Altamonte Takes Elementary Unit

By RAY KNIGHT

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Tuesday's council meeting saw Altamonte Elementary School annexed to the city, on a motion by Councilman Helen Keyser, with a unanimous vote. In the discussion, Mayor Lawrence Swofford explained that the school will connect into the water and sewer service, according to the City Charter. The State Board of Health will specify it also.

By JOHN A. SPOLSKI

It was bound to happen, after displaying that photo of the Sanford airport barracks being burned. Complaints from two areas of thought... about pollution and "why didn't they try to sell it or give it some needy families?"

The city did try to "give 'em away," but ran into the usual red tape of having the contractors who were interested put up bonding, insurance, etc., where the costs ate-up any profit from salvage rights.

Secondly, on pollution... I just don't have an answer. Those old "shacks" just had to go. The city did their part... how else would you have handled it?

A mother called me this a.m. about her son presently serving in Nam... said something I'd like to share with you: "Mom, if I have to die, I know I'll go to Heaven... cause I'm surely in Hell right now!"

And the other caller who referred to our Calley petition... the last line said, "God Bless America."

The gentleman said it ought to have said God Bless This Earth. Why should we be greedy in our requests? He has a point... he has a point.

FLASH... a London clothing designer just introduced his newest line of woman's apparel... A Bra which is called a "Booby Trap"...

Sorta makes one wonder... I mean about a reported body in the St. Johns River, and yet no one to my knowledge has shown any interest in same.

Closest to that came on a call from a Sanford resident about a missing relative from upstate New York... thinking that possibly this could be one and the same.

And yet... out of all the people... only the curiosity-seekers express an interest... Did I get you wondering?

From the Mailbag: "Since I've got the infernal (SIC) Revenue in the mail, and I have a stamp left, I may as well pass a little humor on to you."

Somehow I find it very difficult to laugh or find anything funny about paying taxes. Of course I don't really mind... it's each of our duties and responsibility; however, when those elected, indiscriminately pour it down into any convenient rat-hole... that's what "bugs" me.

On the city's part, Swofford suggested the connection fee be reduced for this school to half. Councilman Daniel Dorfman suggested it be kept high enough to recover actual out-of-pocket costs to the city. This found ready agreement.

At this point, Mayor Swofford noted that the parochial school of St. Mary Magdalen is due the same consideration, since it is performing the same service to the community, at no tax cost to the rest of the community.

In the same vein of generosity to the community, Mrs. Keyser laid her salary increase surplus ($775 a month — which she had voted against) on the line to help defray the costs of improving the Altamonte Community Building.

Supt. Don Bundy provided cost estimates for installing a drop-ceiling, insulating and air conditioning the building. On a motion from Thomas Radloff, seconded by Mrs. Keyser, it was decided to take it one step at a time, advertising for bids. Ceiling and insulation will be first.

School Compliance Is Noted

Seminole County Meets High Edict

By BILL SCOTT

The landmark U.S. Supreme Court decision rendered Tuesday relates to three specific school districts and does not relate to Seminole County.

This was the opinion of Douglas Stenstrom, School Board attorney, based on first accounts of the high court's decision.

Stenstrom said, "We have a unitary school system here under the order of Orlando District U.S. Court Judge George Young, which became effective August 1970."

Asked about the situation affecting Midway Elementary School, which is located in a predominantly black community and contains only a sprinkling of white students, Stenstrom said, "Midway may not be a problem but we'll have to wait to get the full decision."

Two New Things

He added, the court said two new things in its decision: The existence of some schools mostly of one race does not necessarily mean there is not a unitary school system.

"The decision on busing is bad as far as the three involved counties, but there is an indication the Supreme Court for the first time has indicated you could have either an all-black or all-white school and still have a unitary system and that you do not have to have in each school a percentage of black and white faculty and students," the attorney added.

Andrew Bracken, school administrative aide, who assisted in the drawing up of the acceptable Seminole County desegregation plan, said today the new ruling would have no effect on the county, since schools here have been paired, zoned and pupils have been bused.

"We have done all we were required to do by the court," added Bracken.

Possible Problems

However, he admitted that the only area of possible problems might be at Midway, which is a black community school with only a few whites who live in the affected attendance area.

Tuesday afternoon, the School Board redrew some South Seminole attendance zones to place pupils in the new Forest City Elementary School, which will open in September.

With a capacity of 660 students, some students have been shifted from overcrowded condition at Bear Lake, Spring Lake and Altamonte Elementary Schools to the new facility.

These shifts will affect areas like Sleepy Hollow, Sanlando Springs, Mobile Manor, Oakland Hills, Rolling Hills and etc., but this does not involve any racial implications, and anticipated no difficulties with the federal government since the new school must have pupils.

RICHARD Jay Payne, a ninth grade student at Crooms High School in Sanford, has been sponsored by Senator Kenneth Plante to serve as a Messenger in the Senate. His term of service will be during the week of May 24. Payne is the son of John D. Payne, 376 Pinetree Lane, Lake Mary.

DET. PAUL WHITLEY... on the scene

Mellonville Resident Held In Wife's Murder

A 37-year-old retired Sanford man has been charged with first degree murder in the shooting death early today of his 33-year-old wife.

Det. Paul Whitley said today that Peter D. Owens, 1690 Mellonville Avenue, was charged in the death of Winifred Tyson Owens, his wife, who was found on arrival at Seminole Memorial Hospital at approximately 2 a. m. today.

Whitley said the woman was shot by a .32 caliber pistol but declined to release any further information about the killing, explaining that he was instructed by Assistant State Attorney Fred Leone not to reveal any other information to the press.

Coroner Robert Carroll said today Mrs. Owens was shot in the chin, the bullet coming out the back of her neck. Owens is expected to be arraigned this afternoon. A preliminary hearing will be set later.

A post mortem is being conducted by Daytona Beach pathologist Arthur Schwartz.

Boosters Club Honors Local Legislators

By MARILYN GORDON

The newly organized Legislative Boosters Club will honor Republican members of the Orange-Seminole legislative delegation at an appreciation dinner

June 12 at Mid-Florida Country Club. Tickets are available from Mrs. Gary Baumbaugh, of Longwood, at 431-0395, or the group's treasurer, Robert Brunner of Rolling Hills.

The Legislative Boosters Club was recently formed in Seminole to show appreciation to the Republican legislators and to aid them while they are serving in Tallahassee. Mrs. Baumbaugh stated, "While they are in Tallahassee so many times they feel isolated from their constituents and now they have a group they can contact to get the feeling in this area on certain bills."

At present the group is trying to help Rep. Lewis Earle revise the "right-to-work" bill.

On the opening day of the State Legislature, the boosters sent red, white and blue carnations to each of the Republican members of the delegation... a gesture especially appreciated as these were the only flowers they received.

The boosters group is not Republican per se as it is also open to Democrats and independents. Members include both men and women from Seminole and Orange Counties. There are no meetings or dues and only a dollar initiation fee. The treasurer is the only officer.

CATTLE OWNERS south of Sanford seemingly are unaware — or have forgotten — that (then) Gov. Fuller Warren pushed through a state law abolishing open range privileges on state highway rights-of-way. Last week two accidents occurred on U. S. 17-92 when vehicles and cattle collided. This photo of cattle on the berm along Onora Road extension was taken at 6:45 this morning.

Charges Dropped

By MARION BETHEA

The state nolle prossed (dropped) two cases again yesterday. The case of Donald Gallentine, charged on two counts of breaking and entering, a felony, and grand larceny, was nolle prossed as was the case of Michael Crume, charged with two counts of sale and possession of narcotics.

Pattie Ferguson, charged on two counts of sale and possession of narcotics, entered a guilty plea to possession of narcotics. A pre-sentence investigation was ordered by Judge Clarence Johnson Jr.

Donald Sowers, charged with two counts of sale and possession of narcotics, entered a guilty plea to possession of a dangerous drug, a misdemeanor. A PSI was ordered by the court.

Blake Ferguson, charged with two counts of sale and possession of narcotics, entered a guilty plea to possession of narcotics and a PSI was ordered by the court.

in the case, James Lester entered a guilty plea previously to the lesser offense of grand larceny.

The case of Fremont Duke, charged with robbery, was continued until May 3. Co-defendant

Also set for trial on May 3 are the cases of Herman Rembert and O'Dell Hunt.

Rembert, 26-year-old former Head Start school bus driver, is charged with lewd and lascivious assault on a child. He was arrested on Jan. 28 and accused of fondling the child, who was a passenger on the bus. Motions were granted for statements, taking depositions, for witness lists, exchange of witness lists and for continuance.

Hunt, former sheriff's deputy, is charged with extorting $32 from Willie Jones and Carolyn Harvey after threatening to jail them of charges of trespassing at a lovers lane tract last November. Motions to produce witness lists and exchange witness lists were granted. The court reserved ruling on a defense motion to suppress evidence.

Commission Asks Meet With City

By LARRY NEELY
The Seminole County Commission directed J. Martin Geimer, their administrative assistant, to try once again to set up a meeting between the commissioners and the Casselberry City Council to discuss the 6 mile of Red Bug Road from the intersection of Red Bug Road and 436 which the county claims that Casselberry annexed and which Casselberry claims is still in the county. The controversial matter has recently been complicated by the widening and resurfacing project being conducted by the county on the western portion of Red Bug Road.

Commission Chairman Greg Drummond equated the Urban Studies Council's designations of VTN, Inc. Orlando as the consulting engineers for the three way study planned by the Urban Studies Council (formerly the Orange-Seminole-Osceola Planning Unit) of the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council (ECFRPC). County Planner David Farr reported to the commission that Commissioner Sidney Vihen's proposal for readvertising for consulting engineers for the three way study had been defeated by the Urban Studies Council.

When asked if he felt that the commission owed it to the taxpayers to readvertise to justify the expenditure of such a large sum of tax dollars, VTN had originally estimated $100,000 for the short range water and sewerage study and had upped their estimate to $180,000 just prior to finalizing the project plans. VTN has estimated the cost of the three way study at $453,000 of which the three counties must pay half.

Seminole County Commission Chairman Greg Drummond reacted by saying that he realized that the three studies had to be done but he felt that re-advancing was in order since the project had been broadened to encompass two additional studies of equal stature. Drummond equated the Urban Studies Council's actions with "advertising for a stool when advertising for bids from engineering firms. Johnson was queried by Drummond as to whether the actions of the council were legal. Johnson said that he would have to study the matter further to discuss the matter and what procedures it must follow when advertising for bids from engineering firms. Johnson offered to meet with Vihen and Farr to discuss the matter further so it could be made when Drummond asked that the commission might seek the help of State Attorney General Robert Shevin in resolving the matter. The indication was made when Drummond asked County Attorney Harold John Gunton if it would be proper to turn

At Altamonte Meeting Residents Voice Objections

By RAY KNIGHT
ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — The City Council broke through the opposition in an investigation led by Father David P. Pagine, pastor of St. Mary Magdalene Community. The accompanying brotherhood, under the leadership of Rev. Robert P. Sweeney, and other representatives at the meeting was tangibly. Town Hall came alive last night at Altamonte Springs when a proposed amendment to set a straight 8% tax on all utility user bills came up for first reading in ordinance form, and drew a vocal protest from Oakland Estates residents. In a hearing of the agenda for a hearing, they were given the floor. Spokesman Clarence Thornley, 665 Webster Avenue, presented their objections in an uncertain terms.

The tax proposed is excessive, he said, and creates a great hardship on those living on a fixed income. The tax on electricity was pointed out as the worst feature. Such a utility tax increase will result in a higher year's total than the present property tax for many home owners. "We also object to the earmarking of these taxes for a new city hall when there has been no public hearing on this matter. The venture is large enough to demand that the citizens should be consulted," Thornley insisted heatedly.

Mayer Lawrence Swofford stated later in the meeting that the council was elected to make decisions without running advertisements for the people. That the people can pass on his and council's judgments at the polls. Then he recounted the blessings of living in Altamonte: ad valorem taxes had been cut, not raised; refuse collection is not an extra charge; new businesses coming into the city are involving millions and tens of millions, yet developers must come to do business to a "hole-in-the-wall!"

Councilman Dan Dorfman took the challenge, seconding the mayor in accepting his own responsibility to decide what is best for his community as elected representative of it. But he went further, reading off the utility tax rates of the neighboring communities and cities, showing them in an investigation led by Father David P. Pagine. Swofford specified the economy of Altamonte's new sewer system, installed without any front foot assessment. "I could not find any other representatives from the Oakland Estates delegation spoke up, admitting the truth of the benefits received from the city, but demanding a place on the agenda for a full public hearing," he said. Thornley asked for and received a promise that such a hearing was by law provided for, upon written request.

On Tuesday, April 20, 1971, a regular meeting of the utility tax rate committee will come up for passage. Nothing in the ordinance as read specifies the use of the tax money. This could be made to include recreation, as suggested by one concerned citizen.

Tuesday, April 27, is also the date for consideration of a comprehensive zoning plan, to simplify amendment requests, and eliminate spot zoning, making for more orderly growth.

At a four-point program for the conservation of the ground water resources for the county was presented to the County Commission Tuesday by County Agricultural Agent Frank Jasa. Prior to Jasa's presentation to the commissioners, Commission Chairman Greg Drummond sent a letter from the Southern and Central Florida Flood Control District stating that the severe lack of rain since March 1970 had resulted in salt water intrusions along the coast.

Drummond noted that the conditions in Seminole County are not as severe as those further south in the state but that he did have knowledge of some residential wells going dry to the extent that they could be used only a few hours a day. Jasa also noted that surface and sub-surface soils are in better condition in Central Florida than in most other areas of the state. Jasa advised that all the shrub or tree and the ground should be soaked thoroughly. Jasa said that for most trees watering could be limited one every three to four weeks and shrubs need to be watered at that often.

In watering lawns Jasa recommended that since most of the roots on grass are in the top 12 inches of soil that watering be limited to the equivalent of one inch of rainfall per watering. The amount of watering can be measured by placing a coffee can in the area being watered and measure the amount of water falling in the can. He also recommended waiting for about one week between waterings. Jasa did note that some flowering plants that were in operation could be shut off to eliminate an unnecessary drain on the county's water resources. In a related matter Commissioner A. J. Davis reported to the commissioners that sink holes

Water Conservation Urged Of Residents By County

Insurance is available to Seminole County residents from common carriers in the area. The insurance will cover up to $17,500 for homes and cover one half, not exceeding $17,500, for the contents of the home. The commissioners directed that a letter be sent to all insurance agencies in the county reminding them that sink hole insurance is available to Seminole County residents under a federal program administered through the State Insurance Commissioner's office. Davis noted that Seminole County is in Zone 1 where the sink hole insurance is the most expensive but also Zone 1 was the area most prone to sink holes. Drummond added that the county can fill in sink holes only if they endanger public roads. Davis said that rates for Zone 1 are 25 cents per $100 of value for structures and 12 1/2 cents per $100 of value for contents.

Ambrosia Roll Wins Top Honor

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
A good recipe goes on and on. In one of the most interesting of our old American cookbooks, "Housekeeping in Old Virginia," edited by Marion Cabell Tyree and published in 1970, there are several recipes for roll cake. Two of the rolls are filled with jelly; a third is filled with that famous southern combination called Ambrosia. In the words of the Tyree recipe, the Ambrosia was made like this: "Oranges cut fine, and sweetened and mixed with grated coconut."

Almost 75 years after the Virginia recipe appeared a California cook, entering a baking contest, was top honors with her Ambrosia Roll. This cook varied the earlier recipe. The filling for the cake is an orange custard blended with whipped cream, and the top of the roll is glazed with jelly and sprinkled with coconut. Here's the formula:

AMBROSIA ROLL
Confessionners' sugar
1 cup sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
3 large eggs
1 cup granulated sugar
1-2nd teaspoon freshly grated orange rind
Orange Cream Filling, see recipe
1/4 cup flaked coconut
Beat a clean tea towel with confessionners' sugar to turn cake out on.
Grease the bottom of a jelly-roll pan (about 15 by 10 by 1 inch); line bottom with wax paper; grease paper.
On another piece of wax paper, sift together the cake flour, baking powder and salt.
In large bowl of electric mixer, beat the eggs until thickened and pale lemon color; gradually beat in granulated sugar—mixture will be thick and ivory color; gradually beat in orange juice; stir in orange rind. Pour into prepared pan; with a metal spatula spread evenly.
Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean—about 12 minutes. Gently loosen edges with a small metal spatula; turn out onto prepared tea towel. Remove wax paper. Starting from 16-inch side, roll up cake in towel; place on a wire rack to cool completely.
Trim, cooled cake; spread with Orange Cream Filling; loosely roll up. Spread remaining 1/2 cup orange-custard mixture (from Orange Cream Filling recipe) over top of cake roll. Sprinkle with coconut. Chill at least 1 hour before cutting and serving.

ORANGE CREAM FILLING
(for Ambrosia Roll)
1/2 cup sugar
1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 tablespoon freshly grated orange rind
1 cup freshly squeezed orange juice
Beat egg yolks from large eggs in a container (8 ounces) heavy cream.
In a heavy saucepan (1 or 1 1/2 quarts) thoroughly stir together the sugar and cornstarch; add orange rind. Gradually stir in orange juice, keeping smooth.
Beat egg yolks until thickened and pale lemon color; stir into orange-juice mixture; don't worry because mixture does not combine—they will curdle, cooking. Over medium heat, bring to a boil, stirring constantly; boil 2 to 3 minutes, still stirring. Cool completely.
Beat cream until stiff; gently fold into 3 cups of the cool orange-custard mixture; use as filling for cake as directed in Ambrosia roll recipe. Reserve remaining 1/2 cup orange-custard mixture for spreading over top of filled cake roll as directed in Ambrosia roll recipe.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS
Use potato flakes right from the package to thicken soups, stews and gravies without further cooking.
Orange rind and juice add flavor and color to rice mixes.

Vitamin B1, thiamide, was the first vitamin to be isolated in pure form.
A study shows that one out of three infants who fall do so from furniture specifically designed for them.

Hoosier Curried Chicken

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor
Bob Weaver brings a pot pourri of interests and experience to his job as chef for the private Park Atvue executive dining room of Kansas & Zerkhardt, Inc., a major advertising agency. He studied beauty culture in Chicago for a career in theatrical make-up, cooked for the Boy Scouts, was a police and patroller in private homes, cooked in a consolidated Army mess for 900 and also from a field truck.

"My interest in cooking came from my Indiana heritage," Weaver explained. "Our family was among the early southern Negroes to settle in Grant County in 1847. There always was a plate on the table for guests even during the Depression, and a pride in food."
Weaver was one of six children and he remembers fondly homemade candy, snow ice cream, the wild game his father cut from customers along his ice route, the apples and crab bages in the hill during winter. "I am happy cooking," he said, "and it is a challenge to fix food to please those you serve. We almost lost the art of eating and dining in the United States. I think it's coming back."

Here is Bob Weaver's Curried Chicken and Curry Sauce he serves friends at home. Certainly a departure from his first peach pie he made for his mother's WCTU group in Marion, Ind.

CURRIED CHICKEN
1 frying chicken
1 teaspoon salt/pepper
1/2 cup Crisco
1 tablespoon curry powder
1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup butter or margarine
Place flour, salt, pepper and curry powder in paper bag. Shake well to blend all ingredients. Cut chicken into serving pieces. Place one or two pieces of chicken in seasoned flour and shake to coat. Have ready in frying pan, bubbling fat. Brown chicken in fat and then remove to casserole and keep warm in oven.

CURRY SAUCE
4 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons curry powder
2 cups milk or chicken broth
2 medium sized onions
4 tablespoons flour
1 1/2 cups water
2 cups apple sauce
Juice of 1 lemon
To make curry sauce, melt butter in top of double boiler, then stir in flour and curry powder until well blended. Gradually add liquid, stirring until well-blended. Add onions that have been sautéed until yellow. Add apple sauce, blend well. Pour over chicken in casserole and cook for one hour, or until chicken is done. Cook two cups rice according to directions.
Steamed raisins—Pour 1/2-cup of water in small pan; add one cup of raisins. Cover pan, place over low heat for 5 or 10 minutes until raisins are plump.
Toast one package of coconut in oven.
Chop one green pepper very fine.
Major Grey Chutney.
Place the four items above in separate small dishes and place around casserole so each one may help himself.

CHINESE SUPPER
Egg Rolls
Phyllis's Lettuce Shrimp
Barbecued Spare ribs
Pineapple with Kumquats Tea
PHYLLIS'S LETTUCE SHRIMP
After ingredients are assembled, this dish is quick to make.
Seasoning Sauce, see below
3 tablespoons salad (not olive) oil
1 pound medium shrimp (about 28), shelled, deveined and cut in half lengthwise
3 generous cups knife-shredded (coarse) iceberg lettuce, packed down
Make Seasoning Sauce. In a 12-inch skillet over moderate heat, heat oil. Add shrimp and cook, turning with a wide spatula, until pink on both sides—a matter of minutes. Add lettuce and Seasoning Sauce; stir constantly until sauce is thickened and clear and lettuce slightly wilted. Serve at once. Makes 4 small servings.
SEASONING SAUCE: In a small mixing bowl stir together 2 tablespoons cornstarch and 1/4 cup cold water until smooth; add 1 chicken bouillon cube and 1/4 cup boiling water and stir and mash cube until dissolved; stir in 2 tablespoons American-type soy sauce, 1 large clove garlic (crushed) and 1 teaspoon MSG. Mix well again just before using.

Look up the word "stressed" in Webster and you'll find the dictionary definition as "a crumbly mixture of fat, sugar and flour used on top of coffee cake."

True enough, but the definition needs to be widened. American cooks use stressed a couple of other ways. One is to add nuts to the mixture and use as a pat-in-the-pan pie crust.

Olden Kitchens Return

By VIVIAN BROWN AP Features

All the emphasis on gourmet cooking is bringing back the old-fashioned "cooked in" kitchen look.

Serious kitchens are shown including the kitchen of cooking expert, Julia Child. Her kitchen is loaded with the neat clutter of many pots, pans, cutting tools and strainers.

Rustic country-style kitchens are finding their way even into apartments, the book illustrates. Mrs. Gilliat points out the kitchen was rustic until the middle of the last century and people were in the habit of eating and frugal foods.

Some kitchens of famous people decorated by well-known authorities seem to illustrate the new direction: the kitchen should look like a kitchen to be lived in.

Beluga Epitome Of Living

By TOM HOGE
Associated Press Writer

"My Lord, you'd think they were serving marmalade," said the awed western guest to the Iranian reception at the United Nations. On half a dozen buffet tables sat half a dozen crystal bowls, each heaped with more than 10 pounds of fresh beluga caviar.

It was an awesome sight, since fresh Iranian caviar runs more than $70 a pound on the U.S. market these days, and the Iranian pound totals only 14 pence.

For generations, fresh beluga caviar has been highly prized as the epitome of lavish living to be served as a rare gem, washed down with the finest champagne at the best restaurants or aboard the big luxury liners.

The world's greatest producers of caviar are the Russians and the Iranians, both of whom pursue the Beluga sturgeon in the waters of the Caspian Sea. But pollution, industrialization and overfishing have gravely depleted the Caspian stock and threaten to bring on a critical shortage of caviar.

One Soviet report said only 100 tons of sturgeon were caught in the Caspian, and the Volga River which flows into the sea, in 1967, compared to 134,500 tons in 1961. In fact, the Soviet caviar output for the current year probably will decline to less than 40 tons this year.

The United States purchases around 60 tons of Iranian caviar annually, which is about 95 percent of this nation's total import of the valuable treat.

Beluga is prized as the finest caviar because its eggs are the largest and most firm. Most lovers of the delicacy prefer the fresh, lightly salted caviar which comes in tins and can be procured in the best gourmet shops. This caviar has a delicate, slightly nutty flavor. It is not in the least fishy. The vacuum packed variety you see in these jars is much more salty and a good deal stronger.

Most Americans take their caviar on black or brown bread with chopped egg and a little lemon sprinkled on top. It is also served with sour cream and spread on blinis. Russian pancakes made from buckwheat flour with a little shredded carrot.

In Europe and in some hotels in America, chefs serve caviar in a baked potato with sour cream, which is a lot tastier than it sounds.

Potatoes Almost Human

By JEANNE LESSEM
UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Aronomist Robert L. Mercer talks about potatoes as if they were almost human.

He said in an interview here that they respire-taking in oxygen and producing carbon dioxide, as humans do. They stop respiring and consequently die, drivers if immersed too long in water. They show bruise marks when dropped. Excess light gives potatoes the equivalent of a human's sunburn, except that spots turn green instead of red.

Mercur, who is field manager for the R. T. French Co. in Shelby, Idaho, said the growing of potatoes, like sunburn of humans, is a delicate process. It reduces their nutritional value and makes them as bitter they're inedible.

Per capita potato consumption is on the rise in the United States, he said. It was 11.83 pounds in 1969, compared with 10.13 pounds in 1968 and 10.08 pounds in 1967.

Processing is superior. Mercer attributed the increase in advances in potato processing that have created both a wider variety of product and quality far superior to the dehydrated spuds that were anathema to GIs during World War II.

"The wrong processing techniques were used," he said. "They made a product so starchy it didn't taste good."

Newer processes permit dehydrating without breaking the potatoes' cell walls to release the starches.

Despite the proliferation of processed potatoes, fresh ones continue to outlast dehydrated, frozen and canned ones. A breakdown of the 1969 per capita consumption showed 63.4 pounds were fresh compared with 44.8 for all processed spuds.

Not High In Calories

These statistics contradict the popular assumption that weight-conscious persons avoid potatoes because they're high in calories.

A medium potato, boiled or baked, contains only about 100 calories. It's the butter or gravy you add that makes the figure soar.

Mercur said housewives really don't appreciate the potato's food value.

"It's a very important source of vitamins and is weak only in Vitamin A. If you were going to eat only two foods, from a nutritional standpoint your best choice would be milk and potatoes."

Crunchy potato logs are a festive-looking vegetable that take only minutes to make. Prepare one (3-serving) amount of instant mashed potato granules as label directs, but reduce water to 1 1/4 cups. Stir in one beaten egg. Spoon into greased cookie sheet in log shapes, making about 8 or 10 logs each with melted butter. Crush 1 can of french fried onion rings and sprinkle over potatoes. Bake 10-15 minutes in preheated 425-degree oven. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

There's a brownie-like flavor in these delicious cookies.
1 cup unsifted flour
Pinch of salt
1/2 cup unsweetened cocoa
1/4 cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup finely chopped walnuts
Confectioner's sugar

On wax paper thoroughly stir together the flour, salt and cocoa. In a small mixing bowl combine butter, granulated sugar and vanilla; with a wooden spoon, gradually work in flour mixture, then walnuts. Mixture will be stiff. Shape into small marble-size balls; 1 teaspoon of dough for each. Place about 1 inch apart on a lightly greased cookie sheet. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 13 minutes. Cookies may have slight cracks. Let stand until cool or cookies will shatter; remove to wire rack to cool completely. Spread confectioner's sugar on wax paper; roll cookies in sugar. Store in a tightly covered tin box lined with wax paper or plastic wrap. Makes 4 dozen.

MIXED EMOTIONS . . . about the "thaw" in U. S.-Chinese relations.
If this is "our enemy", then how "cum we're loosening up in that area of visiting one another . . . but still insist on our men dying in Nam, fighting them as the enemy. Oh, maybe not directly in action . . . bullets being traded back-and-forth against the Chinese, but certainly recognizing that they do supply the North Vietnamese.

And yet, how else are we going to end the war without getting to know one another better. How much must have changed in the 20 plus years since we stopped "talking", eh?

Talking about our men in Vietnam . . . there were 56 more who were killed last week in the Indochina war and 185 were wounded, brought to 444 the number of U. S. servicemen killed in the war.

And for the record . . . just how many Russians or Chinese soldiers have been lost by the "enemy" . . .

Oh, by the way . . . remember the 2nd Lt. who was convicted by a six-man jury . . . not too long ago.
What was his name?

Understand that the next County Safety Group meeting it will be proposed that all those bus drivers who have not qualified in first aid training not be issued a driver's license.

Listening to the sidewalk superintendents . . . "you can really make a quick buck in stocks." And then they say that investing through Mutual Funds you're safest with your money.
Just for the records . . . the average mutual fund results for the 10 years ended Dec. 31, 1970 were the lowest for any 10-year period in the last 25 years.

Gov. Askew Wins Vote On Tax In House; Loss Seen In Senate

By AP and UPI
TALLAHASSEE—The House approved 100-16 today a special July 6 vote of the people on Gov. Reubin Askew's 6 per cent corporate income tax but a major threat to the election emerged in the State. The House gained more than the necessary 90 votes easily on this, its third try, when Republican leader Don Reed finally released his votes and told GOP members it was "every man for himself."

"I am against the cotton picking thing, and when it got to the people I hope they'll reject it," Reed said.
Democratic House Speaker Richard Pettigrew of Miami, who has led Askew's legislative battle for the July election, stepped down from the rostrum to close debate on the issue.
"I'm kind of tired today, and I continue to be very proud of the House," Pettigrew began, his voice breaking so that he could not continue.

But in the Senate, ways and means committee Chairman Louis de la Parte (D-Tampa), took a quick nose count and found Republicans there could block the early election. They can do it, he told a newsman, "if they hold together."
It came after Senate Minority Leader Warren Henderson, following a GOP caucus, flatly predicted the measure would die in the Senate if passed in the House.

But Reed gave up amid Democratic predictions of victory that included wholesale defections of Republicans questioning Reed's position of preventing the people from voting July 6 on a tax proposal that is going to come before them next year anyway.
It was a stunning victory for Gov. Reubin Askew who was elected on a promise of tax reform, with the corporate profits tax as the centerpiece, and who never gave up.

Opponents 'Want To Be Heard'
Hearing Saturday On Village

By FRED VAN PELT
Large land holding opponents to the incorporation of the Village of Markham Woods, in Seminole County, have voiced themselves to the extent that the up-to-now quiet proposal has been placed on the agenda of a public meeting of the Seminole-Orange legislative delegation at 9 Saturday morning at the courthouse in Orlando.
State Rep. William Gorman (R), chairman of the delegation, informed The Sanford Herald the matter had not been included on the agenda for Saturday's meeting but that he had been advised by State Rep. William Fulford (D) the large land owners "want to be heard." Gorman said that, therefore, the issue will be on Saturday's agenda.
Gorman stated the proposal calling for legislation authorizing the incorporation of the Village of Markham Woods already has been "placed in the hopper" and assigned to committees for hearings. Presumably, if continued, it would come before the entire Legislature next month.

6-Man Jury Finds Robt. Jane Guilty

By MARION BETHEA
Robert Jane, suspended District 6 constable, was found guilty of falsification of public records by a six-man County jury yesterday and Judge Wallace Hall sentenced him to a fine of $1,000 or three months in jail. His attorney, James Dausch, was granted 15 days in which to file motions for an appeal, and the defendant was released on bond.
Jane was suspended from office by former Gov. Claude Kirk Jr. in August 1970 after Jane was indicted by a Seminole County grand jury for falsification of public records, assault and battery and perjury. The other charges were subsequently dropped.
Charges stemmed from the fact that an arrest record on Joseph Surprenant showed that he was arrested at the Regency Square in Casselberry on Dec. 26, 1969, whereas he was arrested at Charlie's Bar on Howell Branch Road, which is outside of Jane's district. Surprenant was charged with public intoxication and the charges were later dropped by County Prosecuting Attorney Kenneth Melitosh at the request of Jane.
Assistant State Attorney Fred Leone, in his closing argument, said that Jane was arrested at the Regency

Construction To Open On Fairway Complex

By BILL SCOTT
Construction of the new Fairway Plaza shopping center will start beginning Monday, A. K. Shoemaker Jr., of Shoemaker Construction Company, advised today.
Shoemaker said his firm would construct the 40,000 square foot mall and placed the completion date at Oct. 1. Builders' costs were estimated by the contractor at $300,000, not including the land costs.
"We received our notice of commencement Wednesday," Shoemaker said, explaining that his firm had just been approved for the job by HarCar, Inc., owners of the shopping complex. Tenants already allotted space in the facility include Fairway Super Markets, an Orlando grocery chain that is moving into the Sanford area; Gordon's Drugs, in business at 2533 Park Avenue, and Eagle Army-Navy Stores, which operates other stores in Orange County and a Seminole County facility at the Seminole Shopping Center in Casselberry.
Shoemaker said there remains 11,000 square feet of miscellaneous small store space still to lease.
The center will have estimated 300 parking spaces and will utilize city water and sewers since the property recently was annexed into the city at the request of the owners.
Shoemaker said the land already is cleared at the site, which is located across from the Pine Crest shopping center on U. S. 17-92 at 27th Street. Financing for the project was made through the United State Bank, George Tuttle, of Winter Park, is the architect.

Lengthy Issues Discussed

By RAY KNIGHT
ALTAMONTE SPRINGS—One of the most lengthy issues discussed at the Altamonte Council meeting Tuesday was the ordinance to annex the acreage on the northeast corner of Matland Avenue and Orange Road.
Councilman Dan Dorfman expressed fear that the more promise of a professional building use of the proposed R-3 zoning was not enough to annex. James K. Herod, trustee for the owners, presented the guarantee alternative of garden-type apartments, should the professional building plans fall through.
Dorfman then demanded written agreement with the City to that effect before annexation. Mayor Swofford promised to withhold his official signature from the annexation ordinance until the receipt of the same. Herod agreed, if only the Clerk would specify the legal language acceptable to the city. With a verbal handshake on this, four motions were disposed of.
