

Merchants Suggest Job Tax Clinics

For the benefit of some 20,000 small employers in Florida who in January will begin paying unemployment compensation tax for the first time, the Florida State Retailers Association has suggested job tax clinics in various parts of the state.

All employers of four or more workers are subject to the tax, at 3 per cent of payroll, effective Jan. 1. Prior to that date they must file Form U.C. 1 and plan their schedule of quarterly reports and payments.

"We suggest job tax clinics be held soon in six or eight major centers throughout Florida," the Florida State Retailers Association today wrote Chairman James T. Vocelle of the Florida Industrial Commission.

"Our organization offers its cooperation in arranging and conducting these clinics because so many of the newly covered employers are small merchants," the message to Chairman Vocelle added. "They need full information on the state unemployment compensation statute and its requirements."

"Actually, the regional sessions could well be broadened to serve all covered employers," Dallas Hostetter, executive director of the state retailers group proposed. "Such a package plan offered by the Commission would help presently covered employers review methods of insuring the possible merit rating in this time of tight expenses," Hostetter added.

"If a schedule of clinics is set up in advance, the state retail organization will alert local action committees of merchants in 120 cities, towns and villages throughout Florida," the association advised Chairman Vocelle.

The Florida Retailers Association has joined in offering the Industrial Commission its cooperation on the suggested series of clinics for all employers.

Clements May See Big Career Ahead

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The first pass sophomore Joe Clements of Texas threw in a college game was a completion and this fall, quiet kid could be headed into a record-writing career.

When he threw that pass, he was fourth-string quarterback. At the end of the game against Tulane Saturday, he was the man under center with the first string and the regular signal-caller. Was Fondrick had been shifted to another back field spot. Fondrick can run but his passing was getting nowhere.

In the Tulane game—his second in college—Clements completed 17 of 22 to help Texas win 35-21. The performance gave him an astonishing season record of .33 and Longhorn coaches believe he can keep going.

SRD Is Ready

On the question of a cash bond of one million dollars because of right-of-way condemnations and declaration of taking, Dial said, "The county commission goes out and buys the right-of-ways at their appraised value or less, and that leaves only a small percentage of the property left for condemnation and for declaration of taking. If the value of that portion is only in that amount and I am sure that the Road Board will help out in matching such funds," said Dial. "It has been done before. I want to see the road built and I want to help you," he said.

Asked whether or not he had contacted property owners along the right-of-way who had shown a willingness to contribute right-of-ways, Fox said, "No. Only two property owners have actually signed deeds contributing their right-of-way property to the county, and of the 15 others who had shown a willingness to contribute he had not contacted any of them because he could not get hold of the 'exceptions.' 'No one would give them to me,' he said.

Mrs. Vera M. Tolle, secretary to the Citizens Committee and the Long Range Highway Planning Committee of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, said this morning, "I offered the exceptions to Mr. Fox but he told me that he would not need the information until the appraisal was complete.

"There are a couple of the property owners who listed no right-of-way property but have not been contacted," she stated.

Bralley Odham, chairman of the Citizens Committee and of the Long Range Highway Planning Committee of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, said this morning, "I am not surprised that the paid right-of-way man of the county commission, who must look to them for his salary, will attempt to place the blame for possible failure of our 17-92 project at anybody else's doorstep he can. I want to state here and now that the State Road Department, its District Office in Deland, and the Road Board member of this district, William A. Dial of Orlando, have been far more cooperative in work on this project than any reasonable person could expect. The county commissioners have continually dragged their feet on this project. They have, all year long, ignored my requests to add necessary help to secure the adequate right-of-ways and right-of-way information. I personally like Jack Fox but I have found it extremely difficult to get any action out of him all along. A number of people," said Odham, "have indicated to our committee that they will give right-of-ways and to my knowledge he hasn't contacted and secured the deeds from anyone on his own initiative."

"After all," said Odham, "as a paid right-of-way man of the county commission, this should be his first job. Somehow, probably from the direction of the County Commissioners, he hasn't had time to devote to the 17-92 project. On last Thursday he had time to work on Celery Ave. and State Road 46, and neither of the roads are in the budget."

"I am confident that the State Road Department will do everything within its power to help us build 17-92 this year if the County Commission will stop dragging its feet and take an affirmative and positive action at our next Tuesday's meeting. I am confident that the road can be built this year."

"I urge every citizen to do his part on this project by expressing his feelings to his County Commissioner," Odham said. And added, "Be present Tuesday at the next Seminole County Commissioners' meeting."

Army Takes Over Where It Left Off

NEW YORK (AP)—Army has taken up right where it left off last year and leads the nation's colleges in total offense and rushing.

The Cadets, who finished No. 1 in both departments, are right back at the top, according to statistics of the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau released today.

After one game, an 81-0 decision over Furman, the Cadets have piled up 567 yards in total offense, including 318 on the ground.

Strung out behind Army's fast start in the offense rankings are Oklahoma, which amassed 433 yards enroute to a 13-0 score over North Carolina, Boston College, Holy Cross and Illinois. The same five, plus potent Texas Christian, top the ground-attack listings.

West Virginia averaged almost 15 yards per forward pass attempt in its Richmond opener Saturday, getting 208 yards and 3 touchdowns on just 14 throws, 9 of them completed. Of those that have been tested in two outings, however, Texas and Stanford rate as air travel leaders, with 183.3 and 182-yard-per-game averages.

Picture Favorable In All Available Reports On Vaccine

WASHINGTON (AP)—Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele said Monday "the picture looks very favorable" from available reports on the effectiveness of Salk antipolio vaccine.

The head of the U.S. Public Health Service said the reports are still incomplete, fragmentary in some instances, and unanalyzed but they all indicate the vaccine has been 100 per cent effective where polio has prevailed this summer.

"The published reports from health officials of New York state and New York City and from the state health officer of Oregon are very heartening and it is hoped the results in those areas are typical of the entire country," Dr. Scheele said in an interview.

The three departments he named had reported the vaccine appeared to have been 100 per cent effective among children given the full recommended three shots in 1951, when extensive testing was under way. They also reported favorable results so far this year.

"Those reports and all others we have received indicate the vaccine has given protection," Scheele said.

However, we will have to have a longer time before the picture can be objectively analyzed.

BURGLARY REPORTED HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Police are investigating the weekend burglary of an apartment occupied by an ex-army captain from Egypt.

The burglary was reported by neighbors of Fouad Aref, 29, who was advisor in Egypt for C. B. Demille's "The Ten Commandments."

Aref told reporters he had been out with a "beautiful and well known Hollywood actress" but declined to identify her.

20 Stitches Needed To Repair Boxers

NEW YORK (AP)—It took a total of 20 stitches to repair winner Neal Rivers and loser Bobby Dawson after last night's 10-round bout at St. Nicholas Arena.

Rivers suffered a deep gash over the left eye early in the fight and Dawson was slashed around the right eye in two places in the final round.

Rivers, 35½, a Niagara Falls, N.Y., boy who had to go to California to get action, will be back Nov. 7 to box the winner of an Oct. 17 match between Arlie Towne and Milo Savage, one of the two men to knock him out.

The 23-year-old Rivers, a free swinger, has won nine straight for a 25-4-1 career record since he left the Golden Gloves in 1932. He stopped Jesse Turner and outpointed Jimmy King in his last two previous starts.

Dawson, 153½, originally from Blakely, Ga., now fighting out of New York, is a lanky middleweight who fought men like Yolande Pompey during his three-year travels in Europe.

7. We would like to show you some of the things that make the new 1956 Ford one of America's finest cars—despite the fact it is one of America's lowest-priced cars. Let's start with these long, low lines. Looks like it hates to stand still, doesn't it?

Let's take a walk around the NEW '56 FORD!

It's the fine car at half the fine car price!

2. Here, on your left, is the inspiration for the styling of the '56 Ford—the famous Ford Thunderbird. You can see the similarity from any angle. Look at those broad, flat hoods, those veined headlights, for example. Here is styling that will stay in style.

3. Here's what you ride on. This frame has five cross-members including a K-bar member up front. It can take it! And Ford's Ball-Joint Front Suspension really bounces out bumps.

4. Here's the new 202-h.p. Thunderbird Y-8 and we assure you, it will give you new driving enjoyment. It's available in Fordomatic Fairlane and Station Wagon models... the 176-h.p. Y-8 in Fordomatic Mainline and Customline models... the 137-h.p. Six in all models.

5. Note the deep-center design of this new Lifeguard steering wheel. The wheel rim is over three inches above the seat to help cushion the driver in case of an accident.

6. This Lifeguard cushioning for instrument panel and sun visors is optional. It gives you extra protection against serious injuries when thrown forward in an accident. You may also have optional seat belts to help keep occupants securely in their seats.

7. Here's Ford's new Lifeguard door latch. A double-grip locking engagement reduces the chance of doors springing open under impact. Chances of serious injury in accidents are less when passengers remain in the car.

Well, that covers the important points. But there's a lot more. So we'd like to invite you to come in and see the new '56 Ford for yourself. Then you'll see the colorful new exteriors and interiors, the quality workmanship that is evident everywhere. Then you'll learn the full story. You'll know that Ford is the car at half the fine car price.

Oil Well Hums Outside House Of Giarraputos

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP)—The Charles Giarraputo family at 1933 N. Crockett St. feels as if that oil well were just a member of the family.

"That oil well" is actually just outside the window, flush up against the south wall of the Giarraputo home.

But its huge molars, the drills stem clanks as it's slammed into place in the rig towers, and the Giarraputo home shakes and groans with the noise. It's been going on for three months.

"Sometimes I don't even notice it at all," Mrs. Giarraputo told a reporter. "But sometimes (she raised her voice a bit as the noise rose outside), when I'm hot and tired and the children have been difficult, the noise just seems to bounce off the walls."

"Tony Jim"—that's 5-month-old James Anthony—has lived with the noise for four fifths of his life and doesn't know anything different.

Jeannette, 2, was frightened at first by the big diesel trucks but has grown used to it.

"I asked the doctor if the noise would damage the children's ears," said Mrs. Giarraputo. "He said the noise wouldn't, but they will probably have some trouble adjusting to silence again."

The drills still have about a thousand feet to go before they reach the 11,000-foot depth where they hope to hit oil.

Meanwhile, life gets difficult. The heat from the rig makes it impossible for Mrs. Giarraputo to use her kitchen much during the day. She washes the dishes in the evening. Most family dinners are cooked on an electric bean pot, a gift of Mrs. Giarraputo's mother.

And Mr. and Mrs. Giarraputo had to move into the north bedroom with the children. Their southeast bedroom was too close to the drilling. Once the drilling crew hit a gas pocket, Mrs. Giarraputo had to turn the pilot light out on her gas stove and evacuate the house for a day.

A neighbor, Freddie Lee, says, "It's like having neighbors next door, the kind that fight all the time."

The Giarraputos have one consolation: They can dream of some measure of wealth, or just think about it when the noise is too much. They have an interest in the well and are rooting for it to "y off."

TARGET 'SHOOT DOWN' SABRE JET
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—A high speed target, the Air Force says, shot down a plane in an aviation freak yesterday.

The FM Sabre Jet came roaring in on the 20-foot, nylon streamer at 30,000 feet. The pilot, Lt. Col. Walter E. Williams Jr., placed the target in the sights and squeezed off a burst.

One of the .50-caliber slugs ricocheted off the metal tow line that fixed the target to the towing T33 trainer. I caught the Sabre Jet in the nose, Williams, forelanded at nearby Nellis Air Force Base.

LIFE SMASHES UP: HUBBY IS PLEASED

DETROIT (P)—"Was my husband ever pleased when I piled up the family car," Mrs. Dolores Haburne told a Traffic Court judge when charged with interfering with traffic.

"How is that?" asked the beaming judge.

"First he was pleased because I wasn't hurt," said Mrs. Haburne. "Second, he was pleased because I was well, you see, he's a car salesman and sold the man I hit a new car on the spot."

TACKLES PRISONER

LANSING, Mich. (P)—In football fashion, State Police Detective Charles Southworth prevented a Southern Michigan Prison inmate from escaping from the Jackson County courtroom yesterday.

Edwin P. Robinson, 29, serving 15-25 years for armed robbery, was hit with a flying tackle when he made a break for freedom just after he had been sentenced to an additional five to six years for attempted escape.

Information For Veterans

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to four questions of interest to former servicemen and their families.

Q I am taking Korean farm training, and my monthly GI allowances so far have been reduced twice. Under the new law calling for top allowance rates for the first year, will VA make a retroactive adjustment, paying me the difference between what I received so far and what I would have received under the new system?

A Under the law, retroactive adjustments will not be made. But beginning in October, your monthly allowances will be figured under the new system. You will receive the maximum allowance rate for the rest of your first year in training, after which your checks will be reduced at four-month intervals.

Q I am getting a VA pension, and I recently inherited enough money to push my yearly income above the limit set for pensions. Am I supposed to report this fact to the VA?

A Yes. You should promptly report your additional income, so that VA can discontinue your pension payments. If you do not report it, you may find yourself hard put, later on, to repay a sizeable sum of money to the VA.

Q I have a World War II GI term insurance policy. Is it possible to convert just part of it to a permanent plan, or must I convert all of it at once?

A If you wish you may convert only part of your GI term insurance to permanent insurance. However, the insurance must be converted in multiples of $500, and the minimum amount that may be converted is $1,000.

Q I plan to start school this fall under the Korean GI Bill. Would it be possible for me to receive my GI allowance pay in advance, before I start class?

A No. Under the law, the allowances are paid some time after the end of each month of training completed, and not before. Furthermore, after the end of the month, you and your school will have to sign a certification stating you were in class all month. VA is allowed up to 20 days, after receipt of that certification, to send your check.

Veterans living in Central Florida who wish further information about their benefits, should write the VA office at 42 E. Central Ave., Orlando.

Decorator Plans To Keep Valued DaVinci Oil

CHICAGO (P)—A Chicago interior decorator says he will not sell his newly discovered Da Vinci oil painting of Madonna and child, but adds that "sooner or later I will donate it to an American museum."

"I will keep it and enjoy it awhile," said Harry P. Teichert of his $450 purchase, now valued at more than one million dollars. Teichert said he had not decided what museum he would give the painting.

Dr. Hans Hahn, curator of the search at the Chicago Art Institute, has not seen the painting but has expressed doubt that it is really the work of Leonardo da Vinci, famed for his Mona Lisa.

The painting, now kept in a vault, was identified as a Da Vinci by Dr. Maurice H. Goddard, director of the art galleries at the University of Notre Dame.

Teichert, who specializes in church and other interior decoration, bought the painting in a New York antique shop a year ago for $450.

He said he had a serious offer for the painting before it was allocated to Da Vinci.

"I could never sell it," Teichert said. "I am a collector, and I am not in the business of selling paintings. I have other paintings that I could sell at a profit, but what would I do with the money?"

Teichert, who specializes in church and other interior decoration, bought the painting in a New York antique shop a year ago for $450. He said he had a serious offer for the painting before it was allocated to Da Vinci.

TV NOTEBOOK
By BOB BENNETT

TV is a funny thing. If you think that all the comedy and tragedy shows on the screen, however, consider what happens among the viewing citizenry.

A New Englander tried to placate an irate landlord by explaining that he had whacked a big hole in one wall so that his children could frolic from room to room without passing beyond him and the TV screen. In Windsor, Canada, a bakery chides the soap opera viewers with this advertisement: "Pie like mother used to make before she got a TV set."

A Chicago husband complained to the divorce court that when he washed the floors and they didn't gleam as in the TV commercials, his wife made him do them over. Another divorce-seeking husband did better, however. The wife was awarded possession of all household items but one. The husband hit the jackpot with the family TV set!

By the way, friends, if you want to hit the jackpot with a budget-balanced TV buy, call on BOB BENNETT'S TV, 200 East 27th St. We feature the great DUMONT line which makes TV-viewing the most enjoyable pastime in the world. Drop in today and see how enjoyable AND economical owning a new TV can be.

More Work, Less Talk Needed For 17-92 Four-Laning Project

A merchant said the other day, "Don't bother me with roads, that's what I help elect a County Commissioner for, that's his business!"

Well, Mr. Merchant . . . can we ask you a question? When the people stop coming to your door to trade with you . . . are you going to that County Commissioner and ask him to send some more around?

There's some sense in these statements . . . if you'll stop just a moment to read.

You're right in the first place . . . Mr. Merchant. You did help elect a County Commissioner to build roads . . . TO YOUR DOOR . . . NOT AWAY FROM IT. That's where the rub comes Mr. Businessman . . . Mr. Professional Man . . . Mr. Filling Station Operator! We're so busy . . . apathetically looking after the business that's right under our nose . . . that we can't smell the terrible odor of BAD PLANNING that's going on among the commissioners you helped elect.

And now . . . when everything gets quiet . . . and we think that "Now we're going to get something done" . . . the whole business blows up in our face.

Up until a few days ago . . . we thought that the plans were being carried out just as the people would like for them to be done. Most citizens had the idea that the four-laning, widening and paving of 17-92 was wrapped up, sealed, and delivered. Well . . . unhappily . . . that isn't the case.

Our County Commissioners are on record, in the minutes of one of their meetings, that should 17-92 not be paved this year, State Road 46 would get FIRST priority next year, and State Road 46 not carrying even a small percentage of the traffic in comparison with 17-92.

Now remember this, we aren't against good roads everywhere. But it just isn't "according to Hoyle" to put as much money as will be necessary for 17-92 right-of-ways into a project that will not mean as much to the continued progress of Seminole County as State Road 46.

It's certainly logical that if the same amount of time were spent in forwarding the plans of 17-92 four-laning as is spent on the street corners defending the poorly laid plans to get the project underway during the present fiscal year, we would have had the project sewed up and ready to get underway.

This is a job that's going to take more work and less talk.

It was pointed out, at a recent Merchants Association meeting, that the traffic on State Road 46 is merely 700 a day, by actual count, compared to the 13,000 on 17-92.

Yet, the Board of Seminole County Commissioners have the audacity to refuse to call a special meeting of their group to consider a suggestion by the merchants that would accelerate the acquiring of right-of-ways.

It looks as if the Commissioners are working AGAINST the prosperity of Seminole County rather than FOR it.

When a body of public servants, dedicated to the carrying out of the wishes of their constituents, cannot take criticism and use it to further the well being of the citizens in their county, then it stands to reason that they are not doing the job that should be done as County Commissioners.

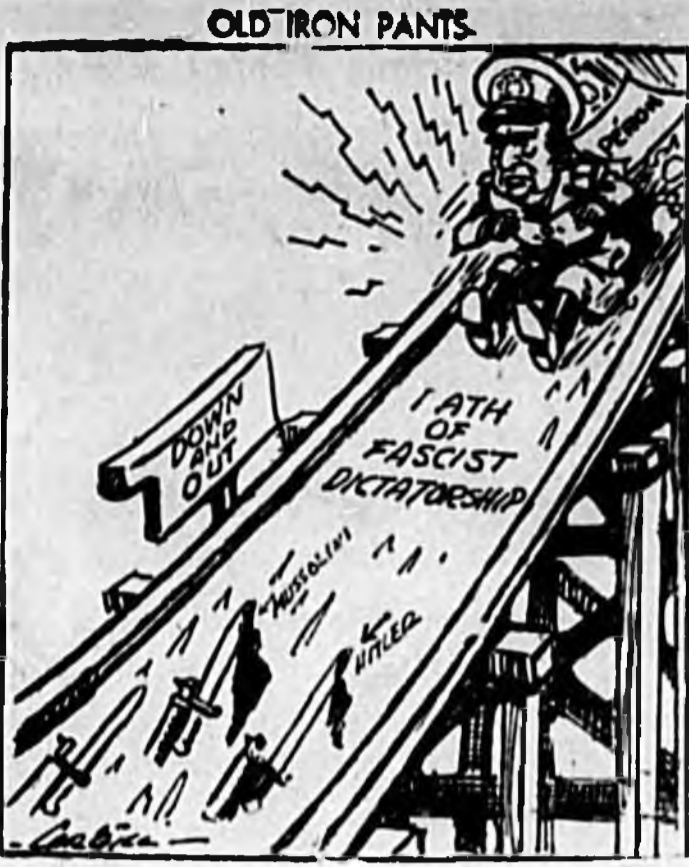

When patted on the back, the commissioners can certainly be proud, and they have been applauded by this paper and in this same column. But we're certainly not proud of their apathetic attitude toward the furtherance of the economic advancement in Seminole County.

County after county have added new roads to their primary and secondary system. County after county have made use of various and many ways in which the Boards of Commissioners can be aided in the acquiring of new and better roads.

Volusia County, Lake County, Marion County, Orange County, etc. and etc. . . all around us, have new, better, bigger and planned roads for their citizens to travel over and for visitors from every direction to use. Why can't Seminole County benefit from the experiences of others?

Do we have to go on and on with the mere trails that we have now while commissioners bicker with their citizens over which roads should be paved, widened, and improved first?

We repeat—The Seminole County Board of Commissioners should always be one step ahead of their citizens and ask, "Is this the road you want?"

JAMES MARLOW

Full Story Is Yet To Be Revealed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The full story has yet to be told of what happened over a span of almost 12 hours between the time President Eisenhower suffered a heart attack in Denver and the time he was taken to a hospital.

So far, only scanty reports have been given to the public about the first hours of the President's illness. Physicians here say they are puzzled and somewhat shocked by the chronology of events reported from the Summer White House. They are asking these questions:

1. If President Eisenhower's heart attack came at 2:45 a.m. while he was being attended by a physician, then why was it almost 11 hours later before cardiograph tracings were taken?

2. After the tracings were taken and the heart attack confirmed, why was the President permitted, even with assistance, to walk downstairs from a second-floor bedroom, across a porch, down another five steps to an automobile waiting to take him on a seven mile drive to the hospital, and then into the hospital?

One prominent capital physician exclaimed: "I was shocked when I read that the President was permitted to walk to an automobile to be driven seven miles to the hospital. When I read it, I called my wife and said: 'My God, they've let him walk from the house.'"

Other doctors queried on this point gave the same reaction: surprise that the President had been allowed to exert himself by walking—even with assistance—when it was known he was suffering from coronary thrombosis.

There is speculation here that perhaps Eisenhower himself refused to be carried from the home of his mother-in-law Mrs. John S.

Doud and placed in an ambulance. There was some speculation too that an initial effort was made for political reasons—to minimize the seriousness of the President's illness but that it soon became impossible.

The sequence of events as reported from Denver went like this:

2 a.m.—White House physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, was summoned to the residence of Mrs. John S. Doud; 2:45 a.m.—the president suffered a heart attack; 8

'Mr. Smerdly' Is Most Unusual

WESTPORT, Conn., (AP)—There are many unusual characters in this community of artists, writers and intellectuals.

But "Mr. Smerdly," the only one in the neighborhood who sleeps in a Dutch oven, is perhaps the most unusual.

In an area teeming with watch dogs, Smerdly has the distinction of being the only "watchcat." He is a pet ocelot, a kind of tropical wildcat, owned by Arthur Kennedy, the well known Broadway and Hollywood actor.

Kennedy bought the wildcat, which came from Peru, as a 5-week old kitten on the West Coast while completing a starring role in M-G-M's film, "Traitor." Ocelot raising has become some thing of a fad on the West Coast, where two clubs devoted to the breed have been organized.

The ocelot, a tree climbing cousin of the common cat, is known scientifically as Felis pardalis, flourishes in Central and South America, once ranged as far north as Georgia. It is a beautiful spotted and barred animal of a tawny hue that, when full grown, is 3 1/2 feet long and weighs 25 to 35 pounds.

These are ominous facts in the Kennedy household, for Smerdly at eight months is growing up fast on his daily diet of a pound of horse meat, two cans of baby food, and a spoonful each of vitamins, cod liver oil and calcium.

Smerdly, who has developed a formidable armory of fang and claw, shows no interest in learning tricks and his main ambition in life seems to be to grow up a normal wildcat.

"We are enjoying a tentative relationship with him right now," said Kennedy, rubbing a deep scratch on the back of his hand. He and his wife are currently wondering if Smerdly wouldn't become more amicable on a diet of strained spinach instead of horse meat.

Smerdly, while resenting adult handling, is quite amicable in the two Kennedy children—Laurie, 10, and Terence, 12. He likes to attend weekly rock 'n roll jam sessions in the studio barn with the neighborhood children, sticks his head against the photograph and drinks in the music—a real live cat.

"He also is quite a television fan," said Kennedy. "He particularly is fond of watching sports, such as football games, and likes to stay up for the late, late movie. But he doesn't care for Westerns—too much shooting in them—and is indifferent to British pictures, which he seems to find too slow and talky. He growls when he wants the program changed."

His role as a watchcat hasn't been tested in action against burglar. But the ocelot, who has radar-keen hearing, growls, hisses and spits at the approach of any stranger.

Smerdly, part of whose resentment against life may stem from the fact a veterinarian robbed him of his virility while he was a kitten, actively dislikes having his meowing claws trimmed.

"We trimmed them twice ourselves at home," said Kennedy. "Each time we had to quiet him with a couple of nembutal capsules."

The 14-year-old Persian rats in the household loathly disdain all friendly overtures by this strange rude country cousin. So does Chippy, a 12-year-old Cocker-Spaniel terrier.

"Chippy is willing to play with him but he has a beast condition," explained Kennedy. "He can't stand the excitement."

Smerdly, who became housebroken in a few days, beds down in a Dutch oven in a fireplace in the old Kennedy colonial home, built originally in 1620. His potential skill as a burglar alarm is matched by his real skill as a ratter.

"There hasn't been a rat in the area since the day after he came," Kennedy said.

"Whether Smerdly? A zoologist expert told the actor an ocelot ever made a completely satisfactory pet. Ocelot lovers disagree with this emphatically.

Business Boom Hits Seasonal Snag

NEW YORK (AP)—Absenteeism in factories and offices is heading for a sharp rise. Do-it-yourself plans will be shelved for a time.

The business boom, in other words, is running into a seasonal snag. Don't be alarmed, it's only a temporary slowdown—the annual preoccupation with the World Series, tempered this year with concern over the President's health and comfort.

But until America knows whether the Yankees or the Dodgers are the world champions, the fall business spurt must take a brief holiday.

There'll be no absenteeism at Ebbets Field or the Yankee Stadium.

JOHNSON TO SPEAK

WACO, Tex. (AP)—A statewide radio address, the first since his July heart attack, will be made by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson Saturday.

New York hotelmen, store keepers, and owners of eating and drinking spots expect visiting fans to lighten their pockets by around five million dollars before the World Series ends.

This bonanza which the Yankees and the Dodgers will share for a few days is one of the few bright spots in the baseball fiscal scene this year. Most baseball clubs have been plagued by absenteeism by erstwhile customers, although the American League as a whole did better this year than last thanks to the new Athletic fans at Kansas City.

Many teams are free in naming television for their plight. They note that total attendance at National League parks has dropped by 1,445,000, and at American League parks by 803,128, since TV first focused on the diamond in 1947.

Television people say they aren't to blame for the slump in ball park attendance. They point to the fees which the club get for being televised. They contend that TV builds interest in the game.

Seminole Hi

By MARGARET MOORE
 The library's bulletin board was very attractive. I noticed, this week, Irene Kelly has charge of it and she's doing a wonderful job. The idea was a cowboy theme with the title "Want to round up a good book?" Some of the books suggested for reading were "Mountain Laurel" by Anne Emery; "Hatter Up" by Jack Scholze; "Seventeen" by Booth Tarkington; and others.

This year the library has the largest number of members in the library council than ever before. Three or four boys or girls are in the library every period to help the students.

The Glee Club, directed by Miss Otis Reese Whittle, will not on the annual Variety Show, Oct. 18. They are very busy getting the different parts together. The rumor is that its going to be "great" on everyone be sure to come.

The Sally pictures for the Junior and seniors will be taken starting Oct. 1. Mrs. Ford has the coupons as the students may obtain them from her. Mr. Cox will photograph the students, as always. The hours are Saturday, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.; Monday through Friday, 3 p. m. to 5 p. m. Wednesday the studio will be closed. Don't forget you Juniors and Seniors.

Mrs. W. H. Weay and Mrs. Smith, teachers at Seminole High, are going to St. Petersburg Friday and Saturday to attend a classroom teachers conference.

Judy and her producer husband Sol Luff got little sleep after the show. The showbell was rung all night by messengers delivering telegrams.

Luff said 1,500 telegrams, mostly from people in small towns that he and Judy never had heard about, were counted by last night. "People sure are wonderful," said Luff. Judy agreed.

Living up to show business tradition, she had made the debut despite a severe case of laryngitis. Judy pushed the throat trouble Friday.

"It's just nerves," she said then "It will go away."

However, CBS really got worried when about 20 minutes before show time it looked as if her voice might not make it. A doctor, summoned hastily, sprayed her throat and stood by in the wings with the spray. She went through the same spraying routine after each number.

In viewers, she belted songs like the Judy Garland of old even though her voice cracked on some of the high notes.

Luff said her showmanly desire to please the audience caused her to "blow" her voice. Judy, in voice that sounded like Foghorn Murphy, confirmed the news, but added:

"We're going to take a rest, maybe in Palm Springs. I'll play a little golf and it'll come back. It always has before."

Judy Garland Scores Triumph In Video Debut

HOLLYWOOD — Judy Garland blew her voice on her television debut but both she and her husband said today, "It was worth it."

So did CBS-TV, where one spokesman labeled Judy's debut Saturday night as "the greatest personal triumph in the history of the network."

"We've never had anything like this happen before," he commented. "Our switchboards were still jammed 24 hours after the telecast."

"People from all over the country called just to tell us how much they liked Judy. That's all. Just to tell CBS how much they liked her."

"We've never had such an intimate personal reaction from viewers before."

Judy and her producer husband Sol Luff got little sleep after the show. The showbell was rung all night by messengers delivering telegrams.

Luff said 1,500 telegrams, mostly from people in small towns that he and Judy never had heard about, were counted by last night. "People sure are wonderful," said Luff. Judy agreed.

Living up to show business tradition, she had made the debut despite a severe case of laryngitis. Judy pushed the throat trouble Friday.

"It's just nerves," she said then "It will go away."

However, CBS really got worried when about 20 minutes before show time it looked as if her voice might not make it. A doctor, summoned hastily, sprayed her throat and stood by in the wings with the spray. She went through the same spraying routine after each number.

In viewers, she belted songs like the Judy Garland of old even though her voice cracked on some of the high notes.

Luff said her showmanly desire to please the audience caused her to "blow" her voice. Judy, in voice that sounded like Foghorn Murphy, confirmed the news, but added:

"We're going to take a rest, maybe in Palm Springs. I'll play a little golf and it'll come back. It always has before."

Keep a jar of soap jelly—made by melting soap in warm water—in the laundry room. It's handy for greasing an extra pre-laundering soaping to knives, seats, and elbows of children's play clothes. You can apply the soap with a brush if the soil is deep.

Another smart trick is to relegate an old whiskbroom to the laundry department and use it to clean the lint, dust, sand, and other accumulations from the cuffs and pockets of the children's jeans before sundering them.

Durocher, "terribly excited and elated," will take over his new duties in Hollywood upon returning to his California home after the World Series.

Football Player Is Back At School

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—Some 20,000 fans at Folsom Field last Saturday probably didn't notice the 205-pound University of Colorado guard on the four plays and one kickoff he was in during the Colorado-Arizona game.

Neither did his coaches or fellow players notice when Joe Connors, tired of bench-riding in the second half, walked to the dressing room, changed clothes and disappeared.

For the first time since then, the 20-year-old Pittston, Pa., second stringer showed up for practice yesterday and told Coach Ray Schemm: "I made a mistake."

The 6-foot-2 sophomore told Schemm yesterday he merely had returned to his campus apartment where he and his new bride have lived since last Friday. University officials did not know Connors' new address and had been unable to locate him there.

LAND SPEED RECORD SET BY GLEB

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A new land speed record of better than 411 miles a minute has been set by an unmanned rocket sled at the naval ordnance test station at China Lake, Calif.

W. D. Drinkwater, Navy scientist, said the steel-shod runners of the sled hurled red-hot as it hit 1,300 miles an hour over a 4.1-mile course. Ten rocket motors boosted the heavy sled to peak velocity in two seconds.

The highest speed previously achieved for an unmanned sled was 1,100 m.p.h. over a 10,000-foot track at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

By R. HUGH ANSLEY

Coach Fleming has resumed his heavy scrimmages again this week in an attempt to ready the heavily underdogged Feds for a rough visit to Leesburg Friday night. Many weak points showed up in the Feds' victorious meeting with Hastings last Friday night that appeared to have been ironed out in pre-game practices.

To be completely frank, the performance that rolled back Hastings last Friday night will not be enough to repel the finesse of the Yellow Jackets' sting. The Feds will journey to Leesburg to face a good defensive ball club. It is easy reasoning to assume that to be successful against such a team one must have a superior offense. Seminole looked unimpressive on offense against Hastings.

Some of the had points may be tolerated because of inexperience. That was their first experience in an entirely new offense. Eighty yards in penalties was piled against Seminole as an indirect result of their line type brush-blocking. The line seemed to be making weak contact, then losing it in an attempt to complete the play the boys did a great amount of offensive holding. A fifteen yard penalty will cost dearly against the Yellow Jackets.

An anticipated passing attack never came last Friday. Only two passes were attempted and they were incomplete. The Split-T pass must be faster than that of the Single Wing, and Hastings was rushing quarterback Hawkins as hard. But Leesburg is expected to have an even harder rushing line. Besides this, where Hastings was weak in defensive linebacks, Leesburg is strongest. The Yellow Jacket linebacks are both big and good. In order for Seminole to give Leesburg a run for their money they must work out an effective passing-running attack.

There was a second stringer that seemed to adjust well to the Split-T Friday night. He's a big boy—185 pounds—and he's an 11th grader. He saw a lot of action Friday night, and he played a good game. As a result he will be pushing the tackle slots hard this week for a starting berth this Friday night.

Leesburg has the advantage on the Feds from the beginning. It's a bigger school, hence a bigger ball club, they're an experienced team, and the first string are all veterans. The Yellow Jackets showed up well last week by tying the powerful Apopka Blue Devils by a score of 7-7.

A possible weakness has developed in the Seminole line as Howard Allred, who handled a guard position expertly Friday night, came out of scrimmage Monday afternoon with a broken nose. The starting guard will receive a verdict today from the doctor's office as to whether or not he will be able to see action Friday night by using a nose-guard.

Coach Fleming expressed disappointment in his offense, but also praised his defense. He says he believes that by Friday his line should be able to hold Leesburg to low yardage, but he says he will continue with his consistent scrimmage procedure until the boys are ready to taper off after enough game experience or until scrimmage injuries start to create a hazard. "A week can be a long and valuable period," says the head mentor, "and our boys tested themselves last Friday night. We now know most of our weaknesses, and believe me, before we board the bus for Leesburg we will all be familiar with our errors and will have worked toward a solution of our problems."

Monday and Tuesday great stress was placed on pass defense, pass offense, and brush-blocking. A rough scrimmage will highlight the week's schedule today, and Thursday only a short scrimmage is on slate, but a lot of precision and timing will be given attention, also.

The New York Yankees drew 1,000,100 fans to Yankee Stadium this year. In 1954 their home attendance was 1,073,171.

SEC Teams Return For Rugged Practice

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southeastern Conference teams returned to more rugged practice sessions Tuesday.

Vanderbilt Coach Art Guepe sent his Commodores through one of the roughest practice sessions of the year and when it was over he said the team's offense wasn't consistent enough.

Kentucky's Wildcats held a long rough session. Emphasis was placed on pass defense.

Starting end Bradley Mills, listed as a doubtful performer next Saturday night because of a badly bruised heel, was held out of all rough work.

Florida Coach Bob Woodruff said his team is expected to face one of the toughest teams in the conference this week in the Auburn Tigers. The Gators turned out for their first full-scale workout of the week today.

Highlighting the Auburn scrimmage were fullbacks Joe Childress and Jim Walsh. Childress scored twice and Walsh broke loose on one long run for another tally.

Quarterback Albert Elmore connected on eight of 11 pass attempts as the Alabama offense was given a stiff test in scrimmage. Bart Starr connected on four of several series for 38 yards.

Coach J. B. Whitworth said he was not pleased at all with the offense in the Rice game after seeing the films. He plans to confine Wednesday's workout to a "dummy" scrimmage.

The Tennessee Vols had a long offensive workout in preparation for Saturday's home stand against Duke. The Vols worked on their kicking game, pass patterns and defenses they plan to use against the Blue Devils.

Georgia Tech's Coach Bobby Dodd moved George Volkert to the starting right halfback spot and put Jimmy Thompson in the No. 2 unit. "It's just possible Thompson will operate better in a second unit situation, just as he did last year," Dodd said.

Halfback Stan Flowers may get the starting position in place of Paul Rutenberry against SMU. Rutenberry is out with a twisted left knee.

Georgia Coach Wally Butts praised the work of alternate Capt. Don Shea as the Bulldogs scrimmaged in preparation for Clemson's Tigers. Butts said Shea, a right guard, made several outstanding tackles in the Vandy game and opened gaping holes in the opponent's line.

Mississippi State concentrated on pass offense. Coach Darrell Royal announced two players, guard Ted Vallias and tackle Stan Dahoda, had quit the squad. Vallias made the Florida and Tennessee trips, but saw no action. Dahoda was not a member of the traveling squad.

Tulane's Green Wave devoted its entire session to contact work. Top back Al Cottrell, Quarterback Gene Newton hit ends Eddie Khayat and Jack Montgomery regularly on long passes.

Pete Johнович, reserve end on the Navy football team, was co-captain of Al Johnson's Sonny Boys team when he was 11 and 12. The team played at halftime between pro games in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Lane Holds Post As St. Louis General Mgr.

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Lane is in as general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals and Harry Walker is out as field manager of the Redbirds.

Eddie Stanky, who Walker succeeded as St. Louis manager last May, may be back in baseball as manager of the Minneapolis Millers, farm club of the New York Giants in the American Assn.

These choice items were learned last night as the baseball folks gathered at World Series headquarters on the eve of the opening. At least one proposed deal fell through. Paul Richards' plan to step down as manager of the Baltimore Orioles and name George Kell of the Chicago White Sox as his successor was vetoed by the Baltimore board of directors. The board insisted that Richards live up to his three-year contract calling for the dual role as field and general manager.

Lane, who resigned as White Sox general manager last week, already has conferred with Dick Meyer executive vice president of the Cardinals. They were to meet again either today or tomorrow when the signing is to take place and an official announcement will be made. Lane's salary is to be $50,000 a year for three years with the understanding that he is to have a free hand in running the club.

The informant said that Lane already has a successor to Walker in mind but would not identify him other than to say that he is "class guy."

Stanky was offered the Minneapolis job during a conference with Giant officials. He's thinking it over.

Needles, 2-year-old candidate for The Garden State, Oct. 28, is appropriately named. When he was five weeks old he was stricken with pneumonia and got his name from being stuck with so many needles.

Dodgers Feeling New Confidence In This Series

NEW YORK (AP)—The World Series starts today and the Brooklyn Dodgers, although underdogs, are confident this is the one they're going to win.

The odds-makers think otherwise. They've installed the New York Yankees as 13-10 favorites.

Since the Dodgers won their first pennant in 1916, they've lost all seven series they've played. The Yanks, on the other hand, have won 16 in 20 attempts since 1921, including their last seven.

Brooklyn Manager Walter Alton said yesterday after the Dodger working in Yankee Stadium:

"Listening to the way the boys talk, it is evident they are confident about this thing. That naturally makes me confident."

Alton picked Don Newcombe, his 20-game-winning righthander, to start on the mound against Whitey Ford, a left-hander who has won 18.

Despite rain in the early morning hours, a near-capacity crowd of 67,000 was expected for the opener. The weather bureau forecast that the rain would end an hour or so before game time.

The game will be broadcast and telecast, starting at 1 p.m., EST.

There was continued doubt that Mickey Mantle, the Yank's top hitter, would be able to play more than part of the series. He had a torn muscle in his right leg.

He worked out along with the team at Ebbets Field yesterday and managed to elude a couple of balls into the outfield seats but he couldn't run without pain.

"I'm not hopeful of playing—at least not in the first two games at the Stadium," he said dejectedly. "It doesn't affect my hitting but I know I can't run on it."

Mantle said however that the leg was improving a bit each day since he injured it while heading out a bunt Sept. 16. He has been on the sidelines since except for two futile pinch-hitting appearances in Boston Sunday.

Mickey's reduction to the status of pinch hitter would deprive the Yankees of their leading hitter (.306) and league's leading home run hitter (.37). Manager Casey Stengel who said he would not make up his mind about Mantle until game time, indicated he would use Bub Cerv in Mantle's post in center field and play the left-handed Irv Noren in left against righthanders. Against a left-hander, he will use Elston Howard in left.

Stengel was set in all other positions including shortstop, where he finally decided on Phil Rizzuto, the grand little veteran of eight World Series. Alton had no reservations about his lineup. He struck to the same one he announced Sunday.

The Brooks had seven right-handed hitters to fire at Ford who, in his only previous World Series start against the Dodgers, was kayped early. In fact, there isn't a pitcher on the Yankee staff who owns a World Series triumph over Brooklyn. The three big Dodger killers—Alicie Reynolds, Vic Raschi and Eddie Lopat—are all gone. On the other hand, Carl Erskine has beaten the Yankees twice and Billy Loos once in World Series competition.

Mobile Is Champ Of Dixie Series

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Mobile, a Southern Assn. weak sister for much of the season, is Dixie Series champion.

The Bears completed a sweep through Shreveport of the Texas League by defeating the Sports 9-2 last night, taking the series in four straight.

The club languished in seventh place for the first third of the season and then gradually started climbing, stepping into fourth place the last day of play, to reach the playoffs.

Shreveport finished third in the Texas League.

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE

"WHERE did you go? What have you been doing since you left the Automat?" Sara asked Gerry.

"Trying to find the ruby. I went to a lot of places and I wasn't until this afternoon I had a sudden idea: Had my pocket been picked only once after all? I was thinking about you and I suddenly realized you saying: Let me see it again when you took the box from me at the Automat. I had known all along that you must have looked at the ruby while I was getting change. I recalled now I was at the Automat when you turned my back on the ruby for a moment, even though I was standing nearby. But I could hardly refuse to let you look at your own pendant—not without running the risk that you'd guess there was something special about it.

"Now it came to me—suppose you had tried it? What would you do? And suppose you had left it on, hidden under your fur? Suppose I had walked out with the Automat with an empty box in my pocket? I hadn't looked to see if the ruby was still inside when I picked up the box and put it back in my pocket.

"Suppose you still had the ruby and had no idea that it was real? You might display it anywhere and you might be in deadly danger. I had to warn you that the ruby was real. Oh, Dacre, what I let you in for! What a fool I've been! Some day I hope I can tell you the whole story."

"Why not now?"

"Dacre, there isn't time. I'm being followed, just as Merton was followed. Not by the police, by others. I heard a step behind me in the street just now. A light, quick step with a cadence like a limp."

"I've heard that step, too," said Sara. "How do you know that I wasn't following me tonight? You said you were just behind me."

Gerry seemed to be turning the idea over in his mind slowly.

Then he said: "It isn't safe for you to keep it."

She responded dutifully. "I haven't got it."

"Where is it then?"

"That's something I can't tell you, Gerry. Tomorrow the police will have it."

He was puzzled. Then he had an idea. "You mailed it to the police?"

"No," she scorned the easy lie that would satisfy him. "I gave it to someone who will see that the police get it tomorrow."

"You were it to your aunt?"

He was thinking aloud. "There were two other aunts, a Dr. Ballist and a Mr. Clive. They say that the ruby was real. You'd want it valued as soon as possible. You wouldn't give it to your aunt, an elderly woman. You probably gave it to one of those two men to get it valued for you, but . . . which?"

She had not told him where the ruby was yet now she saw purpose in his eyes. He thinks he's narrowed it down to two—Clive and Ballist. He'll go to each of them tonight. It doesn't matter.

They don't know Aunt Caroline has it. They can't give her away. Ballist's a doctor. Of medicine, I suppose? Wouldn't know much about valuing jewels. It must be Clive. What does he do?"

"You don't tell me everything. Why should I tell you?"

He was really angry now. "Dacre, this isn't a childish game. This is a mortally serious business. Merton died because of the ruby. I've got to know where it is."

"Why do you care if you're not a jewel thief?"

His face hardened. "Then you don't trust me after all?"

"I do, but I gave my word I wouldn't tell and I'm not going to especially when you won't even tell me you want the ruby."

For a moment he stood still in the full light of the single lamp. His eyeballs moved toward her. It was impossible to tell if the flash that came and went was a chance reflection of the lamplight or a glimmer of pure rage from within. Then, quite suddenly, he laughed. "Of course you won't tell me about the ruby. As you say, what have I told you? Nothing. . . . But there's just one thing I'm going to ask of you before I go."

He stood looking at her, intent and earnest. "Swear to me that you haven't got the ruby yourself—if you have it."

"I give you my word I haven't got it."

He was at the door. She went to him. "Gerry. Once you said 'back in a minute' and I didn't see you again for 24 hours. I thought someone had killed you. What shall I do if it happens again? If you say now 'I'll be back tomorrow' and then—you never come back?"

"But I shall come back." This was his old smile—gay, friendly, quizzical. "Wild horses couldn't keep me away."

"Where?"

Sara dialed Clive's number. She could hear the bell at the other end of the wire—a muffled buzz, then a pause. At least the line wasn't busy.

"Mr. Clive's residence," a voice said.

"Is Mr. Clive there?" Her voice was high and breathless. "This is Miss Dacre. I must speak to him. It's urgent."

"I'm sorry, madam. Mr. Clive is dining out."

"Where?"

"I don't know where he went, madam. The voice was slightly shocked. "He didn't say."

"When will he be back?"

"I don't know, madam. Shall I give him a message?"

"Please ask him to call Miss Dacre the moment he comes in and tell him it's important."

She put down the telephone. What would Gerry do when he discovered Clive was out? Wait for him? Or leave a message and go—where? She looked at her watch. Seven-thirty. Clive might not be back till midnight or later and she must do something now.

She dialed and again she heard a buzzing—quicker, and without pause. The line was busy. Could Merton tonight. It doesn't matter.

in her flurry? She broke the connection and dialed again, slowly and carefully. Again came that busy signal. She couldn't wait any longer. She must wait. It was only four blocks.

In the hall, a dial showed that the elevator was on the ground floor. It was quicker to run down the fire stairs. In the street, she turned east with a brisk clatter of heels on asphalt.

She had gone half a block when she heard that familiar quick step behind her—tap and drag, tap and drag . . .

Ballist was following Gerry.

He mind stumbled. Was Ballist following Gerry?

Afternoon when he led her to his car, parked farther down the street, his gait had been brisk. No sound of a limp at all.

Now she had no idea who was following her.

Panic invaded her. What would he do when he realized she was going toward the police station?

She looked ahead at the long cross-town blocks, stretches of darkness between avenues of light, quiet and lonely at the dinner hour.

She rounded the first corner. There was more noise here on Park. She lost the sound of that particular step for a moment. She did not see the man who looked about for a traffic policeman who might take her to the precinct station but hope died. There was no one on duty.

She rounded the next corner. Halfway down the street she should see the new lights of the drug store. Her step faltered. There were no neon lights. The drug store was closed for the night.

Steady now. But imperceptibly, almost against her will, her pace quickened. She was halfway down the block when she heard the ominous step again—tap and drag . . .

At the next corner, she looked back. There were two figures behind her, both men, both hurrying, both veiled in shadow.

She turned the corner. She couldn't run here on Madison—too many people. But she hurried, thrusting her way through the jostling crowd. A taxi passed her close to the curb. Light from a dress shop fell across the two men within. She saw the Indian's name—ivory-yellow teeth that looked white on a brown face, the other face haggard and pale—Gerry? Or the impostor? How could she be sure? Then he smiled and she knew it was Gerry.

It was like something in a dream—the sudden, flashing vision of people who couldn't be together at that time and place, who couldn't know each other, smiling when they had no reason to smile. But it wasn't a dream. It was reality. He wasn't in danger. He was smiling confidently. And he had led to her. He had said he didn't know the Indian.

Whom could she trust now? Sanders. He must be told everything . . .

Spotlight On Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD—What happens when a comedy team goes sour? In the case of Martin and Lewis, it turned out all right. They reconciled before millions of TV viewers, embracing each other and singing a sentimental "Side by Side." Chances are they'll be better than ever. They exhibited a warmth toward each other that had been lacking in recent years.

Another TV team broke up with a big scene, but their differences could not be resolved. They were Joan Caulfield and Harry Nelson. Both are going their separate ways.

Two years ago, Joan and Harry were chosen to play in the TV version of "My Favorite Husband." The show was proclaimed a hit from the start. The clever writing and bright acting by the stars combined to best "Your Show of Shows" in audience ratings. This helped hasten the breakup of another team—Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca.

But things went wrong on "My Favorite Husband" last season. "I guess the same thing has happened to Amos 'n' Andy," Joan explained. "Amos 'n' Andy," Joan explained. "In 'My Favorite Husband,' the comedy arose because of the girl. Harry thought more of the show should be directed at him. He pointed.

"To keep him happy, they aimed a show at him. Then I'd be just as miserable as he was. Finally one day we had our blowup and of course the story of the fight spread through CBS like wildfire."

The show was further dampened by an interview in which Nelson said he was fed up and handed in his notice.

But here's the switch: Nelson is back doing the show and Joan isn't.

She's active in films again, now appearing in her husband's film "The Rain of Repentance." And she's up for a TV spectacular in her favorite role, "Voice of the Turtle."

"And Harry should be happy," she added. "Now it's 'The Harry Nelson Show'—with Vanessa Brown."

POSITIVE APPROACH URGED IN CHICAGO
CHICAGO (AP)—Traffic policemen in Chicago today were urged to take the positive approach giving tickets for traffic violations and to disregard such phrases as "Where's the fire, bud?"

A police training outline on public relations advises officers to take a polite, impartial attitude—something like this:

"Good evening, sir. I stopped you because you were exceeding the speed limit. May I see your driver's license?"

The brochure also asked police to avoid nicknames and sarcasm. "Many people object to being called 'bud,' 'chum,' 'pop' or by their first names." And the brochure added, "They don't want to be called 'wio guy,' 'jerk' or 'dope.'"

WRONG PEDAL IS HIT BY DAD
LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—"What happened?" police, surveying the damage, wanted to know.

"I was teaching my son George to drive," explained Dale W. Oliver.

Oliver, 47, told officers he tried to step on the brake when 10-year-old George took a corner too wide. Instead he hit the accelerator. The car shot forward, careened off a parked car and crumpled the living room wall of a house belonging to Mrs. Lillie Schmitt.

Mrs. Schmitt was in the back yard but a visitor was shaken up when knocked from her rocking chair. George and his dad received minor cuts and bruises, police said.

Artillery Corps Seeks Volunteers
The Artillery Corps, one of the Regular Army's senior and most scientifically advanced arms of service is calling for volunteers to join its ranks for electronic, meteorological, transportation, maintenance, communications, and countless other training opportunities, the local Army recruiter, M. Sgt. Jacobsen said today.

"Direct assignment to the Artillery came arranged here in and a guarantee furnished to those who qualify. Today's modern, new Artillery relies on intricate electronic tracking and firing mechanisms. The one time gunner now finds himself behind a panel of switches, dials, buttons and flickering electrical signals and the observer who once worked well in advance of his battery now faces his radar screen and plotting devices. He arm of the service has made leaps—and bounds in technical development than has the Artillery.

Of the many courses of instruction offered Artillerymen the Nike guided missile, Fire Control System Maintenance course is by far one of the most popular. This course, 42 weeks in duration is conducted at the Guided Missiles Branch of the Artillery School at Fort Bliss (El Paso) Texas, devoting 1,674 hours alone to academic training which includes subjects such as mathematics, basic electricity, radio and radar, electronics, acquisition radar, power supply, computers,

More than 18 1/2 feet long—7 inches longer and 2 1/2 inches lower than the 1955 Lincoln—this roomy sedan will carry six adults in uncrowded comfort. With Lincoln's power steering now standard equipment on all 1956 models, a woman can wheel this all-new sedan into a tight curb space with ease. Lincoln's smooth-shifting turbo-drive automatic transmission is also standard equipment. ### Letter

I am trying to act as if they are for this project, but I seriously believe two members are opposed and two more are half heartedly for it. A delay in action past October 4th, 1955, will mean certain death to this project. The mechanics necessary for getting the project underway requires the following steps:

1. County Commissioners have to authorize all the procedure for acquiring the right-of-way. Sincerely our County Commission has any money to purchase the right-of-way property. They are in full control from here on in. "In fairness to the County Commission; they have a problem too. At the preliminary appraisal given them last week indications were that the appraisal value of the necessary right-of-way was approximately $675,000 for the road all the way into Sanford from the Orange County line. Available to them in monies they have on hand and can borrow is $545,000. This amount would be adequate to purchase the right-of-way from Orange County line to Five Points, but inadequate to purchase the right-of-way all the way in to Sanford out of monies presently available. Presently of course our County Commission has assumed the position that if they do not have money to purchase the right-of-way now, then the four-laning of the highway is impossible.

"I believe that they are right in considering the total problem but wrong in their approach. More money will be available next year and I believe it is with in the economic ability of our county to raise such additional money as will be needed next year to purchase the right-of-way from Five Points into Sanford. My belief is that we should proceed now to take all the necessary steps at the October 4th meeting of the County Commission to get right-of-way from Orange County line to Five Points and let that contract this year; borrow money and acquire the other necessary right-of-way next year.

"That is the only way I see we can be assured of a four lane highway between Sanford and Orlando. If we delay longer we miss the $800,000 that is in the budget for this year. No one knows what the future holds. I believe this is our greatest opportunity for advancement; however a great deal of help is needed immediately from you and good citizens like you. You must be the judge of whether or not you are doing your best to help make this project possible you must square your conscience and answer to yourself one question: Will you as a property owner on 17-92 be better off if 17-92 is four laned, if so I ask you to donate such properties as you have that are necessary for this project.

"A delay on your part can just as surely be responsible for blocking this project as a "no" vote by the County Commission. If you fall in the category of those who feel like the widening adversely affects your property would you be kind enough to state exactly how much you honestly feel you are entitled to.

Which ever category you fall into, please realize the importance of immediate action on your part. Contact Mrs. Tolle at the Chamber of Commerce in Sanford between 9-12 and 1-4:30 Monday through Friday or call Sanford 1389 immediately. If you have doubts if a letter would reach you by October 4th please wire collect your answer.

Big Area Evacuated In Civil Defense Test In Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A 1,000-block area, including Portland's downtown business district, was evacuated in 34 minutes in yesterday's civil defense test.

The city's air warning system shrilled its previously announced signal at 3:10 p.m., and immediately afterwards orderly streams of vehicles and pedestrians began moving along the many evacuation routes.

The speed of the evacuation exercise, named Operation Green Light, was credited by civil defense officials to the fact that the area was not nearly so crowded as usual and to a traffic control system that turned all traffic lights green along the exit routes and eliminated cross traffic.

Porter

The outgoing president said, "There are 31 biologists on the payroll of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission and they haven't come up with a single solution to conserve bass. You can hire two game wardens with the salary paid one biologist and we can do a lot of work with 62 game wardens in the field."

Porter Lansing, taking the chair as the newly elected president of the Seminole County Sportsmen's group said, "The directors will meet next Tuesday night and get down to work." Several years ago, he said, we had 60 members because we didn't have a single game warden in the county.

"There's much to be done, especially when the hunting season was set at 2 o'clock in the morning at a closed meeting," Lansing said. And we've never had but one season that didn't open on November 20. "Are we going to let one man run the State of Florida's hunting with the sportsmen paying the bill?" he asked.

Before adjourning the meeting last night, the new president set the last Tuesday of each month as the regular meeting night of the association, and said, "I expect all of our directors and officers to attend the meetings."

ROUGH PUT THROUGH TORTURE TEST

SEATTLE (AP)—Five million dollars worth of bombing plans, being pulled, squeezed and squashed to pieces here to prove its structural strength.

The builder, Boeing Airplane Co. described the "torture test" on the B52 jet bomber as the most extensive structural proving program ever conducted on a single airplane.

The tests involve use of 60 miles of wiring and 3,000 strain gauge circuits and an intricate system of cables and pulleys.

Boeing said the tests saved time and money and provided precise information on the strain each plane part would stand under flight conditions.

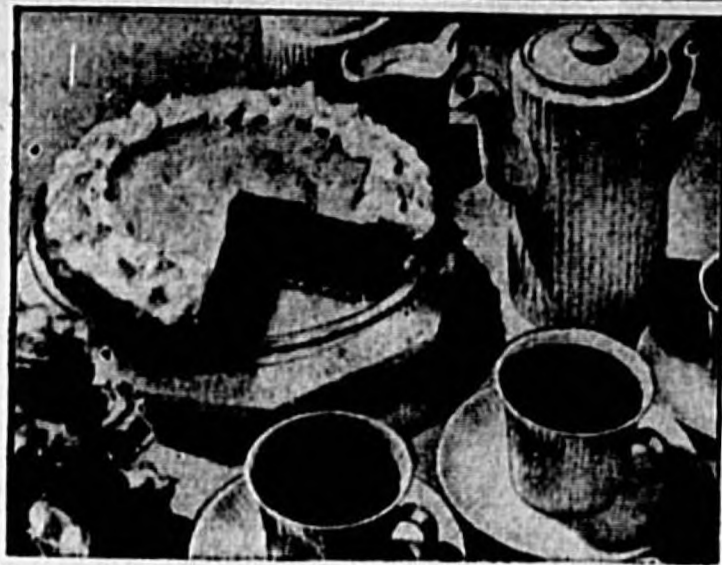

If you please contact your County Commission and tell him honestly how you feel about this project and if humanly possible for you to be present at the County Commissioners meeting October 4th at 9:30 a. m. in the court house at Sanford.

Working hard together by next Tuesday this project has a chance of becoming a reality. Without your help it just will not be.

Many times through the years I often had good citizens ask what I can do to help this matter. I have done my best to relate the problem to you. The final determination of the project's success or failure depends on you.

Thanking you for this visit and hoping to have your wholehearted support and cooperation."

Coffee in the Cup, Coffee in the Pie

We can't offer you four and twenty blackbirds, but if it's a surprise you want, here's a cup or two of coffee baked into a pie. And it's complete with cream and sugar. Too! Serve it with hot coffee, and you have a pie-and-coffee harmony that sings.

This particular recipe has many virtues. For one thing, it's so small that it fits into a coffee pot and is not too sweet, yet full of flavor. For another, as long as you have on hand a package of gelatine and the makings of a cup of coffee, you always have the makings of a Two-Tone Coffee Pie. No special trips to the store to see what fruit is in season; no pondering what filling will meet with approval. This filling, this flavor, is tops with almost everyone.

The "black bottom" effect, by the way, is achieved quite simply by using black coffee gelatine aged with cinnamon for the bottom layer, a whipped coffee and cream mixture for the top. Pretty, isn't it? And it's good, too!

Two-Tone Coffee Pie

2 envelopes (2 tablespoons) black coffee
1 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup whipping cream
1/2 cup cold water
2 1/2 cups strong hot coffee
1 baked 9-inch pie shell

Soften gelatine in cold water, dissolve in hot coffee. Mix sugar and cinnamon. Add to coffee mixture and stir until dissolved. Chill until consistency of unbeaten egg white. Spoon into pie shell, filling about half full. Set in refrigerator. Whip remaining coffee gelatine until light and fluffy. Whip half cup cream and fold in. Spoon mixture on top of clear gelatine, mounding in center. Chill until firm. Whip remaining cream to use as garnish on top of pie.

"Should any person feel aggrieved by an administrative ruling of the city manager under and by virtue of the terms of this section such person may file a written complaint in duplicate with the city clerk not later than twenty-four hours prior to a regularly scheduled meeting of the city commission and set forth, briefly, the grievance complained of. The clerk, upon receipt of such complaint, shall refer the same to the manager to be placed on the agenda for hearing at the next ensuing meeting of the commission. If such complaint be adjudged well founded, then the commission shall make such recommendations and amendments as it deems meet and proper; otherwise the designation or classification or fee fixed by the city manager shall be final.

"B. The monthly fees provided for in sub-sections (a) through (f) shall be billed on the monthly city service statements issued by the city and such refuse collection fee shall be itemized separately on such statement.

"C. The refuse collection fee herein provided for shall be paid within ten days after date of mailing statement, as stamped thereon, or such collection service shall be discontinued until all such fees shall be paid in full. Service shall be resumed thereafter only on payment of the accumulated fees for the period of collection and the period of non-collection, unless, after investigation by the city manager, it shall appear that such fee or any part thereof for such be waived.

"D. This ordinance shall take effect immediately upon its passage and adoption and the refuse collection fee hereby imposed shall be included in all city service statements rendered after October 20th, 1955.

After things quieted down, members of the scout organization took what was left of the breakfast to a nearby restaurant, where it was cooked and brought back to the hall.

History Knowledge Is Helpful

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former President Truman says his knowledge of history helped him deal "calmly" with the "Communists in government" controversy during his administration.

Truman likens the allegations of subversion in government to the "witch craze" of colonial days. He says they reflected "anti-Communist hysteria" and brought "indiscriminate branding of innocent persons as subversives."

In the second installment of his memoirs, published in the current issue of Life magazine, Truman says his actions in the situation were shaped in part by knowledge gleaned from reading in history of what he termed previous "waves of hysteria."

He deals also with two other items often cited by his political critics—the failure of his Kansas City haberdashery after World War I and his association with the late Tom Pendergast, once the "boss" of Kansas City Democratic politics.

Truman blames the Republicans for the 1923 failure of his clothing store, operated in partnership with Eddie Jacobson. He contends Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon, a Republican, pursued economic policies that spelled financial disaster for Truman and thousands of others.

As for Pendergast, he tells of flatly rejecting an obvious bid by "Boss Tom" for the award of 10 million dollars in road contracts to a group of businessmen friendly to the Democratic city machine.

Truman, then presiding judge of Jackson County, relates that when Pendergast and the contractors called on him he announced the business would be "let to the lowest bidder" and, in keeping with a campaign promise, would be supervised by a bipartisan board of engineers.

He quotes Pendergast as telling the contractors: "I told you he's the contraryest man in the state of Missouri." End Advance PMs Sep. 24

Quick-Acting Remedy Is Welcome

WASHINGTON, AP—Republican leaders, worried about next year's farm vote, would welcome with open arms a quick-acting remedy for agricultural ills that could be adopted as their very own.

Party leaders from the White House down generally agree that the administration must come up soon with something that will turn a slide in farm income into a climb. The agility with which Democrats have seized upon the issue and complaints coming from politically important farming areas have convinced them of this.

They, of course, would like for such a plan to be new and inspiring. They would like to get away from proposals that have been advanced and tried in the past.

But the chances of their finding something fundamentally brand new are poor indeed. The possibilities have been pretty well canvassed in the past and those that have been put into concrete proposals have been tossed aside as impractical.

The problem faced by the Republicans now is how to bring about an improvement in farm returns before next year's presidential and congressional elections. This means that the administration faces a need of channelling more dollars into farmers' pockets.

When Secretary of Agriculture Benson got his farm program under way, he expressed belief that it would—if given time—help agriculture to adjust from the abnormally high levels of war and post-war farm production to a more nearly normal peacetime level.

But the secretary now agrees with party leaders that something more needs to be done to keep farm income from dropping any lower during the adjustment period.

Reduced to their simplest terms, there are only two ways of boosting farm income. One is to raise prices. The other is to pay subsidies.

Both have formed the basis of farm programs and both run counter to general philosophy and policies of the Eisenhower administration.

Unless there is a change in administration thinking, plans which would increase farm income by raising prices will be rejected. There is only one way by which the department could raise prices and that is by jacking up farm price supports on products now being supported and by placing supports under a wide group of commodities not now protected by crops.

An increase in price supports would have the effect of forcing market prices to advance accordingly. If market prices did not go up, farmers would hold their products off markets by storing them under the price support program.

Benson has said there will be no abandonment of the administration's flexible support system under which price floors are low in times of surplus, to discourage overproduction and to encourage greater consumption, and high in times of shortage, to encourage expanded production.

It also is against the administration's policy to support prices of livestock, poultry, fruits and vegetables—big sources of farm income—because of their perishable nature.

Some Democratic leaders, on the other hand, say they will press for congressional action next year to

Red Organizer Hears Evangelist

READING, England (AP)—Charles Potter, 41-year-old Communist party organizer, went along to hear American evangelist Billy Graham a few months back—just to see what it was all about.

Now Potter says he has rejected his Marxist beliefs entirely, thrown up his job and started a new life as a Christian evangelist. He credited Graham with his conversion.

"I shall travel around trying to show people that Christianity is the answer to communism," he said.

"I found that Marxism is a very intriguing philosophy, but it did not give me the satisfaction of heart and mind one expects to find in God."

But the secretary now agrees with party leaders that something more needs to be done to keep farm income from dropping any lower during the adjustment period.

Reduced to their simplest terms, there are only two ways of boosting farm income. One is to raise prices. The other is to pay subsidies.

Both have formed the basis of farm programs and both run counter to general philosophy and policies of the Eisenhower administration.

Unless there is a change in administration thinking, plans which would increase farm income by raising prices will be rejected. There is only one way by which the department could raise prices and that is by jacking up farm price supports on products now being supported and by placing supports under a wide group of commodities not now protected by crops.

An increase in price supports would have the effect of forcing market prices to advance accordingly. If market prices did not go up, farmers would hold their products off markets by storing them under the price support program.

Benson has said there will be no abandonment of the administration's flexible support system under which price floors are low in times of surplus, to discourage overproduction and to encourage greater consumption, and high in times of shortage, to encourage expanded production.

It also is against the administration's policy to support prices of livestock, poultry, fruits and vegetables—big sources of farm income—because of their perishable nature.

Democratic administrations and secretaries of agriculture.

Perhaps the most widely known subsidy plan for raising farm income is that advanced in 1949 by Secretary Charles Brannan, but never accepted by Congress.

Under the Brannan plan, the government would allow farm prices to drop to whatever levels economic conditions carried them. There would be no direct government price supports as such. In times of abundance, prices would be low and consumers would get food cheap.

The farmer, however, would get payments from the government to make up the difference between the low prices and a previously determined "fair" return. Critics contended such a program would cost the taxpayer several billion dollars a year.

Inasmuch as Republicans have been sharply critical of the Brannan subsidy plan since it first was proposed, it appears unlikely that the GOP will embrace it now. Some Republicans have called the Brannan proposal "socialistic." However, the administration got Congress to adopt the Brannan payment plan for wool.

The subsidy plan getting closest study by the administration is one under which farmers would be offered fair sized payments to take 25 or 40 million acres of surplus land out of cash crop production, and to grow grass and other soil-building non-commercial crops on a year.

But the secretary now agrees with party leaders that something more needs to be done to keep farm income from dropping any lower during the adjustment period.

Reduced to their simplest terms, there are only two ways of boosting farm income. One is to raise prices. The other is to pay subsidies.

Both have formed the basis of farm programs and both run counter to general philosophy and policies of the Eisenhower administration.

Biggest Seedling Crop Is Growing In Two Nurseries

TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—The Florida Forest Service's biggest pine seedling crop is now growing in the state nurseries. R. A. Bonninghausen, head of the P. F. S. management branch which operates the nurseries, says that 57 million baby trees are on hand at Munson and Olustee installations for shipment to landowners this winter. The total is two-thirds larger than last year's slask production of 34 million trees, but it still falls far short of demand. Bonninghausen says that landowners wanted more than 88 million trees. The shortage necessitates some reduction in orders, and the Forest Service will refuse all orders for more than 25,000. The cut is to be forty percent. Orders for 25,000 or less will not be cut, and no orders will be cut below 25,000.

In contrast to the shortage of slash pine seedlings, Bonninghausen says that the nurseries will be able to fill orders for loblolly and longleaf pines a hundred percent. It is not the big production that makes this possible, he explains, but rather the light demand for seedlings of these species. Red cedar seedlings will be prorated to those who ordered them, except that orders for 3,000 and under will not be reduced.

Bonninghausen estimated that forest industry seedling nurseries would turn out over twenty-five million young plants this fall, and said that the companies will distribute some of these to small landowners. "That will take up some of the slack between our supply and demand," he said.

Shipments of pine seedlings from P.F.S. nurseries will start the latter part of November, and will continue until the end of the planting season late in February.

In the fiscal year 1955, cargo carried through the Panama Canal set a record of 40,844,301 tons—more than 14 million tons over the previous year.

At right is Mrs. Marcus, shown feeding her first child three years ago when he was only five days old.

Too Late To Classify

While I thoroughly enjoyed my vacation in Washington, Oregon and California, I found on my return that a Floridian does not have to journey to far away places to be entertained or find something new.

For some time, my good friend Rob Eastman has been urging me to visit the new Seagrarium being developed in Miami, and so I bundled the family, including the grandbaby, in the car and we made a three-day trip to South Florida.

Herlong Reports

Congressman A. S. (Syd) Herlong Jr. has announced that competitive examination for entrance to the U.S. Coast Guard Academy will be held on Feb. 27 and 28, 1956.

The Congressman emphasized the opportunity offered young men who choose this four-year course which leads to a bachelor of science degree and a commission as a career officer in America's oldest seagoing service.

"There are no appointments or geographical quotas for entrance to the Coast Guard Academy," Herlong said. "I urge all qualified young men who are interested in a worthwhile profession to write for details and applications as soon as possible to Coast Guard Headquarters in Washington, D. C. Applications must be post-marked on or before Jan. 15."

Veterans Corner

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to four questions of interest to former servicemen and their families:

Q. What is the deadline for getting the special Korean GI insurance available to veterans with service-connected disabilities?

A. Korean veterans must apply and pay their first premiums within one year from the date that VA determines their disabilities are service-connected.

Q. I was disabled while serving in the WAC during World War II, and as a result I am drawing disability compensation payments. My husband recently died of a service-connected ailment. Would I be entitled to death compensation benefits in addition to my own disability payments?

A. Yes. The fact that you are receiving disability compensation would not bar you from receiving death compensation benefits as well.

Q. The house I want to buy with a GI loan does not come under FHA credit controls, because FHA completed all its paperwork before the controls went in effect on July 30, 1955. Will it be subject to VA's credit restrictions?

A. The house will be exempt from VA credit restrictions only if VA receives a request for an appraisal on or before September 30, 1955.

Q. I understand that a private profit school has to be in operation for two years before it can accept veterans under the Korean GI Bill. The school I am interested in attending operates nine months a year and is closed for the summer months. In its case, what would VA consider as two years?

A. In the case of this school, two nine-month school years, covering a period of 24 calendar months, will satisfy the two-year requirement of the law.

Veterans living in Central Florida who wish further information about their benefits, should write the VA office at 48 E. Central Ave., Orlando, Fla.

Radio-TV Highlights

NEW YORK—Spring Byington has a suggestion for mothers-in-law:

"Take aside your son-in-law or daughter-in-law and say to him or her, 'What may I give you for Christmas? What can I stop doing that I have been doing, or what can start doing that I have not done?'"

Miss Byington, spring-like in spirit as she nears the autumn of age, speaks as a television mother-in-law and also as a woman with two married daughters. Next Monday (Oct. 3) she returns to CBS TV in "December Bride," a comedy series centering on the escapades of a mother-in-law.

The whole subject of mothers-in-law fascinates her.

"Primarily mothers-in-law have a bad name because they haven't been trained for the role. When a son or daughter marries, Mama is fired. She never was given a notice. A woman should begin preparing for the job of mother-in-law when she's young and raising her children. She should realize that after they're grown and married she can expect a good 20 to 30 years of vitality. She must say to herself while still young, 'I must think now what I'm going to do then.'"

What is the most important thing a mother-in-law can do? "Sew a little button hole in her upper lip and a button on her lower lip and keep her lips buttoned. Seriously, the best thing a mother-in-law can do is to present herself as a wall off which her children can bounce their ideas. But they must find their own answers. A mother-in-law cannot find the answers for them."

For too long a time, says Miss Byington, the whole mother-in-law question has been too buried a subject. "Let's get it out and talk about it."

Never before have so many sponsors paid so much money to buy something they never have seen as on the "Mickey Mouse Club" series, coming up on ABC-TV. Merely on the reputation of Walt Disney, ABC sold a total of 1,040 commercial quarter-hours on a 52-week noncancelable basis, at a total of about 15 million dollars for time and talent.

Designed for youngsters of all age levels, "Mickey Mouse Club" will premiere on the ABC-TV network Oct. 3 at 5 p.m. In all time zones from coast to coast. It will be presented Monday through Friday.

One thing that surprises Disney about television is the number of people who recognize him these days when he travels about the country. When he was making only movies, he was seldom recognized. But since TV—"I'll be driving along and someone starts to wave to me. I can tell they figure I look like that guy on television—Walt Disney."

Improper Use Of Brush Can Damage Your Teeth

By HERMAN N. BUNDELIN, D.D.S.

HAVE you ever thought of your toothbrush as a dangerous weapon?

Well, it can be if you don't handle it correctly. Overzealous or haphazard brushing can damage your teeth as well as your gums.

Improper brushing can cause abrasion of the necks of your teeth, which might result in recession of your gums. Damage is most likely to occur in the cuspid region, since you generally attack this point first and with the most vigor. In time, the exposed dentin in these abused areas takes on a glazed appearance.

Restorative Dentistry

The only means of preserving teeth suffering from severe abrasion is by restorative dentistry. That probably means an expensive trip to your dentist.

Improper brushing causes the teeth may also produce wedge marks on the hard enamel. The gums, too, can be severely damaged. Your gums, remember, are soft tissue. The coarse bristles of a toothbrush can easily scratch the surface.

Proper Brushing

On the other hand, proper brushing is both cleansing and stimulating. Probably the best method is also a simple one.

Place your toothbrush parallel to the gum margin. Incline it

How Many Girls Are Truthful To Big Inquiry?

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD — How many girls in your town will admit they're ugly?

It's the same in Hollywood. Allied Artists Pictures is going slightly berserk trying to cast an ugly girl in Gary Cooper's new movie. Casting director Virginia Higgins got so many turn-downs from the usual talent sources that she, in desperation, inserted this ad in trade papers:

"WANTED: An Ugly Girl For an Attractive Role in William Wyler's 'The Friendly Persuasion'."

"The girl we are seeking is husky, raven-haired and stands at least six feet in her stocking feet. She is solid, well muscled, and looks as if she could lift a piano."

Surprisingly, six applicants showed up readily in answer to the ad. One, however, hadn't read the ad but her agent had. She left in a hurry, muttering something like "Wait till I get my hands on that guy."

First applicant was Frances Farwell, a six-foot singer. She was dressed like a hillbilly on the prowl for revenues with gun and all.

"I came in with an ugly face and in an ugly mood," she announced. Miss Farwell wore no makeup but even in her outlandish get-up, it was obvious that she is an attractive girl.

Clarence Marks, Wyler's dialogue coach, commented: "We'd have an awful time making that girl look unattractive, especially in color."

It's essential that the girls be big and ugly—it's part of the script of "The Friendly Persuasion," locale of which is in the Civil War era.

The girls play Marjorie Main's daughters—all farm girls living in a Quaker community. When Morgan's Raiders hit town, the Quakers refuse to take up arms so Miss Main and her daughters drive off the Confederate raiders.

The rest of the applicants were either too attractive, too short or too inexperienced. None were...

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

AT THE ANNUAL sales meeting of a big brewing company, the president suddenly cried, "On your feet, everybody! Look at the bottom of your chair!" The startled salesmen jumped up, and found under each seat a crisp one-dollar bill.

"Keep the dollars, boys," smiled the prez. "I just wanted to demonstrate that the time has come when you've got to get out of your chairs if you want to make a buck!"

Taylor was just leaving the house to make the customary 8:28 when his wife requested him to detour through the kitchen and bawl out the maid. "What's she done?" asked Taylor. "I thought you were delighted with her."

"I am," admitted Mrs. Taylor, "but this is her morning for beating the rugs, and she does a much better job when she's angry."
