Not Sipping May Be No Defense For Booze Offense

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Persons caught by the police in Sanford with an open beer can or liquor bottle in their possession in public or on public property after Sept. 26 could be fined $500 or spend six months in jail.

The Sanford City Commission, at the request of the police department, last night voted to expand its law on drinking in public to include possession. Previously police had to observe a person actually drinking the alcoholic beverage.

The amended law is slated for final adoption after a public hearing in two weeks.

Commissioner David Farr said the action will give the city police department an ordinance "with teeth in it."

City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles explained that the police department has encountered problems in recent months of crowds gathering for their own private beer and liquor parties outside stores in the city.

When the police tried to break up the crowds they found that for successful prosecution officers had to have seen persons actually consuming the beverages.

Knowles warned the proposed new law would permit prosecution if a person had an open can of beer or an open bottle or any alcoholic beverage in his possession on the streets or on any public property.

He added this includes motorists who are driving with an open beverage container in their vehicles.

City Attorney Bill Colbert said the maximum penalty for violating the ordinance is a $500 fine and/or six months imprisonment.

Colbert said while a state law may be in effect banning the possession of open containers of alcoholic beverages in public places and there is certainly a law forbidding motorists from driving with open containers in their vehicles, Sanford police find it easier and prefer to enforce a city ordinance over a state law.

Mayfair Neighbors Beat Back Rezoning

More than 25 residents of the Mayfair area in Sanford beat back an attempt to rezone three lots in their neighborhood to an apartment district.

The rezoning requested by Mary C. McGuire was for lots fronting on Mellonville Avenue and E. 4th Street. The city's planning and zoning commission recommended the request be denied.

After a public hearing Monday night, the Sanford City Commission voted unanimously to deny the rezoning.

Ms. McGuire was not present at the meeting and no one else spoke in favor of the request.

At Mayor Lee P. Moore's suggestion that the group choose spokesmen to voice their concerns, Bob Daehn of 114 N. Shirley Ave. outside the city, Edward Yokley, 102 N. Elliott, and Doreen Freeman, Mayfair, presented the opposing arguments.

Daehn, a long time area resident and former member of the Seminole County Planning and Zoning Commission, warned that downgrading the single family home residential zoning would in time create a slum near the downtown section.

He said the city should acknowledge that the Mayfair section has been a single family neighborhood for many years. "If someone wants to build an apartment complex, there is plenty of vacant agriculturally-zoned land to do so on," Daehn said.

Yokley called the request to rezone three lots "spot zoning."

"We've got to protect ourselves from raw muscle and greed unchecked by human decency," Yokley said. She said elderly residents in the city have a "blind trust" in the city commission and the county commission to protect them.

She urged the commission to use good judgment in guiding "the city through the biggest mushroom of expansion ever seen" in Sanford. "I urge, beg and plead if you don't have an ordinance against spot zoning to adopt one," Yokley said.

Mrs. Freeman, saying she is a 14-year resident of the city, stated that Mayfair has been a single family residential area for a very long time. "It's a beautiful area," she said.

Yokley also complained about the $1 per sheet charge for copies of city documents.

Restaurant Chain Taps Sanford For Headquarters

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Plans are underway for a Michigan-based restaurant chain to build a $6 million plant on Silver Lake Road in Sanford, adjacent to Rush-Hampton Industries.

Billed as the mystery industry for many months, the food processing plant and distribution center is to be constructed on property that was part of the Thomas McDonald trust.

Final approval of a $6 million industrial bond issue for the facility will be considered by the Seminole County Commission at a public hearing Sept. 28.

The plant, expected to provide 200 jobs for local residents, will be the main office of the planned Bill Knapp's Florida chain of restaurants. The chain expects to begin its Florida operation with four restaurants and to ultimately expand to 50 restaurants statewide.

Bill Knapp's Florida is currently looking for sites for those initial restaurants. Jim Easton, assistant county administrator, said today. Each of the restaurants will employ another 70 persons.

The Sanford plant will process baked goods, meats and seafood for the Florida restaurant chain, which like the company's restaurants in other states will be entirely owner-operated and not franchised operations.

Construction of the food processing plant, wholesale distribution center and business offices are scheduled for completion within one year after construction starts. Company officials expect to start construction before the end of 1983.

Easton said the firm plans to retain its corporate headquarters in Battle Creek, Mich., where it has been in business since 1948. It has 51 restaurants operating in Michigan, Indiana, Ohio and Illinois, employing 3,300 persons. The company recorded total sales of $60 million last year.

Easton said company officials advertise the restaurants as family oriented and no alcoholic beverages are sold.

Bill Knapp's Florida is to use the industrial revenue bond money to construct a 92,000 square-foot facility to house not only the food processing plant, but also a wholesale distribution center and offices.

McDonald, meanwhile, has deeded to the city of Sanford a piece of adjacent property where the city plans to build a water storage facility to boost its ability to provide water in the industrial area.

The tract where the plant will be located encompasses 12 acres.

McDonald declined today to reveal the sale price for the parcel. The total McDonald trust property has about 120 acres left for industrial development.

Bill Knapp's Michigan contacted the Mid Florida Industrial Development Commission seeking assistance with finding a Florida site for its new operation. Easton said, and the commission convinced them to locate in Central Florida and ultimately in Sanford.

Easton said officials of the Michigan firm said they wanted to go into business in Florida because it is considered one of the best markets in the nation for food operations.

The Orlando based development commission is paid a fee annually from the Seminole County Commission budget to interest industries in locating here.

Lone Critic Attacks Sanford Budget TODAY

A Hidden Lake resident criticized aspects of the Sanford city government, ranging from city hall, which she called an "architecture nightmare," to the proposed 3.5 percent planned pay raise for city employees at Sanford's first public hearing on a proposed $9.225 million budget for fiscal 1983-84.

Mrs. Mary Tumin, 306 Loch Low Drive, was the only citizen to protest the budget given the Sanford City Commission's preliminary approval Monday night.

The budget calls for a tax rate of $4.07 per $1,000 assessed valuation of real property, a 30 cents per $1,000 reduction over the current year's $4.37.

A second public hearing on the budget is scheduled for Sept. 26 at 7 p.m. before final adoption. The new fiscal year begins Oct. 1.

After Monday night's meeting, City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles said some of the information Mrs. Tumin gave in her prepared statement was erroneous and he was prepared to point that out, but he was not called upon to do so.

Neither did any of the five city commissioners respond to Mrs. Tumin's criticisms.

She began her prepared statement by objecting to the per capita expenditures proposed in the city's proposed budget, saying Sanford leads its sister cities in the county in spending in every category except sewer service.

She said although Sanford has the highest police department budget among Seminole's seven municipalities, it does not provide the two police officers per 1,000 population, the level considered "ideal" by most law enforcement agencies, while some other cities do.

Insisting the Hidden Lake recreation area is being ignored, she said the need for the facility is "clearly visible," and the city should spend money it has received from a developer in Hidden Lake to make improvements.

Funds should be allocated for personnel and grass cutting machinery under public works to maintain city-owned rights-of-way. Mrs. Tumin said, adding a 3.5 percent pay raise for city employees "is not adequate when the cost of living increased about 7 percent."

A breakdown of that portion of the budget for general operations shows anticipated revenues and expenditures of $5,939,814 while the refuse division budget totals $784,422 and utility operation $2,501,098.

The federal revenue sharing budget shows the entire $365,518 being transferred into the general fund for police officers' salaries.

Included within the budget is a $777,851 capital improvements plan for the 1983-84 fiscal year beginning Oct. 1. That money will be used in part to replace some garbage trucks, acquire a new street sweeper, downtown development, and an elevated water tank.

Libraries

Nod To Bond Issue Firms Expansion Timetable

By Michael Beha
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County commissioners have given the go-ahead to issue $7 million in library bonds to construct four new libraries and expand an existing one within the next five years.

Commissioners voted 3-2 today to issue the bonds for 15 years. That would cost the county about $925,000 annually or $13.2 million over the course of the 15-year bond issue.

Commissioners Bill Kirchhoff, Sandra Glenn and Robert G. "Bud" Feather voted for the 15-year bond issue while commissioners Barbara Christensen and Robert Sturm said they support a 10-year issue because it would save the county money. A 10-year payback would cost the county about $1,071,000 per year or about $1.7 million for the whole 10 years.

Mrs. Christensen and Sturm said the 10-year bond issue would save the county nearly $3 million over the 15-year issue. Sturm said because the county plans to build an addition at the courthouse and an administrative building at the Five Points complex, the $3 million savings on interest payments will be important.

But the short term effect would be higher property taxes and a burden on other areas of county spending, said Kirchhoff. The tax rate on a 10-year bond issue would be 31 cents per $1,000 assessed value, according to county figures. A 15-year bond issue would carry a tax rate of 26 cents per $1,000 valuation.

"Fifteen years is a reasonable time to pay it back. If you're paying it back in a shorter time it puts a burden on other things. In 15 years the building program will be done."

Feather, who has voted against the library bond issue at every opportunity, voted for the 15-year issue today because he said it would hurt the taxpayers less than the 10-year issue.

But he warned that commissioners will have to cut spending in other areas next year to compensate for the library tax.

"If there is an increase in the millage rate next year I won't vote for the budget," he said.

Ultimately it may be the bond rating houses in New York which make the decision on the length of the bond issue, commissioners said. Commissioners want the best bond rating possible for a lower interest rate and to encourage sales of the bonds. However a 10-year issue will generally have a higher rating than a 15-year issue, said bond counsel Stuart Hardman. If the rating on a 15-year issue is not as good as expected, a 10-year issue would be acceptable, Kirchhoff said.

According to the timetable issued by Hardman, a request for validation of the bond issue will be filed this week in Seminole Circuit Court. A validation hearing should be held early in October and a meeting with officials from the rating agencies should be held in early November.

The bonds could be ready for the market by the middle of December, Hardman said, but a more likely date is mid-January.

The bond issue was approved by Seminole County voters last October but validation was delayed while commissioners tried to sort out their 1982-83 budget.

For months Commissioner Feather was outspoken in his opposition to the bond issue because he said the county won't have the funds to stock, staff or maintain the libraries after they are built. He said the libraries would be "impossible."

Now that commissioners have approved issuing the bonds, work to purchase and develop sites for the libraries can begin, said County Librarian Jean Rhein.

Work on a 6,000-square-foot expansion of the Sanford branch library should begin next month with advertising for an architect to design the expansion, she said.

The expansion itself is expected to be finished by March, 1985. Construction of a branch library in the Forest City-Wekiva area is projected for Aug., 1985; an Oviedo-Tuskawilla branch, Aug., 1986; the new Casselberry main library, Sept., 1987 and a Lake Mary branch, July, 1988.

Transition
Israel Readies Itself For A New Government

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — An agreement to form a new government led by Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir cleared the way today for Menachem Begin's formal resignation as prime minister.

Menachem Begin Yitzhak Shamir
...transfer of power appears imminent

Begin's spokesman, Uri Porat, said no date had been set for the prime minister to give his letter of resignation to President Chaim Herzog.

Porat said, however, that Begin's bad cold and orders from his doctor to rest for a few days would not prevent the prime minister from meeting with the president.

Begin, 70, announced two weeks ago that he was stepping down for personal reasons that many Israelis believe were linked to his poor health and gloomy mood following the death of his wife, Aliza.

Faced with an agreement signed by six partners in the government's ruling Likud coalition and their continued parliamentary majority, Herzog is expected to ask Shamir to form the country's next administration.

The Likud coalition leaders signed the accord in Begin's Jerusalem office, ending two weeks of negotiations on forming a new government. Begin did not attend the signing ceremony or deliberations.

Begin, 70, announced two weeks ago that he was stepping down for personal reasons that many Israelis believe were linked to his poor health and gloomy mood following the death of his wife, Aliza.

Unless he takes a leave of absence, Begin will remain as caretaker prime minister until the Knesset, Israel's parliament, approves the new government.

Shamir, the Likud coalition's candidate to replace Begin as prime minister, said he would invite the opposition Labor Party to join a national unity government. If Labor refuses, all government ministers would retain their present posts, he said.

Woman With Laxative Addiction Wants Help

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am 23 years old and I am addicted to Dulcolax as a laxative. It all started when I began dieting and became very constipated. My doctor suggested that I take a laxative. Now I average around 10 pills a week. I lost my weight but I have a fear of gaining it back so every time I eat too much I down a few pills.

Dr. Lamb

For the past two years I have not had a normal bowel movement. I am extremely active and exercise all the time. I have tried bran and prune juice but this just causes severe cramping along with a bloated stomach.

I'm really concerned about this condition, especially since my husband and I want to have a baby soon. Will this cause problems with my pregnancy? This is urgent because I may already be pregnant.

DEAR READER - You owe it to your doctor and yourself to tell him about your habit. Your use of laxatives every time you think you have eaten too much smacks of a person with anorexia nervosa - a dangerous preoccupation with being too thin.

Dulcolax is supposed to have only a local effect on the colon and is not absorbed. In that case it will not cause any chemical action in your body or the baby's body. Nevertheless, the colonic contractions that are stimulated by the Dulcolax may affect your ability to have a quiet uterus and to avoid induced uterine contractions. An occasional Dulcolax is one thing but the usage you describe is far too much.

And you might be able to train yourself to have normal bowel reflexes with a regular movement each morning. Bran does cause some people to have gas. You might do better with a bulk laxative such as Metamucil. And you will have to wait awhile to let your colon regain normal responses after you quit using Dulcolax. Many people get into the laxative habit. It's a trap. I have discussed the problem in The Health Letter 12-8, Laxatives, Enemas and Suppositories, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I would like to know the pros and cons of drinking distilled water as opposed to normal tap water. Is it dangerous to your health to remove all the minerals from the water, even though some are toxic in many ways?

DEAR READER - If it is really pure distilled water that has been collected and kept under sterile conditions there is no way it can be beat. Remember that much of the world uses distilled water delivered in large bottles to homes on a daily basis.

There are valuable minerals in some water. There have been studies that suggested that people who drank hard water were less likely to have heart attacks than people who drank naturally soft water. But that was always a controversial study.

Now you should not rely on water for nutrition. If you eat a balanced diet you will get enough minerals. If you drink distilled water, there could be some concern about the loss of the protective effects of fluoride against dental cavities or fluoride's protective action against osteoporosis (dissolving bones).

YOUR BIRTHDAY

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're still under favorable aspects concerning your financial needs. Give them priority, but also allocate time for pleasure.

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby The North-South hands and the bidding are the same as yesterday's, but trumps have been changed to break 3-0. The slam still makes, but South must be careful. However, let's discuss South's bidding first.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Table with columns for NORTH, WEST, EAST, SOUTH, Dealer, and Opening lead. Includes card symbols and scores.

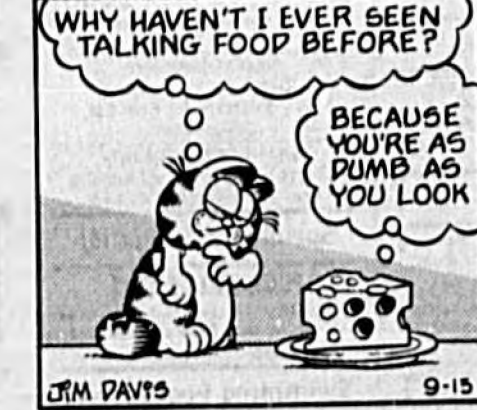

South is going at least to game after the spade raise. His three-diamond bid is a force and, in accordance with West Coast style (Mike Lawrence lives in California), tells partner that he wants diamond help. North goes to just three spades, but South makes a four-heart slam try. North bids five hearts to show his heart king and a maximum for his previous bidding. South bids the spade slam.

He ruffs West's king of clubs at trick one and plays his spade ace. East shows out, and South has an immediate problem. He can't draw trumps and still ruff out two of his potential diamond losers.

Should he lay down the diamond ace to guard against a singleton king in the West hand? Should he go to dummy to take a diamond finesse and guard against finding East with all seven diamonds?

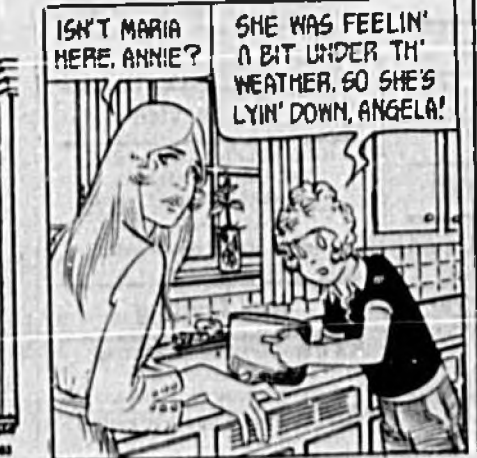

A rubber bridge player should avoid the finesse. A match point player should take it. Either way the slam will make because dummy's K-9 of spades are in back of West's J-8.
