt to get Jordan in.

Citrus Mutual Seeks Easy Freeze Deduction Form

LAKELAND, Fla.—Florida Citrus Mutual, awaiting a possible preliminary estimate of freeze damage Jan. 2 or 3, has asked federal officials to make it easier for growers to claim freeze deductions on their income tax forms.

Mutual General Manager Robert W. Rutledge said "We have asked the Internal Revenue Service to provide as simple a form as possible on which a citrus grower can make this claim, and also to specify just what is needed to substantiate the claim."

He explained that Lauri Tomlinson, District Director of Internal Revenue, had pointed out that growers may claim a tree loss allowance but must substantiate the claim.

A preliminary estimate of this month's freeze damage may be made Jan. 2 or 3, Rutledge said, by the Agriculture Department. Federal agents will be in the groves assessing damage for the next three or four days, although the next monthly federal crop forecast is not due until Jan. 10.

Conning The News

Parties during the past week included one given Monday night by Louie and Bob Bauman. The serving table was decorated with red and white carnations and cypress-branches. This arrangement was flanked by wrought iron candelabra bearing white tapers.

On the mantel a little village had been placed, with lights inside the tiny houses. Santa Claus descended from a blue sky above, brightened with stars and the moon. About 35 guests called between the hours of eight and ten.

Hosts and hostesses for parties New Year's Eve around the town were Evelyn and Bob Cushing, Betty and Clark Brunstol, George and Irma Dangleman, Carlito and Jack Stribling, Robin Brown, and Donald and Jean Jones.

Doc Linker received good news Tuesday night, when he heard that he has been extended in Sanford until the fifteenth of March—previously, he was slated for duty in Washington the fifteenth of January.

Hazel and Mike Rowell gave a cocktail party Tuesday night before going on to the Mayfair Inn. About fifty attended. Hazel used festive-spared poinsettias and white candles to decorate her table.

Priscilla and Bob Osterholm recently gave a lovely party. Their Christmas tree was something to see, I understand.

John and Virginia Johnston invited a large crowd over New Year's Day.

Had a call this morning from the mother of a very sweet little baby, whose picture ran on Tuesday. The baby is the son, I repeat, son, of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Crouch of Sanford. We had erroneously labeled the child as a girl. Mrs. Crouch was so nice about it that I doubly apologize.

It is not up to me to suggest improvements in the county, however, as a resident, I feel many of us have a right to complain about Sanford Ave.

This is a greatly traveled street, extremely narrow, with poor shoulders and a high speed limit. Sanford Ave. leads to the Naval Air Station where several thousand men and women must go everyday of every year. Many of them are young and prone to go fast, even without the excessively high speed limit.

A tragic accident occurred on Sanford Ave. Tuesday night. The driver of the car was completely innocent—the victim, perhaps not entirely so—but it was bound to happen. Even in the daylight it is difficult to avoid the pedestrians along Sanford Ave. There is no place for them to walk. The road

'Best Dressed' List Does Not Include Working Girls

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Around Manhattan:

The annual list of the world's best-dressed women came out this week... the list compiled by the New York Dress Institute, which sends ballots to 2,000 fashion editors and other experts.

Next week we'll learn whether the gunnysack of 1957 remains a top fashion for '58.

It will be National Press Week in New York, with 200 reporters and women's editors of newspapers, wire services, syndicates and radio and television stations spreading the word on the latest styles.

Collections from 30 leading New York designers were previewed in shows staged semi-annually by the couture group of the New York Dress Institute.

The woman in white's about to become the woman in bold color. A collection of nurses' uniforms and caps, designed by Elsa Schiaparelli, includes shocking pink, aquamarine and teal blue, as well as the traditional white.

A spokesman for the French-born designer said the addition of colors is at the suggestion of many physicians, who feel bright shades will serve as morale builders for patients, especially in children's wards.

How's that again? A Wilton, Conn., perfume manufacturer says the newest trend in applying perfume is to the legs.

 NEW YORK (UP) — Starting with bowl game victories today for Ohio State, Oklahoma and Navy, here's a peek into the sports future for 1958 and some of the things you muscle buffs can expect to witness:

Boxing
 Sugar Ray Robinson will regain the middleweight crown by knocking out Carmen Basilio at Chicago Stadium in March. Archie Moore will retain the light heavyweight crown and Floyd Patterson will stiffen a couple of stiffs.

Baseball
 Cincinnati will move to New York and play in the Polo Grounds. Milwaukee will retain the National League pennant in a stretch battle with St. Louis while it will be the Yankees all the way in the American League—as well as in the World Series.

Football
 Willie Mays will regain the National League batting homer and most valuable player titles. Ted Williams will repeat as American League batting champion, Mickey Vernon will be the home run king and Gil McDougall finally will win most valuable recognition.

Golf
 The old guys will have one last big year as Cary Middlecott cops the Masters. Sam Snead at long last wins the U.S. Open (We can dream, can't we?) and Doug Ford takes the PGA. Harvie Ward will return from a year in sackcloth and ashes to take the Amateur again.

Basketball
 The Boston Celtics will mop up everything in pro basketball while Kansas wins the NCAA championship. Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain will be the player of the year. (Chalk eater.)

Tennis
 Althea Gibson will swat the ladies into limbo all over again while Ashley Cooper of Australia slams the men. The Aussies, as usual, will retain the Davis Cup in a common cause.

Horse Racing
 Old Pueblo (no relation to My Old Kentucky Derby) will capture the Kentucky Derby by a nose over the favored Nadir. Willie Harkack will be the number one jockey—again.

Football
 Notre Dame, which hinted at the future by edging Army and ending Oklahoma's skein, will bounce back to the top as mythical national champion. The Cleveland Browns will get all sorts of revenge by clobbering Detroit in a playoff for the NFL pro title.

Hockey
 The rocket-powered Montreal Canadiens will sweep through to the National Hockey League championship and then add the Stanley Cup.

Track and Field
 Nine guys will break four minutes for the mile—and 99 others will have excuses why they didn't.

Galloping Donkeys
 A guy who used to be my friend will make 12 straight passes while I'm betting he don't.

Summary
 Short year, huh?

SHS Cagers To Face 'Cudas Here Tonight

Financial Help Needed For Boat Races On Jan. 19

B. J. Morrow Wins Memorial Trophy

The winning Sanford Seminoles rears their schedule here tonight as they face a much-improved New Smyrna squad for the second time this season in a game sponsored by the Sanford Elk's Club.

In the first outing against the 'Cudas, the Seminoles made it a double victory by the JV's coming out on top also. The JV Varsity, who now sport a perfect record, will begin at 7 p. m. and the Varsity contest will follow. Coach Bud Laver's County Champs now sport the best modern-day record at SHS (7-1) and will be going all out to continue their winning ways. Laver has done a tremendous job by improving the cage situation here in Sanford and he should be shown good support at all the home games. This squad promises to be the best here in a long time and it will be well worth while to string along and see the outcome for the remainder of the yet-young season.

Joe High, the Seminoles point maker, will be called upon here tonight to handle his share of the rebounding and shot making. Joe has come into his own this year and should prove to be one of the all-time scoring leaders at the local school.

Sharpshooting "Spider" McCoy, will be on tap at the opening jump and is expected to hit his share of the shots. Bruce has come up with a deadly set shot from the outside and is hard to stop. Although he lacks sufficient height to compete with the larger boys, he has done an exceptional job under the basket. He has filled in at the guard spot as well as forward position and it looks as though he will be playing on the outside so he can loosen up the 'Cudas defense with his set shots.

Balthasar, Ray Lundquist, a sophomore who stands only five-8, will be in there at a guard spot. Ray has been most effective with his lay-ups but has been the biggest help in the rebounding and defensive department.

Ken McMurray, the play-making forward, will also be around when the opening whistle is blown. Ken possesses a very good shot but has been of greater help by feeding the ball to High who, in turn, makes the points. Ken is also very helpful in the rebounding department.

Senior guard, John Barley will share the chores with Cecil Dandridge, and Jimmy Gracey at the other guard spot. All three lads have done a good job in the handling department and Cecil came through in the last quarter by hitting eleven points against Oviedo to help this squad become county champs.

Footballers Mike Tammy, Gerald Jones, and Allan Swain, will also be called upon by coach Laver to help in the rebounding and point making. Although these lads got a slow start at the first of the season, they have rounded out nicely and should be at full speed in several games.

This should be another top-notch contest as these two well-coached squads go against each other for the second time. The JV's start at 7 at the High School Auditorium and the Varsity contest will follow.

Harry Robson, financial chairman for the Sanford Boat and Ski Club, said today that the State Road Department is cutting the grass to give spectators best advantages in seeing the nation's top hydroplane drivers try for an early lead in the Florida Grapefruit League's winter circuit, on Jan. 19.

The challenging waves of Lake Monroe have been widely acclaimed by the boat racers and its challenge will be answered Jan. 19, with the finest field of drivers ever to appear in this area.

Since the races will be held in Sanford so early in the Grapefruit League schedule, a full state of racers will brave the cold waters. Last year only the League leader would race, but this year the importance of early points for the league lead will be a motivating factor.

"Last year," Robson declared, "the tremendous turnout was too much for our facilities, but this year, with the wonderful cooperation of the State Road Department, we will be able to have ample facilities."

Robson said that he would need a great deal of help with the financial responsibility of the races. "Having to call on the many citizens of our business district in the middle of the new year rush is not ideal," Robson said, "But we do want the races in mid-January, and we have to know that we have the financial backing to even put the races on."

"Seriously," Robson declared, "we need help on this project." He said that he felt open solicitation inappropriate for the races, "But we have nothing to gain in bringing the event here, so others will have to chip in on the money while we do the work."

Last year Bud Wiet, half of the husband-and-wife team of Bud and Ethel Wiet drove his famous "Monkey on the stick" hydro to a win in Sanford.

45-Man Board Of Coaches Named To Rate Teams

NEW YORK (UP)—The United Press announced today the formation of a 45-man board of coaches which will rate the nation's small college basketball teams for United Press clients weekly, starting next week.

In order to assure equal geographical distribution, one coach from 45 of the nation's 48 states was selected to serve on the board. Only Utah, Wyoming and Rhode Island, which do not have any college teams eligible for rating in the small college class, are not represented on the rating board.

As in the case of the United Press major college basketball ratings, each will select his top 10 teams weekly. These individual selections will be used to form a consensus only, with 10 points being awarded for a first-place vote, 9 for a second and so on down to 1 for a tenth.

The small college ratings will encompass approximately 720 schools. Some are members of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn., some of the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics, some are members of both groups while others are members of neither one of the nation-wide sports regulatory bodies.

Eligibility Regulations
 Any four-year, degree-granting institution is eligible for the small college division ratings provided it is not included in the major statistical basketball list of the NCAA and it does not hold membership in one of the allied NCAA conferences whose championship team automatically qualifies for the NCAA Basketball University Division Tournament.

As compared to the small college group, there are only 170 universities and colleges eligible for ranking among the major basketball schools.

The formation of the United Press Small College Rating Board is in line with the campaigns of both the NCAA and NAIA to obtain more recognition for the smaller schools. The NAIA has held small college tournaments for years, while the NCAA started holding a nation-wide small college division tournament a year ago.

The first small college basketball ratings will be released for Thursday morning papers, Jan. 8. The ratings will be released alternately for Wednesday afternoon papers and Thursday morning newspapers.

First Baptist Church News

The Watch Night service at the First Baptist Church on Tuesday night was well attended by a large group of young people as well as program of songs, games, stunts, pictures and devotionals. During the past year studies have been made in developing the music program of the church under the direction of Mrs. Guy Bishop and W.L. Harmon. The church now has six choirs all of which participated in the Christmas music program. Also during the past year, according to the church report the First Baptist Church organized two other churches in this area—the Elder Springs Baptist Church and the Pinecrest Baptist Church.

The week of Jan. 12 is known throughout the Southern Baptist Convention and Women's Missionary Society as focus week and will be observed here in the First Baptist Church. Also a high light in January will be the School of Missions week beginning Jan. 26. There will be classes each afternoon for the boys and girls in mission studies and a talk by a missionary. At night the young people and adults will have mission studies and an address by a different missionary each evening. During the week of Feb. 16 the church will have its annual Bible Study week. This year the study will be in the book of Hosea and taught each evening by Dr. Earl Jelner of the School of Religion

Each of these brilliant pups has flashed to four straight wins since making the first official start after the season opened Dec. 14.

Fable Contessa has been the more impressive so far, for she already has a Grade A win to her credit. In advancing up the ladder from the maiden class, the 85-pound brindle miss skipped Grade B and therefore reached the top level ahead of King Ivy.

There will be 11 races tonight instead of the usual 10.

Asked about the distribution of money received for school lunches, Mrs. Whitmore said that of the 30c charged for lunches 70 per cent is spent for food, 25 per cent for labor, and 5 per cent for supplies.

"We tried to hold our prices as they were," she explained, "but we are required to serve a 'Type A' lunch in order to participate in the reimbursement program. This requirement means that we must serve, with every lunch, two ounces of meat or meat substitute, 1/2 of a cup of fruit and or a vegetable, a serving of enriched bread and butter, plus a half-pint of milk—and the milk alone costs us 7 cents.

"We believe that with each lunch we serve we are also including a lesson in good food habits," Mrs. Whitmore explained. "We are very proud of our program in Seminole County and we want parents and friends of the school lunchroom program to know what we are serving and how we serve it," she said.

Other projects discussed included "Courtesy Week" Jan. 6-12 and the annual speedboat regatta on Jan. 18.

Also announced was a meeting of wives of Jaycees on Thursday night at 8 p. m. at the Yacht Club when plans will be discussed relative to organizing the Jayceettes.

Sheriff Conducts Discussion Period At Ministerial Meet

The Seminole County Ministerial Association held its first meeting yesterday at the First Presbyterian Church in Sanford. An informal Fellowship period was observed before the business meeting. At this time coffee and doughnuts were served.

The meeting was conducted by the president, the Rev. Perry Stone. Discussed was the course for members, which will be held at the Alliance Church Jan. 26 and 27. The course will be presented by the University of Florida Extension Service. Times for the two, two hour sessions will be announced later. Under discussion at the meeting Thursday was the problem of promoting interest in the course among lay people of the community.

The program for the meeting had been arranged by the Rev. Joe Courson and dealt with the cooperation of local churches with the law enforcement agencies in the county. The Rev. Courson introduced Sheriff Luther Hobby, who conducted an informal discussion period.

Sheriff Hobby outlined the various problems confronting his department and asked for the backing of the Ministerial Association in matters of backing and prosecution. Discussed at length was the problem of alcohol, and the problems that arise from its misuse.

Nazarenes Open Golden Anniversary Year On Jan. 5

In every one of 4,500 Nazarene churches in the U. S. and around the world, special hymns, testimonials and sermons of praise will arise at simultaneous worship services Sunday, Jan. 5, opening the denomination's golden anniversary year.

Heart-felt thanksgiving to God will be offered by Nazarenes everywhere for the amazing progress of the past 50 years.

Since the Nazarene church started at a union service in a small tent at "Hot Point, Tex., on Oct. 13, 1898, it has literally girdled the world with its messages and slogan, "Holiness unto the Lord." It has become one of the fastest growing Protestant churches in the world.

Among U. S. Protestant denominations, Nazarenes now stand both in membership, 125,000 in Sunday school enrollment, and ninth in publishing house business.

The story of its growth is graphically told as follows:

Membership has increased about 30 times—from 10,000 to nearly 300,000 in 50 years;

Sunday school enrollment has increased nearly 100 times, from about 7,000 to 632,000;

Per capita giving has increased 10 times, from $13.44 to $133.77;

The value of all church property has increased about 240 times, from $560,000 to $136,708,000.

These figures include the 1947 calendar year.

One of the discoveries of the Geophysical Year is that the aurora occurs simultaneously at both the North and South Poles.

The meeting closed with a general agreement to co-operate wherever possible on the part of ministers and law officers.

Coolidge, 30th President, Remembered As Man Of Few Words

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Twenty-five years ago, Calvin Coolidge, Vermont, died.

Most American presidents are remembered for what they said. Coolidge is remembered because he never said very much. There are hundreds of stories about his New England taciturnity.

Once his train stopped in a small town, a local official tried to shush a noisy crowd. "Now everybody keep quiet. I want ab-olute silence. The President is going to address us."

Coolidge said, "Good bye. That's all."

Another time a newsreel cameraman ordered Coolidge to "say something."

The President quipped back, "That man gets more conversation out of me than all Congress."

America's 30th President. In the early morning hours of Aug. 3, 1923, Coolidge, then vice president, was awakened at his Plymouth, Vt., home by a telegraph messenger. President Harding had died. Coolidge was America's 30th President.

His only comment was, "I believe I can swing it."

At 2:45 that morning, by the light of an oil lamp, Coolidge took his oath of office from his father, a notary public.

His rise in politics was rapid. In quick session he was elected mayor of Northampton, Mass., state senator, lieutenant governor, and in 1919, governor of Massachusetts.

A year after he became governor, he made national headlines, and became a hot presidential candidate, by quelling the Boston police strike.

Harding's Running Mate The Republicans picked him that year as Harding's running mate. He ran for President in 1924 and defeated Democrat John W. Davis and Progressive Robert M. LaFollette.

Coolidge's administration was marked by revelations of scandals in the Harding government, efforts to preserve peace, and great prosperity.

Before the 1928 election, he issued a typically terse, and now famous, statement, "I do not choose to run for President in '28."

After he left the White House, Coolidge returned to Northampton where he wrote his autobiography and a syndicated newspaper column.

On Jan. 5, 1933, he spent about an hour at the office he maintained, then went home, complaining that he didn't feel well. Later in the day his wife found him on the floor at home, dead at 60 of a heart attack.

Coolidge's biographer, William Allen White, commented, "He who lived aloof, died alone."

Coolidge had been president during one of America's greatest booms. He died in the midst of one of the biggest busts.

Widow Died Last Year Coolidge is remembered as cold, last year.

Coolidge is remembered as cold, humorless, emotionless and conservative.

Actually, this incident took place shortly after Calvin Jr. died, better the Coolidge character. A Secret Service man little boy loitering near the White House gate what he wanted. The lad replied, "I came to see the President. I want to tell him I'm sorry his little boy died."

The boy was taken to the President.

Later Coolidge told the Secret Service men, "Whenever a boy wants to see me, always bring him in. Never turn one away or make him wait."

The President's lip was quiver-

City Manager Foresees Good Year For Sanford

City Manager Warren E. Knowles predicted a good year for the City of Sanford during 1938.

Speaking before the Sanford Kiwanis Club Friday at its noon luncheon meeting, Knowles pointed out the outstanding achievements "we can look for."

He said the "completion of the Sanford Civic Center" and the economic use of the new facility was the "number one project" to be completed this year. Also he pointed out that the Fire Station No. 2 project will also be completed.

Atlas Missile Set Up For Firing At Cape

CAPE CANAVERAL (UP)—A brawny Atlas intercontinental missile might reply to Russian rocket threats by setting the new session of Congress, was poised to fly again today.

Harsh winds lashing the cape and its great steel missile towers were expected to continue at least another day, however, and could defer the first test launchings of the new year.

Best guess for triggering of the blunt-nosed, 90-foot Atlas was Wednesday, the day after Congress reconvenes to consider the staggering sums needed for holstering the nation's defenses—in particular the guided missile development program.

Board Organization Meeting Tomorrow

The Board of Sanford City Commissioners will hold its organizational meeting tomorrow night.

A newly elected commissioner will be sworn in and seated and a commissioner reelected to the board will be sworn in and seated. Commissioner Robert S. Brown was elected last fall and Commissioner A. L. Wilson was reelected.

However, before any organizational meeting of commissioners is taken up, all old business must be handled by the outgoing commission with Commissioner F. D. Scott sitting in.

The prepared agenda for tomorrow night's session lists only two items to be handled. The first is for the transfer of beer and wine licenses from W. E. Pratt to S. P. Griffin at H&C Grocery Co. and from Wm. M. Brown to Vernon and Estella Erickson at Angel's Eat Shack.

The second item of business can cover a multitude of complaints, business, or contracts brought over from last year. The item reads "Any further old business to come before the City Commission."

Following the swearing in and seating of the two commissioners elected last November by Sanford citizens, a Mayor will be elected.

Mayor David Gatchel can be reelected to serve another term as "Honorary Head" of the City of Sanford, but such an election must be with the unanimous approval of all commissioners.

So far, there has been no "unofficial campaigning" for the seat as Mayor of Sanford and the outcome of tomorrow night's meeting cannot be predicted. Commissioners have been mum as to who will serve as Mayor of Sanford for 1938.

The meeting will be held in the commissioners' room of the city hall beginning at 8 o'clock.

Michigan Couple Is Arrested As 'Guests'

A Jackson, Mich., couple, Mr. and Mrs. Wendall Saines, were arrested this morning by Sanford Police Department Sergeant Leo Rock and Chamber of Commerce representative Charlie Morrison, for "attempting to pass through Sanford without stopping to see our wonderful city."

The Jackson, Mich., milkman and his wife were traveling north on their way home from a Florida vacation when stopped on French Ave. near Commercial.

Mrs. Saines remarked to her husband as Sgt. Rock waved them to the curb "What are they stopping us for?" and the husband said "I'm not speeding."

Charlie Morrison told the couple "The only reason we stopped you is because you looked like a likely couple to be guests of Sanford."

The whole idea is a part of Sanford's Courtesy Week event. Mr. and Mrs. Saines were presented gifts, will enjoy an overnight stay at the Mayfair Inn, and will be taken on a tour of Sanford and Seminole County by Charlie Morrison.

The traveling couple was taken to the Sanford Police Station where they were booked on charges Morrison placed against them, met Police Chief Roy G. Williams, and where they were also greeted by Mayor David Gatchel, M. L. Raborn Jr., president of the Jaycees, and Howard McNulty, chairman of the Courtesy Week event.

After the charges were placed the Jackson, Mich. couple, still bewildered over their arrest, were taken to the Mayfair Inn.

Youngster Gives George Swain Bike

George Swain has a bicycle to use now.

A story carried in The Sanford Herald last Thursday about George Swain's bicycle being stolen caught the eye of a Sanford youngster who immediately did something about providing transportation for the 70-year-old Negro who lives on Locust Ave. near 10th St.

Billy Brown, son of Cotton Brown, read the article pointing out George Swain's plight.

Billy received a new bike for Christmas and had his old one on hand—a good one but not quite an equal to the new, shiny bike left under his Christmas Tree this year.

So Billy sent word to George Swain "you can have my bike so you won't have to walk from home to downtown every day."

George, who is well known in Sanford and the Sanford area for his immaculate courtesy, will be seen regularly at his odd jobs now, smiling as he is always known to do.

A long 12 to 15 block walk each morning would have possibly had some effect on George's smile and courtesy, and according to Billy Brown, "We just couldn't let that happen especially since this is Courtesy Week in Florida."

Male Chorus Will Resume Practice

The rehearsals of the Male Chorus will be resumed tonight at 8 o'clock at the First Presbyterian Church.

Harry M. Weir, director, this morning asked for a good attendance at this first rehearsal of 1938.

Admiral Lauds Citizens For Noise Tolerance

The Chief of Naval Operations, Admiral Arleigh Burke, has expressed his appreciation for noise tolerance to the parishioners of the Holy Cross Episcopal Church and "the many kind citizens of the city of Sanford."

The Rev. John W. Thomas, Rector, Holy Cross Episcopal Church, has received a letter from Admiral Burke which stated in part:

"I have noticed a copy of 'The Envoy,' which was issued by your church, dated Nov. 3, 1937.

"The comments concerning the jet planes based at Sanford are appreciated far more than you will ever know. It expresses an enlightened view which I wish could be shared by a greater proportion of the citizens of this country. I know the pilots appreciate it.

"Your message is of such import that I am taking the liberty of calling it to the attention of our Chief of Chaplains with the request that he make it available to other church organizations. I hope this meets with your approval." Signed Arleigh Burke.

Early in November, "The Envoy" issued by the Holy Cross Church stated the special need for noise tolerance in the jet age and requested parishioners to offer a prayer for the safety of the aircraft pilots rather than to complain because of the nuisance of noise. This gesture was brought to the attention of Captain Lionel A. Arthur, Commanding Officer, Naval Air Station, Sanford, who recognized its impact as one kind thought among a multitude of complaints.

Captain Arthur directed it be forwarded to the Chief of Naval Information who in turn brought it to the attention of the Chief of Naval Operations.

Captain Arthur has expressed his continued hope for the favorable acceptance of jet noises in communities wherein military air bases are located.

Nine Boards Ship For Deployment

Heavy Attack Squadron Nine departed from Sanford January 3 to board the aircraft carrier USS Saratoga for a lengthy operation as part of the powerful US 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean area. Sanford's busiest squadron under the command of Cdr. W. R. Hazlett, USN, will be returning to familiar surroundings. It was on the Saratoga that the squadron participated in last fall's gigantic NATO exercise "Strikeback" in the frigid waters north of the Arctic Circle.

Returning to Sanford late in October the squadron was honored to be chosen to participate in the snakedown cruise of the Navy's newest aircraft carrier, the USS Ranger, during November and early December. Less than one week later VAH-9 placed six of its aircraft on board the USS Forrestal for a short operation, thus becoming the first navy squadron to operate from all three of the Navy's newest class aircraft carriers.

The USS Saratoga with its angled flight deck of approximately four acres resembles a huge floating city. It carries 2,000 men, nearly 100 aircraft and displaces more than 70,000 tons when fully loaded. The ship's four steam catapults handle the thirty-five ton Skywarriors of VAH-9 like toys.

They pick up an A1D from a standing start and hurl it into the air at more than 140 miles an hour in a run of 235 to 267 feet. The anchors on the giant ship weigh thirty tons apiece. She carries two million gallons of fuel oil and, has 2,300 telephones installed. For better crew efficiency the Saratoga has most of its working spaces and virtually all of its living spaces air conditioned.

While this will be the home of the members of Sanford's first jet Heavy Attack Squadron for the next several months, their thoughts will be of Sanford where the majority will be leaving their families.

Lions To See Film Called 'Operation Three-M's' Tuesday

The Sanford Lions Club, at its noon luncheon meeting tomorrow at the Yacht Club, will see a movie released by the Post Office Department called "Operation Three-M's."

The three M's, said Postmaster Joel Field, are men, mail and machines.

Purpose of the film, said Sanford Postmaster Field, is to show the public the need for mechanization in the Post Office Department, especially here in Sanford where the postal operations is conducted in a building more than 40 years old.

Several members of the local Post Office staff will accompany Postmaster Field to the Lions Club meeting to conduct a question and answer session following the film.

"It is quite a show," said Postmaster Field, "which lasts only 13 1/2 minutes."
