By John A. Spolski

About that lawsuit challenging the supervisor of elections for both Seminole and Brevard Counties and filed by Brevard Solicitor Jerry Bross, wherein he wanted paper ballots to facilitate the inclusion of write-in candidates... well, you can forget about it. Understand that the case was dismissed.

For the records... led by County Commission Chairman Greg Drummond, who undoubtedly is one of the most safety-conscious local leaders we've ever had... the county last spring adopted the program for gates at that tragic railroad crossing in Longwood... AND... on July 1st of this year, allocated the funds for the installation of same. From that point it was adopted by the state's Department of Transportation, and from that point... who knows what happens?

One point is certain... earlier this year, this county commission was dissuaded from enforcing a speed limit on trains operating in Seminole County... you can betcha that this same item will be on this coming Tuesday's county commission agenda. If you and I can't drive a car more than 35 mph... there's no reason why a train should go zooming 75 mph thru the very same spot...

The weekend is for reflections... and a chance to see some great football, too. Don't underestimate the Florida Gators... they have the potential to be sensational, notwithstanding last week's loss to SMU. And while I'm pinning a rose on them, one, too for Longwood Mayor and TV sportscaster extraordinaire Ken Brown... he and Coach Doug Dickey have an interesting program of game highlights on Channel 2 each Sunday.

Now about those reflections... Probably never even heard of Edward Carbajal, did you? He's an aircraft employee in Burbank, California, and one who is expressing a view shared by many of us... "I used to take home $65 and with that I could pay the rent and take care of the kids and other things that came up. Now I'm clearing $112 and I can't find my way."

And between sometime this afternoon and Monday a.m. when I'm back behind this typewriter, I hope to find out why Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird traveled through the Midwest all this week, defending administration programs and attacking Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern at virtually every stop. You see, he's doing it at yours and my expense! It's had enough that both Mr. Nixon and Senator McGovern are taken away from the jobs to which each was elected during the political campaign... I can understand that, although not liking it... BUT, Laird? No way! Best show at the drive-in movie is usually in the car next to you.

Drugs Used In Jail: Claim

Judge Salfi Orders Grand Jury Probe Of Narcotics Flow In County Bastille

Circuit Judge Dominick Salfi has requested that a county grand jury investigate allegations that usage of drugs among inmates is rampant at the county jail. The accusation was made by Wayne Jarvis, who testified Fulton Perkins was on drugs while incarcerated at county jail. Jarvis said, he, too, was taking demoral, darvon, codeine and cocaine, which, he said, were being smuggled into the jail. Judge Salfi pointed out that neither he nor Sheriff John Poik want drug usage going on in the jail, and asked State Attorney Abbott Herring to pursue the matter. "While Whalen's case is important, this is, too," the court said, and continued, "If drugs are going into the jail, it's going to stop." Jarvis said 2cc, 1 cc and 10 cc syringes also had found their way into the bastille and that he had used them to "shoot-up." Four cell blocks, he said, had syringes. Jarvis could not identify a trustee who supplied the contraband. Sheriff Poik said he defied that all inmates knew the name of a trustee. Poik later identified the trustee as Cummings Baldwin, an inmate. When Jarvis said he could not identify inmates using drugs, Perkins also had found their way into the bastille and that he had used them to "shoot-up." Jarvis admitted he would rather not disclose the names, although knowing them. Jarvis admitted the last time he had seen drugs in the jail was in May preceding a grand jury investigation of the jail. Asked why he did not report Perkins' drug usage and supplier, Jarvis said he didn't want to cut off his own supply from Perkins. There are two ways the drugs reach the jail, Jarvis said, either by trucks or an inmate visiting a local physician and bringing back the drugs legitimately prescribed for an illness but sold to other inmates. Herring said Jack Pulem-wider, investigator for the state attorney office, had queried Jarvis concerning drugs three times and Jarvis disclaimed knowledge. Jarvis replied, "Pulem-wider is lying." Jarvis said he was willing to submit to a polygraph on this statement.

Sewer Connecting Ban Hurting City

Sanford's building and industrial growth will be adversely affected if the State Water and Air Pollution Board holds the city's temporary permit invalid. This is being confirmed by various leaders, who are reacting from the news Thursday that a special permit obtained by W.E. Knowles, city manager, allowing continuing sewer connections to the city system past the Jan. 1, 1973, deadline for cities not having secondary sewage treatment facilities, may not be valid. When the pollution board listed Sanford among those cities without secondary treatment and barred from further sewer hookups after Saturday, the city manager began trying to contact appropriate Tallahassee authorities to determine how the ban affects the city in light of the special permit. This morning Knowles said he was still trying to obtain needed information but this far was unable to have Kenneth Hoffman, pollution board legal officer, return several calls he had made Thursday and Friday. According to David Levin, pollution board chairman, who was contacted regarding the special Sanford permit, "the state-imposed moratorium will have no exceptions." This news was received with expressions of concern at today's Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce industrial committee of 25 meeting. John Krider said he expected to announce the location here of an industry but due to the uncertainty of the sewer problems, it would not be possible to convince a prospect to sign his name to contract purchasing property for a factory without a sewer connection. In addition to industry, many home builders also will be affected with the delay and the city's growth could be seriously stalemated until June, 1973, when the secondary sewage treatment stage is expected to be finished and in operation to raise the percentage of effectiveness from the present 85-89 per cent to an acceptable 90 to 95 per cent, new state standard.

Meat Cleaver Trial Will Open Monday
 by MARION BETHEA
 A defense motion to suppress evidence connecting 18-year-old Stanley DeBose with the meat cleaver murder of Vera Lee Mathis on Aug. 7 was denied yesterday by Circuit Judge Clarence Johnson Jr. Testimony, including that the accused, was heard for over three hours yesterday afternoon, after which the court denied the motion by defense attorney, Ned Julian Jr. DeBose faces trial Monday for the first degree murder of the 65-year-old widowed storekeeper, whose hacked body was found by her neighbors responding to her cries for help. DeBose, also charged with robbery, was arrested shortly after Mrs. Mathis expired at Florida Hospital of gashes about the head and body, believed to have been inflicted by a meat cleaver in the hands of a bandit. Mrs. Mathis operated a grocery store at Ninth Street and Pecan Avenue. A meat cleaver believed to be from the store meat cooler and an empty cigar box, believed to be the store's cash box, were found on the floor near the woman's bleeding body. DeBose resided at 1011 West Fifth Street, five blocks from the scene of the slaying. Willett recently came to Sanford from Silver City, N.C., and was on his first day on the job, moving grass along the roadsides. The accident happened shortly before 2 p.m. on SR 427 at the crossing between Longwood and Altamonte Springs. The case tractor was scattered over a wide area, with pieces carrying several hundred feet down the track by the train.

Man, Baby Killed

2 Die In Mishaps
 By GARY TAYLOR
 Seminole County's traffic fatality count climbed to 13 yesterday as an 18-year-old county employee was killed on his first day on the job. In a separate incident, a two-year-old child was killed when a car backed over him. According to the Florida Highway Patrol, the mishap was not classified as a traffic fatality since it occurred on private property. Danny Lee Willett, 18, was killed when the tractor he was driving was struck by a Seaboard Coast Line passenger train allegedly traveling 75 miles per hour. Willett was thrown from the tractor as his body and flying metal struck a parked car owned by Albert Fred Daval, 1002 West Eighth Street. Damage to the car was estimated at $200. Troopers P.E. (Phil) Dixon and Terry McIntyre are investigating the incident. They were assisted by the sheriff's department, Altamonte Springs police and Trooper M.E. (Ernie) Leggett and Cpl. Herman E. Whaley. Charles Eugene England Jr., 2, son of Charles Eugene and Norma Jean England, was killed in his yard on Elder Road, one mile north of SR 46. Dwain Everton Wygant, of 31 Park Avenue, Trailer Court, was driving a 1970 Chevrolet and failed to see the infant as he was backing out of the yard. He told officers he had stopped at the house to pick up some older children to take them skating. Troopers E.W. (Ernie) Jacobs and Richard Shaffer, of the Florida Highway Patrol, and Lt. L.J. Kriz, of the sheriff's department, were called to investigate.

Business License Law Clarified By Ruling

Businesses licensed to do the business in their home city or county are not required to buy a license in any other county or city in accordance with a recent ruling by Florida Attorney General Robert Shevin. The exception to the above would be where a business had a branch office in another city or county. Each branch office can be required to have an occupational license by the city or county where it is located. The initial opinion was not clear as to effective date, although it was thought on some quarters to be Oct. 1. However, it would appear that it could be effective upon passage of chapter 72-306, signed by the Governor April 24, 1972. The summary of rulings including this one was not received until September, which was after the licenses were processed and mailed. Upon clarification of this ruling those businesses can obtain a refund upon request from local offices. There was no clarification as to the effect on vending machine companies or other services provided by out-of-city (or county) firms. This ruling came out of a situation where a Dade County construction firm was required to buy a license in Broward County because of activities in that county. It is presumed at this time that this applies to all businesses.

CofC Unit Supports Heathrow

By BILL SCOTT
 Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce industrial 25 committee unanimously adopted a resolution at this morning's session requesting the Seminole County Board of Commissioners to favorably consider the forthcoming zoning appeal of Paulucci Enterprises' Heathrow, a $20 million, planned open space community, located on 1,283 acre tract on Lake Mary Boulevard and 1-4. The county zoning board turned down the planned unit development (pud) at its presentation before that body two weeks ago stating "the county was not ready for such developments." This morning the industrial chamber committee incorporated in the motion by Garnett White, member. "Heathrow will be in the best interests of the citizens of Seminole County," in asking for a favorable reaction from the county commission in the zoning appeal at a date to be selected. It was the opinion of Art Mabeu, industrial committee member, that the Paulucci PUD will eventually be approved, but several changes in the original plans, such as location of the sewage treatment plant may have to be made. White, in explaining the reasons for making his motion, said "that property is good for one thing and that's housing." He said it was not suitable for agriculture and would add to the county tax rolls. The chamber board of directors are also expected to give the matter some consideration at its Oct. 12 meeting and another chamber resolution may be forthcoming. In another matter Reg Howe, industrial committee chairman, advised the board of problems, faced by him as well as other industrialists, in the lack of sufficient low-cost housing for workers. He said he was "losing good men due to lack of houses in the $17,000 price range."

Pastor's Corner The Hands Of Christ

By JAMES C. VAUGHN
Sanford Christian Church

"The Father loves the Son, and has given all things into His hands" (John 3:35).
I wonder how people could get along if God had not created hands? Our hands feed us, defend us, dress us, clean us, do big and little jobs. No other animal has such useful members.
It is interesting to think, also, how different people direct their hands in different ways: one uses his hands as a surgeon, another as a pickpocket; a young lady to tend a baby, a young man in boxing. All of us have felt a mother's cool hand on our fevered brow. Hands are a good illustration of how God's gifts can be used for good or evil: a doctor saves lives with his hands; a murderer takes away life with his. Consider the hands of Christ, how they must have looked, and the many tasks they performed. His hands are mentioned countless times in the Bible, and those mighty hands mean more today than in Bible times. As different people picture the hands of Christ, some will see them as saving hands stretched to Peter in the midst of the sea; some will see them as the hand of judgment on Belshazzar's wall; still others will think of them as the life-giving, renewing hand that touched the blind of the widow's son at Nain.
Christ's hands are powerful hands! I often receive definite impressions of people by the handshakes: some give you a quick grip, others a hydraulic shake, others hand your hand as if it were a limp rag. Jesus' hands were strong. John 1:3 says that "all things were made by Him, and without Him was not anything made." The whole universe is the work of His hands! "The heavens are telling the glory of God, and the firmament proclaims His handiwork" (Psalm 19:1). God puts on a show every night, but most people never stop to see it. If God wants to raise up a nation, stop a storm, shake the earth, or make a flower, His hands are capable. His mighty hands make our needs seem small and easy—His is abundantly able to care for you and me if we are willing for Him to do so.
Christ's hands are also healing hands! Mark, chapter eight, records that Jesus healed a blind man at Bethsaida and saw every thing clearly. "At the Seattle World's Fair I saw a nuclear portable hospital. Jesus' hands were portable hospitals doing the work of hundreds of doctors and nurses. Doctors treat a patient; Jesus heals! The Bible tells us to pray for the sick (James 5:14-15). The healing hands of Christ are in the world today.
Christ's hands were uplifted hands! His hands were constantly lifted to God in prayer and worship. He prayed when he ate, at the end of each day, at the beginning of each day, before choosing his apostles, before declaring the foundation of the church, before the transfiguration, before the Last Supper, sometimes all night, and he told us to pray. The reason we are more like Christ is that we don't pray like Christ. If men would "lift holy hands" in prayer (1 Tim. 2:8), what results there would! Our every undertaking should be wrapped in prayer.
Christ's hands are threatening hands! Matthew 3:12 records John's warning that Christ's "winnowing fork is in His hand, and he will clear his threshing floor and gather his wheat into his granary, but the chaff he will burn with unquenchable fire." This is a Christ we have yet to see: fearsome, hurting, shaking, wending out the enemies of God. My mother's and father's hands could be gentle and kind, but they could also rattle out justice!

It's A Mixed Medley Religious Factors In Presidential Election

NEW YORK (AP) — While some church leaders have organized to support the presidential candidacy of Sen. George McGovern, others are advising against such partisanship and others have voiced their backing for President Nixon.
It's a mixed medley when it comes to recording the religious counterpart to the current national election contest, but that element is keenly involved this time, even though both candidates are Protestants.
"Directly and indirectly, religious factors will play an extremely important role in the election," says the Rev. Dr. Gerald Strober, who has done special research on the subject. For the first time in the annals of modern presidential elections, some prominent churchmen have formed a cross-country interfaith network, called "Religious Leaders for McGovern," in behalf of the Democratic contender.
Although acting as individuals, and specifically not as spokesmen of their constitutions, they maintain that ending the Vietnam war is such a basic moral imperative that it justifies fervor in taking sides publicly in the campaign.

It's a new strategy, breaking with the long-time practice against clergymen organizing to back particular candidates. But its key planner, Methodist Bishop James Armstrong of Aberdeen, S.D., says there are "new reasons" for it.
"We're raising debt on Vietnam today more than ever before," he says. "A nation is being reduced to rubble and it's our moral responsibility to do whatever we can to stop it."
Local units of pro-McGovern clergy are being formed in many communities.
On the other hand, Dr. Strober, coauthor of a new book issued by Association for Protestantism, contends that the nation's new, predominant political force is symbolized by evangelist Billy Graham's friendship with Nixon.
"There's a close affinity between Nixon's and Graham's political and social philosophy and their vision of America," Dr. Strober says, adding that a growing preponderance of evangelical Christians.

He says that even though Graham avoids specific endorsements, his influence strengthens Nixon's position, both because of their close friendship and the compatibility of their views, which is shared by a decisive "new majority" of "middle Americans."
Some clergy have backed Nixon more directly.
In Fort Worth, Tex., at a meeting of the National Baptist Convention, U.S.A., representing 6.3 million members and the country's largest black denomination, its president, the Rev. Dr. Joseph H. Jackson, came out for Nixon's re-election.
However, "boos" and shouted protests sounded in the meeting hall when he told 12,000 delegates: "McGovern says he'll get us out of Vietnam in 10 days. If he does more than Nixon in Vietnam, he'll carry a white flag."

Methodists Plan Four Retreats

LEESBURG—More than 2,000 United Methodist laymen from throughout Florida have registered for a series of four weekend retreats during October at the church camp here.
Each weekend is booked to the camp's capacity of 520 persons, according to retreat directors, John Grant and Jack Inman, Orlando businessmen. They said the program theme is "Power for Life" for the four successive retreats, beginning Oct. 6-8.

REV. VIRGIL BRYANT

ELDER JAMES A. CULLIMORE

In their 24th year, the retreats are designed to provide an opportunity for speakers and laymen to get away briefly from the worldly world and renew his spiritual life at the rustic lakeside camp.
The day begins with an early morning devotional before the lake and runs to nearly midnight with a concluding prayer service in each of the rustic cabins shared by eight men.
In between, participants hear a series of speakers ranging from bishops to businessmen, attend discussion groups and gather for spirited hymn-singing sessions. "Free time" periods provide opportunities to seek a secluded spot in the nearby woods for personal meditation or stroll the lakeside. "Week of silence" that ends at the outdoor altar.
Three new United Methodist bishops are among the speakers on the "Power for Life" theme. They are Bishop Joel D. McDavid of Lakeland, resident Florida bishop; Bishop Mack B. Stokes of Jackson, Miss., and Bishop Joseph H. Yeakey, Syracuse, N. Y.
Some 20 other speakers and discussion leaders represent a wide variety of vocations, ranging from the Rev. Ed. Beck, former All-America basketball player at the University of Kentucky and now an evangelistic pastor in Denver, Colo., to E. H. "Tank" Harrison, a Memphis, Tenn., policeman and author of "You Can't Con God" and other books about his experiences as a Christian layman.
Dr. Richard V. Moore of Daytona Beach, president of Bethune-Cookman College and newly-elected state lay leader of the United Methodist Church, is chairman of the denomination's Florida Board of the Laity which sponsors the annual retreats.

Fishing Industry Hurting

President Nixon declared the Northeast coast a disaster area Thursday and the Small Business Administration and the Office of Emergency Preparedness began rearing up to see what they can do to rescue hard-pressed fishing firms.
Prices for shellfish affected by the ban as well as species which have been declared safe from red tide poisoning have skidded, for fishermen as well as wholesalers and retailers.
"They've cooked it completely," said Al Hook, a partner in the lobster firm of James Hook & Co. "Our business has fallen off 60 to 70 percent."
It is worse in other places, such as the picturesque fishing town of Gloucester, where an estimated 70 per cent of the 27,000 residents depend on the sea for a living.
The original ban applied to all soft-shell and hard-shell clams, to mussels and to scallops. Lobsters, oysters, crabs, shrimp and fin fish were all declared safe. Scallops and hard-shell clams were later removed from the ban in effect in Maine, Massachusetts, Vermont, Rhode Island and New Hampshire.
The ban on soft-shell clams and mussels remains in effect, but starting in January some areas in southeastern Massachusetts will be exempt.

Zoo Society Will Seek Further Aid From City

County Personnel Changes Reported

Personnel changes in the county government were reported to the board of county commissioners.
Administrative Assistant, Rodney Layer reported that Joseph Turanchik, who has been serving as chief building inspector, has been promoted to Building Official and that Tony Fakes has been offered the position of Chief Inspector in the building department. J. B. Williams, of Orlando, has been approved as the new Zoning Director for Seminole County and Robert Brown will be moved up to the post of Zoning Administrator.
Last week, at a work session, Hospital Administrator, Robert Bessner, told the Board of County Commissioners that he would meet with the Board of Trustees of the Hospital and relay the information on the need for a County Medical Examiner and that he would seek their judgment as to the cost to the county for use of the hospital facilities by the Examiner and that there would be a meeting of that board for two weeks.
"It does look like the County will be without the services of a Medical Examiner for another two weeks because the hospital board won't meet to determine the cost and notify us so that we can take the appropriate action," Commissioner Chairman Greg Drummond commented.
"We can't set a fee for the examiner until the hospital sets its cost figures. The more the hospital charges us, the less we can pay the examiner."
In other action, the Board authorized the County Attorney to draw up a new lease for the Food Stamp building and

Construction In Florida At Peril Point

The wave of reaction which has swept across Florida in the wake of the State Board of Pollution Control's surprise advance of the Jan. 1 to Oct. 1 date for compliance by sewerage treatment plants is mounting to disaster proportions.

For this does, in simple terms, threaten the very life-blood of the construction industry which is the heart-beat of the vigorous growth identified with Florida.

The threat exists in every area. Here in Seminole and adjacent Orange counties it is almost at a panic level. For the building of the physical facilities which growth must have — homes, office buildings, industrial plants, condominiums and high-rise apartments will come to a screeching stop, if no relief is found.

There is, of course, the necessity for pollution control. But there was a known deadline of Jan. 1st for compliance to the regulation which insists the treatment plants not violating secondary (90 per cent effective) treatment be stopped from permitting new hook-ups.

Efforts to conform have been underway all across the state but the cutting off of 90 days, as the surprise order did, has made a difficult task one of confused impossibility.

We are concerned not only from the point of view which has always placed the construction industry with its wide ramifications at the top of the economic forces which must be nourished if a healthy economy is to be realized, but because there are peculiar conditions which make construction in Florida something apart from other areas and which must have special consideration.

Pollution is a danger and a menace to the health and well-being of every human being. Protection in the form of proper waste treatment is essential. But it is not essential that the means of doing this should be the strangling of the "goose that lays the golden eggs."

Any consideration of this circumstance must take into account the special and peculiar factors which surround every plant and what is being done to comply with the spirit as well as the words of the ruling.

In Sanford the secondary treatment plant and the need for it has been known and recognized by about every agency involved. Take a look at what is being done at the existing plant off from Seminole Boulevard and the steadily progressing erection of the additional facility can be seen.

Now for the contradictory aspect. Sanford has been listed among the cities subject to the state freeze in an AP story out of Tallahassee. Yet in the hands of Warren E. Knowles, City Manager, is a notice of extension beyond the Jan. 1st date because of peculiar conditions surrounding the funding of the new plant.

What does this mean for the contractor who is all ready and has prepared for "hook-ups"? What does it mean to his suppliers? What does it mean to his employees?

Parisian Note French Culture 'Dead'? Say Not So!

PARIS — "French culture is dead! Vive la France!" shouted students marching down the Boulevard St. Michel.

For once, the Old Guard seemed to agree with the young lions. Jean Chalou wrote in Le Figaro, the distinguished morning paper, that literary Paris is now "a was museum" and "only a pantheon of more or less defunct glories."

"During the last ten years the literary life has completely disappeared," he added. "Our literary desert is such that the least translation from America is received with an ecstatic fervor."

"The hierarchy here has built a sort of Maginot Line of musical conformity," he declared after touring France as guest conductor of England's British Broadcasting Co. Symphony orchestra.

The Frenchman was no kinder in his criticism of French opera. Five years ago the government asked him to submit plans to revive the Paris Opera. Boulez suggested turning the famed opera house into a museum and building a modern music center in Paris.

Instead, the Ministry of Culture ordered the Paris Opera rebuilt at tremendous expense, boosted ticket prices 30 per cent and presented the same dull repertoire of previous years.

"The opera falls again into mediocrity," mourned Boulez, and flew back to America, marveling that French opera houses and theaters still sell seats from which occupants cannot possibly see the stage, "even by looking in mirrors."

Most young Frenchmen these days expect to get their culture from the looking glass of television. But there they are fooled again. The government runs all TV in France, and the majority of viewers are displeased with what they get.

According to the French Institute of Public Opinion, most viewers find the programs worse than they were a year ago and are doubtful that serious efforts were made to improve them.

The public would like to end government monopoly of French TV and bring in private stations financed by commercials.

Global View Mao Attacks U.S. Below the Border

Reports out of South and Central America indicate the extraordinarily blunt use Mao Tse-tung's men are making of the economic carrot in their political-diplomatic efforts south of the border.

The scenario is simple. Mao's men are wooing with talk of major purchases of minerals, coffee, fish or whatever, the businessmen in the country they're wooing with the hopes of profits to induce these businessmen to work on their governments.

The field is ripe. Latins are weary of their strong dependence on the ups and downs of the U.S. market. In Peru, China has agreed to buy $100 million worth of minerals over the next three years. Peking is taking copper, lead, zinc—but also fish powder and fish oil.

Peking has shown an interest in Mexican sugar, cotton, coffee, wheat, feed, copper, and cacao. El Salvador has hopes of selling coffee. China has agreed to buy sizable amounts of aluminum ore and sugar from Guyana and hinted to the Bolivian, the Venezuelan and Brazilian merchants of sizable purchases, if...

An analysis shows that Mao aims at building contacts where he can, and that his efforts are not confined to those governments close to China ideologically. In fact, where it is to China's interest, Mao apparently has been willing to sacrifice the interests of local Communist parties, even pro-Peking sects, and work with groups antagonistic to the Communists.

In this sacrifice of ideology to expediency, the Chinese have adopted the Soviet approach which they profess to despise. But it is to be noted that they have not been overly successful in developing Chinese-oriented underground Communist groups of influence. Though there are pro-Chinese Communist organizations in Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, the Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Mexico and Peru, they are, in almost all cases, extremely small and unimportant.

The Peking objectives seem clear as of now—to win votes in the United Nations and backing in the UN in her over-all drive for worldwide influence and in her efforts to undermine U.S. prestige and power.

The indications are that Mao's strategists have decided the United States can be most effectively attacked or undermined through political-diplomatic-economic infiltration of its underdeveloped neighbors.

One Man's Opinion Grain Deal Fails To Excite Voters

It is questionable how many Americans who do not themselves have economic or political stakes in the matter understand or even want to, much about the controversy over the massive U.S. grain sale to the Soviet Union.

As an election-year issue, it may well be of the type that generates more noise in Washington than it does votes across the country for either side.

And as it has developed, it is exceedingly complex even for election-year Washington. Very, very briefly, it involves:

• The complaint of some growers who sold early and low that they were cut out of the later higher wheat prices by not being informed of the impending Soviet purchase.

• The question of whether the export subsidy paid out by Washington to make usually higher-priced American grain competitive on the world market was manipulated to provide an additional windfall for grain export houses, which already were the major beneficiaries of the U.S.-Soviet deal.

• Personalities, relationships among Agriculture Department officials and exporters, and the shuffling of some individuals between jobs in the two areas, that may have worked to the improper advantage of the grain dealers.

Under the complex circumstances, congressional probers may never come up with a reasonably clear answer to the $750-million question of who got how much counted on to keep the pro-bing going until November.

If the details of the grain controversy are pure politics in 1972, it involves a basic problem—private enrichment at public expense—that is as old as government relief.

Presidential '72 Dole Replaces Agnew As Ramrod

WASHINGTON — Sen. Bob Dole, chairman of the Republican National Committee, counts Sen. George McGovern as an asset.

"A McGovern doesn't come along every four years," said Dole in an interview. "We're going to make the most of him. We're going to re-elect President Nixon in a landslide. We're going to win the Senate and maybe the House. We're going to make the Republican Party the majority party in this country."

"Yes, sir, McGovern is a real asset. He even helped us out by picking ' poor' Sargent Shriver for vice president — that fellow who has to get along on $100,000 a year."

The young, handsome senator from Kansas relishes his words, his role and his targets. Like a Dodge City gunslinger or a western sheriff, Dole has been stonier across the country shooting at any Democrat who dares wear a McGovern button.

"Brash? Extravagant? Blunt? Abrasive? Undoubtedly. But Dole is also effective. With Vice President Spiro Agnew adopting a more statesman-like tone in this campaign, Dole has become the Republicans' new cutting edge. And, he cuts deep.

Tea Leaves Russia, China Seen More Liberal

WASHINGTON — The United States has read the tea leaves and predicts a modest liberalization of both China and the Soviet Union by 1980 plus a substantial reduction in their fear of attack by outside forces.

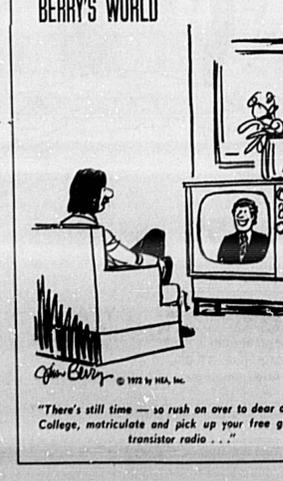

Even more so than today the two Communist powers are likely to look upon the other as the principal antagonist rather than the United States. As a result, gradual improvement in U.S.-China and U.S.-Soviet relations is expected with the twin relationships perhaps even taking on a competitive edge in the eyes of Peking and Moscow. All this and a lot more is predicted in a new State Department paper on current foreign policy. It is an attempt to look into the post-cold war world and see what lies ahead.

Basically what is perceived dimly is a world of scrambled relationships and vastly increased interdependence in which it may not be unusual for Europe and the Soviet Union to side against the United States in trade and investment matters, or for the United States and the Soviets to join in questioning trade policies of the European community. "An awareness of the complexities of interdependence should have a moderating influence on the international behavior of all countries," the paper states. This coming world of 1980, the United States believes, is all part of the aftermath of the change from a bipolar world of yesterday, dominated by the United States and the Soviet Union, to a five-sided world that also revolves around Western Europe, Japan and China. During the transition, Communist nations probably will develop toward interdependence slower than other nations. "It is doubtful that we will see more than a modest liberalization of the Chinese and Soviet domestic systems by 1980," the paper says, "but there may be a substantial improvement in their view of the external threat."

Forty years ago this week, the first transcontinental air flight gave California residents two-day letter delivery to New York. It was quite an accomplishment. Even with jets, computers and higher-priced stamps, our modern-day Postal Service hasn't been able to duplicate the 1932 feat with consistency.

Donna's Deliberations

A beautiful patriotic speech was given by U.S. Rep. Bill Chappell to the full body of the national House of Representatives recently and recorded in the 118th volume, No. 16 of the Congressional Record.

In the speech, Chappell decried the fact that "American goal has slipped, fallen and come to rest on the lowly depth of concern only for one's self, with little or no regard for others."

"We seem to have a different perspective today and most of it hinges on too great a love for the almighty dollar. Twentieth Century Americans are caught in a whirlwind of materialism. With more leisure time than ever before, we seek all those things that money can buy — a more expansive home, the latest fashions in clothes, a bigger car, and all the other items that modern technology can produce to make living more comfortable," the fourth district congressman declared.

"I hope it will not take something as drastic as another depression to bring our Nation to a reexamination of its goals. For as difficult as it was for many of us, the depression made us concentrate on the really important things in life — individual creativity, togetherness and teamwork, within the family, finding ways to use leisure time without spending a lot of money, and in an abiding faith in spiritual values."

Chappell in his address, quoted from "The American Creed," written in 1916 by William Tyler Page: "I believe in the government of the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed, a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes."

"I, therefore, believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag; and to defend its integrity against its enemies. It is the duty of every American citizen that all school children should have these two paragraphs from Tyler as required reading."

Fund Fires Dispute

As expected, the remarks made by Longwood Mayor Kenneth Brown a week ago asking under whose control the funds of the city's fire department should be placed, has stirred up a horned's nest.

As with all things, there are two sides to this story. The mayor and City Council some weeks ago, instructed that a bill be sent to the Orlando-Seminole Jail Alai Fronton for services rendered by the city's fire department with use of city equipment in fighting a fire at the sports arena. The bill sent by the city, was for $1,000.

The Jail Alai management apparently after receipt of the bill, sent a check to the volunteers for $500 and the check was accepted by that organization. And that started the present questions concerning fire department funds.

The volunteers, meanwhile, naturally are upset at the idea that the city may wish to take over their bank account which includes funds raised by the men and the women's auxiliary through chicken dinners, etc. and donations in the past.

Some six years ago, a petition was circulated throughout the city and enough signatures acquired to call a state audit of city accounts including the fire department's funds. At that time, the state auditor determined the fire department was an independent organization and the city had no control over its private moneys.

The difference between then and now appears to be the fact that the city presently has a paid fire chief and under his new budget will have a full-time fire department. In addition, Councilman Bill Klesky and Dick Crenshaw, fire commissioners, met with the volunteers Tuesday night and invited them to appear before the City Council in work session in the near future to discuss the problem.

Hopefully the issue will be worked out to everyone's satisfaction.

Ecology Walk

"Walk for Ecology Day" has been proclaimed in Altamonte Springs Saturday by Mayor Lawrence Swofford. The police department is sponsoring its second annual "walk for ecology" tomorrow beginning at 9 a.m.

The first annual "walk," sponsored last year by Chief Justice East's force, received a commendation from President Richard M. Nixon.

The proclamation signed by the mayor points out Ecology is a branch of science concerned with the interrelationship of man and the environment he lives in and that the city is concerned with the environment and intent to make every effort to support ecology in the community.

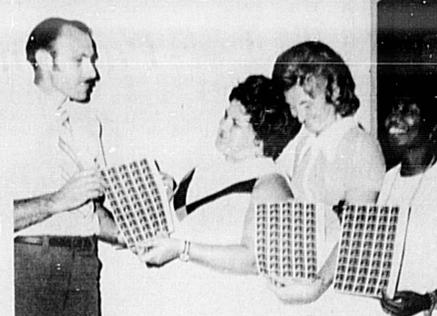

Bon Appetit Altamonte Council this week received a petition from the Seminole County Civic Association of Rolling Hills making it "crystal clear" that the residents in that area have no desire to be annexed by the galling land gormant, Altamonte Springs.

Councilman Dan Dorfman, a little taken aback by the strong wording in the resolution, stated city policy of annexing no one against his will. Dorfman said the City Council has a policy of considering for annexation only those parcels of land for which the city has received petitions from the property owners. "And then," Dorfman said, "we only annex lands that will not be liabilities to our city."

Mayor Swofford, however, offered in a return letter to the association to appear before the city and the services offered to citizens of the community he serves. The Stone property across Orange Road from plush Glen Arden, Glen Arden Heights and La Flore is not in process of being annexed by Altamonte and in fact no petition for annexation of the tract has been filed by the city, both Dorfman and Councilman Helen Keyser declared.

Dorfman said some rumors have circulated in the city that the property is being annexed for development. Continued, the city's planning consultants, in studies of the Altamonte city area and immediate environs, have declared the property, if annexed, should be allowed to develop only into high type single family dwellings.

A total of 39,414 are eligible to vote in Seminole in next Tuesday's primary election. Of this number, 24,087 are registered Democrats, 13,828 Republicans, 741 independents, 277 non-partisan.

Big Schools To Squeeze Legislature

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Saying "the state has money coming out its ears," 11 big county school boards representing 76 per cent of Florida's public school pupils met Thursday to pool their political clout in an effort to squeeze more funds out of the Legislature.

The Large County Council of the Florida School Boards Association wants "to get adequate financial support—including increased funding for total school operation, special programs, and district cost differential."

"We have a great opportunity this year to obtain additional funding," said council chairman Hugo Schmidt of Tampa. "The state has a great money coming out of its ears—a $200 million surplus."

"We can ask for some of this new money and we'll decide today how to do it," the Hillsborough County board member said.

Members of the council are Pinellas, Broward, Dade, Orange, Palm Beach, Duval, Brevard, Polk, Escambia, Hillsborough and Volusia Counties.

The Legislature itself coined the phrase "district cost differential" earlier this year to describe special financial problems faced by metropolitan areas where the cost of living is higher than in rural districts.

"A flat per-pupil dollar program offered Retirees TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Florida has inaugurated a new program designed to make retirees over 60 feel useful, contributing citizens who still have a lot to get out of life as well as give.

Oliver Jernigan announced Thursday a $225,000 federal grant has been awarded to the Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) for the establishment of community volunteer centers. The centers will cater to senior citizens who want to participate regularly in public and private non-profit programs in their towns.

Jernigan, state RSVP director said there are no educational economic or experience requirements necessary to participate in the program supervised by the state Department of Rehabilitative Services.

"Everyone has value," said Jernigan, "and the beauty of RSVP is that there is a place for everyone. Our program will be two-edged—we want to participate regularly in public and private non-profit programs in their towns."

"We want them to become involved in things that not only will make their community a better place to live, but also will make their lives happier and richer because of what they are doing," he said.

Lovebugs In Politics

By F. T. MACFEELY JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Motorists have learned to hate lovebugs and, now, so do politicians.

The "kissing" critics that swarm over north and central Florida highways as connecting pairs each spring and fall, coating windshields and radiators with their bodies, are near the end of the current infestation. But they became timely campaign issues Thursday for two lawmakers seeking re-election.

The number of lovebugs in central and northeast Florida has reached mammoth proportions," said Rep. William Chappell, D-Fla.

State Rep. Ted Alvarez, D-Jacksonville, who is fighting a tough primary opponent next Tuesday, claimed credit for initiating a small research project beginning at the quarter Section Post on the North Boundary of Section 2, Township 20 South, Range 29 East, Seminole County, Florida, run West 295.25 feet, thence South 295.25 feet, thence East 295.25 feet, thence North 295.25 feet to point of beginning, (Less the East 25 feet for road, containing 3 acres, more or less).

Said property has 295.25 feet of frontage on the Longwood-Markham Road in Seminole County, Florida, which said Road is paved and has a net depth of 270.25 feet. The land is high in elevation and nearly level. It is presently agricultural. The property is situated on the West side of the Longwood-Markham Road, approximately eight miles from Sanford and approximately seventeen miles from Orlando, Florida.

The District School Board invites those parties interested in bidding for the purchase of said property to submit sealed bids according to the District School Board of Seminole County, care of Walter Teague, Finance Officer, 302 E. Commercial Street, Sanford, Florida. Bids will be received until 3:00 o'clock P.M., October 30, 1972, and should state the name and address of the bidder and the price offered for the property.

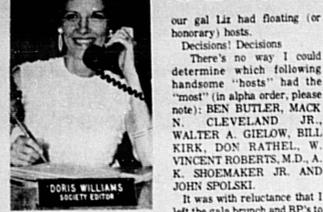

Said property will be sold to the highest bidder for cash, save and except however, that the Board reserves the right to decline all bids. No bids of less than $10,000.00 will be considered.

'Candid Chatter' . . . And A-Partying We Did Go!

our gal Liz had floating (or honorary) hosts.
Decisions! Decisions!
There's no way I could determine which following handsome "hosts" had the "most" (in alpha order, please note): BEN BUTLER, MARK N. CLEVELAND, JR., WALTER A. GIELLOW, BILL KIRK, DON RATHEL, W. VINCENT ROBERTS, M.D., A. K. SHOEMAKER JR. AND JOHN SPOLSKI.

OBVIOUSLY HAPPY ABOUT IT all at a gala brunch are Liz Paulucci, center, hostess, with Sheriff and Mrs. John Polk, couple at left, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Alston, right. The brunch was to honor the two men.

Now back to the "party" given by the McKees. This one was to honor TOM DOLAN, who arrived on the scene a shade late with his attractive wife.
A cosmopolitan cocktail party could have been nice! Betty opened the door to welcome guests wearing a smart cocoa long ensemble fashioned with a muted cocoa and white plaid skirt and a long sleeved cocoa knit blouse, very, very!

ADA AND BOB O'NEIL (former neighbors whom I saw at the McKee party) just love their new home—a few blocks away in Loch Arbor.
Among the many others all excited over new homes they are building which they hope to occupy before Santa's arrival are CLAUDIA AND JIM BLYTHE and LINDA AND BILL RECK.

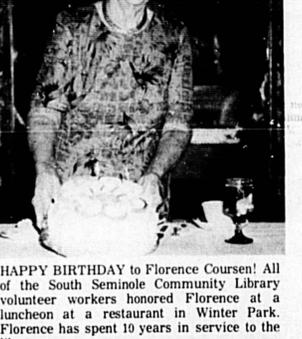

Have been duly informed that the new curtain for the Civic Center (which I mentioned in a previous column) has been ordered and will arrive in time to rise with a flourish when incomparable HILDEGARD occupies before Santa's arrival, Nov. 14, under the auspices of the Seminole Mutual Concert Association.
This reminds me . . . as if I could forget . . . that memberships are still open in SCM-CA.

Now's the time to voice your opinion. Tell pretty Paula all about it! The "Listening Post," PAULA HAWKIN'S mobil campaign office will be at Sanford Plaza Shopping Center this Saturday at 5 p. m. with Paula aboard to hear you out and listen to your ideas on telephone, power and water service.

At a party Wednesday night at the fashionable home of BETTY AND BOB MCKEE, Sheriff JOHN POLK and his DOT were among the first to arrive at the scene.
We rapped a bit and the sheriff commented he had never seen such a group of good-looking women anywhere, anyone, who were among the throngs living it up luxuriously at a "party" earlier in the day.
The sheriff was referring to the elaborate "brunch" given by LIZ PAULUCCI in his honor with TOMMY ALSTON as the other guest of honor.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Advertising is a highly competitive field. Most of the top jobs are held by men, many of whom eventually fall by the wayside. How then can a woman successfully acquire and handle a top job in this field?
Helene Mahoney, president of E. H. Mahoney Associates, an ad agency which she started about two years ago, believes that with experience and determination not to back away from a fight it can be done. Hers is a small firm in a big business company and she believes her years of experience in the field and tenacity about doing my homework, as she puts it, are responsible for its success and growth.

She suggested a cosmetic look in packaging and the idea was accepted by the manufacturer, a Dutch company.
I had to present the whole concept to the staid Hollanders with nary a blash, although some of the men turned red in the face. But I had studied, the meeting would have been over.
"I got rejections at first from some of the women's magazines. One publisher said he would be embarrassed to have his teenage daughter see the ad in his magazine. But I pointed out to him some of the ads in the back of his book—mail order ads for drug stores. His head this agency is a success and is growing steadily.

Next stepping stone was the feminine hygiene area. It was a rough subject to get into the media.
"Everyone seemed so sensitive about it. Druggists hid the products behind the counter. Yet in supermarkets they threw Feminine and other hygiene aids into their shopping carts with never a thought about it. So I realized that there was a generation that a direct approach would appeal to.

Bye-Bye To Costly Furs

LAST LEOPARD—New conservation laws protecting spotted animals, including the leopard, ocelot and cheetah, are changing the future for American furriers. Constantino Christie, head of The Brothers Christie, displays the last leopard pelt his firm will ever use for a coat. Christie maintains that furriers have very human instincts and feels that although conservation regulations have not been firmly established in Europe, American furriers must abide by them to help insure future existence of these animals.

Dear Abby

Wife's volunteer friends give husband the 'bores'
DEAR ABBY: I do volunteer work with two wonderful women one day a week. It's not very glamorous work, and they are very dedicated and I admire them tremendously. One of the women invited my husband and me to her home for dinner. My husband was not thrilled about going, but I got him there, and thank goodness, he was cordial. It was a small party, just the two volunteer workers, their husbands and us.
After we got home my husband told me to never subject him to another evening like that! He said he never spends such a boring evening with the women come on strong, like a couple of women's libbers, and he felt sorry for their poor benighted husbands. [That wasn't my impression. I thought the women were fun and entertaining, and the husbands seemed very proud of them.]

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I have help for the reader who wants to crochet around a wishbone to make a thimble holder. Crochet a straight stitch like you were going to make a scarf. Crochet on to this chain with any fancy stitch to make a holder large enough for the thimble. Put a ribbon bow at the top to hang it by and a tassel on the bottom. I have made these for many years in all colors.
—EVA

Dear Abby

DEAR GIBBY—Eva failed to say so but the first row of crochet would have to be joined to make a circle to fit around the wishbone and then the rest of the crochet done around and round or the piece made all flat (of course, measuring around the bone so it will be the correct size) and then the finished piece sewed together.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—My Pet Peeve is calling a department store and having the operator say the line you want is busy and then put you "on hold." There you stay wondering whether you are disconnected or not. What if that had been a long distance call?

Dear Abby

DEAR POLLY—This morning we went to a model airplane show and the temperature was in the 90s and it was hot. There were no trees, of course, and the only shade was in the car which felt like an oven. Suddenly my husband raised the car window and there was a bit of instant shade. We all sat down in front of the car and it was a great relief. The idea occurred to me so rapidly that I had to write you all over the place.—SYLVIA

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Sally's case is really a first cousin to that of Shakespeare's heroine in his famous "Taming of the Shrew." Family crava masculine dominance. Naggging is a wife's attempt to make her meek mate assert his erotic mastery in the boudoir!

Case V-505: Sally M., aged 5, is a problem case. "Dr. Crane," her kindergarten teacher began. "Sally was the only child until a year ago."

Then she received a baby brother, and the family gave him most of their attention. "So Sally has become a problem youngster."

"When I have visited in her home occasionally, I have seen her deliberately violate rules till her daddy spansks her."

"She actually seems to go on her way to provoke her parents into punishing her. Why?"

Provocative Naughtiness
This is a good example of what we term "provocative naughtiness." It is such a case, a child will deliberately disobey rules and even submit to the inexorable punishment, just to gain his father's attention.

And kiddies crave physical contact, preferably in the form of hugs, kisses and caresses.
But even by incurring slaps or spankings, they will often relish the limelight they thus gain from their parents.

They prefer such painful attention to the isolation they suffered previously!
Indeed, in "Shakespeare's brilliant psychological plot, entitled "The Taming of the Shrew," we witness a first cousin to Sally's provocative naughtiness.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S horoscope

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day when everyone needs to be very careful to live according to accepted precepts and principles, since an atmosphere of poor judgment, compromise and unexpected reversals is in the air. This is a day when the evening brings a chance to build up health.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Try not to lose your temper with kin at home in a m. then the p.m. becomes restless and charming there. Come to a far better understanding instead of permit a partner to run roughshod over you.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Tone down those worries over financial or personal matters in a m. and wear a smile and cheerfulness. Then all improves for you. Make sure you win others over easily. Then all improves for you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Make sure you do not overpend for whatever you do not really need anyway during the day, and in p.m. you can then make fine plans for the future. Others expect too much from you, so do only what is humanly possible and show you have good sense.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you show that you are well controlled during a m., you win easily over others. Later you can be with congenials for the delightful pleasures you desire with them. Spend some, but not too much.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Instead of fretting over that situation in a m. when you can do little about it, await the afternoon and settle it calmly after you have cooled off. Dress neatly and go out socially. Then all improves for you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Do whatever will clear up that debt situation in a m. when you can do little about it, await the afternoon and settle it calmly after you have cooled off. Dress neatly and go out socially. Then all improves for you.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Today you are able to accomplish much of your scope of imagination. Accept this opportunity (for you must accept) and do something about it if the results are to be as you desire to extend your influence far beyond present boundaries.

Defendant Denies Stabbing 2 Convicts Testify In Murder

By MARION BETHEA

A hearing in the case of Michael Whalen, who pleaded guilty to the first degree murder of Richard Franklin Day, was held yesterday before Circuit Judge Dominick Skiff for the purpose of taking additional testimony in the case.

Two inmates of state prison who had been in the same cell block with Fulton Perkins, who also pleaded guilty to the first degree murder in the slaying and was meted life imprisonment, were returned to Sanford to testify.

Cecil Gerry testified he knew Perkins when incarcerated in county jail, and that Perkins had "talked to everyone about the crime." Gerry said he quered the latter as to why he killed Day and Perkins replied "because dead men don't talk."

City Council last night, following a few words from Councilman E. E. Williamson, agreed to have the water committee, of which Williamson and Agnes Weber are members, prepare rate schedules to increase costs to commercial users while leaving residential rates at the status quo.

The committee's recommendations are to be submitted to the full board on Oct. 26. Williamson noted work sessions on the budget were completed and large and substantial salary increases given city employees.

And, of course, there will be a counseling service as there has always been for those in trouble, needing spiritual advice, pastoral guidance and personal assistance in all phases of family problem situations.

United Fund participation helps to make all of these programs possible. "By the help of God, these additions to our other facets of Salvation was refused a polygraph and was in fear of Perkins since he had threatened the witness with a razor blade. He was reluctant to testify, he disclosed.

The other witness, Wayne Jarvis, said he did not fear Perkins and also related that Perkins demonstrated commission of the slaying, Perkins, he said, declared Walter Barone, manager of the store, who was kidnaped and robbed, for which Whalen was meted a life sentence, should have been killed.

Defense Attorney David Ervin told the court Whalen would testify against Whalen who was in possession of the test.

Chaperones 'Unhappy' 3 POWs Home; Facing Medics

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dressed in military uniforms and wearing combat decorations, three American prisoners of war have returned to the United States, separated from the peace group that escorted them from Hanoi by remaining with their accompanying peace group.

The arrival at New York's Kennedy International Airport Thursday night ended a 12-day trip that was followed with political controversy at home. The end of the trip, however, did not bring an end to the dis-

The three POWs had rejected offers to turn themselves over to U.S. government officials at various points along their journey, which included stops in Peking, Moscow and Copenhagen. One of the three, Maj. Edward Elias, said aboard the plane that he felt they had fulfilled the conditions of release set by Hanoi by remaining with their accompanying peace group.

Elias, 34, an Air Force officer held prisoner for five months, joined his family and flew to Maxwell Air Force Base in Montgomery, Ala., aboard a military C-119 medical evacuation plane, the Defense Department said.

The other two men are Navy Lt. (j.g.) Mark Gartley, 24, a prisoner for four years, and Navy Lt. (j.g.) Norris Charles, 27, captive nine months.

Gartley went to a family reunion at the U.S. Naval Hospital at St. Albans in New York City, the department said. Charles met with his family in New York and then flew to a naval hospital in San Diego aboard another C-119, officials said.

Cora Weiss said she and the other three chaperones, David T. Dellinger, 56, Richard A. Falk, 41, and the Rev. William Sloane Coffin Jr., had been deceived by Elias. She said the major had indicated antwar sentiments in Hanoi only to change his attitude once they departed.

Crime Rate Made Campaign Issue

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The FBI's new report on the nation's crime rate has been injected into the 1972 presidential campaign.

After the report was issued Thursday, Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern asserted: "Under the Nixon administration, the basic problems behind high crime rates have not been solved. They have worsened."

While President Nixon did not respond to McGovern's comments, two administration officials did. Presidential assistant John D. Ehrlichman contended that McGovern was "dramatically haywire" in his crime figures.

The report, the FBI's Uniform Crime Report, said serious crime in the country was up 1 per cent for the first six months of this year compared to the same period in 1971.

But McGovern said: "This does not come close to telling the whole story. For every crime that is reported, there are two that are not reported, according to President Johnson's Crime Commission."

The South Dakota senator, who cut short his campaign plans to relax today at his farmhouse at St. Michaels, Md., said crime has increased 23 per cent and drug addiction has doubled.

Salvation Army in Seminole County began 43 years ago and has become an integral part of the life of the entire county. It is considered one of the oldest members of the United Fund.

The Army is making diligent efforts toward improving a League of Mercy aid program and the establishment of a first Salvation Army disaster team.

And, of course, there will be a counseling service as there has always been for those in trouble, needing spiritual advice, pastoral guidance and personal assistance in all phases of family problem situations.

United Fund participation helps to make all of these programs possible. "By the help of God, these additions to our other facets of Salvation was refused a polygraph and was in fear of Perkins since he had threatened the witness with a razor blade. He was reluctant to testify, he disclosed.

The other witness, Wayne Jarvis, said he did not fear Perkins and also related that Perkins demonstrated commission of the slaying, Perkins, he said, declared Walter Barone, manager of the store, who was kidnaped and robbed, for which Whalen was meted a life sentence, should have been killed.

Defense Attorney David Ervin told the court Whalen would testify against Whalen who was in possession of the test.

Ervin said Whalen would testify against Whalen who was in possession of the test.

Mayfair
The Mayfair Women's Golf Association kicked off their 25th year this past Wednesday with a (WHAT ELSE?) kippers tournament which is actually another term for a blind bogie tournament.

October 29 was to have been the date for the opening monthly mixed tournament but due to the Hugh Wheeler Memorial Tourney, the mixed event will be played October 22, so far as we know now. Several of the men at Mayfair who were or will be playing in the mixed event, are also several ladies in the same category, and you will just list it to know to John Price, arrangements can be made ... to play golf that is!!!

October 7-8 are the dates for the mens association monthly tournament which will be an individual points tourney. This seems to be a most popular event with the men. I know it's just a bit too early to be talking about next year, but 13 weeks don't seem too long and that's all there is left in the year. The 1973 Mayfair Open is scheduled for January 24-26, with the pro-am portion set for the 24th. Just thought you would like to know.

Rolling Hills
The Rolling Hills men competed for prizes in a two partner, best ball tournament last Saturday in which the teenagers again walked off with the low gross award. This week it was the threesome of Terry Williamson and Bill Gistler who recorded the winning score of one under par 71.

On Sunday it was a mixed two partner, best ball event that brought the members out in force. Slipping somewhat the Sunday before last, Fred and Doris Harve got back into the winners circle that they seem to dominate so much by winning the low gross prize with a score of 75.

Florida Citrus Open
The Florida Citrus Invitational will once again be called the Florida Citrus OPEN. A kickoff meeting and cocktail party was held at the RioPinar Country Club last night. As officials announcing the division heads of the various committees, awards were presented to past division heads as well as past chairmen. It was also learned that the Satellite, or mini-circuit as it has been called, will be held at Errol Estates in late February.

Trevino Posing Large Threat In Quad Classic
Bob Green
Associated Press Golf Writer
BETTENDORF, Iowa (AP) — Lee Trevino lurked just two strokes off a pair of youthful, long-shot leaders today as officials attempted to complete the stern-interrupted first round of the $100,000 Quad Cities Open Golf Tournament.

Jack Lewis, 25, and Don Iverson, 26, a pair of non-winners in the pro tour, posted four-under-par 67s Thursday several hours before a violent storm—and the threat of a tornado—forced suspension of play with some two dozen pros still on the 6,500-yard Crow Valley Golf Club course.

Gibby Gilbert, with a 68, and Trevino, competing in the rounds moments before play was suspended. Players who were still on the course will complete their rounds Friday morning before the start of the second round in this event that is being played as a major tournament for the first time.

Trevino, the British Open champion, No. 2 money winner on the tour this season and the heavy favorite to take the $20,000 first prize, was tied at 69 with Craig Dear and Martin Roessink, a native of the Netherlands now living in Shreveport, La.

Of the six leaders, only Trevino and Gilbert have won tour titles. Deane Beman, who won the Quad Cities last year when it was played as a satellite, was five strokes back at 72.

Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Billy Casper and Gary Player are not competing.

Along the line it will be Jeff Wittenberg, 64, 190 and Ken Evans, 64, 175 at ends; Scott Ault, 5-10, 215 and Steve Schooner, 6-1, 175 and Frank Vacenda, 5-4, 155 at guards and Steve Lane, 5-10, 200 at center.

Defensively it will be Tuma and Adair at the ends, Vacenda and schooner at tackles. Davis, Wood Lane and Burch at the linebackers. Bill Safely and halfbacks will be Steve Odegaard, 5-9, 150, Bruce Thornberry, 5-9, 150 and Eric Van Antwerp, 6-7, 180.

Gordon Bradley (left) received an award of appreciation from Jim Jernigan, Director of the Sanford Recreation Department recently. Bradley stepped down from his position as secretary-treasurer of Youth Baseball after almost 10 years in that capacity.

Wildcats Undefeated Tribe Hosts Winter Park Tonight

The undefeated Winter Park Wildcats, favored to take their second consecutive Metro Conference crown this year, come to Sanford tonight for an 8 p.m. battle with the Fighting Seminoles at the Sanford Municipal Stadium. Sanford enters the game with a 1-1 record as losing to Gainesville 53-30 last week. Sanford opened the season with a 1-0 win over the Oviedo Lions. Winter Park, on the other hand, opened the season with a 1-0 win over the Oviedo Lions. Winter Park, on the other hand, opened the season with a 1-0 win over the Oviedo Lions. Hounds Host Hornets In An Away Contest

By HERKY CUSH Herald Sports Writer
What's in store for the Greyhounds of Lyman tonight? According to many who've seen the Hounds in action, including their coaches, it all depends on the players themselves. They have the potential to post their third straight win of the season but potential has yet to win a game. The Hounds are matched against a tough crew of Hornets from Bishop Moore in a game that is the home contest of the Hornets but will be played at the Lyman High Field starting at 8 p.m.

Oakland Wears West Crown Red Sox Widen AL East Margin

By HAL BOCK Associated Press Sports Writer
The happy Oakland A's and desperate New York Yankees were at opposite ends of the baseball's 1972 season headed into its final regular week of play. The A's, wearing the American League's West Division crown, were happy that they hadn't backed into the title and the Yankees, still nursing an outside shot at the AL's East title, were grateful that they hadn't backed out of their chance for the other division championship.

Cowboys Could Find Surprise In Packers

By BEN THOMAS Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Are the Dallas Cowboys riding for a fall? The Redskins continue to win under the quarterbacking of Billy Kilmer, with Larry Brown grinding out yardage on the ground. The Patriots were the upset winners last week. They won't be this time. Cleveland 13, Cincinnati 28—Look for a minor upset here. The Bengals are unbeaten, but the Browns just may have found the quarterback they've been looking for in Mike Phipps.

Two Seminole County Peach Wee football teams will clash tomorrow at Sanford Municipal Stadium as the Sanford Page Packers play host to the Jack Prosser Ford Pee Wees from Lake Mary.

ONE OF THESE ATHLETES is happy, appearances to the contrary notwithstanding. It is not, however, Pittsburgh Pirate pitcher Bob Johnson, left, who has just struck a home run ball. Nor is it golfer Deane Beman, right, who has just missed a putt. It is, as might be expected, Billie Jean King, center, who has just hit a vital backhand shot. King rarely has anything to be unhappy about on the tennis court.
