

Gavin Says '50-50 Chance' Won't Quit Job Leading Missile Fight

WASHINGTON (UP)—Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin said today there is still a "50-50 chance" he won't quit his job of leading the Army's fight to match Russia's missile might.

At the same time the outspoken three-star general stepped up his public attack in the Army's behalf—calling for money to increase weapons research and double Army manpower to 25 divisions.

Gavin expressed his views in an interview after he was reported to have told Senate investigators Monday he decided to retire after being informed he was "no longer being considered for promotion... to a more responsible position."

Wants Gavin To Remain Army Secretary William M. Brucker issued a statement saying he wants Gavin to remain on as chief of Army research and development. He said Gavin "has a brilliant future in the Army and is certainly four-star material."

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.), chairman of the Senate preparedness subcommittee before which Gavin appeared, warned today against "even a hint of reprisal" against military men who oppose administration policies before Congress.

He said Gavin's treatment "certainly will make others hesitant to speak frankly and candidly." Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), a subcommittee member, said Congress must protect officers "who speak sincerely and openly."

He urged Brucker to refuse to rehire Gavin and give him "the promotion he deserves." Adm. Rickover "Worried" Another officer, Rear Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, told the inquiry that lagging research programs and a lack of a sense of urgency among top officials have left him "very much worried that it is almost too late to match the achievements of the Soviet Union."

In a related development, key congressmen forecast defeat for proposals to create a single military chief of staff. Chairman Carl Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee said if such a bill gets to his committee "it won't get out."

Work on Center is progressing on schedule. The Sanford Civic Center is progressing on schedule, Architect John Burton IV reported.

The 200 structural members in which all arches of the auditorium's huge roof rests was installed last Saturday.

Laminated wood arches weighing more than two tons arrived by way of the Atlantic Coast Line and were set in place Saturday afternoon.

There were two sections of the proscenium arch which together gives a stage clearance of 11 feet, the width of the stage is 22 feet.

The Sanford Fire Department reports a quiet 24-hours ending this morning.

Only one alarm was answered when, at 7 o'clock this morning, sparking electric wires at 512 East 5th St. created a scare. There was no damage, it was reported.

City Planning For Sanford Nears

City planning is one step nearer for the City of Sanford following a joint meeting of the Board of Sanford City Commissioners and the city's Zoning and Planning Commission to hear Milton Foides, assistant planner in the planning division of the Florida Development Commission.

Foides, discussing the matching fund plan of the federal government administered by the agency outlined for members of both groups the details required to obtain the aid for city planning.

"The federal government does not sit in judgment over your program," Foides explained, and added "we will not, in any way, dictate to you the type of planning for your city."

"It is up to you to adopt the program submitted by the consultant employed," he said.

Both the Board of Commissioners and the City Zoning and Planning Commission agreed that interviews should be conducted immediately anticipating an application for the federal aid planning before the end of January.

"We have filed only one application thus far," Foides explained, "which included request for funds for approximately eight cities. We are planning our second request and would like to include Sanford."

The state representative of the Development Commission warned, however, that "no planning program is complete when it is set on your desk."

Possibility loomed high last night that an engineer "or one capable of carrying on the program for the city" would be employed to assist the consultant and become (Continued on Page 8)

Byron Herlong Will Install Kiwanis Officers Tomorrow

Officers of the Sanford Kiwanis Club will be installed tomorrow at the club's noon luncheon meeting held at the Yacht Club.

Byron Herlong of Leesburg, lieutenant governor of District Five of Florida Kiwanis will be the installing officer.

Mayor David Gatchel will officially take his office as president of the local civic club along with other officers and directors of the local organization.

Who Will Be Mayor Of Sanford In '58?

By J. Marion Harman Sr. Who will be Mayor of the City of Sanford for 1958?

That question may or may not be answered tonight at the organizational meeting of the Board of Sanford City Commissioners.

Two commissioners will be sworn in and seated at tonight's meeting of the board, Robert S. Brown, elected last November and A. L. Wilson, re-elected in last year's election.

Whether or not a mayor will be elected tonight rests in the power of politics and whether or not any one man has been able to sway enough votes to claim the election in the first balloting or later balloting of the evening.

There are remote possibilities, according to rumbly rumors, that there will be two factions in the 1958 Board of Sanford City Commissioners.

Should such politics come up in tonight's meeting it will be the first in the past several years. The Board of Sanford City Commissioners has been a "quiet" board for several years with no concerted action by any one man, faction, or clique—even city elections have been quiet, with few votes and no issues.

It could be possible that to elect a mayor this year the City Clerk, H. N. Sayer, will find it necessary to use the City Charter's "draw a name out of the hat" rule.

The City Attorney, William C. Hutchison, will, more than likely, be keeping a close eye on the election. Other elections have been successful when the "sustained" vote or the "no vote" was used to complete the majority in a "tight" election.

There has been no open discussion or open "politicizing" for the honorary post of Mayor of Sanford.

The question is continuing to circulate: "Who will be Mayor of Sanford for 1958?"

Rotarians Hear Top 10 Stories

"News travels so fast in these modern times that big stories sometimes run into each other on their way to editorial newsrooms of the nation's newspapers, radio stations, TV stations and other information outlets," J. Marion Harman Sr., Executive Editor of The Sanford Herald told the Sanford Rotary Club yesterday.

In his annual account of the big stories of the year before the Rotary Club, Harman said "News has gotten so big and competitive that it overshadows tremendous stories that bite at the heart and away the biggest of men wherever they might be."

of his school which he found folded in a discarded cake wrapper. "I'll wager that those bills looked to Rickie as the national debt would look to you and me," he said.

"The young man was honest—and with that event there was a lesson—a big news story that should carry over from 1957 to 1958 and to other years ahead of us. It was one of the biggest news stories of the year overshadowed by other events of the moment," Harman commented.

Nominations for the 10 biggest news stories of the year 1957 were largely sombre, the Rotary Club speaker pointed out. "That is to say, most of the big ones were bad news for somebody, although there was a sprinkling of stories that were generally pleasant or hopeful," he said. Many of the developments of the year, Harman explained, were of the good-for-one-and-bad-for-another sort. Moscow rejoiced over its Sputniks, but Washington was depressed. The Braves gave Milwaukee its biggest celebration in October, but their world series victory was a blow to Yankee fans in New York.

THE PROSCENIUM ARCH at the Sanford Civic Center is set in place. Workmen can be seen at top bringing the two sections together to form the key on which all other arches of the roof rest.

Jammed Cell Block Lock Causes Uproar At County Jail

GASTONIA UP—To onlookers, the situation at the Gaston County jail last week was hilarious. But to harried jail and court officials it was a horrible mess.

Before a jammed cell block lock could be fixed, city court had to be canceled because the defendants couldn't get out of jail, a drunk couldn't get in and one prisoner threatened to "take my business elsewhere."

It all began at midnight when an assistant jailer went to the cell block to release two trustees for duty. He found the lock on the main door leading to the block jammed.

Jailer Earl Clemmer called the company which manufactured the lock, and a repairman was sent from the office in Roanoke, Va. He arrived about noon and had to take the entire complicated mechanism apart before repairing it.

Meanwhile:

City court was called off because all six defendants on the docket were in the locked cell block.

LeRoy Carson, who has a long list of drunkenness convictions and who had been released only Wednesday, wandered "home," but had to wait to be committed.

A crowd gathered to offer advice, none of it appreciated by Clemmer.

One jailer finally managed to quiet a prisoner in the woman's section who kept singing "Birmingham Jail" in a loud voice.

Two prisoners slept through all the commotion.

Another muttered, "If I ever get out of this jail I'm going to take my business elsewhere."

After several hours, the locksmith got the door open. The trustees got out, Carson got in and court was rescheduled.

And Clemmer went home early to restore his shattered nerves.

Prolonged Liquid Diet Needn't Be Monotonous

By HERMAN H. BUNDESEN, M.D.

MAINTAINING a liquid diet, over a long period of time can be an extremely difficult thing, not only for the patient but for the one who is caring for him as well.

In addition to packing all the nutrition possible into such a diet, it must be made as appetizing as it can be.

Additional Benefits
 It might be a good idea to mix in a little skim milk powder for additional protein benefits.

Whipping up these concoctions is only half the job. If you really want to do all you can to aid your patient, take a little trouble to serve them attractively.

Is Every Kitchen
 A good solution to both problems lies in a simple utensil found in almost every kitchen—an egg beater. An electric blender is just as good, maybe even better, but an egg beater will do.

For example, instead of giving the patient plain milk, whip some cottage cheese into it. You can even add some chocolate or mint. Or you can blend it with cranberry juice with a little lime added.

With Strained Carrots
 Maybe the patient would prefer his milk with strained carrots. Or the carrots can be mixed with broth or pineapple juice.

If you decide upon strained carrots and milk add a little nutmeg. To flavor the broth blend, use some parsley; for the juice mixture, add brown sugar and cinnamon.

Wrap In A Napkin
 If the concoction you serve doesn't look too tasty, wrap a napkin around the glass.

These are just a few simple things you can take right in your own home to make things a bit more enjoyable for some ailing member of the family.

She was among a group of 22 students who came in contact with a rabid mongrel pup smuggled into the Alpha Omicron Pi sorority at Florida Southern College, Lakeland, Fla. Health authorities wired the Polk County Blood Bank, Lakeland, warning that Miss Kell had been a blood donor before leaving for her Christmas vacation. Her blood was then removed from the bank's inventory. The rabid dog died after being at the sorority for about a month. (International)

Zukerman contrasts this with a general strike in London in the 1920s, where he saw every car packed with persons picked up by the drivers who went out of their way to take them to destinations; and taxis were shared by several persons.

Another, rather more personal, assessment of New Yorkers is in a letter this column received from a lady on the West Coast. Her uncle, she says, came from New York to live there and was a source of embarrassment because:

"When he drove his car he yelled, hollered and called the local people 'stupid cads', created a fuss in every restaurant, yelled at our startled waitresses, insisted on wearing — all the time — a cream-colored 10-gallon Stetson and high heeled cowboy boots.

"He figured he was in the 'Wild and Woolly West.' As far as we were concerned, he'd come from the wild and woolly east."

Still a third correspondent, a gentleman from the Middle West, writes: "I am moved to expound upon your taxicab drivers." He tells of attentive and solicitous treatment he received from one driver who noticed he had an injured leg and carried a cane. And of the driver who took him to the station.

Be Sure To Get The Day Off To The Right Start

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.
YOU have to live a healthy life EVERY DAY. Unfortunately, not too many of you do. While I am as much against regimentation as any freedom-loving American, there are a few things all of us can and should do every day to get the most out of our lives and, at the same time, keep ourselves in good physical and mental condition.

Soft water, as all of you know, is much easier on the skin and gives you a much better lather from soap or detergent. Actually, the sticky curd which hard water minerals form when combined with soap may clog the pores of the skin and harbor bacteria.

Clean Clothes
Clean underwear and especially clean stockings every day are advisable. It doesn't make much sense to bathe daily and then don unclean clothes.

Warm Bath
A warm bath can help put you in a sleeping mood. A brisk morning shower will help wake you. Take whichever you prefer, but take a bath or shower every day.

Florida State Bank Reports All-Time High Of Deposits
The Florida State Bank of Sanford has experienced a record volume of activity during the year 1957. Over a million and one-half items were handled and processed. Much of this increased activity is due to the Florida State Bank

City Will Receive National Publicity From Boat Regatta

What shapes up as one of the most colorful races in the Grapefruit League Winter Tour will be in Sanford Jan. 10, when the Sanford Boat and Ski Club sponsors the Second Annual Sanford Outboard Regatta. It will bring to Sanford national publicity through the leading boating magazines.

According to officials and spokesmen of the American Power Boat Association, which is sanctioning the races of the world's fastest outboard hydroplanes on the waters of Lake Monroe, two of the most colorful teams in outboard racing will come to Sanford for the event.

Bud Wiget, whose famous "Monkey on a Stick" carried him to fame and a world record will add to the excitement of the regatta.

The "State Road Department is already cutting the grass and preparing the site for the races," Woodall said.

City Planning

This possibility faded somewhat when Commissioner Marie Warner asked Folsom "How many dollars are we talking about?"

Folsom told the commissioner that "I would not hazard a guess."

The city does not have funds appropriated for city planning except as a note in the contingency funds of the present fiscal budget.

Members of the Zoning and Planning Commission expressed approval of the move to secure much needed planning for the city.

Clifford McKibbin, chairman of the city's board said "It sounds like an excellent opportunity to get some planning without much cost."

Howard Paville, a member of the board remarked "I am very much impressed with the program."

George Morgan, member of the board, commented "I feel that we have talked long enough, if something is going to be done it should be done immediately. I am surprised that money has not been appropriated for this."

Mayor Gatchel said later "The wise thing for us to do is go ahead with choosing a consultant and get him in here. Now it seems that we have done something feasible."

AF Jet Stratotanker Crashes in Everglades

MIAMI (UP)—A big Air Force KC-97 Jet Stratotanker, unable to land because of severe rain squalls, crashed in the Everglades west of here early today. At least four of its six crewmen parachuted to safety.

The Florida highway patrol said the last report from the plane came about 3 a. m. when the pilot radioed that he was running out of fuel and heading over the Everglades to avoid crashing in a congested area.

The highway patrol said the plane had originally tried to land at Homestead Air Force Base, south of here, but that wind and rain squalls were so bad it could not go down.

The four crewmen were picked up unhurt about two miles west of Sweetwater, a small town just outside of Miami.

The last of the four fliers who bailed out to safety told highway patrolmen that a fifth crewman was getting set to jump when he left the plane. He said the pilot remained at the controls and apparently was waiting until he got well out of the residential area before jumping himself.

A Coast Guard helicopter located the plane in a field about two miles west of a big concrete plant in western Dade County. The helicopter pilot said the big tanker was in an upright position on the ground, indicating it might have been crash landed there. However, there was no word on the two missing crewmen.

About the same time the plane is believed to have gone down, a severe rain squall with winds up to 42 miles per hour raked the Miami area.

Egypt Undertakes Giant Collective Farm Experiment
CAIRO—One of the biggest and most ambitious experiments in collective farming in the world is being undertaken in Egypt.

The scheme is a major instrument in the country's drive to increase food production which today lags behind the country's soaring population.

But Tahrir Province is much more than that. Its creators are equally concerned with accomplishing a social revolution. Starting from scratch, they want to build a new model society for Egypt's farmers.

By scientific, sociological, and psychological means, they hope to break the log-jam of centuries of tradition which today makes the Egyptian peasant one of the poorest individuals in the world.

To accomplish this, Egypt's planners felt it was vitally necessary not to try and impose a totally new system on an established agricultural area, no matter how badly it needed reformation.

For one thing, they wanted to select carefully the participants in this experiment, to get the most adaptable, energetic and resourceful types possible. The old established areas, they thought, would be dealt with in time by intensive social, sanitary, and educational work of a more orthodox nature.

TO BUY LAND
Collective farming was judged the only system whereby intensive and mechanized agriculture and scientific techniques would make the heavy per acre investment pay off.

The province was laid out as a series of 500-acre collectives, each with a 100-farm village unit. A man will be able to "buy" the land from the government on a 30-year payment plan, but not until he has successfully passed a three-year test period in which he proves his ability to keep up to standards set by the authorities.

These standards designed to lift the fabled (peasant) out of the dark ages quickly, are a major cause of concern for the authorities. They've resulted in a swarm of teachers, social workers, and technical experts and trainers descending on the province to guard against backsliding into the old ways.

To start with, they set up stiff enrollment qualifications which, relatively speaking, make it as tough for the peasant to get in on

Draft Board Head Is On Hot-Spot

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP)—Milton Bowers, chairman of the board that drafted Elvis Presley, is on a hot-spot that has him "fed up to the teeth."

"A crackpot called me after my bed time last night," Bowers grumbled Sunday, "and complained that we 'didn't put Beethoven in the Army.'"

"We're considering the fact that Beethoven was not an American and has been dead for some time, I suppose he felt we were discriminating against rock 'n' roll music."

"I told him we put Mr. Eisenhower in the Army and that ought to count for something. Then I asked him how old he was and when he told me 52, I asked him how he got so stupid in 52 years."

The reaction is about evenly divided, Bowers said, but it's the complaints that really burn him up.

"One woman in a letter yesterday called us a bunch of southern goons," he said. "Well, she's the one who's a goon."

"I talk about Elvis more than I sleep," he added.

The draft board chairman said he figures that a draft board member in Kentucky (Harlan), who resigned rather than draft mountain boys after hearing of Presley's detestation, is "a fool."

"With all due respect to Elvis, who's a nice boy," Bowers said, "we've drafted people who are far, far more important than he is. After all, when you take him out of the entertainment business, what have you got left? A truck driver."

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UP)—The worst rains in living memory have marooned many towns and villages in the northern Transvaal, reports reaching here said today. Twenty-two and a half inches of rain have washed away hundreds of native huts since Thursday. Food supplies were reported low and rain lines were blocked by floods. No casualties were reported.

U. S. WON'T JOIN PACT
WASHINGTON (UP)—U. S. diplomatic posts abroad have been reminded that this country's policy is against joining the Baghdad defense pact now. State Department spokesman Joseph W. Reap disclosed this when asked Monday about reports from Syria that the United States had assured Syria it would not join the alliance. Syria is sharply critical of the five-nation pact.

Cold Wave Sweeps Over State; Snow Falls In Seminole County

LAKELAND (UP)—A cold wave sweeping over Florida with snow, frost and 20-degree temperatures threatened today to give the state's billion dollar citrus industry a near death blow.

The Frost Warning Service forecast a "hard freeze" in north and central portions and near freezing weather in the tourist-filled southern sections. Temperatures in the low 20's were forecast for the entire citrus section.

The "sunshine" peninsula, plagued for two weeks with near-hurricane winds and tropical downpours, even had a snowfall during the morning. Snow fell so heavily in Lakeland, in the middle of the orange and grapefruit belt, that visibility was cut to half a mile.

The colorful orange and grapefruit groves throughout central Florida suffered an estimated $100 million damages in the Dec. 12-13 freeze, the worse cold wave to hit the sunshine state in nearly 50 years.

The Frost Warning Service predicted lows of 26 to 29 in the citrus belt tonight.

"It may not be as cold tonight as it was during the last freeze but another freeze so close on the heels of the last one would be about the worst thing you could imagine," said Dr. Herman Reitz, Director of the Florida Citrus Experiment Station at Lake Alfred.

"Trees will be killed outright," he said, explaining that the last freeze made them drop their leaves and they have since started new growth which even a light freeze or frost will kill.

Dr. Reitz said the trees simply could not take this second shock following so quickly after the first one.

"They are just about as susceptible to cold weather now as they ever could be," he added. "I feel pretty gloomy about the situation because the next six weeks are a crucial time for the citrus people."

The heaviest snow flurries in recent years fell over much of the central Florida citrus belt. But the snow melted almost as soon as it hit the ground, turning into slush.

Shortly after 11 o'clock snow was reported in Seminole County at Slavia.

Many sections of Polk, Lake, Pasco and Hernando counties reported snow. Lakeland apparently had the "heaviest" snow fall. Others with snow were Tampa, Jacksonville, Winter Haven, Barlow, Plant City, Lake Wales and Auburndale. It started about 8 a. m. and continued steadily for a couple of hours.

Snow also fell over extreme north Florida, including Tallahassee and Marianna. Warren Johnson, chief of the Weather Bureau here, said the heavy flurries were caused when a cold air mass coming from the northwest at about 6,000 feet collided with a flow of warmer, moisture-laden flow from the southwest at about 10,000 feet.

Johnson said snow falls on central Florida about every five or six years on the average but usually not as much as fell today.

The snow was not expected to affect citrus because the temperature was in the 30's at the time it was falling.

Dr. Reitz predicted about 1/2 inch of citrus disaster and 1935 and 1936.

Little damage to the citrus crop is expected because the weather was so warm.

Vegetable crops were in the 30's at the time it was falling.

It is a $25 million blow by the Dec. 12-13 freeze and harrassed by a series of tropical downpours since then, faced possibly another crop killing blow. Frost was forecast all the way south to the Miami area.

Farmers whose crops survived the floods accompanying the heavy rains feared the worst from the frost. Their beans, tomatoes, cucumbers, squash and potatoes will be highly vulnerable to the cold because of their young stage of growth.

Weather

Clearing and turning much colder tonight with low 26 to 32. Thursday fair and continued cold.

U. S. Engineers Find Sanford-Titusville Canal 'Unfavorable'

Mayor Lee Gary, Five Councilmen Sworn In At Oviedo

Mayor Lee Gary and the five Councilmen were sworn in by City Clerk T. L. Lingo Sr. Members of the council taking the oath of office were the new president, J. Young Harris; vice-president, W. R. Clontz, Karl Daul, Joe I. Beasley and newly elected member W. H. Marlin.

With the Council's approval, Mayor Gary reappointed George A. Kelsey as Chief of Police, T. L. Lingo Sr. as City Clerk, and T. L. Lingo Jr. as Fire Chief. George A. Spear was reappointed as City Attorney.

Council assignments were approved as follows: Street—W. R. Clontz, J. Young Harris; Fire—W. R. Clontz, W. H. Martin, T. L. Lingo Jr.; Sanitation—Joe I. Beasley, Karl Daul; Swimming Pool and Park—Joe I. Beasley, W. H. Marlin.

WASHINGTON (UP)—The U. S. Corps of Engineers has reported "unfavorably" on the Titusville Barge Canal Project, the office of Rep. A. Sydney Herlong Jr. (D-Fla.) said today.

It said the District and South Atlantic Divisions of the Corps of Engineers found that flood control benefits in the proposed project were "relatively small" and that navigation benefits were "not economically justified."

The decision may be appealed to the Engineer's Board on Rivers and Harbors here.

Chamber of Commerce Manager John Krider, speaking with Col. Paul Troster, District Engineer for the Corps of Engineers, in Jacksonville, revealed that the district engineer said "I haven't received any official notification that the Sanford-Titusville Canal has been turned down."

Krider said this morning "I am contacting all my people that have had any connection with the project and we will probably get our heads together and determine just what final attack to make."

The Chamber of Commerce Manager emphatically stated "We are not prepared to accept this."

"I have talked with Col. Troster and have asked for a text of his report," said Krider, "and when we study that we will determine what our methods will be."

The report that the Sanford-Titusville Canal had been turned down because of the danger to flood control and because of insufficient traffic on the St. Johns River was, in all probability, premature yesterday.

There is a possibility that the report may have leaked in some manner either out of the Jacksonville Office of the District Engineer or from Washington.

Reporters have not been able to pin down today any announcement that the project is "dead."

Krider told Col. Troster by telephone this morning that "On the basis of your recommendation and the evidence we produced at the hearing held in Sanford, if that didn't justify the Sanford-Titusville Canal, then we will never build any waterways in the State of Florida."

Still trying to get official confirmation of the turn-down, Krider said this morning that "We will be prepared to be in Washington the first week in February for the hearing before the Rivers and Harbors Congress."

Valuable Cockatoo Stolen From Zoo

A very valuable cockatoo was stolen from the Sanford Zoo sometime during the night, said Richard reported this morning.

Richard said that the person taking the cockatoo obtained a hole in the wire cage about six inches square. "Just big enough to get the bird out," he said.

The green parrot's cage was also cut, Richard reported this morning, but the parrot would not come to the person and they left without it.

The cockatoo is solid white, Richard said, with a white topknot and faint pink and sulphur colors under the wing.

"We hope that anyone knowing the whereabouts of the bird will call us," Richard stated this morning. "We keep the zoo purely for the entertainment of children and our visitors," he said.

"We wouldn't take anything for that bird," Richard commented this morning, "as a matter of fact we had turned down several offers to buy the bird that danced, talked, sang and in many ways entertained people who came by to see it."

The Cockatoo cage is located at the police station entrance to the zoo.

Commissioners Elect Warner As New Mayor

MERLE WARNER, Sanford's Mayor for 1958, elected last night at the organizational meeting of the Board of Sanford City Commissioners.

An Editorial We've Been Hurt, Mr. Engineer! Hurt Bad!

Mr. Engineer, this time you've hit below the belt! This time, Mr. Engineer, you've hit where it hurts and a decision that laymen, even though they are not familiar with the transit and level, know is wrong.

There can be no estimate of the holocaust that will be released by men of integrity who have fought hard, and fought a good fight, for the dream of a century.

No one has argued with you, Mr. Engineer, about the technical data necessary to place dams at strategic points to control the waters of the St. Johns River. No one has argued with engineers over the fact that the St. Johns River would develop into one of the greatest economic advantages Florida has ever known.

But we do argue with you about the fact that you are taking away from Sanford and Central Florida multi-millions of dollars in waterway transportation, in industrial plant locations, in pleasure boating through Central Florida, in housing developments, and most of all—one of the greatest defense measures the Corps of Engineers could have undertaken.

The blow you have struck—Mr. Engineer—has been a slap in the face and a blow of destruction.

But, good fighters never stay down—not when they know they're right! And that's why the fight has just begun.

The Washington delegation unanimously supported the Sanford-Titusville Canal and we believe that they will continue to support it to the time of immediately pouring the oils of indignation onto those who will realize that Central Florida has been hurt and hurt badly.

We believe that waterway organizations in every section of the country will come to the forefront and speak their piece in favor of the Sanford-Titusville Canal.

We believe, too, that the Florida Waterways Committee, along with the well-known friendship it has made along the Mississippi and the Atlantic seaboard, will release one of the greatest and most successful attacks of the century.

We call on Florida's Washington delegation to speak now and let those who have hurt Central Florida know where they stand and what their intentions will be when this question is brought out in hearing.

We call on military men—for the Navy, the Army, and the Air Corps to step out in front and let the Corps of Engineers know exactly what the Sanford-Titusville Canal will mean to them.

The dreams of a century have not been shattered, Mr. Engineer. They've been interrupted only temporarily.

The shock is over now, Mr. Engineer—and Central Florida, along with all its friends will now get down to work so that the truth may be known and that the dreams of a century might be realized. Progress cannot be halted or we would become stagnant and useless. That's why the Sanford-Titusville Canal must become a reality—not in the future, but NOW, Mr. Engineer!

We do not ask you to step out of the way—we merely ask you to be prepared for the avalanche that is about to descend.

The security of a nation is at stake, Mr. Engineer! The economic future of a community is at stake! Central Florida's future is at stake!

You, Mr. Engineer, are expected to develop those things which make security, economy, development, and the future more sound than ever before.

This, we believe, along with hundreds of thousands of others, can be done with the Sanford-Titusville Canal.

This, we believe, Mr. Engineer, WILL be done!

Merle Warner, Sanford filling station owner and operator, was elected to serve as Mayor of Sanford the 1958 term at last night's organizational meeting of the Sanford Board of City Commissioners. Warner, immediately following his surprise election, said "Let me assure you that Merle Warner is just as much surprised as you are. I know that I will have the solid backing of this body and every department of the city. With the help of this group and the Man Upstairs I know we will be successful."

Last night's Mayor's election was about the shortest in the past decade and showed no indication of a possible faction cropping up in city government.

Mayor David Gatchel was named temporary chairman of the commission for the election.

Gatchel was nominated by Commissioner A. L. Wilson for reelection as Mayor for 1958 and immediately following, Warner was nominated.

However, on the first roll call vote one "no" was recorded which, according to City Attorney William C. Hutchison, left only one candidate for the honorary position.

Warner was elected by two votes and three abstained votes. Mayor Gatchel called for a unanimous ballot for Warner which was approved.

Prior to the Mayor's election, two commissioners were sealed for three year terms. Robert S. Brown, newly elected and A. L. Wilson, re-elected in last November's city election.

First order of business for the new board was a resolution commending Commissioner F. D. Scott for his term as a member of the Sanford City Commission. He was presented a silver tray for "untiring service to the City of Sanford."

Scott said "It's been a pleasure. We've had some disagreeable things come up but in the long run I can't remember those who voted against me. It's been a pleasure to serve with you." Thanking the Board of Commissioners and all of the departments of the city for their help, Scott said, "with this new board we have wonderful opportunities ahead of us."

Mayor Gatchel, when the flour was thrown open for comment, said "A year ago tonight I was the most surprised person in the State of Florida. I have done my best and I think Sanford has had a good year."

"Such a year would not have been possible," Mayor Gatchel continued, "without your cooperation" as he spoke to members of the board of commissioners. "We have had a unified commission," he said.

The new Mayor owns and operates Warner's Gulf Service at the corner of First St. and Sanford Ave. He also heads a National Car Rental service here.

Warner is 43, and resides at 2417 Myrtle Ave. He has three children and three grandchildren.

He is an avid enthusiast of aviation and a supporter of the Sanford docks and terminals project.

Commission Denies Okay Of Building Inspector Position

The Board of Seminole County Commissioners yesterday refused to approve an appointment of Clifford L. Overman to the position of Building Inspector for the Seminole County Planning Commission on the recommendation of the commission's chairman, Raymond M. Ball.

Also in the recommendation, signed by the Planning Commission's chairman, was an appointment of Mrs. Maxine D. Thompson as secretary.

Commissioner Fred Dyson stated "I think the Planning and Zoning Board should make more than one recommendation."

In the wake of Commissioner Dyson's statement, Commissioner H. C. Dudd said "I wouldn't vote for him (Overman) until after this board interviews him."

Commission Chairman John Krider warned "I would think that the board might get involved in hiring members of the various departments of the county."

Commissioner Dyson commented "That might be a good idea."

Dyson immediately made a motion to write a letter to Chairman of the County Zoning and Planning Board asking to "call a meeting with his board and let more than one recommendation be made for the position of building inspector or secretary."

Commissioner Homer Little charged that Robert S. Brown had interviewed applicants for the two positions alone and that members of the board for zoning and planning did not know the qualifications of those who applied.

Commissioner Chairman Krider asked "Isn't there some way we can expedite this? I understand that there are more than 100 applications for permits that need to be processed."

Commission Clerk O. P. Herndon displayed the letter of recommendation from the County Zoning and Planning Board signed by its chairman.

However, commissioners demanded that more than one recommendation be made and that the Board of County Commissioners interview the applicants before appointment.

Top Speedboat Drivers To Enter Regatta Here

"Not since the 1930's has Florida fielded such entries in hydroplane racing as this year," Dr. A. W. Woodall, commissioner of the Sanford Boat and Ski Club announced.

According to Woodall, boat racing has latched onto the lives of leisure men and women of the nation and Florida is feeling the winter impact.

The best of speedboat drivers will be in Sanford Sunday afternoon, Jan. 18 vying for $50 prize money for each heat of the six race event, each race comprised of two heats, and those all-important early season points that go toward the Colonel Green $7,000 Trophy that will be presented to the high point man at the end of the circuit tour.

Since Sanford is so early on the grapefruit circuit this year it will probably have the most colorful field of boat racing drivers ever assembled here.

At least two multi-millionaires will bring their fabulous equipment to Lake Monroe for the Second Annual Sanford Outboard Regatta.

Wild Bill Tenney, multi-millionaire playboy from Crystal Bay, Minn., and world record holder of Class C Hydroplane, the flying chip, will throw his record on the line in the calm waters just north of Sanford on 17-19 in the approach to the St. Johns River bridge.

Millionaire oilman H. B. Marionaux of Shreveport, La., will bring to Sanford the most amazing assemblage of water powered machinery during the race. Bob McGinty, professional driver extraordinary from Corpus Christi, Tex., will chauffeur Marionaux's equipment in every class race but C Service Runabout.

Marionaux, who does everything in a big way, not only brings about six hydroplanes and a runabout to each of the races, but carries two engines for such class, numbering a dozen, plus two pit stoves and master mechanic H. Allen Smith of Shreveport, to keep the immaculate machinery operating smoothly.

McGinty held two national titles last year and has sights set on more this year.

"We will field the best set of races ever to visit Sanford during the hydroplane races this year," club commodore Woodall said.
