the floor and six other moles followed carrying steaming silver dishes. They spread a table and pulled up two chairs: one dainty chair for Helga and the big walnut one for the fox.

He uncovered the silver dishes.
There were creamed mushrooms no bigger than cranberries for Helga. There were tiny, stuffed tomatoes no bigger than your thumb-nail; hot rolls the size of a pearl, and last of all, tiny strawberries, just a doll's size.

"Now cat, and be happy," said
the fox,

"Now cat, and be happy," said the fox.

"In my home." said the fox.

"Is apped three times on the floor with his fore paw. A little door opened at his feet and up aome ateps walked two neat black moles with little white aprons tied about them.

"Dinner," said the white fox.

"Yer, air," said the moles and went back down the steps below the floor. The white fox went over to a carved walnut chair which stood by a tiny, glass bush that grew right up out of the floor. He tweaked the top leaf and suddenly the room was filled.

"Now cat, and be happy," said the fox.

Ite was strange. waan't he?

Usually foxes like to play with other foxes. But not this one.

As Santa said, he had atolen two dolls before he ran off with Helgn.

You see, he was the greatest white fox of the North, He could see farther than any other fox.

He had sharper, whiter teeth and bigger, blacker eyes that could see farther than any other fox.

So all the other foxes, and even the bears and the reindeers, feared him and walked the other way when they saw him.

And he was known as such a very cruel white fox the fox.

voted to pay Mr. Koontz $15 per month as caretaker for the Blg Tree.

A copy of the revised hospital project was ordered filed also the annual reports of the Clerk O. P. Herndon and Seminole County Home Demonstration Agent, Mrs. Gladys Kendall.

J. T. Koonts called the Board's attention to the need for additional drainage at the Big Tree and the matter was referred to Commissioner W. B. Ballard for Claude Peters.

"How lovely," said Helga.

In a few minutes the black temoved by rubbing them with moles came back up the stairs in the floor and six other moles folstains with alcohol.

NYA Regulations apartments. Parts of western Pennsylvania Are Broadened, Goodspeed Says sero in many rural sections.

Many needy youths in Seminole County and throughout the entire state will be glad to know that the former regulations governing election for NYA work have been broadened to include hundreds who up to this time have not been able to qualify for the work even though they may have needed it hadly, R. A. Goodspeed, local NYA advisor, said today.

Formerly only those young people between the ages of 18 and 25 who were members of WPA families or families receiving commodition or other public againlance were aligible for the NYA mployment.

A recent ruling, however, broadens the grounds for certification and in addition to the former groups any young men and women of families below subsistance standards may now be certified for the training, work experience, and wages that the NYA supplies, the local NYA Advisor stated-

Large numbers of vacancies on the NYA projects were occasioned by the boys and girls returning to achools this fall, so work opportunities are open to those who are interested and can qualify under this new ruling, Mr. Goodspestated, adding that those who wished to obtain additional information sensull him at his office at 111 Palmette Avenue,

The Relative Value Of News

People who wonder why it is that when someone class makes a speech at a luncheon club, it gets on the front page under a big headline, but when they make a speech there it is buried on an inside page of the paper or perhaps is left out altogether, or that when the other fellow gets arrested for speeding it is published in a scarcely noticeable item far down the page, but when they get ar-rested for the same offense, it is apparently big news, should remember that all things are relative.

There are dull days in the newspaper business just here are dull days in other lines of commercial activi There are days when the reporter feels like going out a kicking a policemen in the pants just to get a front pa story, and there are days when so many other people ha the day and couldn't find any place to put it if he did. On such a day the sewing circle is bound to be relegated to a position of secondary importance.

Anyone can readily understand that the announcement of the proposed construction of a $500,000 hotel I Sanford would be news of the highest order. It would rate a blazing headline clear across the top of the front page. And if we should happen to put such a story on an inside page, or under an insignificant headline, people would wonder what was the matter with us. And yet it is would wonder what was the matter with us. And yet it is quite conceivable that such a story under certain circumstances would have to be handled in just such a manner.

For instance, suppose the hotel story snould break on the same day that the Governor of Florida was killed in an automobile accident. Naturally the hotel story would be dropped to second importance. Then suppose that just as you were about to close up your front page the news came in that Charles Lindbergh had announced his candidacy for the presidency of the United States. Well, that would certainly have to go ahead of the hotel story. And then suppose just as you were about to so, to press, the news was fissing fround the world that France had declared war on Germany!

Well, that would be a big day for news, but such things sometimes happen, and when they do your hotel story is apt to wind up on an inside page even though you had a front page streamer on it in the first place. So you had a front page streamer on it in the first place. So Kay, distinguished Jacksonville But considerin' the if you want to get a good position on some local story in which you are particularly interested, make sure it breaks on a day when there isn't much else doing.

THE STORY SO PAR: While Santa's Toyland is in an uproar because the white fox has stolen Helga, a doll, for his Christmas gift, she arrives at his den on the top of a mountain. Chapter 10

ACT IN THE PERSON

Very, Very Sad Santa called a meeting in the toyshop the minute he heard that Helga had been taken off the white fox. The tin soldier anop to find the tin soldiers waking up all the dolls and fairies.

"What's happened?" demanded Santa, and Mrs. Santa, running after him, said, "I'll bet it's that for."

"So it is," said the soldiers. ns eye, pulled on his big red rousers and dashed out into the hop to find the tin soldiers wak-

Pole come hurrying.

The moon came rushing across the sky with the North Wind behind carrying the North Star in one big, misty arm. A sedate, green fairy dropped from a Christmas tree and a little, glistening lady jumped out of the snow. These were the Woods Fairy and the Snow Fairy.

Santa told them what had happened, and asked, "What do you augest?"

Illing to give."
Bishop Wing held the audience in rapt attention as he stressed clearly and interestingly the great principle of freedom and liberty ortunate we are in this country that our theory of government is far in advance of other countries of the world in opportunity.

He stated that likewise the Episcopal Church, holding the same theory within the Church's jurisdiction, allows freedom of thought and action; something more to be desired than regid afficiency; which, he said, stifles individual development. He also individual development. He also pointed out that this freedom and liberty carried with it its propor-tion of responsibility for right-equaness and spiritual progress-

Another part of the program Another part of the program was under the direction of the Young People's League. A playlet coached by Miss Phyliss Smith entitled "Love Came Down at Christmas" was presented by Miss Dorothy Stewart, Rose Merchant. Mary McRory, Joyce King, who of America, is requested today and Arthur Berner. and Arthur Branan, Jr. A reading by Nell Stewart, and a violin solo by Doris Jackson accompanied at the piano by her mother rounded out the program.
