

SOME GAME IN SANFORD AUGUST 16

WHEN ELKS AND EAGLES WILL PLAY BALL ON PURPOSE

On August 16th the Elks of Sanford will play a game of base ball against the Eagles of Sanford, and on this occasion everybody will have an opportunity to laugh two hours throughout one of the most comical games that has ever been pulled off between the local lodges.

No ball player except a member of the Sanford lodge will be permitted to play on either team, each team will confine their talent to their own lodge. All the players will wear a most comical uniform and the occasion promises to be one of great fun.

A large parade will take place at 2:30 p. m., lead by C. M. Hand on the right and E. E. Brady on the left, followed by a Red Cross Hospital corps, composed of six ladies and four physicians, the Elks furnishing three ladies and the Eagles furnishing three ladies, three ladies and two physicians to each street corner. This corps is arranged that we may promptly care for the wounded players, as well as any one who may need medical attention throughout the game.

Following this will come the BIG BAND, which will furnish music for the parade, as well as for the game, throughout the afternoon. Then comes the players, with the Elks on the right and the Eagles on the left in full uniform. The players will play a game of ball, with the Elks on the left and the Eagles on the right.

The game will be umpired by H. B. Farish and G. W. Spitzer, and their faces will be nothing but a study in the Sanford ball field, and if there are any other players in Sanford who can render a service to the cause, they are invited to do so.

Phil Robinson Back in Rio

Phil Robinson, very comical in the game in view of the fact that Dr. Pillsbury, who will be remembered as a star college pitcher will be on the Elks. At this writing Robinson is unable to play, owing to a heavy blow on the head, sustained at a game in Sanford.

Refreshments in store.

The committee are invited to help them at the refreshments at the park. There will be a great crowd at the park on this date and refreshments will be in great demand by the spectators, as well as the players and it has been decided by the committee that nothing will be sold on the ball park grounds on that date, except by the ladies of the different churches.

We extend a special invitation to visitors from the neighboring towns and communities, and it is thought that a great crowd will come in from DeLand, Orlando and Ocala, not only members of the lodges but others as well and bring their friends and relatives.

Twenty per cent of the receipts will be tendered the Sanford Base Ball Association to aid them in the upkeep of the fast ball team we now have in Sanford and we want every body to come out and help the good work along, as it is the full intention of Sam Puleston and Archie Betts to show LeTty Wyatt, Hand-some Palmer and Pop Wallace a thing or two in the base ball line which might be of great benefit to them in the winning of the Sanford-Orlando pennant.

Tickets will be on sale at Philips drug store also among local agents of both lodges. Prices will be 25c for adults and 10c for children. Get busy, boys, we want one thousand people out to the game.

Mr. Reid's Last Sunday. The supply pastor at the Baptist Temple delivered his last sermons at the Temple Sunday, as his stay in Sanford comes to a close with the arrival of Dr. Hyman Thursday.

The Baptists and Sanford people generally hate to see this young man leave the church and city. Mr. Reid, while here only a month has made every acquaintance a warm friend, and his work in the church has been that of a live, energetic, bright and loving man, always having his mind and attention to the welfare of his pastorate, community and friends, as well as lending a helping hand to any there may be that are not enumerated above.

Mr. Reid's sermons Sunday were of the better class of sermons, having plenty of food for thought and sermons that would and do, make a thinking man think, and strong, forceful sermons that have the tendency to make the wavering ones stop, and heed the good advice and fervent plea of the God fearing and loving deliverer.

While the Baptist folk love and cherish Dr. Hyman, yet when Mr. Reid makes his departure, there will be many a heart pang and a sorrowing face, wishing that the Baptists were enough to have and support two pastors, both Mr. Reid and Dr. Hyman.

Mr. Reid goes from here to Ocala where he fills a supply place for a month; from there he goes to his old home, Orlando for a month and then returns to the Theological Institute for another year, when he shall return as a graduate divine.

SANFORD BOARD OF TRADE WILL NUMBER 300 MEMBERS

The Sanford Board of Trade has today announced that its membership has reached the number of 300. This is a record for any organization in this section of the state.

The board has held a meeting at the Chamber Hotel, and discussed the question of the new building for the board. It was decided that the board should purchase a new building, and that the money should be raised by the members.

The board has also decided to hold a picnic at the park on August 16th. This picnic will be held in conjunction with the game between the Elks and the Eagles.

NEW SCHOOL BUILDING CONTRACT IS LET

HOME CONTRACTORS ARE SUCCESSFUL BIDDERS FOR WORK

The Board of Public Instruction for Seminole County last Tuesday let the contracts for the erection of a two wing back addition to the Sanford Grammar School, and for the erection of a nice Primary School building on corner of Maple avenue and Third street on the west side.

The money for the new buildings was obtained through the sale of the bond issue recently voted by Special Tax School District No. 1.

One of the features of the present work is the fact that the board, in all their actions and deliberations favored local talent and local business men when the contract was let. From the very beginning the board obtained the services of the local architect, Elton J. Moughton, who with his other force made all plans and specifications of the new buildings and repairs. Then when the bids were opened it was declared that Mr. W. A. Adams had secured the contract for building while the Sanford Navy Works secured the order for the Primary School building.

Other people, their immediate neighbors, had also bid for the work, but the local contractors were successful.

Now and additional furniture and equipment for the new buildings will be ordered in the near future.

HEAT WAVE IN NORTH CAUSING DEATHS

OVER ONE HUNDRED PEOPLE DIED IN CHICAGO YESTERDAY

Chicago, Aug. 1.—Promise of relief from the torrid weather that prevailed for more than a week came to night at the end of a day during which the thermometer reached a point within a fraction of a degree of the highest ever recorded in the Chicago forecast district.

As a result of the protracted heat culminating in a maximum of 102 degrees at 4 p. m. today the human death rate reached a point where county morgue officials said there was no more room in the institution for bodies.

Prostrations increased greatly riotous scenes at lake shore beaches among the thousands seeking relief in the lake made necessary the services of extra police, while the Health Department announced that hundreds of corpses were lying in the streets where they had fallen dead from heat.

Other points in his district were also suffering from the heat.

S. Runge now feeling the need of rest after his strenuous accomplishments and Joe DeMont feeling the need of a change of climate have decided to withdraw in order to let in some new blood, and while S. Runge will for the present run the R. & R. store, Joe DeMont has designs to mix with his brother Latins in Central American states for a while.

The outgoing members of the Coca Cola Bottling Co. wish to thank the general public and all their customers and business friends for the courtesies and good will shown them in past years and request their loyalty towards the new management.

H. B. Farish, the new manager is a business man of wide experience and a valuable addition to our flourishing Board of Trade.

With the help of our progressive people, which they can best show by drinking many bottles of Coca Cola he will keep on building up the Sanford plant, so that it will always be a pride of the city.

GOOD TIMES IN AMERICA ARE ASSURED

EVEN AFTER WAR ENDS NO DANGER OF INFLATION

New York, Aug. 1.—The foreign cataclysm, now entering upon its third year, finds the United States at the high tide of prosperity. While Europe's powers continue their expenditures of blood and treasure incalculable, financial experts point out that the wealth of this country is piling up so generally and on such solid foundation as to remove all apprehension of inflation.

Bank clearings, bountiful crops, earnings of the railroads and industries, the enormous output of steel and iron, a foreign trade balance for the fiscal year of $2,136,000,000—these and countless other signs point to the unparalleled prestige of the only leading nation of the world not at war.

The course of events in this country after peace shall have been declared continued to engage the attention of economists. In the small minority are those who declare that the end of the conflict will be followed by a tremendous inflow of foreign products to the great detriment of home industries. Others profess to believe that Europe's peace or reconstruction demands will more than neutralize the aggressive tendencies of the United States.

CHANGE IN OWNERSHIP

Coca Cola Bottling Co. Sells To Macon Man

S. Runge and Joe DeMont have sold their interest in the Sanford Coca Cola Bottling Co. to the Coca Cola Bottling Co. of Jacksonville.

H. B. Farish of Macon, Ga., will be the manager of the new company, and is in town now to take over the bottling plant.

The business will continue right on as before, but the new management will put in a number of improvements, which will make the Sanford plant the best in central Florida.

After Medical Fakery

Washington, D. C., Aug. 1.—Officials of the department of agriculture charged with the enforcement of the food and drug act expect the outbreak of infantile paralysis will tempt unscrupulous persons to offer for sale so-called "cures" or remedies for this dread malady. Food and drug inspectors will watch for interstate shipments or importations of medicines, alleged to cure or alleviate this disease, for which, at the present time, no medicinal cure is known.

Notified Hughes

New York, N. Y., Aug. 1.—Governors of three states, many senators, about 100 representatives in congress, delegates to the Republican and Democratic conventions and chairmen of the state conventions of both parties are here to witness the notification of Charles E. Hughes that he has been nominated for the presidency.

Join that Board of Trade.

It will do more for Seminole county than anything else.

And all of us will be benefitted thereby to a remarkable degree.

We are living in comfort while the people in northern cities are dying with the heat.

Frank Harris of the Ocala Banner is now visiting in Milwaukee. We shall soon know what made Milwaukee famous.

Sanford has STATE wide a stake Board of Trade and they will accomplish progressive results that no other organization can get. Tribby News.

Mrs. Helen Blanche Walsh of Philadelphia is singing for husband for divorce and says that no man can be rich and straight with his wife at the same time. Glad we are poor.

We would like to see a strike of the railroad men. They think they should have shorter hours. Other men in less hazardous callings have shorter hours and there is no reason why the railroad men should not be in the same class.

The Orlando Board of Trade put right in behind Congressman Bann on their post office building and they have obtained results. The Sanford Board of Trade can do likewise and the same result will be obtained in the next few days.

Over at Sanford the women have taken a hand in helping to secure members for the newly organized Board of Trade. They have formed what is known as the North Star Brigade and will call on all the Board of Trade men to join the new organization.

The Herald is giving the readers the best sport page of any paper in the state or United States but the page needs more advertising. Is your name written there?

It all means the same thing, money. Money is the only thing that is to be desired and it is the cement grouting it possess. The roadbeds are the best to be obtained and not only last much longer but are easier riding. And then the cement would cover a multitude of bad places and defects in the brick and Heaven knows some of them need covering.

This is the season of our discontent. All those who have gone away are writing to the editor, "you ought to be here," "it is delightful here," "having such a fine time here," etc., and all of them know that we cannot be there and here at the same time and if we were not here most of them would not be there. These postcards are nice and we like to hear from our friends but these left handed invitations to "come up here" always did get our nanny.

Several anxious readers have written us in the past few weeks wanting to know what we thought of the Knotts-Catts fiasco and to all of these we will reply that no one knows just what the result will be. Frohn all reports it seems that the recount places Knott in the lead but whether his name will appear on the ticket as the Democratic ticket or not is the question. We expect to vote for the man whose name is on the Democratic ticket and it matters not whether it is Catts or Knott.

A west Florida paper carries in large type at the top of its first page the following: "If you are contemplating buying a home, it will pay you to come to K." In looking over the paper to see what the town has to offer the homeseekers we find just three home ads, one being a realty company, another was a title company and the other ad was for a pressing club. Now who in the thunder would want to buy a home in a town that did not have a store in it. Why a south Florida cemetery is livelier than such a town as that. Florida Advocate.

THE SECOND YEAR OF WAR

GERMANY IS ON DEFENSIVE WHILE ALLIES ARE COMING STRONG

New York, Aug. 1.—The end of the second year of the Great War finds the Germans in possession of little more of Europe than they held on August 1, 1915, the first anniversary of the start of the great conflict.

Russia, the vast man power at last organized and furnished with implements of destruction in plenty, is battering the Eton lines on the east and has already won back 5,000 square miles. Great Britain boasts five million men in her army and navy. France fights as strongly as ever. Italy is increasing her formidable forces.

Austria appears to be losing heart and efficiency. Bulgaria refuses to send reinforcements to the west or Russian fronts. Turkey shows slight offensive power.

The British navy, following the much disputed naval battle of Jutland still stands off Germany from use of the sea.

Germany and Austria both feel the pinch of hunger.

The German chancellor, three times in the Reichstag has offered peace to the Entente.

Meanwhile with the Allies, the Entente, Mrs. Hill reads their resolutions, some of the date being at last winter power to cease their efforts until Germany is crushed.

On August 1, the Germans and Austria, were in the midst of their annual campaign against Russia. That day Ludlow, an important city in southern Poland fell.

Von Mackensen, with Galicia conquered, was pressing northward, showing the contours of the Polish salient Von Hindenburg, fore with his hand on the sword.

While the British were playing the League and the games are winning more favor in comment in all parts of the state. Summer ball games are good for the towns and all the inhabitants thereof. The Herald is giving the readers the best sport page of any paper in the state or United States but the page needs more advertising. Is your name written there?

The real invasion of Serbia started in the first days of October. The success of the Teutons and the Bulgarians were almost unbroken. The invading forces consisted of an vast amount of heavy artillery, and small infantry supporting forces. They studied the Serbians out of position after position in an avalanche of steel to which the Serbians could make no reply. On November 29th Germany proudly announced that the Serbian campaign had ended, having met with complete success.

The winter also saw the humiliation of the British in Mesopotamia. A further British humiliation was the evacuation of Gallipoli peninsula, where the British held on doggedly month after month, losing perhaps two hundred thousand men, until they were finally withdrawn in confusion of failure the first week of January.

These two British bascos were what was needed to arouse the sluggish fighting blood of John Bull. They finally brought England into the war fully and uncompromisingly, to the same extent as the other great powers involved.

On August 10, Great Britain started her national register, or census of all men of fighting age. The result showed a vast reserve of man power.

On December 21, David Lloyd-George, the minister of munitions and greatest man the war has produced in Great Britain declared the country faced defeat unless greater efforts were made. A week later he threatened to resign for the cabinet unless conscription was adopted.

Conscription was fiercely fought, but on January 1 a bill introducing it passed its first reading in the house of commons by a large majority. The bill was finally signed by King George May 26.

On February 21 came the Verdun fight which has failed, also the Austrian offensive against Italy.

At the beginning of June the Russian arm broke with full force and following the principle of attacking the weakest point, the Austrians holding the line from the marsh district southward were forced to bear the brunt of it.

Millions of shell manufactured largely in British, Japanese and American factories, blasted away wire, trenches, dugouts and observation points. Then the hordes of Siberians and Cossacks swept over the field. The Austrians could not withstand the impact and they gave way steadily.

German support was rushed to the Austrians, but the foe captured Lutsk, Dubno and Brody, and reached the Stokhod and Lipa rivers in Volhynia; overran all Bukovina to the Carpathians and sent patrols of Cossacks into Hungary to ravage the country.

Almost a month to a day following the beginning of the great Russian offensive the French and British opened their drive in the vicinity of the Somme river. They have gained gradually but steadily.

It is also the claim of the Allies the Allies that the Franco-British offensive can be kept up at its present rate indefinitely and will not have to slacken for lack of shells, guns or men.

The rate of progress is not greater than the Germans in Verdun, but the country traversed is less difficult. On the other hand the Verdun assault have the advantage of attacking from the outside of a curve, while the French and British now attack from inside the salient they have made in the line.

Outside of Europe the Germans have lost their Cameroon and East Africa, the western coast of Africa, the remaining defenders being grouped into Spanish territory and have retreated.

The year has been marked by a continuation of horrible persecutions against Armenia and Christians in Turkey. The Mohammedans are apparently determined to wipe out the "infidels."

Recent months have seen a resumption of Zeppelin raids on un defended British and French towns. The cause of this is somewhat of a mystery.

The Value of a Dollar

WHEN a dollar is spent, it purchases a dollars' worth. As soon as an article is used it depreciates about fifty per cent. The spent dollar is, therefore, usually worth only fifty per cent.

On the other hand a saved dollar draws interest and is, therefore, worth more than its face value.

THEY FOUND OUT

When young Palester first came into the office Glinfrow seemed to regard him with an unfavorable eye, as did the others. Palester was a most of fensive youngster. He had the quality of "freshness" in a marked degree and it was never an amusing "freshness" nor did it wear off with stinging. Delicate sarcasm, of the sort that Huskin prided himself upon, had not the slightest effect upon him, he was too dull-witted to understand it. Brutal candor, such as Densley was in the habit of indulging in when irritated, only evoked abuse that was absolutely intolerable. Yet after Palester had been in the office for three weeks Glinfrow seemed to take a sudden fancy to him and stood as a sort of buffer between him and the righteous hostility of the force.

Palester was about nineteen years of age. He had just left college at the suggestion of the faculty. It was understood. His father was wealthy and it was through him that the boy had been pitchedforked into the office. It seemed likely that he would soon be pitchedforked out again. He put in the mornings and not infrequently snuck out long before closing time. Possibly it would have been just as well if he had stayed away altogether and drawn his salary without spoiling the books. Old Hussey, whom Palester "assisted" said most emphatically that the firm would be ahead by such an arrangement.

"Oh, he's all right," said Glinfrow, tolerantly. "You find him a little green just now, but he'll catch on after awhile."

"Not in a thousand years," said Hussey decidedly. "He doesn't want to do an insulting young vagabond and look worthless and vicious. Called me Hussey once, the other day, that's all. He's a little green, but he'll catch on after awhile."

"I don't see all right," said Glinfrow, "but you'll find him a little green just now, but he'll catch on after awhile."

"I don't see all right," said Glinfrow, "but you'll find him a little green just now, but he'll catch on after awhile."

"I don't see all right," said Glinfrow, "but you'll find him a little green just now, but he'll catch on after awhile."

"I don't see all right," said Glinfrow, "but you'll find him a little green just now, but he'll catch on after awhile."

She was a young woman of personal attraction and very tastefully dressed. She created quite a sensation when she came into the office and asked for Palester. Glinfrow happened to see her and his face instantly beamed with delight. She seemed glad to see him, too.

"Your brother is out just now, Miss Palester," said Glinfrow. "Won't you come in here and wait for him?" He indicated his little office and the young woman smiled quite radiantly upon him as she passed in. She stayed as much as fifteen minutes, and when she came out Glinfrow accompanied her to her carriage and stood talking to her quite earnestly for as much as five minutes more. His color was heightened when he returned and he went directly to his little room and shut himself in.

Huskin Densley and old Hussey looked at one another. Densley winked. It was the only thing on the faces of the earth that could account for it," he said.

"Plinkywink," Mrs. Somerville Brown, you are giving us a most delightful evening. The mental atmosphere is positively refreshing. Miss Hollister plays and sings 'em. Couldn't you induce her?

Mrs. Somerville Brown I wish I could be the dear child is so exceedingly kind that I know it would be positive torture to her and I really haven't the heart to ask her.

Somerville Brown See here Mary, aren't you going to ask that little Bolleser girl to sing? Hollister tells me she's a wonder, and I think the crowd needs chirking up.

Mrs. Somerville Brown Tom, I think you're all in a conspiracy to drive me frantic. I'm trying to find Herr Gelneplatz to get him to play, and everybody is bothering me to ask Miss Hollister to sing.

Mrs. Somerville Brown They why don't you ask Miss Hollister to sing?

Herr Gelneplatz I had foot hear dat you were looking for me. Mees Hollister, who was a hupf off Hochswitz.

Mrs. Somerville Brown Where is she? Well I suppose where is she?

Herr Gelneplatz I will be pleased to play for you. Oh here she is now. You had better get your own little girl to sing. We wait you to sing to us now. There is no use saying you can't sing, or that you are out of practice, or that you would be ashamed to before so many accomplished musicians. We know all about that.

Hupp, What a wonderful expression—and what a voice!

Hollister—It ain't bad, judges tell me. I'm not musical myself, but I know the money I've spent on her musical education ought to bring some returns.

Mrs. Somerville Brown Well it isn't often one hears anything like that. I should think you would be proud of her, Mrs. Hollister.

Mrs. Hollister I am.

Amos, as it is much more water than do the people of the United States.

Cheering the Invalid. Dottie had permission to visit a neighbor who was ill. After chatting for a long while she arose to leave, and, taking the hand of the invalid, remarked: "Good by, I hope you won't die."

Unfortunately True. It may be necessary to slight your self or dancing once in a while in order to have any office hours left.

Death of Mrs. Hill. The following notice will be noted with regret by the many friends here of Mrs. Hill who resided here for several winters with her family:

Mrs. Katherine Hill, 70 years old, widow of the late H. A. Hill, prominent in church and lodge circles and the W. R. C. of Wichita, a pioneer Kansas woman died at Battle Creek Sanitarium, Battle Creek, Mich., early Sunday morning. In the death of Mrs. Hill Wichita loses one of her active church workers. There was no time she would not willingly answer a call to the bedside of a friend or stranger. Her unceasing work for others is said to have used much of Mrs. Hill's strength she needed to carry her safely through an illness which she suffered last October.

Mrs. Hill believed that if she could be taken from Wichita she would be able to throw off a melancholy nervous trouble which was the direct cause of her illness. Last Tuesday, Miss Olive Hill, daughter of Mrs. Hill, and Miss Lydia Blakeley, nurse, took Mrs. Hill to Battle Creek Sanitarium. Word was received Saturday night by relatives of the rapid sinking of Mrs. Hill. The message of her death came Sunday morning.

There has been no part of the church and Sunday school of Trinity Methodist church, which Mrs. Hill did not have a part. For years she had been president of circle No. 4 of the aid society, after retiring as president of the society.

She will be greatly missed by the church women of West Wichita. Mrs. Hill was a member of the Leaf Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, of Ida Rebecca Lodge, and the W. R. C., taking an active part in the latter organization. She was shortly after the war in 1915 and Mrs. Hill came to Fort Scott, Kansas to visit about that time.

Mr. Hill was in the mercantile business in West Wichita for many years. He died in 1910.

Mrs. Hill is survived by two daughters, Miss Olive Hill, Wichita, and Mrs. Katherine Harb, Pittsford, Philadelphia, two sons, Herman A. and A. M. Hill, both of this city, two sisters, Mrs. William Weik, Meigs, Okla., and Mrs. Mary Weik, Meigs, Okla., and a grandchild, Mrs. J. E. Harb, Meigs, Okla. Her only daughter, Mrs. J. E. Harb, who was in Wichita visiting at the Hill home, 125 South Fern avenue, leaving last Friday for Philadelphia.

Miss Hill and Miss Harb arrived over the Santa Fe on the afternoon with the family. Mrs. Hill, the funeral will be held at 1 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, in the funeral home of Rev. A. B. Harkland in the conference, former pastor of the Trinity church will preach the funeral service.

Skirt With New Panel Effect.

It is cut in four pieces. It is slightly gathered at the hips and the front and back gores are in panel effect. At the front the panel may extend in a point above the waist-line if desired. In medium size the skirt requires 5 1/2 yards of material. Nothing could be simpler than the making of the model. First arrange the gores together according to notches, then turn under the edges of front and back gores on slot perforations, lap to lines of small "d" perforations in side gores, stitch along the folded edges as illustrated, leaving edges to left of center back free above large "O" perforation in back gores for pocket, leave upper part of gores free above "H" line from upper edge to pass back through "I" line seams under plate and press. Gather upper edge of side-gore between double "H" perforations. Adjust 2 inch belt to position underneath upper edge of skirt for a stay, stitch upper edges together.

The well-dressed woman cannot have too many separate skirts and this simple four-piece design offers something unusually attractive for spring wear.

Skirts are more attractive this spring than they have been for several seasons past and despite the simplicity of some of the best designs they introduced in the latest styles. The design shown here is

CALVES SACRIFICED TO TICKS

A demonstration that tick eradication pays. This photograph was taken June 13th on the dairy farm of J. C. DeBevoise, St. John's Park, Jacksonville. The ten weeks old, tick infested calf at left had just been purchased at Greenville, Florida. The twelve weeks old tick free calf at right was raised on Mr. DeBevoise's farm. Notice the much larger growth attained by the tick free calf. Both were sired by Jersey bulls and were out of mature cows about the same size. Mr. DeBevoise built his dipping vat early in the year 1913 for the particular purpose of saving his heifer calves from the ticks, and says that it has been the best investment he ever made.

One of the greatest financial and economic wastes in Florida is the large number of calves of various ages which are sacrificed annually to the cattle ticks.

When tick infestation is especially heavy the deaths from Texas fever and exhaustion run as high as ten per cent. That is a lot of good veal to convert into fertilizer, when the state is importing annually about 10,000 dressed veal carcasses to help feed the people.

A little tick is very insignificant in appearance, but a number of them on a calf sap a lot of its vitality, stuntling the growth if they do not eventually kill the animal.

During the former days when matted tick infested piney woods catled the soil for around 110 a head it did not make so much difference if a considerable number of calves and older cattle died each year from Texas fever, for since the cattle owners have waded into the advantages of breeding better quality stock, the grade calves in their condition at weaning time are worth from 11 to 15 a head. So the present calf loss is cutting into the farmer in the possible the most profitable industry.

Building Vats To Save Calves. Ticks are being bred in Florida in great numbers and are doing a fearful amount of damage to the cattle industry. It is estimated that the ticks have been entirely eradicated, in tick free calves can devote all of their blood to building muscle and bone.

corn belt make it unprofitable for those farmers to raise large herds of beef cattle to produce calves and feeder stock to consume the grain and forage grown on the farms.

The pasture cost for carrying the breeding cows is too high on the expensive land. The cheap land ranges can produce calves more cheaply, for which the grain belt farmers are willing to pay high prices, as they prefer to feed out the crops on their farms during the winter months, so that they can keep the fertility on the land.

The finished cattle are marketed early in the spring and the entire farm acreage is again given over to producing more crops.

Ticky Calves Not Wanted

The grain belt farmers are turning their eyes toward Florida for their future feeding stock, as the western ranges are being cut up into farms, but the buyers do not want calves or feeding steers which have been stunted in growth from tick infestation as they cannot make any profit feeding expensive grade stock of that kind of stock. They will pay good prices for good grade feeding stock, raised on tick less and timber lands in this state, where the croping at least a million calves a year after the ticks have been entirely eradicated, in tick free calves can devote all of their blood to building muscle and bone.

DIAMOND NOTES

Terro Haute will use Paul Cobb, a brother of Tyrus, in its outfield this season.

One thing that pleases the ball players is that the treasurers of the 16 major league teams are all fixtures.

There'll be no nature-baiting by the Indians this season. Manager Fohl will stand for no senseless kicking.

There is a growing belief in baseball circles that George Moriarty will play first base for the White Sox this year.

Adolpho Luque, who has been added to the roster of the Louisville club, was secured from the Brooklyn Federal.

The Kansas City club of the American association has signed Outfielder Deals Hecker, late of the Philadelphia Nationals.

Witholt continues to please Stallings as an outfielder. Paul Strand's south-paw arm seems to be strong and reliable again.

The Nashville club of the Southern league has transferred Pitcher Helne Berger to the Galveston club of the Texas league.

Ira Thomas, Bush, Wyckoff and Schang agree that Rube Dressler will come back in great shape for the Athletics this season.

Elmer Smith, the youngster playing right field for the Indians, is about as timely a hitter as there is in the big leagues this year.

Bill McKechnie has been hitting the ball better in recent games, and his improvement in this direction has been pleasing to Metzger.

New Models in Separate Skirts

If the number of new models in separate skirts indicates the demand for them, the American woman continues unwaveringly loyal to a garment that her judgment has approved for years. Her loyalty appears to have grown into enthusiasm this spring. It is evident that the separate skirt flourishes since it has come within the influences that nourish sports clothes.

Light weight woolen fabrics and cottons of special weaves—including corduroys—are indicated in the styles now on display, as the fabrics that will endure throughout the spring and summer seasons for making these more than ever popular garments. Stripes, large and small checks, cross-bars and novel weaves, showing strong color contrasts in mixtures, have eclipsed plain cloths.

Stripes are handled with originality and cleverness. These and cross-bar materials are rarely cut on the straight of the goods but so managed that seams are on the diagonal. A few skirts are cut with several gores and the stripes matched in points at the seams. In spite of the prevalent fullness many of these skirts are smooth fitting about the hips, cut on a circular pattern that gives them ample width at the bottom and a full ripple below the hips.

The skirt shown above is made of a light weight woolen cloth in gray with white cross bar. The seam down the front is cut on the diagonal with bars carefully matched. Fullness is introduced at each side by two plaits and at the back by a triple boxplait. The double belt and the facing at the bottom are of the same material as the skirt.

These skirts are worn with short belted coats in a plain color and with silk or lingerie blouses.

"Sold for Marriage" New Fine Arts Play

At Lyric Wednesday. Fine Arts Production featuring Lillian Gish in "Sold for Marriage" by William E. Wing, produced by William Christy Cabanne. Synopsis for program:

Marfa	Lillian Gish
Jan	Frank Bennett
Col. Gregioff	Walter Long
Ivan, the Uncle	A. D. Sears
Anna, the Aunt	Pearl Elmore
Dimitri, the Grandfather	Curt Rehfeld
Georg, Ivan's Brother	Wm. Lowery
The American Policeman	Fred Burns
A Desperado	Bromwell
Marfa's Mother	Olga Grey
Marfa's Father	G. M. Bluff
The Undesirable Suitor	Mike Siebert

Marfa, the heroine of "Sold for Marriage," a forthcoming Triangle-Fine Arts release is very much different from the ordinary Russian peasant girl, because she has spirit and is not complacent about the drudgeries to which she is subjected by her uncle, Ivan, and her aunt, Anna. Perhaps it is because of her spirit more than her beauty that she is the belle of the village, a circumstance viewed by Ivan with some pleasure, because he sees in a way of getting some money for himself and getting Marfa off his hands. Accordingly Ivan welcomes the attention of the most eligible bachelor, though ugly and declining in years.

It so happens that the preceding winter Marfa has made the acquaintance of a handsome young Russian, named Jan, but Ivan has frowned upon growing attachment because Jan is poor. Nevertheless, Marfa fosters the friendship of Jan, and they fall in love in earnest. But a time comes when Jan receives a letter from his uncle in San Francisco, bidding him come there; and he goes, promising to send for Marfa as soon as he can make good.

Again the most eligible bachelor presses his attention upon Marfa, but she slaps his face and beats him with a bottle. And, grievously offended, he returns to his first love and marries her out of spite.

Marfa has not merely attracted attention of the young and old men of her own station in life, but also of the commandment of the Cossacks stationed nearby. This Col. Grigeoff is not so readily dismissed as the most eligible bachelor, but is disposed to use force when Marfa pushes him away. Therefore Marfa hits him over the head with the club which she has been using to pound clothes at the brookside, and knocks him unconscious.

This little piece of business is seen by Ivan, and, knowing the consequence of her act will be Siberia for the family he takes Marfa and her aunt and flees on board a ship bound for America.

They barely have gotten out of the place when Gregioff is brought to. When sufficiently recovered he goes to the little house of Marfa and demands admission. Marfa's grandfather, the only person within, admits him at the point of a revolver. But he throws the old man aside, only to be killed by a bolt of lightning at the threshold.

Aboard ship, Marfa is delighted to find Jan, also bound for America, and much to the annoyance of Ivan, who has other plans for Marfa their love increases.

Arriving in America, they are met by Ivan's brother Dimitri, who has made arrangements to sell Marfa in marriage to the highest bidder in the Los Angeles Russian colony. This plan is about to go through, with Marfa going at the price of one thousand dollars, when Jan learns of the situation. He had found that in America the police are not all tyrants, in Russia, oppressors of the poor, so to them he goes for aid. The outcome is thrilling and brings Marfa happiness at last.

Big Motion Study in "Stepping Stone"

Many Awakened to Woman Place in the World the Theme of Triangle's Latest Film Friday

The motion picture "The Stepping Stone," which is being shown at the Lyric Theatre Friday, is a study in the life of a woman who has been reading so many books in order to present a correct idea of the Russian heroine, that it confidently is expected she soon will be qualified for a Master of Arts degree.

To fully acquaint herself with the characteristics and customs of the accepted type of Russian peasant girl, the part she is to portray she has been securing the works of such celebrated Russian authors as Gorky, Turgenyev and Tolstoy. She feels that the novels give her a far truer conception of life and atmosphere of the people, because the cold statistics of an encyclopedia are wholly lacking in spirit and color.

The opening scene of "Sold for Marriage" is a study in the life of a woman who has been reading so many books in order to present a correct idea of the Russian heroine, that it confidently is expected she soon will be qualified for a Master of Arts degree.

of his mightiest themes is that of "The Stepping Stone," a new Triangle play starring Frank Keenan and Mary Boland.

It takes the biggest step so far in the amazing social revolt of the modern woman. The old idea of woman as a stepping stone for the male, has for some time been challenged by woman herself; but, despite the constantly swelling army of suffragists, her representatives have been isolated members of her sex.

Sullivan takes the attitude that the thinking man may prove instrumental in bringing that woman who has not heeded the call of her sisters to her rightful place. In his story, a man who has won his way to the top, finds the type of woman he has been seeking all his life the wife of a man who never can appreciate her; and he then and there determines to secure her for his own. The manner of his doing this constitutes a thrilling action; and hammers home the moral with real punch.

"The Stepping Stone" should prove one of the most forceful contributions to the propaganda of the modern woman.

At Lyric Friday.

Triangle Fine Arts Star becoming literary expert through "Sold for Marriage"

"Stepping Stone" May Some Day Have Dialogue

At Lyric Friday. Offers made to Producer Ince for Dramatic rights of Sullivan play.

Theatre goers may next season see "The Stepping Stone," the Triangle-Ince feature in which Frank Keenan and Mary Boland are co-starred, presented on the speaking stage. Producer Thomas H. Ince, who owns the dramatic rights has received offers from an Eastern theatrical syndicate for the work.

The play is based on an original story from the pen of C. Gardner Sullivan of the Ince staff of photoplaywrights. It is said to be unique in that the plot, which concerns the eternal triangle, is so skillfully handled that the interest always is at a high pitch. The story is based upon the efforts of a millionaire stock manipulator to win the love of the beautiful wife of a worthless young clerk who aspires to power and wealth by the "easy money" route.

The drama is said to be one which would readily lend itself to dialogue, but so ably is it acted in the film production that nothing is lost. Another unusual feature of the work is that there are but two exterior scenes in the production and these are only incidental to the story, a fact, which, it is claimed will make the silent drama the more easily adaptable to the speaking stage.

Wise Rule to Follow.

A little less criticism of others and more thorough criticism of ourselves would have a tendency to make us lenient to and sympathetic with the faults and follies of others.—The Observer

FAST SPEED BIG DRIVE EXPENDED

SLACKENING ALL ALONG MAIN BATTLE FRONTS

London, Aug. 4.—The armies in the three great centers of recent activity—the Somme region of France, Russia and Galicia—evidently have let up considerably in the violent fighting in which they have been engaged and are indulging in a breathing spell preparatory to further attacks and counter attacks.

Attacking in echelon on a three-mile line, from the Meuse River to Fleury, north of Verdun, the French have captured several German trenches, and organized ports of support. In the engagement 600 Germans were made prisoner and ten machine guns were captured.

In the Russian front Petrograd reports merely artillery duels and infantry attacks on the Stokhod and Turak river fronts and of local Russian offensives on the Dnieper River in Galicia, all of which were repulsed.

At the Austrians against the Italians at various points in the Alpine region, Monte Sella, Monte Corno, and Monte S. Angelo have been taken by the Italians, resulting in the capture of 1,000 Austrians.

The Austrians have captured a number of Italian aeroplanes and a number of the machines of the Italian army. An official report issued says:

A number of airships crossed the border of the eastern countries during the night. Their objectives are not yet ascertained. The first of these was seen at 10:30 p. m.

A report received from the Belgian and Serbia front, that Belgium and Serbia are not only politically, nationally and diplomatically, but materially and economically to the positions in which they stood before the war.

The government, under the Premier was in consultation with labor representatives with a view to the formulation of an after-war policy in social and industrial matters intended to secure a fairer distribution among all classes of the results of modern industry.

Mr. Wallace V. Wheeler died at his home at Elder Springs on the Sanford Orlando road Wednesday afternoon, August 1, 1916. His remains were taken by his son, Wallace V. Wheeler, Jr., and his brother, C. C. Wheeler, to Louisville, Kentucky, his former home for interment in Cave Hill Cemetery.

The deceased was born in Jefferson county, Kentucky, near Jefferson town, September 11, 1861. He was married on October 30, 1893, to Miss Cora Blakemore, of Franklin county, Ky. One child, a son, Wallace V. Jr., was born of this marriage and now survives him. His wife died a number of years ago. Two brothers survive him, C. C. Wheeler and W. C. Wheeler of Louisville, Ky. His mother-in-law, Mrs. Blakemore and his son made their home with him here.

Mr. Wheeler had been a successful business man. His home had been in Louisville, his family there being prominent in business and social life, but ill health caused him to come to Florida a few years ago and to remain here until his death.

He was a man of the highest integrity. His life was singularly pure, and in every relation of life he measured up to the highest ideals of duty and Christian citizenship. His every acquaintance was a friend. Many in this state and in Kentucky will mourn his loss. In strictest truth it may be said that the world is better because of his having lived in it.

DENTSCHLAND SLIPS OUT OF BALTIMORE

NOW TAKING CHANCES OF CAPTURE ON THE HIGH SEAS

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 4.—The German merchant ship, the Dentschland, last night slipped out of the Virginia harbor, and is now taking chances of capture on the high seas.

It is reported that the ship was seen by a British patrol vessel in the North Atlantic, and that it was being pursued by a British submarine.

The Dentschland is a large merchant ship, and is believed to be carrying a large quantity of supplies for the German army.

2ND CHOICE IS ATTACKED IN COURT

CATTS ATTORNEYS SAY SECOND COUNT IS UNFAIR

Tallahassee, Fla., Aug. 3.—Arguments of counsel for W. V. Knott and Sidney J. Catts on the question of recounting certain precincts in Duval and Putnam counties where the inspectors have refused to make the recount on the ground that they are not compelled by the law to do what they call this extra work were heard in supreme court this week.

Two new points were raised in counsel for Catts, one of them being an attack on the primary law and the other an attack on Knott's eligibility as a candidate for governor while still holding the office of comptroller.

It was urged that the second choice feature of the law does not give all voters equal standing at the polls. It was claimed that a man who voted first choice for Knott and second choice for Catts would be counted for Knott.

CASEMENT SUFFERED PENALTY

BRITISH GOVERNMENT DETERMINED TO KILL HIM

London, Aug. 4.—Sir Roger Case-ment was executed in the Pentonville prison at 9 o'clock yesterday morning for high treason. Lord Robert Cecil, Minister of War Trade made known to the Associated Press that it was the British Government's determination not to reprieve Sir Roger.

Beyond the statement of Sir Robert, which was in defense of the Government's determination, no formal announcement to the effect that the execution was carried has been made public. Officials intimated to the Associated Press, however, that the usual procedure as a sentence on a convict carries with it the natural supposition of execution, the only case for an official announcement being the granting of a reprieve or a commutation of sentence.

While the Government maintains silence as to the final efforts made on behalf of Sir Roger, it is known that petitions for his pardon were received from the State Department at Washington requesting clemency.

The whole subject surrounding Sir Roger's case has been the subject of much discussion in the House of Commons. The Government's determination to execute Sir Roger has been the subject of much discussion in the House of Commons.

than were the leaders of the rising who were caught with their arms in their hands. He visited military prisons in Germany with the intention of persuading Irish soldiers to throw off their allegiance. All sorts of promises were made for the improvement of the condition of these men to induce them to join the Irish Legion. An enormous majority thus approached refused and thereafter were subjected to increased hardships by the Germans.

TRAINMEN WILL STRIKE IS OPINION

RAILROADS WILL BE ASKED ONCE MORE TO DECIDE

New York, Aug. 4.—A committee of fifty men today continued the counting of the strike vote cast by 400,000 employes on 225 railroad systems in the United States. Timothy Shea, who is in charge of the counting, said he believed the vote will be almost unanimous to quit work if the railway officials persisted in their refusal to grant the demands of the men for an eight hour day and a time and a half for overtime.

The counters have finished the counting of the vote in the eastern territory. They will then take up the western vote. When the final result is known a mass meeting will be held to explain the controversy to the 600 chairmen of the adjustment committee of the four brotherhoods of railway workers, who have brought the ballot here to be counted.

A meeting of the national conference committee of the railways will be held here next Tuesday to make another attempt to settle the differences between the railways and the men.

When the complete vote has been counted, probably tomorrow or Monday, the railway men will be asked to make another attempt to settle the differences between the railways and the men.
