Tobacco, Booze Taxes Boosted; Sales Levy Dies

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—An agreement on taxes hammered out early today nearly fell apart, but the House quickly reversed itself to pass two key elements—cigarette and liquor tax hikes.

THEY'LL HELP CITY CHANGE
A group of students from the University of Florida School of Architecture in Gainesville listens as Greater Sanford Development Corp. chairman Sara Jacobson (left) reviews some of the work they'll be doing under contract to SDC to help redevelop Fort Mellon Park and the Sanford waterfront. The group, including Martin Stevenson (foreground), met this morning at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce building and later received orientations from county and city representatives. Ma Bell 'Least Risky?'

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—Southern Bell Telephone's rate of return should be reduced, not increased, because it's the "least risky utility" in Florida, according to Asst. Public Counsel Earl Henderson. Urging the Public Service Commission on Thursday to slash the $225-million rate hike requested by Southern Bell, Henderson said its 12.13 percent rate of return should be trimmed to between 10.5 and 11 percent.

But company attorney Walter Alford argued that the 14 percent return rate requested by the company had been fully justified by the evidence presented at hearings on the rate hike. Henderson and Bell clashed as the PSC held final arguments on the rate hike. The commission is scheduled to render its decision on July 19 and 20.

Henderson told the commission that two other telephone companies operating in the state have lower rates of return than Southern Bell. They are United Telephone, 11.28 percent, and Florida Telephone, 11.74 percent. "No one here seriously believes United Telephone and Florida Telephone are less risky than Southern Bell," he said. "Therefore, this commission must lower the rate of equity return below the lowest other telephone companies."

Lake Mary Shuns County Threat, Gives Nod To 1,600-Acre Annex

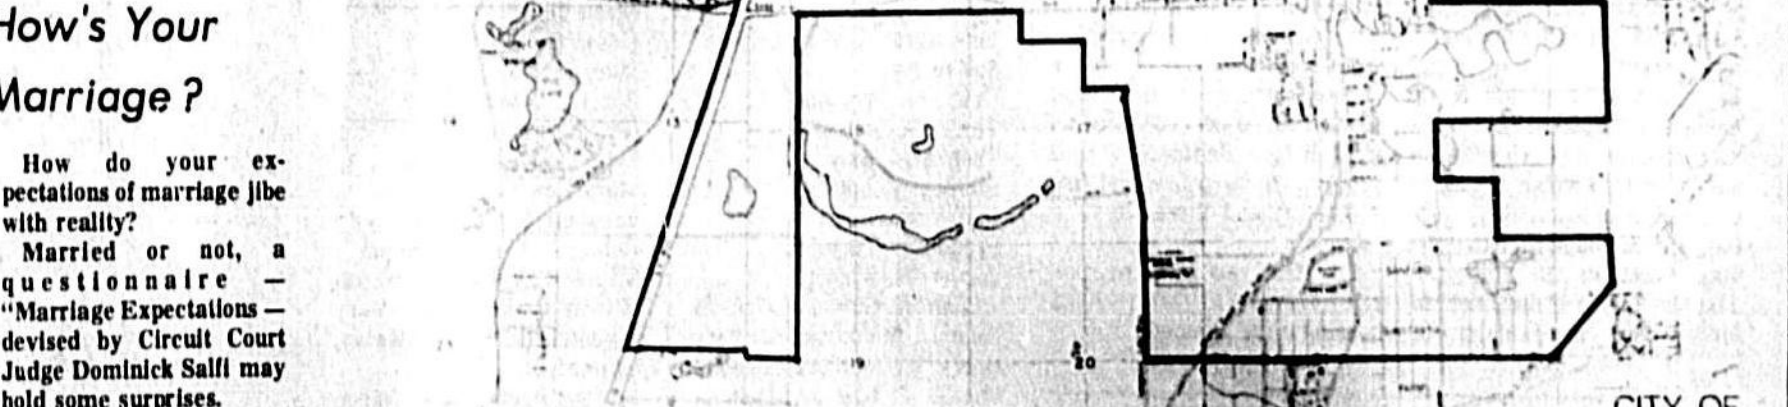

The Lake Mary City Council has given its informal stamp of approval to the requested annexation of the 1,600 acre-plus property including the Heathrow Planned Unit Development (PUD) and four other parcels of land. Public hearing on the annexation and final reading of the ordinance to make the annexation effective are to take place at the July 21 regular meeting of the city council, Mayor Walter Sorenson said today.

Sex Life Decisions Tough Morals Investigators Edgy About Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four Justice Department lawyers are in the tough business of deciding when an employee's sex life heaps disgrace on the department. They say they're somewhat uncomfortable with the chore because they're not fond of poking around in the private lives of some of their fellow workers.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PUBLIC: FILL YOUR GAS TANK WITH WATER, ADD THE POTENT PILL, RESULT—INSTANT GASOLINE.

Do you believe that? I did when I was eleven years old. The story went that there was a man in our neighborhood who had invented such a pill and was paid a million dollars (an incredible sum at that time) by a major oil company to keep it off the market. Some advertising is like that.

CAN PEOPLE BE CONNED?

Not really. We believe we're no smarter than anyone else. We also hope we're not stupid. We don't think anyone should underestimate our intelligence and we certainly would not underestimate theirs. Frankly, I would not buy a product from someone who overstates his case or makes outrageous claims about his product because I get the feeling I'm about to get taken.

Our philosophy when we began this series of "Open Letters To The Public" was to tell you frankly and openly about our product. We told you our cars weren't perfect, nothing is, but it's the best car you can get for the money. We told you that you probably wouldn't get 50 miles to the gallon and why. We told you that a car should last for 50,000 miles and how to make it last. We even asked you to compare our car to the competition and to make sure you actually test drive a car before you buy it. Most people don't.

So, without making outrageous claims or overstating our case, we ran this series of "Open Letters" to inform you about the way we do business, the quality of our automobiles and our desire to keep you as a customer.

WE WERE HAPPY TO HEAR FROM YOU.

When you think about the fact that we have sold more than 400,000 Toyotas since 1968 and that over 6 million people have read this series of "Open Letters" in more than 150 newspapers, it is amazing that we only got 21 letters from people with complaints about their Toyotas. And we were happy to get the complaints because we could have lost these people forever as customers. They could also have cost us other customers with negative comments to their friends and neighbors.

WERE THEY RIGHT?

Yes, some of them were right. But, no matter what business you're in, it's impossible to please everyone. Some people are of such a mind that the more you give them, the more they want. Thankfully, most people only want what they are entitled to and we go out of our way to give them that.

WE KEEP IN TOUCH BETTER.

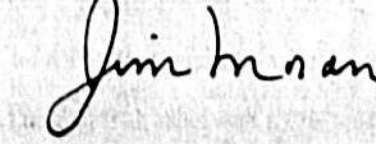

When we started this business we knew the importance of keeping in touch with our customers, so we built the most effective and intensive customer relations program in the industry. We achieved the lowest customer complaint rate in the industry. Now to make it even better, we have upgraded our customer relations and customer follow-up programs.

PARDON US WHILE WE TRY TO SELL YOU A TOYOTA.

We just want to tell you that a Toyota is one of the best quality built automobiles in the world. The quality begins on the assembly line and works right on through the dealership where you take delivery. That's why Toyota has such a good reputation among its owners.

Finally, we have been telling you about our way of doing business where you, the customer, comes first.

When you buy a Toyota from any of the Toyota Dealers in North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama or Florida, it's just like having a good friend at the factory.

Sincerely,

Jim Moran, President
Southeast Toyota Distributors, Inc.

Nobody Sanctions Amin's Practices

Idi Amin of Uganda created quite an uproar by his brief disappearance after announcing that he was leaving for the Commonwealth meeting in London.

The international worry about Amin's plans is hard to understand. Had he tried to enter England, Amin undoubtedly would have been stopped by Britain's security forces.

Amin's subsequent fabrication that he met with revolutionary leaders from Tanzania and Gambia instead of going to London shouldn't have worried anyone.

What's really wrong with Amin's latest effort to upstage the Commonwealth meeting is that he still is around to impose order by rules or by threats to foreigners living in his country.

The glib diplomatic era of world politics is far behind us. Nobody would suggest an expeditionary force be sent to Uganda or that Amin be removed by skulduggery.

But it is an irony that Amin has not lost any dollars in aid, military shipments or trade agreements despite his high-handed acts of genocide, murder, torture, racism and psychological baiting.

Amin would not remain in power long if legal, political, social and economic sanctions were used against him, starting with a statement of position by the United Nations Human Rights Commission.

A Two-Way Street

Breaking down trade barriers abroad is just as important to the cause of free trade as keeping protectionists at home from erecting new ones.

Sometimes it seems our State Department is more willing to sit on our own businessmen and labor unions that it is to protest to foreign governments about restrictions on trade.

It is remarkable that while the United States is running a record trade deficit that is expected to amount to at least $20 billion this year, Japan and West Germany are running record trade surpluses.

Both countries export thousands of automobiles to the U. S. But U. S. auto manufacturers are unable to sell their products in any quantity in those countries because of trade restrictions.

Japan has placed roadblocks in the way of American exports of citrus fruits and other farm products, autos and computer services.

Korea is heading for a trade surplus this year but continues to restrict imports, including American goods.

The potential for sale of American farm products in the prosperous Europe has never been realized because the United States has never been given free entry into the Common Market.

ANGLE-WALTERS How To Reward Tyranny

WASHINGTON — Is it possible that the World Bank and other international development funds are in the business of rewarding tyranny, dictatorship, repression, torture and blatant violations of human rights?

From 1970 to 1972, the Philippines received $69 million from the World Bank and three similar organizations which specialize in providing aid to developing nations.

During 1973-75, the three years after initiation of those repressive measures, aid totaled $214 million, a whopping 210 per cent increase over the three pre-dictatorial years.

From 1970 to 1972, South Korea received $105 million from the same four international financial institutions. In late 1972, President Chung Park fled the country under martial law, ordered strict censorship and arrested citizens suspected of political opposition to his regime.

During the next three years, 1973-75, aid amounted to $294 million, an increase of 170 per cent over the 1970-72 period when the nation enjoyed at least some semblance of democracy.

From 1971 to 1973, when Chile's government was headed by Salvador Allende, a Marxist who nevertheless attained office through a popular and constitutional election, that country received only $6.4 million from the World Bank and three other aid funds.

An Army-led coup toppled Allende in late 1973, leading to the establishment of a military junta which today governs the country under a reign of terror.

Those figures, compiled from official reports by Americans for Democratic Action, are being quoted frequently these days as Congress and the administration wrestle with the question of how to implement President Carter's oft-repeated pledge to emphasize human rights in our dealings with other nations.

The setting for the debate is pending legislation which authorized a United States contribution of more than $3 billion during the next three years to the World Bank and five similar assistance funds.

A coalition of conservative Republicans and liberal Democrats convinced the House to approve an amendment to that bill which directs this country's representatives to those international organizations to vote against aid "to any country which engages in a consistent pattern of gross violations of internationally recognized human rights."

The investigation forced Dupuy to resign as director of the Federal Energy Administration's regional office in Atlanta. The Justice Dept., meanwhile, has reviewed the case and has sent it back to the FEA for further investigation.

Of course, the White House was under pressure from Dupuy to restore Dupuy to power. The round-faced, close-mouthed Mississippi senator doesn't often raise his voice. But when he

Take away abortions and you have babies. Unwanted babies. About one million a year across the nation. Babies who must be fed, clothed, housed and given medical care — often with tax supported welfare and Medicaid dollars which total between $450 million and $600 million a year for the first year of life, according to a Zero Population Growth Foundation estimate.

RONALD REAGAN White House Must Have 2 Left Feet

The White House is handling the Agency for Consumer Protection bill with such clumsiness you would think it had two left feet.

This was the year the perennial bill to be hauled through — or so Ralph Nader and his allies believed. The bill would create a new Federal bureau with power to interfere in the proceedings of all other Federal agencies on behalf of "consumer interests."

Trouble began for the legislation in March. High level bureaucrats in the Federal Office of Consumer Affairs exchanged memos about plans to mount an intensive lobbying effort.

Then, in an effort to get it back on the track, President Carter on June 1 said, "I've asked Bert Lance, the Director of the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), to give me an estimate of how many different agencies in the government could be eliminated if this tiny (consumer protection) agency (the ACP) is formed and how much money would result in savings if they are channeled into this small agency. There are 13 that have been identified by the OMB, leaving intact those that serve a unique purpose. This involves about 100 people with an annual budget of $10.4 million. So, for anyone to cloud this issue by maintaining that this is another major agency piled on top of a bureaucratic mess, that's simply a misleading statement."

It was curious about that list of 13 agencies which OMB felt could be eliminated. Allowing time for Nader to get it typed up, on June 15 we called OMB to inquire about it.

Next we called the White House press office. The woman who answered the phone said she couldn't provide a copy and that we were calling the wrong place anyway. We would have to contact Esther Peterson's consumer adviser office.

We did, again, no list was produced of the 13 agencies which could be eliminated. Nancy Chase of the Peterson office said that she did not know when such a list would be available. She doubted that it would be released by Mrs. Peterson's office, in any event, if and when it was released.

So much for open government. Did President Carter imagine the list of 13 agencies which he could sacrifice in order to avoid bureaucratic growth? Did Bert Lance? Two weeks after he announced its existence — at the same time chiding critics of the Agency for Consumer Protection — the list was still a mystery.

Meanwhile, the bill has slowed to a crawl on Capitol Hill. Chances of final passage have dropped from nearly 100 per cent to no better than 50-50 and Congress is not scheduled to take it up again until after the summer recess.

Mrs. Brumley, Early Flier, Dies In Geneva

Memorial services for Mrs. Isabella E. Brumley, 83, of Geneva, who died June 20, at Florida Hospital in Orlando, were held Thursday at First Presbyterian Church of Sanford.

ISABELLA BRUMLEY Eichner of Philadelphia; John Eichner of Green, Farms, Conn.; and George Eichner of Baltimore. Memorials may be sent to the Sanford or Geneva Garden Clubs or the Heart Fund.

Convicts Can't Form Union, Court Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court, handing prison inmates two legal defeats, says no state prisoners have the right to unionize and some cannot try to overturn their convictions.

In its second ruling, in the case of an Arcadia, Fla. man appealing his third-degree murder conviction, the court appeared to retreat from a 1983 decision that had assured more federal court access to state prisoners.

Under the late Chief Justice Earl Warren, the court ruled 14 years ago that a state prisoner who had not challenged the validity of his conviction during trial or state appeal proceedings could do so in federal court if he could prove he had not deliberately failed to make the attempt earlier.

In the new opinion, also written by Rehnquist, the court decided John Sykes access to a federal court by imposing a new requirement.

Sykes failed during his trial and during a state appeal to challenge the validity of his conviction to police in the 1972 shooting of Willie Gilbert.

Later, he won a federal court order for a new hearing into whether use of the confession as evidence was valid in light of Sykes' claims that he was too drunk to understand police information or his Constitutional rights.

The Supreme Court reversed the lower court's decision, ruling that Sykes should not have been permitted access to the federal court unless he could prove he had a good reason for not raising the concession challenge in state court.

In another decision Thursday, the court overturned part of a 1987 anti-trust decision and as a result made it easier for manufacturers to limit where their products can be sold by retailers.

The case involved a California free speech case, CTS St. Paul Corporation's "elbow room" plan of limiting authorized dealerships for sale of its televisions to a certain number in a geographical location.

The court said such a practice was not an automatic violation of anti-trust laws.

Congressman Balks At Taxes — Claims Maryland 'Corrupt'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Missouri congressman says his Maryland home has been burglarized three times, the state government is "corrupt" and he will not pay one dime of taxes in Maryland until the highest court decides that I must pay such taxes if any are owing in excess of my Missouri income taxes.

Asked by a reporter how he would be over the state of Maryland, the Missouri Democrat growled: "That is none of your business. You don't have a right to know."

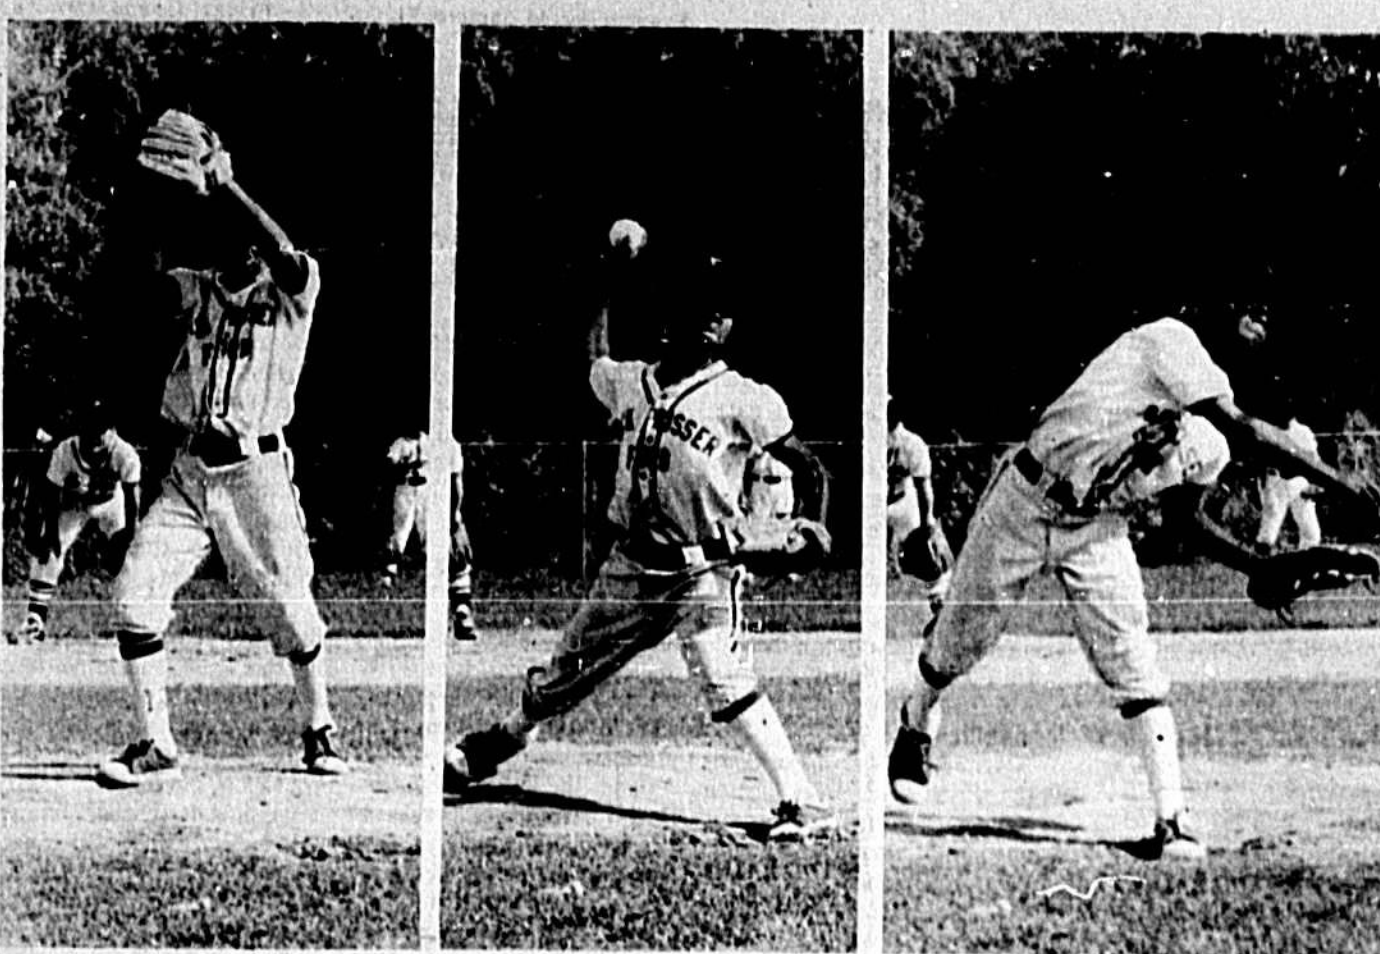

But state tax collectors are threatening court action unless Ichorod agrees to pay up.

In an exchange of written bars with the Maryland comptroller's office, Ichorod has acknowledged that he has not filed tax return statements to the University of Missouri, says he to wit, Ichorod noted, his house has been burglarized three times. Ichorod's congressional colleague from Maryland don't see why Ichorod doesn't pay up and they have been known to suggest it. But Ichorod snapped at one such Maryland congressman: "I found out that... Maryland government is corrupt to the core and that many businessmen not only have to have one black bag, but have to carry actually as many as two black bags in order to do business."

Railroaders Fall, 19-13

Davis, Debose Boost Chase

Alton Davis had four hits and Dean Debose added three helping Chase top First Federal, 19-13 in Sanford's Sunday afternoon game. Mike Galin had two hits including a double for the winners.

Chase got on top early with three in the first. Alfred Bookard got on errors to start things and Bruce Franklin and Galin walked and Debose struck out Davis ripped a double driving in all three base runners.

In the bottom of the inning First Federal picked up two runs on a three walks and a single from Dewayne Anderson.

'Watchbird' Keeps Tabs On TV Time
SUNNYVALE, Calif. (AP) — One bright Sunday afternoon when Barry Johnson was outside working in his yard he looked around the neighborhood and realized something was missing. His daughter.
Everyone but 8-year-old Christine was outside, playing in the sunshine and enjoying the day. Christine was inside, parked in front of the television set.
'I didn't realize there was a problem until these nice days,' Johnson said. 'And I thought, 'What is she doing in here? Life is outside. You can play ball, you can do all kinds of things.'
'The TV set had really become a baby sitter.'
Now when Christine sits down in front of the tube, a brightly colored cardboard bird watches her from atop the set. When Christine turns off the set — usually after an hour at most — she moves the cardboard wheel behind the bird to show she has logged another unit or two of viewing time toward a weekly quota set by her parents.
Under the system, say Johnson and his wife, Jean, Christine has cut her television time back from more than 20 hours a week to less than 5. She's joined Little League and is devoting more time than before to extracurricular activities and other projects.
'One of the night arguments about whether the table would be set before or after the "Bewitched" rerun was over, whether she would watch "The Brady Bunch" or get started on her homework.
The Johnsons believe their "TV Watchbird" can help other families, newly aware like

That Vassar Clements is a virtuoso fiddler as beyond dispute. He routinely produces runs and licks beyond the imagination or reach of most fiddlers. His reception as a rock musician was the most enthusiastic of any crowd response at the Great Southern in recent months.

Bluegrass To Rock
Clements: Sell-Out But Not Sold Out

Followers of the musical career of fiddler Vassar Clements have become used to performing the Klansville native's energetic and virtuosic bluegrass music. But Clements revealed another side of his musical personality Wednesday night before a stomping, shouting, standing-room-only crowd at Great Southern Music Hall in Orlando, fronting a five-piece band equally proficient with country or rock tunes.
'I can't take it. The guy's sold out,' barked a friend of mine who left after Vassar's first two numbers.
His viewpoint was clearly a minority one. Clements' reception as a rock musician was the most enthusiastic of any crowd response at Great Southern in recent months.
That Clements is a virtuoso fiddler is beyond dispute. He routinely produces runs and licks beyond the imagination and reach of most fiddlers.
His rock band is well-rehearsed and enthusiastic, and the music the band produces is most enjoyable.
Vassar has played straight bluegrass for a sufficient number of years that his switch to electric music should be easily understood. It is the mark of a true musician that his style and musical orientation will grow and change in the course of his career, and Vassar's switch to electric music is part of trend that has seen Earl Scruggs, the father of the bluegrass banjo style, join a country-rock band with his sons after splitting up with Lester Flatt, who remains a dedicated bluegrass player.
Clements was at the top of his form Tuesday night, from the opening number, traditional rock and roll hit "Night Train," to the final encore, a medley of traditional fiddle tunes "Orange Blossom Special" and "Black Mountain Rag."
The night's entertainment also included an excellent rendition of "Melissa," an Allman Brothers number.
The stoke Clements was joined by the peripatetic Jackie Garrrett on keyboards (including synthesizer), Michael Wash on bass, Dave Humphreys on drums and Doug Jernigan on pedal steel.
Jernigan deserves special mention. He plays his pedal steel like a six-string electric guitar, producing light, single-note solos, often harmonizing with Clements' single-noted fiddle work. It was a beautiful combination.
The concert was begun by Paul Champion and the Springer Brothers, an excellent Central Florida bluegrass band.

MR. AND MRS. LEROY JAMES MCCLENDON

Williams, McClendon United In Marriage
Sandra Denise Williams and Leroy James McClendon Jr. were married June 18 at 2 p.m. at New Salem Primitive Baptist Church, Sanford with Rev. O. W. Williams officiating at the candlelight, double ring ceremony.
The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mannie Clark, 1016 Holly Ave., Sanford. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy J. McClendon Sr., 1007 West 7th St., Sanford.
Given in marriage by her uncle, Leroy Williams, the bride wore a formal length gown of white silk organza. The off-the-shoulder neckline was enhanced by a waist length stole of white silk organza trimmed in French edging lace, and the long skirt was ruffled tiers. Her shoulder length veil of illusion was attached to a seed pearl cap. She carried a bouquet of blue and white roses, daisies and baby's breath.
Rose Marie Beasley was maid of honor. She wore a blue and white mum. Cynthia Neal, sister of the bride, served as bridesmaid. She wore a blue formal length gown of polyester and carried a single blue and white mum.
Grandvieve Eubanks was best man. She wore Gerald Casanova and Robert Grigley, and groomsmen was Lamar Richardson.
Sabrena Washington, cousin of the bride, was flower girl.
The newlyweds will live at 1100 Pecan Ave., Sanford.
The bridegroom is employed as a salesman at J. C. Penny's and the bride is a tag clerk at the Seminole County Tax Collector's Office.

Tell Dentist To Clean Up His Act
DEAR ABBY: My dentist does very good work for a reasonable price. Many people go to him because his price is so right.
What bothers me is his office, which always looks so dirty. Even his towels and his "white jacket" don't look clean. His instruments look rusty and dirty, and while he works he puts them down on an unclean surface.
Sometimes he leaves in the chair for a few minutes to work on another patient, and when he comes back he goes right to work on me again without even washing his hands!
Abby, how can I tell this doctor to wash his hands between patients and to clean up his office?
Sign me...
MR. CLEAN
DEAR MR. CLEAN: You can tell him what you've just told me. He might clean up his act, but I wouldn't bet on it. If I were you, I'd find another dentist. What does it matter if the "jacket" doesn't look clean. His instruments look rusty and dirty, and while he works he puts them down on an unclean surface.
DEAR ABBY: Our dear and saintly minister preaches a beautiful sermon every Sunday morning, and at the conclusion of each service he goes to the rear of the church to shake hands with all the members of the congregation as they go out the door.
The problem is that he grasps

each hand and squeezes it as though he were cracking nuts! My poor mother, with her hands gnarled by arthritis, waits in line as though she were going to get execution!
I'm sure our minister reads your column, Abby, so if you print my letter, he may recognize himself and take the hint. Thank you.
W.
DEAR W.: Your mother — and all the rest of you out there for whom an enthusiastic handshake is painful — should not hesitate to hand in greeting, "Gently, please — arthritis!"
DEAR ABBY: You are my last hope. I am 29, considered intelligent, and a lot of fun, and everyone admires my jolly, outgoing personality. I have had a few dates, but no man has ever taken me seriously. I am the "real, buddy and big sister" the men come to for advice about the girls they "care about."
I have played Santa Claus at our office Christmas party for the last time, Abby. In plain language, can you give me a
