Expenditures by federal, state and local governments are still tending upward.

Sawyer said:

"We have come down from the dizzy heights of inflationary pressures, we have met the demand for goods which a year ago were in critically short supply—we are. In short, on a lower level, but we are not in the vailey."

In New York City, Sawyer said last night that businessmen should guant a g ai n at "ill-considered, frightened action", in the current economic situation.

Addressing the American fron and Steel institute, he said she American economy is altogether sound despite a substantial decrease in income in the first three months of 1940 as compared with the last three of 1948.

Sawyer said the nation now is in a buyers' market, in which "the competitive American aystem is having its chance to prove itself."

TEW YORK-There is an intangible something about a tennis town that makes it like no other town in creation. Maybe it is the smell of grass, maybe it is the sunburned young girls wandering around the atreets; whatever it is, if you have been in one once, you never miss knowing when you are in one again.

It is like that in Chestnut Hill, Mass., and Haverford, Pa.; it is like that over in Montclair, N. J., and up in Newport, R. I.

They are on the fringes of the big cities, many of them, and yet they are quiet little tree-shaded towns whose very core of existence is enveloped in the strange and wonderful sport that has so many strange and awful participants.

The tennis town in and around New York is A Gutteral Voice Forest Hills, a section that yet is not a town, since it is a part of the borough of Queens, last outpost of civilization on Long Island. Indeed, Forest Hills is the tennia town of America, the Wimbledon of this fair land.

Late every August, all roads for tennis players lead to this combination upper and middle-class suburb, for it is here that the na-Pional championships are played, on the-by then-slightly worn grass courts of the West Bide Tennis club.

For a week or 10 days, the streets are full of autos with multicolored license plates, and there are more lean and tan young whippersonsppers in the streets than in any other community outside of Los Angeles. There is another side to Forest Hills, however; a side of thres rooms and kitchenette for $97.50 a month, movies every Saturday and bridge every Wednesday night. New York is a slick and urban city, but it has a vast aprawling suburban area within its very boundaries, and Forest Hills is the ne plus ultra of this auburbs. Perhaps because of the pseudo-social aspects of its tennis connections, or perhaps just because it is closer to Manhattan than the other suburbs-whatever it is, Forest Hills is generally the goal of the middle-class commuter with a reasonably good job and three children. There are times when one might walk along its tres-dotted, leaf-carpeted streets at night, breathing in the fresh air and easing the blood pressure that has boiled in the city by day, when one thinks that the middle-class commuter may have a point there.

AS AN EARNEST BUT NOT OVER-SKILLFUL practitioner of the dark art, I have been making tennis pligrimages to Forest Hills. or 15 years or so. I have stumbled feebly around on the grass courts, waving at passing forehands and wondering if Tilden looked this bad on these same courts, and I have baked under the sun in the horseshoe stadium and seen all the greats in those 15 years. There was debonair Fred Perry, sweeping into the net behind his running forehand, and the painfully polite German baron, Gottfried von Cramm, tossing courtesy points so cleverly that hardly a soul. WES AWRIC.

There was the Juncesque Alice Marble, getting a grip on her shaky game in an autumn drizzle and routing the stolid and unimaginative Helen Jacobs, and there was greatest pound-for-pound player of them all, Robert Larrimore Riggs, with his duck feet eemingly not coordinating but his mind operating like a steel trap. There were great matches-Budge fighting down to a fifth set with von Cramm; Frank Shields, rusty and out of shape, recapture: ing for a moment the glory that was Rome and blowing Jack; Bromwich off the court for nine games in a row before slowly collapsing. There are memories on the center court at Forest Hills, fine and good memories.

When I think of Forest Hills, however, I think of an avening spent with Joe the radio man. It was during a beefateak dinner in the Wast Side's Japanese gardens, just on the eve of a national championship in the late thirties.

Having drink my fill of cold beer and attiffed as much sirloin nto mg as possible; I Windered reverently out onto the center ourt, quiet and dark in the moonlight, when I heard a voice say, "Hey-how about bringing me up a Scotch and soda?"

coked up and there in the radio booth where Ted Husing marily broadcast the important matches was an amiable young man and a lot of radio equipment.

I BROUGHT HIM HIS SCOTCH, and spent the next couple of Biours listening to him tell about his job, which consisted of tuning In foreign short-wave broadcasts for a big American radio chain. His man-from-Mars equipment gave out with French, Spanish, Circek and everything clac.

Finally, I remember, the language became German and the tone ouder. I looked at Joe. "That's him?" I asked. He nodded. "That's We get there for a while and listened to the harsh, guttural sounds in the soft, chickety night in Forest Hills. After a while I had to go, and I left Joe sitting forlornly up in the booth. I went home in the subway that night and I remember sitting on the straw seats and shivering, although it was summer, as I remembered the hysterical voice on Joe's wireless.

After that, the voice spoke louder and more often and cities burned and crumbled, until the years of the locust were over.

Giants Defeat Azaleas 3-18 To 7 10-Inning

2 Teams Slated To COMMENTS Meet Here Tonite; Joe Schultz Goes Route For Victory

PALATKA, May 27 (Special)— The Sanford Glants edged the Palatka Azalean 3 to 1 here last night to hold firmly to their third place standings in the Florida State League as Jue Schultz went the route for the invaders and limited the A's to seven well scattered

Tonight the two teams are slated to meet in Sanford's Munleipal Park in a single affair. Tomorrow evening the Clients move to Calmasville for a conflict with Saints and lost the tilt by a 3 to the second place G-Men. Sunday hurled five-hit ball against the C's and the Giants tangle in Daytona Beach I's and was defeat-Santord.

fluddy Lake, playing third base for the Giants last night, paced the Sanford stick parade with three doubles in four trips to the piate. Jim Jones, who played shortstop while Johnny McManus was out due to an illness, rapped out two hits in four appearances. Meanwhile the rumpaging Daytone Beach Islanders remained atop the heap in the Florida State

They defeated the Leonburg Dodgers 4-3 last night in a wellplayed game. The Islanders opened the scoring in the first inning on three walks and a hit baseman. Then the Dodgers came back to score two runs on a walk and two
