PURSE SNATCHER

There were some things he wanted—and he needed money to buy them. What's wrong with that?

Nothing wrong with that. We all want many things that cost money. But most of us learned long ago the difference between earning and stealing. . .this boy hasn't! Oh, he may understand that difference in terms of method. But he doesn't understand it in terms of moral principle.

And even a prison sentence will probably not teach him the truth he could have learned as a child in the Church.

Wise parents, begin immediately to give your children the priceless gift of religious training in the Church!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Wizard Orders Klansmen To Remove Masks

Mask Wearing Forbidden After Shooting Fray With Mayor Of Iron City, Ga.

ATLANTA, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The Ku Klux Klan's chief issued an "imperial edict" against mask-wearing—about 36 hours after south Georgia townsfolk and robed night riders swapped shots.

The order from Dr. Samuel Green, Imperial Wizard, came after the one-armed mayor of Iron City, Ga., and some of his friends opened fire on a Klan motorcade.

To wind up the shooting war, the mayor chased a Klan official into Alabama at a 100-mile per-hour pace and had him jailed.

Dr. Green threatened members of the sheeted order with banishment if they appear "on any street, road or highway wearing a mask or visor."

He said the edict was necessary because certain "unlawful acts" have brought unjust criticism against Klansmen.

The Association of Georgia Klans, which Green heads, has been placed on the subversive list of the U. S. Department of Justice.

Green denied any connection between his organization and the Iron City incident.

The shooting spree started, said Mayor C. L. Drake of Iron City, when 12 or 15 carloads of robed Klansmen rolled into this little southern Georgia hamlet in the dark, early Sunday morning hours.

One unidentified Klansman received a flesh wound, Drake reported none of his fighters was hurt.

The mayor, a Klan foe of long standing, declared "some of the bullets whizzed by within five feet of me" while he hastily scribbled away the table figures with a pen.

Drake said he didn't have a gun but that some of his friends did and they peppered the Klan car with shot gun and pistol fire. The shot gun and pistol fire.

Overskirt In Vogue For Fall Fashions

By FLORENCE MILLS
AP Newsfeatures
PARIS—Overskirts will probably overshadow everything else in the fashion parade next fall, judging by their popularity this summer.

Although midseason fashions shows have yielded nothing spectacularly new, they at least serve to show that the overskirt vogue, started by style-setter Christian Dior this spring, has taken a firm hold in Paris. The vogue is too strong to die quickly.

The rather worn out story of the stole is still being told by some designers. Variations include stoles that are joined onto the bodices of jackets and boleros which are made to do double duty as flying panels and overskirts.

A new jagged finish to neck, sleeve and hem edges and graded notched hems that dip down at the back are being featured in many shows.

Slimmy bra and halter and strapped bodices are frequently topped by youthful little boleros of monkey jackets molded to fit skin tight to the waist.

Waistlines seem to be pulled tighter than ever and most mannequins clearly are continuing to wear waist-restricting corsetry.

Hips are still being accentuated with mammoth size kangaroo pouches. Skirt length continues to be set at a sensible midcalf level by most designers.

Necklines, suited to the summer heat, are generally extremely low cut and edged with wide collars. Many curve down from the neck to underarm, then skim straight across the bust. Another prime favorite is the church spire V shape that dips very low indeed.

Shoulderlines remain rounded generally but tailormade, heavy through pleats and just-below-the-knee pants, sketchy Huckleberry shirts that reach to just above the angle and ski pants made up in linen and cotton for beach and resort wear.

Although black linen and voile have emerged as season's favorites for town and resort wear the color situation is very cheerful.

Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Ingrid Bergman's announcement that she will retire from films has been duplicated in Hollywood history—but not often.

Actors die hard. Stars seldom abandon the silver screen as long as there are people who want to see them. Many movie "retirements" have been involuntary by stars who have made their jobs and would rather quit before they get to the bottom of the ladder.

This is not true of Bergman. In last year's popularity polls, she was still the No. 1 film actress, despite a couple of unsuccessful pictures. If she stays retired, which many people here doubt, she will be passing up a possible salary of $20,000 a week.

A recent example of a film star who just plain tried to quit is the case of Fred Astaire. He is one of the great dancers and acting up new dance routines and quit after "Blue Skies." But a couple of years later he returned to his enthusiasm and is back working harder than ever. He recently said he is "through to the end."

A few stars have retired and made it stick. Gene Rayburn, a rising young actor, quit films to marry a girl named Betty. But her friends doubted that she would stay out of films for good. Spencer Tracy left Betty Davis, $100,000 Miss Bryan would come back. Tracy lost.

Norma Shearer stopped making movies in 1941. She had made a couple of bad films, but she still had a following. But she chose to devote her life to her family.

Alice Faye still has a film to do under her 20th Fox contract, but has turned down scripts for the next few years. Her contract is that she dislikes making movies and prefers being the woman that Harry at home can see on the radio.

Lucy, Garbo, and Greta Garbo took a month off in 1941, but that was largely due to a loss of the European market. About half of the profit from the film came from abroad. She had made about a week's film in Europe.

Barbara Stanwick, who quit after a year of bad luck, returned to the screen after a year of bad luck. She returned to the screen after a year of bad luck.

Hutchins Says U. S. Citizens Avoid Books Judge Rules Children Need More Than Cash

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—Robert M. Hutchins, director of the University of Chicago, said today Americans are "markedly defective" in reading, writing, speaking, and listening.

In an opening address prepared for a meeting of educators who are seeking to evaluate the public library as an American institution, Hutchins said adults need more education in communication of ideas.

"Adults suffer intensely from the great paradox of our time: the trivializations of life," he said. "Adult education is necessary to save them from the suicidal tendencies that boredom eventually produces."

Hutchins declared the nation would be better off if more adults read and pondered books on history, literature, and moral and political philosophy.

An analysis of public library usage presented at the meeting, however, indicated that "only about one-fourth of the adult population reads one or more books a month."

Other library observations noted in the report included:

That persons below voting age accounted for 60 per cent of the circulation of library books.

Two-thirds of library circulation involves fiction.

Recently published books have the highest turnover.

Circulation of the classic is steady but "extremely small."

Few persons use the library card catalogues with any regularity.

Almost nobody asked the library what's worth reading.

Five Percenters

usually five percent of the gross proceeds from the contract.

Earlier two of the housing officials—Benjamin Shulman, special litigation attorney, and William Maher, formerly with the housing agency and now with the Atomic Energy Commission—had testified that "someone connected with politics" had arranged the meeting between representatives of the Tunford Track and housing officials at the expenditure office.

Maher identified three men who came to see them as "Mr. Mori," "Mr. Orlando" and "Mr. Maragon."

Maher did not immediately identify further the three men he named.

The committee has taken secret testimony from John Maragon, a former Kansas City bootblack who once had a White House pass. Maragon also has said he is a good friend of Vaughan.

Shulman and Maher said the trio wanted to get a permit to make repairs at the track although a court already issued an injunction against construction at the racing plant. That was at a time after the war when the use of scarce building materials was sharply restricted.

WILL LUMBER

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—A domestic relations court justice has ruled that a young mother, whose divorced husband has disappeared, need not get a job to support her two small children so long as the grandparents are financially able to do so.

Justice Jacob Panken made public yesterday a decision in which he said:

"Food, clothing and shelter are the primary needs. But children need more than just that. They need care, supervision, guidance, education and some form of recreation. x x x

"In the absence of proof that a mother is inadequate or unfit or incapable of caring for a child, experience shows that the mother is the best nurse.

"To deprive a child of mother love or care is to deprive him of support, the support with which a parent or a grandparent is charged by law."

Justice Panken signed an order requiring the paternal grandfather to contribute $75 a month for the children. The maternal grandmother, who did not appear in the case, has been paying her daughter's rent of $43 a month. The children's father, the judge said, has ignored a court order to pay $40 a week for support of his divorced wife and children. Names of those in the case were not revealed.

Fashion In Granmas Has Radical Change

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—(AP)—The fashion in grandmothers has changed radically, a University of Chicago sociologist says, and he thinks it's for the best.

Prof. Ernest W. Burgess told the university's first institute on problems of old age today "The day when grandmothers accepted a status as old and went to church on Sundays in black dresses and black silk bonnets is gone forever. But older people are frustrated to a greater extent than people in other ages x x x"

Prof. Burgess said the basic yearnings of aged persons are just the same as those of their juniors—primarily for economic, emotional and spiritual security. But, "as a person becomes older he loses by death his spouse and his friends. Many older persons feel pushed aside. Loneliness is prevalent among older persons." He said activities are necessary to compensate for loneliness.

Fooded salads are especially delicious when they have a variety of greens. Use watercress, Boston and iceberg lettuce, romaine, endive, chicory and escarole if they are available.

The word "Almanac" is derived from the ancient Arabian word which meant "the weather" or "It is the universal custom to display the American flag only from sunrise to sunset."
