Belle Glade Branch. Jack Taylor is secretary-treasurer of the firm. Johnson is a graduate of the University of Florida with a degree in agricultural economics. He came to Sanford Naval Air Station as an aviator, and married the former Nell Stewart of Sanford. They have four girls. Johnson was with Chase and Co. for 12 years.

A native of Newark, N. J., DeBruyne has had 30 years experience in produce buying. DeBruyne is well-known by local farmers and shippers, and is a former Chase and Co., and J. C. Hutchison employe. He lives with his wife and family in Belle Glade.

Jack Taylor is a graduate of the University of Florida with a degree in business administration. Taylor majored in marketing. A native of Florida, he has spent seven years in Sanford in fruit and vegetable sales. He served in the Army for four years during World War II. The Taylors have 3 children.

Sanford was chosen by the new firm as the most centrally located spot in the state for distribution. Its location and facilities, according to Johnson, provide both the farmer and broker with the quickest route from farm to retail outlet.

"We've had a very favorable reception," the president told a Herald reporter. "We feel that our past experience well equips us to be of service to Seminole County growers and others in Central Florida."

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI)—Norfolk voters turned out today to say whether they prefer integrated public schools or closed schools.

Neither side would predict the outcome of the referendum in which some observers saw a narrow margin of defeat in store for the proposition.

Half of the city's 49,000 eligible voters were expected to ballot in the straw vote called by City Council to sample public sentiment.

Backers of the proposal made a last minute appeal to servicemen to vote, on the theory that the city's huge military population would favor reopening Norfolk's six integration closed junior and senior high schools, even if racially mixed.

Forecast Rainy Weather Segregationists, against a "four" vote, said rainy weather might cut into the vote against the proposal.

The Weather Bureau called for drizzle and fog with some sunshine in the afternoon.

Falls were opened from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. e.s.t.

No Tax Next Year BARBIT, Minn.—(UPI)—Residents of this northeastern Minnesota community won't have to pay property taxes next year.

The revenue will come instead from the Reserve Mining Co. in the form of tonnage and railroad taxes — about $80,000 worth, enough to take care of the village's needs in 1959.

Building Planned WASHINGTON (UPI)—The National Coal Association, which represents the nation's bituminous coal owners, announced today that it will build a nine-story, one million dollar headquarters office building here, to be completed in 1960.

Prosecution Prods Caril's Memory In Mass Slaying Case

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—The prosecution made another try today at prodding 15-year-old Caril Ann Fugate's memory about details concerning the slaying of 10 persons last winter.

Caril contends her boy friend, Charles Starkweather, 19, forced her to accompany her on his orgy of crime last January. She did so only because he said this would save her life and the lives of her family, who he said were being held "hostage," she said.

She testified in detail Monday about threats she said Starkweather made, and of her helplessness.

The state accuses her of being Starkweather's ready and willing helpmate. In more than two hours of cross examination Caril, a calm and deliberate witness, said she could not remember some of the details County Atty. Elmer Scheele asked her to confirm or deny.

Specifically, Caril is accused of aiding and abetting in the murder of Robert Jensen, 17, last Jan. 27 and if convicted faces the same death penalty that was imposed on Starkweather for the killing.

She remembered that when Starkweather took her from home Jan. 27 he stopped to have his auto serviced at a filling station. But her memory was hazy about whether he took his shotgun with him when he left her alone in the car.

Caril recalled seeing Starkweather shoot and kill August Meyer a short time later, but she was not clear in other events that day when the state claims she had ample opportunity to escape.

She told of how Starkweather bullied Jensen and Miss King after hauling a ride with the couple at night and denied that she told Jensen "if there was any trouble, the girl would get it first." Their bodies were found the next day in an abandoned storm cellar near Meyer's farm.

Cons Stage Strike Over Prison 'Pay'

JACKSON, Mich. (UPI)—A group of rebellious inmates at Southern Michigan Prison were given one last chance to return to work today or face disciplinary action.

Warden William Bannan acted swiftly Monday when some 300 convicts staged a sit-down strike at Southern Michigan, the world's largest walled prison with 3,000 inmates and scene of a bloody riot six years ago.

Bannan ordered all prisoners back to their cells and addressed them over the prison loudspeaker system. There was no violence.

Afterwards, the 300 strikers were told to return to work but refused to comply and stayed in their cells. Bannan said if the restive inmates did not begin work today he would send them to a prison disciplinary court.

The warden blamed the strike on the late distribution of prison "scrip" this month, complaints about food and other matters.

The scrip is the prison money used by convicts to buy goods from the prison commissary. It is paid according to earnings from work in prison industries.

Tower, Film Idol, On Final Journey MADRID (UPI)—The body of Tyrone Power, accompanied by his widow, left here by plane today for California where the film star will be buried Thursday in the Hollywood Memorial Park Cemetery.

The TWA Super Constellation carrying Power's casket, his widow Debbie and longtime friend Bill Gallagher took off from Madrid's Barajas Airport en route to the Arizona and Boston.

The embalmed body was enclosed in a special casket covered in grey canvas and was placed in a compartment aboard the plane.

Power died of a heart attack Saturday while making a picture here.

HEWLETT HARBOR, N. Y. (UPI)—Television actress Sherry Rubin, 19, died Sunday from an internal perforation that, her doctors said, caused peritonitis.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—Funeral services were pending today for Edwin M. Martin, 38, drama editor of the San Diego Union and motion picture editor of Copley News Service. Martin, author of the daily column "Songs of a City," died of stomach cancer Sunday.

Lormann Qualifies For Mayor's Post

LONGWOOD — Allen R. Lormann, local businessman, has announced his candidacy for the office of Mayor. The election will be held Dec. 2.

Lormann, 37, is married and has two daughters and a son attending Lyman School. He has been a resident of Florida for 1 year and holds a Bachelor of Business Science degree from Miami University.

The former Naval aviator still holds his rank of Lieutenant Commander in the Naval Air Reserve. He served in the Pacific during World War II.

Lormann is the founder and general manager of Lormann Food Service Consultants; a partner in the Lormann Construction Co., and owner of the Fire King wholesale and retail tire distributors. He is a member of the Longwood area Chamber of Commerce and the Sanford Elks.

In stating his platform, Lormann said: "It is my desire to give Longwood forceful leadership and a position of respect and dignity within our county; to attract industry which will offer employment to our semi-retired and pensioned citizens; to promote a youth activities program; improve our water system and create a reserve fund for expansion and replacements."

Prisoner Is Killed In Gun Battle At Police Station

HOMESTEAD, Fla. (UPI)—A prisoner with a wounded hostage held the Homestead police station for 90 minutes Monday before police flushed him with tear gas and shot him to death.

The hostage, Ted Beam, a policeman and father of two boys, was shot three times and given only a 50-50 chance to live.

Police Chief F. R. Dewitt broke a bone in his left hand drying the wild melee, a jailer was slugged and two women clerks trapped in the jail with the gunman were treated for shock.

The hour and a half ordeal for Beam started when Robert Shaffer, 26, a Negro jailed Sunday for disorderly conduct, called out from his cell: "I'm sick." Jailer Frank Welch opened the cell door and Shaffer jumped him.

The prisoner wrestled away Welch's club, struck him down with it, and ran toward the front of the building where Beam was sitting at the duty desk.

Shaffer hit Beam from behind and opened a gash in his head.

Thief Confused? MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—The person who swiped the basketball shoes of Tim Buff, Memphis State cage star, is a mighty confused thief. Buff wears a size 10 on his right foot and an 8 1/2 on his left.

The two men grappled for Beam's gun. Shaffer got it and shot Beam in the back. Officers then fired tear gas into the room. Shaffer shot Beam again but staggered into the hallway to escape the blinding tear gas. He was felled there by a shower of bullets.

Dewitt rushed from his nearby office at the sound of the shot and was met by a bullet which creased his skull. Dewitt dived to the floor and broke a bone in his left hand, his gun hand. But he grabbed his revolver with his right hand and fired at Shaffer. The bullet struck Shaffer in the side but failed to stop him as he backed into the fingerprint room, dragging Beam, as a shield. Dewitt telephoned for help. He said the Negro threatened to kill Beam if anyone came after him. Two terrified woman clerks, Mrs. Julia Cato and Mrs. Mary Lou Burnett, barricaded themselves in a front office. They couldn't enter the hall to leave the building without coming in Shaffer's line of fire. They finally were freed by officers who broke a window and pulled them out.

STANDARD OIL

ALWAYS YEARS AHEAD IN PERFORMANCE

CROWN EXTRA

Outperforms premium gasolines costing more!

Crown Extra gasoline, the South's most popular premium gasoline—now at a new high in performance—actually outperforms other premium fuels costing more!

This same advanced refining technique has made Crown and Super Crown Extra finer gasolines, too. One or two tankfuls of either of the three popular Standard Oil gasolines will show you that your best gasoline buy is at the familiar Standard Oil sign.

An advanced refining procedure makes this improved Crown Extra the cleanest premium you can buy. It actually reduces deposits left in your engine, gives more mileage per dollar, and better performance over the whole wide range of gasoline values.

Standard Oil gasolines are refined in the South, to suit Southern driving conditions, and are constantly improved to meet the changing requirements of modern automobile engines.

Church Opposing Christmas Seals

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI)—A spokesman for the Reformed Church asked its congregations today not to buy Christmas seals this year because of the "disgusted Roman Catholic propaganda in the stamp's motif."

The stamps, which show the Virgin and Child, are sold by the National Tuberculosis Association, which insists it is totally interdenominational. The Rev. A. H. Jeffrey James, secretary of the Protestant Association in South Africa, said the stamps had "illegitimately or unwillingly become an instrument for popularizing the Roman Catholic dedication of the Virgin Mary."

Toastmasters Is Unique Organization

Doctor, lawyer, merchant, chief—they all can be found in the Toastmaster's Club, a unique organization that conducts no fund drives, has no big promotions and has no giant project beyond the speech improvement of its members.

The Sanford branch, one of 2,000 Toastmaster Clubs throughout the world, was founded a year ago in Sanford, as in many service towns the membership fluctuates. With a limit of 30 members, anywhere from 10 to 25 men may show up for the weekly dinner meetings at the Mar-Lou Restaurant.

Standard club procedures accomplish the purposes of the Toastmasters through speech practice, speech evaluation and preliminary training. Any man in business and professional life can utilize the ability to speak forcefully. And many can benefit from analytical listening.

A Toastmasters Club meets weekly (Every Wednesday) at 8:30 p. m. in Sanford, for dinner. During the meal, every member has an opportunity to speak. "Table Topic" speeches are a regular feature. The chairman of the week will throw a topic at each member—anything unusual, startling or amusing. The speaker must gather his wits and hold forth on the subject for one minute.

Five-minute prepared speeches later are presented by chosen speakers, then evaluated by club members. The speakers are introduced by the Toastmaster of the evening, who doesn't usually begin with the words, as one Sanford member did: "And now for the worst—I mean the first, speech of the evening!"

There are now 75,000 Toastmasters throughout 30 different countries. This month the club observed its 30th anniversary. More than half a million men have been members during the organization's lifetime.

So there must be something fascinating enough about the club to excuse the actions of a local member who almost mistook being present when his wife had a baby. She called friends and had them take her to the hospital. The resultant speech by the new father has never been used as a table topic, but it must have been a winner.

The Sanford Toastmasters Club is presently headed by Bob Shelden, manager of Southern Bell Telephone Co.

U. S., Reds Plan Manned Vehicles

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Both Russia and the United States are working on manned space vehicles.

The Soviet Union is rumored to be approaching the flight-test stage with a vehicle capable of placing a human crew in orbit around the earth. The satellite is supposed to be designed to return to earth safely.

On June 14, the U. S. Air Force awarded a contract to three major aviation firms—Bell, Martin and Boeing—to develop a "Dyna-Soar" vehicle large enough to carry one or two men. It would be placed in orbit by rockets, and would be capable of gliding back to earth. Target date for flying model is 1963.

ESTHER WILLIAMS TO ESTABLISH DISTRIBUTORSHIP IN SANFORD

1959 Distributor Appointment Program Just Starting

The International Swimming Pool Corporation, world's leading manufacturer of home and motel swimming pools, has just launched the largest new distributor appointment program in the company's history. International is the exclusive manufacturer of the famous Esther Williams Pools and is expanding manufacturing, service and training facilities in order to serve an additional 50 communities.

Backed by the biggest swimming pool publicity and advertising campaign ever announced in the industry, the new distributor appointment program is scheduled to be completed within six weeks.

This market has been selected by International's Marketing Committee for one of the new distributorships. An Esther Williams marketing executive will personally contact with home owners and motel owners and consider applications for the Esther Williams distributorship in this area before being selected.

DISTRIBUTOR QUALIFICATIONS

Good character, a successful business background and a desire to build your own business are the prime qualifications for an Esther Williams distributorship.

The home and motel swimming pool business has become one of America's fastest growing new industries. The Esther Williams Pool is the undisputed leader in this new industry, accounting for 30 to 40% of all the permanent-type pool business.

Industry sales have more than doubled every year for the past three years. Trade experts, however, point out that pool sales have not yet reached boom stage. Sales on a national scale are expected to begin in 1959 and continue for many years to come.

No franchise fee is required of a new Esther Williams distributor. Distributorship is offered with the expectation of making a modest investment in self-liquidating inventory with big profit potential. Construction experience is not a requirement.

ATTENTION HOME OWNERS

If you have an opportunity who is interested in the exclusive Esther Williams distributorship in this area, contact the Division Marketing Manager at the address or telephone in box at right. If your recommendation is appointed, you will be invited to an Esther Williams swimming pool at a home visit.

America's Largest-Selling Family and Motel Pool To Be Available In This Area

Esther Williams, prominent president of International Swimming Pool Corporation and world famous authority on swimming and swimming pools.

why the Esther Williams Pool is outclassing all others by a wide margin.

"First, it's the safest pool with the exclusive safety walk all around, the flat play area and the safety cover. These features give parents peace of mind. Being the mother of three energetic children, I can assure you these wonderful features give me peace of mind."

"Secondly, an Esther Williams Pool is built to last because of the rigid construction standards established by our Engineering Department—poured concrete, steel reinforced throughout and covered with exclusive Perma-Seal Poolskin which eliminates costly painting expenses.

"The third basic reason is that an Esther Williams Pool is complete in every respect for convenience, maximum family fun and the most economical maintenance—everything including filter, underwater light, stainless steel ladder, laminated diving board and louvered doors. There are no hidden extra's to buy."

"And, the fourth reason more people from coast to coast are buying this complete pool than any other is the integrity on the part of Esther Williams distributors to provide the finest possible pool at lowest cost."

The Division Marketing Manager for Esther Williams Pools, MR. JOE NASTAV is in Sanford to consult with home owners interested in home pools and to talk with distributor applicants for this area. For an appointment call Mr. Joe Nastav at the address or number below:

Integration At-A-Glance

By AL KUETNER
United Press International

A group of white parents went into federal court at Norfolk today in an effort to strike down Virginia's "massive resistance" laws and have six padlocked schools reopened.

Hearing of the case by a three-judge panel came on the heels of a special referendum in which Norfolk voters decided by a margin of three to two that they prefer closed schools to integrated ones.

The parents' suit names as defendants Gov. J. Lindsay Almond, State Atty. Gen. Albert S. Harrison and Norfolk school officials. It asks that the segregation laws be ruled unconstitutional and that state officials be enjoined from enforcing them.

May Ask Delay

A test case sponsored by the state is pending before the State Supreme Court and it was thought Harrison would ask a delay in the federal suit until the state court rules. The parents have asked for an immediate decision, however.

The result of Tuesday's referendum in Norfolk was not binding on any other agency. But there were 12,638 votes against a proposal to return six closed schools to local control, and only 8,511 for it.

The Supreme Court was told in Washington Tuesday that the state of Virginia was trying to jail a man for supporting the 1954 decision outlawing segregation. The man was identified as David H. Scull, 43, a printer from Annandale, Va., whose attorneys said he was sentenced to 10 days in jail and fined $50 for refusing to answer the questions of a legislative committee.

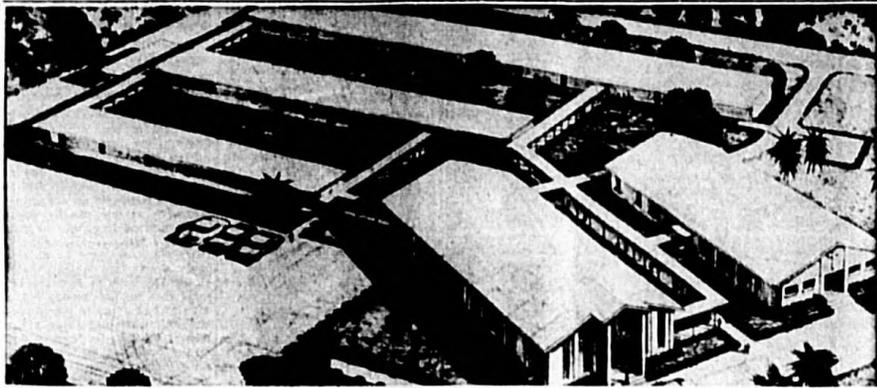

Scull's lawyer, Joseph I. Raub Jr., said the committee held hearings in 1957 for "the clear purpose of resisting integration."

Reuther Blamed

Eugene Connor, police commissioner of Birmingham, Ala., charged Tuesday that Walter Reuther of the United Auto Workers acted as an intermediary in getting a civil rights investigation started in his city.

He said integration leader Martin Luther King persuaded Reuther to ask that Atty. Gen. William Rogers look into the arrest of three Montgomery Negroes accused of helping encourage a bus boycott in Birmingham.

Counsel for five men indicted in connection with a Jewish temple bombing in Atlanta asked a judge to restrain officers from removing the five from their jail cells and from "molesting, harassing and intimidating" them. A show cause hearing is scheduled Monday.

PROPOSED NEW CHURCH—This is an architect's drawing of the proposed Grace Methodist Church, construction of which is scheduled to begin in the near future. The Rev. W. Thomas Parsons Jr., pastor, said the first phase will be construction of a fellowship hall, which will be used for worship services, church school, church offices and other church functions. The first phase of construction is estimated to cost $35,000.

State Agencies Seeking Budget Hikes

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Four more state agencies have climbed on the handwagon in asking for substantial increases in budget appropriations for the coming biennium.

And the trend greater spending—despite the state's current financial difficulties—is expected to continue for the next work or so as remaining state officials submit tardy budget requests. The legal deadline for turning in spending proposals was last Saturday, but the governor and most Cabinet officials have not filed their estimates yet.

Tuesday, budget proposals were turned in by state Treasurer J. Edwin Larson, Secretary of State R. A. Gray, state Auditor Bryan Willis and the Budget Commission itself.

Larson's request was the biggest, $1,620,000, up $620,617.

He said he needed the increase for salary raises for his employees and to pay for higher rental caused by the construction of state branch office buildings in several Florida cities.

Larson, who is also state Insurance Commissioner and Fire Marshal, operates 13 field offices, all of which must be housed in rented quarters. He said office rent alone will cost him $242,536 for the next two years.

But most of the increase will go to pay raises and salaries for new personnel. He proposed a general increase of about $25 a month for each employee.

Willis asked for $1,707,700, an increase of $387,958 for the Auditing Department, including a raise for Willis from $12,000 to $13,000.

Gray's proposed budget of $647,120 is up $100,800 over current spending. It includes $68,670 for salary hikes.

The Budget Commission, which is charged with holding spending down, asked for a small increase of $61,210 for a total of $271,550. It asks no new positions and recommended no salary raise for Budget Director Harry Smith.

Actually, Smith's budget is down $9,600 for his actual appropriation for the current biennium. But it represents $61,210 more than he has actually spent.

Budget hearings will begin Dec. 17 and run for three days, then resume in early January. The Cabinet, which comprises the shuffling away at the money re Budget Commission, will start requests in mid-January.

Even though they are asking for more money for their own offices, the Cabinet officials have indicated they will try to keep the budget that goes in the Legislature within income from anticipated revenue rather than handling in a bulky spending request that would require new taxes.

Romania Threatens To Call Us 'Names'

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Romania has threatened to start calling the United States names if U.S. Ambassador Henry Laboulaye continues to refer to East European nations as Soviet satellites.

Silvia Brucan, Romanian ambassador to Washington, told the U. S. political committee Tuesday.

"If he continues to use this language then he should bear in mind that we can do likewise and that the conquest by force in the last century of Texas and California, of Haiti and Hawaii, of Cuba and Puerto Rico and the Philippines, and more recently in Lebanon and the Formosa Straits, fully and abundantly provides us with a historic background to call the United States names."

1,500 Virginia Students Stage Riot

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (UPI)—More than 20 state, county and city police broke up with tear gas grenades and blouses early today a riot of some 1,500 University of Virginia students demonstrating against new university rules restricting ownership of cars.

The students, in a carefully-planned demonstration, threw beer bottles at the police, burned an old station wagon and pushed the flaming vehicle onto Main Street. Two students were arrested, one for rock throwing and the other for drinking in public, while two others suffered minor burns.

The disturbance was brought under control about 11 p.m. but flared up anew when the students marched on a women's dormitory shouting they were staging a raid, then marched toward the downtown section of Charlottesville.

State police broke up the first outbreak with tear gas grenades and continued its efforts until about 1:30 a.m. before finally stopping it.

The demonstration was against regulations announced in the summer, restricting the use of cars in dormitories and making traffic violators subject to suspension from the school.

Frank Call of Richmond, a football player, told the students at a mass meeting, "If you do this thing right, you have a damn good chance of getting your cars back."

Sudan Is Heading 'Back To Normal'

KHARTOUM, Sudan (UPI)—Premier Ibrahim Abboud, the new strongman who seized power Monday in a coup d'etat, was rapidly leading the Sudan back to normal today.

One of the general's first moves in restoring civil rule was to announce that newspapers banned after Monday's coup would be permitted to resume publication today. They were warned not to speculate on political moves and to issue only officially authorized announcements concerning the government.

Abboud held his first news conference Tuesday night as combined premier and military commander but he refused to spell out the policies of his governing council.

"I'm not a politician," he said. "I have been busy with my military duties and haven't studied these matters."

Abboud said he was unable to give details of his future policy beyond reiterating his broadest statement Monday. The coup was designed to "purify" the government, ensure Sudan's stability and establish good relations with all foreign powers.

Washington Window

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI)—There is a dark pattern of defeat and disaster in the political experience of the Republican politicians who manned the guns which six years ago shot down the presidential ambitions of Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Some of Taft's long-time associates cite the record as evidence of a political curse come true. Some others ponder the thought that the strategy which stopped Taft and obtained the 1952 nomination of Dwight D. Eisenhower may now focus on a new target.

The new target would be Vice President Richard M. Nixon, whose most formidable adversary for the 1960 nomination is likely to be a political unknown as General Eisenhower was a political unknown in 1952. That adversary is, of course, Gov. elect Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

If the Rockefeller managers—the stop-Nixon manipulators—believe in curses, haunts and the political voodoo, they should examine the record of what has happened in some of the Eisenhower man, the stop-Taft strategists of 1952. It has been plenty.

Adams and Others

There was Sherman Adams who master-minded the strategy by which Taft actually was defeated at the 1952 Republican national convention. Adams is gone.

Republican Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey dealt the Taft pre-convention campaign its most deadly blow in his state's presidential primary. Driscoll's Republican state machine was disrupted two years later by Robert H. Meyer, a Democrat who got himself elected governor.

Gov. John S. Fine and, especially, Sen. James H. Duff of Pennsylvania were big names in 1952. They have vanished from the political scene and Pennsylvania elected another Democratic governor this month.

Events caught up with former Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. (R-Mass.) in the election immediately following the 1952 Republican convention. Lodge lost to Sen. John F. Kennedy who may go on to take the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination. Brother John Davis Lodge, another Ike man, lost Connecticut's governorship in 1954.

Beaten at Polls

Others of the 1952 Ike men who had to stop Taft, or else, have since been moved down at the polls: Dan Thornton of Colorado, Douglas McKay of Oregon, Arthur B. Langlie of Washington.

Former Gov. Walter J. Kohler Jr. of Wisconsin ran proudly as an Ike man in 1957 for the late Joseph P. McCarthy's Senate seat. Wisconsin elected its first Democratic senator since 1932.

Sen. William F. Knowland of California backed the late Sen. Taft at the critical moment in the 1952 Republican convention and look what happened to Knowland this month in California.

Sen. Edward J. Thye of Minnesota cast the deciding convention vote in 1952 which rejected Taft and nominated Eisenhower. Minnesota voters this month turned Thye out of the Senate.

Quite a lot in it the old Taft men find some comfort.

Wounded Officer On Critical List

HOMESTEAD (UPI)—Patrolman Ted Beam remained in critical condition today from gunshot and night stick wounds he suffered Monday at the hands of a berserk Negro who escaped from his jail cell.

Beam was on duty in the Homestead Police Station when Robert Shaffer, 26, overcame his jailer and tried to force his way out of the building. Shaffer used the jailer's night stick to club Beam. Then he took the officer's gun and shot him three times.

The crazed prisoner held the injured Beam as hostage for 30 minutes, warning he would kill the policeman if some 100 officers outside tried to come in.

A riot squad firing tear gas rushed the police station and cut down Shaffer with shotgun blasts. A coroner's jury ruled Shaffer's death justifiable homicide.

Shaffer had been jailed Sunday for disorderly conduct.

Physicians gave Beam a 50-50 chance to live.

Lack Of Education Cause Of Trouble

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Sir Leslie Knox Munro, former United Nations General Assembly president, said Tuesday that one of the troubles in both the Near East and Russia is lack of education.

"They (the Russians) do not possess an adequate knowledge of mankind or the world in general," he said. "There is nothing more disturbing than their considering the U.S. a nation of war mongers."

Munro, speaking before the American Friends of the Hebrew University of Jerusalem, said Israel has taken a great step toward peace in offering to compensate Arab refugees who left the young nation.

Munro, former ambassador to the United States from New Zealand, added, however, that Israel should go further and offer to take back some of the refugees who want to settle in Israel.

Test Tube Babies

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Dr. Edmund Parris of Philadelphia's Institute for Parenthood estimates that 20 to 40 thousand of today's children in the U.S. were conceived through artificial insemination.

Man Has Problem Of Kin, In-Laws

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Chief Petty Officer John Ebaugh has in-law problems—but not the ordinary kind.

"I can't tell kinfolks without a score card," the retiring Navy man said Tuesday.

The confusion arose, he said, when his father married his sister-in-law. This made the sister-in-law Ebaugh's stepmother, and his wife his stepmother.

Not only that, his stepmother is both the stepmother and the grandmother, by marriage, of Ebaugh's son.

"The problem is relative," Ebaugh quipped, "once you get the hang of being your own brother-in-law."

Holidays 'Lost'

GREAT NECK, N. Y. (UPI)—The Great Neck school board decided that the educational process was suffering from "too many interruptions" and decreed that from now on classes would be held as usual on Lincoln's Birthday and Columbus Day.

Golfers Coming Again For Mayfair Tourney

Sanford again will be visited by many of golfdom's most famous personalities. Coming here for the annual $15,000 Mayfair Inn PGA Open tournament will be more than 40 of the game's outstanding players.

Among those entering the tournament will be many well-known to Sanford and local golfing enthusiasts. Sanford, in years past, will make these distinguished visitors very welcome.

It is an honor for Sanford to be included on the PGA winter tour, by both men and women. Following the men's PGA tournament in December, the women's top professional will appear in January for a 54-hole tournament.

Competition for winter tournaments is stiff. Many cities would like to have the events scheduled for Sanford in December and January. To assure tournaments each year, we must make the upcoming affairs as successful as possible. Each of us should attempt to make a "goodwill ambassador" of each player in the tournaments.

In their travels to all parts of the U. S., these golfers have many, many opportunities to say a good word in behalf of Sanford. If these golfers like the Mayfair Inn course, they will tell the world. The same can be said for the city. Golfers, like other sports figures, are interviewed frequently. What they say is news. It would be to Sanford's advantage to have them telling the nation that Sanford's hospitality is the finest to be found anywhere.

Mayfair Inn continues to do an outstanding job in bringing these tournaments here. This fact is emphasized by the announcement that Patty Berg, Mickey Wright and others will be here in January. Mayfair hopes to make this an outstanding winter attraction in each year. We hope Mayfair officials succeed.

Reputation Is Saved

Sanford's reputation as the Celery City has been saved, although it appeared to be in considerable danger for a couple of weeks.

A St. Petersburg man, J. A. Rankin, wanted some celery plants. They have been shipped to him. It took two appeals to get his $1.50 worth in the mail, but County Agricultural Agent Cecil Tucker took care of the matter after The Herald ran the second item.

The Herald received several calls the day following the second appeal. Quite a few offered to send the plants to the St. Pete gentleman, free of charge. The county agent is to be commended for his prompt action. We call it prompt, although there was a considerable lapse between the first and second letters to The Herald.

Everyone it seems "just knew that so-and-so would send the plants." When it became evident that everyone was waiting for "George" to do it, celery plant offers became plentiful. This type of public spirit has become increasingly evident in recent projects.

The order wasn't large. But that wasn't the point. The man wanted some celery plants. We feel that whatever the rest of the world wants, Sanford has it. And, as in the case of the $1.50 worth of celery plants, Sanford residents are ready to prove that this is a friendly city, one which stands ready to fill a need—large or small.

News Of Men In Service

CHATEAUX, FRANCE — Master Sergeant Daniel C. Galligan, has recently been assigned to Chateaux Air Station, France, where he has assumed duties as Chief Clerk with the 3130th Air Base Group.

Prior to his assignment at Chateaux, Sergeant Galligan was stationed at Langley Air Force Base, Virginia. A veteran of 11 years' service, he entered the Air Force shortly after graduating from Gadsden High School, Gadsden, Alabama.

Sergeant Galligan is married to the former Miss Elizabeth Whitner, who, along with their two children, Daniel B. and Franklin B., reside at 702 Oak Avenue, Sanford, Florida.

Fred Othman Says

WASHINGTON—In the Democratic party there are professional, or romantic, liberals and there are plain, or working, liberals. The romantic Democratic liberals respond to new and "modern" faces with ecstatic high-mindedness—the newer the face the gladder the ecstasy. The working Democratic liberals have mostly a common view on issues with their more enthusiastic colleagues.

The great difference is that the working liberals are, first of all, simply Democrats. To them, the word "liberal" qualifies but does not supplant the operative word "Democrat." In short, they like their party to win elections. These are what might be called the Harry Truman liberals.

But the romantic Democratic liberals have aims so much more diffuse—and possibly so much more elevated—as to be difficult to define. They will have none of the crude bonds of party; they wish to soar wild and free above all that is commonplace in politics.

These gentlemen—and ladies—are now considerably worrying the more "regular" liberal Democrats and, sadly, worrying all purely organizational Democrats of whatever hue. For these professional liberals are rushing into headlong embrace—more in private than in public, it is true—of the image of the Republican Governor-elect of New York, Nelson Rockefeller, as the properly inevitable President for 1950.

This is being done before Mr. Rockefeller has had a chance to write a line on the first page of his gubernatorial record, even before he has taken his inaugural vows.

All this is not welcome news to the 1950 Democratic Presidential nominee, whoever he may turn out to be—and however liberal for that matter, he may turn out to be. For ostensible Democrats are necessarily weakening the prospective Democratic position for 1950.

There is, in fact, a strong parallel between this "I like Ike" movement among the romantic liberal Democrats and another movement among the same kind of group in 1918. Then, some of these professional Democratic liberals—including a few who were at least supposed to be close to the Truman Administration—began an earnest pursuit of a curious theory. This was that President Truman ought to step aside and more or less force a "new face," Dwight Eisenhower, to take over the Presidential nomination.

Mr. Truman, who is not generally thought to be too conservative, but has nevertheless never quite hidden his distaste for professional liberals, was of course insensitively unwilling to oblige. It was then supposed by the disappointed professional liberals that General Eisenhower was the only authentic and fully respectable liberal in sight.

It is commonly forgotten now, but the chant "I like Ike" arose in this quarter even before it arose among any considerable number of Republicans. It started before Mr. Eisenhower had ever served a day in elective office. It started at a time when very little that was factual—as distinguished from vaguely impressionistic—was known about his public views.

Perhaps it is objective to say that the Eisenhower Administration has not been a notable triumph for the liberals, whatever else it has or has not been. And most of the professional liberals who had cried out in his behalf in 1948 before long were crying out against his Administration with more vehemence, actually, than those Democrats who had fought him all along.

Now, it may well eventually, to the contrary, this time, that Nelson Rockefeller will be the very model of what the romantic liberals really want. This, however, is not inevitable—and not even highly probable. What is certain, however, is that a similar movement of spiritual secession by professional liberals weakened the Truman Administration contributed to what was possibly fated anyhow—Operation Throw-The-Democrats-Out in 1952.

It does not now seem that all this really served the interests of any kind of liberal Democrat. The Republicans, even those not desperate to have Mr. Rockefeller as their 1950 nominee, are watching current professional liberal developments with pleased interest. This is perhaps the one watery ray discernible to them in this, their gloomy November.

In defeat they are practical men, even though they do sometimes seem determined to lose any victory once gained. But the romantic Democratic liberals sometimes seem inconceivable only in some of their victories and exultant only in some of their defeats.

True Thanksgiving

Editor's Note: This is another in a series of articles on Thanksgiving, written by pastors of local churches.

By THE REV. A. C. SUMMERS, First Presbyterian Church, DeBarry SHARING THANKFULNESS WITH OTHERS

Dr. A. A. McGeachy summed up our Messings in an exquisitely beautiful paragraph which he wrote a good many years ago. It reads as follows:

"I am thankful beyond words for what we have. To glorify, the commonplace blessings of life, for life itself and light and health; for the reckless loyalty of a few friends, the kindness of many, the courtesy of more acquaintances. I am thankful for a beautiful world—'For the spray of red berries and for discerning eyes to see its beauty.'" rise against brown leaves, the plaintive tenderness of November days, the soft rays of Indian summer, the daily miracle of an autumn sunset, and the furnace of the western sky. I am thankful for fugitive glimpses of coming glory caught through clouds, or mirrored in the eye of a child. I am thankful for human nature in its tender and compassionate moods, for the unfallen tear, for the sympathy of silence, for strong souls whose presence gives us confidence.

"I am thankful for the quiet, persistent growth of Christ's influence in all the world and in every department of life. Special occasions of thanksgiving arise from special perils that we have escaped. My gratitude is for the Providence that keeps our life serene, and causes our peace to flow like a river."

We can be thankful for this world picture. Our deepest gratitude is for what God has done for us in Christ. When we show kindness, patience, forgiveness and love for others they can see what Christ does with the lives that are given to Him. True thanksgiving issues in thanksgiving. We always want to do something for friends in appreciation for things they do for us.

Surely we want to express our gratitude to Jesus. This kind of "thanksgiving" is our opportunity for expressing gratitude to Him. Jesus said: "Inasmuch as ye have done it to one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

Letter To The Editor

Editor, The Herald:
Wham-Bang!—Here we go again. The good people in the vicinity of Melloville and 20th St. come boiling out of front and back doors—some out of bed, others out of showers, but they come.

They leave bridge games and their favorite TV shows. The occasion—just two more vehicles having a late-date on our corner inasmuch as this usually occurs between 9 and 10 p. m., the good neighbors arrive in all manner of attire—shorts—shirtless—pajamas party dress. They quickly gather at the scene and at first are in a somewhat somber mood, but as soon as they appraise the situation and determine that there are no serious injuries, they settle down to the festivities of the evening.

First they discuss the minutes of the last meeting (usually two or three nights earlier) and soon begin to compare this latest fiasco with former accidents. The questions come thick and fast; who was going which way, who failed to stop, was he parked, who passed the damages, was there any insurance etc.? Then our members compare this with former wrecks at our corner and all come up with "Dear, Dear, isn't this just awful—why doesn't someone do something?"

At this point, the sound of sirens rises above the good-natured jostling of the gathered neighbors and we are joined by police cars, ambulances, wreckers and fire engines. All of this adds to the tension of the occasion and soon another exciting evening is under way.

At this juncture everyone seems to throw caution to the winds—shouting, shouting and milling around the wrecks. The faint voice of authority can be heard above the melee enjoining the good members of the Melloville and 20th. Club to please stand back and away from the wrecked vehicles. As for the drivers—well, they are all but overlooked by the holiday-minded crowd. As a matter of fact, no one is certain who is who, but throw themselves into the spirit of the occasion with abandon.

On every hand, we have people chattering excitedly, children shouting and running in circles and all of the neighborhood dogs barking at any and everything.

At these frequent meetings, we see many apparent strangers only to meet them and learn that they are actually our neighbors on the next corner. Yes, sir, this is a sure fire way to meet the neighbors. Things are really picking up on our corner here at 20th. and Melloville, our club is meeting much more frequently these days. One thing for sure—we are fast becoming experts on the subject of auto wrecks. The quiet night at home is now getting to be the exception to the rule. Jets bother me?—No sir—it's these doggone cars that select our corner to but heads.

Yep, this could all be very amusing, until we stop and suddenly realize that it is entirely POSSIBLE THAT WE COULD BE THE PRINCIPAL ACTORS IN THIS drama a few nights hence. Of course, it wouldn't be our fault, but the other drivers sure are careless.

As is usual with our club, after the wreckers have left towing their tired wrecks and the police have asked all the necessary questions, our members slowly drift away into the darkness and our meeting stands adjourned until a few nights hence—when we again will be called into special session by the clang and bang of two vehicles meeting the hard way.

There is still one unanswered question—when do we get better traffic control on our corner? Sure hope that it doesn't take a death to emphasize this need. After all, this could readily put a damper on the meetings of our Melloville and 20th. St. Club.

The Woman's Angle

By Elizabeth Ashby

When the subdivision of Lochbor was first developed, the promoters built a boat house on one of the lakes as a community project. This boat house is now the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Schirard Jr.

In later years the house for boats became a house for people and eventually came into the possession of the Schirard family. Mrs. Schirard was intrigued with the possibilities of the house and thought the setting ideal for her growing sons. Years of work and planning, additions to the main structure, and extensive remodeling have transformed the house. It takes a great deal of imagination to visualize the two-story structure as it must have appeared in its unique and original form. The house is set back from the road on a wide lot dotted with tall stately pines. Beech colored wood shingles cover the frame and bright brass light fixtures in the weathered appearance.

The interior of the home reflects Mrs. Schirard's excellent taste and fondness for the Colonial era. In several rooms are oil paintings that further accentuate her artistic ability. The living room is constructed of pecky cypress. A fireplace surrounded by bookshelves and a very low ceiling add charm. Immediately to the left of the living room is a guest room. This room is decorated in an Early American theme with pecky cypress walls and ceiling enhanced by white wainscoting.

Walking into the dining room one notices immediately the lovely view from the bay window that overlooks the lake. Window seats are situated beneath the bay window, which is flanked by two smaller windows. Clear cypress wainscoting and printed wallpaper complement a boxed beam ceiling of cypress.

The entire home reflects the likes of those who live there. Mrs. Schirard's pride and first love is the kitchen which was remodeled just two years ago. The split-level floor is covered with ceramic tile. One corner of the room is closed off with cabinets topped with bright yellow formica. These cabinets feature a built-in stove and mixer. Another corner of the room holds a hutch table of pine with captain's chairs. The cushion in the chairs are covered with a gay print that matches the curtains at the windows and doors. A wall refrigerator is another attractive convenience. An elevated corner fireplace built of brick dominates the kitchen. The mantle fashioned of beechwood came from the home of Mrs. Schirard's great-grandmother in Virginia. Walls of knotty red cedar add warmth to the room. This is the focal point for family and friends downstairs.

On the upper floor the family gathers in a room that overlooks the lake. It is a pleasant room with windows set in three walls. The bedrooms reflect the attractive decor of the downstairs. Mrs. Schirard was born in Virginia not far from Williamsburg. She attended William and Mary College, graduating from the State Teachers College. She met her husband in Blowing Rock, N. C., while spending the summer there with her family. And incidentally she comes from a family of seven children. After their marriage, the Schirards came to Sanford. They will celebrate their silver wedding anniversary in January.

Mr. Schirard has a law degree from the University of Florida but is the sales manager for the Patrick Truck Corporation. The oldest son, Jack, also graduated from the University of Florida. He lives across the street from his parents with his wife, Hope, and his daughter, Susan. Another son, Brantley, is a sophomore at the University. Duke, the youngest boy, is a senior at Seminole High School.

Mrs. Schirard's life is built around her home and family. She is justly proud of her three sons, sharing their love for sports and the outdoors. Through the years her participation in local clubs has resulted mainly in work with children. She was an active member of the Golf Association, the Woman's Club, and the Garden Club. She is a member of the First Methodist Church and a past president of her Sunday School class. She is also a pink lady.

At present, Mrs. Schirard is hard at work during her second year as president of the Seminole High School PTA. Her home has been the scene of many class parties. She gave a graduation party for her son Jack's class and then again for Brantley's class when he graduated. The lake has held countless swimmers. A boat and skis are part of the family equipment. A long porch across the back of the house is equipped with a grill used on numerous occasions for barbecuing.

Mrs. Schirard loves to cook, especially for hungry boys. She likes to prepare family meals and party foods. She's also an old hand at cooking turkeys, ducks, and other game her family bags. In the first years of her marriage she frequently went duck hunting with her husband. She is an enthusiastic football fan and attends all the high school and college games in this area.

One can safely assume that the Schirard home will echo with the sounds of sons and grandsons and granddaughters in the years to come. And Mrs. Schirard will bustle happily in the center of crowds, her warm brown eyes twinkling and her capable hands busy.

Japanese Isle Offers Sukiyaki

The art of Oriental cooking is becoming a popular here in the United States as some of the more famous Italian dishes. Soy sauce, green onions, mushrooms, water chestnuts and bamboo shoots are staple ingredients found in an Oriental kitchen.

Some of us may never see the island of Japan, but that doesn't keep us from becoming familiar with their customs, philosophy or food likes.

Sukiyaki is a popular dish of Japanese origin which has become a favorite here in the States. Here each year opportunity to use sirloin steak in a manner other than just broiling. Home economist Reba Stages, because of her knowledge of meat and meat cookery, emphasizes that the sirloin steak be cut just 1/2 inch thick. This dish is cooked all in one pan. Give this recipe a try. You'll like it. To add atmosphere, you might like to let your family or guests see how adept they are in the use of chop sticks.

Sukiyaki

- 2 pounds sirloin steak, cut 1/2 inch thick
- 1/2 cup lard or drippings
- 1 beef bouillon cube
- 1/2 cup hot water
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1/2 cup soy sauce
- 2 bunches green onions, sliced and cut in 1-inch pieces
- 6 cups uncooked spinach, coarsely chopped
- 1 cup mushrooms, sliced in half
- 1 can (8 ounces) bamboo shoots
- 3 cups cooked rice

Cut steak into 1/8-inch thick strips. Cook meat in lard in frying pan only until meat changes color. Push meat to one side of frying pan. Combine bouillon cube, water, sugar and soy sauce in frying pan. Add vegetables, keeping each separate. Cook slowly 15 minutes. Serve at once with rice as accompaniment. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Today's Diet Fat Is Quite Different

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UPI) — Diet-conscious Americans eat the same amount of fat as 20 years ago. But now the fat is different and comes from different foods.

A recent agriculture department study showed that last year, for all our low-calorie foods, we ate 45 pounds of food fats and oils per person, the same amount as from 1933 to 1939.

A University of Illinois foods specialist, Geraldine Acker, quoting from the survey, said that today's average diet contains more margarine, cooking and salad oils, and more mayonnaise and salad dressings than in meals in the 1930s.

Today's consumer gets much more soybean oil in food, plus a little more edible beef fat, corn, olive and peanut oils.

The biggest change is the increased use of soybean oil, mainly since 1942. This oil now accounts for one-third of the total food fats and oils consumed by Americans, Miss Acker pointed out.

On the other hand, the average American eats less milk fat (butter), less pork fat (lard), and less cottonseed oil.

Kitchen Decor Told

How do the experts account for the extensive preference for kitchen cabinets of wood, the kind used in about nine out of every 10 new homes and remodeled kitchens?

1. Wood is strong. Its strength is more than adequate to provide the necessary rigidity and to support the weight loads imposed on it in cabinet use.
2. It is comparatively light in weight and possesses a high degree of workability. The latter quality is particularly valuable in a cabinet material since it permits flexibility of design and contributes to easy installation.
3. Wood is a good insulator of heat and electricity. It remains comfortable to the touch under varying temperatures and does not transmit electrical shocks.
4. Wood absorbs vibrations better than do most other materials.
5. It holds paints and finishes well. It is so susceptible to chipping of finish as are some materials.
6. Particularly in the more popular cabinet species, wood is inherently beautiful. It offers an infinite variety of lovely grain patterns which lend glamor and distinctiveness to a kitchen.
7. It has a long history of appeal to users. Since the dawn of civilization, wood has been appreciated for its natural beauty. Its note of warmth and friendliness which cannot be duplicated in man-made materials.
8. It is resistant to corrosion.
9. It is easy to repair and refinish. Even the inexperienced homeowner, with a little direction, often can achieve excellent results in these operations.

Seminole Glee Club To Present Program

"The American Showcase" will be presented by the Seminole High School Glee Club Thursday, Nov. 20, at 7:30 p. m. in the Pincrest school auditorium.

Seminoles Seek Crown Friday

By Jerry Covington
The leading Sanford Seminoles have been put through stiff drills this week in an effort to be ready for Lakewood of Winter Garden Friday night.

The contest has the championship riding on the outcome. If the Seminoles are successful, they will at least clinch a tie with Apopka. However, the Darlers must face Winter Park in their final contest and it looks as though the Wildcats have the upper hand with speedster John Jane back in the lineup.

This promise to be one of the best of the season for the Seminoles from the championship, one of the great things about sports.

After such a shaky start last week against Napoleon, Mr. Smyrns, Coach Jim Pigot and Dave Landrum have been pouring on the coal in an effort to shake the fluff in the basically great Seminoles attack. Although the Seminoles looked weak at moments last Friday, they finally retained their natural form and rolled over the Barracudas without much trouble.

The biggest boost that the offense has received this week is the coming of fullback Harold Stone, who has been running hard all season but hasn't been able to have a top-notch performance.

Here's Problem, Armchair Coach, For You To Solve

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — Here's a problem for armchair football coaches: You are nearing the end of your first season as head coach at a certain school, your team has just lost two games by depressing scores of 21-0 and 33-0, and even the best freshman on the campus knows that your squad is a 19-0 point underdog when it meets the team that is leading the league.

Question: How do you make your players forget those shellacking and get set up for an upset?

Coach Jim Myers of Texas A&M solved that riddle with spectacular success Saturday when his five-time-beaten Aggies rose up to riddle Rice, 28-21, and knock the Owls out of first place in the Southwest Conference and possibly out of a bowl berth. That's why today he's being honored by United Press International as "Coach of the Week."

"The boys really felt bad about those two losses to Arkansas and SMU," explained Myers. "We had so many injured I couldn't take a chance on anyone else getting hurt, so we just had light workouts during the week. But I could tell it was a different team than it had been before this season—the boys were very spirited and worked up and ready for the game."

On the day of the game, Myers kept the squad in the dressing room until 10 minutes before the kickoff while their penitents sprinted toward the explosion point. Then he sent them roaring out to the field, ready to roll.

Air Force Ready To Play In Bowl

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI) — The Air Force Academy says it is willing and ready to go to a post-season football bowl game.

All that's needed, said George Simler, academy athletic director, is a formal bid and the approval of Air Force officials in Washington.

"We have already agreed that we will consider any and all bowl bids that are preferred," Simler said.

"But we won't make any kind of decision until the season is over," the athletic director explained. "We have two tough games ahead of us yet."

The Falcons, undefeated and tied only by Iowa, 13-13, face New Mexico on Saturday and Colorado University on Nov. 29.

The Cadets have been mentioned as candidates for bids to the Sugar, Colton, Orange and Gator bowls.

Florida Conducts Rugged Scrimmage

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — The Florida Gators conducted a rugged defensive scrimmage Tuesday against the "I" formation plays of Florida State and were expected to do more of the same today.

The variety had little trouble stopping the offense of the fourth and fifth teams running FSU plays.

Coach Bob Woodruff is holding practice under wraps this week in an effort to come up with a few surprises against the Seminoles.

Woodruff was not directly connected with the Seminoles, including the group, it being barred from practice.

Conference Opens

NEW YORK (UPI) — The nation's leading harness racing officials open a three-day rules conference today in the New York Commission offices.

ence. All of that changed last week. The big bruiser finally has come into his own and should be one of the major factors in the Seminoles offense from here on.

He now has a big margin in the ground-gaining department with a total of 280 yards. He should be in top form for this one and Lakewood can expect to see a lot of him Friday night.

The passing attack of the Seminoles probably can be rated as one of the best in high school. There are no figures to base this on, but when any ball club, college or otherwise, can complete about 70 per cent of its passes, that is considered phenomenal.

Ends Gerald Jones and Alan Swaim can be rated as the best receivers in this conference and several others. Both boys played fine ball last season but their records thus far are something to make folks sit up and take notice. It is this writer's opinion that they both should be strong contenders for All-Conference honors at the end of the season.

On the throwing end of the pigskin, the Seminoles have one of the best. Little Cecil Dandridge has to protect his small frame by favoring the sidelines when tacklers approach because the team lost its other quarterbacks, John Altred, due to injuries. He is a great little playmaker and passer and has one of the best records in the state.

In addition to his passing, he has completed enough yardage on the option play to be second only to Stone in this department. He, too, is in direct line for OBC honors. He has already received All-Conference honors in basketball and football, and he has a chance to pull in all three honors in one year.

When praising individuals, there is no doubt that co-captain David Stanley is everybody's choice. He has been the big gun for his second year in a row and the remarkable thing about this lad is that he is a lineman and is still the number one choice.

His great line crashing feats, and his lightning fast alertness has made him one of the best prep players in the state. The college that is fortunate enough to secure his services will have a player that will be heard from a lot throughout his career. He has been looked over by such schools as Army, FSU, Florida and Duke. There probably will be others before the curtain goes down this season.

Another strong contender for OBC honors is halfback Vernon Kirk. Kirk, like the entire ball team this season, had a rather shaky start, but since finding the secret, has become the biggest point threat in the Seminoles backfield.

He is a fine pass receiver, as well as a great runner. He has been especially effective against conference competition. He has been nothing short of great in the line of backfield. He is the leading scorer for the Seminoles with 20 points and is the only member of the squad that has returned a punt all the way this season. He took a kick 70 yards against Leesburg in a conference tilt. He also has a top form to put quite a show here Friday night.

Lakeview, although the record shows somewhat differently, is a strong ball club and will be here to upset the Seminoles They have great potential and it should prove to be one of the best games this season.

This will be "Dad's Night" and the Seminoles will play in honor of all their parents, who will have sidelines view. The SIS and the Lakeview bands will be on hand to bring in the halftime show. A capricious crowd is expected for this important contest.

Top Teams Are Favored To Take Saturday Games

NEW YORK (UPI)—Louisiana State, Auburn and Oklahoma are heavy favorites to extend their assorted streaks in Saturday's major college football games.

The oddsmakers made top-ranked LSU a 16-point favorite to defeat Tulane and end the season with a perfect record while third-ranked Auburn was an 18-point favorite to run its unbeaten string to 22 games at the expense of Wake Forest.

Oklahoma, ranked fourth nationally, once again was the biggest favorite in this week's "line." The Sooners were picked to wallop Nebraska by at least 32 points and clinch their 12th straight undisputed Big Eight conference championship.

Four games were rated toss-ups, including the key Southwest Conference clash between Rice and eighth-ranked Texas Christian, and Ivy League showdown between Dartmouth and Princeton. The other "pick 'em" games are Kentucky vs. Tennessee and Northwestern vs. Illinois.

Sixth-ranked Iowa, the Big Ten champion, was listed as a six-point chance over Notre Dame in the nationally-televised game-off.

The remaining members of the UPI top 10 were picked to win by at least two touchdowns. Fifth-ranked Purdue was 15 over Indiana, and ninth-ranked Ohio State was 14 over Michigan.

No odds were being quoted on the game between the 10th-ranked Air Force Academy and New Mexico. Second-ranked Army will rest this week for its climactic meeting with Navy Nov. 29.

Here are the point spreads on other leading Saturday games:

INTERSECTIONAL: Clemson 7 over Boston College at Clemson, S.C.; Holy Cross 17 over Marquette at Worcester, Mass.

EAST: Syracuse 8 over West Virginia, Boston University 12 over Connecticut, Harvard 12 over Yale, Rutgers 18 over Columbia.

MIDWEST: Missouri 7 over Kansas, Michigan State 14 over Kansas State.

SOUTH: North Carolina 8 over Duke, Florida 7 over Virginia State, Maryland 10 over Virginia, South Carolina 10 over North Carolina State.

SOUTHWEST: Arkansas 10 over Texas Tech, Southern Methodist 12 over Baylor, Arizona State 8 over Arizona.

ROCKIES: Brigham Young 6 over Wyoming, Colorado 15 over Colorado State.

PACIFIC COAST: California 12 over Stanford, Oregon State 6 over Oregon, Southern California 7 over UCLA, Washington State 8 over Washington.

NCAA Certifies Eleven Bowl Games

NEW YORK (UPI) — Eleven post-season football bowl games were approved today by the National Collegiate Athletic Association, which also predicted that the number of bowl games may soon reach a new high for recent years.

The 11 games "certified" for this season have been found to be complying with NCAA regulations on post-season games and certification means that NCAA members will be allowed to play in them.

These are:

- Nov. 22 Mineral Water Bowl at Excelsior Springs, Mo.
- Nov. 27 Citricado Bowl at Escondido, Calif.
- Dec. 13 Blue Grass Bowl at Louisville, Ky.
- Dec. 27 Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla.
- Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla.
- Dec. 31 Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex.
- Jan. 1 Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif. Colton Bowl at Dallas, Tex. Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla. Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, La. Prairie View Bowl at Prairie View, Tex.

The NCAA also announced that a Liberty Bowl game in Philadelphia has been certified for the 1959 season.

And applications for four other post-season games will be considered by the Extra Events Committee of the NCAA at the NCAA convention in Cincinnati, Jan. 7-9.

An NCAA spokesman identified the cities involved as Houston, Memphis, Charleston, Mo., and Baton Rouge.

The 11 games now being played comprise the highest total since the NCAA clamped regulations on bowl participation eight years ago. Before that clamp-down as many as 31 different post-season games were played annually.

Seminoles Close Gates To Practice

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Florida State Coach Tom Nugent closed the gates to the practice field again today as the Seminoles worked on a "secret" offensive weapon to be used against Florida Saturday.

Nugent indicated Tuesday that he is working on some surprise strategy to use against the Gators. He ran the team through heavy drills, apparently concentrating on polishing up the FSU offense.

The coach said starting guard Jerry Graham has a 50-50 chance of dressing for the Florida game. Runners end Bob Kavanaugh of Miami and tackle Dan Strickland are definitely out of the contest due to injuries.

Schoendienst Has Biggest Fight Of His Career Ahead

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Second baseman Red Schoendienst, an "important guy" with the Milwaukee Braves, faced the toughest battle of his baseball career today—overcoming tuberculosis, a disease that probably will keep him from the diamond next season.

Schoendienst, a 33-year-old baseball veteran, was plagued with colds and soreness in his chest throughout the 1958 season and it was confirmed Tuesday night he is suffering from tuberculosis, a malady which strikes without discrimination.

Although his doctors, teammates, friends and bosses were confident the Braves "little general" will make a successful recovery from tuberculosis, the possibility was raised that being off the playing field for perhaps a year or more might make it very hard for Schoendienst to make a comeback as a player.

Expected Full Recovery

"It is quite likely that he might not play next year," said Dr. Raymond Martin, who has been attending Schoendienst at St. Louis' Mount St. Rose Tubercular Hospital since Nov. 12. "But we are optimistic about his full recovery."

Stan Musial, the Cardinal great who roomed with Schoendienst for 17 years on St. Louis trips, summed up the sentiment among ball players for Schoendienst.

"He'll battle back," said Musial. "As far as baseball is concerned, I guess that's up to the doctors and Red. And Red doesn't give up easily."

Catcher Del Crandall, the team captain of the Braves, said "Red is an important guy with our club and I know how important baseball is in his life. If he gets out of this and even if he can't play ball again but has his health, that's the most important thing."

Starting pitcher Hank Sawyer and ball handling for 20 minutes in a drizzling rain. The LSU freshman also hit one 430 yards at Tucson and has driven the green on a 500-yard hole at San Antonio.

Bob saw me playing in an amateur tournament at Lake Tahoe, Calif., says gigantic George. "A friend of mine invited me to the Ingleswood City Championship and he asked me to play in the Celebrity Tournament in Washington, D. C., in 1951."

"I was leading the Ingleswood tournament by three or four shots to bring the play but I went to Washington anyway."

Since then, George has been quite a celebrity himself. After starting for four years as tackle at the University of Washington, George was given a bonus for signing with the Washington Redskins of the National Football League.

"I hurt my knee in pre-season practice and didn't play much in the first three games so I asked for, and got, my release."

"What would I have got out of that? The human body is certainly wouldn't have made the contacts in football I have in golf."

Longest drive George ever hit was in Sydney, Australia, in the fall of 1956. There he hit one about 300 yards. "I had only a flip wedge left, the human body recalls. The hole measured 589 yards."

Bayer points out that the fair way was as hard as concrete, much of the hole ran downhill and he had a favoring wind. "And I used the small (British) ball, too," he chuckles.

George's longest drive in the United States was probably the one that struck a friend of his on the second bounce at Las Vegas in 1953.

George Bayer 'Gives His All' To Golf

(Editor's Note: This is another in a series of stories on the outstanding golfers who will take part in the Mayfair Inv PGA Open in Sanford, Dec. 9-11.)

George Bayer's tournament winnings don't begin to tell the story of if the West Coast star's earnings ability.

For example, thanks mainly to exhibitions and his contract with the McGregor Co., George earned approximately $30,000 per year in 1956, 1957 and 1958. His prize money in his best year, 1957, was about $22,000.

Because he is the longest hitter in the world, 6-5 George is always in demand for exhibitions. Chances are he gives more than any other player on the tour.

After a great year in 1957 when he won the Canadian Open and placed second four times, 240-pound George hit a slump in 1958 but still won about $17,000.

His top 1958 efforts were a third-place finish in the Canadian Open in Canada and a fourth-place tie for fourth in the Azalea Open in Wilmington, N. C. for fifth in the Insurance City Open, and for ninth at the Eastern Open.

Bayer attributed his failure to do better to poor driving.

"I became so afraid of hooking," he explained, "I started hitting everything to the right."

George's driving became so bad he failed to dominate driving contests for the first time in his professional career. His difficulty was that he couldn't keep his drives in play.

One phase of play in which Bayer made progress in 1958 was putting. "Generally, my putting held up very well," he says.

Sonny Giles Voted Week's Top Back

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — Florida fullback Sonny Giles, who gained 129 yards in six carries against Arkansas State, was voted back of the week today by the Florida Sports Writers Assn.

One of Giles' six carries was a 54-yard sprint for a touchdown.

Giles is a 195-pound sophomore from Jacksonville.

Another Florida football player, reserve end Perry McNeill, was named lineman of the week for his part in the 51-7 rout of Arkansas.

George Bayer 'Gives His All' To Golf

Editor's Note: This is another in a series of stories on the outstanding golfers who will take part in the Mayfair Inv PGA Open in Sanford, Dec. 9-11.)

George Bayer doesn't conscientiously strive to maintain his reputation as golf's biggest hitter. "If there's one thing that irritates me," says George, "it's for someone to come up to me during a round and say, 'let's see you really belt one.'"

"That's not what puts money in my pocket."

Bayer maintains the hardest thing to learn in golf is self-discipline. "When you miss a four-footer," he points out, "you must learn not to let it upset you the rest of the round. You must accept the fact that such things are going to happen."

Thinking, in Bayer's opinion, is "60 per cent of golf."

As a caddy in Washington, George was no better than a fair golfer. He was a fine semi-pro basketball player, averaging about 20 points a game, and a stand-out footballer and baseball pitcher as well.

As a car salesman, George was no slouch either, pulling down a salary of about $12,000 per year.

Green Wave Finds LSU Plays Tough

United Press International
The Tulane Green Wave found Tuesday that even just scrimmaging against Louisiana State plays can be rough.

The Greencies' third unit played the part of the Tigers against the first and second units in a full scrimmage. Earlier, the backs worked on pass defense and the line ran offensive and defensive plays.

In Baton Rouge, the Tigers man ran Tulane plays against the defensive units.

Odds-makers have installed LSU as a 14-point choice over Tulane for a perfect season record.

Schoendienst Has Biggest Fight Of His Career Ahead

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Second baseman Red Schoendienst, an "important guy" with the Milwaukee Braves, faced the toughest battle of his baseball career today—overcoming tuberculosis, a disease that probably will keep him from the diamond next season.

Schoendienst, a 33-year-old baseball veteran, was plagued with colds and soreness in his chest throughout the 1958 season and it was confirmed Tuesday night he is suffering from tuberculosis, a malady which strikes without discrimination.

Although his doctors, teammates, friends and bosses were confident the Braves "little general" will make a successful recovery from tuberculosis, the possibility was raised that being off the playing field for perhaps a year or more might make it very hard for Schoendienst to make a comeback as a player.

Expected Full Recovery

"It is quite likely that he might not play next year," said Dr. Raymond Martin, who has been attending Schoendienst at St. Louis' Mount St. Rose Tubercular Hospital since Nov. 12. "But we are optimistic about his full recovery."

Stan Musial, the Cardinal great who roomed with Schoendienst for 17 years on St. Louis trips, summed up the sentiment among ball players for Schoendienst.

"He'll battle back," said Musial. "As far as baseball is concerned, I guess that's up to the doctors and Red. And Red doesn't give up easily."

Catcher Del Crandall, the team captain of the Braves, said "Red is an important guy with our club and I know how important baseball is in his life. If he gets out of this and even if he can't play ball again but has his health, that's the most important thing."

Starting pitcher Hank Sawyer and ball handling for 20 minutes in a drizzling rain. The LSU freshman also hit one 430 yards at Tucson and has driven the green on a 500-yard hole at San Antonio.

Bob saw me playing in an amateur tournament at Lake Tahoe, Calif., says gigantic George. "A friend of mine invited me to the Ingleswood City Championship and he asked me to play in the Celebrity Tournament in Washington, D. C., in 1951."

"I was leading the Ingleswood tournament by three or four shots to bring the play but I went to Washington anyway."

Since then, George has been quite a celebrity himself. After starting for four years as tackle at the University of Washington, George was given a bonus for signing with the Washington Redskins of the National Football League.

"I hurt my knee in pre-season practice and didn't play much in the first three games so I asked for, and got, my release."

"What would I have got out of that? The human body is certainly wouldn't have made the contacts in football I have in golf."

Longest drive George ever hit was in Sydney, Australia, in the fall of 1956. There he hit one about 300 yards. "I had only a flip wedge left, the human body recalls. The hole measured 589 yards."

Bayer points out that the fair way was as hard as concrete, much of the hole ran downhill and he had a favoring wind. "And I used the small (British) ball, too," he chuckles.

George's longest drive in the United States was probably the one that struck a friend of his on the second bounce at Las Vegas in 1953.

Gator Bowl Eyes Two Independents

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—Mississippi Southern and Florida State emerged today as strong candidates for the Dec. 27 Gator Bowl game.

Sam Wolfson, chairman of the Gator Bowl selection committee, said the Gator Bowl was keeping an eye on these two strong independents instead of Rice and Southern Methodist of the Southwest Conference.

Mississippi Southern, with a perfect record in eight games, is ranked in the United Press International small college ratings.

Wolfson said the Southerners gained prominence after successive victories over North Carolina State, 26-14, and Virginia Tech, 41-0. "Their last two games warranted putting them on the list," he added.

Wolfson said Florida State (7-2) was impressive in wins over Wake Forest, Miami and Tennessee, and "definitely is in the picture if you can beat Florida this Saturday."

Hurricanes Stage Light Workouts

CORAL GABLES (UPI) — The University of Miami Hurricanes face a light workout today in an effort to prevent any more key injuries prior to their game against Houston in the Orange Bowl Friday night.

Starting right tackle Gary Graves suffered a bruised shoulder in Monday's scrimmage and definitely will not play against Houston. Trainers placed his arm in a sling Tuesday when it failed to improve.

But starting quarterback Bonnie Yarbrough reported some improvement with his shoulder injury Tuesday and went to practice in shorts. He will see limited action against Houston.

Replacing Yarbrough will be Fran Curci.

Signs For North

MIAMI (UPI) — End Dave Kocourek, University of Wisconsin captain, today became the first player to sign for the annual North-South college all-star charity football game in the Orange Bowl, Dec. 27. Kocourek will play for the North.

Kentucky also worked in the rain Tuesday, and reported that tackle George Boone and center Dick Blocker probably would be ready to go against Tennessee. Both had been out several weeks with injuries.

The Vols worked hard too, hoping to recapture the beer barrel that has gone to the winner of this game for the past 33 years. The barrel has been in Wildcat hands since last fall.

The Florida Gators held a rough defensive scrimmage against the I formation used by Florida State. The quarterbacks worked to improving their throwing accuracy.

Halfback Tommy Lorino was back in harness at Auburn today and coaches said he would be ready to go against Wake Forest Saturday. The Plainsmen held a full-scale workout Tuesday.

Vanderbilt, whose next game is with Tennessee Nov. 29, worked in the mud against single-wing plays. Starting players honed up on pass defense and line play.

Mississippi and Mississippi State held indoor strategy sessions as rain hit the state. The teams are idle this Saturday and play each other Nov. 29 to end their schedules.

Driver Overlooked Important Factor

WATERTOWN, N. Y. (UPI)
—A motorist found asleep in his station wagon by military guards making the rounds at Camp Drum said he had been driving continuously for 18 hours and had pulled off the road for a rest.

Why did the guards turn him toward the road? he was heading for Lake George, N. Y., from Tewksbury, Mass. — a trip that normally takes about five hours.

'Holiday Arrangements' Topic Of Club

Mrs. T. E. Triplett of Orlando, addressed the monthly meeting of the Oviedo Woman's club, Friday, under the theme "Holiday Arrangements." She demonstrated her talk by making arrangements, stressing the importance of using small containers especially for holiday seasons when decorations will be needed for a long period of time. Thanksgiving decorations were artistically featured throughout the room.

A mantle arrangement consisting of Puritan maiden and man, complete with turkey, flanked by fall foliage and fruit attracted much attention. Bookcase and plant decorations were also featured.

and arrangements of Manderin had with small figurines of Puritans showing through, completed the room display.

A basket of pink and white gardenias formed the centerpiece for the president's table. Pumpkins, fruit and red and golden corn graced each table which also had tracery of fall leaves running lengthwise.

A delicious luncheon of turkey, dressing, cranberries, broccoli and pumpkin pie was served to the members and guests by Mrs. James E. Brookshire, Mrs. Roy Britt, Mrs. B. F. Wheeler Sr., Mrs. T. W. Lawton, Mrs. E. M. Olliff, Mrs. Joe R. Battle and Mrs. E. L. Luttrell.

The business session, presided over by Mrs. R. W. Estes, president, included the reading of the minutes and a treasury report. A report also was presented.

Members voted on and accepted for membership the candidates Mrs. Bob Ragsdale and Mrs. Dora Daniel.

A birthday card was passed for all members to sign which will be sent to Mrs. Kathryn Partin who has had a lengthy illness.

Announcement was made that the Community Sing will be held this year at the First Methodist church, Sunday night, Dec. 7, at 7:30. A social hour will be held following the singing. Those who wish to participate by donating refreshments may leave them at the home of Mrs. Milton Gore, Saturday, Dec. 6. Punch will be furnished by the woman's club.

The deadline for payment of dues was set for December.

The United Drive, usually held at this time, will be conducted during the month of February, 1959.

Attention of the members was called to the meeting of the Seminole County Federation meeting Thursday, Nov. 20, at the Oviedo clubhouse at 10 a. m.

Volunteer workers composing the special committee in charge of arrangements for this meeting include Mrs. Jim Staley, Mrs. E. M. Olliff, Mrs. B. G. Smith, Mrs. W. G. Wietmon, Mrs. Joe Battle, Mrs. Lynn Mosier and Mrs. James Wilson. This committee will provide a beverage for the meeting but those attending are requested to bring a covered dish for lunch.

Members were told that the Seminole Unit of American Council Society is seeking a representative in the Oviedo area and those interested were asked to contact Mrs. Annie L. Carter.

The next meeting will be held at the City Hall Memorial building.

Forty-three members and guests were dismissed by prayer at the close of the meeting.

Class Plays Presented
 The Junior Class emerged victorious Friday night in the annual One-Act-Play night, better known as "Stunt Night." Judges were Mrs. Charles G. Shaffer, Mrs. W. T. Walker and A. B. Tedford.

Best actor and best actress awards went to members of the eleventh grade cast.

"No Time For Skirts" was the title of the play presented by the Juniors, under the direction of A. J. Cooksey, class sponsor. Others supporting the winning actress and actor included: Linda Miller, Mike Duda, Benne Wainright, June Fleming, Pat Jackson, Sylvia Clark, Marlene Bellhorn, Ronnie Willis, Raddy Williams, Pauline Howell and Johnny Testnik.

The Senior Class, under the supervision of Professor Paul Mikler, presented an hilarious comedy, "An Apple For Teacher." This was full of action and drew much laughter from the audience as it portrayed a typical traditional classroom of students displaying antics of the misbehaved, even to the class dance.

Senior players were: Mary Ann

Slayton, Joseph Duda, Margaret Aradi, Sandra Chambers, Katherine Mikler, Paul Smith, Ann Lundy, Nellie Beasley, Priscilla Tuhy, Lee Trowell, Freddie Alford, Tommy Bryant, Wallace Kelsey, and Richard Smithson.

Mrs. M. B. Smith and Jim Merriweather directed the sophomore play, which was well presented and titled "Shock Of His Life." Those playing character parts included: Jerry Ardy, Caroline Cosgren, Julie Gore, Carol and Charles Parker and Mike Kennedy.

The Freshman class, with Kirby Buckelew in charge, did a good job on ticket selling, as the auditorium was filled to capacity, many standing. They also had charge of programs and ushers.

Roy Wainright received the award for selling the most tickets.

Following the presentation of the plays, members of the Freshman, Sophomore, Junior and Senior Classes enjoyed an informal party at the City Hall Memorial building. Mrs. Donn Ulrey was on hand to help them have a wonderful time.

A-Test Called Threat To Life, Future Births

NEW YORK (UPI)—Don't fast-shuffle the carbon-14 produced by hydrogen and atomic bombs — it poses a much greater threat to living and future generations of mankind than widely publicized "fall-out products," Dr. Linus Pauling asserted today.

He is professor of chemistry at California Institute of Technology, a Nobel Prize winner, and an outstanding scientific critic of continuing nuclear test explosions. With his highly refined mathematical equations, he challenged Dr. Willard F. Libby, scientific member of the Atomic Energy Commission, who holds that carbon-14 from bombs does not menace health.

Pauling's calculations showed that for each year of bomb testing at the present rate, there will be the following consequences due to carbon-14: 55,000 children born with gross physical and mental defects; 100,000 stillbirths and childhood deaths due to inborn defects; 425,000 baby deaths either in the womb or immediately after birth for the same reasons.

Wide Error Margin
 This, he pointed out in a communication to the technical organ of the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science, is 17 times more than estimates of the damage to future generations from undisputed dangerous "fall-out products" for each year of bomb testing. He granted that his calculations were subject to a very wide margin of error—the future effects could be five-times greater or only one-fifth as great. But even if less, carbon-14 from bombs is a very real threat, he said.

As for the living, carbon-14 is as great a threat to them as is strontium-90 and other "fall-out products" as regards bone and blood cancers, and a greater threat as regards diseases resulting from radiation damage to other body tissues, he continued.

Dogs, Not Lambs, Now School Pests

PLATTSBURGH, N. Y. (UPI)—The Little Lamb that Mary is supposed to leave at home now has company. Police chief Clem Young issued the following warning to youngsters:

"The police department has been beleaguered with complaints about gangs of dogs hanging around schools and we are forced to issue a warning. Any more complaints of dogs will mean they must be picked up as nuisances, whether they are licensed or not."

Dixie's Lighter Side

By LEON BURNETT
United Press International
 Defeat in his bid for re-election didn't dull Rep. Brooks Hays' Arkansas wit.

He opened his speech to the Georgia Baptist Convention last week in Atlanta with this one: During the period when Walter Johnson's fast ball was dazzling even the toughest major league hitters, a rookie moved up to an opposing team.

Johnson was pitching the first time this rookie came to bat.

Johnson reared back and poured in the first pitch.

"Steer-rike!" intoned the umpire.

The rookie cocked his ear toward the catcher, then turned to the ump and protested: "It sounded a little high to me."

Hays also told of the Ozark resident who had journeyed by bus from Pine Bluff to Little Rock. At this particular time, Little Rock happened to be on daylight saving time, while Pine Bluff still was on standard time.

Ready to return to the hills, the visitor enters the bus station and inquires of the ticket agent: "What time's the next bus leave for Pine Bluff?"

"Six-thirty," replies the agent.

"What time does it get into Pine Bluff?" asks the hillman.

"Six-thirty," answers the agent.

The man turns this over in his mind for a minute, and heads for the loading ramp.

"Hey, don't you want a ticket?" the agent calls. "Nope," answered the man. "I just want to be out there and see that bus take off."

And finally Hays offered this definition: "A cynic is a man who knows that two and two make four, and he just can't stand it."

Otis Lecornu, a farmer living near Fulton, Ky., says he finally has learned how his goat has been getting out of the pasture.

Lecornu declares, so help him, that this is what he observed: The goat climbs on a stump in the pasture and bleats.

A donkey, also a resident of the pasture, goes running alongside. The goat hops onto the donkey's back.

The donkey then trots to the fence, and the goat jumps to freedom.

At Ft. Benning, Ga., the Army provides a course in the operation of a household for wives of soldiers living in government-owned quarters on the base.

There is this catch: "The engineer section officials request that the female adult in each family attend these classes—but if that is impossible it is mandatory that the military member of the family attend."

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Frederic Johnson, 64, prominent in civil and social life in Palm Beach and New York, died Tuesday after an extended illness.

MIAMI (UPI)—Buell A. Patterson, 63, a former sports columnist and recently a public relations executive, died Tuesday night on his way to New York from Havana.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Funeral services were to be held today for Manuel Schwartz, 38-year-old father of actor Tony Curtis. Schwartz, employed in a Beverly Hills public relations firm, died following a heart attack Monday.

Shortcuts Banned
HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — A Hartford law — never enforced — makes it illegal to "go through any park or part thereof as a shortcut from one place to another."

Busman's Holiday
BURLINGTON, Vt. (UPI) — Each day after work, mailman Edward Devino, who delivers about 220,000 letters each year, goes home to work on his hobby: stamp collecting.

A DC-8 jetliner placed upright on its tail would stretch higher than a 12-story building. The cargo space of the Boeing 707 jetliner is equal in size to the entire fuselage of a DC-4.

Quotable Quotes

United Press International
CHARLEVOIX, Mich.—The last radio message from Capt. Roland Bryan of the cargo ship Carl D. Bradley feared sunk in gale-swept Lake Michigan: "We've broken in half. We're going down."

NEW YORK — Col. John Stapp, Air Force space researcher, in saying tests he has undergone show man can endure the pressures of being fired into space and returned: "But he is scarcely likely to enjoy either of these ordeals."

BOSTON — Corrie Kempf, survivor of the Springfield, N.S., mine disaster, after arriving in Boston on his first airplane flight: "It's a lot nicer to be up in the air than down below the ground. It's my first flight and it's like a breeze."

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Birmingham Police Commissioner Eugene (Bull) Connor in charging that a proposed federal grand jury investigation of the arrest of three Negro ministers was prompted by the Rev. Martin Luther King, United Auto Worker President Walter Reuther, and U.S. Atty. Gen. William Rogers: "They are trying a triple play on Bull Connor — it's King to Reuther to Rogers."

READY FOR ENEMY—PFC D. E. Lee received one of the first guns from SFC Albin E. Kendall last night as Sanford's Co. B, 154th Infantry Battalion, was alerted. The local National Guard unit "won" its battle against the enemy. (Herald Staff Photo)

National Guard Repels 'Enemy'

The "enemy" attempted to establish a beachhead in Sanford last night, but was hurled back by Co. B of the 154th Infantry Battalion.

Two "waves" of enemy troops attempted to penetrate the defense of Co. B, deployed along the boulevard to guard gasoline storage tanks. Both times, the Sanford company emerged victorious.

All of that occurring around last night was caused by the National Guard unit here. At 6:30 p. m., without prior warning, an "alert" was sounded. These alerts are staged to test the readiness of these peacetime soldiers-civilians.

From Ireland, Spook and Orlando they came, each hurrying to his particular post. Most were preparing to eat when the alert was sounded. Many left their meals untouched in the rush to get dressed and report to the armory.

SFC James J. Kendall, first to arrive in uniform, was getting ready to go to school when the call came. His brother, SFC Albin E. Kendall, was milking the cows when he was notified. Others were visiting, getting ready to go out, taking baths and all the things that a civilian can be expected to do at 6:30 p. m. on a given day.

First to report to the armory was Pfc. Ronald Brooks. He was in such a hurry that he didn't take the time to put on his uniform. Shortly after the arrival of the sergeants, Kendall, Brooks dashed home and returned in the familiar garb of the U. S. soldier.

In the first half-hour to arrive was Capt. John Keeling, commanding officer. Shortly thereafter, Maj. Roy Green, battalion executive officer, appeared on the scene.

Prior to the arrival of Keeling and Green, the Kendall brothers had things rolling. The first two men to arrive were armed and ready to go. They were in the same, as far as the preparations were concerned. Again, the National Guard demonstrated its claim to the title of "the backbone of national defense."

One hour after the alert was sounded, a dozen men had reported. Motors of the big carriers in the compound at the rear of the armory thronged the life. Capt. Keeling and Maj. Green reported to the sheriff's office to learn the "enemy's position."

Two and one-half hours after the alert sounded, the big carriers lumbered down the boulevard to meet the enemy. During this period, machineguns had been mounted atop the big vehicles designed to transport a squad of infantrymen. Inside the carriers were peacetime troops, fully armed and battle ready.

Had the enemy been real, the story would have been much the same, so far as the preparations were concerned. Again, the National Guard demonstrated its claim to the title of "the backbone of national defense."

Mistrial Declared In Webster Case

The case of the State vs. John Robert Webster ended in a mistrial last night when the jury could not reach a verdict after three hours of deliberation. Webster was charged with manslaughter after an accident June 15 near the Lake Monroe Bridge. Hillary Ann Schroeder, 15, Jacksonville, died of brain injuries a few days after the car in which she was a passenger was in collision with Webster's automobile. The case will be tried again during the next term of Circuit Court under Judge William J. Webster is being defended by Gordon Frederick.

Reds Ready To Strangle Berlin

Roof And Floor Assured But 'In Between' Blank

Construction is at a standstill at the Lake Mary fire house. The floor has been poured, but it seems a long way from the floor to the roof.

Members of the Volunteer Fire Department are not worried about the roof—that has been given to them. But they are worried about the space in between.

No, the men who are building tall volunteers and the women who help them are not collecting funds for materials and equipment to fill the space and give the roof a foundation.

The fire house idea was conceived more than a year ago. Donations from residents and friends started the project on its way. The land at White and Third Sts. was given by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Krueger.

The proposed fire house will not be used exclusively for the Lake Mary fire engine. In fact, many times the engine may be moved to other community groups to gather in meetings or parties.

The building will consist of a large room, a modest kitchen, and two restrooms.

The Volunteer Fire Department serves a radius two and one-half miles around Lake Mary. This is the only protection assured residents in Sanford Estates, Loch Arbor and Little Venice areas.

Mrs. W. E. Gray, chairman of the building fund.

'Blockade' Strikes Fear Into Hearts Of West Berliners

BERLIN (UPI)—Russia and the East German Communists slowly and steadily built up pressure against West Berlin today, worrying the West Berliners and bringing fears the Americans might leave.

The world "blockade" produces great fear in this city 110 miles deep in Communist territory, but the greater fear is that the United States might abandon the city.

All this is summed up by frightened but determined people in two questions: What are the Russians going to do? Will the Americans stand by the city as they promise?

There is no doubt here the Russians are going to do something. There is little doubt of this in the Western capitals. In Washington the only question is how far will Russia go toward the brink of war.

The U. S. top level Security Council was meeting today in Washington to study the situation. The United States, Britain and France were holding consultations in the various Western capitals.

They are bound by a NATO resolution of October, 1954, to fight a war if necessary to build up the West German economy.

There is no doubt here the Russians are going to do something. There is little doubt of this in the Western capitals. In Washington the only question is how far will Russia go toward the brink of war.

Russia Announces 'Liquidation Plan'

BERLIN (UPI)—Soviet Ambassador Andrei Smirnov told Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today in Bonn that Russia would "liquidate" the occupation status of Berlin, the Soviet Embassy announced.

Smirnov said he was a meeting with Adenauer and outlined for him the "measures the Soviet government plans taking with the aim of liquidating the occupation status of Berlin."

The phrase "liquidating the occupation status of Berlin" was taken here to mean the Soviet now proposes to transfer to East Germany the right of control of Western Allied traffic to and from Berlin.

Until now the Russians as well as the Americans, British and French have considered Berlin to be under Big Four administration. Right of access to and from Berlin is governed by Big Four regulations rather than by any German laws.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, in a speech in Moscow last week, announced his government's intention of ending this foreign control of Berlin and Berlin-bound traffic and transferring it to the Communist east-zone government.

West Germans were faced with the immediate threat of a blockade to force Western recognition of the move. The world "blockade" is one of fear in this city 110 miles deep in Communist territory, but the greater fear is that the United States might abandon the city.

West German government spokesman confirmed the Soviet Embassy announcement and said Smirnov's statement was given orally and that no notes were handed over. He said West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano participated in the meeting.

Jet Plane Knocks Train Off Tracks; Everyone Escapes

EL TORO MARINE AIR BASE, Calif. (UPI)—A Marine jet fighter plane practicing an emergency landing Wednesday overshoot the landing field and crashed into the path of a speeding passenger train.

Two diesel engines and five cars were derailed in the spectacular crash when the 75-mile-an-hour train smashed into the jet, cartwheeling it into the air where it exploded and fell to rest against the fourth and fifth cars of the nine-car train including the engine.

There were no serious injuries among the 130 passengers and five crewmen. The pilot escaped with only minor injuries after he was saved by a train crewman.

"I saw a cloud of dust up ahead and hit my emergency brake," train engineer W. M. Rider said.

"My first thought when I saw we were going to hit was that I would be burned alive," he said. The F4U Skyraider weather fighter plane piloted by 2nd Lt. Philip M. Schmidt, 23, attached to the 542nd Squadron here, overshoot a wire on the landing field used to stop the plane.

It bounced crazily over a plowed field, snapped off a utility pole and landed on the tracks in front of the Santa Fe's southbound San Diegan.

Scientists Think Vaccine Is Cure For Tuberculosis

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (UPI)—A group of North Carolina scientists believe that they have developed a safe and effective vaccine to prevent tuberculosis.

They emphasized, however, in Wednesday night that the vaccine, called RI, should "not be regarded as being for general use."

Dr. Stuart Willis of the North Carolina sanatorium system said that it would primarily be useful among high risk groups such as employees of tuberculosis hospitals and in countries where the rate of incidence of the disease is high.

Willis, who served as chief investigator in the project, which was financed by various tubercular associations, also emphasized that tests should continue for at least another six years for scientific evaluation of the vaccine.

Willis said that RI had been proved safe in animals and humans.

Dr. H. Max Vandivert, who joined the state sanatorium system seven years ago to work on the vaccine, reported that no active tuberculosis cases have been found so far among the 1,600 persons vaccinated with RI in 1954.

He added, however, that the subjects must be followed for a minimum of 10 years before the vaccine's effectiveness can be scientifically evaluated.

Willis said the 1,000 persons studied were all members of the staffs of TB hospitals and had a high rate of exposure to the disease.

Transfer Is Given To Forest Ranger

Robert V. Lovrelet Jr., ranger with the Florida Forest Service, has been assigned to the East Seminole County area.

Lovrelet was transferred from the Longwood area. His new position will be as ranger at the Ovidio Tower, located between Ovidio and Chulovita, about six miles east of Ovidio.

Search Continues In Lake Michigan

CHARLEVOIX, Mich. (UPI)—A dozen tiny islands in northern Lake Michigan were searched today for 15 missing women from the ill-fated cargo ship Carl D. Bradley but there was little hope any would be found alive.

The same angry whitecaps that smashed and swallowed the ship last Tuesday hampered two Coast Guard vessels which cruised the storm-tossed waters in search of bodies. Two smaller search craft were kept off the lake when 40-mile-an-hour winds spawned mountainous waves.

Two survivors were lifted from a frail raft Wednesday morning and 18 bodies were recovered from the icy water. The Bradley carried a crew of 25 men.

Helicopters lowered searchers onto the tiny uninhabited islands about 25 miles off the Michigan mainland.

Quaker Hill Says It Isn't Included

Salesmen for Quaker Hill Inc., a Newark, N. Y. shubbery firm operating in Seminole County, today said they were not interested in controlling unlicensed dealers in these products.

Two representatives for the firm displayed licenses from the city of Sanford and credentials from the home office of the company. They said they were not in the category of the "fly-by-night operators" described in a Herald story yesterday.

Weather

Partly cloudy and cooler through Friday. Chance of few showers Sunday portion today. High today 70 to 74, low tonight 50 to 62. Northerly winds blowing north easterly 15 to 20 miles per hour.

Mebane To Speak To Men Golfers; Women Invited

Frank Mebane Jr. will speak to the Mayfair Men's Golf Association tonight at 7:30. The meeting was called at the Country Club to discuss the new membership rates.

Mrs. W. K. McRoberts, president, urged members of the Women's Golf Association to attend the meeting. Mebane spoke before the women yesterday during the monthly luncheon.

Both clubs are interested in the use of membership rates and the addition of a "minimum food charge."

The lady golfers were guests of the club in an annual appreciation luncheon given them for their assistance during the PGA tournament.

School Is Sought

Mothers of retarded children who would be interested in forming a school have been asked to contact Mrs. F. Maxwell, FA 2-2853, or Mrs. Van Pelt, FA 2-0795.

The school would be open to retarded children of all ages.

Caril Fugate Fate In Hands Of Jury

LEXINGTON, Neb. (UPI)—A jury retired at 10 a. m. today to decide whether Carl Ann Fugate, 15, should pay with her life for the slaying of Robert Jensen, 17.

District Judge Harry A. Spencer, in his instructions, offered a woman a choice—she may find her guilty of first-degree murder, or second-degree murder, or innocent.

If the jurors find Carl guilty of first-degree murder they also must set the punishment—life imprisonment or death in the electric chair.

The penalty for second-degree murder ranges from 10 years to life imprisonment and is set by the court, not the jury.

Carl is charged with aiding and abetting Charles Starkweather in the first-degree murder of Jensen and is subject to the same death penalty from which Starkweather is now appealing.

According to Spencer's instruction, she must be found guilty of first-degree murder if the jurors decide Carl purposely and maliciously but without deliberation or premeditation aided and abetted in the crime.

Spencer reminded the jury that the petty defendant is not being tried for failing to run away, escape or report Starkweather to authorities on their eight-day murder rampage.

Camera, Supplies Stolen From Auto

A camera and equipment, valued at $200, were stolen from photographer George Bergstrom's automobile last night.

The car was left unlocked for about ten minutes behind the Valdez Hotel while Bergstrom used the telephone.

The photographer reported the loss of $710, when he returned to find the camera and equipment gone.

Jaycees Work Is Lauded; State Award Presented

Sanford became known throughout the state as the most courteous city in Florida when Howard McNulty accepted an award during a meeting of the State Chamber of Commerce in Fort Lauderdale earlier this week.

McNulty was chairman of "Courtesy Week," sponsored in Sanford by the Jaycees. The local Jaycees won over all other cities in the state upon submitting a scrapbook filled with clippings about their "courteous" activities.

John Krider, manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, also attended the meeting. The award was revealed this morning at the monthly meeting of the Coffee Club.

Jaycees carried the ball again when they returned to Sanford with two more awards following the fall conference in St. Augustine last weekend.
