HUEY WINS ANOTHER ELECTION

Senator Huey P. Long (standing), the "Kingfish" of Louisiana politics, has won another election. His candidate, Lieut. Gov. John B. Fournet (seated) defeated District Judge Thomas V. Porter to take Charles for the state supreme court by more than 4,000 votes. Porter is a better foe of Long. The election, an "extra" one, was ordered by Long after his candidate in the September primary died. (Associated Press Photo)

TULANE BEATS GEORGIA, 7 TO 6, IN BITTER BATTLE

In a bruising battle at New Orleans the Green Wave of Tulane eked out a 7 to 6 victory over the Georgia Bulldogs to keep its record clean in the Southeastern conference. Here "Monk" Simons, Tulane's great halfback, is shown on his 35-yard off-tackle dash which scored his team's only touchdown. The Georgia eleven scored in the fourth period but failed to add the extra point which would have given it a tie. (Associated Press Photo)

U. S. TO PURCHASE 5,000,000 ACRES OF FARM LANDS

Property To Be Used By Families Taken From Crowded Area

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—(AP)—About 5,000,000 acres of sub-marginal farm land are destined by the powers-that-be, to be taken back in the public domain, before the close of the year.

They indicated these projects were in addition to the 1,000,000 acres which Harry L. Hopkins, the Relief administrator, last week reported already purchased or under contract.

All sub-marginal land projects approved by the land-policy section of the AAA for purchase by the surplus relief corporation are separate from ordinary land purchases for national parks, Indian reservations, wild life restoration and forestry, although some of the sub-marginal tracts will be used for such purposes.

Purchases to date are being made out of the original $25,000,000 fund allotted by President Roosevelt almost a year ago. An additional $30,000,000 was set aside in the $325,000,000 growth relief appropriation of last May for land purchases, but the legality of using Relief money for such land-buying has been questioned in some official circles.

Ally Accused

close of the present fiscal year, or revert to the treasury. At the present spending speed, however, indications were that the projects would be completed prior to that date.

Land bought or optioned so far has cost the government about $5 an acre. Officials of the AAA believe, however, that this average will increase as projects are completed near industrial centers or on land having scenic or recreational value. A tentative limit of $10 per acre has been set.

Less difficulty in persuading people to move from sub-marginal land has been experienced than had been expected, Administration officials said. Options are being obtained from at least 60 percent of the land holders within the boundaries of a

STEADY DECLINE IN NEW DEAL IS SEEN IN SURVEY

Literary Digest Poll Shows 17 States Now In Opposition

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—A steady decline in the popularity of President Roosevelt's "New Deal" recovery policies is shown in the latest national "re-check" poll taken by the Literary Digest, a vantage report of this week's issue indicated last night.

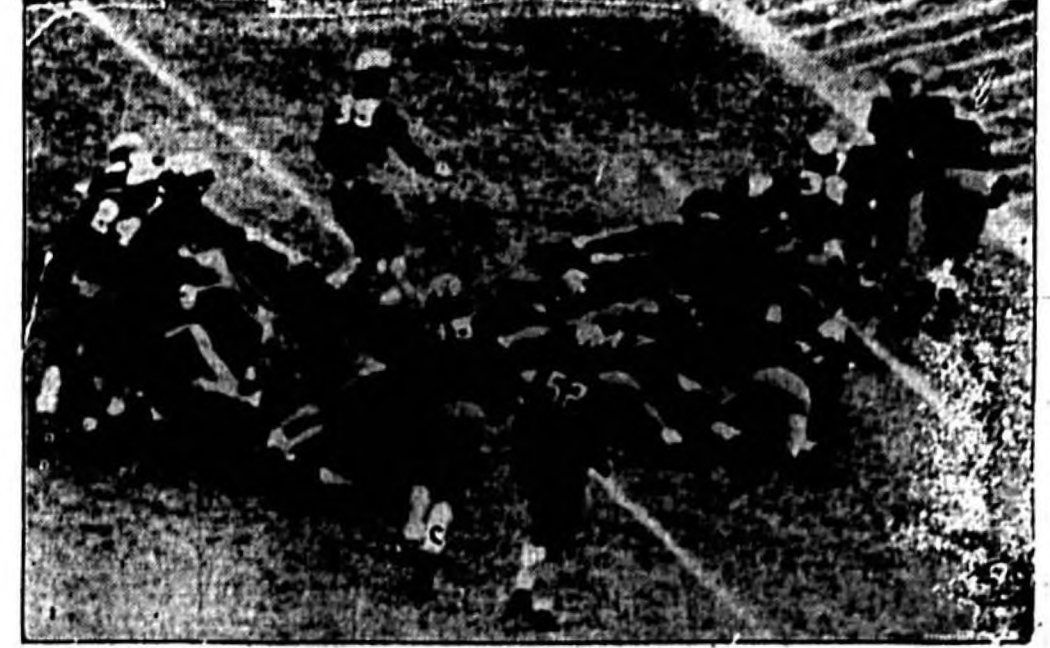

The re-check covered 65,000 ballots sent out to a list of names in all parts of the country. The identical list to which the ballots were sent in a previous national poll last spring.

The second vote now tabulated showed 17 states now vote a majority opposed to Roosevelt's acts and policies, while the percentage in favor dropped from 69.03 percent to 59.91 percent in the interim before purchases are made.

"The chief difficulty now is in finding the right balance between the families on sub-marginal acres," one AAA official declared.

"The Federal Relief Administration offers aid in resettling such families and many are taking advantage of the advice and loans available. However, a great many have their own plans ready when the government buys the land."

ALABAMA BEATS TENNESSEE TO KEEP SLATE CLEAN

vening months. The first poll was taken in March and April, and gave the President a good margin of support in all but one state, Delaware, the only one then to vote against the New Deal. The second re-check poll showed enough states definitely opposed to the President to elect a combined total of congressmen equal to nearly half the membership of the House of Representatives.

Five states showed an increase in sentiment in support of the President's Acts over the vote in the earlier poll, namely, Delaware, Montana, Nevada, North Carolina, and Utah, the vote in Delaware this time being exactly 50-50, the magazine reported.

The 17 states are voting against the New Deal are Arizona, Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Vermont and Wyoming.

The District of Columbia likewise registered a "no" majority. Rhode Island registered the largest decrease in "yes" votes the percentage there declining from 72.41 to 42.39 in six months.

The question put to the 65,000 selected names to whom ballots were sent was merely whether they approved "on the whole" of the Roosevelt Administration's Acts and policies to date.
