

Reckless Driving Highlights Court

A number of cases of traffic violations were on the docket at City Court Friday afternoon. David W. Davis, of Orlando, was fined $5 and costs for reckless driving, as the result of a side-swipe collision between the truck he was driving, and a car driven northward on Park Avenue by Miss Nellie Brewer Johnson. Mr. Davis is president of the Orange Corporation of Orlando. The charge against Miss Johnson of reckless driving was dismissed. For running a red light, $11 bond was estreated by E.P. Thompson. Mrs. M.W. Childs, for running a red light estreated $5 bond. For drunkenness, Harold Wolven estreated bond of $11. Negro cases were: Archie Knight, charged with failure to take treatment for contagious disease, $5 and costs or 15 days; Oscar Lee and Uriah Brown each estreated bonds of $2 on a charge of obstructing an alley.

High School Ball Is Often The Best

By BOB WILSON
BALTIMORE—The International League's Chalmers kid believes Double A baseball is better to cope with than the high school brand of play. For this reason, 18-year-old Jack Meech, utility Baltimore second baseman, the league's youngest player, expects to hit 270 this year, his first in professional ball.
Signed by Baltimore only last year, the Baltimore kid, a youngster who carries 160 but the five-foot, 130-lb. 180-pound right-hander says he's getting a lot of playing instruction from talented veterans, and as for hitting:
"In this league, you know the pitchers will throw them over the plate in high school, they're liable to throw it over you, behind you, or at you."
Jack doesn't think 270 too high to aim at, since he hit 275 last season in high school, and, after all, he expects to see action only when the Orioles are way ahead, hopelessly trailing, or if Benny Bell gets hurt.
Praised by Manager
Anything he does won't surprise Manager Tommy Thomas, who terms his roommate "a very good prospect, with a great pair of hands, ability to hit to all fields, excellent assistance, and fantastic enthusiasm."
Jack was signed, partly in May after a friend of his father, a farm implement salesman, brought him to the attention of George W. Reed, Baltimore club president. He made his debut May 23, playing one inning against Syracuse, not getting a chance to bat or handle the ball itself.
Thomas has only one fault to find with his recruit: "He sleeps too much—15 hours a night. That boy's upsetting my routine."

Pfc. Benton Says Germans Smart, But Not Enough

...over, everyone would run for his fox hole. I was up the line and at night there was just something about it that you don't want to light a match or make any noise at all. Those Germans were plenty smart but they were not smart enough. They would try anything to get a person out in the place they wanted to get to, then they would shoot.

They have a familiar trick of setting traps around a place when they leave it. They will fix anything up with explosives and when a person picks it up, it will go off and usually kills every thing near it. All of the places that we have been up here the Germans were here before us, so we have to be very careful and watch what we pick up. Evidently, they were in a big hurry to clear out the country when they left the place we are now in. They left all kinds of equipment and supplies. Most everything has been burned or destroyed other than the radio reported about 4500 prisoners had been taken in the three day period. They would bring them in by trucks and load them on the trucks and they would be taken to some of the big camps of them even seemed glad to be taken prisoner. Some of our boys were but burying some of the Germans one day and they came out and that was just lying there but not dead. I went and saw where they were burying them and I sure was not a pleasant sight. Some of them had been dead for several days and you can imagine the rest. The only souvenir I have collected is I picked up some things and made myself a writing case. It is all complete with electric lights and all. I have picture frame fixed in it with Jeanette and Tom's picture in it and then I have the picture of you and dad on the top of it. That light is one that I took off of one of those cars and I took it on to the battery and I took you a little and I have it all fixed up.

...that sure is a big help to us too and it is just like having a room. All we need now is just a radio and running water, then it will be complete. I don't believe there is a bay over here that won't have a different view point on everything when he gets back to the states. Lots of things that we considered very small items back there have proven to be larger things over here. I know I will appreciate lots of little things like taking a bath in warm water and buying a few Coca Cola's etc. that I never thought of before. Most of all NOT having to write any more letters. I think I will close enough to any one one I want to them and if they want to see me they will have to do the traveling. "About the time I got your fruit cake, we were eating stew twice a day and had a cup of hot tea with out any cream or sugar. We ate at nine in the morning and four in the afternoon so you can easily see why I enjoyed that cake so much. Our food never been that bad but before or since but that was just at a time when one of the battles was going full progress. Since then our food has been usually good today we even had peach pie. One thing that made that stew taste so bad was the fact that there were so many goats running around to smell and remind me of the taste. Well we made out O.K. and I don't believe there was anyone that worried as much about starving as they were the bullets and shrapnel that was flying around. "A few days ago our regiment had a memorial service for the boys that were killed in the African Campaign. It was a very impressive ceremony but it was quite different from the Memorial Services back there, especially when we knew it was for some of the boys that we have known and run around with. Our division has received lots of praise from the division commander and all of the allied nations and have really made a name

SAN ANTONIO Tex., June 30—Charley Parker, San Antonio's Pony Express, corrected one starting fault this season and within two months was the nation's top schoolboy sprinter.

Wallace Says RFC Jones Is Hurting War

...of "obstruction tactics" of hamstringing work of the Board of Economic Warfare in importing strategic materials. Wallace, who heads the BEW, said Jones "failed miserably" in the period prior to and immediately after Pearl Harbor to carry out instructions from Congress and the War Production Board to build up reserves of strategic materials which this country must import.

...the 18-year-old Parker, who ran the 100 yards in 9.6 at the Texas Interscholastic meet, followed up with a 20.6 time in the 220 to break the national scholastic record, has won 37 consecutive races over a two-year stretch. He has blinding speed and a great finishing "kick" but observers here believe failure to use his arms to greater advantage has caused Irvin to predict world records for the San Antonio speedster before his college days have ended. If army life does not slow him down, the world has never known if he can improve his arm action.

Jones Replies

Jones replied with this statement: "The release given out by Mr. Wallace today filled with malice and misstatements. It makes two serious charges: "1. That RFC had failed in the purchase and stockpiling of strategic and critical materials. The facts are that not more than 10 percent of our purchases have been initiated by the BEW. RFC commitments for foreign purchases have been approximately $3,500,000,000 of which not more than 10 percent was originated by BEW. We have actually received and paid for materials to the value of $1,400,000,000 of which less than 5 percent can be credited to BEW initiative.

...That fact and the knowledge that most sprinters do not reach their peak until they are 20 or older have caused Irvin to predict world records for the San Antonio speedster before his college days have ended. If army life does not slow him down, the world has never known if he can improve his arm action.

Dairy Products Are Seen As Important Item In Food Diet

Dairy products have become one of the most important items in the Food for Freedom program according to J.B. Davidson, Secretary-Treasurer of the Central Florida Production Credit Association. At the beginning of the year the Nation had in prospect a production of 123 billion pounds of milk. Mr. Davidson stated. This was estimated to be seven billion pounds short of the amount necessary to meet civilian, military and Land Lease needs.

There has been some shifting of dairy herds because of the draft and labor shortage, he said, and unfortunately in the process some dairy cows have gone to slaughter. The War Food Administration has been urging farmers, particularly the small operators, to aid in the situation by increasing their milk production. The response has been good but the world still needs more milk, Mr. Davidson pointed out.

The Nation's milk supply usually reaches its peak about the middle of June when cows are on full pasture, he continued. Farmers should recognize this situation and make plans to combat the usual slump which takes place as pastures dry up and as supplies of supplementary feeds dwindle. Temporary pasture crops, to lengthen and grazing season, and an abundant supply of good hay and silage, will be invaluable to the war effort in holding the milk production in late summer and winter, according to Mr. Davidson.

...the price issue would continue to be a paramount one in food policies, since it brings to the surface a long list of measures supported by Roosevelt.

Invasion of Europe Told By Churchill

Field Marshal Rommel was reported concentrating an estimated 250,000 troops as a barrier against Allied attempts to reach the German heart of Europe.

Italy expected the start of the battle at any hour, said the Gazette de Lausanne, adding that the Italians believed an Allied fleet was ready to attack the coast of Sicily.

Swimming Made Compulsory In Colorado School

Students Are Taught To Swim Thru Sea Of Blazing Oil

By BOB GEIGER

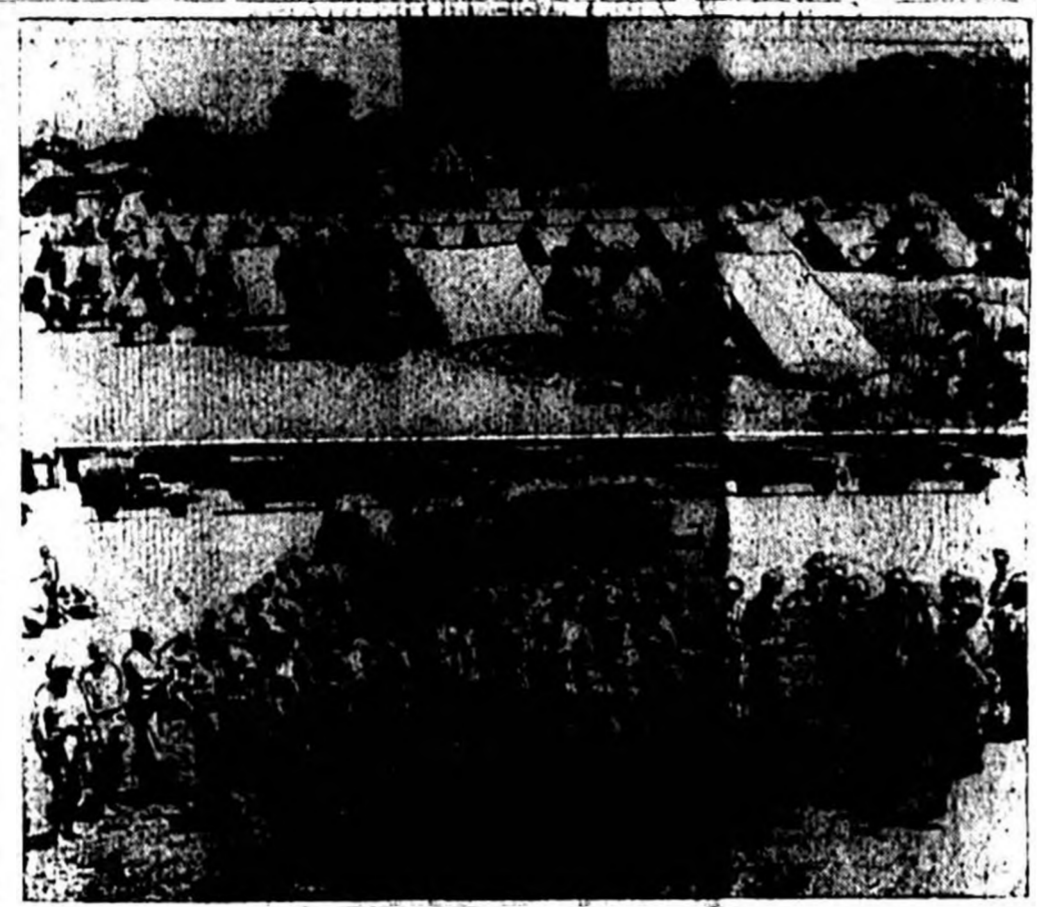

AT FEATURES
GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Colo. — It's a strange school "room." Captain Guild pours oil on the swimming pool water, teaches a dozen high school boys and girls to dive into the leaping flames, as though they were abandoning ship in a sea of blazing oil.

"Certainly it's dangerous, but so is war," says Capt. Eugene R. Guild, retired army officer in charge of the course. "It's a compulsory public school course."

Must Swim 80 Yards
A student doesn't get his high school diploma unless he can float one minute and swim 80 yards.

...fifth grade pupils must be able to float 30 seconds and swim 25 yards. Physically handicapped are excused.
Captain Guild emphasizes a shipwrecked person should be able to float for hours, until help might arrive. Swimming may be useless if shore is 1,000 miles or so away.
"In war time there should be a swimming course in every public school in the United States," says Captain Guild, who was made conscious of the desirability of knowing how to swim during World War I. "So far as I know, however, this is the first public school system to make this sort of training a required subject."

"If you come breathing into this mass of flame, the fire may kill you," The Captain tells. "It's a test of the student's ability to survive. Many couldn't swim."
With those drownings fresh in the minds of the students, they are taught to swim in a sea of flames. The class stands on the stone edge of the pool with their feet burning. At a signal they all take a deep breath and leap.
Diving, they swim under water for 15 or 20 feet and come up at the far side of the blazing circle.

UNITED STATES REGULARS from Fort Custer, Mich., pitch their tents at Northwestern High School in Detroit (top photo), ready to quell any renewal of rioting which brought Army intervention after more than a score died. That they intend to stay is shown by the bottom scene where mobile kitchens and ambulances have arrived. (Internationa! Soundphoto.)

...of water. Some dive back under the flames, come up in the middle of them and cheer with their arms raised. "If the flames are too fierce, a person can get a breath of air and perhaps save his life," explains the Captain. "The oil is only a tiny film on the water. Break that film and the fire is dispersed from that area."
"This drill helps a student lose his fear of diving into flaming water and prove to him it can be done without harm."
"Many men who could swim have gone down with the ship rather than dive into the sea that surrounded it."
The students are taught to remove clothing in the water, capture an air bubble in a sleeve or pant leg and float on the garment. This is similar to army and navy training. The advanced students also are taught life saving technique and receive Red Cross swimming cards with their diplomas.
Captain Guild, retired in 1938 because of disability, was passing through Glenwood Springs and stopped to swim in the city's hot pool, now a Navy convalescent center. He stayed when selective service started his sawing western Colorado men, including members and names, joining the Navy or Army without knowing how to swim. "I started a free school to teach them. This was so successful that parents of school children became swim fans."
"We use a system developed by Benjamin Franklin, who found that every body can float if they will let themselves," says Captain Guild. "I don't know why this occasionally do you find a sinker, a person who won't float in water."
Already Captain Guild has turned out a champion swimmer. She is Norma Benedict, a high school girl, who captured the 100 meter back stroke championship at the Rocky Mountain AAU meet after only a year of instruction. She also has saved a life.
"At least one of the young boys, Dan Espinosa, at 12 years of age, equaled the national world record for 50 yards free style," says the Captain.
"I am satisfied because in these young age groups no organization has compiled a set of standard official records."
"But turning out champions isn't our purpose. We want to save life."

...Drunken Driver Has His License Revoked
Sammy Knorr, negro, charged with driving while drunk, was given a fine of $100 on 40 days and had his driver's license revoked by Judge J. L. Sharon in City Court Monday.
Other negro cases included James Sykes, by whom $51 bond was returned for possession of moonshine liquor. Henry Alexander and Walter J. Baker, charged with drunkenness, each received a bond of $11, the case of Thomas Clifton Phillip, drunkenness, and William Seabert, reckless driving, were continued.

...Clean Up Japs, Then Back To Laundry
NORTH CAMP POLK, La., June 30. — Pvt. Vemey Lew shipped out of Taichang, China, 15 minutes ahead of the Japanese invaders in 1939. Now he says "The Japs got a lot to learn from me. I like to get some of them and then go home."
Pvt. Lew made his way to America with his father and brother, and until March 18, when he was inducted into the Army, ran a laundry at Port Washington, N.Y.

That Extra Something!
...You can spot it every time
EVERY woman in the new Marine Corps Women's Reserve releases a trained Marine for combat duty. But before they do that, they must, themselves, undergo training so rigorous that regular rest periods are allowed them. That's when the call goes up for ice-cold Coca-Cola... for the pause that refreshes.
Ice-cold Coca-Cola does more than just quench thirst. It brings a pleasant after-sense of refreshment. You feel it and welcome it. Made with a finished art, Coca-Cola has a taste all its own. Delicious! Satisfying! There's an extra something of goodness about it. You know from experience that the only thing like Coca-Cola is Coca-Cola, itself.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

TURN IN YOUR ENCYCLOPEDIA TO THE WORD CELLS, BIBLEST, FROM AND ORIGINATED BY CHANCE, OR IN GOD CREATED LIFE: Sing unto the Lord, talk ye of His wondrous works.—Psalm 103:2

AIRMEN

(From The New Yorker) Two hawks... Live on the hill... Black to kill... Their looks are proud... Wings, circling... Spreading still... They keep the straight winds in their face... Place they conduct the afternoon... Band the silence to their will... Masters of circumstances and place... The shadow of their wheeling... Fits death between the earth and light.

NATHANIEL BURT.

Have you heard why the little black man is swimming? She wanted to join the waves.

And then there was the fellow who gave up his Victory Garden in despair after he had married a grass widow.

St. Petersburg and Miami Beach are already launching huge advertising programs to bring the tourists down after the war is over.

Wonder if it Duce recalls that back one of his sons wrote a few years ago in the 'Lucky' and 'Lucky' on bombing hapless European villages.

While commending our boys in the service who are going forth to the far corners of the earth to give the world that Freedom from fear which President Roosevelt and Winston Churchill prescribe, we are reminded by an old time minister of the gospel that the juvenile delinquency problem at home would be less acute if more of our parents would put the fear of God into their children.

Dr. R. W. Ruprecht says that if the people of Sanford don't clean up their own front of their own free will and accord, the State Board of Health is liable to step in and make them do it. Come to think about it, it is an amazing thing how we could resign for years complacently dumping our sewage into Lake Manero which otherwise would be the most convenient and the most attractive spot in Central Florida to fish and swim.

Senator Byrd of Virginia says that the federal government now has more employees or the taxpayers payroll than all the state governments and all the county city governments in the United States combined. And in Ohio, for instance, the state government employs 35,000 people, while the federal government employs 90,000 people in the same state. In Massachusetts the state employs 21,000 people and the federal government hires 123,000 people in the same state. And so on. All of which may account to some extent for our manypower shortage.

Over in Ocala a white man and a southerner speaks up in favor of justice and fair treatment for the negro. "I think it is up to us as white men of the South," he says, "to see that the negro gets fair treatment, and if we do it, I think God will bless us for it." The statement comes in connection with the news of a convicted prisoner, southerner, who is to be hanged in the state of Florida.

Some of the most interesting news from the state of Florida comes from the city of Sanford. It is the story of a young man who has been in the army for some time and who has just returned home. He has been in the army for some time and has been in the army for some time.

Government Subsidies

The recent resignation of Chester Davis as War Food Administrator as well as the refusal of Congress to appropriate funds for subsidy payments "to reduce the cost of living", show the confusion which exists in Washington with respect to "holding the line against inflation" and the dissatisfaction which prevails throughout the country over rationing and OPA policies in general.

Some government leaders believe that food prices should be reduced by price ceilings and that the farmers and packers should be compensated for the difference between these ceilings and what their product would have brought in a free market. They call these subsidies incentive payments and probably rightly suspect that the production of food will be seriously reduced unless farmers benefit from the increasing volume of money now in circulation.

However, the fallacy of subsidy payments lies in the fact that the government itself has no way of getting money with which to pay subsidies except from the people, either in the form of loans or of taxes. If the latter method is used, the people simply pay higher taxes in order to pay less for food. If the former method is used, the amount of money in circulation is increased and the inflationary spiral further accentuated.

The reason the cost of living is going up is, of course, because the supply of money in the hands of the people is constantly being increased while the supply of goods on which to spend this money is being diminished. Most of the people in the country now work directly for the government, or for manufacturing plants working on government contracts. And the government pays these people to a large extent by money which it borrows, thus constantly putting more money into circulation.

Every order or measure which raises salaries or wages, which increases old age pensions, soldiers' benefits or allowances, or farmers' incomes tends just that much to promote inflation and increase the cost of living. You cannot give people more and more money and expect them to buy less and less. And you cannot expect to hold prices down when people with more and more money are bidding against each other for fewer and fewer things.

The most popular way to reduce the cost of living would be to step up the production of the things which the people want a little faster than the amount of money in circulation is being increased. As long as the war lasts this will be impossible for the requirements of our Army and Navy come first. The only other way to reduce the cost of living is to reduce the amount of money in circulation either by slashing salaries and wages or by greatly increasing taxation.

It does not seem likely that either of these will be done. So What?

Invasion!

Early in July, probably within a week, the greatest battle in the history of the world will begin and the invasion of the continent of Europe will be under way. The Spring months are behind us, the summer fighting months are ahead, and all preliminary preparations for tremendous offensives have been made. There could be no better date for it to begin than July the Fourth when America first declared its independence and the world's first modern democracy was born.

This will be no small scale attack on some island outpost or coastal fortress. Every outward sign points to something far greater in importance and magnitude than the capture of Sicily, Sardinia or Crete, or another Dippo or St. Nazaire. When this blow falls it will break the Nazis from the fjords of Norway to the rock bound coasts of Brittany and from the Riviera to the Turkish frontier. The Germans admittedly do not know where to mass their troops. They are wide open to attack anywhere and it will come from every direction.

England has some three million men who have been trained for four years for just this kind of action. The United States has over a million men in England and North Africa and millions more in reserve. On the Russian front the Soviet offensive seems already to have started and the Germans, weakened by divisions transferred to the west, are being pushed back. The Allies have demonstrated vast aerial superiority.

But the continent of Europe is a big fortress. The Germans have the advantage of interior lines. They still have a large well trained army. They have ruthlessly conserved their food, equipment and materials. They will be no pushover.

Three Rules

THERE ARE THREE rules for race relationship if the South is to avoid the shame of Detroit.

- (1) The rule for negroes: No matter how wrong you think any custom here to be, no power on earth is going to let it be changed while this war goes on. (2) The rule for whites: Things are rarely more than half as bad as gossip makes them out. You are not a policeman and nothing calls on you to act like one. (3) The rule for policemen: Policemen have to shoot sometimes but in the big meantime policemen have to be as calm, brave, diplomatic and fair as they know how.—John Temple Graves.

Twenty Years Ago Today

Miss Mae Holly was the charming young hostess yesterday afternoon when she entertained at bridge at her home on Park Avenue, honoring Miss Elizabeth Smith of Madison, Wis., the attractive house guest of Mrs. J.G. Sharon. There were three tables of players.

The prize for high score, a King of Hearts, was won by Miss Maud Lake. The honors were also presented a bracelet.

Following the card game, the ladies served tea and refreshments, always well served and arranged as a refreshment.

GULLIVER AND THE LILLIPUTIANS

WEEKLY NEWS COLUMN

By JOE HENDRICKS

DID YOU KNOW?—(Report by Sigrid Arne, Associated Press feature writer) who in the past year has done such subjects as the Alaska highway and who in the past few weeks has been doing a variety of subjects in Florida, came direct to headquarters for her information on the Florida cattle industry. Meeting in Kissimmee with President P. E. Williams and Secretary J. R. Gunn of the Florida State Cattlemen's association, Miss Arne spent a full afternoon plying questions, jotting down answers, and finally accepted an invitation to visit Williams' Crescent ranch to see for herself what a good Florida pasture can do for good Florida cattle. Her story was released to Sunday papers throughout the country for Sunday, May 2, and was accompanied by pictures. Miss Arne said her interest in cattle was naturally prompted by the prominent position of meat in the American household. Generally, however, on her trips around the country, she has "written up the farmers" because "a lot of people—even the folks in the city—are getting more and more interested in agriculture. "Florida," Miss Arne's article begins, "is that long thin state that always irritates the living daylight out of you come April 15. The hardware merchant gets home with his sunburn. A week later the banker gets home with his sunburn. Their wives gabble about orange juice that comes in pitchers. "They tell you about surf, payayas, the Minister from Costa Rica, and the dog races. But do they even mention the Florida cowhand, the pastures so big they're seen to grass by airplanes, or about the significant statistics that are going on in the center of the state?" Beef steak being the nation's Number Two Subject of conversation, Miss Arne points out that Florida is making a tremendous amount of steak, roast, short ribs and hamburger this year. "In 1942 Florida led all the other 47 states in increase of herds. She's moving up with the old cattle states into cowland supremacy. She has 1,500,000 head ranging the wild, mysterious, exotic interior that lies vaguely between Palm Beach and Tampa. There's $2,000,000 worth of steaks and whatnot walking the Florida range. "There are cow trails older than the famous Chisholm trail. It takes almost 600 pages to register Florida's cattle brands. x x x Florida is the last of the states to be tamed. Her cowmen, many in the comfortable, well-stocked South bracket, are probably the last of the rugged, hardy cowmen. "Florida will never have the worry about a dust bowl, and a drought that starves out livestock. The state has 30,000 lakes—and rivers, creeks and canals. The water trouble here is too much—rains sometimes cover pastures. "And fence posts don't have to be brought in by rain. They're right here. Good long needle pine and cypress, which also mean shade for Boson." UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES—Senior Laborer $4.00 $4.50 per day, plus overtime. Place of employment: U.S. Naval Air Station, Banana River, Cocoa, Florida, Miami, Florida, Richmond, Florida; Ft. Lauderdale, Florida; Vero Beach, Florida; Malbourne, Florida. Contact the Recorder, Labor Board, 711 Naval District, 485 N.E. First Avenue, Miami 28, Florida.

Enthusiastic Group Attends Bible School

The Vacation Bible School at the First Baptist Church opened Monday morning with a large and enthusiastic group in attendance. Tuesday there was an increase and the work in the various departments got under way in splendid shape, said Rev. W. P. Adams, Jr., pastor.

The primary and junior departments can take care of a few more pupils but the beginners department has reached its capacity. If there are any pupils of primary or junior department age who desire to attend, it is suggested that they apply at once to any of the following superintendents of the three departments: Mrs. G. E. Ziemba of the Southside Baptist Church; primary department; Mrs. C. A. Anderson, Jr. of the Junior department; Miss Doris McCall. The above are assisted by about 20 officers and teachers in bible stories, memory work, music, hand work and recreation.

NOTICE
There will be a dance for service men at the Episcopal Parish House on July 17 and another one on July 31.

Star Performers Pack 'Show-Business At War'

"Show-Business At War," Match of Time's latest release now playing at the Ritz Theater contains the greatest all star cast of entertainers ever assembled on two reels of film. The complete list includes some 75 top ranking personalities.

A few famous names Clark Gable in training camp, Tyrone Power enlisting, Joe E. Brown clowning for the boys in the far Pacific, Al Jolson singing "Mama" as only he can sing it. And as if that were not enough, Marlene Dietrich appears dancing with severe men at the Hollywood Canteen. Linda Stirling, as soon serving food, Dorothy Lamour selling bonds.

Famous band leaders and comedians run through their routines for the sick and wounded, for workers in war plant.

Phil Baker asks his famous 4000 question of a service man. He'll answer any boy's question with a soldier. And in special short wave broadcasts Jimmy Simms, Carole Lombard and others entertain our men at the front.

These people know that this war is a full time job and they are devoting themselves to it unflinchingly. They realize that just that extra bit of effort on their part, that extra bond sold, that extra cheer to the lonely boy may be the difference between life and death on the field of battle.

Every branch of show-business has organized to contribute its best toward winning the war. Writers, producers, technicians and skilled artisans are doing their share.

Motion picture writers, directors and the Army Signal Corps in preparing the biggest visual education program the nation has ever seen.

Expert cameramen train the uniform men who will become combat cinematographers for the Army and Navy in every fighting front.

Overnight a huge industry formerly devoted to entertainment alone has been turned into a great force devoted to winning the war.

The story of its development, "Show-Business At War" is something for show people to be proud of. This is a new and most entertaining film. In months is the inevitable result of the foster of famous names who performed their specialties for The Match of Time cameras.

Miss Elizabeth Harkey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Harkey and who is director of the USO club at Smyrna, Tenn., will wed Edward Kitcher in Indol, Ill. Aug. 7.

Russians Spook At German Defenses

MOSCOW (AP) The latest issue of Crocodile, Soviet humorous periodical, spoofs the much vaunted German defenses about the English channel with a toll page colored cartoon showing shores being defended by lone gun and a one-legged soldier on crutches.

Behind the gun, a bunch of reporters sit with goblets at a picnic table loaded with wine bottles. The caption reads: "On order from Berlin, port nauts of vassal countries gleefully described powerful reinforcements."

Buenos Aires was founded as a city in 1580.

Lieut. F. Whitehair Finishes Navy Course

IRLAND, July 28 (AP)—Lieut. Francis P. Whitehair, former Volusia county lawyer and candidate for Governor in the last election, was graduated last week with the class at the United States Naval School of Military Government at Columbia University.

Lieut. Whitehair was the only man from the South in the class. The course of ten months deals with international administration, anthropology, political and economic geography and foreign languages. Its graduates are fully prepared and qualified to take posts as governors of conquered territory.

Indians Get Sulfa, Give Up Medicine

PORT HALL, Idaho, (AP) Progress made by the federal government in furnishing medical care for its Indian wards in the last 15 years has been amazed by Capt. E. E. Graves of the Fort Hall reservation.

He said that sulfa drugs have been "a godsend for our Indians."

"Sulfa has been the means of practically eliminating the scourge of tuberculosis," Graves said. "It is marked how the Indians have drifted away from their ancient rituals for healing the sick."

It's The Direction That Counts Most

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP) John Gornik, Jr. figured he had had more than his share of ups and downs and so today he is working as a substitute mail carrier.

Gornik traveled a little over 10,314 miles on the elevator at the Wheeling federal building and admitted he was getting a bit tired of it.

During the eight years he served as the elevator operator he said he had made more than 2,499,995 trips.

'Barefoot Mailman' Is Book About Florida

LAKE WORTH, June 30 (AP) Theodore Pratt, author and journalist whose books and feature articles have given this state nationwide publicity, has just published his seventh story about Florida, "The Barefoot Mailman" which came from the press this month.

The action of this interesting novel takes place along the south coast of Florida, between Palm Beach and Miami, in the eighteen A's that time there were no roads and the mail was transported along the beach by a mail man who walked barefoot, covering the 60 mile stretch in three days. To get the feet of it, Pratt himself made the same hike but it took him five days and nearly killed him.

Bathing Cap Saves Young Girl's Life

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) A bathing cap saved the life of Ruth Harris, 15, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Harris, when she was struck by lightning recently, doctors said.

She was wearing the cap on a rainstorm when riding for the mail near her ranch home. The lightning struck her head and jumped to the rigging ring on the saddle, electrocuting the horse.

When the horse fell, Ruth was pinned beneath it but was found several hours later by her mother. Although injured, she recovered. Physicians said the job her cap apparently was insulation against the lightning bolt.

Be Alive July 5th

Be Alive July 5th, urges the Florida Safety Council in calling attention to the fact that hundreds of lives are lost each year in motor car accidents from fireworks or from drowning. Swimmers should be cautious, parents careful if they wish to be alive on July 5th.

States with a system of Municipal Airports will have a tremendous gain in safety. It is pointed out by the American Municipal Association that Florida should lead the nation in this respect.

Backyard Picnics Are Not Out And Can Be Lots Of Fun For The Family

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE, Food Editor

TRANSPORTATION restricts and long working hours have put a crimp in picnicking at distant shores and woods for the Fourth of July holiday, but outdoor eating is definitely not out for the duration.

With a backyard picnic in mind for the family, the homemaker can plan a menu that carries easily from kitchen to garden. One's regular dinner can be whisked out into the yard as an impromptu stunt. Line up the food on the kitchen table and all hands will gladly help with the transporting.

Get out the usual picnic serving equipment if you like. Paper napkins are not rationed and do save a lot of laundering. Food cooked and carried out in covered caseroles keeps warm longer. Even top-of-stove cooked foods can be piled into a caseroles, covered and given a 15-minute oven heating before going to the picnic table.

I have designed some special recipes for outdoor serving, with ration points, budget and nutrition standards in mind.

The Victory garden may contribute to this recipe for SALAD TABLET IN CASEROLE. It makes a little meat go a long way. To serve 5 or 6 make up 3 cups of well-seasoned regular white sauce, add 1 cup each cooked carrots, green beans and diced cooked celery, 1/4 cup chopped onions, 2 tablespoons each of chopped green peppers and minced parsley, 1-2 teaspoon salt and 1/2 teaspoon paprika. Pour into buttered, shallow caseroles. Cover with the meat cakes, made like this:

Mix together 1 pound hamburger or ground boneless veal, pork or beef, 1 cup boiled rice, 1 egg or 2 yolks, 1/2 cup cream, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon paprika and 1 tablespoon catsup. Shape into cakes about 1 1/2 inches in diameter and 1/2 inch thick. Sprinkle with flour and brush with melted bacon fat. Arrange on top of the vegetables. Cover and bake 30 minutes in moderate oven. Uncover and bake 5 minutes to brown the top. With this serve a relish cabbage salad, hot biscuits and honey, with melon or fresh berries and cookies for dessert.

GARDEN STYLE MACARONI AND CHEESE gives a filling main dish with plenty of zip and few ration points. Make up 3 cups of white sauce. Stir constantly while cooking, add 2 1/2 cup sliced cheese, 1 1/2 cup diced celery and 2 tablespoons minced onion. Cook slowly until cheese has melted. Add 3 cups cooked macaroni and pour over 1 1/2 cups cooked asparagus and 3 hard-cooked eggs, sprinkle with 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1-2 teaspoon paprika and arrange in a buttered shallow baking dish. Cover with 2 1/2 cup buttered crumbs and bake 35 minutes or until brown in a moderate oven.

Tomato green salad or sliced tomato and avocado ties in with this mainstay. With hard rolls or muffins and jam or jelly you have an easy, substantial main course. For dessert, fresh fruit with angel food cake or blueberry roll is "tops."

CHEF'S FISH STEAK with scalloped new potatoes and a green salad, whole wheat rolls and a fruit salad (kept in refrigerator) make a dinner menu with picnic possibilities.

COLD POTATO SALAD and broiled split fish, buttered butter, crisp, sliced and sliced tomatoes give a picnic meal and quick to make. The apple or pear pie will make a banner dessert.

You can make a picnic of FRANK'S HAMBURGERS and pickles relish. The hamburger will brown in a shallow pan, will grease, buttered, with salad dressing, sliced tomatoes and sliced lettuce for a cost meat. Plan a dessert on the heavy side such as a high blueberry pie (with or without) or chocolate cream pudding.

For convenience of serving, arrange salads in paper cups in small dishes so they can be easily slipped onto the main serving plates.

Manager Billy Southworth Insists He Likes His Own Fielders Best

AT FEELINGS—If Manager Billy Southworth of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals had the choice of the National League's outfielders, he'd take his own trio—Mial, Harry Walker and Danny Litwiler—with pardonable pride and prejudice.

As the best of the rest, Southworth picks Manager Mel Ott of the New York Giants and two of Brooklyn's gardeners, Fred Walker and Augie Galan, for top honors based on their performances in games with the Cardinals.

"These outfielders against my ball club always have been the very best," he said.

Litwiler beat Ott in a national explanation of why the Cardinals made the recent trade with Philadelphia for Litwiler. Southworth called him "the all-around best, right-handed outfielder in the league."

Of the other five in Billy's top group, Galan is a switch-hitter—"and that makes him all the more valuable"—and the others are left-handed batters.

Southworth's ratings were noteworthy not only because he is a successful manager and an astute observer but because he once was a first-rank fly-chaser himself. He played with Cleveland, Pittsburgh, the Boston Braves, the New York Giants and the Cardinals during his major league career and one season led the National League in fielding.

His selections laid a big compliment to the Waikes, Janis (the "Fats") and Harry (the "Duke") are batters.

Here's Southworth's personal appraisal of each of the players mentioned:

Ott—"The finest all-around outfielder in the business and has been for years. He needs no recommendation as to outfield ability. He has a fine throwing arm, both for distance and accuracy. At bat he does all things well. He has fine power and can hit to all fields as he might choose. He is capable of hitting out of any park in the league and he always is around the top in home runs. Ott uses excellent judgment on the bases. He has slowed up some but he knows how and when to take chances and he is seldom thrown out."

Fred Walker—"In all centers between Brooklyn and the Cardinals he is the most valuable cog in the Dodger machine. A fine outfielder in center up with great catches against us. His arm is not exceptionally strong but he is accurate and he had thrown some of our men out on plays

SPORTS By STENSTROM

After handling the greater portion of a newspaper's sports page for five years, it's hard to get away from writing a sports column. With more than two and a half year's service with The Sun, we still think that we can continue our task and carry on but being some distance away from the press, you'll have to bear with us. Now, with all our excuses accepted, we'll start again.

Ellis Gray and Early Wynn—Two former lookouts who worked gallantly for the leads way back in '37, are making quite a record for themselves with the Washington Nats this season. Gray has been hitting a third base for a Giff's time like a veteran and Wynn has four hits under his belt plus he's won over the Yankees. Gray, restricted from play by the junior league injury for several weeks, is back once more. We'll have more yak about these fellows later.

Hudson Picked As All Star—Lanky Sid Hudson, another former lookout moundman, and more recently a member of the Washington mound staff, was selected last week as an All Star Army nine by writers of the Sporting News. Hudson, now in the Army Air Corps, has been in action with an A-1 Base squad at Waco Field, Texas.

Bill Cox, new owner and new life of the Phillies, is not the least surprised by the excellent play of his Philadelphia. They are now riding in the first division for the first time in many moons and the diamond fans must have felt wonderful recently when the Phils and the A's knocked their opponents in dual-bills.

The Crack Of The Day—An Army officer requesting a leave is always given this reason: "My wife is having a child and I want to see her, and, if possible."

The L.S.U. Tigers were getting plenty on Alvin Dark that required excellent handling of the ball and accurate throw. He is a power at bat. He's the kind of fellow who keeps the gun in, always doing something at the plate. He uses excellent judgment on the base and is a good runner.

Galan Has Advantage—Galan "A fine outfielder. He covers the maximum territory in center field and does all things well going in, back and equally well to both sides. He is a fine fielder of ground balls. His arm, while not great, is accurate and few base runners would choose to advance on him in expectation of a bad throw. At bat he hits the ball hard for a man of his size and weight. He hits either right or left, which is an advantage. He seldom strikes out and always gets a piece of the ball. He is fast and knows how to run the bases."

Mial—"He is proving himself a great run-fielder. He is very fast and covers a maximum of territory. He is a good double and triple with consistent regularity. He hasn't played long enough to apply his ability to his own best advantage. That comes with experience, which he is getting."

Litwiler—"He made the most remarkable record for an outfielder in modern baseball history when he won through the entire year of 1942 without making a single error. He is capable of covering the maximum territory in left field. He has a fine arm and throws accurately. At bat he has fine power and hits for extra bases and to all fields. He can hit the ball out of any park and has done so. He is very fast and I wasn't a bit surprised to learn that he was the fastest man on the Philadelphia club."

to lead them to an SEC Championship this fall. Now will have to face the same odds as the remaining members of the one power. Full current Duke and other gridiron fans have been out to the crowd forces.

Duke Dabblers—The gridiron has played with most major league outfits their most of the year and now seems to have found a home at last. Dabblers is a power at bat with his hitting and now leading the national league in home runs. Duke is a power at bat and the top center fielder of the Phillies was the young star who picked up bench warmers and gridiron fans were out to the crowd forces.

Spots of Sport Staff—Frank Edwards is a power at bat and now seems to have found a home at last. Edwards is a power at bat and now leading the national league in home runs. Duke is a power at bat and the top center fielder of the Phillies was the young star who picked up bench warmers and gridiron fans were out to the crowd forces.

A BANKING FAMILY—Helen Spaulding, daughter of W.A.W. in law and her husband, John, a soldier in the Army Air Corps, are the only banking family in the state. Helen is a power at bat and now leading the national league in home runs. Duke is a power at bat and the top center fielder of the Phillies was the young star who picked up bench warmers and gridiron fans were out to the crowd forces.
