

Your Personal Finance 'Phones (W)ringing Profits On Extensions

By CARLTON SMITH and RICHARD PUTNAM PRATT

You're probably not planning to go into the telephone business, but if you ever should, you'll have a lively time buying equipment. In case you hadn't noticed, there's a lively trade in telephone handsets these days.

Appliance stores, direct mail merchandisers and odd little shops on side streets have turned into the telephone game, now that the courts have lent at least a surface legality to the trade.

Just how much legality, though, is a confusing situation for most people. But those who sell the telephone instruments seldom quibble. "Why rent a phone when you can own your own for $6.95?" reads a typical advertisement. Along with the instrument you get a length of wire, a couple of jacks and instructions on how to put it all together.

The telephone companies, naturally enough, take a pretty dim view of all this, since it cuts into their income. They've had to back away from their original position of outright prohibition of such phones, but apparently most are found only when malfunctioning brings a repairman onto the line.

They insist on two things: That they be allowed to install their own electrical components in the customer's phone and that they collect the same extension rental charge as they would if the customer were using the phone company's instrument.

Charges for the installation of the new components in the customer's phone vary from state to state. A typical charge is $10 if the instrument is designed so as to simplify such conversion, or $25 if it isn't.

The theory behind such conversion is that any telephone system will function properly only if all elements are compatible. Many of the used phones being sold are of different make than those being

Tax Credits For Schools

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Property tax credits rather than the present exemptions, would be available to private and parochial schools under a plan proposed Tuesday by a house subcommittee.

The whole committee is particularly eager that bonafide church schools are not taxed," said Rep. Talbot D'Alemberte, D-Miami, chairman of the Property Tax Committee.

But the tax credit plan would relieve the taxpayers from picking up the tab for luxury schools which presently enjoy an exemption, said Rep. Granville Crabtree, R-Sarasota.

Private and parochial schools would be assessed as if they were to pay full property taxes. Then an amount equal to $800 for each student would be deducted from the total valuation and a tax levied on the difference.

"It is an attempt to put into practice the idea that we're going to exempt only those functions which the state would otherwise have to appropriate for," said Rep. Kenneth MacKay, D-Gaines.

Owl Found In Chimney

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A soot-covered owl was pulled out of the chimney at Felix Junior High School Wednesday after custodians reported noises from the Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

"I think he fell down the chimney," said Steve Clevenger, an agent for the SPCA. "I put on a pair of gloves and opened the ashpit door in the basement and there he was, sitting there and squinting at me."

U. S. Foreign Service Topic Of Talk

Nelson Park, retired consul general of the United States, spoke to the Old Glory American Legion Post 183 of Altamonte Springs on some of the joys and sorrows that beset our consular service, especially in countries where the language is entirely different from our own.

He spoke mostly of the humorous situations in which he found himself and gave his listeners the impression that no matter what the circumstances, it was great to be a member of the diplomatic team of the United States. As a man who has given his whole adult life in the service of his country, he was given a rousing ovation.

Following his interesting talk, the Auxiliary served delicious refreshments before the meeting was re-convened and another guest, Mrs. Claudia Triola, was introduced. She is commander of the Women's Post 227 of Orlando and a candidate for 6th District Commander for seven years and has held many district and department offices. Advertised Legislative Bills Differ From Parleys

The lease law, uniform law on Sunday sale of alcoholic beverages and the Seminole County Port Authority are among the bills which have been advertised by the Seminole-Orange legislative delegation, a body which will meet in Tallahassee during this session.

Indication given by the delegation during hearings in both Seminole and Orange was that the first three bills named would not be considered by the delegation favorably. The law requires that bills to be introduced be advertised 30 days before their formal introduction.

The dog leash law was proposed by Rep. Leonard Wood for both Orange and Seminole Counties. However, the delegation did not approve the law for Orange and voted instead, according to reports, to give the County Commission of Seminole's neighboring county the power to regulate animal control as it chose.

The Sunday sale issue which became a hot one in hearings in Sanford where a number of ministers appeared to voice objections is being sponsored by the Seminole County Bar and Package Association.

Former City Commissioner M. L. Raborn proposed the bill whereby the people would elect their chief executive rather than the City Commission selecting one of its number for the post. The city fathers did not give their blessing to the plan but preferred to wait for the results of a charter study planned before the legislative session next year.

The bill proposed by Rep. E. Pope Bassett to give the Seminole County Port Authority taxing power brought down the wrath of the Seminole County governing body on the delegation. The commissioners through the chairman, John Alexander, made it clear they did not believe a non-selective body should have the power to levy taxes.

Among other bills advertised by the delegation was one to permit the Sanford city commissioners to set their own salaries and another to raise the commissioners' salaries to $300 monthly plus $100 expenses and $300 for the mayor with $150 monthly expenses. At the suggestion of the delegation, the city withdrew the second bill in favor of the first, but both were advertised anyway.

No mention had been made at any of the delegation's public hearings concerning one of the bills advertised. It would grant extra time to the part-mutual plants in Seminole for the purpose of a charity day to benefit Valencia Junior College, another for Rollins College and a third for Florida Technological University.

$1.8 Million Apt. Complex Planned For Oviedo Will Serve FTU Pupils

A $1.8 million student apartment complex, to serve Florida Technological University, was unveiled at the Oviedo City Council meeting last night by the Starlight University Village Corporation of Oviedo.

The apartment complex presumably will be located one mile south of Oviedo near Chapman Road on the C. S. Daniel property.

Don Hoover, president of the corporation, said the Oviedo assembly that his company had contracted for 40 acres of the Daniel property and would appear before the county zoning board on May 14 to request a zoning change from agricultural to R-3 multiple family.

The initial construction will consist of six buildings containing four living units apiece. Each unit will have two bedrooms and would be suitable for three students or a married couple.

The final apartment plans calls for a total of 300 units, housing up to 900 FTU students.

Hoover appeared before the council to notify them of his company's plans and to ascertain the possibility of obtaining city water and at a later date sewerage facilities. Council deferred any action on this measure until proper zoning changes are attained.

A public nuisance situation was probed during the meeting. The situation results, it was said, from excess water flow caused by the Oviedo Laundry. Suggestions from the council floor as to closing the laundry were offered until the situation could be corrected. Action was deferred until an investigation could determine as to the degree of correction needed. Councilman Kirby Bucklew said the laundry part of the company should be closed because it is creating a health hazard. The situation is being checked into.

The Orange-Seminole delegation was blasted on its proposed bill to place all municipalities under the general election of the county.

The council expressed dissatisfaction with the delegation and proposed a letter be sent to the delegation showing its concern over the proposed bill.

By a unanimous vote, the Seminole County Port Authority last night approved the awarding of a $1,235,000 contract to Civil Works Contractors International Corporation, Brandon, for the construction of the Port of Sanford.

Last night's action still must be approved by the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), which has loaned the authority $900,000 for inclusion with a $241,000 grant from U. S. Economic Development Administration (EDA) to build the barge port on the St. Johns River, north of Interstate 4.

A pre-construction conference of HUD and Seminole Port engineers with the construction firm and authority members is expected to be set within the next 30 days. Francis Roumillat, port administrator, said date would be decided at that meeting when actual construction would start.

Civil Works Contractors will have 10 days to occupy site and 300 days to build the port.

Authority members last night voted to return bid bonds to all but three lowest bidders, as required in the bidding procedure.

These three bids will also be returned at a later date.

Second low bid was made by Wood-Hopkins Contractors, of Jacksonville, and amounted to $1,250,966.

Authority, in other actions, agreed to pay Lockwood Greene, port engineers, 100 per cent of all out-of-pocket expenses incurred during port negotiations and rest of what is left of $25,000 on a $50,081.23 total bill owed the engineering firm.

It is anticipated that no meeting will be held May 19, scheduled date for regular authority sessions, since two of the five members will be out of town.

Urban Renewal Revived

Good news for those persons who have been staunch supporters of urban renewal legislation for the City of Sanford from the Seminole-Orange legislative delegation.

The delegation advertised to the City of Sanford a notice of intention to act by the 1969 Legislature for passage of an act permitting any municipality in Orange or Seminole County to adopt a plan of urban renewal. Implementing of the act locally will be contingent upon a vote of approval by the electorate. An additional referendum of the registered voters of any specific geographical area of a municipality by before any program can be initiated also required.

The request for urban renewal legislation by Sanford had become controversial among the delegation.

Sanford Industrial Commission Director Don Rathel said today he is still confident that industrial financing will be available in the near future despite the delay in getting the Orange - Seminole legislative delegation to consider the Sanford-sponsored bill to create an industrial bonding district for Sanford and the northern portion of Seminole County.

Rathel, speaking this morning to The Sanford Herald, said he had attempted to explain to Sen. John Ducker and Rep. E. Pope Bassett the importance of getting approval of local bills covering the creation of the Sanford Airport Authority and creation of a bonding district to fund the building of a multi-million dollar aircraft-oriented plant at the airport for a "mystery" manufacturer whose name has not been divulged to anyone.

Rathel said "The plan now calls for getting the signatures of the five county commissioners as requested by Rep. Cecil Radwell, Jr. who introduced the bill yesterday that this would be required before he would vote to introducing the bonding legislation. Since the commissioners are in session today, Rathel said, he assumed some approval would be sought today, so it could be forwarded to the delegation before May 14, date set for voting on which Sanford-related bills would be introduced.

Rathel said the problem yesterday occurred because the legislators had not scheduled any hearings on Sanford legislation, but since the city was there, represented by William Hutchison, Mack N. Cleveland Jr. and Rathel, it was hoped the delegates would take the bills governing the bonding district and airport authority.

Spring Serenade Scheduled

Jeanne Schuler, mezzo soprano, will be featured soloist at the annual Spring Serenade, a presentation by the Sanford Male Chorus May 19 at the Civic Center.

Mrs. Schuler is a graduate of Retson University School of Music, and she is presently music director of Trinity United Methodist Church of Deland.

She has been a soloist with the Hach Festival Choir at Rollins College this past year.

The Spring Serenade will also feature the voices of the 37-member Sanford Male Chorus in a presentation of religious, inspirational, musical comedy, and modern selections.

The Chorus is led by Robert Carnie, choir director of the Community United Methodist Church of Deland. Accompanist is Bettye Smith.

Have You Heard? Deaf Speak

Does a deaf child, even with the training available at Rock Lake School, have a chance of a REALLY normal life?

Mrs. Pat Mann, of Sanford, thinks so. Her son Donny, 10, has been in the program several years.

"You wouldn't believe the difference in him between the ages of three and 10," she declares.

For Donny is now a pitcher on the Panther Pee-wee League team here, which is part of a normal life for a 10-year-old boy.

Mrs. Mary Crutenden, coordinator of the Hard of Hearing Unit thinks so, too. Recently she made her regular visit to a junior high school for the weekly work with a Rock Lake graduate who now attends classes with hearing children.

The girl was late, and just as the teacher was about to reprimand her about the tardiness, the girl apologized.

"I'm sorry I was late, but I was at practice — I'm trying out for cheerleading!"

"Yes, a very normal life."

Redistricting Supported

Seminole County's League of Women Voters, in a letter to the Seminole County School Board, has requested the educators to support redistricting.

Mrs. John Bowers, president of the county voters group, indicated this action was prompted by a membership consensus that redistricting is necessary.

The League's position was spelled out in a statement that read, "The League of Women Voters of Seminole County supports redistricting of the Seminole County Board of Public Instruction so as to achieve more equal representation of the qualified electors of this county by members of that board."

Mrs. Bowers reported that League members had participated in a three-year study of county schools which revealed "substantial inequities in the distribution of registered among the five school districts."

Reedy Rejects Compromise

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — State Comptroller Fred Dickenson says he doesn't know what to do about legislators who don't want all of their paychecks.

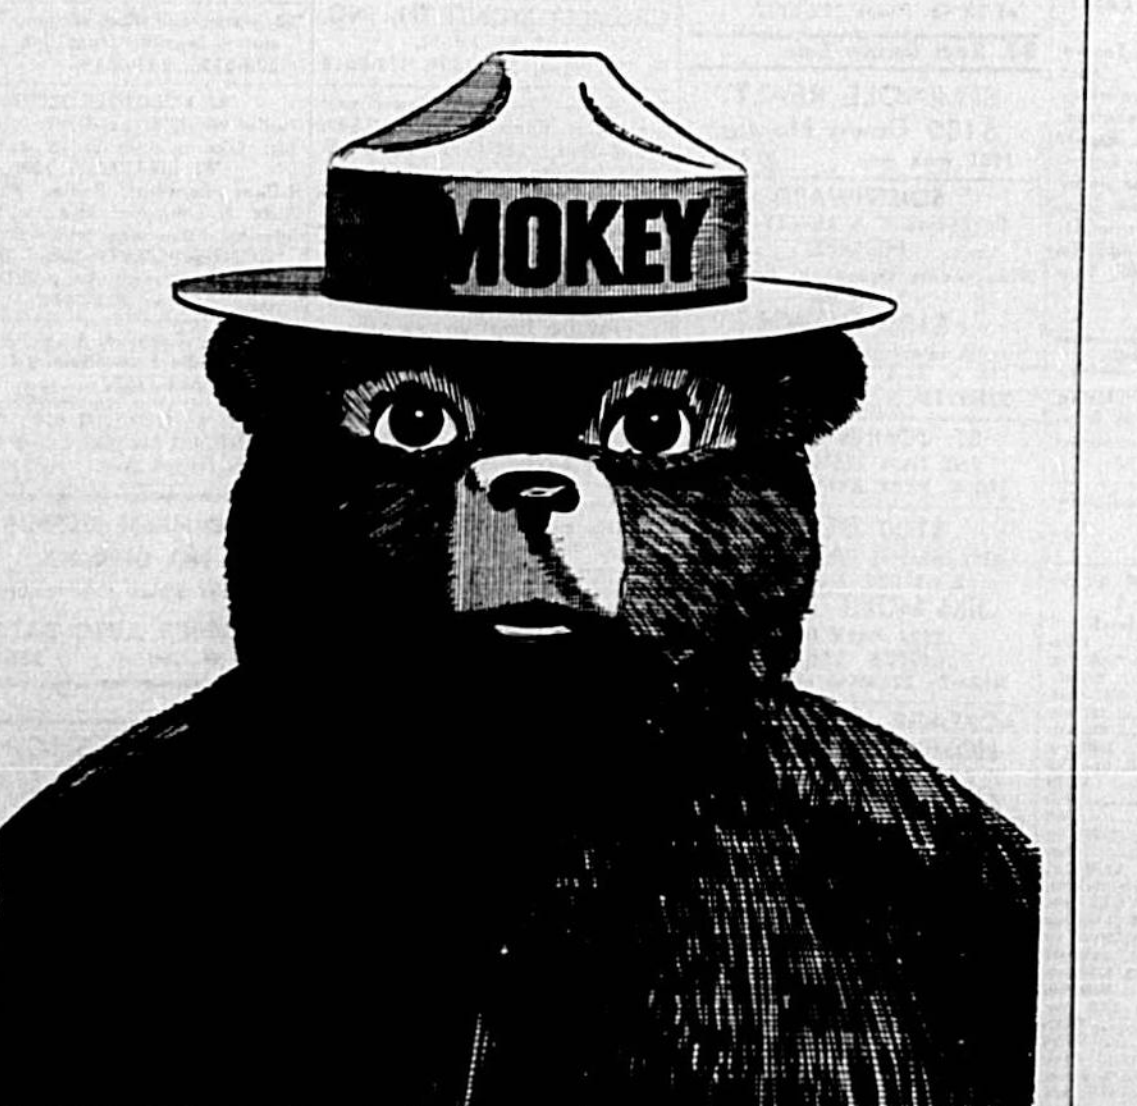

The comptroller asked Atty. Gen. Earl Faircloth for an opinion, noting that Rep. W. H. (Bill) Reedy (D-Eustis) has stated that he only wants $1,200 of his $12,000 annual salary. Legislators' recently increased their pay by 1,000 per cent.

Discount outlet

Electric rates have gone down eleven times since 1957!

Flameless electric comes into your home so quietly, and you use it so much in everyday life, that you hardly ever realize what a bargain it is. But when you compare the history of electric service rates with the way your other costs have risen lately, you get a pleasant surprise. While inflation has been pushing other prices up, the price of electricity has gone down...down...down. In fact, the average price paid per kilowatt hour by FPL-served families today is one-third less than it was in 1957.

No wonder, then, that you're using electricity so much nowadays...to save you work, to make home more comfortable, to bring you entertainment. It's just good sense to take full advantage of all your home's electric convenience outlets—truly "discount outlets." There's no match for flameless electric...the biggest bargain in your budget.

FIGHT INFLATION: USE ELECTRICITY! What else costs less today than it did in 1957?

James Collins was unanimously elected president by the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce. Other officers include Dr. J. Murray Maxwell, vice president and Robert Kolar, secretary-treasurer.

Elected to serve on the board of directors were John Norden, Wallace Hill, Don Jackson, Homer Gleason, Ray Kalesl, and Ed Aikens.

Virginia Mercer and Kay Clark will head the nominating committee.

Guest speaker was county commissioner Dan Pelham who spoke on long range plans for the area. This area will grow from the present 80,000 to approximately 300,000 people in the next 15-20 years, he stated. He cited garbage disposal as a major problem.

He showed the group a map made by the Orange-Seminole Joint Planning Board depicting the zoning plans for the Lake Mary area. "This map, although it might not be the last word," Pelham said, "represents three years work."

There will be no strip zoning he pointed out and much work has been done to assure that this area will be pleasant place in which to live.

Navy Chief Upsets Court; Clears Pueblo Crew

WASHINGTON (AP) — Navy Secretary John H. Chafee said today the court of inquiry into the Pueblo incident recommended that the crew be acquitted.

Chafee reported these recommendations had been made by the court of inquiry.

That Rucher be tried by general court martial for three alleged offenses including permitting his ship to be searched while he had the power to resist, failing to take protective measures during the attack, and complying with North Korean orders to follow them into port, "negligently failing" to destroy all classified material on the ship, and "negligently failing" to see that his crew was fairly treated in procedures for detaining them.

Specifically with regard to Rucher, Murphy and Harris, Chafee said that in the light of all considerations "it was determined that the charges against all of the officers concerned will not be justified."

He said that meanwhile "every feasible effort is being made to correct any Navy deficiencies which may have contributed to the Pueblo incident."

In a somewhat philosophical tone, Chafee said the blame for the Pueblo incident would be shared by any number of people in the chain of command and not just Rucher or Harris.

"The major factor which led to the Pueblo's lonely confrontation with the North Korean hostile forces was the sudden collapse of a premise which had been assumed at every level of responsibility and upon which every other aspect of the mission had been based—freedom of the high seas," he said.

"At that particular point in history, the complete confidence in the historic inviolability of a sovereign ship on the high seas in peacetime was shown to have been misplaced.

"The consequences in fairness must be borne by all, rather than by one or two individuals whose circumstances had placed closer to the crucial event.

"What's new for me as a physicist, from high school, bachelor's degree, master's and doctorate."

"You're living in a good age to be a physicist. They (both men and women) are respected by society and the outlook is wonderful for well-qualified physicists. Any one thinking of basic research in physics should go on to get a Ph.D. It's almost mandatory for landing a good job in government, industry or the academic world. Besides, it brings more salary. Figures from the National Science Foundation show that Ph.D.'s earned a median salary of $13,000 in 1968; master's and bachelor's degrees, $12,600 (same amount for both).

Universe for lab. Physics comes from a Greek word meaning nature, and depends on math and logic. Physicists study the various forms of matter . . . the structure of energy . . . and the relationship between matter and energy. From their analyses, they develop theories and discover fundamental laws that describe the behavior of forces at work within the universe.

R & D. About half of some 45,000 physicists are employed in research and development. Many conduct basic research like "why is the grass green?" with secondary research to its practical applications. Or as one scientist is supposed to have said, "Basic research is what I'm doing when I don't know what I'm doing." Whatever physicists have been doing, it's paid off. They have made valuable contributions in such areas as nuclear energy, electronics, communications and aerospace.

administrators, especially of R & D programs. Some physicists work in fields directly related to the improving of a manufacturing process or the company's product.

Emphasis areas. Most physicists specialize in one or more branches of the science—mechanics, thermal phenomena, high energy physics, optics, acoustics, electromagnetism, electronics, atomic and molecular physics, nuclear physics, physics of fluids, solid-state physics or classical theoretical physics. Some further concentrate in a subdivision of these branches.

Combinations. Physicists often apply their knowledge to problems originating in other sciences, for example: astrophysics, the use of physics in the study of the bodies of the universe—what the sun and stars are made of; biophysics, the physics and chemistry of living things; chemical physics, the application of physics principals to reactions of chemical compounds.

Where employed. Private industry, in the electrical equipment, ordnance, chemicals, aerospace and instruments industries; independent commercial labs and research institutes; machinery, engineering and architectural services industries; independent commercial government, and various non-profit organizations.

Cadillac

After a long business day, it's a wonderful feeling to enter the relaxing and luxurious world of Cadillac. For no other motor car so completely insulates its owner from unnecessary distractions and undue demands. The inherent quietness of a Cadillac is immediately apparent. You sense it in the solid, precise sound of the closing door, in the whisper quiet response of the big engine, in the isolation from road noise, in the surprisingly muted sounds of street traffic. You lean back, enjoying the comfort of the contoured cushions with the seat adjusted to the position of your preference, you experience a most welcome release from the tensions of the day.

And how reassuring it is, as you blend effortlessly into the flow of the freeway, to have at your command the precise, sure response of Cadillac's variable-ratio power steering and power front disc brakes.

At the end of your journey you arrive home, pleasantly refreshed and relaxed, ready to enjoy the evening. And, chances are, you'll be looking forward to the advent of another day and to another quiet hour with your Cadillac.

Commiss Strike Back At GIs

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops struck back at the massive American air and ground campaign along the Cambodian frontier but failed to overrun an American patrol base in the heavily attacked area more than two months ago.

Troops of the North Vietnamese 1st Division also made rocket and mortar attacks on two other American bases within a 20-mile radius. The U.S. Command said at least 29 of the enemy were killed and 15 others surrendered.

The American defenders from the 1st Air Cavalry Division reported 13 of their men killed and at least 67 wounded.

U.S. spokesmen said 101 North Vietnamese and nine Americans were killed and 62 others were wounded. One of the wounded Americans was found in a bunker, lying beneath the remains of five North Vietnamese.

Twenty-nine other North Vietnamese surrendered. Most were wounded, and they included two officers. Ten more were killed at daylight by Air Force bombs that caught them as they retreated toward Cambodia, a spokesman said.

At the same time, other North Vietnamese troops made a 150-round mortar attack and light ground probe against another patrol base of the 1st Air Cavalry Division in the south. Four North Vietnamese were reported killed there and 25 air cavalrymen wounded.

The entire 17,000-man air cavalry division has moved into the emergency starting area in the War Zone C, leaping through the jungles from a string of patrol bases. More than 300 B-52 bombers have rained tons of explosives on enemy bunkers and supply depots in the zone during the past two weeks.

In the past four years American troops have swept through War Zone C several times and B-52 rains have left hundreds of square miles of craters. But three enemy divisions operating out of the zone have always been able to recover their losses from bases across the Cambodian border, which are off limits to U.S. forces.

The job of the 1st Air Cavalry Division and the B-52's is to prevent a massive North Vietnamese drive from across the Cambodian border toward Saigon.

The Air Cavalrymen blocked and defeated heavy Communist forces in a May 4 assault on the three North Vietnamese divisions when the Communist command launched its spring offensive Feb. 23.

Congress Drops Fortas' Fee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress appears unlikely to take any action against Justice Abe Fortas—and certainly won't impeach him—for receiving a fee from the family of financier Louis E. Wolfson after being a member of the Supreme Court.

A flurry of proposals for a Senate Judiciary Committee inquiry into Fortas' receipt of the fee brought the reply from Chairman James C. Eastland, D-Miss., that there are no plans for an investigation at this time.

"I am not sure we have jurisdiction," Eastland said. "Under the Constitution it seems to me that jurisdiction lies with the House."

This reference to the House's power to bring impeachment proceedings requiring trial before the Senate, found Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee in no mood to institute such action.

"I have no intention of starting any impeachment proceedings," he said in a separate interview.

Justice Fortas' name was being dropped in strategic places by Wolfson and his business associate, Elkin Gerbert in their effort to stay out of prison.

Fortas fully denied he accepted any money or that he did not return the money until 11 months had passed and three months after Wolfson and an associate had been indicted for violating federal securities laws.

The article also said "whatever services he may or may not have rendered to the foundation."

Senators Open Debate On Reorganization

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—The Senate today started what was expected to be a marathon debate on the big problem of reorganizing state government.

While the Senate went over the massive restructuring plan, the House prepared to take up the reform package providing rules for legislative expenses and purposes.

Before the debate began, the Senate passed an anti-nepotism bill within minutes after it was introduced. The proposal, sponsored by Sen. Jerry Thomas, D-Riverside Beach, with the co-sponsorship of all other senators, was approved 39-6.

The measure, which bypassed Senate committees, prohibits state and local officials from hiring or promoting relatives in an agency controlled by the official.

Before getting into the lengthy arguments on the future structure of state government, the Senate also approved a House-passing bill to speed restoration of rights of citizenship to ex-convicts. The proposal would force the Cabinet to review the case after the prisoner completed his full sentence or received a pardon.

The two bills to come before the group until May 14, after Rathel had explained the importance of getting the bill passed as quickly as possible to insure the "landing" of a potential $300 million industry, whose decision to locate here will be based on whether city receives bonding legislation.

The bills as drawn would allow the bonding district to be created for Sanford, Sanford East and Sanford West, portions of which are located in the county but near to Sanford.

Passage of industrial bonding legislation would allow the issuance of revenue certificates for companies desiring to locate in either of the three specified areas and the Sanford Airport.

No powers to condemn land or taxing authority is included in the bills, which would permit the sale of aid bonds for construction of factories.

Rathel said the bonds could not be sold unless the firm using them are "sound" and capable of handling obligations.

Suspect Arrested

A 25-year-old Sanford man is being held in Seminole County jail after a 16-year-old girl's mother signed a warrant charging attempted rape.

Kenneth Edward Slack, 1202 East Fourth Street, is being held in lieu of $10,000 bond after he allegedly offered the girl a ride home when he encountered her at a Sanford service station.

The girl told deputies Slack and another man took her out SR 46 west past I-4 and turned off on a dirt road near a lake where the attempted rape is alleged to have happened.

The second youth in the car persuaded Slack to leave the girl alone and return her to Sanford, the report added.

Detroit, St. Louis Have Problems..

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

East meets West tonight for the first time in baseball's traditional-breaking centennial season. It won't be too soon for the Detroit Tigers and St. Louis Cardinals.

After a month of uninterrupted inter-division play in the majors' new East-West alignment, the 24 clubs began extended swings outside their groupings — with the runaway 1968 pennant winners scrambling to make up lost ground.

The world champion Tigers, who captured the American League flag by winning 102 games and losing 64, will be in the Detroit-Cardinals game last night, four games below the break-even mark and below the break-even mark of the Cardinals, who had won 101 games and lost 65.

Is Griffith Letting Up??

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP) — Emile Griffith means that nobody lets me punch away inside any more since the accident.

For a long time after "the accident" it was Emile himself who seemed to let up when he had opponents in trouble with body or head punches. Now the former three-time welterweight champion and two-time middleweight champion fight at Madison Square Garden March 24, 1962. Parley League and last night, he stopped in the 12th round, 10 days later.

Griffith said referee Zach Clayton was too quick to break in his losing 16-rounder with Stanley "Kitten" Hayward in Hayward's home town of Philadelphia last Oct. 29.

"I got off to a late start in that fight," said Griffith who meets Hayward in a return bout at the Garden next Monday night. "I got moving real good from the fourth round on and I had him in real trouble in the 10th. But Clayton kept coming in between us when I was working real good inside."

The new boat owner in Florida should acquaint himself with the safety requirements in this state as applied to motor boat operation. He will be informed that pleasure craft in this country are classified according to length up to 65 feet. Vessels in excess of such length are documented as yachts.

To determine which class applies, the length of a boat is the distance measured from end to end over the deck excluding sheer. It is the straight line measurement of the overall length from the foremost part of the vessel to the aftmost part, measured parallel to the center line. Bowsprites, bumpkins, outboard motors, rudders, brackets, etc., are not to be included in the measurement. Class A covers boats less than 16 feet; Class 1, 16 feet to less than 26 feet; Class 2, 26 feet to less than 40 feet; and Class 3, 40 feet to less than 65 feet.

Early Detection Of Deafness Important For Children

By VIRGINIA SCHEGLES
(Last in a series)

"I'll tackle a two-week-old until he is two and a half or three years old, sometimes five," Dr. Pollock explained. "The people in the practice (of medicine) for the most part are not alert to this possibility (of hearing loss)." Dr. Pollock repeated what so many

The early detection is important. "Often we do not see a baby until he is two and a half or three years old, sometimes five," Dr. Pollock explained. "The people in the practice (of medicine) for the most part are not alert to this possibility (of hearing loss)." Dr. Pollock repeated what so many of them had heard from family doctors when the mothers expressed a fear that something was not right because the baby was not talking yet. "Give him time, he'll come along," Dr. Pollock said. "We do not want to notify parents at first, particularly while the mother is still in the hospital. It's a difficult time for them anyway, and 16 to 12 per cent of the children do NOT have the loss but go through that trauma," said Mrs. Pollock.

"Now we notify parents with a letter telling them that the child has been cleared for hearing—we don't use the words 'passed' or 'failed,'" she smiled.

Other letters are more cautionary, telling that the child has not been cleared for hearing, but that it may have been soundly or distracted at the time. They add that there is the possibility, though, that the child cannot hear and that he should be brought back for more tests.

The clinicians' and parents' complaint is that too few doctors detect the problem and refer the parents to the clinic. In answer to a question on the need for compulsory legislation, though, Dr. Pollock said, "We're not ready for that yet. We've got to show we can do it better before we push for this type of legislation."

But he said, "I've been glossed over to much in medical experience. Only one out of 1,000 has a hearing loss, but there has been universal hospital acceptance of the PKU test (phenylketonuria, which may produce mental retardation), which picks up only one in 4,000-5,000.

"The test can be done in any (population) area—any place there is a hospital with a newborn nursery could do it.

"Now we see mother of the honor, was also presented a white carnation corsage to complement her turquoise linen sheath. The two hostesses were attired in beautiful gowns brought from the Philippines by Mrs. Smith and Wilma Morgan, mother of Mrs. Alexander, when they were on the General Federation of Women's Club tour. Mrs. Smith wore a white drop-drip cotton enhanced with red cut-work embroidery and Mrs. Alexander wore a beige drop-drip cotton sheath with dark fern embroidery.

Among the floral arrangements in the living room was an antique brass and crystal pedestal center filled with white daisies and anemones and an arrangement of white snapdragons and maiden's hair fern in a tall cut glass vase. The refreshment table, from the living room to the refreshment table, was overlaid with a white lace cloth

HAVE YOU HEARD? — Mrs. David Driefuerst showed George Fleet and David Driefuerst the posters which the parents of hard-of-hearing children will distribute to stores and other places this month in observance of "Better Hearing Month." Parents of deaf children in Seminole, Orange, and Osceola Counties formed the Council for Hard-of-Hearing Children to promote early detection and treatment of deafness in children.

LISTEN AND LEARN — Mr. and Mrs. Gene Cumbar of Seminole County talked with Dr. Kenneth Pollock, chief audiologist at the Shands Teaching Hospital in Gainesville, and Mrs. Pollock, clinic supervisor in audiology in the Speech and Hearing Clinic of the University of Florida. Dr. Pollock addressed the members of the Council for Hard-of-Hearing Children Thursday night at the Orlando College Park Branch of First Federal Savings and Loan Association, describing the testing program now being used to determine hearing loss of newborns. Citrus Sherbet Punch For Summer

A tall, shimmering drink with a tangy taste is the perfect "pick-me-up" for a scorching summer day. As the temperature climbs upward, citrus sherbet punch brings welcome relief from the summer heat. A colorful and refreshing addition to the buffet table on the patio or at parties, the drink can be an entertainment highlight or an extra special family treat.

Freshly squeezed citrus juice is the secret that makes this punch an outstanding summer treat. Bits of fresh orange and lemon or lime add flavor as well as a boost of vitamin C. An electric citrus juicer such as Braun's takes the time and trouble out of squeezing works equally well on a large orange, as it does on the finest lime.

Quick and easy to prepare, this festive summer punch can be made in a matter of minutes from a few simple ingredients.

CITRUS SHERBET PUNCH
2 cups freshly squeezed orange juice
1 cup freshly squeezed lemon or lime juice
1 pint lemon or lime sherbet
1 pint vanilla ice cream
1 quart chilled ginger ale
Combine first four ingredients in a large mixing bowl. Beat together until mixture is well blended. Gradually stir in chilled ginger ale. Pour into tall, frosted glasses and top each drink with a splash of fresh mint.

Salad oil — olive oil — mixed with soy sauce, sweet sherry and a slightly crushed clove of garlic makes a delicious marinade for flank steak that is to be broiled.

Swissburgers start faster when placed pyramid fashion in the grill. Apply lighter fluid to the top and all briquets. Wait at least one minute before igniting. Once they turn gray, use tongs or a poker to spread the briquets evenly around the fire-box.

Swissburgers will start you sizzling, if you prepare them this way. Sandwich a thick slice of Swiss cheese between two thick hamburger patties. Add hot mustard and grill over glowing barbecue briquets to the degree of doneness you prefer.
