D. Cordell, Mayor of the City of Sanford, Florida, do hereby proclaim Saturday April 9, 1955, as Easter Lily Day."

Mrs. Stine stated that they are running short of last year's amount but "I am sure that on Saturday we will more than reach the quota."

Schools Announced For Soviet Visits

NEW YORK (AP)—The Institute for International Education today announced eight American colleges and universities to be visited by 11 Soviet editors arriving here April 19.

Other schools will be added to the itinerary if they agree to receive the Russians. They are the first non-diplomatic Soviet delegation to tour America.

Children Receive Slight Injuries As Trike Hits Car

Two children were slightly hurt yesterday when a tricycle was riding and the other pushing ran into the side of a car on Forest Drive, 150 feet east of the Adams Court intersection.

The children were Melanin Murray, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Murray, 1331 Forest Drive, who was riding the tricycle, and John Warren Martin, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Martin Jr., 1325 Forest Drive.

City Police said no charges were placed against the driver of the car, Eugene Jefferson Martin, 33-year-old electrician, of 2405 Key Ave. Martin was driving his 1953 Pontiac sedan east on Forest Drive when the accident occurred at 8:04 p. m.

The tricycle came out of the driveway at 1331 Forest Drive, and Martin swerved his car to the left to avoid hitting the children. Police said the tricycle ran into the right side of the automobile.

Melanin Murray suffered a slight abrasion on the right elbow and John Warren received a small scalp laceration and a slight abrasion on the forehead.

Investigating officer was Patrolman L. E. Rock.

State Department Is Abolishing Job Of Edward Corsi

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department is abolishing the job it gave only three months ago to Edward J. Corsi, who since has become the target of repeated attacks by Rep. Walter D. Pata.

Corsi confirmed last night that he is being "terminated" effective Sunday, as a special consultant to Secretary of State Dulles on refugee and immigration problems. He said he was told Wednesday the job was "a temporary one" and that it was not being renewed.

"I would not have taken the job to begin with if I had known it was a 90-day appointment," Corsi said.

Walter and Corsi have differed sharply on basic immigration policy, but Walter has based his attacks largely on charges that Corsi had associated with Communist-dominated groups. Corsi has strongly denied the allegations.

Corsi said he was notified of his dismissal by Asst. Secretary of State Loy W. Henderson, who he said "wanted me clearly to understand my situation is not a matter of security."

Sparkman Attacks Red Continuance Of Air Buildup

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Sparkman (R-Ala.) said today it would be "folly" to allow the Chinese Communists to continue building up air strength opposite Formosa, "once it becomes apparent their purpose is to launch an attack."

But unless President Eisenhower decides "that the concentrations have developed to a point where the United States itself should act," Sparkman said in an interview.

The Chinese Nationalists should not be allowed to bomb air bases and other installations reportedly under construction along the South China coast.

One Republican senator asking anonymously said the Eisenhower administration is scrutinizing information from Formosa that the reported buildup could give Red China's air force supremacy over the Formosa Strait.

Sanford's Zoo May Get Bengal Tiger

A Bengal Tiger captured in Pakistan by Gen. James Van Fleet will become the property of the Sanford Zoo if arrangements can be made to transport it here, the Chamber of Commerce said today.

Negotiations are under way through U.S. Rep. Syd Herlong's office with the Pakistan Embassy in Washington and non-scheduled airlines. The Air Force and the Department of Defense previously have been approached but they are unable to transport the animal because of military commitments.

Gen. Van Fleet offered the tiger to Gov. LeRoy Collins, who, in turn, offered it to the Sanford Zoo through Attorney W. C. Hutchison Jr., of Sanford. Hutchison managed Collins' gubernatorial campaign.

Smith Being Held On Assault Charge

Otis Smith, of Lockhart, accused of attacking a man with a hoe handle, was being held in the County Jail today on a charge of aggravated assault. Bond was set at $2,000.

Sheriff's deputies said Smith beat and seriously injured Ernest Graham, of Peach St. and 16th St., with the hoe handle in front of the Bucket of Blood restaurant on 16th St. last night. Graham is a patient at the Fernald-Laughon Memorial Hospital.

Investigating officers were deputies H. R. Cooper and W. L. Long.

Archbishop Denies Making Statement

LONDON (AP)—The Archbishop of Canterbury today denied he ever said "there is no truth whatever in the rumor that Princess Margaret and Group Capt. Peter Townsend are to wed."

The archbishop, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, was reached by radio-telephone in Grahamsdown, South Africa. He said he replied simply "No comment" when a reporter asked him about the rumors on his arrival in Capetown yesterday.

Ike Disturbed About Situation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said today President Eisenhower believes "technical military secrets" have been made available "to the enemy" through publication of such information in this country.

James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, told newsmen that Eisenhower is disturbed about the situation.

Hagerty declined, however, to discuss the question of whether Eisenhower's views are related to new Defense Department information control directives put into effect last week by Secretary Wilson.

Hagerty said he was not going to discuss the situation in the Pen-

Telephone Strikers Problem

Alabama Governor Gives No Reply

ATLANTA (AP)—Sheriff Holt McDowell asked Gov. James E. Folsom for state troops to aid in maintaining order in the telephone strike in the Birmingham, Ala., area today.

This step followed recurring violence there in the 26-day-old walk-out of Southern Bell Telephone Co. workers.

There was no immediate indication as to whether Folsom would assign National Guard units to duty.

A shot was fired into a Southern Bell building last night during a demonstration of strikers and sympathizers.

Birmingham Police Chief G. L. Patten reported a .22 caliber bullet shattered a fourth floor window of a Birmingham telephone exchange while a jarring crowd of about 500 persons milled about the structure.

Twenty policemen and two companies of firemen rushed to the scene and the crowd gradually left. Eggs were hurled at the officers but no arrests were reported.

Fifty-seven Jefferson County sheriff's deputies and policemen guarded a Southern Bell warehouse at Bessemer, Ala., after threats to blockade its approach.

The Alabama violence developed after counterclockwise on several officials of the Communications Workers of America (CWA), the firing of five more striking workers, and additional strike cutting and shooting incidents in the immediate area.

In Atlanta, Sloan G. Springfield, acting regional director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, reported he talked separately again with both union and company representatives and that there was "no change in the situation."

Greyhound Strike Will Affect Few, Billhimer Relates

Only Floridians bound for points in the area between Jacksonville and Richmond, Va., will be affected by the strike of some 755 Atlantic Greyhound bus drivers, R. S. Billhimer, Sanford manager for Florida Greyhound Lines, said today.

The Atlantic Greyhound line operates into Jacksonville from nine other states and the District of Columbia. The strike, first in the company's history, has stemmed all Greyhound transportation between Richmond and Jacksonville.

"However," said Billhimer, "tickets of Greyhound passengers reaching either of these points will be honored by the Trailways Bus Co. So far they've had no trouble having the tickets." In Jacksonville the Florida line takes over and we're doing business as usual. Though our line pools equipment with the Atlantic Greyhound line we are in no way connected with the strike issue."

Greyhounds are not operating in the Richmond-Jacksonville area because of an agreement between company and union officials.

The contract dispute, cause of the strike, forced 43,800 daily customers to seek other transportation and will eventually idle 1,800 other Greyhound employees.

The Florida Greyhound Lines operate only in Florida.

The strikers are seeking an undisclosed wage increase plus other benefits.

Peiping Reports State Of War End Ordered By Tzefung

TOKYO (AP)—Chairman Mao Tse-tung of Communist China today ordered an end to the state of war with Germany, the Peiping radio announced.

Mao's proclamation implemented a resolution adopted yesterday by the standing committee of the National Peoples Congress, the radio said in a broadcast heard here.

Mao noted in his proclamation: "Because of the consistent policy of the United States, Britain and France of dividing Germany, reviving militarism in West Germany and bringing it into aggressive military blocs, Germany is now still in a state of division and it is still impossible to conclude a peace treaty with Germany" as provided by the Potsdam conference in 1945.

"The state of war between the Peoples Republic of China and Germany shall end forthwith and peaceful relations shall be established between the two countries."

Mao indicated strong Communist Chinese support for Soviet Russia's efforts to halt the formation of West Germany.

Chamber Manager To Lead Discussion

FORREST BRECKENRIDGE, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, will moderate a panel discussion on agriculture at the annual Florida Chamber of Commerce Executives meeting May 26-30 in Clearwater.

The panel discussion will feature the opening day program.

Among those who have been asked to serve on the panel are C. B. Garland, Leesburg; William Harbottle, Plant City; and John Henry Logan, County Agricultural Agent for Pinellas County.

Breckenridge handled a similar panel at the organization's 1953 meeting in St. Petersburg.

Scattered System May Be Connected

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—The widely scattered state penal system would be tied together under a single Department of Corrections if a House bill is approved by the Legislature.

The measure, drawn by the Legislative Council which spent considerable time studying prison conditions in Florida, also would require state governmental agencies to buy prison products.

Authority for operating the penal system now is scattered among the State Cabinet, Department of Agriculture and State Road Department.

The Cabinet would supervise the new department and designate a director.

Milk Price War Ends After Plea

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Northern Utah's milk price war ended almost as abruptly as it began last night after a plea by Gov. J. Bracken Lee for "negotiation rather than force."

Milk, which dropped to 10 and 12 cents a quart yesterday—even as low as 5 cents at one outlet—will return to its normal 21 cents today.

last week by Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson.

Wilson in effect banned release of any information without prior clearance through his office where he directed that it was to be checked both for security and for whether it was in accordance with policy.

Some reporters have protested it is a virtual blackout on information.

A reporter asked Hagerty whether the Pentagon directives represented a change of mind on the part of the President will respect his own statements that he "does not believe in censorship."

Strolling In Sanford

Even if the weatherman forecasts rain in the shade, somehow it always manages to be pretty cool on Easter morning, especially for the Sunrise Service. But if it does get a little chilly, the cool air will still feel good at the nondescript, impressive services being held at Memorial Stadium at 9 p. m.

McCurry Grocery has donated 15 dozen eggs toward the Joyce Easter Egg hunt scheduled for Easter Sunday at 3 p. m. in Fort Mellon Park. "The hunt is open to all children," it was announced by David Thurman, chairman, "and prizes will be awarded."

An unfinished nylon sport shirt was turned in to The Herald office today, probably someone's Easter shirt!

True Friendship Sometimes Risky

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP)—Alvin Karpis lay down on a Long Island Rail Road track yesterday and stayed put until a frantic motorist hauled his electric train just 30 feet away.

Karpis rose, dusted himself off and said to an unidentified friend, "Okay, there's the train." The friend hopped aboard.

In 1st District Court at nearby Mineola, Judge Samuel Greeson asked the 32-year-old Karpis, a laboratory technician:

"What were you trying to do, commit suicide?"

"No, sir," replied Karpis. "I was trying to stop this train for my friend."

Karpis said he and his friend had stopped at a few taverns before he pulled a body block on the Manhattan-bound train.

The judge, advising him to "take the pledge," suspended sentence on a disorderly conduct charge.

Attack On Secrecy Shapes Up Today

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—A two-pronged attack on secrecy in government was shaped up today in legislative bills.

Six House members introduced yesterday a administration bill to make open meetings of all public bodies except those prohibited by the Constitution to meet in secret.

A Senate bill by Sen. Rodgers, Wister Garden, Faye St. Augustine, and Carlton Woodhouse, would require that all executive sessions of the Senate be held only upon unanimous consent.

Sanford's National Guard Co. 1 To Take Part In Nationwide Test

Co. "1", 12th Florida Regiment, Sanford's own Florida National Guard unit, will play an important part in the nationwide one-day alert of Army and Air National Guard units to be held sometime this Spring.

The alert will be known as "Operation Minuteman," according to Capt. Joseph D. Bryant, commanding officer of Co. "1." All other units of the Florida National Guard also will participate in the alert, first of its kind ever held in the United States.

Capt. Bryant cautioned citizens of this area that "Operation Minuteman" is being planned only for training purposes, and to test the mobilization plans of all Army and Air National Guard units throughout the state and nation.

"For that reason," he said, "we ask the people of Sanford not to be alarmed when this alert is

CIO, Rubber Co. Tentatively Reach Strike Agreement

NEW YORK (AP)—A tentative agreement has been reached between CIO workers and the U.S. Rubber Co. to end a week-long nationwide strike affecting 19 plants and some 23,000 employees.

A company spokesman said the pact probably would be signed today with the CIO United Rubber Workers and a back-to-work movement would start "as soon as possible."

A Naugatuck, Conn., plant resumed partial operations last night while a Passaic, N.J., factory geared for early resumption of production.

The workers walked out last Thursday, when their old contract expired, in a dispute over working conditions, vacations and holidays. Wages were not an issue.

Parole Violator Sought By Police In Queens Holdup

NEW YORK (AP)—Police and the FBI were looking today for an ex-convict parole violator tentatively identified as one of a bandit trio which robbed a Queens bank of $200,000 in cash.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Thomas P. Cullen said authorities want to question Edmund (Ninny) Cribbins, 41, alias Mike Malloy, about the Wednesday morning robbery of the Chase Manhattan Bank branch in Woodside.

He said last night an unidentified bank employee had picked Cribbins' picture out of more than 200 rogues' gallery photos shown him. He said other employees "though the photo bore some resemblance to one of the bandits, but were not certain."

Veteran Diplomat Takes Up New Job As Iran Premier

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Hussein Ala-wi, veteran diplomat, took up his new duties today as Iran's premier. He succeeded Gen. Fazollah Zahedi, who resigned because of ill health after 20 arduous months.

Ala, who had represented his country in Washington and at the United Nations premier last night by Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi. The new premier told reporters he intended to follow Zahedi's policies and would stage a "large-scale campaign against corruption."

Zahedi left yesterday by plane for treatment in Germany. He led the movement that toppled extreme nationalist Mohammed Mosaddegh from the premiership.

Engines Unable To Provide Power

DURO, Ill. (AP)—The final trip of the 121 st steam locomotives in service on the Missouri Pacific Railroad ended last night in a humiliating manner. They were unable to make it under their own power.

The funeral journey started at Bush Hill, 112 miles to the south, with two of the old locomotives pulling the other nine.

Their speed was cut to three to five miles an hour when one of the double-header locomotives exhausted its water supply. The coal supply too was almost gone.

A fall was sent out for help, and sleek diesel locomotive came to the rescue. It pulled the 11 weary steamers the final few miles to a junkyard here where they will be cut up for scrap.

Workers Resume Efforts To Write Guaranteed Wage

DETROIT (AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers today resumed its effort to write a guaranteed annual wage into its contracts with the nation's automakers.

The union is bargaining with General Motors on a new agreement to cover 325,000 hourly rated GM employees. The union's five-year pact with the corporation expires May 29.

The GM contract might set the pattern for the entire industry and have a far-reaching impact on the nation's economy.

Harry W. Anderson, GM vice president in charge of personnel, sounded a cautious note of optimism before yesterday's 4½-hour opening conference.

Communists Using Big, Newly Built Lukiao Air Base

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Nationalist Chinese Defense Ministry said today the Communists began using their big newly built air base at Lukiao (Lukiao), 200 miles north of the Matsui Islands, April 3.

The base is reported the largest and best in the whole of Red China and is usable by every type of plane from jets to heavy bombers.

The ministry also said the Reds airfield at Fochow, 60 miles west of the Matsui and 120 miles northwest of Formosa, is being re-modeled. It added there are indications that an airfield at Swatow, 120 miles southwest of Quenyoy which is directly across the Strait of Formosa, is being revamped.

The ministry's statement was issued through its official spokesman, Col. Halung En-tieh. It buttressed recent assertions by top Nationalists that the Reds are working toward eventual control of the air over the Strait of Formosa which, if achieved, would imperil Formosa itself.

Many Services Held On Easter

By GEORGE CORNELL AP Religion Reporter The story of Christ's resurrection will ring out across the land this Sunday in music and in words, in pageants, parades and stirring panoramas. From the high vistas of the Rockies to the quiet woods of New England, hundreds of thousands of Americans will gather under the open sky to celebrate the wonder of Easter. There will be colorful moving services in parks and stadiums, on mountaintops and canyon rims and waterfront piers, beside splashing waterfalls, in churches, theaters, cemeteries and city squares. Many of the spectacles will begin before dawn, and the drama of Christ's passage through the night of death into the splendor of a new life will be raised at the sun rises on the land. More than 1000 people are expected for parade services in a huge natural amphitheater in Ocala's White Mountains. A cast of more than 1,000 will take part in the pageant, called "The Pathways to Immortality." An ocean of calls lilies and peonies worth $7,000 lilies and $200 peonies are expected to fill Highway Blvd. for the 50th annual service there. Another throng of approximately 1,000 will join Salem Square in Ocala, Fla., where the parade begins at 10 a. m. The parade will be the 50th anniversary of the city's founding. The parade will be the 50th anniversary of the city's founding.

The bell rings, and its message is a clarion call across the countryside. Beneath it, white lilies touched by the sunlight look upward toward a cloudless sky.

This is Easter... the golden day... the day of promise and joy. This is the time when God proffers the great gift of eternal life... when he shows, in the lesson of the Tomb... that there is no death.

There is no more joyous occasion in the Church than Easter. Against the setting of Spring, it touches the land with beauty, bringing a new upsurge of hope, thrilling the young, comforting the old. Easter is the time to rededicate your faith... to listen again to a wonderful promise... to receive again a glorious gift. Start attending Church regularly by beginning at Easter.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH. The Church is the greatest factor in each for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The Glory Of Easter

So Easter is coming to the earth once more, and with it comes the spring, and the glory of faith in life after death, and the warmer sun and the great joy.

With it comes the bright new clothes, the gay hats, the solemn service of joy after sorrow, the cheerful parade of people rejoicing that winter is gone, that grief has given way to happiness.

With it comes hope and something more than hope. For Easter brings a sort of definite conviction that there is life after death; that there is triumph after terrible pain; that sacrifice brings its own reward to the inner spirit. Nature adds to religion that conviction; spring after winter brings its own proof of eternal, ever-growing, ever-reviving life.

There comes the sobering note, also, that without the strength to do what one thinks right in spite of pain and opposition, without self-control and renunciation for the sake of others, there can be no sense of that great glory.

"We have all sinned and fallen short of the glory of God", but there is also mercy and loving-kindness beyond measure in the universe and in that today all earth's people share. So away with sorrow, away with all discouragement, with all sad thoughts. It is time for the words that express the essence of Easter:

"This is the day which the Lord hath made; Let us be glad and rejoice therein."

Spring Reading

This is the time of year when people, weary of winter and encouraged by spring, turn their thoughts to vacations. The travel and resort folders are examined and studied.

What does it matter if the creators of this vacation reading exaggerate a bit? They can be forgiven an adjective or two if their prose can set you to dreaming of a cruise on the Caribbean, or a carnival by the seashore, or a quiet mountain stream where a big one lurks waiting to do battle with a fisherman of your skill and perseverance.

The pleasures of a vacation are fleeting. A week, or two or even three passes quickly. But anticipation, helped along by the imagination of the people who put out the vacation folders, makes the whole thing last longer. Now take that folder there—the one with the sailboat making its way across all that blue water. There is a place to spend a quiet two weeks "with the cares of the world disappearing, the noises of civilization hushed by the soft breezes passing through the tree-tops . . ."

Water, that's literature.

Wise Economy

Sometimes the best way to save money is to spend some.

This sound theory was followed by Congress and the President in approving pay raises for those who want to make careers in military and naval services will cost about $745,000,000 a year.

Actually the government may more than save this amount if the increases encourage men to continue in service. The cost of training a soldier, a sailor or an air man is great. Every time a well trained member leaves the armed forces it means the expense of training him must be duplicated. Thus it is easy to see that in the long run economy is served by making it attractive for men to remain in service.

Encouraging men to make a career of the services will not only be more economical but it will also contribute to national security. A man is always better at his job if it is the job he wants to do and if he intends to pursue it for all or most of his working life. Our army, navy and air force are important to the preservation of our liberty. It is wise to take every opportunity to provide these branches of service with the best available manpower.

Eskimos Ready Furs For Easter

By A. I. GOLDBERG (For Hal Boyle)

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada's 8,000 Eskimos, too, are getting their best furs and gayest colored clothing in order for another Easter far above the Arctic Circle—in Aklavik, Paulatuk, Arctic Bay, Pond Inlet, and a score of stations strung across the Howling wastes farther south. Missionaries are thinking about their brief sermons, rehearsing their tiny choirs and arranging for the cookies and candy that are part of every major religious festival in the northern territories.

The old hymns are always a big part of the celebration. The tribespeople sing in their tribal dialect, but the tunes are the familiar standbys.

Both hymns and prayers are written out in a sort of shorthand representing language sounds. It's the Eskimo's only common written language.

And for the little groups of Eskimo and French speaking people—doctors, nurses, traders, mountaineers, weather observers, prospectors—the holiday will renew a sense of community.

Even out in the trapping camps of three or four families, the Eskimos have seen the Roman Catholic priest of the Oblate Fathers or the pastor of the Anglican Church riding circuit by dog team, bringing a spiritual message and checking to see whether anyone is sick or injured.

"It is an inspiring sight to see them come into such a nice camp," says Alec Stevenson, a veteran of the north now working in Ottawa. "They, much in the sled. The families gather around for a chat. Then, with the barest of ritual and ceremony, his parka pushed back over his head, his breath frosted in the air, the padre reads a short chapter of prayer. He says a few words that might be a sermon. A hymn or two is sung. Then he's off to another camp."

More than 7,000 of the Eskimos are concentrated in the eastern part of the north, around the Bay of Foully, where Eskimos, with medical services and nursing care, are growing up.

Dr. Albert, accompanied by his wife, is one of the medical staff. He is the only doctor in the area. He has a small hospital and a dispensary. There are also a few nurses and a few orderlies. The Eskimos are very friendly and the Eskimo men are very helpful.

the Eskimos know, not the traditional one. Art translates religion into terms they understand.

Easter has a special renewal theme for the Eskimos. Shortly after, following the long winter, comes the brief, sunny season in which vegetables and fruits grow quickly.

Stevenson, who often gets away from his desk for a trip back, said "nobody is really isolated in the north now."

Mother Is Given Life Imprisonment

The slaying as she was being led from the courtroom after the verdict.

Ray R. Tipton, 28, a bread truck driver, will go on trial Monday on murder charges in the same case. Tipton testified in Mrs. Callahan's trial that he had dated her since he was 14 years old and that he was the father of one of her children. He said he left a borrowed rifle outside the Callahan home at Mrs. Callahan's request then hid the weapon after the shooting occurred. She denied his testimony.

Conservation News

By BEN WIGGINS

Self-Conservationists, USDA

During the past few days several farmers in this district have asked for information concerning hairy indigo.

Hairy indigo is a soil building plant that adds nitrogen and organic matter to the soil. It also protects the soil from leaching and erosion caused by excessive wind and heavy rainfall. Indigo thrives well on most of our well drained soils. It is the outstanding cover crop for young citrus groves. If your land is capable of producing citrus economically it is also suitable for hairy indigo. Indigo is also a good legume for mowing in highland pastures. It provides considerable grazing during the summer months and at the same time adds the companion grasses by adding nitrogen and organic material to the soil. This plant is also widely used as a soil conditioning crop preparatory to planting improved pasture or citrus on light sandy soils.

Spring and early summer are the best times of year for seeding the indigo. The trees middle of young groves should be seeded at the rate of six lbs. per acre. When planting on highland pastures in combination with pangola and the bahia grasses only three to four lbs. per acre is needed. The district now owns one retractor-type mower that is in great demand during certain seasons of the year. Although the mower is especially adapted for cutting cow or crop and crop residues on farmland it also does a wonderful job of cutting cover crops in young citrus. Any farmer who desires the use of this mower should make arrangements with Roy Britt at Mr. Britt keeps a record of the exact day or days each farmer has requested the mower and tries to have it ready for him at the appointed time. These services by Roy are provided free to the District and in order to eliminate confusion it is requested that each farmer who uses the mower return it to the Britt Tractor Company at the end of his requested or allotted time.

Second Wife Taken By Mohammed Ali

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—Prime Minister Mohammed Ali has married the second of the four wives the Muslim religion allows him.

Ali's first wife died in 1953. He had called emergency meetings to discuss the political leader's action.

An official of Ali's household confirmed yesterday that the 44-year-old Prime Minister married his Canadian-born ex-secretary Aiy A Saadi, 30, in Beirut, Lebanon, last Saturday.

"Now it has happened, let us pray everything passes peacefully," the official said. The room had been prepared for her on the first floor of Ali's residence. Not far away, in a room on the same floor, lives Ali's first wife Hafida, 40. She is the mother of his two sons, 14 and 11.

Kefauver Opines On 'Saber Rattling'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said yesterday American "saber rattling" in the East should end with Adm. Robert B. Carney's denial that he predicted an early Communist attack in the Formosa strait.

"If this whole incident serves to thwart the saber rattling and policy direction of the government by the military brass, some useful purpose will have been accomplished," Kefauver said in an interview.

He said there has been too much talking by admirals and generals who, he said, ought to carry out policies and not influencing policy decisions.

Stockholders Go To Annual Meets

NEW YORK (AP)—The stockholder or comes into his glory this month. Bitter or beaming, he is trekking to annual meetings. At least 400 companies are holding meetings this month—70 of them on one day alone, April 28.

Hot battles for proxies are being staged prior to some of them. The most publicized is the squabble between Sewell Avery and Louis Wolfson for control of Montgomery Ward. That annual meeting is set for April 28 in Chicago.

The big bull market of the last 18 months has doubtless made a lot of new stockholders. "The public" started buying stocks last fall. And now for the first time many new shareholders are signing proxies or looking up transportation to the site of the annual meetings of the companies of which they now find themselves part owners.

Fights to win control of corporations aren't the only disputes that ensue at stockholder meetings. The share owners often ask why their company didn't do better, why a rival outdistanced it.

Dividend policies are often hampered by dissension. Some stockholders would like to have more of the profits passed around and less retained for management and use

Dinner Causes Washington Upset

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP)—The admirals and general and high government officials will probably eat at home for a while.

Adm. Robert B. Carney certainly must wish he hadn't gone to an off-the-record dinner with newsmen March 24. There's been indignation in Washington ever since.

President Eisenhower disagrees with what Carney is reported to have said. Carney denies he said what some reporters wrote that he said. And newsmen who were there can't agree among themselves on what he said.

As a result of this all around fiasco, off-the-record dinners may cease for a while. Probably not for long though. Newsmen and high government officials have been getting together at them for years. The officials are the invited guests of the reporters. This is the purpose:

To get inside information which can be used in spot news stories or as background or preparation for events that unfold later.

There is almost always one understanding: The official talking off the record is not to be quoted by a p. m. or identified as the source of the information. This doesn't always work. If the news he gives out is sensational enough, his name eventually may leak out.

But if the individual doing the talking can't be identified in a story, how then can reporters get out to the public the information he provided? They did it in various ways.

And just because they do it in various ways, it is clear they do not have a fixed agreement among themselves on how the information is to be handled.

Some attribute their information to "authoritative sources" or "persons high in the administration." Some undertake to say on their own that what they heard, or thought they heard, is a fact, as they did in Carney's case.

Carney, although not named at first, was reported by some newsmen as saying the Red Chinese were expected to start an attack on the Matsu and Quemoy islands by mid-April. Others said he "leaked" the news would simply be "capable" of such an attack by then or later. Carney's name soon leaked out.

While the country was still shocked by these stories indicating a nearness of war, another administration figure told newsmen at a similar dinner a few nights later the administration had no information on an impending attack.

According to the agreement, this source was not quoted as saying that in the stories which followed. Some of them said that Eisenhower had no such information. Some newspaper readers might have gotten the impression Eisenhower himself said that. Other newsmen wrote that "administration sources" said no attack was expected.

Several newspapers later said those stories stemmed from James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower's press secretary. Then Eisenhower had a public news conference. He appeared displeased with Carney. He said he had no information of an impending attack.

Memorial To Mrs. Clara Ginn Held At Sanford Woman's Club Meeting

A memorial to Mrs. Clara Ginn, late president of the Sanford Woman's Club, was held during its regular meeting on Wednesday at the club house. A. F. Ramsay was guest speaker.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with baskets and vases of spring flowers placed around the club. The main table was covered with a white lace cloth on which was centered an arrangement of flaming orange gladioli.

The smaller tables, which seated four, were covered with white cloths; each was centered with Easter straw and jelly beans.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Francis T. Meriwether after which the Flag Salute was rendered and the National Anthem and an Easter hymn was sung.

During the course of a delicious ham dinner Mrs. Guy Bishop sang "Consider the Lilies". She was accompanied by Mrs. Laura Platt Brown.

Minutes were read and the usual business and announcements were taken care of. Members were reminded of the rummage sale to be held Saturday from 9:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. and it was also announced that an election will be held in May to elect a president to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mrs. Clara Ginn. The American Home department will also have an election to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. M. W. Oiler, chairman.

A memorial service was held in memory of Mrs. Clara Ginn who "had worked so hard to put her all in the Women's Club." Mrs. Roy Tillis, past president, lighted a candle which was placed between the spray of sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley and a framed picture of her. Mrs. Bishop dedicated the song "Let All My Life Be Music" to her as "whenever people thought of her it was with music in their hearts".

Mr. Ramsay, florist, spoke on "City Park System". He made several suggestions on the city's parks and followed up his talk with a question and answer period.

Hostesses for this event were Mrs. Roy Tillis, Mrs. David Lanier, Mrs. Jack Stemper, Mrs. C. W. Johnson, Mrs. J. A. Nash, and Mrs. Frank Evans.

Jack Burke Takes Lead In Masters Tournament

Second Pennant Is Seen For Cleveland Indians

Writer Predicts Tribe Will Show Greater Strength

NEW YORK (AP)—Barring a series of misfortunes so terrible that they probably couldn't happen outside a soap opera the Cleveland Indians and their horde of top-flight pitchers should wrap up their second straight American League pennant at least a week before the season ends.

We are not going to predict that they will match their record total of 111 victories set last year simply because their manager Al Lopez is much too bright to get stuck into such a stunt again. This time, once the Indians have clinched it, they will relax and go into their second World Series against the Giants loaded for sweet revenge.

If anything, the Tribe figures to be a little stronger than it was last season, especially if Dale Mitchell, the former outfielder, has won his fight to play first base and adds his 300-plus bat to the club's attack day after day. He's a better hitter than Vic Wertz, for all the latter's hot hits in last fall's World Series.

Youthful Al Smith could blossom into an outstanding star in his second full year in left field. There isn't a regular who is nearing the age when he might be expected to take a sudden dive. There remains sound bench strength. If one of the pitching big three—Bob Lemon, Karyl Wynn or Mike Garcia—should run into trouble, there is so much fine talent awaiting Lopez's call that it hardly could prove fatal.

It is not our contention that the Indians rank with the great clubs of American League history. Outside their pitching, they do not. They might do no better than break even with the Chicago White Sox and the Yankees in the impending race. But that cruel pitching will assure their beating the juggernauts out of the five other clubs again, and that's all it takes.

In our mind, the only serious question is whether the White Sox might just possibly take over the summer-up spot from the Yankees. Because we do not feel that the man of Casey Stengel will offer quite the front that they did last season, we are making the Sox our shaky second choice.

OVERDO WINS, 11-8

Texas Pro Gains Four-Stroke Edge With New Putter

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Jack Burke is about ready to forgive the trophy collector who stole his putter last year. The handsome Texan tried a new one in the first round of the Masters Golf Tournament yesterday and it worked beautifully.

He finished in a tie for sixth here last year and a little later during an exhibition in Detroit someone walked off with his putter. Since then he has tested four or five in a search for one that suits him. He thinks "the straight piece of steel with a shaft" he is using here for the first time in a tournament is the answer.

At 32 a veteran of 11 years as a professional, Burke used his new blade to build up a four-stroke lead going into today's second round over the Augusta National's sprawling, challenging course.

Combining fine iron play and strong putting, he opened the 19th Masters with a 34-33-67. His closest competitors were Mike Souchak, of Durham, N.C., the former Duke football player and former boy of the winter tour, and Julius Boros, of Mid-Pines, N.C.

Souchak, playing with Burke, carded a 35-36-71, and Boros scored a 37-34-71.

Not another man in the field of 77, which includes most of the nation's top amateurs and professionals, managed to better the Augusta National's par of 36-36-72.

Defending champion Sam Snead, who matched Burke's 34 on the front nine, seemed a cinch to do it until he ran afoul a trap on No. 12 and took an 8 on the par-5 hole. He had to settle for 78.

Ben Hogan, the tourney favorite despite his playoff loss to Snead here last year, took a 73. Billy Joe Patton, the Morganton, N.C., amateur who came within a stroke of joining Snead and Hogan in their playoff a year ago, scored a fat 78.

Bracketed with Snead at 72 were Byron Nelson, Roanoke, Tex.; Bob Rosburg, San Francisco; and Cary Middlecoff, Klamath Lake, N.Y. Joining Hogan with 73 were Walter Burkemo, Franklin, Mich.; Pete Cooper, Detroit, and Mike Riegel, Ithaca, Pa.

Birdie Tebbetts Is Badly In Need Of Umpire Baiter

By FRANK ECK
AP Sports Editor

Ever see the umpire thumb a fellow out of a ball game? Well, if you have, don't go around drawing conclusions. The one thumbed out may have been a figure head.

Take a game Cincinnati played in Pittsburgh last season.

"I may still be in bad with the Pittsburgh fans," Redleg pilot Birdie Tebbetts began. "We were doing a pretty good job on Umpire Frank Secory. Finally, Secory, pointing to me, came over to the bench and said 'One more peep out of you and I'll throw you out, and I do mean you.'

"Well, I got Moe Savransky to stand at the edge of the dugout. I told him at a given signal he was to point to Secory and say 'and I do mean you.'

"Sure enough there was another call I didn't like. Our bench got on Secory again. When he turned around I said 'now Moe' and Savransky pointed to Secory and said 'and I do mean you.'

"You're out of the ball game," Secory shouted to Moe.

"Moe walked out to protest and Secory said:

"I don't know who you are but whoever you are don't ever complain about my umpiring until you get in a ball game."

"That really burned Savransky up. I walked over and Secory said 'the next time I'll get one of your players.'

"Lou Smith, Cincinnati Enquirer sports editor, sent a bogus telegram down from the press box, he said. Savransky was fined and suspended by National League president Warren C. Giles.

"Between games of the doubleheader Savransky stormed around the clubhouse threatening to telephone Mr. Giles and Commissioner Frick. 'What'll I do?' he asked in desperation.

"Better take off your uniform and get dressed, I advised him.

"The players were all laughing and pretty soon Savransky knew the telegram was just a gag.

Wonder who Birdie will use as a stand-in for umpire baiting this season now that Savransky is pitching for Seattle?

Few Pitchers Have Gone 9 Innings This Spring

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Only three of the 16 pitchers who probably will be on the mound in next week's major league opener have gone a full nine innings in this spring's exhibition games—and only one of the three came off with a victory.

Brooklyn's Carl Erskine and Philadelphia's Robin Roberts are the only National League openers to go all the way. In the American League, Cleveland's Bob Lemon is all by himself, although New York's Whitey Ford entered the ninth but left with nobody out in a losing decision.

Erskine alone won, shutting out Washington 6-0 with difficulty Wednesday.

Roberts went nine Sunday, but lost to Boston 4-2. Lemon missed against the New York Giants 3-1 Tuesday.

Here's what the probable opening day pitchers who saw action yesterday did:

Boston — Frank Sullivan went eight innings, allowing one hit in the first four frames, but missed the decision as Philadelphia won in the 10th 6-3.

Chicago — Virgil Trucks (10-12) went seven innings against St. Louis, left with a 6-3 lead after a four-run fourth in which the Cardinals' Bill Virdon hit a three-run homer. Sox won in ninth 7-6.

Panama City—Alex Kellner (6-17) went seven innings, gave up nine hits in 5-2 defeat by Norfolk of Class B Piedmont League.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
Cincinnati — Art Fowler (12-10) worked last five innings but missed decision in 3-1 victory over Lynchburg, Class B Piedmont League.

Philadelphia — Robin Roberts (22-15) pitched seven innings, gave up six hits and left trailing 2-1 on Norm Zauchin's two-run homer as Phila beat Boston in 10th r.-e. Tuesday.

St. Louis — Brooks Lawrence gave up three runs in fifth before leaving with 4-3 lead over White Sox in game won by Chicago 7-6.

In other games yesterday, Baltimore beat Pittsburgh 3-1 and the Giants beat Cleveland 6-5 to end their exhibition series with nine victories apiece.

Chuck Wiederhold Hurts No-Hitter

Southpaw Chuck Wiederhold threw a no-hitter at the Tigers at the Municipal ball park Thursday (last) evening as he and his Pirate team-mates racked up 10 runs to win the Rotary club league ball game 10 to 0.

The Buccaneers gave the diminutive port-stiler flawless support, while L. C. Smith on the mound for the Bengals was having trouble with his usually very good control, not only walking seven batters, but wild-pitching some of them across the plate.

Johns homed a triple over left fielder Carlton's head for the only extra base hit of the game.

The line-ups: PIRATES—Corley, 2b; Johns, lf; English, ss; Hudson, cf; Hittell, 1b; Wiederhold, p; Yeackle, cf; Johnson, rf; Stotsky, 3b.

TIGERS: Scott, cf; Getman, lf; Bruckner, 2b; Brown, cf; Bramlett, ss; Corley, 2b; Smith, p; Carlton, lf; Brooks, cf, 2b, p; McCarthy, rf.

SHS P-TA Meets Tuesday Evening in School Library

Tuesday evening the Seminole High School P-TA met in the library of the school for its regular meeting when the devotional was offered by Al Phillips in the absence of Mrs. C. W. Erate. Reports were given and the new officers for the next year were announced.

They are president, Mrs. Byron Smith; vice-president, John Angeli; secretary, Mrs. Robert Frey; treasurer, Mrs. Leroy Anderson; historian, Miss Ethel River; delegates, Mrs. W. W. Tyre and Mrs. Curtis Lavender.

Miss Edna Chittenden was in charge of the program for the night and used as the topic "The Library, Its Use and Care." "The library," she stated, "is a service which consists of material for students and teachers; films, pictures, charts and globes." She went on to say that over 200 films were used in the school last year and referred to the library as a teaching agency formally and informally.

"It takes 20 to 30 minutes to catalog each book we have," she said, "and 882 square feet of space is taken up by the library." "There is an average of nine books per person and the seating capacity is 40. One librarian and 13 assistants run it. In 1944 we purchased 172 books and in 1954, 316. In 1944 the attendance was 13,662 and in 1953-54 it was 23,010," Miss Chittenden concluded.

Mrs. Hilda Wray, American history teacher, gave her views on the use of the library regarding the teachers. Miss Pat Nix, president of the Library Council gave her idea on "What Work in the Library Has Meant to Me and What I Have Gotten Out of It As A Student." J. D.

OSTON (AP)—Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev wound up a top-level agricultural conference last night by chiding Soviet farmers for failing to show initiative in boosting their crop output.

TV NOTEBOOK

By: Bob Bennett

We are approaching the time of year when the lady of the house is apt to go around loaded down with brush, broom, mop and vacuum cleaner in a sudden burst of spring cleaning frenzy. Inasmuch as all electronic equipment is affected by dust accumulation, this might be the logical time to pass on a helpful hint before the cleaning energy is directed at a radio or television receiver.

In a radio, dust often accumulates between the plates of the tuning capacitor and as a result provides some startling noise effects as different stations are tuned in. In the TV receiver, dust in the high voltage circuit can react to the point where arcing and other discharging will result in a streaked picture and distorted sound.

The simple solution, of course, is to get rid of the dust. This is where the average housewife is likely to grab the vacuum cleaner and proceed to draw it out. Might we suggest, ladies, that you use the vacuum cleaner as a lower? A small hair dryer may do the job, also although it doesn't have quite the power of the vacuum cleaner.

On the subject of spring cleaning, BOB BENNETT'S TV has a few DUMONT TV Sets on hand which we would like to pass on to you at a good savings. Make it a practice to head for 200 East 27th St., when your thoughts turn to TV.

Cadillac

Finest Hour of the Twenty-Four!

He's traveling his favorite highway behind the wheel of his favorite car—and he's about an hour out from his destination.

What a happy prospect for a happy hour!

Imagine, for instance, the marvelous rest and relaxation it will bring him.

He'll just sit there with his hands resting gently on the wheel... cradled by those deep, soft cushions... and with the soft sound of the wind for a lullaby.

And insofar as his driving is concerned—well, what could be more restful? The car's every movement will be regulated by the merest touch of toe and hand. Steering, for instance, will be little more than a gesture... and braking will require only the gentlest pressure on the pedal.

And what a wonderful time it will be to think and plan! For his mind will clear and his spirits will rise with each passing mile.

Yes, he's about to enjoy one of the finest hours of the whole twenty-four—and it may even be one of the most profitable!

In fact, many of America's foremost executives will tell you that some of their wisest business decisions have been made at the wheel of a Cadillac.

As you might have gathered, you've been missing out on something wonderful if you haven't treated yourself to an hour in a 1955 Cadillac.

That's why we say—come in soon and take a "sixty-minute vacation" in the "car of cars."

The boys are waiting for you—and you'll be welcome at any time.

Proceed At Your Own Risk

By WOODSON T. ALLEN

Allen is agog, no less. (For anyone conducting a survey, there is available a variety of opinion as to what Allen may be, but just now, I'm agog.) The postman brought a card which plainly says that the Allen Coat of Arms is ready; hand colored, complete with shield, helmet, motto, mantling, and crest, with the name in Old English below the bearing. And they're going to explain the significance of these things.

So now Allen has "significance." Well, we can't keep the truth buried forever. They're going to send me a bibliography, too—just what I've always wanted. I'm sure I'll like having the Old English name below the bearing; it's my guess that nobody who is ANYBODY would DREAM of having it ABOVE the bearing.

It says that all branches of the American family of Allen are entitled to bear this ancient arms. I'm afraid that enthusiasm defeated reason on that point: I've discovered that the right is limited to those branches which can hustle up five bucks on short notice. Forsooth, this narrows the field. They say they've done quite a lot of searching in the Allen records; they want cash with the order, or else it will be sent C.O.D.

The card came from a "genealogical supply house." I am interested in the motto — there's a motto which has stuck with the clan ever since old Cattrap Allenus was the Royal Purveyor of Fiddle-strings to the Emperor Nero, and there is no record that any member of the family has ever gotten very far away from it. It is "Cibum; osurimus." Freely translated, it means, "Have the neighbors sent over any groceries?"

Too often, they haven't.

Back in the steamboat days, my uncle lived near Eustis. At low-water times, he fished some. When he saw a steamboat coming into a "shallow," he'd hook one of the giant bass so abundant there. Then he'd charge the captain five dollars to throw the fish back, and raise the water enough to float the boat.

The goats are sort of re-treads, says Lester Butler who has been selling peanuts around Madison for the 17 years since he lost both legs in a logging accident. The two goats shown here are Lester's fourth pair. Lester and the goats have sold over 250,000 bags of peanuts in 17 years. Laid end to end, that's a lot of peanuts.

Looking Over All Florida

ANY WEEK. Although it was only last week that we announced in this column All Florida's recipe contest, we already have received a number of really fine responses featuring All-Florida ingredients. It's amazing what a variety of dishes apparently can be concocted from materials produced in Florida. Keep up the good work and, on May 1, we will start printing the recipes.

One of our correspondents has discovered that Gainesville has more hurricanes than practically any place else in the country. Only they are man made winds with a very healthy purpose. Scientists at the University of Florida are trying to work out better materials and means for lessening storm damages to home, automobiles and other property — and, too, they are testing human reactions to high winds.

OUR COVER

"Touch me not; for I am not yet ascended to my Father."

For our Easter cover, Staff Photographer Trent Rogers turned his lens on one of the dramatic scenes of the Black Hills Passion Play which this year has attracted thousands to Lake Wales, where it is presented each winter. The Christus role is enacted by Josef Meier. Mary Magdalene, played by Adelle Reel, kneels before Christ to receive his bidding to "go to my brethren, and say unto them I ascend unto my Father, and your Father; and to my God and your God."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

ALL FLORIDA GETS ALL OVER

While walking along the street in Gainesville on Feb. 28, a piece of newspaper blew against my feet, and being a tidy soul, I picked it up. My eyes were caught by a title, "Canada in Florida" and my first thought was, "Is this the way they refer to tourists from Canada?" But the pictures showed me just what kind of tourists were meant and I read the article with great interest. Since my husband and I are very interested in wildlife, we decided to visit the St. Marks refuge ourselves. It was a most delightful afternoon and a revelation to us of what a really well administered refuge is like. We are still telling our friends of the deer, alligators and the many kinds of birds we saw, the vast stretches of marsh and pond, and beyond it all the Blue Gulf. Untouched by any kind of commercialization—no advertising signs, pop machines or gas stations, we felt that we had spent hours really close to unspoiled Nature.

(MRS.) AMY M. BEMHAR, Portland, Ore.

FLORIDA GIRL IN A DRESSY

Having just read the article about numerous requests for more pretty girls on the cover, I wish to add my two cents worth.

I think it would be wonderful if you would show a pretty girl in a pretty dress, for a change. I know there are pretty dresses for I see them in the shop windows. Will you please try an old fashion idea, for an aged reader.

MRS. A. M. BEMHAR, 411 Maple Ave., Panama City.

WE'LL SCRATCH IT

We like to have our backs scratched, but better still we like to have our funnybones tickled. Why don't you give us more cartoons, or even a joke page in All Florida Magazine?

The recent addition of the columns by Lu Murphy and Woodson Allen was a good start towards getting on the right track. They are funny—period. Keep it up.

My husband and I both agree that a few laughs won't stop us from reading your magazine, so please give with a few ticklers, and we won't complain again.

MRS. MARTHA LEE, Jacksonville.

THAT'S JUST ONE WAY

Your story "A Way of Life" (Mar. 13) was a very interesting story. There is only one thing and that is that you have to be a millionaire to be able to have that way of life. Now if they could build a home like that down in an average man's bracket then I could see it being a way of life.

ERNEST BRYNE, Daytona Beach.

ONE SUNNY, ONE STORY

My kids enjoyed your story on the bunny rabbit (Mar. 20) very much but they kept wanting me to turn the page and read them more about him with some more pictures. I guess you only had a short story on him, which I'm sorry to see. Why not have a story like that in your magazine about once every two or three months that the kids would enjoy.

J. S. BARNWELL, Ocala Beach.

THEY GO THROUGH A LOT

Your article on the testing of planes in Florida was very interesting to me because I learned a lot about what they go through to enable our pilots to fly with safe planes and also not have to worry about any protection for themselves against the different weather conditions.

JOHN W. WILLIAMSON, Jacksonville.

WE APPRECIATE SUGGESTIONS

I like to look at pictures, but I don't like to see them crowd out interesting reading matter.

How about making some of the stories longer, even if there is not room for such large pictures?

L. D. CONNOR, Ocala.

WE'RE GLAD

We continue to enjoy All Florida Magazine each week, and our friends and relatives in the North look forward to receiving it. I am sure that it will enjoy the growth it justly deserves during the days ahead.

W. GORDON SHERMAN, Ocala Beach.

NOW YOU SEE HER

Thanks for publishing Lu Murphy's photograph. A column is more enjoyable when the reader has seen the writer—makes it more like a friendly chat—particularly in the case of Miss Murphy, who is such a "friendly chatterbox."

CHARLES SMITH, Jacksonville.

CHARMING CHAMPION

She Splits Her Time Between Psychometrics And Race Track, Needlepoint And Play Pens

By KEITH VINING

A young mother works patiently on a design in needlepoint. As she answers your questions, slender fingers fly over the intricate pattern with practiced ease. She rises, her graceful figure making her appear even younger, as she steps over to the playpen to check on her baby, five months old Bruce.

You are jolted, when after resuming her handiwork, she answers your latest question: "Yes, I am giving several young people psychometric tests tonight to ready them for college entrance exams."

You feel even more surprised when she adds, "I majored in psychology at the University of Tennessee, then worked for a while as a psychometrist for the VA there."

Of course your greatest shock is felt when you look around the comfortable living room at all her gleaming trophies, the well-worn racing goggles and helmet, then try to realize that this pretty girl has that very day won the women's championship cup driving a powerful sports car through the running mile at Daytona Beach to set the record for the second year in a row.

You try to visualize the dainty hands, now plying a thin needle, as they looked gripping a bucking steering wheel; try to picture this graceful body as it tensed with the strain of guiding a roaring mass of steel at better than two miles a minute a few hours earlier.

You know that the even teeth now gleaming in a soft, friendly smile had been clenched hard in her lips, that the blue eyes twinkling at you over the needlepoint had been squinted against the sand's white glare, the distracting blur of the face of the crowd lining the course. You know she must have been deafened by the engines' roar, that the tender skin of her face and neck were stung by particles of sand driven by her terrific speed. You knew these things, you've seen them—but it is hard, watching this pretty mother, to accept the evidence of your senses.

You are talking to Louise Bird, a real charming champion, and you try to find out what she was thinking during those thrill packed seconds.

"I knew we had to keep the cup in Florida," she answers.

"Really uppermost in my mind—" Louise finally tells you, "I kept remembering that it would be time for Bruce's formula soon, and that I must finish and hurry home, for the new baby-sitter would never get it right!"

Next to the baby and her husband, John Bird, Louise probably loves racing and sports cars best. But she has so many fascinating interests, this 27 year old beauty, that you know her life would never be empty without the racing.

Louise came by her love of adventure honestly. Her father, George Laurel, was an engineer in one of the first TVA projects, Norris Dam, in Tennessee. He encouraged her tomboyishness.

And her husband, John Bird, certainly has contributed to Louise's spirit

PICTURES ON this page show only two of Louise Bird's four lives. In addition to being a champion racer and mother, Louise is working psychologist and top needle craft artist — and she has time to look beautiful, too, for her neighbors at Ormond.

of adventure. A sturdy Welshman with a dry sense of humor, John flew with the RAF during the War winning the highest honor, the DFC. He has raced motorcycles and cars all over the British Isles, the West Indies and the United States and holds many records.

Louise came to Florida several years ago in connection with her work, John a short time later. Meeting at the home of mutual friends who were sports racing enthusiasts, it was love at first sight between the adventurous Britisher and adventurous American. Before you could change a sparkplug Louise was trying her hand at John's powerful Jaguar, and they actually celebrated their honeymoon with Louise's first race.

THE ORIGINAL CURTIS-SUNNY ISLE PRODUCTS

WHAT IS PAPAYA

Papaya, a tree melon widely used in the tropics both as food and as medicine, is rich in vegetable papain called papain. This ferment, of greater efficacy than animal papain, has been found to have a marked effect in the treatment of gastric and intestinal disorders. A detailed account of its powers seems almost incredible but among other virtues it aids the gastric juices in preparing the food you eat for proper digestion and elimination of the indigestible matter; also of great benefit and relief of various stomach and bowel ailments, such as constipation, excessive gas, high gastric acidity, stomach and duodenal ulcers.

PAPAYA IS RICHER IN VITAMINS THAN ALMOST ANY OTHER FRUIT KNOWN

VITAMIN CONTENT A, in particular, seems to occur to the extent of 10,000 units to the pound of ripe fruit; B, 7,500 units; C, 7,500 units; D, 10,000 units. For the sake of comparison, a pound of butter contains 7,500 units of Vitamin A. NON-FATTENING, Papaya is entirely alkaline. This should be important in the treatment of colds. It should also be of special interest to those who are concerned with the problem of over-weight. It is our honest and considered opinion that the surface has only been scratched regarding the full benefits to be obtained from Papaya.

Papaya, the queen of all fruits, has sufficient good properties from a food and medicinal standpoint to warrant a little patience on the part of the people who need its properties or who want to profit thereby, in studying its peculiarities.

PAPAYA-PAPAIN For Health's Sake - A Digestive Aid

A Fruit having this power, must be of great value as an aid to digestion weakened from any cause, also it has been discovered that Papain has no action on living tissues and can be taken in any quantity. It attacks and destroys dead tissues and false membranes of the stomach and intestines. Papain in the fruit replaces Papain as a drug for quick relief in acute indigestion.

Recent research has proven that the PAPA YA Fruit acts as an antidote against bowel and stomach disorders, also that the effectiveness in ulcerations of stomach and bowels is well known. Gastritis and Dyspepsia are quickly relieved, and even a permanent cure may be effected.

Since the digestive properties of Papain have been recognized and a better understanding of its potential, there has been an ever-increasing demand.

Another interesting fact about the PAPA YA is the lack of starch content, either in the green or ripe fruit. Most of the elements have already been pre-digested by nature and its active enzyme principle aids digestion of other foods entering the stomach. That is the reason why PAPA YA can be retained in the stomach when other foods fall in severe cases of digestive disorders. Research still continues for further hidden merits of this Wonder Fruit. We are happy to be a part of its popularity.

MEAT TENDERIZER SALT FREE

As well as its other assets, in our research we have been able to formulate a product derived from the PAPA YA, a Meat Tenderizer that leaves no aftertaste or retards the flavor in its use as such for the benefit of those who wish to find a means to enjoy a tender cut of meat regardless of price, and to retain its full value, designed to make more Toothsome the lower-cost cuts and to improve the better grades.

Contains a Super-Saturate Solution of the digestive enzyme of the Tropical PAPA YA in which it acts and destroys the undesirable tough fibers in the same manner as it predigests your food entering your stomach with the help of nature and its active enzymes.

Singing Towers

By BLANCHE SYFRET McKENIGHT

THE bells ring out on Easter morning from the Bok Singing Tower and Mountain Lake Sanctuary, Lake Wales, proclaiming from their lofty belfry a message of hope, exultation and triumph.

Here, at the beautiful Sanctuary and Singing Tower, a gift to the nation by the late Edward Bok, pilgrims assemble this year at dawn on Easter morning, as in the past, to memorialize the resurrection of Christ. They came to meditate, to receive renewed inspiration and to find peace through the beauty of the flowers, through the birds, through the superbly beautiful architecture of the Tower, and through the music of the bells.

There is something about the beauty of the Sanctuary that stretches out to touch the visitor. It is more than ordinary beauty. It is beauty that combines soil and soul. "Make you the world a bit better or more beautiful, because you have lived in it." That was the philosophy Edward W. Bok's grandmother passed down through her family. And it is that on which the Sanctuary and Singing Tower are built. John Burroughs said "I come here to find myself. It is so easy to get lost in the world."

And there is magic in the Sanctuary bells—magic in their music, magic in their very metal. There is something soothing, healing, uplifting about them; unseen but felt—a strain of music that exhilarates and exhorts, and a strain of music that binds men strongly together.

There is an old legend which says the music of the bells was part of the mysteries of heaven. Up beyond the starry sky they were the soul of sound—in reality God's own harp, but at such a height they could not speak to the souls of men and so they came to earth, created in bronze. Ever since, the bells have been bridging continents, calling people closer to one another, closer to God.

In America, whose very existence is wrapped in a priceless Liberty Bell, chimes have long been a popular form of music and in the past 35 years, carillons, highest type of all bell music, have sprung up as good will gifts and as memorials.

Very often, the word chime is used when in reality a carillon is meant, and vice versa. A chime usually has eight, 10 or 12 bells. These are stationary and not swung as in the case of ringing peals. Some are rung automatically, but others are rung by a hand-directed mechanism. The notes of a chime correspond to those of a major scale, with incidental sharps and flats added, and only simple melodies can be played.

The carillon may be defined as a set of bells tuned to the intervals of the chromatic scale, proceeding entirely by half-tones. It has a compass of two octaves or more (a minimum of 23 bells), the lowest bell often being many tons in weight, with each preceding bell smaller, so that in the highest octaves the weight of each bell is but a few pounds. The bells in a carillon are hung stationary or "dead" in a structural steel framework so as not to swing.

The carillon is played by a skilled musician called the carillonneur. He sits before a keyboard or clavier and, like an organist, uses both hands and both feet and plays sometimes six or seven notes at once. The keys are arranged in sharps and flats like those of a piano, except that the individual keys are oak pegs about three-fourths of an inch wide and spaced farther apart. Each key or pedal is connected with its bell by an astounding number of rods and wires which move the spring-balanced clapper inside the bell.

An old-world instrument, the carillon had its origin in the Low Countries. In early medieval times the people of Belgium and Holland established watch towers with musical sets of bells called the "tintinnabulum." The tintinnabulum consisted of a group of four bells, usually small, which were rung to warn the people of broken dykes or attacking invaders. As time went on, clocks were introduced into the belfries and bells were struck to mark the passing hours. Slowly, more bells were added until a scale of crude chimes developed, giving folk airs or calls to war or worship, feast or labor. Finally, in the late 15th century, the majestic instrument called the carillon came into being.

The 17th century has been called the golden age of the carillon, for during that period two brothers, Franz and Pieter Hemony of the Netherlands developed remarkable

It's Buried Right Here?

$7 MILLION IN SILVER

THE centuries-old mystery of the Santa Margarita and her cargo of $7,000,000 in silver bullion may soon be solved if all goes well with a salvage expedition currently being outfitted at Riviera Beach. The treasure-laden Spanish galleon went down near Palm Beach in 1695 after running up on a shoal. Its remains are said to lie almost within hailing distance of the nearby bathing beach and Ivan H. Vestrem thinks he has found it. Vestrem, nicknamed "Dixie" Ivan, earlier in his career, discovered the remains of a galleon, dating to the approximate period when the Santa Margarita was lost, last summer while prowling the ocean bottom, 80 feet below the surface. The Santa Margarita legend is one of the few authentic accounts of hundreds in circulation. In fact, the rotting hulk was reported found about 25 years ago, but the peculiar jinx which guards so many of the ocean's treasures broke up a salvage expedition. She was never located again. It is reported that a diver, repairing a submarine cable near Palm Beach, discovered the Santa Margarita quite by accident and found her treasure intact. Taking a careful bearing on the spot he returned two years later with the necessary equipment to reclaim the hoard. The expedition was working against time, but time won out. Hardly had the first few bars been recovered when a hurricane, churning out of the Atlantic, sank the salvage vessel, drowned several of the crew and almost claimed the diver's life. Returning later to the scene, he was unable to find the vast treasure. The shifting ocean bottom sand, stirred by the tropical storm, had covered the spot. But this same sand is now being swept away by a newly-formed southbound submarine current, Ivan says. The process is baring objects long covered beneath the ocean floor. Vestrem, a "Norwegian Dan," was born in Minnesota and has spent a large portion of his last 20 years on the ocean bottom. A pioneer in the development of underwater paraphernalia, Ivan invented an aqua lung, similar to those popular today, more than 20 years ago. In 1937, he built the first self-contained helium-oxygen diving suit in which an associate, Max Nohl, descended to 420 feet in Lake Michigan, establishing a record which still stands. The following year he turned to sponge diving in the Tarpon Springs-Cedar Key

THAT MAP, being pin pointed by "Dixie" Ivan (above), gives approximate (very approximate) location of famous treasure off Florida's East Coast. Below, Ivan, being helped aboard by an associate, Arthur Meier, is bringing up from the deep a heavy pipe nearly 300 years old, from a Spanish treasure ship. They hope for far more valuable finds on the current expedition. At right, Louis Freeman, though not actually anticipating interference from sharks, barracuda and other so-called "rovers of the deep," stands by with a compressed air harpoon gun to ward off any that evidence curiosity, as he guards the treasure seeker at the ocean's bottom. It is a rough—but sometimes a profitable life.

ALL IS not gold that glitters, but some of these objects are more valuable than gold (above). Ivan is inspecting some grape shot, flattened from impact, that he found in the remains of an ancient galleon not far from Singer Island, just north of Palm Beach. The other objects are 900 year old hand made brass disk spears and shell pins, chains and strands, he salvaged while diving with an aqua lung. Below, Ivan and Arthur Meier look over another 900 year old piece of equipment from a Spanish treasure ship. At left, Ivan, a pioneer in underwater photography, braves himself in shallow water of Palm Beach for color shots of salvage operations.

STEAMBOATS IN THE HYACINTHS

BY JOHN WILSON SUMMERS
AND
ELLA TEAGUE DE BERARD

CHAPTER IX

THE rivalry of steamboats kept on when Mrs. Kate Spencer of Pilot Town was finished at New Berlin. She steamed into the river, casting a 12-foot spray at the bow, for her first attempt at supremacy of the river. Under the command of Capt. N. B. Broward, the Spencer found a good match in the Seth Low. One Sunday when Capt. William Crawford of the Seth Low pulled out from Pilot Town wharf, the Spencer started out from Mayport a little ahead. From that point on, there was a fierce race to Jacksonville. As the turnbuckles in the hold of the Seth Low were slack, they were lapping one another when she came into port half-a-boat length behind the Spencer. The victorious crew hoisted a broom to show that she had swept the river clean.

Spurred on to further prowess by this triumph, the Spencer landed her freight and started up the river to beat another rival, the Captain Miller. At Point La Vista they met, but the Miller's steam had run down during a four-hour lay-over at the dock and could not keep up with the Spencer, who was the winner again.

The carrier side-wheeler Wyoming saw brief service on the river. She was wrecked on St. Johns Bar.

The slowest boat on the river was the side-wheel walking beam boat Mystic, under the command of Capt. David Kemp. She was so slow that she was referred to as Kemp's Mistake. Her final doom was to be wrecked on Grassy Point.

Thus began the accumulation of steamboats to rust forever beneath their hyacinth covered graves on the bed of the St. Johns River.

A series of boats were brought to the St. Johns for passenger service.

Captain Kemp used the Mermaid in connection with the hotel at Magnolia.

As an independent, the iron side-wheeler, Governor Worth, ran between Jacksonville and Suwannee for two years before she was sold and her name changed to Rock Ledge.

Capt. John Amazeen operated the independent stern-wheeler Mermaid for several years before the boat's back was broken on a shell bank.

Bad luck continued to haunt the river. When the City of Georgetown was passing the City of Monticello out of Palatka, there was a collision and the City of Georgetown was sunk. The blame was placed on the Georgetown and William Hancock, pilot, was suspended for 90 days.

The small propeller Twilight, which was controlled by the Jacksonville merchants, Wightman and Christopher, and ran between Jacksonville and Middleburg, sank in Black Creek. When the boat was raised, it was found that the engineer's throat had been neatly cut from ear to ear.

Among the excursion boats on the St. Johns River were the Alice Howard, under the command of Captain Howard; the Brunette, Cinderella, Clara, (this boat was built by Captain Howard and operated for a while between Jacksonville and Mayport); the Clifton, Curlew, Victoria, Valuck, Carrie Ward, Gem, Abbie, William T. Stockton, Erie, Red Wing, Willie W. Little, Neil, Mayflower, and Ohio; the Wannita, Daisy, Mistleton, and Mabel F.

The Pioneer ran as a connecting boat between Sanford and Enterprise. Captain Fitzhugh built the Picolets at the town of the same name, to run between there and Jacksonville.

For the orange trade in that section, Captain Lawton used a stern wheeler of the same name, at Spring Garden.

The Alpaha, Escort, Princess, Putnam and Iola worked out of Palatka for excursion boats.

Night running was hazardous along the St. Johns. In order to light the way the pilot boats were usually carried in front of the iron shields. When lighted, these flaming chunks of wood cast an orange glow over the water. The glare cut the darkness enough for the men stationed on either side of the boat to poke their poles into the water to discover whatever obstructions might lay below the surface.

Added to the aggregation of river boats were the Laura, which ran briefly on the river; the Armswear, captained by Packer; and the larger boat Mechanic, whose captain was Steve Thompson. The Armswear burned at East Palatka.

Other boats were added to service on the St. Johns: the Governor Stafford, Biscayne, Ethel, St. Sebastian, D. Murcherson, Farmer, Santee, Gopher, Pilot Boy, Pope Gatlin, Colusia, David Kemp, Mayport and the Osceola.

The crowded river grew restless with the constant churning of its once leisurely waters. The soft breezes swaying the moss on the oaks seemed to sigh for lost tranquility; and all the while the water hyacinths grew into undulating blankets upon the river's surface.

Passengers see Author
The steamboats made regular stops at Mandarin, 15 miles from Jacksonville, for two reasons. One was to deliver the mail and the other to let the passengers see the famous woman who wrote "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Often when the steamboat whistle could be heard on the river, Harriet Beecher Stowe would go onto the porch of her home overlooking the river, seat herself decorously at a writing table and present to the eager tourists the satisfactory appearance of an industrious writer at work.

The travelers were familiar not only with her book, but with the articles which Mrs. Stowe had written about Florida. "Palmetto Leaves" told particularly of the advantages of living at Mandarin. Through her writings, Mrs. Stowe called attention to boats running regularly between Jacksonville and Enterprise with a stopover at Mandarin, which waited as anxiously as any other town along the way for the mail to come in.

At Mandarin wharf the excitement was possibly greater, as the amount of mail for the Stowes was understandably large, due to Mrs. Stowe's extensive correspondence and writings.

It seemed only fair for the steamboats to advertise Mrs. Stowe, when she had advertised them so completely in selling Florida to the North. On account of this, the steamboat Mary Draper out of Jacksonville offered round-trip tickets to Mandarin for 75 cents, with the assurance that the purchasers would see the famous Mrs. Stowe. The views of Mrs. Stowe on the porch of her dream house stimulated the sale of her books, which is what she probably intended they should do.

After the disastrous freeze of December, 1880, the settlement of Mandarin recovered from the disappointment of seeing the orange crop lost and began replanting of groves. The next year, the 1,200 inhabitants forgot the cruel onslaught of weather in their industrious work of managing three merchandise stores, building three churches, a school and a post office. When spring came again, the orange trees blossomed in the warm sunshine.

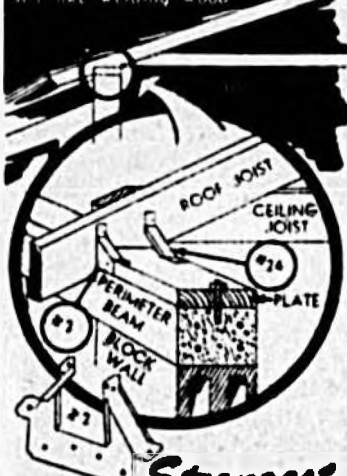

Two years later, the populace was sufficiently eased in mind to enjoy amateur theatricals. The Mandarin Amateur Dramatic Association gave performances on Mar. 27 and 28 of "A Scrap of Paper," in which comedy the young Harriet Beecher Stowe took part. A boat from Jacksonville carried a part of the audience, but in spite of those who had come from so far to see the play, the performance was not successful financially. It cleared only $30 during the two performances.

area but a sponge disease wiped out the beds and Vestrem's business.

About this time, Vestrem was credited with the development of a compressed air harpoon gun capable of piercing a 2x4 timber at 25 feet.

In 1939, he built the first passenger-carrying diving bell. The 20-ton monster, pulled to the bottom of Silver Springs by a motor-driven cable, took 12 sight-seers down for a look-around.

Vestrem continued his underwater ways in the Navy as a member of an underwater demolition team. The outfit gained fame as "Frogmen" in World War II.

The post-war years have seen Ivan a boat captain, shipyard worker, auto mechanic, painter, beachcomber and operator of a saw mill west of nearby Lake Park.

Since 1945, he has confined his ocean-bottom snooping to the east coast between Palm Beach and Sebastian. "I've always been intrigued by the crazy history of this area," he confides. "There's more history just off shore here than you would imagine."

To prove his point, Vestrem has a formidable collection of relics—coins, chains, halyards, blocks and other metal objects dating as far back, he says, as the 16th century. He has found coins dating from 1701, older "pieces of eight" and similar curios on Singer Island itself, just north of Palm Beach and not far from the public bathing beach.

And it's not unusual that the coastline in this area should be so rich in treasure. Even in the 16th and 17th centuries sailing vessels followed the Gulf Stream northward to take advantage of the four to five-mile-an-hour current. This same Gulf Stream, as the local chambers of commerce are quick to point out, is closer to the mainland at Palm Beach and Riviera Beach than anywhere else in Florida.

Actually, Vestrem has located several wrecks along Singer Island and vicinity. The one which claims most of his attention lies in 80 feet of water with 17 cannon and a few ribs exposed.

Working with meagre equipment early this year he salvaged samples of gold ore from the vicinity of the captain's cabin.

Of prime importance, however, are two of the wreck's cannon. Ivan believes them to be solid brass. "Sternchasers," as they were known in the days of the Santa Margarita, were mounted on the stern near the captain's quarters and fired aft.

When asked to explain why the several wrecks, one of which is in 20 feet of water barely 100 yards from the beach, have appeared almost overnight, Ivan has an interesting theory which has been borne out by local fishermen and marine experts.

In years past, a strong southbound submarine current would form during the summer months and wash the ocean bottom of loose sand temporarily exposing many hulks which were covered nine months of the year. Last year Ivan discovered this current was continuing long past its usual term and continuing to wash the ocean bottom.

An associate in the current venture, Arthur Mears, who has done considerable diving along the coast in salvage operations, explained it with the aid of a chart.

The northbound Gulf Stream has for years veered out to sea in the Cape Canaveral area due to the disturbing effect of the Bethel Shoal there. A resulting eddy and slight disturbing current was formed and swept south between the coastline and the Gulf Stream.

However, sand, borne by the Gulf Stream, has piled up on Hertzell Shoal, just north of Fort Pierce and far south of the original turning-off point. The resulting eddy and back flow, being so much farther south, continues now all year past the Palm Beaches and is constantly uncovering objects long sanded in.

Vestrem estimates that the bottom off the Palm Beaches is as it was perhaps 200 years ago. Thus, there is every reason to believe that relics of the long dead past will continue to appear along the busy coastline.

SINGING TOWERS

skill in making and tuning bells and brought the carillon into great popularity. By this time, too, the spirit of the carillon had invaded Northern France and Western Germany.

Later, for a period of approximately 200 years, the Hemony standard of bell tuning was well-nigh lost, and was rediscovered only during the latter part of the 19th century. Today, the dozen or so leading bell foundries of the world (four of which are located in America and two in England) adhere to the old Hemony art of producing bells with correctly tuned harmonies (over-tones).

According to William Gorham Rice, author, internationally famous as an authority on carillons, the process of tuning a bell by the Hemony standard is a complicated, costly and scientific one; but strictly speaking, means that in every properly made bell there are five distinct tones which must be brought into perfect accord. But this is not enough, he points out. "In a well attuned carillon, not only must every bell be in tune with itself, but must be in tune with all the associated bells."

The rediscovery of the art of producing bells with the correct tonal quality, together with the growing knowledge and appreciation of carillon music, has undoubtedly brought a revival of the old carillon art in this country, and in other parts of the world as well. Another factor which has entered into the recent phenomenal spread of this noble instrument in the Western Hemisphere is directly traceable to the world war of this generation.

In America and Canada, the wars have been responsible for the erection of hundreds of memorial chapels and towers. But the empty towers were like the human body without a voice. So, from time to time, a "voice of singing bells" has been fitted into these empty spaces. On the other hand, wars have been responsible for the silencing and destruction of many fine old carillons in Western Europe. During World War I the great carillon at Antwerp, Belgium, was silenced for four years. During World War II, the Germans destroyed many of the ancient carillons in France and Belgium. In most instances, the bells were melted down by the enemy for cannon. But the citizens of these countries, like their forefathers, calmly set to work to restore their idolized possessions.

There are, in the entire world, something over 300 carillons.

Unquestionably, the most ideally conceived and located carillon in this country and one of the finest and largest yet cast, is in the Bok Singing Tower, Lake Wales. In creating this magnificent instrument, Edward Bok, editor and philanthropist, fulfilled a dream which began when he was a boy. An extraordinary amount of skill, genius, creative art, to say nothing of the stupendous amount of material used and the staggering cost, has gone into the making of this Tower and Sanctuary. The 206-foot tower of steel, gray Creole and pink Etowah marble from Georgia, also native coquina rock, rises on the peak of Iron Mountain, highest point of land in the state (324 feet above sea level).

Another outstanding feature is the sundial on the south wall, showing the time of day and the day of the month, with a table at its base indicating the difference between sun and clock time in that latitude. Below the sundial is the inscription showing the dedication by Calvin Coolidge, former president of the United States, on Feb. 1, 1929. High up in the tower, are the bells, 71 in number, which cover a range of four and one-half octaves. The Bourdon, or largest bell, weighs about 23,000 pounds, and the smallest bell about 11 pounds. Inscribed on the Bourdon is the dedication of the carillon, which reads: "This carillon is a tribute of affection from Edward William Bok to his grandparents, lovers of beauty."

The music from the Sanctuary Bells is the art of Anton Brees, the bell master. Belgian-born Brees, who is now in his 27th year at the Bok Tower, is recognized as one of the world's master carillonneurs.

During the recitals, his able fingers move through transitions from hymn to folk song and classical music. He often has to re-write, rearrange and transpose, because very few pieces have been written expressly for his four and one-half octaves. Says Brees, "Anyway you look at it, it's hard work." But he is proud of his calling, for he is following in the footsteps of his father, the bellmaster at Antwerp Cathedral for 56 years.

The best vantage point to hear the music bursting from the Singing Tower is about 200 yards away from the base. The music spreads out through the openings of the grilles high in the Tower. It does not drop to the base, but stretches outward as the distance increases. Recommended for proper hearing are the southern and western slopes of the sanctuary. However, the direction of the wind and a person's own hearing range are to be considered.

On Easter Sunday morning, when the bellmaster's soul-stirring music fills the air, when the tones of the bells seem to melt and mingle with the rays of the morning sun, then truly does the Singing Tower, under his magic touch, become a great harp in the heavens, the countryside a great cathedral and the pilgrim, a child of God.

FLORIDA'S BIGGEST BOUQUET

By LILLIE MAY MARSHALL

"CALLED by any other name," 'tis said, "a rose will smell just as sweet."
But what of a cow barn transformed into the theatre for a flower show? Is it still a cow barn? Or is it a floral conservatory?

Well, that's what members of the Pioneer Garden Club of Ocala have been doing for weeks now—transforming the South Pavillion on U. S. Highway 301—recently used to exhibit cattle in the Southeastern Fat Stock Show—into a setting for the Fourth Annual State Flower Show on April 16, 17 and 18.

The show is sponsored by the Florida Federation of Garden Clubs, Inc., and the Pioneer Garden Club.

A vast difference in uses and atmosphere, yes, but it's surprising how a cow stall, under the talented direction of the Garden Club members, lends itself to becoming a spacious garden flower booth, with broad aisles. Just another bouquet to those who through their love of the beautiful, and association together in matters pertaining to protecting and using nature's offerings to the best advantage, in all stations of life and living. And the grounds round about the buildings afford ample parking space for those attending.

There the show, the theme of which is "Florida's Better Homes and Gardens," is offering an exchange of practical ideas for unusual and attractive, though inexpensive, decorations for interior and exterior of Florida homes.

FLORIDA FACTS

Florida felt very proud 85 years ago when, in 1887, the State Legislature established two institutions of higher education — State Seminars, they were called.

Tallahassee was the first one, while the other one was established at Palatka.

The Seminary at Tallahassee bore for many years the name, Seminary West of the Suwannee River and Palatka enjoyed the prestige of the name, Seminary East of the Suwannee River. Thus there was no rivalry as far as names were concerned, and in the beginning both were co-educational.

Florida was growing fast and the needs of the time had changed. Under what is known as the Buckman Law, the Legislature 45 years later re-named the Seminary Florida State College for Women.

The Seminary East of the Suwannee River was removed to Gainesville and under the same legislative act, became a permanent establishment as the University of Florida for Men. Today it is co-educational and the State Experiment Station in its agricultural field is a most important part of the college.

Since then she has won many certificates and trophies, outstanding being that of fastest woman driver at the Windsor Straight in Nassau, Bahamas in addition to the two consecutive records for the running mile at Daytona Beach.

The Birds are permanent residents of Florida, and make their home at Ormond, in a neat small home with a large yard literally filled with stripped down racers, hot rods, motorcycles and spare parts. Louise, having natural mechanical aptitude, helps repair and maintain all this equipment. She says, "Every woman who drives should learn something about the mechanics of her car. If more women would cultivate the same interests as their husbands, even if it is racing, there would be less broken homes."

—Now Louise is becoming eager for Sea Quest to be completed, so they may begin whatever they are planning for Sea Search, Inc. Though none of the young officers of Sea Search: John Bird, Louise or Jimmy Quakenbush will admit it, one suspects there is sunken treasure somewhere in their plans, John is now commuting between Ormond and the Bahama Islands, where he acts as a technical advisor to an underwater movie company.

Louise coaches her college people, tends Bruce, works needlepoint, and gets in an occasional practice run on the beach with the Jaguar while the big venture is readying.

You watch her deep blue eyes grow tender as she looks down at sleeping Bruce. You listen to the cultured well modulated voice of this young woman and it is hard to realize the cold nerve and driving determination that dwells beneath the pleasant surface. You wonder if she will dive down around the reefs with the boys for whatever they seek when the time comes.

You wonder, and it all seems rather incredible until you remember that metal juggernaut hurtling down the beach at 122 m.p.h. that afternoon. Then you know she'll dive if it is necessary. You know this charming champion is capable of doing anything she sets out to do.

FLOWER SHOW

Only those plants or accessories grown in Florida will be used in arrangements—but what a wealth of variety that permits—from driftwood to orchids!

A Florida living room, suggestive of the theme, will be in artistic competition; a dining room and outdoor living displays, each entry conforming to the theme of the show. As in all flower shows, growth on the Florida conservation list is banned in arrangements.

Junior Garden Club members in the three age groups up to fourth grade pupils fifth and sixth graders, and seventh grade students, will display in addition to the horticulture, specimen and artistic arrangements, decorations, hanging gardens.

Points of judging will be based, in the arrangements division, on design, color, distinction and relationship to the theme; and in horticulture, arrangement, garden design, and maintenance.

Mrs. Bernard Fisher is general chairman of the event; Mrs. Peyton A. Lidell, co-chairman; and Mrs. E. W. Oriskany, chairwoman. Mrs. Eugene Smith of Palm Beach is president of the Florida State Federation of Garden Clubs.

DO YOU KNOW?

That Andrew Jackson regarded food production as the main purpose of agriculture and claimed that growing of tobacco should be discontinued because it was not a food plant? Youth Drowns In Prairie Lake

The body of a three-year-old boy was recovered from Prairie Lake about 30 minutes after a motorboat in which he and his father were riding capsized yesterday afternoon.

Homer Sewell, Altamonte Springs, coroner for District Six, identified the drowning victim as Craig Tate, son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Tate, 1608 Pinewood Ave., Orlando. The boy was pronounced dead at 3:10 p. m.

The boat, which was pulling two men on water skis, overturned when it either hit an obstruction or made too sharp a turn. Tate was at the controls.

The father could not swim. Deputy Sheriff A. E. Evans said.

The Maitland Fire Department quickly responded to the call, but lacking a rescuer, called in the Winter Park Fire Department. Deputy Evans also went to the scene.

Artificial respiration was given and the resuscitator applied by the Winter Park Fire Department's rescue squad, but the child failed to respond. The boy was pronounced dead by Dr. W. B. Johnson, Winter Park.

The child's body was found in about 10 feet of water some 150 feet from the south shore.

Coroner Sewell ruled it an accidental death and said no inquest would be held.

The boat was owned by J. A. Pavelchak, Route 1, Maitland, Pavelchak and Charles Reinhard, 218 South Grove St., Freeport, Long Island, were on water skis behind the boat.

Salk Polio Vaccine May Be Given Soon

Dr. Bird Foresees Action

Nation Awaits Findings Report

"We could start giving the vaccine next week," Dr. Terry Bird, Seminole County Health Officer, told a Herald reporter today.

He made the statement as the county and the nation waited for the big secret of the Salk polio vaccine to go off like a time bomb at 10:20 a. m. tomorrow.

The secret, of course, is how effective the vaccine was in preventing paralytic polio in children tested last year.

If it is labeled a success, the vaccine will be administered to approximately 1,700 first and second grade pupils in Seminole County, Dr. Bird reported. County physicians will air in clinics which will be held in each school.

Vaccine also will be available to other children through physicians, Dr. Bird said.

The polio vaccine will be furnished from a supply being purchased by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis with March of Dimes funds. It will be made available by the Foundation without charge to State Health officers for use in the school groups. Supplies also will be distributed through the usual channels at the same time.

Dr. Bird said the Florida State Health Department had been advised that vaccine would be delivered to it within 48 hours after tomorrow's announcement, if the vaccine is a success. The Seminole County Health Unit should receive a supply within (Continued On Page Eight)

Intensive Hunt Is Begun For Convict Missing At Camp

By MARIAN JONES
Herald Correspondent

OVIEDO—The fourth Negro convict in a little more than a month escaped from the State Road Camp here early today. Authorities immediately began an intensive hunt.

The prisoner, a trusty who was a cook at the camp, was identified as Dan Carter, serving two years for possession of marijuana.

Carter reportedly fled about 3 a. m. His escape was discovered after it was found that he had not started to cook breakfast.

Highway Patrolmen, Sheriff's deputies and other officers fanned out in an attempt to capture him. Carter was believed to still be in the vicinity of Oviedo.

Three Negro convicts escaped from their camp early last month. One of the men was killed and the other two wounded in gun battles with officers.

Southern Bell Co. Urges Its Employees To Return To Jobs

Southern Bell Telephone Company has urged employees still on strike to return to their jobs and declared that "it has become increasingly clear to the public, and to us, that the best way to end this strike, which has interrupted service to thousands of people, is to return to work."

The company statement stressed that "Telephone people belong to the public, and the trust placed in them by the public, and we believe most of them take this responsibility seriously and would like to be back. We urge those remaining on strike to consider whether they are serving their own best interests and those of the public by staying away long."

"We urge union officials to stop keeping employees from their jobs by holding out false hopes to them that the company will finally grant the leaders' unreasonable demands. A liberal proposal is on the bargaining table now, carrying a wage increase and many other contract benefits. Union leaders should not deny telephone workers these benefits any longer."

"The wage offer, amounting to over 6 1/2 million, would give immediate increase to nine out of ten of our employees. The remaining employees, the beginners in the business, would get from one to four increases within 12 months as their experience increases."

"In these four weeks it has become increasingly clear to the public, and it must now be clear to those still on strike, why an uninterrupted service clause is essential to a new contract. The real reason why the new agreement has not been reached before now is the continued refusal of union leaders to see what seems obvious to everyone—that the public must be protected against strikes during the life of the new contract."

W. L. Getzen Ends 25 Years Of Work

JACKSONVILLE—W. L. Getzen, investigator in charge of the Alcohol and Tobacco Tax office of the Internal Revenue Service, has retired after 25 years service.

For the past 22 years he has been chief U.S. beverage agent in Florida.

A native of Lake City, Getzen's family has been in Florida since before Civil War days. His grandfather, Capt. F. W. Getzen of Fort White, was a member of the Legislature and one-time tax collector for Columbia County.

County Prisoner Found Dead In Cell

John Pittman, Negro, about 35, of Sanford, was found dead in the County Jail this morning, the Sheriff's office reported.

Pittman was jailed last night on charges of public drunkenness, aggravated assault, and resisting arrest.

Cause of death was unknown. An autopsy was being performed today.

Ministerial Assn. Lauds Relationship

Group Adopts Resolution Praising Navy Relationship With Community

The Seminole County Ministerial Assn. has unanimously adopted a resolution praising the relationship of the Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station with residents of this area.

Food-Short Bolivia Planning Migration To New Farmlands

LA PAZ, Bolivia—Food-short Bolivia is planning a gradual migration of its Indian peasants to open new farmlands in the untilled East.

Eighteen months of agrarian reform have failed to feed Bolivia's 3,100,000 inhabitants. For one thing, it takes a lot of surveys to cut up great tracts of farm land. For another, the Bolivian Indian has to be urged to drop his habit of centuries and grow more than enough for his own family's needs.

60 Bolivia still must import at least 25 million dollars worth of foodstuffs yearly. In its inflationary crisis, millions of dollars worth of food come as a gift from the United States.

Large Crowd Gathers For Sunrise Service

An estimated 1,600 persons filled Memorial Stadium yesterday to hear once more the age-old story of the resurrection of Christ.

And they were assured by the Rev. John L. Miller, the speaker at the Easter sunrise service, that "The God who can make a tree grow out of the desert, can raise your life and mine."

Using as his sermon topic, "He Shall Bring It To Pass," he said: "We believe in the resurrection. He who told of the burial of the tiny seed in the earth that the flowering plant might grow out of its darkness, was giving us a parable of His own death and resurrection. He knew that the world had turned truth wrong side out. Death was not a death. It was a life."

All the while we are seeking Christ in strange places—in power, in tumult, in grand schemes, in fleeing events that seem to be shaking the world, the Rev. Mr. Miller declared, "He is walking quietly by our side, waiting to ask: 'Whom seek ye?'"

"When the women on Easter morning went to the tomb in search of their Lord, the angel reminded them of the appointment Jesus had with his disciple in Galilee," the minister added. "What a rebuke to our too human misconception of Jesus!"

The Rev. Mr. Miller said people are forever returning to some tomb in search of the Lord—to a dead (Continued On Page Eight)

Deluge Of Ballots Delays Announcing

Announcement of winners in the American Automobiles Association's "Cautious Cop Contest" has been postponed because of a last-minute deluge of ballots. The winners were scheduled to have been announced yesterday.

Kenneth C. Kinkle, manager of the AAA's North Florida Division, said tabulators had but partially sorted and counted the ballots in only two of the contest's seven classifications as of Friday night.

"We hope to have the ballots screened for a final canvass by a board of judges within a few more days," he said.

Patrolman Arnold Williams of Sanford was among the leading contenders in a sampling of votes recently.

An estimated 30,000 votes were cast in this year's contest—2,000 more than in the 1954 competition. The campaign ended March 31.

There will be one winner in each of the seven classifications. Prizes include brief vacations in Cuba, Nassau, Tampa, Miami Beach and Palm Beach for the officers and their wives.

Co-sponsors of the tourist-promotion campaign were the State Chamber of Commerce and the Florida Peace Officers Association. Dr. Jay F. W. Pearson, president of the University of Miami, was honorary chairman.
