

Meeting Tonight For All Fans Who Like Baseball

Session Not Limited To Committeemen, Says Rex Packard

The baseball meeting called for 8 o'clock this evening in the Chamber of Commerce building is for all lovers of baseball and is not restricted to members of the baseball committees, Rex Packard stated today. Mr. Packard and William Anderson attended the league organization meeting in Palatka where they down Sanford as a member of the group, but before they further with the proposition they need the backing of the baseball fans.

Several attempts have been made within the last two or three weeks to get the fans together, but without success. It is said that unless some interest is shown in the meeting tonight the baseball question will be dropped and some other city that is clamoring for a "place in the new Florida League" will be allowed to grab Sanford's franchise.

April 8-11 Date For State Golf Tourney

LAKELAND, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Dates for the state men's amateur golf tournament were set today for Apr. 8-11 by directors of the Florida State Golf Association.

The directors set a goal of 100 entries and agreed to try to get players from all sections of the state.

Clarence Camp of Ocala, president of the association, said he was pleased with the condition of the Cleveland Heights course, where the tournament will be played.

Jack Toomer, now a professional, won the last state tourney held here in 1932. Directors present today in addition to Toomer were James Swan and James Warren of Tampa, G. W. Spencer of Sanford, Carl Jackson of Orlando, Bob Harlow of St. Petersburg, R. E. Ferris of Lakeland, and Secretary W. W. Alderman of Lakeland.

Daytona Beach Is Declared Winner Of Basketball Title

Daytona Beach basketball quintet, which defeated Sanford 32 to 17 in the Northeast Conference semi-finals at Deland last Saturday afternoon, won over Leesburg 25 to 22 in the Saturday evening game and thereby won the conference basketball title. It was the last game of a two-day tournament held at Stetson University.

In addition to playing a brilliant offensive game, the winners successfully held the Yellow Jacket scoring stars in check.

The Sanford Celery Feds got into the semi-finals of conference play by defeating Lake City 38 to 20, but the contest threw them to such an extent that they were unable to put up a hard battle with the Bucs. The local team has been crippled by severe colds and attacks of the flu suffered by several members of the five.

Citrus Man Urges California Style Of Fruit Package

Florida citrus boxes, which contain 12 pounds more fruit than the California box, cost growers of the state $4,000,000 a year, not to speak of freight, and do not bring in a penny for extra size, Lawrence Gemile, leading Florida shipper, said in an article in the February issue of the Florida Grower, farm and fruit publication.

Gemile urged Florida to adopt the California box, pick out the poor fruit and keep it at home, improve the grade and pack and reap a benefit of several million dollars. He said the present "waste" amounts to 30 percent of the grower's net income.

"The trade does not appreciate the extra fruit in a Florida box," said Gemile. "Let us adopt a box of the California size, tighten up grade and pack, leave No. 3 fruit at home, and let us go to building up our by-products industry."

"The California box is much more popular in the markets than the Florida box. It is easier to handle. California ships about 62 more boxes in a car than Florida, and the return is on a per box basis, so far as the grower is concerned. The extra fruit is given away."

"Growers should demand of their state representatives and senators that they amend the law so that they will no longer be handicapped in competition with California. We have enough trouble getting a decent price for our fruit under the most favorable circumstances, so why penalize ourselves with this unnecessary handicap."—Reprint, Tampa Tribune, Jan. 30.

Campaign News

Now that the 1938 political campaign is rapidly getting under way and almost every day sees some would-be office holder toss his hat into the ring, it might be fitting to point out to these candidates, as well as to our readers in general, that The Herald desires to co-operate with them in their problems in every way humanly possible, but at the same time we would respectfully remind them of the limitations of space which eight rigid columns of type in a six page paper impose.

There are, to the best of our knowledge, no less than nine or ten state offices to be filled and perhaps fifteen or twenty local offices. In some of these races there are already as many as eight or ten candidates, and the average, we imagine, would figure at least five. If there are five candidates for each of thirty offices there are no less than 150 candidates, all of whom want to reach as many people as possible with their announcements, their platforms, their panaceas for the country's ill and their own particular qualifications for the office which they seek.

The newspapers naturally afford the best medium for reaching the greatest number of people. This is true because the newspapers contain in their columns important items of news and interesting articles which the people want to read. But if the newspapers published in full all the articles which are submitted to them by the candidates, there would be nothing else in the newspapers except political propaganda and there would soon be no subscribers to the newspapers.

It is thus to the advantage of the candidates themselves to have political publicity limited to a certain fixed proportion of the total reading matter. It is better to get a couple of lines in a newspaper that is read than it is to get a full column of type in a newspaper which has no subscribers. Someone has to decide how much publicity can be admitted free of charge to the columns of the paper without being detrimental to circulation. Naturally, this job falls to the editor. The candidates themselves could hardly be expected to do it impartially.

It is the policy of The Herald to publish items pertaining to political candidates without charge to such extent as these items may properly be classified as news. Though we may support one candidate or another, editorially, as it is our constitutional right to do, we try to be fair in our news columns giving as much space to those we oppose as to the those we endorse. In this way we believe the public can best learn the good and bad about all candidates, something which they must know if they are to vote intelligently.

At the same time our advertising columns are always open to an unlimited extent to any candidate who wishes to say more than the limited space of the news columns affords. This advertising is the only service we charge the candidates for. And we charge them for this—at the regular advertising rate, the same rate which the merchants or any other advertisers have to pay. We have no desire to gouge the candidates.

And so as the campaign swings along, we hope that everyone will be satisfied with this arrangement. If anyone has a better suggestion to make, we will be glad to hear it.

Conservation

Meeting in Washington this week at the instance of President Roosevelt is the North American Wildlife Conference which has for its purpose the preservation of birds and animals in the United States. It is hoped that some well considered and practical program may be developed which will produce marked results during the next few years. Listed as among the paramount causes of the destruction of American wildlife are the following:

- 1—100,000,000 acres of original wildlife breeding grounds drained and water tables lowered, greatly aggravating the effects of droughts, dust storms, floods, and aiding in the general depletion of sustaining environment for either man or beast;
- 2—85 percent of our lakes and streams polluted by industrial and municipal wastes, resulting in an annual cost to the public for pure water supplies approximately $1,000,000,000 and entailing inestimable loss in recreation facilities, health and food resources;
- 3—173,000,000 acres of remaining public domain mostly overgrazed and partially denuded of vegetation;
- 4—Eight wildlife species extinct; others within the shadow of oblivion and all reduced far below the demands and economic needs of the country;
- 5—The Great Lakes, once great reservoirs of sustaining food and commercial fish resources, approaching exhaustion by over-seining and lack of regulation;
- 6—Great stretches of coastal waters of the Atlantic and Pacific depleted almost to exhaustion of their former commercial and game fish resources;
- 7—Annual runs of Sturgeon, Salmon and Shad, which once existed in seemingly inexhaustible numbers, gone entirely from many of our major waterways, or reduced to a shadow of their former numbers;
- 8—Fur-bearing animals and fur resources which once supplied the world markets, now supply less than half our own needs;
- 9—Wild Turkeys, Sage Grouse, Mountain Sheep, Blaine Prairie Chickens, Migratory Waterfowl, Antelope, Moose, Caribou and Woodcock existing only through the agencies of rigid protection;
- 10—Game fish in most of our inland waters unmanageable dependent on artificial propagation and stocking;
- 11—No adequate existing public policy or official national program for the conservation or restoration of wildlife resources.

FLORIDA HIGHLIGHTS

A fruit that looks like an egg! Such is the distinction of the Egg-Fruit which grows in Southern Florida and whose soft, meaty bright orange flesh so closely resembles in appearance the yolk of a hard-boiled egg. A native of the Central American tropics, this exotic plant has been naturalized to some extent on the Florida Keys, where for some strange reason it thrives under the most trying and unfavorable conditions. Amazing as it may seem it grows well upon some of the poorest and most shallow soils. The flavor of this unusual Florida fruit is exceedingly rich and sweet.

GOVERNOR PATRICK TONYN was governor of Florida for 10 years, the era of the American revolution, during which time East Florida continued loyal to England. Floridians of that day actually took part in many expeditions against the colonists, and welcomed thousands of loyalists from Georgia and the Carolinas. It was during this period that Dr. Andrew Turnbull, an enemy of Governor Tynon, abandoned his gigantic colonization project at New Smyrna. Governor Tynon's administration ended in June, 1784, when Governor Espeyedes with a Spanish garrison came to assume control as a result of the British cession of Florida to Spain.

Nazi Sidetrack German 'WPA' To Speed Armaments

Military Works Become The Leading Employment Means

BERLIN, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Immediate speeding up of armament building is forecast by German officials. Coaly government projects, excepting one, are expected to be side-tracked for the first part of 1938 in order to have more foreign exchange for military equipment. The one exception to this "clear-all-paths" policy is the pet scheme of Reichsminister Hitler, a network of magnificent roads throughout the country. And this, military men agree, fits in nicely with the rearmament program. The defense scheme, which foreign attaches figured would not be finished before 1937, now is expected to reach completion much earlier. This expected concentration on rearmament, which already is proceeding at a fast pace, is believed by foreign experts to have two reasons behind it: 1—To rush preparedness of the fighting forces in view of the world situation. 2—To kill two birds with one stone by making rearmament the principal re-employment means. Both Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, Hitler's financial and economic dictator, and Lutz, Count Schwerin von Krosigk, the finance minister, have prepared Nazi sub-leaders in public speeches for this policy. They have warned that in order to carry out speedy rearmament other plans must be left in abeyance. "Nothing comes to us as a gift," the finance minister said, "we have to sacrifice," while Dr. Schacht plainly told leaders that development schemes costing large sums must be set aside. This narrowing of the expenditure trough is interpreted by some foreign observers as a sign of increasing difficulties in finding cash to keep going the vast Nazi schemes for putting Germany back on her feet, especially difficult is the obtaining of raw materials from abroad because of lack of foreign exchange and gold. Exactly how much reconstruction of the army, re-employment schemes and other Nazi enterprises have cost, is unknown to the public which likewise is in the dark as to how much more is needed before the nation's defense forces are up to the level Hitler says he wants them. Four billion marks are officially admitted to have been spent in 1932-1934 but this does not include several billions classified as "advance financing" which the government expects some day to get back. About $1,300,000,000 are being spent on new roads. The system, making every important frontier center with important frontier points, will total 1,975 miles and have more than half that mileage in under construction. Besides the strategic use to which these roads would lend themselves, there is a carefully calculated effect upon German morale. The Nazi statisticians have figured by surveying the use of automobile fuel and gasoline, that in rubber and iron.

The Sanford Forum

Sanford, Fla. Feb. 4, 1938. The Editor, Sanford Herald. The editor's note at foot of our letter in yesterday's Forum seems to call for further reply. It is a question. Otherwise we would not further encroach at this time upon his good nature in this regard. The editor indeed, notwithstanding his attitude on the Townsend Plan, has been most liberal in giving us such ample space to make our appeals to common sense, and we thank him most heartily for this. As to having the editor think as we do upon the subject, we have no hope. All we want him to do in his capacity as editor of The Herald is to publish under the name of Townsend, the notions of those who use the term for what is anything but the Townsend idea. Many thanks to the editor of The Herald for what he has done for the plan. G. M. DOUGLASS.

Mrs. Long Prepares To Become Senator

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Delayed by congratulatory telegrams, Mrs. Huey P. Long was winding up her household and business affairs today preparatory to leaving for Washington to take her seat in the Senate. While her appointment by Gov. James A. Noe still must receive sanction of the state central Democratic committee, the opinion was current that she would be nominated unanimously. Mrs. Long plans to go to Washington alone, leaving her three children here in school.

Every Worker Must Qualify If He Draws Security Pay During Unemployed Period

By SIGRID ARNE. WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(AP)—When do the garage mechanic, the stenographer, the corporation lawyer, begin to benefit by the Social Security Act? How much do they get, and how do they get it? The worker goes through few motions himself. Payments will be made on the conditions of his working life, and the employer will supply the records on that. But the worker must qualify. He must be 65 years or more to get old-age benefits. He must have worked a certain length of time to get unemployment compensation when he is thrown out of work. He can begin to draw unemployment compensation any time after Jan. 1, 1938, depending on his state's laws. Legislatures are busy now writing those laws. He will begin to draw old age benefit payments after Jan. 1, 1942. Both types of payments will be made only after the worker meets qualifications imposed by the federal and state laws. They differ for the two types of payments. For the unemployment compensation he must: 1. Be out of work. 2. The other conditions will vary from state to state, since details are left by the Security Act to the state legislatures. However, in most states he will draw pay for 16 weeks out of each year if unemployed. He will wait from two to six weeks after losing his job before compensation begins. Most of the states will pay him 50 percent of his regular wages up to $15 a week, which is the maximum set by most of the state laws. The money will come from a tax placed on employers' payrolls, but in some states the employer also will be taxed, and the tax will begin to be deducted this year from their paychecks. Systems for re-employing the worker are not yet crystallized. The federal re-employment office may be used. If the worker refuses a proffered job he will be denied compensation. However, he won't be denied if: 1. His refusal is due directly to a strike or lock-out; 2. If he refuses work under conditions substantially below prevailing ones; 3. If the employer tries to impose conditions on his affiliations with labor organizations. These classes of workers will not be covered by unemployment compensation or old age benefits: agricultural labor, servants, ship crews, government employees, workers in religious, charitable, educational or non-profit institutions. Neither they nor their employers will pay taxes under the Social Security Act. Those who are covered will qualify before the state agency charged with Administration, and will be paid by it. Another set of conditions must be met to receive old age benefits. The worker must be 65 years or over. Beginning next January all workers will pay a tax which will be deducted from pay checks by employers. Employers will pay an equal tax on payrolls. They will be as follows: Calendar Years Tax 1937, 1938 and 1939 1% 1940, 1941, and 1942 1 1/2% 1943, 1944, and 1945 2% 1946, 1947, and 1948 3% 1949 and thereafter 3 1/2% The records which must be kept for both forms of benefits will mean, of course, that there will be for the first time a state record of every worker, the places he worked, the time, and the wages he received. Old age benefits paid monthly will be calculated on those records as follows: Average Monthly Salary Years of Employment 10 20 30 40 $ 50 $17.50 $22.50 $27.50 $32.50 100 22.50 22.50 42.50 51.25 150 27.50 42.50 53.75 61.25 200 32.50 51.25 61.25 71.25 250 37.50 56.25 68.75 81.25 (These are amounts received monthly) Old age benefits will be paid to all aged workers after they have retired, regardless of need. Since it is actually an insurance plan toward which the worker has made his regular payments through the tax, his family will be reimbursed if he dies before he receives the amount he paid. Old age benefits will continue to be paid from the time the person qualifies throughout his life. Since the method was inaugurated in 1910, 160 persons have been electrocuted for criminal offenses in North Carolina. In pre-war years more than 35,000 new books were published annually in Germany, while in 1934 production declined to 20,852 books.

50 Pct. Cut In WPA Payroll Is Asked By City

Five weeks ago that whenever a private employer found on a WPA job a laborer he needed in his business he could obtain the services of such laborer by advising the WPA that he wanted the man. However, Commissioner P. N. Whitehurst reported that he had received the report that certain men would not be released by the WPA unless a certain wage was guaranteed for a prescribed period.

Commissioner W. A. Laffer stated that while the clerical movement is yet only about 30 percent and that it will probably not reach its peak until in March there is now a serious labor shortage, that it is impossible to get enough men, and that shippers are bidding against each other to get crews.

Commissioner S. O. Shinholtzer stated he had found it impossible to obtain necessary labor in Sanford and that yesterday he sent out three men to recruit labor. One obtained a crew of 10 men in Palatka, another was able to employ eight in Zephyr Hills, and the third recruiting agent had not reported last night.

Reports made at last night's meeting of the City Commission were that negroes employed on the streets prefer to "half" work four days a week for enough to "get by on" and loaf the other two days, that to accept private employment at a higher wage for eight hours' work a day and six days a week.

Election System Machinery, Horse-And-Buggy Era Role, Clogged By Technicalities

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(AP)—It is a commonplace thing to hear, every few days, that some political event somewhere has "opened the campaign of 1936"; but so far as formality is concerned, the description belongs properly and exclusively to the recent meeting of the Republican national committee in Washington.

So complicated and extensive is the operation of getting the machinery of the parties under way that a long chain of separate actions covering a period of more than six months—a greater time than is required for the active campaign itself—always ushers in the election year.

Various expedients have been suggested for simplifying the process, but it seems to grow less simple as time goes by. The enactment of primary laws in many varieties in about a score of states has contributed greatly to the complexity of the situation.

The general public probably does not realize how much technicality there is in the American system. The meetings of the Republican national committee in December will be followed in January by a similar session of the Democratic national committee, to choose a convention city and date, fill vacancies in the party organization, and prepare the groundwork of the campaign.

They will come a succession of state conventions and primaries, in both parties, to choose delegates and express preferences for the nomination. The national conventions themselves will meet in June, with an inevitable crop of local irredictional contest, select nominees for president and vice-president, and adopt a platform.

They will come a succession of state conventions and primaries, in both parties, to choose delegates and express preferences for the nomination. The national conventions themselves will meet in June, with an inevitable crop of local irredictional contest, select nominees for president and vice-president, and adopt a platform.

But that is the exception, not the rule, the American voter must know his politics long-drawn-out. There is no other ready explanation for the survival of a system which apparently has come down from the days when communication was difficult and every sort of national action was necessarily slow and cumbersome.

Fuel Laden Ships Tied Up By Ice In Northern Harbors

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(AP)—A fortnight ago, the North Atlantic shipping, guarding the most important stretch of the New England coast, was ripped from its moorings by a fierce gale and drifted 18 miles to sea, but barred by lack of position the following day, and a dozen barges, tugs and smaller craft were frozen solidly in Buzzards Bay.

Cape Cod Canal was blocked by ice, forcing vessels plying between Boston and New York to round the cape's tip, adding some 70 miles to the voyage. Davis' wire to the Army and Navy Departments, said ice conditions in Boston Harbor and Buzzards Bay were extremely bad and asked that any available tugboats be dispatched immediately to Buzzards Bay to meet the emergency.

The telegram to Mr. Roosevelt said Coast Guards lacked necessary equipment to meet the emergency and requested that the Navy take a serious fuel shortage in the Boston area is threatening. Boston harbor barges laden with coal and fuel oil are blocked in Buzzards Bay by ice fields and unable to proceed.

Nantuxet Island was encircled by an eight-mile ring of solid ice. Dispatches from Sao Luis, capital of the northern State of Maranhao, Brazil, say diamond mines have been discovered in the interior.

Plans To Park Is Controlled By City

Best To Be Patched And Fence Fixed In Worst Places

Temporary repairs will be made at the Municipal Park before the Chicagoan baseball club arrives next month for the spring training season. Superintendents of Parks, James McHugh, told the City Commissioners last night that $1,000 would be required to patch the grounds and fence in good places, but the Commissioners agreed to either cut that amount and increase Mr. McHugh's do what he could with temporary repairs for $100.

The parks superintendent will fix holes in the roof of the grandstand and will repair the most rotten sections of the fence erected last year.

Mr. McHugh reported that the grandstand should be repaired, the seats should be replaced, but that would cost $200. There are 2400 seats, but of lumber in the eight-foot high fence, he said.

16 Men Will Try For Baseball Club

Sixteen men at a baseball meeting, to be, and a league might be formed. They didn't have a chance of running last night's gathering of the 16 fans, but they had a lot of "scouted-up" information which they planned to smother on other fans today and tomorrow in the hope they can get enough "occasional" organization of a baseball club to beat a Sanford team in the new Florida State League. If this organization is forthcoming the backers of the move will proceed to all such, according to the prevailing opinion, as expressed last night. If support appears to be lacking the franchise already allowed to Sanford will be relinquished to some other town.

Fast Time Made By Greyhounds Is Feature At Track

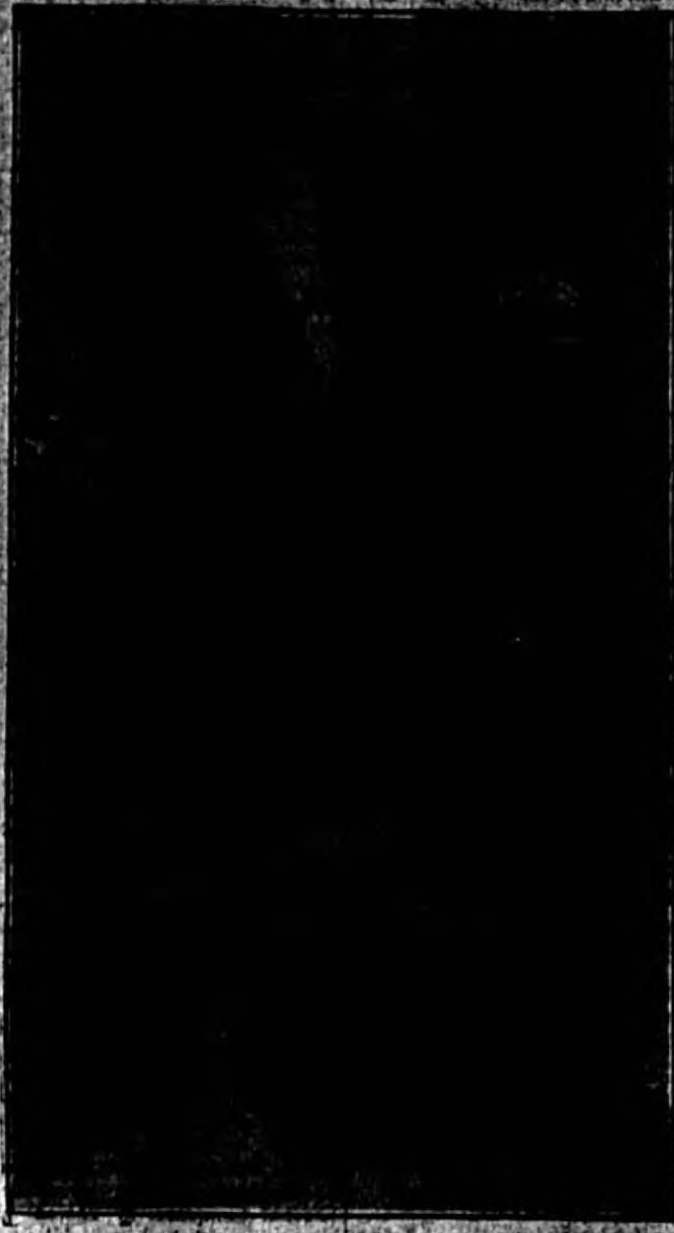

Unusually fast time made by winning dogs featured the 10 event program which attracted a huge crowd to Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club greyhound race track near Longwood last night. The sixth week of the 90-day meeting got under way auspiciously, and rabid followers of the dogs are looking forward to new and faster speed marks from such sturdy veterans as Bert Jones, Wild Panny, Buddy Hart, Cable Mc, War Boy, Sunny Kay, and the Hepburn colts.

Much also is expected from Dr. C. E. Dunne's kennel of dogs which arrived over the week-end. Dr. Dunne, sportsman of New York, is maintaining a winter home at Daytona Beach. He has a reputation with his kennel as breeding a high type of greyhound.

A trial will be run again tonight, starting at 8:15 o'clock. No shows are allowed at the track.

Greyhound racing will continue tonight at 8:15 o'clock. The program will feature a number of exciting races, including the 90-day meeting which started last night.

Cairo, Egypt, Feb. 4.—(AP)—The tourists who, after a month in England, now are in the impression that every British policeman is a model of civility and high sense is to be able to gain a working knowledge of the British "Bobby" Egyptian model.

The latter is, with the possible exception of the original Texas Ranger, the coolest, most deadly executioner in the world known to be found in the course of a world tour.

A close association with him for a few weeks will go a long way toward explaining the British attitude toward "the other side" of the Atlantic. There is no doubt that the British policeman who, in London, doesn't carry a gun and spends most of his time applying the law to the lower classes of Cairo, simply reasons in normal fashion and is not a fanatical or prejudiced man.

No longer under suspicion to mind, and with a "20" on his hip, he becomes a real person to feel with.

He seldom kills, as was evidenced by the eight or ten deaths among Egyptian rioters in recent riots here. The exact number may never be known, as British authorities, anxious to avoid public funerals, took several bodies from the hospital and buried them at night.

The most gun patches were accorded to Bimbaht (or Major) E. L. Lee, a bulky, 48-year-old British peace officer, who killed one student and fatally wounded three others in an encounter at Giza bridge, over the Nile. He had, however, been knocked down and overly injured before he fired.

A week later, after passing three shotgun entries, I was Major Lee's guest at his home some 20 miles from Cairo.

"I wouldn't have had to kill them," he explained, exhibiting a heavily bandaged arm. "If I hadn't first tried to stop them with a shotgun, Bimbaht only made them mad. I'll never fool with a shotgun again."

Sanctions Modify Habits Of Italian Households As Nation Accepts Changes

By CHARLES H. GUSTILL, HOME. Feb. 4.—(AP)—Sanctions have modified conspicuously the life of Italy. There probably are few families which do not recognize every day some new change in their habits and customs in "sanctioned" hours designed to appear at 9 A. M. some early for the average Italian. The two hour "siesta" has been replaced by one hour for each, but the day's work is ended at 5 P. M.

The younger children may look upon sanctions with a less jaundiced eye than elders. Elementary school hours were reduced to three daily and run from 10 o'clock to one. Family entertainment has been restricted or rearranged. Theaters begin their performance early so as to close by 11 P. M. This means an earlier night meal which previously was a late dinner.

After the theater the trip home is made through streets in semi-darkness. Public illumination is cut in half at 10:30 P. M. Many of the cafes and bars which formerly provided Rome's somewhat carnivalesque "night life" are closed and their lights extinguished before midnight. The Sunday automobile ride has been eliminated for most families by gasoline at $1.6 a gallon. A few motorists have installed charcoal burners in their autos, which, expensive to purchase, are extraordinarily economical to operate.

Another diversion, the Sunday "populaire" dance, at which many a middle class family took advantage has been banished. These few dried excursions which were so long introduced to fastidious Italians with their own country have been abolished along with half a hundred other things which schedules were hurried to save fuel.

Shippers Oppose Construction Of Cross-State Canal

Shippers of fruit and vegetable products in Florida are opposing the construction of a canal across the state. They fear it will divert business from existing waterways and increase competition from other states. The canal is planned to connect the Gulf of Mexico with the Atlantic Ocean, passing through the heart of the state's agricultural region.

Shippers of possible loss to the fresh fruit and vegetable industry of that state, which is an important factor in supplying food to the nation. Your committee has information regarding the canal which indicates that the cutting into the existing water-bearing system along the contemplated line of the canal will bring great damage to the existing waterways and the industry which depends on them. It is the belief of the shippers that the canal will divert business from existing waterways and increase competition from other states.

Vegetable Shippers Association, with the following request: "We wish to urge your very careful consideration of this matter and that you will not complete the canal until you are satisfied that it will not divert business from existing waterways and increase competition from other states. The shippers of Florida will continue to support the existing waterways and the industry which depends on them. We urge you to take the necessary steps to protect the interests of the shippers of Florida and the nation." (Associated Press Photo)
