CHAPTER 20

IT WAS THE lunch hour and Dirk was standing by the bar alone, smoking a cigarette and sipping a dry Martini, when Val came into the lounge.

"Hello, Val. Just in time for a cocktail before lunch," he said easily and guided her toward a table.

After they had ordered he gave her a faint smile. "I must say I find it interesting to be condemned as a murderer before anyone knows that a murder has been committed."

She touched his arm across the table. "You and I know it's all nonsense."

"I do," he said quietly. "But are you sure, Val?"

"Of course I'm sure, Dirk. My solicitors in England were in touch with me this morning. He told her quietly, "Aunt May's relatives are already beginning to cause trouble. Obviously they are going to dispute the will."

"But on what grounds?"

"Undue influence, or insanity, or anything else their lawyers think up. They've been trying to spread rumors for some time that the old girl wasn't strictly all there."

"The money means a great deal to you, Dirk?"

He looked at her sharply. "What are you suggesting, Val?"

"I just wondered if this money you've inherited means a great deal to you," she persisted quietly.

"I see your point," he said after a pause. He took two cigarettes out of his pocket and threw one across to her. "You mean have I any right to this money, since if Aunt May had lived she might have carried out her threat and cut me out of her will?"

When she didn't answer, he went on quietly. "It isn't solely for my own sake I'd accept the inheritance, Val. It would enable me to do all the necessary repairs to our place and to Stormhurst Manor."

"That would matter so much?" she asked softly.

"I must remember you don't think much of tradition and traditional places even if they have a great historical value," he said curtly. "It hasn't been bred into you ever since you were born. My uncle, the present Viscount, and my father think of little else and work for little else."

She was trying to understand his point of view, but it was alien to her own. In her own belief there was so much more you could do with money, so much for people, living people, than merely to keep up some crumbling English country houses whatever historical value they had.

"After Viscount Thelmaford's death, might you and your father live in Stormhurst Manor?" she asked.

"Neither of us ever dreamed we could afford to," he told her seriously. "The upkeep has exhausted all Cousin Timothy's capital. I'm sure Dad would love to end his life there."

"He is?" she persisted.

"He is," she said across at her obliquely. "I don't know honestly, Val. I'm standing between two worlds. I understand Cousin Timothy's and Dad's point of view, and yet there are times when I want to escape from it. I've tried to branch out and do something on my own. That's why I flew out to Fiji and wrote that book last year. Incidentally, my solicitors told me this morning that my agent had written Dad that the book had been accepted."

"Oh, I'm so glad, Dirk. I do congratulate you," she said in a warm, pleased voice.

"I'm pretty pleased myself," he said soberly. "You see, it's something I've done entirely in my own way."

After a hurried lunch, Val went to her cabin, but she was too restless to stay there. She knew now she must see Bruce. It took a great deal of courage finally to go down to his surgery and knock on the door and to stand there with a throbbing heart while she waited for him to open the door.

"You wanted to see me? Come in, Nurse," he said finally, and opened the door wider.

"I thought you might have wanted to see me," she murmured when she was inside the surgery and he had closed the door.

He gave her a slight smile. "I thought you might be pretty angry with me."

She glanced up into his face and suddenly her love for him was mixed with a great sense of pity.

"Bruce, need you have done it?" she asked quietly.

He looked sharply away from her. "I felt it was the only thing I could do, Val."

"But surely you don't think that Dirk actually poisoned Mr. Featherstone?"

"I didn't know what to think. I felt the circumstances of her death were peculiar."

"But she'd drunk too much champagne and was in a furious rage."

"But she might have meant to stick to her throat. After all, why shouldn't she?" he insisted harshly. "I believed you'd promised it would be all right. I heard that Hanson had told Mrs. Featherstone you were going to marry him."

"That isn't true, Bruce," she said quickly. "Dirk told Mrs. Featherstone he was in love with me and that he wanted to marry me. It was as much a surprise to me as unfortunately it was to her."

"You ask me to believe that?" he exclaimed sharply. "A man doesn't make a statement of that sort unless he has some reason to believe that his proposal will be acceptable." He added hoarsely, "I thought you were mine, Val, but it seems you've been playing with both of us."

She was too angry to know quite what she was saying. "That night of the ball, Bruce, I meant it when I said I'd give up my friendship with Dirk since it seemed to upset you so much. But now—now you've made it impossible."

He looked away from her deliberately again. "Hanson is coming into a little and it still may be proved he had nothing to do with Mrs. Featherstone's death. Then he will inherit all her money," he said.

She turned without a word, opened the surgery door and went out.

Automatic Climate Station Planted At South Pole

OVER THE SOUTH POLE (delayed) — American airmen planted an automatic weather station at the South Pole Friday.

The device, a six-foot-long equipment-filled container nicknamed the "Grasshopper," was dropped by parachute from an Air Force Globemaster in the first airdrop ever made at the pole.

Made of stainless steel, the Grasshopper has legs that automatically hoisted it upright after it touched the ice plateau. It will transmit weather data every six hours for the benefit of fliers participating in Operation Deepfreeze in Antarctica.

Ours was believed to be the seventh flight ever made over the pole. There were 43 persons aboard the giant 83-ton troop carrier, probably as many as there were aboard all the previous flights combined. Adm. Richard E. Byrd, pilot Bert Halchen and two others made the first polar flight Nov. 30, 1929.

South Carolina Girls Bringing Glory To Dixie

COLUMBIA, S. C. — The pretty girls of South Carolina, like the fleet race horses of Kentucky, are bringing glory to Dixie and world-wide recognition to their state.

On their beautiful heads rest five of the world's top beauty crowns—no other state can make that claim.

Little South Carolina—ranking 26th in the nation in population—has produced a Miss Universe, the current Miss America, a Mrs. America, two Miss U. S. A.'s for the Miss World contest and a national maid of honor.

Five of her six entries in the Miss America contest have been among the 20 finalists.

Judging a state beauty contest in this magnolia land of pulchritude is an exercise in ecstatic frustration. For example, Marian Ann McKnight, the Manning, S. C., beauty who charmed the nation and the judge in Atlantic City when she won Miss America honors this year, has been defeated in local competition by her roommate.

The room Marian and Martha Dean Chestnut shared at little Coker College in Hartsville probably had more beauty a square foot than any other in the country.

Martha Dean, a stunning brunette, was Miss South Carolina last year. The judges deliberated in an agony of indecision before selecting her over Marian.

The search for an answer in beauty contests leads first to the obvious conclusion that the state is simply overrun with pretty women.

One also discovers the tradition that compels Southern girls to consider it their duty to develop charm—a factor that is given equal attention along with a well-turned calf or a classic profile in most beauty contests.

But more important, South Carolina girls are usually veterans of beauty contests by the time they reach the Miss America or some other contest.

Marian Ann was one of the few Miss Americas who didn't burst into tears of confusion when her name was announced to the nation as the winner. Why should she? By then, little Marian was a confident winner of nine previous beauty contests with all the polish of an archbishop at a church picnic.

The rural communities of this state delight in annual festivals to promote watermelons, tobacco, cotton, timber or just to have a good time.

And almost invariably, a beauty contest is a principal feature of the doings. The pretty girls begin to compete in these affairs as soon as they are old enough to walk in high heels without breaking an ankle.

They become accustomed to the appraising eyes of judges and spectators; they learn to smile and to walk gracefully, and above all, to relax and be their charming selves.

Marching bands are also a part of these festivals, so it is no surprise that Carolyn Willis of Chesterfield has been crowned Miss Majorita of the U. S. A. of 1956.

South Carolinians have been paying homage to their fairest for many years. The old Confederate veterans organizations frequently picked a "sponsor," a lively and charming young woman to be borne along with them on parades.

But the first actual state-wide beauty contest was an American Legion sponsored affair on the lawn of the state house in Columbia 26 years ago. Since then, the movement has spread far and wide throughout Palmetto Land.

It began to bloom in 1947 when Mrs. Freda Acker of Anderson became Mrs. America. She was followed by Elizabeth McGee of Spartanburg, now Mrs. G. Robert Richardson who became Maid of Cotton in competition with Dixie beauties from the 18 cotton growing states in 1949.

Mary Kemp Griffin of Florence won state beauty honors in 1952, then went on to become Miss U. S. A. and runner-up for the Miss World title. She is now Mrs. William Stag, wife of an Air Force jet pilot stationed near Victorville, Calif.

Rankin Subert of Waltmore came close with a third place showing in the Miss America contest in 1954 and then along came a freckle-faced beauty from Winnsboro named Miriam Stevenson.

Miriam, an unspoiled farmer's daughter, designed and made the evening gown she wore when she won Miss Universe honors in 1954. The world's reigning beauty gave Hollywood a half-hearted fling, then fled the movie capital for home and a return to her home economics courses at Lander College in Greenwood.

Today, as Mrs. Donald Upton of Columbia, curvaceous Miriam has a television show and still scorns heavy makeup to hide her freckles. Miss McKnight added the icing to South Carolina's beauty cake with her Atlantic City victory a few months after roommate Martha was picked in Daytona Beach, Fla., as Miss Dixie.

Betty Lane Cherry of Orangeburg completed this year's South Carolina beauty triumph by earning the right to compete as Miss U. S. A. in the Miss World contest in London. She, like Mary Kemp Griffin in 1952, placed second in the world competition.

U. S. Fears Russians May Throw Military Forces Into Mid-East

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The United States had reason to fear today that the Soviet Union might throw military force into the Middle East.

Master Plumbers' Meeting Called To Discuss Code

A meeting of the Master Plumbers of the City of Sanford has been called for tomorrow night at the City Hall, according to M. I. Yelvington, Sanford building official.

Another Record Breaking Season Foreseen For SOKC

LONGWOOD—Record turnout for pre-season schooling races have paved the way for the opening of the regular campaign Nov. 13 at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club.

Health Dept. Representative To Address Club

A representative of the Public Health Department in Orlando will address the Sanford Kiwanis Club at its noon luncheon meeting tomorrow.

The subject came out of Moscow overnight. First, the Soviet Union proposed that the United States join it in throwing the aggressors—Britain, France and Israel—out of Egypt. Then the Soviet Union directed a warning to Britain and France; Moscow was determined to put an end to the war in Egypt. It was determined, too, to crush aggression through the use of force.

For the time being, Moscow's statement indicated the Kremlin wanted to act within the framework of the United Nations. But the U. N. Security Council last night refused even to consider a resolution backing the proposal for joint action by the United States and the Soviet Union against the invaders of Egypt.

This raised the question how long the Soviet Union would be willing to keep its intentions within the U. N. realm. It could, perhaps, provide its own answer to this Egyptian plea, announced in Cairo today.

"Egypt appeals for help by volunteers, arms or otherwise to all those who all over the world care still for the dignity of man and the rule of law in international relations."

The United States has served notice that it will oppose any Soviet military intervention in the Middle East. The White House said: "Neither Soviet nor any other military forces should now enter the Middle East area except under U. N. mandate."

Most observers in the West have considered the Soviet Union unwilling to chance World War III at this stage, and indeed the Soviet Union is warning that the Middle East situation may develop into World War III. But it would not necessarily have to go to war, officially, to make its strength known in that area.

There was the possibility it might introduce "volunteer" forces, just as Red China introduced "volunteers" in the Korea fighting. An authoritative British source said today the chance of this was not being ruled out in London discussions.

A new complication today was the possibility that Saudi Arabia's army soon will move into Jordan, or already has moved into that country neighboring Israel. U. S. interests have heavy oil interests in Saudi Arabia, and these would be imperiled by any such action.

Elder James Brooks, head of the local branch of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints said today that Elder LeGrand Richards, member of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, with headquarters in Salt Lake City, Utah, will address a public meeting of the Latter-day Saints at the Orlando Chapel, 500 W. Concord Ave., on Thursday, Nov. 8, at 7:30 p. m.

The meeting will be under the direction of Elder R. P. Doubertley, Sr., President of the Central Florida District of the Church of Jesus Christ of L. D. S.

November Named As National DAV Membership Month

The month of November will be celebrated throughout the United States as National Disabled American Veterans' Membership Month. It was announced today by Robert L. Howell, Commander of Seminole County Chapter Number 30, DAV. The Disabled American Veterans are chartered by the United States Congress for the purpose of serving veterans of all wars who have service-connected disabilities. The organization also serves the widows and orphans of disabled veterans.

The DAV has thousands of chapters throughout the United States. Each chapter maintains a service officer who assists the disabled veterans. The National Disabled American Veterans maintains national service officers at all veterans' installations in America.

Howell stated "Our Seminole County chapter is anxious to serve all veterans of Seminole County who are disabled. We have been chartered in Seminole County since 1945 and have constructed our own home on highway 17.92 south of Sanford. We have cooperated closely with other veterans' organizations and have had the finest cooperation from city and county officials. We sincerely hope that every disabled veteran of Seminole County will become a member of the DAV during November."

Senator Douglas Stromstrom, Chapter Service Officer, stated, "We are very proud of the record of Seminole County Chapter Number 30 since its inception in 1945. We extend a cordial invitation to every disabled veteran in our area to become a member of our organization during national membership month in November."

About 400 Attend Homecoming Event In Oviedo Sunday

By MARIAN JONES
OVIEDO—I was informed that Mrs. Massey Scott of Orlando, in her capacity as secretary of the Oviedo Methodist Church Sunday that lent such charm for the occasion—its annual Homecoming.

Due to unforeseen circumstances, we were unable to hear the splendid talk the Rev. E. T. Standifer, pastor of the church at Ellenton now but former pastor of the Oviedo Methodist Church, gave on "A Thankful Heart".

Commissioner John Meisch said "I don't want any signs over county roads and I don't want the county to be obligated in any way, nor do I want posts and other obstructions on right-of-way."

Commissioner Fred Dyson said "I don't want to go along with the sign until the entire proposal is presented to this Board."

Other action by the Board of Commissioners was to approve the sign.

Other action by the Board of Commissioners was to approve the sign.

SOKC Sign Becomes Controversial Issue

A huge sign proposed for Seminole Blvd. to direct traffic to the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club became a controversial issue at the meeting this morning of the Board of Seminole County Commissioners.

The sign, with neon lighted letters and animated dogs on either side will extend from one side of the road to the other with steel standards to be located on county right-of-way.

A representative of the Harper Neon Co. presented a sketch of the proposed sign which designates letters 28 inches tall, and 18 foot clearance over the highway, and the sign supported by six steel cables, for approval by the commissioners.

Commissioners voted two to two on the approval of the type of construction. However, commissioners refused to go along with the complete approval of the sign without additional approval by the State Road and the Seminole County Zoning Commission.

Commissioners took into consideration that the State Road Board had acquired additional right-of-way on Seminole Blvd. in order that the road might be improved up to 500 feet of the highway leading into Longwood and the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club.

Commissioner John Meisch said "I don't want any signs over county roads and I don't want the county to be obligated in any way, nor do I want posts and other obstructions on right-of-way."

Commissioner Fred Dyson said "I don't want to go along with the sign until the entire proposal is presented to this Board."

Other action by the Board of Commissioners was to approve the sign.

Lines Form Early

Voters turned out today in Seminole County to decide the issues before them in the General Election.

Sunshine, mild weather, and plenty of urging brought early voters to the local polls to cast ballots on the Presidential choice, the 9th Congressional District seat in the nation's House of Representatives, to choose or turn down the permanent betting referendum, to name a member of the Board of Public Instruction, and to choose three members of the Board of Sanford City Commissioners.

Long lines formed early and have continued to form until noon today. It is possible that Seminole County will record its heaviest vote in history.

It is expected that at the close of the day's balloting, from 60 to 70 per cent of Seminole County's 12,700 registered and qualified voters will have stopped into voting machine booths, pushed the levers denoting their choice, to add to the total count registered in the automatic voting mechanism.

The go-ahead on voting on the referendum issue was given yesterday when the State Supreme Court denied an injunction against Seminole Raceway Park and the Board of Seminole County Commissioners when Jerry Collins, operator of the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club attempted to stop the referendum through his attorneys Sneed and Sneed.

Local races pit C. F. Harrison, incumbent, for the Seminole County Board of Public Instruction against Elbert Camacho, Seminole County Dairyman, a written candidate.

Candidates for the Board of Sanford City Commissioners include Earl Higginbotham opposed by M. L. Nichols; Merle Warner opposed by Paul Yates Jr.; and A. L. Wilson unopposed.

In statewide balloting the intense battle for Florida's 10 electoral votes went full speed ahead today even as an estimated one million voters went about casting their ballots in the close presidential race and other contests.

Sen. Estes Kefauver, the Democratic vice presidential candidate, was to fly into Miami for a hand-shaking tour through eight counties.

Bear Lake Road Will Be Started By February

A delegation of 10 citizens from the Bear Lake Section headed by Attorney Walter Smith appeared before the Board of Seminole County Commissioners this morning to find out "when you can build our road."

Smith told the Board of Commissioners, "We're here to see when you could build the road. He said, 'If you want to build the road or if you don't want to build it, these people should be told so that they can either divide the money that has been subscribed for the building of the road or bring some suit against the county.'

Commissioner John Meisch said "When we found the true facts in the case we agreed we would build the road when we can get it that's all we can do."

Commissioner Fouraker said "I called Mr. Smith and told him that we agreed to build the road when we could get to it but had set no date."

Commissioner Fouraker asked, "Is there anyway we can get the road under construction before the first of the year—by doing so the best commission would be more or less completed to complete it."

Commissioner Dodd admitted that he had four miles of road that "I've been holding off for two years." The road he mentioned is the Tuscanville Rd.

Following the lengthy discussion between the attorney and commissioners, Commissioners B. C. Dodd and Fred Dyson agreed that the road in the Bear Lake section would be started by Feb. 15, 1957.

FOOTBALL IS A MAN'S GAME
WASHINGTON (AP) — Dick McCann, general manager of the Washington Redskins, tells this story:

Gary Glick, the back who was the No. 1 draft choice of the Baltimore Colts, was being interviewed on radio. The announcer asked Glick: "You have a couple of children of your own, Gary; would you advise them to go into pro football?"

Tom Hitt, 170-pound six-footer on the Wyoming freshman football team, is the son of Dick Hitt, former Wyoming backfield coach who now is an assistant to Howard Wyatt at Tennessee.

To repair and reinforce cracked plaster wall: fill in crevices, then apply washable wall cloth. This is strong, durable, practical — and is available in wallpaper patterns.

Glick, silent a moment, replied: "Well, no, I don't think I would tell my little girl to."

Sliding Glass Doors Aid To Open Living

Patio, the scene of my hours of relaxed outdoor enjoyment, are replacing the front porch of grand-mother's era in the stylish homes of today, and designers are going one step farther in the trend towards "open living" by making the patio a closely integrated part of the home, says insulating glass consultant.

Patio now frequently open off popular living areas such as combination living-dining rooms and these indoor-outdoor areas are separated by sliding glass doors instead of an opaque wall, he reported.

In fine weather the doors slide back easily to let in a flood of fresh air, and the patio automatically becomes an "outdoor sitting room" only a step away. The indoor living area seems to extend outside to the patio, affording a feeling of added spaciousness.

When the weather is unpleasant the doors can be closed to shut out the elements without stopping the light. The indoor rooms are not cut off from the patio, thus maintaining the feeling of "openness". The beauty of the changing seasons is added as a living mural which can be enjoyed to the fullest from the comfort of the living room.

The consultant says there are several manufacturers located throughout the country who are making sliding glass doors available in either polished plate glass or Thermopane double-pane insulating glass.

In sections of the country where pleasant weather prevails, polished plate glass rates high in popularity. Where the weather tends to become seasonally more severe, homeowners choose glass doors for their insulating value against heat loss in the winter and excessive heat gain in the summer.

Baby Better Off Safe Than Pretty

Some of the latest baby clothes are truly handsome. They are gems of chic ingenuity. High style seems to have taken over the nursery.

But what a pity it is when parents (or grandparents) are willing to lay out a wad of money for baby's fancy duds, and then put her into a crib with a mattress that "Mommie used when she was a baby!"

Most infants are unsophisticated. They don't care what they look like—but they do care how they feel. It's foolish (and dangerous) to splurge on clothes and save on comfort. Make sure baby's crib is comfortable and safe. Make sure the side bars stay up despite jarring and jiggling. Be certain the mattress is clean, level, firm, and resilient.

Remember, if you skimp on baby's sleep equipment to make her into a clothes horse—she may turn out to be an old nag.

BATHROOM CABINETS MATCH WALL PANELS
For integrated appearance in a bathroom decorated with plastic-finished paneling on the walls, built-in cabinets also may be covered with the same material. In such application the predecorated hardboard is mounted to cabinet surfaces with wallboard adhesive. The paneling can be used by itself, without backing, for small sliding doors.

Bedroom Design Now Has Touch Of Past Styling

Today's home furnishings are designed to be both useful and beautiful. Not too many years ago they were built exclusively for use. Any beauty that ebbed into the construction was almost accidental.

This was particularly true of bedroom furniture. In many homes, the bedroom was the room behind closed doors. Today, however, the design of the furniture, the luxurious new bedding, and the clever accessories make the bedroom do double duty as a living and a sleeping room.

Stylists for your bedroom furniture know no limit. By far the most popular is modern. Next in line are the contemporary uses of traditional styles.

The favorite contemporary traditional style at present is undoubtedly Italian Provincial. This up-to-date use of hundred-year-old designs allows the homemaker that "Something Old-Something New" look for her home. You will find Italian Provincial bedroom furniture in natural wood finishes and in the very new, sunny, gray tones. Much of this furniture has been distressed to give it an heirloom look.

The elegant climax to many of our new bedrooms is a super-sized bed. Some reach back to the past for high bedposts. Others feature novel and practical headboards. All offer the greater sleeping comfort of the larger sleeping surface.

The most popular of today's bedroom colors remains turquoise, both on the walls and in floor coverings. It harmonizes well with the trend to more natural wood tones on the furniture. Of course, pink, green, gold, tan, and various shades of off-white are still among the most wanted bedroom colors.

Make Parents, 6 foot 7 St. John's University center, has tallied 856 points during his ten seasons of varsity competition.

WINDOWS ARE IMPORTANT in modernizing a kitchen. Plenty of light is essential; good ventilation is, too. Windows should open and close readily. Even a short person should be able to handle them easily leaning over a sink or countertop.

WINDOW WALLS in modern school planning are widening the scope of "open living" which has found popularity in homes. Classroom walls with large areas of Parallel O-Plate glass admit more light and create an overall cheery, more homelike atmosphere for the students. In classrooms which open on outdoor play areas, the heat tempered glass, made by Insulay-Oxide Ford, provides three to five times more protection against breakage.

Teenagers Need Rest

Don't be too hard on your teenager if he sleeps until noon on Saturday, never stands when there's the slightest opportunity to sprawl, and frequently stumbles that he's too tired to help you. These are often signs of "good health."

Of course, he may be all or just plain lazy, but he's more likely to be normal. Doctors tell us that teenagers tire easily for one or more of a dozen reasons. It's natural for them to need extra sleep and rest.

What causes this teenage slump? Rapid growth, insufficient outdoor exercise, an unbalanced diet, overweight, an unbalanced social schedule, inadequate sleep, and so on.

Can you console yourself by saying "Oh well, he'll grow out of it," or can you do something to help him through the least favorable time?

First of course, you should make certain that your teenager's tiredness is not caused by illness. See that he has a thorough physical exam and chest X-ray as often as the doctor thinks advisable.

Although you can't slow down his growth, you can gently guide him into getting plenty of outdoor exercise, and see to it that he eats nourishing foods which give him the extra proteins that he requires.

Also, you can help him budget his time so that he completes his work, has fun, and still gets to bed at a reasonable hour. The condition of the bed into which he flings is important, too. Sleeping on a mattress, worn bedding encourages fatigue, not relieves it. And his rapidly stretching frame will probably relax better on a bed with plenty of leg room. Try the new super-size for that.

SMOKE FROM HOUSE FIRE HELPS MAKE DECORATING CHOICE
A trail of fire—or by smoke, as was—led to a redecorating decision recently at the Harry Elm residence in McKeesport, Pa.

In cleaning up the house after fire had damaged it, the Elms were impressed to see how well a greasy smoke deposit could be removed from a predecorated hardboard, in their bathroom. This led them to choose planks and blocks of the same paneling for a bedroom where another kind of surface had been damaged beyond restoration.

Because of the paneling's protective baked plastic finish, the Elms felt assured that their new all-white bedroom decor would be easy to keep clean.

FROM FAN TO ROOKIE
DETROIT (AP)—On a 1950 Dallas visit by the Detroit Lions, a young fan got a job as helper to the club's equipment man. Six years later, the youngster is one of the top rookies for the lions. He is Don McElhinny, the club's third draft choice from Southern Methodist.

Paneled Door Makes Dandy Writing Board

Every child needs some sort of writing board in his room to work out homework problems or vent his artistic bent. A door paneled in glossy white Marlite predecorated hardboard makes an ideal writing board for a child's room without the messy chalk dust typical of the ordinary blackboard. Equipped with a grease pencil or wax crayons, Junior can scribble to his heart's content on a Marlite-paneled door without fear of Mom's wrath because any dirt or marks are easily removed using only a damp cloth.

Paneling a door with the plastic coated hardboard is a particularly good idea if the door is stained and scuffed. Covering the scratches and marks with a predecorated hardboard panel is easy, quick and inexpensive and much less troublesome than repairing the door with wood filler and varnish or paint.

The plastic coated paneling can be fastened with special wallboard adhesive either to a flush door or an old-fashioned door with panels. Depressions in a panel style door should first be filled with insulation board to muffle sound.

The door may be given a finished appearance by applying matching edge molding. A fine-tooth saw may be used to cut the material. Available at lumber yards in several attractive woodgrain patterns, marble patterns and solid pastel colors in addition to white, the paneling may also be used to cover the walls in a child's room. Such paneling resists abrasion and is easily cleaned.

Junior's room need never be the household eyesore, complete with

Write-on Door Right for Boy

This lad can do his homework on the door anytime he likes because the door is covered with Marlite, a predecorated hardboard with a baked-on plastic finish that is impervious to scratches and dirt. A damp cloth removes both dirt and arithmetic problems from the Marlite woodpanel walls and the blackboard in reverse area white door.

BY REBUILDING a dilapidated old four-room shack (shown at lower right) into an attractive, modern house with five rooms and bath, an Arkansas farm family effected the transformation shown in these before-and-after photos. The major "face-lifting" change was achieved by covering exterior walls with asbestos-cement siding shingles. The shingles provide their own decoration, plus fire-safety and permanent weather protection. Also added were concrete pier foundation, fireplace, kitchen new asphalt roofing and electricity.

Sorting Board Good Storage Aid

A laundry center with plenty of suitable surfaces for sorting and handling clothes plus adequate storage for laundry supplies can greatly lighten the mending task of keeping the family in clean clothes.

It takes a lot of area to store efficiently the family's entire array of clothes after drying or ironing. And the surfaces on which fresh laundry is laid ought to be clean and easily kept that way. Countertops and appliance tops are fine, but in most homes there just aren't enough of such surfaces.

One simple solution is a home-made "sorting board" designed to rest on top of the laundry sink or tub. When not in use, it can stand upright against a wall. Or a board might be designed to be in a fixed location.

An excellent board for clothes sorting can be made with a sheet of a plastic finish predecorated hardboard used for wall and ceiling paneling.

For added stiffness the paneling should be backed with a sheet of plain hardboard or with a framing of wood strips. The man of the house can quickly make it either way.

Like the surfaces of appliances, the smooth, hard finish of the predecorated hardboard is easily damp-proof cleaned. This snag-proof paneling, available at lumber yards, may be chosen from a variety of wood gives a visual lift to the laundry center.

As an alternative to the "sorting board," wide shelves lined with it might be installed at a convenient height near the laundry equipment.

Another boon for the homemaker is suitable shelf or cabinet space on the wall over the washing machine for storing boxes and bottles of laundry supplies. Wiping up dirt and spilled powders is made easier if the shelves are topped with it.

To reduce dirt-catching, open laundry supply shelves can be converted into a cabinet by enclosing them at the ends and installing sliding doors. Here again, it can do an excellent job. Prefabricated metal tracks for the doors can be fastened to the shelves, or tracks can be improved with wood mending strips.

Community's Thanks Goes With FHP Trooper Williams As He Leaves County

Many of us can remember when it was a nightly or daily occurrence in Seminole County for ambulances, law enforcement officers, highway patrolmen, and newspaper reporters to be called to a serious, and many times, fatal accident.

The circle of event were countywide, with accidents happening on main arteries, county roads, state roads, and city streets. No particular site was pointed to with the idea of being "more dangerous than the other."

In recent years the frequency of these accidents has been diminishing—and for a very definite reason.

First—there has been greater interest in highway safety because of public opinion. Second—public opinion has been swayed greatly because of the intense interest on the part of news reporters who attempted to cover all accidents of any nature, whether serious, near serious, or just a casual "every day" type of accident.

Third—law enforcement officers began taking a greater interest in why accidents happened, where they happened, when they happened, and in the final analysis, began to do something about them.

One very definite reason for the reduction of the seriousness of highway accidents was the representation in Seminole County of Florida Highway Patrol troopers and patrolmen.

For several years Seminole County has been fortunate in having two of these representatives in Seminole County: Trooper T. Mark Mack and Trooper Carl Williams. Both of these men are "above the average" when it comes to Highway Patrolmen. From personal contact, at accidents, at safety meetings, in interviews, in court, and wherever they might be found, we have found these two law enforcement men to be courteous, considerate, efficient, and thoroughly acquainted with their duties and the laws which guide them.

They are friendly men, sympathetic, loyal, men with stamina and courage to enforce the laws of the state regardless of the person they approached. Politician, society leader, wealthy man and laborer are all treated alike—in their book of law enforcement etiquette which they have followed to the letter.

Now, we find this team of Florida Highway Patrol representatives in Seminole County is to be divided.

A recent announcement reveals that Carl Williams will be transferred to another county.

This, we certainly regret, for the abilities of the two troopers have so matched that their efforts meant much to us in the solution of our traffic problems.

We do not want Trooper Williams to be transferred though without our having an opportunity to let him know that his efforts have been appreciated and that those of us who are familiar with the highway traffic problems are thoroughly cognizant of all that he has done to help reduce the number of lives lost and the number of injured persons be reduced.

Some of us might have, at some time or another, felt the hand of the law rest heavily on our shoulders—but in this instance we should be even more thankful for men of high calibre who have drawn the strings of recklessness tighter about us in order to save our own lives and the lives of our fellowmen around us.

We can only say to this very efficient and respected Highway Patrol Trooper, as he assumes greater responsibilities in his organization, "It is with happiness that we note that your superiors see in you the same good qualities we have seen."

A community's thanks and "God Bless you" must go with Trooper Williams as he leaves Seminole County effective Nov. 15.

New Loan Plan

A unique loan plan has sprung up in various banks throughout the nation and the plan has met with such overwhelming success it may soon take on nationwide proportions. The plan is unique in that it sets up a loan fund for school children only and is completely administered by teenagers, except for some adult technical counseling.

Set up similar to regular lending agencies, the plan provides for a board of teenagers who pass on the merits of loan applicants. One such bank which operates one of these funds is the First Commercial Bank of Chicago. This bank has founded a "Teenage Loan Fund" completely supervised by two 17-year-old boys and a 16-year-old girl who perform the duties of chairman of the board, treasurer and secretary. When a fellow teenager applies for a loan, these "executives" meet and consider his qualifications and decide whether the purpose of the loan is a worthy one.

Bank President Harold H. Stout demonstrated the bank's confidence in the plan when he said "We're convinced that the majority of today's teenagers are responsible, level-headed youngsters, and we're lacking up this faith in youngsters with cash loans." And how has the plan worked in the few months of its existence? Mr. Stout proudly answered, "To date, every teenager who has received a loan has met his obligation on time, or even ahead of schedule."

Adults may well be envious of this fund, for borrowers pay only three percent interest and need no signers or collateral. Of course, the maximum one may borrow is $50, but to a teenager this amount can solve many problems.

As to the possibility of the idea spreading, Mr. Stout pointed out, "The Ann Arbor Bank at Ann Arbor, Mich., has adopted a similar plan, and the Kansas State Bankers Association is considering adopting the program on a statewide level."

While this plan may never spread into high finance circles prospective customers number well into the millions. As more and more banks become aware of the progress of the teenage loan clubs, the wholesome idea of demonstrating confidence in the younger generation in a practical way is bound to spread.

The truth is, teenagers will probably prove to be more dependable debtors than their parents.

About

 Oviedo Baptist Church. That was before my days in Oviedo. I had heard of him, however.

The Rev. and Mrs. Standifer were a sight for sore eyes to many of us. They were so busily engaged in conversation they could hardly eat.

Bobby, their oldest boy, is quite tall. He is a senior this year. Wayne, who is a year or two older than our eleven year old, has put on quite a bit of weight. It was so nice to see the boys again, after working with them in Cub Scout work, too.

The Rev. and Mrs. Carlton were kept busy trying to make everyone feel at home and welcome. They were ably assisted by some of the stewards of the church, among them George Morgan, chairman of the board of stewards.

One lady from Sanford remarked to me that she had no idea so many Sanford people would be there. I knew they would in all probability. It was so nice to see a church that with so many of them that had not seen in so long.

Those known to be there from Sanford were: Mrs. Lucy Courser, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee Jr., and family, Mr. and Mrs. Zebb Natiff, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Kirby, Mr. and Mrs. Billy West and son, Mr. and Mrs. Woolie Sturdivant, Miss Allene Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Lanier, Mrs. W. M. Colbert and C. E. Leslie.

Seminole County was also represented by Mrs. Jessie Zachary, and Mrs. L. M. Casson, Lakes Mary, W. G. Kilbee, Mrs. Hattie Atkinson, Mrs. Violet Hickok, Mrs. Pearl Varborough, Mrs. Augusta Ribrey, Mrs. Laura Kilbee, Mr. and Mrs. Brademeyer, and Paul Bauer, of Geneva. From Matland came G. B. Clolea and Miss Carolyn Clolea.

Those from Orlando who registered or were known to be there: Mr. and Mrs. Bill Durbin and Jack; Mr. and Mrs. Mills Lord and son; Miss Annie Mitchell, Miss Mabel Swapp, Miss Elizabeth Olliff, Mrs. Hugh Flyn, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Maxner and family; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Kelsey and family; Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Kelsey and family; Mr. and Mrs. C. L. West Jr. and family, Mrs. Robert (Polly) Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Branan, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Lawton Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Marion Wagner and Mrs. Matsey Scott.

From out of the state came Mrs. Richard L. House, of Anniston, Ala.; her sister, Mrs. W. B. Notton, Atlanta, Ga.; her nephew, William B. Jones, Augusta, Ga.; and Mrs. J. E. Ward, Lansing, Mich.

From other parts of the state came: Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Cornell, of Groveland; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Clonts of Oakland; Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Warner, St. Petersburg; Mr. and Mrs. Pete Hunt, Kissimmee; the Rev. J. Max Cook, Mt. Dora; Mrs. Dolly E. Busby, Kissimmee.

The group was approximated at 400, the largest known in the memory of those of us who have been regular attendees.

When it was all over we were all so full the food that remained (and there was enough left to feed 400 more—no kidding!), did not even look good.

Since Sunday is over and we aren't quite so uncomfortable around the middle, we can say that we are eagerly awaiting another homecoming.

The Chicago White Sox won its 1956 season series against the Cleveland Indians, 15 games to 7.

DeSoyites Boast Big Turnout This Morning At Polls

DEBARY—When polls opened at DeBary this morning there were 100 voters waiting to mark their ballots.

The early hour did not hamper a big turnout in the DeBary District as cars began parking on each side of the road reaching past the Baptist Church.

The VFW Auxiliary did a big business, taking advantage of the huge turnout, selling poppies to the line that began with 50 voters and which swelled to 150 in no time.

"Voting is at the rate of approximately 100 an hour," stated an official at the DeBary precinct. "If this keeps up," prophesied Ed Healey, "we'll need two voting machines to handle the voters." "If this keeps up," prophesied Ed Healey, "we'll need two voting machines in the future; one at the firehouse and one here at the civic building."

Season To Open On Waterfowl Tomorrow In State

Florida's hunting season for geese, ducks and coots opens tomorrow and continues through Jan. 15, according to Seminole County Judge Housholder's office which issues hunting licenses in this area.

In St. Marks Wildlife Management Area in West Florida, managed public waterfowl hunting opens Thursday and is permitted Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

The marsh hen hunting season now in progress ends at sunset Friday.

Hunters also can be looking ahead to the season for native game animals—deer, turkey, panther, bear, quail, squirrel, rabbit and wild hog. It opens Nov. 20.

Of 36 lettermen on Michigan State's 1956 football team only nine are seniors.

This Is Day Of Shame For America

By HAL BOYLE
 NEW YORK (AP)—Campaign commensurate with a Pavement Plato: This is a day of shame for America. An election day always is. For

Kemp: Welcome Invalidation Suit Of Referendum

William R. Kemp, president of Seminole Raceway, today told The Herald he would welcome a suit to attempt invalidation of the harness horse referendum if the people of the county go to the polls and rally it.

"Anybody has a right to attempt to invalidate any election," Kemp stated. "But we feel that once the people of Seminole County have overwhelmingly stated their desire to establish harness training and racing in this county, the dog track interests will have a difficult time upsetting their expressed wishes at the polls."

Kemp's statement came on the heels of announcement yesterday from Tallahassee that the Florida Supreme Court had denied a petition by the dog track interests to have the referendum struck from the ballots in today's election.

"We are confident that the permit we hold, issued by the State Racing Commission, is a valid one and that we will be granted the necessary license to institute daytime harness racing at Seminole Raceway," Kemp said. "However, that is a matter for the courts to adjudicate should the dog track trusts attack its validity."

"Now," Kemp told The Herald, "I want to express my sincere gratitude on behalf of the directors and stockholders of Seminole Raceway for the fine support and good will shown us during this campaign. We are not a bunch of gamblers, but a group of legitimate businessmen interested in the progressive development of Seminole County through establishment of a new million dollar industry."

Oviedo Junior High Cheerleaders Told

OVIDEO—That surprise you have been awaiting is now at hand—the revealing of the ballots cast for Junior High School cheer leaders.

Checking with the school office for verification of the results told us, we were found to be correct. Linda Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Young Harris, was high in the count. The other four were: Julie Gore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Gore; Gladys Alfred, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Alfred; and Carol Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Parker.

Mrs. Merritt Staley was the teacher in charge of training these young ladies in their duties, while Miss Lois Ruddle trained the Senior High group.

It is then the United States looks its worse to a freedom-hungry world.

In Hungary last week hundreds of men flung themselves bravely against invading Soviet tanks and died valiantly in a hopeless fight for the right to set up a government of their own choice.

But in democracy's mightiest citadel today only about six of every 10 persons eligible will take the trouble to vote for the government that will rule their lives for the next four years. Some 40 to 50 million other men and women who could vote won't bother to.

These are the drones of democracy, who accept their political liberty as casually as if it were merely another free sandwich at a banquet.

This apathy amazes thoughtful people in dictator-ridden lands who dream of a free vote but know that to achieve it they must first wade a river of their own blood. This apathy puzzles thoughtful people here, too.

In good times or bad times, in peace or war, millions of Americans avoid the ballot box as if it might infect them with some loathsome disease.

In the depression year of 1933 only 32.6 per cent of the eligible population voted. The figure for wartime 1944 was only 33.6.

This seems doubly odd when it is recalled that universal suffrage did not come to the United States as a gift from Heaven, but was won after generations of struggle that cost hundreds of thousands of lives. The barriers of property, age, color and sex fell slowly.

The remark is often made, "The guy who doesn't bother to vote, would be the first to fight if some one threatened to take away his right to vote."

But that is nonsense. The only men who can be counted on to defend a right are those who exercise that right. The man who has nothing to say doesn't fight for free speech.

State Republican Chairman G. Harold Alexander said "A big vote means only one thing—a confidence vote for President Eisenhower."

Gov. Collins, a Democrat, said a big vote would bring the election of "Democratic candidates from top to bottom" since Democrats have a six to one margin in voter registration.

Meetings were held by numerous church groups yesterday to plan a campaign. Several private clubs, whose liquor sales were stopped recently by the State Beverage Department, began circulating petitions last week for a referendum.

Palms Beach and James A. Haley of Sarasota. Four of the 11 constitutional proposals had statewide interest. Most controversial of the proposals has been the 67-senator amendment which would give each of the 67 counties a senator and hike House membership from 85 to 135. The Senate now has 36 members.

Because of the long ballot and expected record vote, the vote count was expected to be comparatively slow. Florida registration for the general election is 1,006,750. In 1952, the vote in the presidential race totaled 900,000. Polls opened at 7 a. m. and will close at 7 p. m. local time.

Conning The News

By VIRGINIA CONN

Virginia Conn
 VAH-5 had a fabulous party Friday night, one of the best squadron parties I have ever attended. It was held at the home of Skip and Ernie Horrell in Grove Manor. Their lovely patio furnished a perfect spot for eating the delicious steaks we all brought, and also a place for the excellent entertainment. Four of Rollins' loveliest modeled the latest bathing suits. These divine creatures strolled through the crowd, extolled their charms, and nearly tore the roof down as they were in reality Ernie Horrell, Frank Murphy, Ben King, and Chuck MacBratnie. Betty MacBratnie was the able commentator, but I'm afraid she couldn't catch all of her subtle remarks for the screams of laughter. The lucky people who came to this party were Jane and John Miller, Betty and Bill Hazlett, Julio and Bob Anderson, Glany and Bob Conn, Al Deana, Muriel and Rocky Gliswell, Paul Grunder, Betty and Frank Johnson (talking about golf, all the time), Kay and Ben King, Dottie King, Dornell and Tom Killias, Jim Leeson, Yendall McGuire and Carolyn Moore, Ruth and Frank Murphy, Fran and Dick Murray, Alice Myers, George Humphries, Helen and Bob PUNCH, Shirley and Jim Ross, Bill Schmid and date, Millie Thomas, Pat and Dave Todd, Flora and Bill Wigton, Tom and George Waters, Marie and Ralph Lavi, Betty and Al Hillner, and Bill and Betty Lillner.

Mrs. Donald Cox of White Plains, N. Y., spent the weekend with Speak and John Hook of HATTU. Mrs. Cox' husband is on two weeks reserve duty in Miami. Speak is also from White Plains, in case you didn't know.

The HATTU square dance was another success, although only two new guests showed up, but fortunately they were very enthusiastic. Mary and Blaine Libby, and Al and Betty Hillner represented VAEF and VAEF, and their husbands-but I'm sure the next time there will be a bigger representation.

Harriet and John Williams spent Sunday in Orlando, playing golf with Harold and Lee Marzoff at the Orlando Country Club. They both played brilliantly.

Lt. and Mrs. Lee Thomas of Norfolk, Va., spent the weekend with Cliff and Rosemary Duncan. The Thomases are on their way to Key West to Sonar School with their two children.

Tommy and Penny Peterson of Hidden Lake gave a beautiful cocktail party for Boyd and Diddie Weber Saturday night. Their lovely home was enhanced by arrangements of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums and red gladiolus peeked from the fireplace. One of the most fascinating features of the house is the cupboard built in one corner of the living room which still bears the burn of a Yankee torch. We earnestly hope that Tommy has since forgiven us Yankees for this offense, especially since the cupboard is such an interesting conversational piece. The delicious turkey was sliced specially by Bart Peterson, Tommy's father, who is a fellow New Yorker, and a most charming person. And I shall always love Mary, his wife for knowing immediately who I was because she reads my column. Diddie was glowing in a pink metallic sheath, and Penny lovely in black. Seen in the crowd were some of Sanford's most delightful people. The Navy was represented by Bill and Betty Leeson, Beryl Swinson, Louise and Jim Parker, Jean and Cy Fitton,

Tom Blackburn, and Bob and myself. Saw several of Diddie's bridge friends in Cammy Bruce (with fascinating eye appeal), Adelaide Moses, Jo Symes and Harriet Williams. Jack Weidner and Cap Parker, formerly of Sanford also showed up, and seemed mighty glad to be back, even though the time had to be brief. Incidentally, Cecil Heard asked that I publish Roy Caton's address, so his many friends may send him cards and letters. Cecil had a letter from Elizabeth in which she said that Roy was very interested in hearing news of Sanford, and is somewhat improved. His address is LCDR LeRoy Caton, Bethesda Naval Hospital, Bethesda, Md. (14th floor).

Tom Blackburn had several in Sunday morning for brunch honoring Boyd and Diddie Weber. The menu was spiced tomato juice, chicken livers and mushrooms, scrambled eggs, cinnamon rolls and coffee. AND, it was delicious; Tom is an excellent cook. Jean and Cy Fitton, Betty and Bill Leeson, and the Conns enjoyed it thoroughly.

The Executive Board of the N. A. S. Officer's Wives Club met Monday morning at the home of Anita Hadden in Loch Arbor. Those present were Betty Guy, Glenn Conn, Jane Potts, Kay Dwyer, Dottie McDonald, Fran Murray, and Ruth Tully. Plans were discussed for the fashion show to be held at the B. O. Q. Friday, Nov. 10th. It was also voted to send money to the International Rescue Committee for Hungary. In case you would like to do so, the address is 62 West 46th St. N. Y. C., N. Y., and the money is desperately needed.

Mrs. A. W. Epps Sr. Honored At Surprise Dinner Saturday

Mrs. A. W. Epps Sr. was the very pleasantly surprised guest of honor at a dinner party Saturday night in Jim Spencer's private dining room. The occasion was Dr. and Mrs. Epps' 25th wedding anniversary, which was on Oct. 31.

Mrs. Fred Ganas of the Sanford Garden Club did a magnificent job of decorating the dining room for the affair, with yellow chrysanthemums used in many beautiful arrangements. White orchids were used as place cards for the ladies.

Mrs. Epps, who supposed she was just going out to dinner with her husband and his mother, was overwhelmed to behold her entire family present when she arrived.

Those present were Mrs. Epps' brothers and their families, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McElhanon and daughter, Mary Lou, of Jefferson, Ga., and Mr. and Mrs. E. McElhanon, of Atlanta; Mrs. Epps' father, J. E. McElhanon, of Jefferson, Ga., Dr. Epps' mother, Mrs. W. H. Epps; Dr. Epps' brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ernest King, of Tampa; and Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Epps Jr. and children, Wayne, Marilyn and Dennis; Dr. and Mrs. John W. (Bill) Epps, and daughter, Laraine. The only member of the family not in attendance was Steve, the baby son of Dr. and Mrs. John Epps.

All of the out-of-town visitors stayed over in Sanford until Monday.

Seminole Band, Pep Club Refuses To Perform Friday

Due to a conference ruling of the East Florida conference the Seminole High School Band and Pep Club will not perform at the Seminole-Seaboard Half-time this Friday. The ruling states that only band members and majorettes will be permitted free of charge. Sanford is not a member of the East Florida Conference.

When informed of the ruling Ernest Cowley, bandmaster answered, "the Seminole High School Band and Pep Club operates during football season as one group for half-time shows. Because of this the group refuses to perform when a part of it is required to pay admittance to the game."

The pep club, under the sponsorship of Barbara Hobbs, is an integral part of any show presented by the group and each member of the group is disappointed that they will not be able to perform during the half-time ceremonies. The group had planned to stage a Hawaiian show using field props for a more effective show. In the past it has been customary for performing groups to be extended the courtesy of free admittance.

Mr. Cowley announced that the band would go to the game and play school songs in the stands to back the team.

Seminoles Face Tough 11 Friday

The Sanford Seminoles, after breaking the season losing jinx, got down to business yesterday in preparing for Friday night's tilt with Seabreeze in Daytona Beach. Seabreeze will be as tough a team as the Seminoles will face or have faced all season. Win the season barely more than half over the Sandcrabs have already clinched this season's championship for the East Florida Conference. They beat a 6-7 season record.

"The boys are upset minded since last week," head mentor Bill Fleming said of his charges. "They've got their confidence back and want to play ball. But we are all aware that Seabreeze is as powerful as any team we've met this season, and we also know that it will take a better performance of team unity than we have shown all season to contain them."

The Sandcrabs will have as well balanced ball club as had Melbourne. They have power, speed, deception, and experience to throw against the Seminoles. In surveying his gridsters, all of which are sporting the normal amount of football bruises, Fleming said only one more player had been added to the doubtful list for Friday night, but he is the sparkplug of the team, Brantley Sheirard. "Brantley was pretty well beat up Friday night," Fleming said. "He had flu all week, and New Smyrna was laying him every play, and that's rough on anybody."

Fleming summed up the success of the team in upsetting New Smyrna Beach as the result of team effort. "Phil Byrd and Bob Johnson turned in their best performance of the season," he said. "Bill Tyre was outstanding in the line, also playing his best game of the season, and Jack Stotsky played a fine game. Ronnie Gilles' kicking was very impressive, and he was good on defense. Eddie Barbour played his usual savage game and sparked the defensive team. Jim Warner turned in a good showing, and he'll be a great help to us this week." Then the head mentor paused. "I could go on all day," he said. "But I can sum it all up by repeating that it was a good showing of team effort. Every member of the squad played a wonderful game."

Fleming said his schedule for the remainder of the week would be intensive effort to find power that would give the team a scoring punch. "We don't have the speed to run the ends against a team like Seabreeze, so we're going to have to get a powerful combination of blockers and runners to open holes in the line and plow through." With Schirard on the doubtful list this could mean a re-shuffling of positions in the line. But it would be more a process of juggling the starting lineup than anything else.

With Al Stanley and Murray Nance still on the doubtful list the mentor staff will have their hands full this week acquainting men to new positions to find the right combination.

Golf Gossip '55 PGA Winner Is Expected To Return

Overway and Betts in the trap Sunday Andy Carraway and Elton Betts both approached the 18th hole in the trap. Elton's ball was about four inches behind Andy's, and on her shot she blasted both balls onto the green. Andy was full of smiles, but it didn't last long. John Trev insisted that Andy toss his ball back into the trap. A friendly but verbose argument followed—Andy lost, the ball should have been marked.

Under Tourney Ends Tomorrow, Mildred Smith Leads.

The Kader Jewelry Store Tournament for the Women's Golf Association is nearing the final stages. The play ends tomorrow. Presently holding top position is Mildred Smith, with a gross of 107 for 34 holes. Her 33 point handicap reduces that by 33 and gives her a net total of 237.

Faehant McRoberts is in second place so far. Her gross for 34 holes is 238, and her 12 point handicap reduces her net to 252. Jeanne Hayman is presently in third place with a gross 339, handicap 17, and a net of 259.

Jo Smynes, Lib Cleveland, and Wm Bilal Bogey Tourney.

Last Wednesday Jo Smynes and Lib Cleveland won the full handicap middle play 18 hole Blind Bogey Tournament. It was the Brown score. Jo had a 32 and a 53, giving her a gross of 109, and her 27 point handicap gave her the winning score. Lib had a 54 and a 53 for a total gross of 109, and her 25 point handicap tied her with Jo for the honors.

Beginning Class Growing.

The beginning class for women is still growing. Last week Dee King from Lock Harbor and Joyce Baker from Winter Park joined the group. Mario Craftago announced that three new classes will begin shortly. Those interested in a beginning class for children, a beginning class for men, and a ladies' refresher class should contact Mario at the Mayfair Country Club.

Male Tourney Next Sunday.

Next Sunday the Mayfair will sponsor an Amateur-Amateur Tournament for men. The participants

JVs Battle New Smyrna Tomorrow

Tomorrow night the Sanford Seminoles will again face the New Smyrna Beach Barracudas, but this time it will be the scrappy JVs traveling out of town for the last game of their very successful season.

The junior warriors, sporting a 3-1 record in JV competition, have all intentions of making the final outing a victorious one.

All season long JV coach Dick Silvers has been doing a magnificent job of developing the potential of each of the players. Every game, including the season opener against Lyman's varsity, witnessed Silvers staunchly carrying out his philosophy of free substitution. At the beginning of the season Silvers said that the purpose of JV squad was to give the members confidence through experience. "You can't do that by leaving the players on the bench," Silvers said. "I don't think playing eleven men for an entire game is a way to build a team, and win or lose the boys will see action every game. I believe they'll win under circumstances like that."

And he has been a strict adherent of his own JV rules.

Bill Fleming, head football coach for the Sanford Seminoles praised Silvers highly. "Dick has done a wonderful job—he's constantly kept the boys' spirits high, he's been an excellent leader, and he's done immeasurable good for next year's football team."

Silvers will be praised higher when the avid JV fans are reminded that this very important job is an unpaid one. Dick has been tireless in his giving of time and personal attention where it is directly needed for the success of Seminoles High's athletic program.

Bill Mooney, senior end with the Colorado College football team, comes from Regina, Sask. Half-back Garry Hughes is from Red Deer, Alta.

Bob Lemon of the Cleveland Indians is the fourth American League pitcher in history to win 20 games during seven different seasons. The others are Walter Johnson, Eddie Plank and Lefty Grove.

Former University of North Carolina Football Coach Barley Now Operates a Service Station and Handles Color Accounts of Football Games for WFTF, Raleigh, N. C. Radio Station.

Mike Sommer, George Washington University junior halfback led the Colonials in scoring, most yards rushing and in total offense during 1955.

When the Detroit Lions use Lou Creekmur, Harley Sewell, Charlie Ane, Oliver Spencer and Jim Salisbury on their offensive line the average is 246 pounds per man.

In 1927 New Hampshire failed to win a football game, losing seven and tying one. However, in 1947 and again in 1950 the team won all eight games.

Nashua is responsible for Hialeah's two largest crowds. For the 1956 Widener, 42,366 saw the cult and there were 37,282 on hand when he won the 1955 Flamingo.

Karl Schladehman, Michigan State track coach, was voted into the Helms Hall of Fame for track and field men in 1955.

Southern Methodist's 19-13 victory over Notre Dame in the 1956 football opener for both schools marked SMU's second win in eight games with the Irish.

Harry Arlanson, football coach at Tufts, coached Weymouth, Mass. High School teams to 135 victories in 18 seasons. His teams lost 19 games and tied 10 during that period.

Pimlico has scheduled more thoroughbred distance races because of a survey showing fans wager at least six per cent more on races longer than one mile.

Marc Gusey is in his seventh season as coach of the Syracuse University basketball team.

The PGA champion from Toronto edged Ed "Parkey" Oliver, newly appointed Winter Pro for the Mayfair Inn, and big Mike Souchak by one stroke. He played consistent golf throughout the 72 holes of the tournament and was never considered a strong contender for the top place ever though he was playing under par all the way through.

On the first day Balding came in one under par, four under par on the next, four under par on the next, and on the final day he came in with a winning 68, two under par.

Balding's total score for the tournament was 263, 11 under par for the top money of $2,600, over the 6,205 yard Mayfair Inn Seminoles Country Club course.

The world's top golfers will start pouring into Sanford for the qualifying rounds early in December.

may pick any male golfer they choose as a partner, and the winner will be picked by the Calloway System. All tourney players must either sign up in advance or call Mario.

Course in Beautiful Shape.

Andy Cusick, greenskeeper for Winter Park C. C. played a round at the Mayfair Sunday and was impressed with the course. "The Mayfair golf course is in beautiful shape," he said.

Phillips Away On Business Trip.

Clarence Phillips, Mayfair C. C. member, left on a business trip to Ga., but is expected back by Dec. 1.

Nearly 70 Per Cent Of County Voters Turn Out Yesterday

Nearly 70 per cent of the voters in Seminole County turned out yesterday—a clear, warm, typical November day—to name President Dwight D. Eisenhower their choice for President for the next four years.

A total of 8,606 voters cast their ballots for President with 5,611 going to Eisenhower and 2,995 going to Stevenson.

However, the totals are unofficial and do not include the approximately 300 absentee ballots which were not counted last night and were not tallied until this morning when the vote was canvassed by County Commissioner Chairman W. Brown Miller, Seminole County Judge Ernest Householder, and Supervisor or Registrar Mrs. Camilla Bruce.

In the Seminole County race for Congress in the Fifth Congressional District, A. S. "Syd" Herlong Jr., the incumbent, drew a total of 3,514 in comparison to the 3,183 Republican Candidate Arnold Lund of Daytona Beach polled in the 16 precincts. In the local tabulation, which does not include the absentee ballots, Herlong came out on top by a margin of 461 votes. The picture may change somewhat when absentee ballots are tallied and added to the final figures.

The Governor's race was one sided in Seminole County when Republican candidate William A. Washburne, Jr. received only a token vote of 1,948 in comparison to the overwhelming majority of 5,279 Governor LeRoy Collins drew.

A write-in candidate who announced his candidacy too late to be included on the ballot for the general election, Elbert Cammack, a Geneva Dairyman, received a total of 282 votes throughout the 16 precincts in his efforts to unseat Member of the Board of Public Instruction C. F. Harrison of Geneva. Harrison drew a total vote of 3,248 as compared with the less than 300 for Cammack. Cammack received write-in votes in 13 of Seminole County's 16 precincts. The only precinct in which he did not receive a write-in vote was in Sanford precinct One.

The special referendum to ratify or reject the permit to conduct harness horse racing in Seminole County was overwhelmingly approved by a vote of more than 2 to 1. According to the unofficial returns tabulated last night by the Sanford Herald's staff who covered the election returns, 3,460 Seminole County citizens voted to approve the permit with only 1,658 voting against the harness racing permit.

Yesterday's voting was heavy with Shoupes Voting machines being used in all of the county's 16 precincts. Lines were long in the heavier districts with some voters having to wait as long as three hours in one precinct and up to 45 minutes in another.

However there were no incidents throughout the county during the daylong voting. Polls opened at 7 a. m. and closed at 7 p. m.

Weather
Clear today, partly cloudy Thursday; continued mild; low tonight 62-66.

2 Incumbents Keep Posts; Warner Named

Earle Higginbotham, Merle Warner, and A. L. Wilson won unanimous approval for seats on the Board of City Commissioners in yesterday's City Election.

More than 1300 of the nearly 3500 qualified voters turned out to cast their ballots in the contest for the three commission seats.

A. L. Wilson was re-elected to serve the remaining year of an unexpired term. Wilson was appointed to the Board of Sanford City Commissioners early this year to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of City Commissioner Jack Hatigan.

Commissioner Wilson wholeheartedly supported the Capital Improvement Program, the proposed Sewage Treatment Plant, Sanford-Titusville Canal and other proposed city improvements including a Docks and Terminals project on the St. Johns River and Lake Monroe. Wilson received 1220 votes in his unopposed bid for the reelection.

The strongest opposing candidate was M. L. Nichols who, at one counting of ballots last night, led Earl Higginbotham, the incumbent. However, Higginbotham regained his lead in the vote-counting and defeated his opponent by only 18 votes.

Higginbotham was also a proponent of the Capital Improvement Program and the other city improvements including a citywide street improvement program.

Merle Warner, whose first attempt to gain a seat on the Board of Sanford City Commissioners was against David Gatchel, held a substantial lead throughout last night's vote counting. He defeated Paul Yates Jr., publisher of a Sanford Weekly, the Sanford Journal.

Warner defeated Yates by a margin of 573 votes. He polled 952 votes against Yates 379.

Each of the candidates last night expressed their gratitude for the confidence placed in them by the citizens of Sanford. "We expect to carry our aggressive program right on," the three successful candidates said last night as they departed the final totals.

The five-man Board of Sanford City Commissioners, at the first of January when the Board takes over officially will be comprised of Higginbotham, Warner, Wilson, David Gatchel and F. D. Scott who now holds the board appointed office of Mayor.

President Builds Up 8 Million Vote Margin

Republican Congress Looks Slim

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Eisenhower built up a margin of more than eight million votes today in his record smashing second term victory over Adlai Stevenson. But he appeared to be falling short of his goal of gaining a Republican Congress.

The count of popular votes at noon was Eisenhower 30,627,488; Stevenson 22,155,608.

Despite Eisenhower's landslide defeat of his Democratic opponent—a victory that might reach a nine million margin in popular votes—Democrats appeared to be pulling into a commanding lead in the battle for the House.

The Democrats also attained a favorable position in their efforts to retain control of the Senate.

At noon the Democrats had elected 215 of the 218 members needed to hold onto the House. Republicans had elected only 106, despite Eisenhower's sweep.

The political complexion of the Senate—which also appeared likely to remain Democratic—hung on the results of three undecided races as returns mounted from Eisenhower's nationwide surge yesterday. It was the first time a Republican had won a second term in 66 years.

Democrats edged nearer control of the Senate by winning 17 seats in Tuesday's voting for a total of 68, including holdovers. The undecided races, in all of which they were leading, were in Kentucky, Nevada, and South Dakota.

There are 98 senators with 49 needed for party control. The present Senate has 49 Democrats and 47 Republicans.

Republicans had won 15 Senate seats, which with 30 holdovers gave them 45 Senate votes. They would have to come from behind in the undecided races even to hold their own.

A surprising avalanche of ballots made it almost certain Eisenhower would win 41 states and 457 electoral votes. Only 266 are needed for election.

Four years ago Eisenhower took 39 states and 442 electoral tallies to Stevenson's 89. Yesterday Eisenhower added Louisiana, Kentucky and West Virginia to his 1952 list. But he seemed likely to lose Missouri, which he won four years ago.

Stevenson was crushed under a tremendous vote for confidence for the 66-year-old President who suffered a heart attack last year and underwent an abdominal operation last June.

Stevenson could count only six states in the deep South—Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina and South Carolina—together with Missouri, for 74 electoral votes.

Negro Taken Into Custody; Selling Moonshine Charge

A 35-year-old Negro was taken into custody last night and charged with "engaging in the business of selling intoxicating beverages without a license" and "with the sale of intoxicating beverages commonly known as moonshine whiskey."

Samuel Edward Wilder, alias Sam Wiley and "Fats" was arrested by Sanford City Police last night at 10:45 at the Ritz theatre where the Negro was employed. He is being held in the City Jail under a bond of $1,000 $500 on each charge.

Officers of the Sanford City Police Department witnessed the sale of two pints of moonshine whiskey, according to Police Chief Roy Williams who directed the investigation.

Chief Williams said this morning that Wilder sold two pints of moonshine whiskey for $5.00. He also said that a complaint was received by the Sanford Police Department last week on which an arrest was made.

Wilder, now being held in the City Jail, will be tried on the two charges in City Court Friday afternoon.

Officers investigating the moonshine whiskey activities were Lt. Joe Hickson, Sgt. Ben Butler, and Patrolman C. C. Dodson.

However, they said today that there will be no trick riding, stunts, or other events during the afternoon.

There is no admission charge. It was announced today.

"Bring your horse and enjoy a real afternoon of fun," they said.

Herlong Maintains Slight Lead In Race

Democratic Rep. A. S. "Syd" Herlong of Leesburg held a lead of less than 1,000 votes today over his Republican challenger Arnold Lund of Daytona Beach, with the unofficial vote tabulation nearing completion in Florida's 5th District.

The count in 291 of the district's 315 precincts gave Herlong 64,534 votes to Lund's 63,639.

Besides the 24 precincts still unreported, there were some 7,000 absentee ballots still to be counted. Most of these will be tabulated today but it was possible that the winner will not be known until the official canvass.

Lund's surprisingly good showing demonstrated growing Republican strength in Florida. Besides threatening to unseat Herlong the GOP also sent Rep. W. C. Cramer back to Congress for another term.

More than 300 Seminole County absentee ballots are being counted today and the count is expected to be completed late this afternoon.

Everyone Is Busy Tuesday But Banks

BY MARIAN JONES
OVIDEO—Everyone was busy Tuesday but the bank. Lucky dogs—they had a holiday. No joking, the heavy turnout of voters kept a steady stream of customers at all other establishments all day.

Going over to the City Hall to cast our own ballot the only time during the day we were off, we saw that Mrs. Mae E. King, clerk, Mrs. George C. Meant, Mrs. Willie P. Stone, Mrs. A. J. Reynolds, Robert A. Dewberry and T. E. Daniell were kept quite busy at the voting polls.

We know we were kept busy all day.
