Agents Inspect Frozen Farming, Citrus Areas In Florida

LAKELAND (UP) — Freezing temperatures lead most of Florida today, causing concern that crops of the state's big cash crops—citrus, vegetables and tourists—may have been damaged.

Agricultural agents started their inspections of farming and citrus areas early today when the mercury was in the 30's in most of the state and in the low 30's in the extreme south portion.

Early indications were that and saved most of the tender winds over the southern tip of the tourist-filled peninsula may have staved off the hard freeze and saved most of the tender 11 truck crops south of Miami. However, there were reports of some cold wind damage to pole beans and tomatoes in the rich farm belt around Homestead where farmers have $20,000,000 invested in winter truck crops. The mercury dipped to 28 in the coldest places in this area.

Initial reports from the Frost

Warning Service at Lakeland indicated "possible serious damage" to vegetables in Central Florida and "possibly some damage" to unprotected citrus in low-lying sections of the orange-grapefruit belt. Some of the state's $300,000,000 citrus crop was kept heated by smudge pots. Citrus on high ground was believed hurt little if any.

Hotelmen and travel agencies shared the concern with farmers as reports of Florida's "freeze" drifted northward. Luxury hotels had to resort to heating to keep their guests warm. Some tourists fled the South Florida Gold Coast for the Bahamas where Nassau reported a "warm 33" this morning.

The Weather Bureau said some low ground areas in the northern part of the "sunshine state" dipped below the 20-degree mark. The only spot in the state to escape the severe cold was Key West which had a 30.

Ocala had a low of 21. Other lows around the state included Lakeland 22, Tallahassee and Cross City 23, Jacksonville and Daytona Beach 24, Orlando 25, Sarasota 26, Tampa 27, West Palm Beach and Fort Lauderdale, 31, and Clearwater 32.

It was 34 degrees in downtown Miami and 35 on the abandoned beaches of Miami Beach. Miami suburbs reported "unofficial lows" of 28. One resident called the Weather Bureau to report "there is ice in my bird bath."

Tampa's 27 equalled the lowest reading ever recorded on this date 23 years ago. It went to 22 in the suburbs of Tampa.

A report from Plant City east of Tampa indicated that the entire winter vegetable crop was lost there and that the strawberry crop was seriously damaged. Elmer Futch, manager of the Plant City Growers Assn., said the "22 degrees in our rural areas has seriously hurt the farmers." The readings in Plant City remained below 30 degrees for six hours after midnight.

At the popular tourist attraction of Cypress Gardens in Central Florida, 650 "California-made" oil heaters were used to protect the tropical plants, many of them in full bloom. A report said some of the flowers on the edges of the attraction were killed by the freeze.

Broward County (Fort Lauderdale) closed school for today because of lack of sufficient heating equipment. Parochial schools also closed in that county.

The Weather Bureau forecast that it would be "much colder in the north and central part of the state" tonight with a gradual warming up for the next few days.

Weather
Fair and cold today, high 30 to 32. Fair, cold again tonight with frost, low 25 to 26.

Governor Main Speaker At Farmers' Market Dedication Tomorrow

The dedication of the Sanford State Farmers' Market will take place at 8 o'clock tomorrow afternoon with Governor LeRoy Collins as the principal speaker for the event.

The Sanford State Farmers' Market was completed at a cost of just over a quarter-million dollars. However, the overall cost of the entire installation, including paving and other necessary construction, will be possibly nearer a half-million dollars.

GOVERNOR LEROY COLLINS will speak at the formal opening of the Sanford State Farmers' Market tomorrow afternoon.

The formal opening ceremonies were announced by Leo Butner, manager of the Sanford State Farmers' Market.

Slated to emcee the formal opening event is Bralley Odham.

Others on the program tomorrow afternoon are the Rev. W. P. Brooks Jr., who will offer the invocation; a welcome address by Mayor David Gatchel; Commissioner of Agriculture Nathan Mayo; Commissioner of the State Marketing Bureau Neil Rhodes; State Senator Douglas Stenstrom; and L. H. Lewis, director of Florida State Farmers' Markets.

Other state officials planning to be in Sanford for the official opening event are Thomas D. Bailey, State Superintendent of Public Instruction; J. Edwin Larson, State Treasurer; Ray E. Green, State Comptroller; R. A. Gray, Secretary of State; Richard W. Ervin, Attorney General; Lee Thompson, Chief Auditor for the Department of Agriculture; Representative Mack N. Cleveland Jr., and Representative Gordon V. Frederick.

Already opened for operation, the huge two-story steel and concrete building has been readied for dedication ceremonies tomorrow. Manager Leo Butner said recently that all stalls on the market platform have been rented and "we could have used more."

The original market, built in Sanford as an experiment, was a wood frame building. It was destroyed by fire on April 4, with damage estimated at near $3 million.

The new market has 22 stalls each containing 2,000 square feet of space with a separate entrance for each on both platforms. Each stall also is provided with an office located on the mezzanine floor reached by a spiral steel staircase.

Electric and water outlets are provided in each stall and ice water is provided at convenient locations throughout the market area.

Offices for the management and related services are provided in a second floor suite on the east end of the building. The lower floor has facilities for a barber shop and restrooms.

A 120 foot paved parking facility has also been provided for the maneuvering and parking of trucks plying into the area for loading.

In addition to the main market facilities, already planned for the new market are a filling station and restaurant.

Navy Base To Get New Squadron Next Month

A new squadron will move into Sanford to make its permanent station at the Sanford Naval Air Station on Jan. 1, 1958, according to an announcement this morning from Congressman A. S. "Syd" Herlong from Washington.

Congressman Herlong said that the Navy is shifting the permanent duty station of Heavy Attack Squadron Three from the Jacksonville Naval Air Station to the Sanford base effective Jan. 1.

Herlong was advised by the Navy that the transfer is being made in order for the squadron to have the advantage of the heavy training facilities at the Sanford base, as well as to remove it from the heavily concentrated industrial area in Jacksonville.

The squadron complement will include 38 officers and 272 enlisted men.

Because the unit will be permanently stationed at Sanford, said Congressman Herlong in his release to The Sanford Herald this morning, authorization will be issued to personnel who have families to transfer their dependents to the Sanford Area.

Equipment of the squadron consists of 12 large aircraft of the carrier-based type.

Heavy Attack Squadron Three is commanded by Cdr. Clarence F. Frossard and the Executive Officer is Cdr. Jack S. Hall.

Extensive plans have been made to bring the additional squadron to the Sanford Naval Air Station where it will be a squadron of Heavy Attack Wing One. The squadron, in Jacksonville and the Naval Air Station there, was a HAWTWING 4 unit under the command of Captain J. R. Reedy.

Trucks Involved In Wreck; Two Men Are Hospitalized

Two men were hospitalized yesterday as a result of a truck accident at the intersection of Geneva and Beardall Avenues.

Palmar L. Morris, 44-year-old commercial fisherman of Geneva, driving a 1957 pickup truck smashed into the rear of a dump truck driven by Walter Womble, 29-year-old truck driver for Langston Construction Co.

Womble was attempting a left turn into a filling station at the intersection when the truck rammed him from the rear. Trucks dug into the roadbed and skidded about 30 feet before coming to a stop.

A passenger in the pickup truck, Lewis C. Henderson, 65, of Geneva, was thrown from the cab of the truck. He is in the local hospital suffering from a brain concussion and possible fractured skull.

The smashup occurred at 3:10 yesterday afternoon two miles east of Sanford on State Road 46 which is under construction.

Florida Highway Patrolman James L. Sikes investigated the accident. Patrolman Sikes said Morris will be charged with "driving while intoxicated."

Deputy Sheriff A. E. Evans assisted in the investigation.

Little damage was reported to the dump truck. However, the pickup truck was a total loss.

Golfers Brave Cold Weather As Tourney Enters 2nd Day

The third Annual Mayfair Inn Open Swings into its second day of action tomorrow morning with more cold weather expected. Today's action was hindered by the cold wave that swept over the entire state but not to be denied by old man weather, the "Glamor Boys of Golf" went out to vie for top money in the $15,000 event.

Among the early risers this morning was Sanford's own Jim Spencer, who was paired with George Preisinger of Des Moines, Iowa. Jim has long been a stand-out in the golfing picture here in Sanford as well as being closely associated with Horace Stoneham and the staff of the San Francisco Giants. Jim and George hit the fairways at the early hour of 7:07 a. m.

With the finest field to be seen on any golf course, tomorrow's action should give some indication of who will be around on the final day. With cold weather it is very hard to say just who will come out on top. The weatherman has promised warmer weather by the weekend so Saturday's and Sunday's action should bring out larger galleries. It is supposed that such names as Dow Finsterwald, Ted Kroll, Al Bessilink, Frank Stranahan, Mike Souchak, and Porky Oliver will be at the top of the scoreboard come Sunday.

Action is scheduled to get underway at 7 a. m. in the morning with the following threesomes in order:

7:00 Ted Grayson, Lou Palladino, Jon Gustin
7:07 Fred Francis, Randy Quick, Bill Zylsaira
7:14 Chris Gers, Orville Parsons, E. B. Smith
7:21 Bob Goodman, Hugh Moore, Bill Wright

Stores To Stay Open 'Til 8:30 Tomorrow Night

"A majority of the merchants of Sanford have agreed to observe these hours," said Francis Roumlat, President of the Sanford Merchants Association, as he outlined hours stores will remain open at night during the Christmas Shopping Season.

The Sanford Merchants Association is recommending to all merchants that they remain open until 8:30 p. m. on Friday Dec. 13, Friday Dec. 20, Saturday Dec. 21, and Monday, Dec. 23.

These hours, said Roumlat, are to be in addition to each store's own regular schedule of hours.

Annual Grammar Glee Club Concert Scheduled Tonight

The annual glee club concert will be presented tonight at the Sanford Grammar school at 8 p. m. Members of the glee club have been chosen from each class by the director, Mrs. Floyd Richards.

A variety of Christmas and holiday songs will be presented. The public is invited.

FORGERS ARRESTED

NICE, France (UP) — French police announced the arrest today of two Corsicans accused of counterfeiting nearly one million dollars in American $100 bills. Police said the men, Paul Guidicelli, 37, and Jean-Baptiste Paolotti, 30, had distributed the money in the port cities of Nice, Villafranche, Marseilles and Genoa, Italy.

Bordens Goes Before Milk Commission Today

TALLAHASSEE (UP) — Representatives of the big Bordens dairy firm went before the State Milk Commission today under threat of losing their license to operate plants in Tampa, Orlando and Pensacola.

The Milk Commission at its last meeting in November ordered the company to repay $48,284 allegedly owed milk producers in the three areas, or face license revocation for the plants at the commission meeting today.

The company was ordered to show cause "at today's meeting why its license should not be revoked."

Bordens attorneys tried unsuccessfully Wednesday to get a last minute injunction to avoid revocation of the licenses until the case could be argued in court.

Circuit Judge Ben Willis refused to enjoin the Milk Commission from ordering the licenses revoked, but left the way open for a legal test of any such action by the commission.

Judge Willis said it would be premature for the court to "pre-empt" the commission would order the licenses revoked.

Wallace Fields of Tampa, attorney for Bordens, had contended the show cause order the commission sent the dairy firm was in effect a declaration that the licenses would be revoked if the producers are not paid the money the commission contends is owed them, regardless of whether Bordens feels the money is owed them.

The commission contended the Tampa, Orlando and Pensacola Bordens plants purchased milk from producers out of the respective areas for premium prices for sale within the areas, and at the same time paid local farmers class two prices for some of their milk.

The commission wants the company to make up the difference to farmers in the three areas.

Judge Willis said he did not interpret the commission show cause order as a flat assertion that the licenses would be revoked. He said the order amounted merely to a notice that if the money was not paid, the commission would hold a hearing to consider revocation of the license.

Bordens attorneys feared that if the licenses were revoked, they would have to wait three days under the law to bring a suit challenging the action and in the meantime would be operating without a license. But commission attorney Winston Arnow said the company would be given time to get the case into court before any revocation order took effect.

Temperature Drops To 20 In Sanford

Ice predominated in Sanford this morning with automobiles "frozen up" and home water pipes filled with ice from the below freezing temperatures existing in this area.

Temperatures dropped to 20 on the Westside and to 23 on the Eastside at the coldest point this morning.

Streets, where water gathered in gutters from yesterday's rains, sported sheets of ice and where sprinklers were left on overnight there were ice formations that would dazzle the first viewer.

Sandy Anderson, Asst. Manager at the Sanford State Farmers' Market, this morning said that "All tender leaf crops were severely damaged and in some Seminole County areas were completely wiped out."

He said this morning that "it looks like from 50 to 100 percent damage to all crops in this area."

"I heard that you could kick a head of cabbage from one end of the field to the other," said Sandy Anderson as he reported cold damage in the Sanford Seminole County area.

Sandy Anderson commented that he was unable to determine the cold damage to hardy crops which include cabbage, celery and onions, for three or four days. "It rests on what kind of weather we have tonight and tomorrow," he said.

Farm Bureau's Christmas Supper Set Next Tuesday

The Seminole County Farm Bureau will hold its annual Christmas supper and party Tuesday night in the Agricultural Building at Seminole High School.

Entertainment has been planned for the annual event, said Bonner L. Carter, secretary of the local farm bureau.

Supper will be served at 7 o'clock, Carter said, with the Seminole County Farm Bureau furnishing the baked turkey and dressing and members bringing a covered dish of their own choice.

Carter said "We hope that all of our Farm Bureau families can and will be present for this annual event."

Postmaster Urges Early Mailing Of Gifts, Cards

Postmaster Joel S. Field said today, "Early mailing of all Christmas cards and gifts is the biggest single factor in getting all of the mail delivered before Christmas. Post Office facilities have been expanded, extra help will be available, and everything is geared up to handle a record Christmas mail in Sanford this year." The Postmaster suggested that you take special care in preparing gift packages for the mails. Make sure that all addresses are legible and complete. "If you have any articles of unusual size or bulk, better check with the Post Office before attempting to mail them," the Postmaster warns. The limits on size and weight of packages varies, depending on where you mail your package. When wrapping gifts for mailing, it is always better to use corrugated cartons, especially where there are a number of various sized objects in the shipment. Use plenty of wadded tissue or newspaper for extra protection against shock, and security wrap each package or carton in heavy paper, and then tie it with strong cord. Be sure to include an extra label with your return address and the recipient's address inside the carton or package before it is wrapped. Another good idea is to place a piece of transparent cellophane tape over the address portion of the label on your package to prevent defacing in transit, and always make sure to include the recipient's full name, street address city, zone and state. Postmaster Field says that if you will follow these three simple rules, you are certain to have your gifts delivered before Christmas Day. Wrap them securely. Address them correctly and mail them early. When mailing your Christmas cards, use the free labels from the Post Office reading, "All for local delivery." By setting your Christmas cards and tying them in two separate bundles, with the addresses all facing one way, you're sure to speed their arrival. All Christmas cards should be sent by First Class mail, and be sure to put your return address on your Christmas card envelopes. This is not only socially correct, but will enable both you and your friends to keep your mailing lists up-to-date. Christmas cards and packages for out-of-town destinations should be mailed well before December 10th, and your Christmas mail for local delivery should be sent at least a week before Christmas. Concluding his appeal for your help in "Mailing Early for Christmas," the Postmaster said, "I am counting on the 'lady of the house' to really make this Campaign a big success. She's usually

Nation's Missile Lag Controversy Continues

WASHINGTON (UP)—A Republican congressman today pointed the finger of blame at the Truman administration for U. S. failure to develop an intercontinental ballistic missile ICBM by 1953. He said the administration acted counter to advice from General Eisenhower, Army chief of staff at the time. Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr. (R-Mich.), ranking GOP member on the House defense appropriations subcommittee, was the latest congressman to jump into the rocketing political controversy over whether Republicans or Democrats were at fault for the nation's missile lag. Ford said the country could have had an operational ICBM four years ago if the Truman regime hadn't decided to cancel work on a test ICBM from 1947 to 1951. Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) said earlier this week that Eisenhower failed to recommend a ballistic missile program while serving as chief of staff and later as military adviser to the Truman administration. He said this was one of the reasons the United States had fallen behind the Russians in the missile field. Meanwhile, the Senate preparedness subcommittee went ahead with its plans to reopen its inquiry Friday into the nation's missile lag. At Cape Canaveral, Fla., preparations were believed in progress for the third test firing of the Atlas ICBM later this week or early next week. The first two tests of the big missile were unsuccessful. Ford told reporters Wednesday that the Truman administration in 1947 cancelled a contract issued to the Convair Co., in April 1946, to build and design a test ICBM. Convair is contractor for the current Atlas 4,000-mile ICBM. He testified in 1946-47. Ford said Eisenhower testified before the House defense appropriations subcommittee in June, 1946, and February, 1947, urging more exploration in the field of guided missiles, electronics and supersonic aircraft. Ford said Convair officials, with whom he has talked, believe the country would have had an operational ICBM by 1953 if the original program had been "pushed instead of cancelled for a three and one-half year period." "This break in continuity in the funding of our research and development work on the ICBM by the Truman administration resulted in U. S. failure to have long-range missiles ahead of the Soviet Union," Ford said.

British Accept Missiles Britain already has decided to permit 1,500-mile range U. S. missiles to be based there. Reliable French sources said France would too, provided it has a say on when and when not to fire them. The sources said France felt the Allied military command should give the order to fire rather than President Eisenhower. Three leading French newspapers, all of which frequently reflect government thinking, prominently displayed the missile reports. They were Le Monde, Combat and Paris-Journal. Le Monde said France wanted "supranational" trigger pulling. Combat and Paris-Journal called for a NATO "mixed command."

Europe In Quandry With the exception of Britain and Turkey which welcomed new weapons the rest of Europe was caught between two fears. One was of Soviet reprisals directed against any U. S. missile bases in Europe. The other fear was that the United States might not act in time to prevent Europe being "atomized." French reports indicated the one who selects the Christmas cards, buys most of the gifts, and sees to it that the Christmas mailing list is up-to-date.

American and French views were still far apart. The United States was believed to insist on retaining control of the missiles and their atomic warheads; France thought a single nation should not have the right to decide whether to fire. French fears as reflected in the press were that the United States would hesitate to use atomic weapons as long as it was not under attack, that the U. S. Congress might refuse to declare war in an emergency, and that the NATO command rather than Eisenhower should have the power to decide the issue of nuclear weapons.

Market Dedication Historically Important To Sanford's Economy

Tomorrow is a big day in Sanford's history!

At 3 o'clock, a brand new, modern, fireproof Sanford State Farmers' Market will be officially dedicated and opened.

Earlier this year, Sanford citizens stood by and watched flames lick away the wooden structure that once housed the market. It was admittedly a fire hazard and many times the fear was expressed that such a calamity would come to pass.

Wooden structure that it was, millions of dollars worth of fruit and vegetables moved across its platform headed for markets throughout North America. It became known as the "one stop" loading center for fresh fruits and vegetables and because of the design, thousands of trucks backed up to the platform for loading.

Now, through the cooperation of many valuable citizens, a brand new market has mushroomed from the ashes of the wooden building.

Everyone pitched in to make sure that a modern market, befitting Sanford and its importance to Florida, would be erected.

And now tomorrow, the concrete, steel and fabricated market building will be dedicated.

Sanford will welcome again, Governor LeRoy Collins, who is slated to be here for the dedication ceremonies.

J. Bralley Odham will serve as the master of ceremonies. Nathan Mayo, Agriculture Commissioner, is slated to speak to those who attend the event. Neill Rhodes and Senator Douglas Stanstrom will also share honors on the speakers platform.

All will praise the wonderful building, the amount of vegetables, fruit and produce that moves from its platform, the co-operation of the people in securing such an excellent structure for such an important phase of our economic life here in Central Florida.

But none will appreciate the new, vari-colored, modern, fireproof Sanford State Farmers' Market more than those who stood to one side on the night of the disastrous fire to see it eaten away by bolstrous flames.

As Nathan Mayo said Tuesday, as he announced from Tallahassee the dedication of the market "I hope there are no black cats around."

We Must Work Hard For Freedom

One of the major weaknesses, omissions, failures, negligences and, often, cowardices of the West is that we have not sufficiently argued for, preached for and demanded freedom for the Russian people. If the Russian people were sufficiently free to elect representatives who would speak in government against Khrushchev and the Communist Party, then the war danger would be lessened so much that men and women all over the world could go to bed calmly and without dread.

A moral sentiment for freedom must be aroused, clarified and nourished with honest and passionate thought. It cannot be organized as a powerful world force in a day. Years have been lost when this sentiment could have been made active and conscious in the minds of men all over the world. The world protested too little about forced collectivization and the millions Stalin caused to die for it. The world protested many other crimes of the Kremlin regime.

Moral sentiment is a power only when it is really moral sentiment and when it is alive. Lenin worked tirelessly, thought tirelessly, even in hopeless days of exile. How many of us work and think tirelessly enough, warn, inspire, educate to check the evil forces of Communism? You cannot train on a haircut, shave and whiskey on the rocks to meet a powerful fighter; you cannot

The Real Substance

One of the new Broadway plays is "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs," by William Inge. In a newspaper article discussing the intent of his play, the author described its time as an era when "men sometimes placed more value on the means of livelihood than on its substance."

Here is a provocative statement that demands more than just casual thought. It sums up rather well an ailment that afflicts many Americans and seriously distorts their lives. Indeed, Inge says that he finds some similarities between the time of his play—the oil boom period of the 1920's—and our own rather hectic period.

So much emphasis is placed on material success, and the atmosphere of our time is so much a sort of grand scale keeping up with the Joneses, that maintaining one's perspective is difficult. The means of livelihood and all that a good income makes possible begin to seem more important than anything else in life. Yet the accumulated wisdom of many generations of men assures us that this is not true.

Material welfare is important, certainly. Bodily health and comfort, good clothes, fast and luxurious transportation, a gracious and beautiful home and all the other things that money buys for us—these are not to be scorned. But it is a grave error to suppose that these are the most important things in life. The man or woman who does so is likely to go through life with an unsatisfied yearning for its real substance.

MISSILE FIZZLE JITTERS — The smoke had hardly settled at Cape Canaveral after the world renowned "mistake" before Senator Holland pointed his finger at the three mistakes he says the Department of Defense has made in our missile program. (1) He said it was unwise to divide the program between the three military services and let them fight and compete over who was going to do what. (2) He said that those in authority should not have allowed themselves to be pushed into this hasty and unwise experiment by gossip and criticism both here and overseas. (3) He thinks we showed a "ridiculous departure" from our previous sound approach to the satellite launching program. "The sooner we get over our case of the fitters," he said, "and get back to a basis of mature thinking on the satellite and the guided missile programs, the sooner we will regain our lost self respect in these two fields." Holland said that the need for unification in our Armed Services is so urgent, that if the Executive Department doesn't take some action to bring it about, he is sure the next Congress certainly will.

MORE ARMY TO JAX? — The move is on to get the newly organized Army 4th Corps headquarters station in Jacksonville. Leader of the drive is Congressman Charlie Bennett. He says the Corps should include Florida, Georgia, North and South Carolina. "With 3rd Army headquarters in Atlanta, Jacksonville is the logical place for the Corps headquarters," Bennett said. To push his idea, he made an after-hours call one evening last week on Secretary of the Army Wilbur M. Brucker in his Pentagon office. No promise was forthcoming, but Brucker told Bennett that he was "sympathetic" to his approach. Final decision won't be made until after plans for the new 4th Corps organization have been completed.

As he was leaving Brucker's office, the Secretary asked Bennett to deliver two messages for him. "First," Brucker said, "is a word of good cheer to my old schoolmate who now lives in Jacksonville, Robert S. Seltzer." (Chairman of the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce Committee on Military Affairs). "We went to school together in Michigan when we were boys. The other message is to a sweet little lady that I met at a dinner in New York when she was being honored as Florida's 'Mother of the Year.'" (Congressman Bennett's mother, Mrs. Roberta Bennett, of Jacksonville was named "Mother of the Year" for 1957).

ELEVEN INCHES DEEP — We never saw so much snow. It is almost impossible to get anywhere in Washington. In the first place, people here don't know how to drive—even on bright sunny days. And when it snows, they seem to throw up their hands in despair. They spin their wheels and skid sideways. This stalls traffic. The folks behind them sit in their cars with heaters, defrosters, windshield wipers and radios turned on. Batteries run down. Cars run out of gas. Tempers get short. And traffic stands still. Worst traffic jam here was 12 miles long. A trip that usually takes thirty minutes—took three hours the day of the snow. Now the snow has stopped falling. Most of the streets have been sanded or scraped. But the snow is still in our yards. Eleven inches deep. It keeps haunting us. It reminds us that we still had better have our head examined. Anybody should know better. Sitting here "snowbound" when we should be "Florida bound." But that's the way it goes—"next year" we always say. Even though we don't do anything about it—it really does make us homesick.

Modern Bunyan Protects Home

DULUTH, Minn. — A householder rose to the occasion when a 30-foot tree threatened to crush his home.

The man, about 35 and of medium size, lost sight of where he was chopping and the tree, about four feet in circumference, began toppling onto his house.

The modern-day Paul Bunyan, who refused to allow use of his name, stepped into the breach and held the tree up at arm's length for about an hour, getting angrier—and wetter—by the minute.

First of all, he called to his wife for more than 10 minutes before she heard him. She rushed outside and saw her husband planted beneath the tree and supporting it above his head.

"What shall I do?" she cried. "Call my brother," the desperate woodsmen shouted.

She was unable to find the brother and returned.

"What shall I do?" she asked again. "Rouse the neighbors," her spouse called.

She ran to neighboring homes, but no one was in. However, she found two small boys passing by on the street and enlisted their aid. They were too small to help, and were dismissed.

"What shall I do now?" she wailed.

"Call a service station," the rapidly weakening husband muttered between clenched teeth.

Off went the wife again on a tour of service stations, but they were too busy to send help. She rushed home and asked once more what she should do.

"Call the fire department," the husband whispered.

Firemen came to the rescue, freed the man and saved the house. The husband was last seen stumbling into his home, mumbling dark comments to no one in particular.

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES H. MCCANN United Press Staff Correspondent

The angry dispute between The Netherlands and Indonesia may cause trouble at the North Atlantic Treaty Organization "summit" meeting.

The Netherlands has asked the support of its 14 fellow-members of the NATO alliance against Indonesia's attempt to force it to give up Western New Guinea.

At the request of The Netherlands government an emergency meeting of the NATO permanent council in Paris was held last Saturday.

The Netherlands called for diplomatic support against Indonesia's seizure of its interests.

Refer Issues To NATO

The council decided to refer the issue to the NATO governments. But when the leaders of the NATO countries meet in Paris next Monday, The Netherlands demand is pretty sure to play a part in discussions.

Especially, the United States will be asked to take an unequivocal stand on The Netherlands side.

If the United States agrees, it will mean a shift in American policy.

African and Asian countries introduced a resolution in the United Nations last month calling for negotiations between The Netherlands and Indonesia on Indonesia's demand that it be given Dutch New Guinea. The Netherlands opposed the resolution on the ground that a favorable vote would constitute support for Indonesia's claim.

The U. N. vote was 41 in favor of the resolution and 29 against, with 11 countries abstaining.

United States Abstains

The resolution failed because a two-thirds vote in its favor was required.

In this vote, the United States was one of those countries which abstained. It did so because it did not want to "offend" Indonesia and possibly incite its "neutralist" government toward Soviet Russia.

But The Netherlands takes the stand that it is entitled to the support of its allies on the issue, even though New Guinea is on the other side of the world from the specific area which NATO countries are pledged to defend against Communist aggression.

Conning The News

By VIRGINIA CONN, Society Editor

Nothing could be vaguer than a man trying to describe a wedding, and expert Art McCarthy, as well as the bride, as he is from his duties in VAH-5, almost hit a snag today as he told me about Don Lapone's wedding. Art said the bride wore a dress with a light top and a checkered skirt. There seemed to be some doubt about the bride's name. Her name was Claudia and she wore green, but beyond that he knew nothing.

Don's good bachelor friends gave him a party Friday night, hoping to convince him perhaps that marriage was for the birds, but to the contrary, the Lapones are now happily honeymooning in Miami.

Bob and Irene Fietacher gave a "drop in" party Tuesday night for their son Mel, and his friend from Camp Lejeune, Bob Benning, who qualified Tuesday for the P. G. A. tournament. Bob won the All-Marine tournament in 1955—is originally from Cleveland, Ohio. Mel is the home town golfer of whom we are most proud—and he slouch himself—however he had a bad day Tuesday, so now we will have to cheer for his good friend Bob.

About 25 friends "dropped in" to see Mel and meet Bob. Bob had placed his magnificent arrangements (done recently for the flower show) around the house. The buffet table was most Christmas with red and gold and no Yuletide season, this is the next best. And lucky Bob Benning can count his lucky stars that he knows the charming Fietachers.

Speaking of the tournament, and if you know me, that is about all you will hear this week, records show that Roy Heller and Judge Ernest Householder were the first two to buy tickets for the P. G. A. Open, now in progress at the Country Club. Had I hoped to see my friend Porky Oliver out there today, but he moves faster than I can, and was out of sight before I could trap him. Porky made many conquests here last year when he was the winter pro at the M. C.

The ceremony was performed in the chapel at the Sanford Naval Air Station, with Father Hubbell officiating.

The chapel was decorated with white gladioli and greenery. Traditional wedding music was played by the organist. The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was white satin with a round neck and three quarter length sleeves. The waist length skirt was covered with an overskirt of tulle. Her shoulder veil was attached to a coronet of seed pearl. Pilot Club Has Christmas Party

Highlight of the Pilot Club's annual Christmas party which was held in the Yacht Club on Tuesday evening was the musical program put on by Roger Gregory and Lee Seger of Orlando. They presented "Musical Memories" on the Hammond organ. Mr. Seger, seated at the organ, gave a perfect imitation of the old fashioned circus calliope, banjo music, Jack Benny's violin and Hawaiian guitar music, while Mr. Gregory gave an interesting commentary. They accompanied the guests for the singing of "White Christmas" and concluded their program with "Silent Night, Holy Night" played against a background of soft candlelight.

Mrs. David Gatchel had charge of the program and introduced the musicians. Mrs. D. K. McNab, president, welcomed pilots and their guests. Hostesses were Mrs. R. M. Ball, Mrs. Sue Stevenson, Mrs. Esther Rive and Miss Dorothy Fourakre.

Prior to the Christmas dinner which was served by Mrs. H. W. Little, Mrs. Harvey Swanson read a beautiful Christmas message and offered thanks. Gifts were presented to Mrs. Little and Mrs. R. A. Howell Sr.

The banquet tables, placed in a U shape, were covered with white linen cloths and beautifully decorated with frosted candles, snow-tipped fern, miniature angels and Christmas trees fashioned of bright colored balls. Gifts were exchanged among the members and "Secret Pals".

In keeping with the club's Mental Health project, each member brought a gay Christmas card with $1 inside, to be sent to the Mental Health Institution at Arcadia. The cards and money, it was explained by Mrs. B. E. Chapman, president of the Seminole County Mental Health Association, will be distributed to the individuals in the institution to spend as they please.

Following the dinner and program a short business meeting was held with Mrs. McNab presiding. Members were reminded that they were to ring the bell for the Salvation Army on Saturday, Dec. 14 at the Post Office and Mr. Erory's from 9:00 A. M. to 3:20 P. M.

SHS Basketball Team Wins New Smyrna Game

Today's Sports Parade

By OSCAR FARLEY
NEW YORK (UP)—"The Dutchman" is back in the hospital again. The third time in two years but even at 77 those who know him are betting on the man who turned Red Grange loose on the gridiron world and must rate as one of the greatest football coaches of them all.

That would be Robert Carl Zupke, fellow, just in case you've forgotten, who coached the Fighting Illines to 121 wins against 81 losses and 13 ties from 1913 through 1941.

Five retired 16 years ago and it's possible that some of you younger sports may have lost him in the shadow of Knute Rockne, who was his contemporary and friendly foe, because the Dutchman never was identified with a system.

His system is historical. "I tried to fit the formation to the material I had at hand," Zupke once explained.

But he did much more than that. Zupke actually evolved the basic T-formation at Chicago's Oak Park High School in 1911, originated the huddle, perfected the spiral pass from center and aired the screen pass.

Zupke gained added fame, after his retirement from the gridiron at the age of 62, as the "Rembrandt of the prairies." But while his oils are highly prized, he served a long apprenticeship which started when he quit school at 13 to become a sign painter.

Born in Berlin, Zupke immigrated with his family to Milwaukee when he was two years old. After that first swing with a sign painter's brush he returned to graduate from high school, went back to sign painting and then again returned to his schooling by matriculating at the University of Wisconsin.

Tried Painting Again
Art got another cut from the Zupke brush even before football. But after an unsuccessful "fling" at painting in New York Zupke took a post as football coach at Muskegon, Mich., High School in 1906. In 1908 he moved to Oak Park where, it might be added, one of his players was a lad named Ernest Hemingway, who also has contributed his bit to the arts.

Then, in 1913, Zupke turned down offers from several other colleges to start a 22-year tenure which made him a legend at Illinois.

Remembered even more than the success of his teams, which captured seven Big Ten championships, was the Zupke wit. When one critic contended that "all Grange can do is run," Zupke shot back caustically: "And all Gall-Curel can do is sing."

Once one of his players was taking it too easy in practice and Zupke chided him about his poor tackling. On the next play, the player drove in for an unusually hard tackle and beamed: "Did you see that one, Zup?"
"I don't look for tackles, son," Zupke retorted. "I listen for them."

By JERRY COVINGTON
The Sanby Sanford Seminoles used good ball handling and excellent type basketball in winning their first game on the road in over three years in New Smyrna last Tuesday night. The varsity now sports a 3-0 record while the JC's have followed in their big brothers foot steps with an identical record. In all three of their starts they have played errorless ball and show that they plan to give Sanford its first winning team since 1927. The best record to be seen in Sanford recently was in 1923 when the team came up with 3 wins. This fast start has finally created enthusiasm among the sports fans of Sanford and coach Bud Laver urges everyone to turn out and support this fine squad of boys.

The Seminoles will go against the Lions Greyhounds here tomorrow night in a double header which will get underway at 7:30 in the High School auditorium. It is reported that the Greyhounds have a very scrappy squad so it should prove very interesting down to the last minute.

Sophomore guard, Ray Lundquist, who lettered last year as a freshman, led his squad against the Cudas with a very impressive 19 point total. Ray went "wild" in the second half and wrecked the Cudas chances with his driving lay-ups. He also did a very fine job on defense by holding his man to a mere 3 points.

Big Mike Tamny, who only finished on the gridiron last Saturday night, and Joe High literally controlled both boards throughout the contest and aided the cause greatly. High, who is leading scorer for the Seminoles, hit 4 field goals and 8 free throws to come in second with 16 points.

Forward, Bruce McCoy hit four set shots from the outside and the only thing the ball hit was the bottom of the net. Bruce also contributed to the victory with his share of the rebounds.

Guard, John Barley, worked all night with Lundquist in the ball handling department and was able to hit for 5 points.

It was a very impressive team victory and all the boys worked together on every play. Very few mistakes were made, as it can plainly be seen by the outcome of the score. This team could very well be the sleeper that the local folks have been waiting for so long. Plan to come out to every home game and give them your full support.

While the Varsity was very impressive in their victory, Coach Dick Silver's JV charges are not to be overlooked. They racked the Cuda JV's by a 48-30 score. Terry Christenson hit for 18 points to lead his team mates for the third consecutive contest. Earl Summersill was again the rebounding ace and Alex McKibbin was very efficient in the ball-handling department.

Lions, Tigers Clash In Peanut Bowl Friday Night

By JERRY COVINGTON
The Sixth grade Lions, led by Captain George Pittard will go against the Tigers of the fifth grade tomorrow night at the Memorial Stadium in the Grammar School PTA sponsored event in what proves to be one of the most thrill packed contests of its kind—anywhere! This tremendous PEANUT BOWL event is scheduled to begin at 7:30 and a large crowd is anticipated. The event will also bring two all star teams of the Grammar school together in a contest that will mean the championship of the school.

The Tigers are captained by none other than "Fireball" Cy Filton, of the Sanford Naval Air Station and he has stated that his team is fit and ready to roll up a big score against the Lions with their deadly passing attack. Filton is slated to start at the left end position. Other standouts in the Tigers lineup are: BU "Kays" Stempier, who will be running at the full back slot Harry "Bullet" Robson a terrific end, Al "Sunshine" Stanley, Brack "Slink" Perkins, and Braloy "Milkman" Odham.

While the Tigers are dreaming of a pushover victory, "Lightning" Pittard and his charges have other ideas. Possessing a "Mercury swift" bunch of backs they stand a very fine chance of outscoring the Lions. With Pittard calling the shots from the quarterback slot, O. L. "Choo Choo" Scruggs and Dick "Presto" Richards may well have what it takes to overcome the Lions. A great line entered around Lee "Sugar" Samuels, H. R. "Sunshine" Sundrall, Louis "Shavenik" Hoop, and Thomas "Thunder" Carter, could very well be the difference in the contest. With the passing greatness of the Lions and the running of the Lions, this should prove to be the "game of the century." Tickets may be purchased from any member of the PTA or at the local drug store and they will also be on sale at the gate. Don't miss it—Lions, no telling what you will see! Game time 7:30.

Individualism In Children

NEW YORK (UP). — "At this time of the year, just about this week when I was young, one-third of the population began indulging in wish-making and dream-manufacturing.

Thus spoke Wilbur, our office grouch. Only this time he didn't seem so much grouchy as just plain wistful.

Which third is that, old boy? "The little children, lame brain," said Wilbur. "We used to get stars in our little eyes and begin thinking about what the world owed us for Christmas."

You mean visions of sugar plums danced in your heads, the way it says in the old poem about the Night before Christmas? "Never heard of a sugar plum," said Wilbur. "What danced in our heads were things like Flexible Filers and model trains, skates and toys and baseball bats, and we wished and wished and wished so hard that some of the wishing sometimes came true. What's the matter with kids today, anyhow?"

Just Dream Wilbur.

Why nothing, Wilbur. What do you mean, what's the matter with them? They wish and dream just the way you did.

"I will bet you a pretty penny (he talks that way at times) that if you took a kid-in-the-street poll you'd find that today's organization child, if he dreams at all before Christmas, dreams not in terms of himself as an individual but..."

Wilbur, you had better halt right there, in mid-sermon, because you are getting a bit hard to digest. Organization child? Himself as an individual? Do you have to carry on that way in the middle of a busy office?

"What I am trying to thrust through your skull," said Wilbur "is that in my day as a moppet we wished in terms of ourselves and what we-me, I, little Wilbur was going to get for Christmas."

Selfish little rascal weren't you? "Completely," said Wilbur. "And here's the thing. Today, what with the sprawl of television across the country, kids are conscious of the group, of the organization of society, of their identification with the family — and what's good for the group is good for them."

Just what are you getting at, if anything?

Kids Different Today

"Simply this," said Wilbur. "Kids are losing their individuality. When I was a kid, each other kid was an individual."

Yeah, and one of them was a real character—namely, you.

"That I was," said Wilbur proudly. "Now, it seems to me from what I see, all the kids are beginning to merge into one mewing blah, a sort of pack, you know what I mean?"

I know what you mean and I also know you're crazy. You got any kids of your own, or in your family?

"No, but I got eyes," said Wilbur.

Well, you better get 'em changed, old man. You ain't been so far off base since you laughed at the rocket-to-the-moon boys. You got one child — just one — around you for a day and you'll learn what individualism is.

You May Be Causing Your Own Headaches

By HERMAN H. BOWEN, M.D.

A PERSON who tries to be perfect in everything he does will give prompt relief. But that's only very often and his reward is—a headache.

I don't want you to use this as an excuse for not really trying in anything you do. But the fact is that those of you who work too hard to do too much are perfect candidates for migraines.

Attacks Are Severe

Migraine headaches are caused by a painful distention of the head's blood vessels. Often they are very severe and throbbing. In bad attacks, you may become ill and even vomit.

While they can begin any time, they usually start early in the morning. You might have one when you awake.

What can be done about them? As you know, I've always urged you to see your doctor when you are ill. This advice is just as applicable in a case of prolonged and repeated headaches.

Take A Easy

However, two out of every three persons with headaches can do a great deal toward helping themselves if they will only take a bit easier and not try to do everything just right.

A couple of aspirin or other headache remedies probably will give prompt relief. But that's only temporary help. You want to prevent these headaches from recurring.

To do that, you've got to change your attitude about a lot of things.

For one thing, don't insist on perfection in everything you do. Do your best, but don't try to work beyond your capacity.

Too Many Jobs

Don't tackle too many jobs in one day. Believe it or not, most jobs can be done just as easily tomorrow.

Take time out to relax. I know you housewives have a lot of chores to do about the home. Nevertheless, try to set up a regular time for just sitting and resting.

One more thing. Try to accept people as they are. Don't expect too much from them—or yourself.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Q: Are brain tumors curable?

A: Answer: If it is discovered early enough, and if proper treatment is instituted before it has progressed, brain tumor may be helped by surgery or X-ray.

Our Fighting Seminoles are really doing a victorious job this football season. All the kids at SHS look up to these guys. We have all the touchdowns in the world in our hands.

Why is it that Romie Brooks is still on the loose. It seems to me that some of you girls should be hitting around and flirting with him. He's a doll, so we girls can very well see. I wonder what gal will catch his eye first.

Speaking of availables, that sweet Linda Cannon hasn't found a suitable fellow yet. I have heard some guys talking about her in the very best of tones, but no action. Come on boys, get on the move!

Don't you think that Terry Trooper and Betty Ann Johnson are a perfect match? Well, THEY do! Both are wonderfully happy, with each other.

Susan Waters and Wally Phillips are still dating steady. They sure do look neat together.

We all want to thank Red Barber for being up here at the High School to talk to us. It makes us feel good to know an alumnus who really made good.

Michael Pope is singing the "Do-we-do" song. Yes, to be sure, she's available. Seems like Bobby and David both want to remedy that situation.

The Key Club Ball is coming up Dec. 18. You boys had better get in a hurry and get a date with your favorite girl before someone else beats you to her.

We just heard from a certain Cuban boy (Guess who) that a certain Cuban girl will be arriving in town soon enough. All we know is her name, Angela.

Evergreen seems to have had a wonderful time over the Thanksgiving holidays. I can name a lot of people who came back to school with stars in their eyes, Diana Fiala for one. I wonder why??

Jeanne Hughey and Mark Mc-Tor have been seen together a awful lot lately, but from an inside source come the news that she will be escorted by a Band student to the Christmas Ball.

Wanted! Seeing more of Bonnie Mackine and Richard Barnes together. They are a sweet pair. Richard, you would be considered smart if you would think seriously about this.

Radental Rat Day is coming, and in the near future, too. First central is the idea. Behave yourself. Bow down to the upperclassmen and sophomores. Just think (!), you'll be remembered.

Billy Vincent and his girl are still going steady. Cloud seven is their favorite haunt. She says, "Billy is the most!"

The best things are the small things. Irma proves it. Just ask Leo the Lion. There it is now one tame lion. Thanks to Irma.

All the little Freshmen are wondering what the Jurgen is. Watcha say, upperclassmen, shall we delay the shock on the poor, unexpected rate?

Have you seen Ted Jackson's girl friend? She is a darling! They even go to church together on Sundays. That is something we should all try to do, go to church together.

It looks like a lot of our guys at school have girl friends in Cuba. Just as Frank Averett. He'll show you a picture of his woman. She's a nice-looking chick, Frank!

Does anyone know what Jimmy Emerson finds so interesting in Gainesville? Maybe he likes the U. of F. campus? Naw, it must be his steady flame. Huh, Jimmy? It's awful that she had to move.

What's this? Mike has found

Alfred Meltwater

Alfred Meltwater was born very young, exactly two years before his second birthday to his mother and his father. Thus, he became one of the family.

His parents had decided long before he had been born to name him after his younger sister who unfortunately died three months before he was born. Her name was Klara, but since he was a boy, his thoughtful parents decided that a more fitting name would be his dead sister's last name Meltwater. Thus he was named Alfred Meltwater after his only dead sister.

As Alfred grew and time passed, he became older and older, and every year he would have another birthday. His parents, though, were getting older than he; for every year they would have two birthdays to his one. Thus, when he was born he was one-twentieth the age of his father; yet when he was twenty, he was already one-half as old as his father.

A severe blow hit Alfred in his early adolescence; he suffered gravely from a horrible bicycle accident. It happened in the following manner.

Alfred was being driven to school by his maternal uncle's grandfather's son's brother's son-in-law, a distant relative to be sure, whom Alfred later discovered to be his own father. The boy had rolled the window down just as his father suddenly stopped for a green light to open the door of his car so that he could close it (open doors being very dangerous in a moving automobile). This event caused Alfred to fly out the window without breaking the lowered window.

He landed on one of the car's seat cushions which had fallen out of the car when his father had bounced off a speeding truck (which the police were following and fortunately caught later) and had caught the boy before he hit the ground; while the father rammed his head into the front window causing serious wounds, was a thrust in the stomach by the steering wheel causing indigestion, and broke his backbone from lack of seat cushions causing general uneasiness.

The police returned after having penalized the driver of the dangerous speeding truck and fined Alfred's father a sum of ten dollars for driving without a license. A pickup truck came, having been called by Mr. Meltwater, and while towing the car away, yanked the car so rapidly that the trunk flew open, permitting Alfred's bike (which to this time had been stored inside the trunk) to crash into the sidewalk. Disheartened Alfred cried upon seeing his beloved bike shattered. Thus, Alfred learned the meaning of being reaveamed in his early childhood. Alfred married the daughter of

Boys Are Urged To Get Dates For Key Club Ball

This is the last warning you'll get from me. If you boys don't hurry up and get a date, you just won't be able to go to the Christmas Ball, on Dec. 18, 8 to 12 p. m. at the Mayfair Inn, sponsored by the Key Club.

Eileen Viblen, unofficial spokeswoman (is there such a thing?) for the Key Club Sweethearts (the other two are James Luxon and Barbara Mitchell), tells us that, in addition to the Dance Band, there'll be refreshments, and, of course, attendance prize (sorry, no sweethearts will be given away this time). The girls will be working really hard (so will the Key Club members) to decorate the Mayfair for this affair. This will be the first dance sponsored by the Key Club in a long time, and if successful, it will no doubt be an annual event in forthcoming years.

So, remember, make your reservations with either Bruce Hold or me. We will announce the deadline for reservations tomorrow. Admission will be $1.50 per couple with reservations or $1 stag. And, please, no corsages.

Alfred, being a very humane man, loved his wife and children. And Alfred, being very human, died upon the exact date of his death. Thus, the story of Alfred ended.

National Beta Society

Last Friday, while everyone was hollering and cheering at the Pep Rally during Activity Period, a number of us upperclassmen and were listening to a spokesman for the National Beta Society.

The Beta is a national society established for the purpose of developing citizenship in the high school. It is restricted to sophomores, juniors, and seniors in high school, with an A to B average, commendable conduct, etc. The society has chapters in 30 states, with a total membership of about 70,000. Admission fee is $3.50.

Anyone who is interested in knowing more about the organization or in forming a local chapter will find it profitable to see Mr. Bracken. Even if you believe you are not qualified, it is worth your while to contact Mr. Bracken, and later on, bringing your grades up if that's your worry. The formation of a local chapter should be of particular interest to the freshmen, since they can do very well to start being good little boys and girls from now, and then, next year—maybe—they might be qualified to form one.

Awaking and hoping to shake away the "lightheaded" dream, I tried to bring into focus the real Christmas picture, but to no avail. I could not erase the spiritless Christmas from my mind.

Many people complain that Christmas is overly commercialized. Is my dream their idea of a Christmas minus the commerce? Christmas is what we make it.

The spirit of giving and receiving is a part of it. Commercialization hasn't anything to do with it. Many years ago, we were given a gift of all gifts.

It's natural that, when one is young, he thinks of "What he's going to get", but, as we grow older, this is changed in most cases.

to "what we'll give." Subconsciously, most people are filled with excitement in December not from the giving and receiving standpoint, but from the wonderful spirit and warm feeling which is present.

The true meaning of Christmas can never be forgotten.

Dear Miss Cry-shoulder
Who are you? Do you ever plan to talk? There's a lot of us who are very curious to know who you are!

The Wonderers
Dear Wonderers
Well, it finally happened. At last someone has questioned my identity. Chances are you would be extremely surprised if I revealed my identity. I will give you a little hint though. I can be seen at SHS only five days a week, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 3:30 p. m. (Big help aren't I?) If you and your curious friends continue to read my Problem Corner I may really shock you all one day and reveal my identity. Till then I'll be seeing you and vice versa, but let's hope you don't realize it!

Dear Miss Cry-shoulder
I'm very fond of all my teachers and I would like to know if there is any way I can show them how much I appreciate their time and understanding.

Dear
Yes, there are many ways to show your teachers that you appreciate them taking an interest in you. You can be cooperative in every way and always submit your utmost attention. You can remember them a Christmas by sending them a card. It isn't necessary to buy each a gift unless you decide to do so, which would be a very thoughtful gesture.

Stores Say Select Gifts With Care

By GAY PAULEY
 United Press Women's Editor
 NEW YORK (UP)—This is the time of the year we rush out to buy gifts for someone else to rush back and exchange after Christmas.

Perhaps it's a red chiffon nightgown for an aunt who has slept in flannels for years, or golf tees for an uncle whose main exercise is getting up from the table.

Whatever the reasons, the exchanges and returns are inevitable. And most stores have developed the philosophical attitude that the customer usually is right after the holidays, even if he returns cost money in extra personnel and handling.

Most stores try to trim the post-holiday rush by pre-holiday advice. Take the adjustments department of Abraham and Straus, one of the nation's largest department stores. It came out today with a guide to gift selection for "A Happy After-Christmas."

Select With Care
 The department manager Charles A. Binder, said the first rule is: "Avoid fever and flurry and give your selections some thought. Desperation buying causes more returns and exchanges than any other single factor."

Binder, an old hand at soothing the ruffled feathers of customers, offered these suggestions:

- Become a size detective and know measurements of the person for whom you're buying. Wrong size is the number one reason for returns. Don't tell the salesman, "my husband is about the same size as that man over there in the grey suit."
- Know the taste of the person for whom you're shopping. And don't inflict your taste on others. Buying cuff links for a man who hates French cuffs means your gift goes back after Dec. 25.

would rather have a doll and a doll wardrobe and doll furniture, than to end up with three dolls, all alike.

—In shopping for children, age level is important. "It's too old for him," is the most common complaint of mothers returning toys.

"Actually," said Binder, "999,999 of every one million customers have legitimate reasons for return or exchange."

It's the one in the million which gives a store its biggest headache, or its biggest laugh.

Women Make Most Returns
 Binder said women make more returns than men, but not necessarily because they are harder to please. "They do most of the shopping to begin with," he said, "and they have more time to make returns."

In the men's division, items most frequently brought back, Binder said, are shirts, ties, and wallets; in the feminine department, blouses, perfumes, compacts and lingerie—"I don't know why," said Binder, "but some people will insist on giving a black nightgown to a 65-year-old woman."

Binder said that contrary to many of the cartoons, adjustment departments gear for the post-holiday rush and make the best of it. His favorite return was not after Christmas, but after a wedding.

"I looked up one day and here was a young couple loaded with a small ton of bundles," he said. "They lugged the works up to the counter, unwrapped everything and said:

"Okay, now which of this is yours?"

Lake Mary News

By Ethel Jane Kough
LAKE MARY—The church calendar of the Community Presbyterian Church for the week of Dec. 8 includes:

Tuesday Circle No. 1 will meet at 8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. J. M. Thompson to continue the study on "Conversations: Christ, the Church and Race."

Wednesday the Business Women's group will meet.

Thursday the choir, Walter Piper director will practice at 8 p. m. Friday the Business Women's group will be hostesses for a show-reception for newly weds Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Russel. The party will be held in the church beginning at 8 p. m. All friends of the young couple are invited to attend.

Saturday—will be the first rehearsal for the Dec. 22 Christmas program. Please have all the children taking part at the church by 1 p. m.

Joanna Gardner said that there were 30 members present last week at the Chamber of Commerce meeting. Final plans will be made for the community Christmas Tree. This is an annual event in the life of Lake Mary and well worth the time and money.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Burke are the proud grandparents of their first granddaughter Penelope Lynn Brown, born Nov. 24 in Orange Memorial Hospital. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brown of Casselberry weighed 8 1/2 pounds. The Browns have a son Paul.

Recently Mrs. Naomi Laundry and family of Vero Beach called on Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Burke. Mrs. Burke and Mrs. Laundry graduated from high school together and had not seen each other for some time.

Mrs. Edna Humphrey was in Monday so I taught her third grade class. It seemed so odd to be teaching in the same room where I had gone to school a long-long time ago. The children were all so good and helpful. It was like a vacation for me.

Saturday I got a long letter from Katherine Ramsey. Many of us remember her mother much better. Mrs. Ramsey was known and loved by everyone in Lake Mary. Miss Ramsey says that her mother has been bedridden for six years. She often talks and wonders about all her old friends in the South. They have lived in N. J. for the past several years.

There will be a called congregational meeting Sunday at the Community Presbyterian Church. All members are urged to be present.

Mr. William Ferguson is confined to an Orlando Hospital. His son reported Monday that he was some better but would remain for some time.

The Hobbs' have named their son born Dec. 8 David Andrew. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reynolds of Franklinville, N. Y. were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Steven Sherlock at their 11th St. home. The Reynolds spend their winters at Lowe's City in St. Petersburg.

Mrs. Riba Wiley, from Virginia, spent the weekend with Mrs. J. H. Skewes. Mrs. Wiley is the daughter of the late beloved "Grandma McMillan" who was a Lake Mary resident for many years.

Circle No. 3 of the PWO will meet next Monday at 8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Thompson. Mrs. Ruth Coble, vice chairman will moderate the meeting. The study of the booklet "Christ the Church and Race" will be continued.

I haven't been in touch with Ruth Coble this week so I'm not certain who you should call if you need transportation but call me and I'll see that you get to and from the meeting. If you are uncertain where Mrs. Thompson lives meet at the church by 10 of 8 and we can all go out together.

The Rev. C. C. White is very ill at the Seminole Memorial Hospital. I heard today that Tom Wansley has returned from an Orlando Hospital. We are certainly glad of Mr. Wansley's recovery.

Marie Lloyd came home this week from the Seminole Memorial Hospital. She and Howard are the very proud parents of a daughter born Dec. 4. They have named the baby Pamela Jean. The very proud grandfather (first grandchild) is Ellis Lloyd.

We received two Christmas cards this week both from the Pacific area. The first from the J. A. Galik's. Mrs. Galik is the former Peggy Green daughter of Mrs. Lula Cox Franklin. She reports that she loves Okinawa except it is too far from her daughters and grandchildren. The second was from the Bartlets. Mrs. B. is the former Dorothy Werfelman and they are on their second tour of duty in Hawaii.

I'd better get busy on some cards. Call me or drop me a note about your Christmas get-togethers. Phone where I may be reached is FA 2-3808.

Oh yes, don't forget the Home Demonstration bake sale next Monday. Laura Kruger chairman, said that they hope to have a great array of Christmas cookies. The sale will be in front of the post office at noon on Monday the 16th.

GROUCHO MARX is one of the most faithful—and articulate—adherents of the Hollywood Stars, a baseball team not given to winning too many championships. ... long ago, in fact, the Stars finished last, a mere 40 games or so behind the champs of the circuit. The players were properly apprehensive when they heard that Groucho not only was arranging a dinner in their honor, but proposed to be the principal speaker.

"In the early spring our prospects looked pretty good," recalled Groucho, "but then came the first disaster: all our regular players reported. By May, we faced a crisis. Luckily we had the kind of management that was equal to the emergency. The price of parking was raised to thirty-five cents."

The manager of a burlesque show parried his wife's telephoned demand that he come home pronto for a delayed supper with a soothing, "Take it easy, hon. I'll be home in two shakes."

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS
 The Bible
 In God is my salvation and my glory; the rock of my strength, and my refuge, is in God.—(Psalm 62, 7.)
 To whom can one with un-falling assurance turn in time of deep sorrow, when his own strength is as water? There is only one sure salvation, one sure source of strength, and that is in God. He is ever present, ever ready to save us from the depths of despair.

Fifty years ago the 12 southern states had four wood-pulp mills with a combined capacity of 50,000 short tons, which was then two per cent of the national pulp output for paper making. Today, says the National Geographic Magazine, 67 southern pulp mills can produce some 13 million short tons, 67 per cent of national capacity.

Britain, U.S. Form Counter-Attack Against Soviet Propaganda

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
PARIS (UP)—The United States and Britain organized a counter-attack today to smash the Soviet propaganda onslaught aimed at weakening the NATO alliance and frightening Europe out of setting up U. S. missile bases.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles flew in from Washington to join British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd who arrived Thursday night. They were expected to throw their full weight behind the Anglo-American counterattack.

With statements of the 15 NATO countries streaming by plane and train for the greatest international gathering here since the 1919 Versailles Conference, Moscow laid down a massive, drumfire barrage of pleas and threats to the West. The summit meeting starts Monday with the heads of state of all NATO members present.

Diplomatic sources said the Moscow statements were carefully worded to take advantage of individual fears and distrusts in a major effort to split the North Atlantic alliance wide open.

Tried All Tricks
Moscow took advantage of the split over Suez, French anger at Anglo-American arms shipments to Tunisia and a host of minor grievances of NATO members against the United States.

U. S. and British diplomats already here moved swiftly to counteract the Soviet moves in behind the scenes talks with other delegates.

It will be strengthened even more Saturday when President Eisenhower flies in from Washington and joins British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, French Premier Felix Galliard and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in a major "little summit" talks.

The Moscow drive began Wednesday with "peace" notes to the Western "Big Three" and Germany. In a second round Thursday night Moscow proposed a peace treaty between the Soviet Union and the United States and in notes to all United Nations members called for a non-aggression treaty between NATO and the Communist Warsaw Pact.

Lodge To Speak
The official reply to the peace treaty proposal comes today at the United Nations when U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge is expected to give a "soft" answer—an approach suggested Thursday night by Democratic Party leader Adlai Stevenson.

But U. S. and British diplomats were frankly worried that some European NATO members, already disturbed by Soviet threats of retaliation against U. S. rocket bases on their territories, might be inclined to heed the latest Moscow moves.

U. S. Defense Secretary Neil McElroy spoke out against these fears Thursday night. He assured West Europe that any Russian attacks "if they are to come, would be based on matters not having solely to do with the basing of American-made missiles on European soil."

McElroy completed arrangements with Britain this week to station American missile bases on British soil, and the subject of other missile bases is expected to be one of the major topics of the heads of state meeting.

But U. S. and British diplomats were frankly worried that some European NATO members, already disturbed by Soviet threats of retaliation against U. S. rocket bases on their territories, might be inclined to heed the latest Moscow moves.

7 Month Old Baby Dies In House Fire Yesterday

Kiwanians Stage Annual Ladies' Night At Mayfair

The Sanford Kiwanis Club staged one of its annual Ladies' Night events last night at the Mayfair Inn with entertainment under the direction of Ed Lane, a former District Governor.

The ballroom of the Mayfair Inn was the scene of the Ladies' Night and Kiwanians and their wives watched by candlelight a two-hour entertainment extravaganza and climaxed the evening with dancing.

Top performers came from the Royal School of Dance with Mrs. Edith Royal in charge. There were eight numbers including the Royalettes, a group of dancers; Evelyn Hussey and Kip Watson; Eunice Brumbaugh, Russ Brumbaugh and Kip Watson in a hand balancing act; and other solo numbers in soft shoe and tap.

An accordant led off the evening's entertainment with solo numbers and others in which she asked the audience to join.

Stealing the show, however, was Frank Mebane Jr., manager of the Mayfair Inn and a Kiwanian, when he staged his version of "What's My Line" using a panel from the audience which included A. L. Wilson, Mrs. Patty Gatchel, Mrs. Audrey Spear, and Edwin Shinholser. Guests of the panel were Mrs. Mae Lane, Irving Pryor and Mayor David Gatchel.

Climaxing the evening's entertainment was Pete Bokur and his trio along with a new trio introduced by Frank Mebane Jr. called the "Dining Room Dolls."

A seven-month-old Negro baby was burned to death last night when a frame dwelling on Southwest Road was destroyed by fire.

First reports of the fire were at 5:30 p. m. yesterday when a neighbor, W. R. Brown, called the Sanford Fire Department.

Both the Navy Fire Department and the Sanford Department answered the alarm. However, the house was fully involved on their arrival.

The infant daughter, Lenora, was at home with her three brothers and sisters at the time neighbors said "a stove exploded."

It was reported at the scene of the fire that one of the children ran to a neighbor's house and asked for help to put the fire out on the stove.

The frame dwelling was completely destroyed and neighbors were unable to save any furnishings of the home so quickly the blaze consumed the home.

Occupants of the home were Jimmy and Julia Davis. Julia Davis had left the four children at home when she went to pick up her husband from work at Hunt's Lincoln-Mercury.

The charred body of the baby was recovered by firemen when they were told it was last seen lying on a settee in the front part of the home.

Mozel Takes 4 Stroke Lead In PGA Tourney; Breaks Course Record

Pro, Stan Mozel failed to be disturbed by freezing weather here yesterday and took a four stroke lead in the third Annual Mayfair Inn Open. He carded a fabulous 62 on the beautiful 6,200 yard course and established a new record here in Sanford. With old man weather plaguing some of the greatest, Stan played his best round in competitive golf with a 9 under par score.

The foot 8 inch shot-maker has only played in three tourneys in the current four so big-time golf is fairly new to him. He is Pro at the Essex Fells Club in New Jersey where he also fired a non-competitive 62. He has earned the title of champ in the 1955 New Jersey Open, 1956 New Jersey PGA, and the Texas Junior championship.

Stan's card read as follows: 4-4-4-4-3-3-3-3-3-3-3-3-4-4-4-4-2-3-3-3-4-3-3-3-4-4-4-4-4-4-3-3-66.

Two other favorites here in Sanford, Ed Oliver and Ed Furgol, carded identical sixty eight. They were also joined by Gay Brewer of Cincinnati and Ernie Doros of North Carolina.

The Amateurs were led in the first day of play by 19 year old Gary Cowan 1955 Canadian Jr. Champ. He was able to combat the cold weather and come in with a two over par—73. His closest competitor was all-service champ, Bob Benning of Camp LeJeune, North Carolina, who fired a 75 for the first round.

Tomorrow that field will be out and the competitors for the top money in the $15,000 event will be set to fight it out down to the wire. It will be interesting to see if the young Mozel will be able to keep up the pace until the final day. The weather man has predicted (Continued on Page Seven)

Odham To Resign As Milk Board Chairman

TALLAHASSEE (UP)—J. Brailey Odham, plans to resign as chairman of the State Milk Commission as soon as he feels the commission is in "good enough shape" for him to leave.

Odham said at the end of Thursday's long session he will probably resign in several months "because my job is finished."

But Odham and the commission met today to consider at a hearing whether the big Borders dairy firm should have its license for plants in Tampa, Orlando and Pensacola revoked. The hearing was scheduled Thursday but had to be postponed.

The commission contends the dairy owes milk producers in the three areas more than $18,000 and must show adequate cause for not paying them or have its license to operate in those areas revoked. Borders tried unsuccessfully Wednesday to get a court injunction to prevent the commission from revoking the license.

Odham, who fought to have price controls abolished as a legislator and in two unsuccessful campaigns for the governorship, was named to the commission chairmanship by Gov. LeRoy Collins last Aug. 7. Collins and Odham agreed that price controls on milk should be removed at the retail level.

Last month, under Odham's constant urging, the commission voted to suspend controls at all but the producer level. The order is effective Monday, but already prices have been cut in chain stores and supermarkets throughout the state as a result of the action.

The Sanford contractor said in disclosing he will probably resign that "I do not want to make a career of the milk business . . . I took this job to fight price con-

Rotarians To Hear Musical Program At Luncheon Meet

Sanford Rotarians, at their regular weekly meeting next Monday noon, will again have the opportunity of hearing the Edgewater "Choralaires" in a program of music appropriate to the Christmas Season. T. W. (Tommy) Mero, general program chairman of the club, announced this morning.

This selected group from Edgewater High School, is under the direction of Mrs. Estelle M. Thomas who, according to Mero, puts on quite a show, herself, in the manner in which she introduces the various numbers. The group arrives in a chartered bus dressed in colorful Christmas costumes and, in the past, has made a big hit with the local Rotarians, Mero said.

Club president Myron A. (Mike) Beck calls attention of members of the local club to the change of Monday's meeting place, the Parish House of Holy Cross Episcopal Church, in order that the singing group may be properly presented.

Ike Leaves For NATO Talks

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower flies the Atlantic under a doctor's care today on a momentous mission to revamp the Free World's defenses against Russia's space-age missile threat.

But his mission to install new force and unity into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization NATO allies promised to be extremely difficult.

The President was expected to prepare an "affirmative as possible" answer to the Soviet proposal for high level East-West talks which is spearheading their campaign to upset the vital NATO "summit" conferences starting Monday in Paris.

Such a reply was urged by Adlai E. Stevenson, two-time Democratic presidential opponent, who said the Allies must continue to try and negotiate a settlement with the East "not by capitulation, but by agreement."

Eisenhower was scheduled to leave for Paris aboard the Columbus III late today. He is expected to land in Paris Saturday morning.

Russia threw a warning at Britain against being a base for NATO missiles on the eve of this attempt to weld the West into a stronger scientific and military unit. The warning was contained in a 3,000 word letter from Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin to British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

There was no indication whether Eisenhower would reply to Paris before or after the Bulganin meeting. But a State Department official said the reply would "try to be as affirmative as possible" when it comes.

Temperature Starts Rise In Sanford Area

The temperature is rising nicely, were the words of Sandy Anderson, Asst. Manager at the Sanford State Farmers' Market this morning.

Temperatures in Sanford and the Sanford area ranged from 27 to 31 this morning and there was plenty of ice where water pipes were broken yesterday and where sprinkler systems were left on.

Temperatures rose because of the cloudiness last night. It is reported that the temperatures will be 30 to 25 degrees warmer today than yesterday.

Sandy Anderson, in his report to the Director of the Florida State Farmers' Markets said "It's very hard to determine just what varieties, volume and quality of vegetables are available through our market" as he estimated the movement of fruits and vegetables through the local market.

"It's a guessimate instead of an estimate," Anderson told a Sanford Herald reporter.

The forecast made by the market's assistant manager for the week of Dec. 23 revealed that there will be a light volume of cabbage of fair quality, a light volume of celery of fair quality, a light volume of green onions, and a very light volume of lettuce of fair to poor quality.

Elsewhere, United Press reported a subfreezing cold wave, the worst in more than two decades, gripped the Southland for the second straight night, claiming a heavy toll in lives and damage to crops.
