Citrus And Cattle Bring Prosperity To Town Of Geneva

Geneva, a little village 11 miles southeast of Sanford, is located amid orange groves, sparkling blue lakes, and during the past year has enjoyed prosperity from its citrus and the cattle industry in the surrounding pine lands.

...one obstacle remained in the way to Sanford, an antiquated, narrow bridge over the St. Johns River. Now huge bulldozers can be seen preparing the approaches for a modern concrete span over the river a short distance south of the old bridge with its hand-operated span.

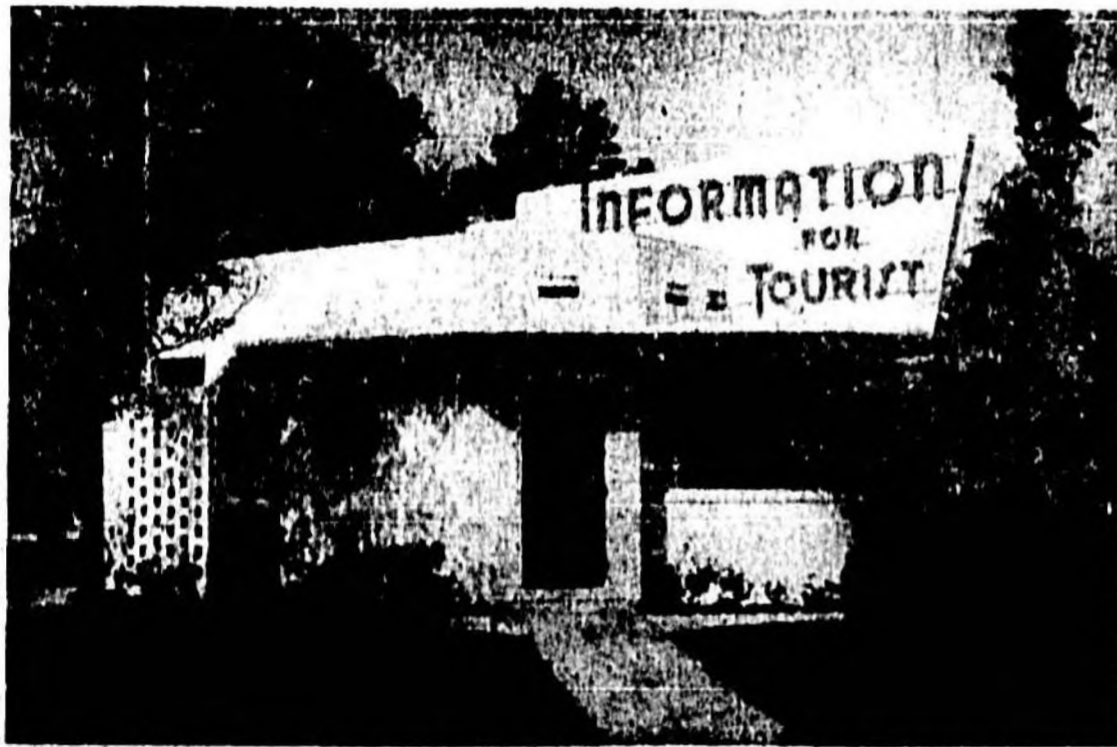

Another new resident near the lake is John Leffler, retired Pitts- burgh oil man. Other new homes have been built by E. N. Sutton, Harry Simpson built a new home and set out groves of grapefruit and planted 100 loblolly nut trees.

New Oil Well Drilled By Suniland Co.

SANFORD, Jan. 23. (PNS)—Suniland Oil & Refinery Company started the new year by bringing in another new oil well in the Suniland field. The new well started production at 147 barrels per day.

St. Johns River is a growing little community of more than 25 homes. A. A. Jane is the developer.

Florida's Forest Products Show Big Increase In Value

Florida's forest industries brought the state $173,948,000 in wholesale manufactured value during 1947, according to State Forester C. H. Coulter. This figure represents an increase of some $40,749,710 over the $133,469,290 wholesale manufactured value of forest products reported for 1946.

Some counties in Florida claim to have as many as 16 different types of soil.

Sanford Zoo Is One Of Sanford's Main Attractions

Deer On Monkey Island Afford Moment Of Wild Excitement

Monkey Island in the Sanford Municipal Zoo was the scene of a major crisis one night recently. Ghosts or banshees never created more dip than the 14 little monkeys.

Three strange monsters roaming the island's private premises, fled pell mell in screaming terror to the topmost rungs of the trapezes hanging over the hut on their island.

The cause of the uproar and chattering was nothing more formidable than three little deer, two yearlings and a fawn, which had been transferred from the large-enclosed island to the island so that they might escape the menacing horns of a pugnacious white buck. One of the yearlings had been badly ripped by the long sharp pointed horns of this new comer from near Lake Superior, and Zoo Superintendent Sid Richard and Zoo Keeper B. G. Davis decided the time had come to make the transfer.

The young deer quickly adapted themselves to their new island home but the monkeys resented the intrusion and held a loud council. The loudest of all said Mr. Richard with a grin, was old Jocko L. Lewis, who boldly counseled the monkeys to go on strike and ignore the deer as socially unacceptable.

Al Smith, the smallest simian of the 13 spiders, lifted a shrill voice in the form of a motion which received a resounding "aye" in favor of the proposal. The old Himalayan, however, did not vote, being too concerned that he might lose his harem. The chattering increased at the prospect of cold war, and the three mother monkeys hugged their whimpering offspring closer.

The resulting confusion sent the other animals of the Zoo into a sympathetic uproar. The shrill and mournful howls of the coyotes blended with the earth trembling roars of the four caged lions. Sid the Puma, who has on a terrorized workers in the City Hall when he escaped from his cage, tried in vain to get out again. Two big alligators, aroused from their usual sleepy indifference, bellowed and roared like angry hogs. Jiggs, the mandrill ape, flew in a rage and viciously shook the steel bars of his cage. The Three bears, Peggy, Happy and Betty, blew like torpedoes. Only Jerry the Jap ape, reminded calm in his cage.

The birds fled to the huts and cry as the eagles screamed and the parakeets squeaked. "Hello, what's going on here?" The commotion attracted the attention of the police in the nearby Station

IS THIS BAMBI?

"Frightened Fawn," is the title of this photograph taken by Ted Swalm, local photographer. It was accepted for showing in the recent annual exhibition of the Photographic Society of America at St. Louis, Mo., one of the leading photographic societies in the country.

Camera-Hunting In Florida Wilds Has Strong Adherents

From spotlight portraits of babies in a Sanford studio to candid photographs of vicious bears, alligators and snakes in the heart of the Everglades or Oklawaha Swamp seem like a far cry. But it is a gap easily bridged by Ted and Neil Swalm, of Raymond Studio, here. Furthermore, their spare time occupation of camera-hunting in the wilds is gaining them an international reputation as nature photographers.

graphers" in this year's edition of the Photographic Society of America journal. His picture entitled "Frightened Fawn," reprinted on this page, was accepted for showing in the recent annual exhibition of the society held in St. Louis. Another nature picture, of water moccasins, earned Mr. Swalm a merit certificate through his degree of Master of Photography at this year's annual convention of the Photographers' Association of America in Chicago.

Three other photographs of a Florida chameleon, a flying squirrel and an otter were hung in the recent Eleventh International Salon of Nature Photography at the Buffalo Museum of Science, N. Y.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Swalm, who work together as a photographic team, scorn hunting with the more usual tools of that trade, guns. The camera, they contend, is not only more humane but requires greater patience and skill.

Mr. Swalm took all of the aerial views and many of the other pictures appearing in this edition, including the "Bear Up A Tree."

French Courts Relax Trials Of Nazi Occupation Collaborators

PARIS, Jan. 24. — (AP) — France has just about finished the long task of trying accused collaborators with the Nazis, more than five years after liberation.

Among 8,000 convicted collaborators still in jail is the world's oldest prisoner of state—93-year-old ex-Marshall Henri Philippe Petain, beloved hero of Verdun and hated chief of the Vichy regime.

Petaim's sentence of death was commuted to life imprisonment in a fortress on the island of Yeu, off the Atlantic coast. The government feels so strongly about him that it has ordered his removal to the island of Yeu, off the Atlantic coast.

Indonesian Police Search For Dutch Rebel Leader

JAKARTA, U. S. I., Jan. 24. — (AP) — Indonesian police were enlisted under the new federal army today in a vast manhunt for an outlawed Dutch captain whose forces made a hit-run raid on the big West Java city of Bandung yesterday.

Premier Mohamed Hatta told reporters that the Dutch rebel leader, R. P. P. (Turk) Westerling, whose forces seized key points in Bandung early yesterday, but later withdrew after bloody fighting, about 600 men are said to have taken part in the raid.

Neutral military sources in Bandung estimate that the outbreak killed 365 Indonesian soldiers and civilians before they vanished into the hills.

Hatta said: "We do not know where Westerling is, but we certainly will try to arrest him. He is more than a rebel. He is an enemy."

Less than two weeks ago, Westerling was reported to have visited Jakarta, but at the time the U. S. I. hesitated to arrest him. Hatta then said that if Westerling followed out his promise to start trouble, he would be nabbed.

A top Indonesian military chief today blamed the Bandung raid on a "mobility" of native soldiers in the Dutch army.

Boston Robbery

Several other ex-convicts were grilled overnight by local and state police. Authorities said some may be released today and others will be held for further questioning. Their names were withheld.

Meanwhile, special squads toured "hot" spots in search of clues which were running low as the second week of the investigation unfolded.

The state's chief prosecutor, Atty. Gen. Francis E. Kelly, issued a flat statement last night that "some one connected with Brink's may be connected with the job."

He said there was a striking similarity between the Brink and the Sturtevant holdups.

Detectives questioned four Brink's garage employees during the night. Their names were not disclosed. They were grilled about the movements of trucks in and out of the company's vaulted garage the night of the robbery.

Investigators said evidence is growing stronger that the raiders were completely familiar with movements of employees.

They knew the time—almost to the minute—that a guard left a bullet proof window near the company's money cage, detectives said, and that one of the men in the cashier's office could not see without glasses. They swiftly knocked off the glasses of this employee.

Another bunch of money wrappers were found last night not far from the spot where others were picked up Sunday.

Markings indicated they were for $1,000, $500, and $100 bills. Currency of that denomination was taken in the robbery.

Forest Fire Control System To Be Expanded

TALLAHASSEE, Jan. 24. — (Special) — Construction of forest fire control installations in the 10 additional Florida counties which will come under organized forest fire protection on July 1 is expected to be completed on schedule, Fire Control Chief Owen R. Douglas of the Florida Forest Service said today.

Construction necessary to begin the protection service in the new areas includes lookout towers, radio base stations, telephone lines, and operating headquarters for units.

The ten counties to come under protection are: Clay, Holmes, Indian River, Jackson, Lake, Lee, Leon, Marion, Walton and Washington. Those will bring the number of counties forest fire protection units to 30.

At present there are 2,209,765 acres under fire protection by the state forest service. Addition of the additional counties will place about 12,000,000 acres under protection.

Douglas said efforts to acquire cover also delayed construction somewhat but that workers have caught up and should finish in time to begin fire protection in all counties by July 1.

Cost of installations will vary in each county but the state and federal governments will bear the cost of initial installation while the county will share the operating costs with the state and federal governments.

Counties already under protection are: Alachua, Bay, Calhoun, Columbia, Dade, Duval, Escambia, Franklin, Gadsden, Hillsborough, Liberty, Madison, Nassau, Orange, Volusia, and Wakulla.

All of the counties in which installations are now being constructed, except Indian River, voted for county forest fire protection units in the 1948 general election. Fire control in Indian River county was authorized by the 1949 Legislature in a local bill presented by the Indian River delegation.

Formosa Affair

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24. — (AP) — Atlantic Coast Steamship Company today asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to acquire the operating rights of two other companies between Atlantic coast and Gulf of Mexico ports.

The proposed price is $28,000. The rights are held by Southern Steamship Company and Argelines Incorporated (Clyde-Mallory Lines). All of the companies involved are headquartered in New York City.

Southern and Argelines, which joined in the application, told the ICC that their entire pre-war fleets operating on the routes involved were destroyed during World War II.

Messiah Madama Chiang Kai-shek, at her oratorical best, today appealed for confidence in Nationalist China.

"The Chinese people will never be converted by aliens. The Communists have captured much of China's territory but nothing of her soul."

She branded as false reports of disunity between the Formosans and Chinese.

"China is an indivisible entity," she said. "We are fighting for freedom of a nation. Our revolutionary task has not failed—it has not been completed, but this does not mean failure."

Thurmond Clark ordered the police to return the gems to Hudson. The 58-year-old convict told the judge he obtained the jewelry from a man he stalked in a poker game.

'Little Blockade' Relaxed By Soviet Frontier Guards

BERLIN, Jan. 24. — (AP) — The Russians appeared today to tighten their grip on Berlin-bound truck traffic after a slight relaxation of their "little blockade" measures.

Only six to eight German trucks an hour got past the Russian guards on the way to Berlin this morning, compared with the ten to 12 trucks that were getting through hourly last night.

West-bound trucks from Berlin, however, were passing this border point between the British and Soviet zones without difficulty.

German and allied military trains also cleared the frontier on schedule.

The Soviet frontier guards imposed their slow-down on truck traffic to Berlin last weekend, apparently in retaliation for a short-lived American move to take over the vacant part of a Berlin railway building.

After the first clamp-down, in which American trains were held up for as long as five hours and trucks jammed up at the border, the Russians appeared to be easing off later yesterday.

It could not be determined whether the new ease was due to tightening of the "little blockade" or merely to the change of

Frank Robinson To Conduct Research

Gainesville, Fla.—Frank A. Robinson has been named assistant apiculturist on the staff of the Agricultural Experiment Station to inaugurate research with honey plants in Florida. It is announced by Director Harold Mowry. He has already reported for duty at the Main Station.

Robinson holds both B. S. and M. S. degrees from Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, and for nearly three years has been employed at the Southern States Bee Culture Field Laboratory of the U. S. Department of Agriculture at Baton Rouge, La.

The research has been set up at the request of the Florida State Beekeepers' Association, whose members realize a need for more information on existing honey plants and perhaps more and better adapted honey plants.

Director Mowry says Mr. Robinson will check the nectar-bearing qualities of clover and other known and potential honey plants, as well as their distribution. He will endeavor to aid beekeepers to supply their bees with natural foods which will increase honey production, cut down on expenses of moving bees to new pastures, and avoid the necessity for continued feeding of bees over periods when little nectar is available.

Champagne Makin Is Combination Of Art, Time, Taste

URBANA, N. Y., Jan. 24.—(AP)—Turning a cluster of grapes into a bottle of champagne is about as complicated as motherhood. I found this out during an afternoon in a winery, here in the heart of the Finger Lakes region known as "the champagne district of America."

The instruction came from Stewart Underhill head of the Urbana Winery Co., whose family has been making grapes in New York off and on for 150 years.

I accepted it gladly. For 150 years people have been showing me through steel plants, auto plants, airplane plants or buttonhole factories. Nobody ever gave me a steel beam for a souvenir, a motor car, a B-36 bomber—or even a buttonhole.

But a trip through a winery—well, that was something else. The last I could expect was the freedom of its press.

And my heart really bounded when I entered the first chamber in the winery—which has more than a mile of tunnels. It was filled with huge oak and cypress casks holding from 500 to 9,000 gallons of wine. I figured roughly there must be at least 160 of these casks. And I figured also that if I sampled a beaker or two from each cask—just to mult over its bouquet—I would be there until summer.

"Don't know if I'll be able to make it," I murmured throatily. "Oh, it won't take too long," answered my guide, Charles Fournier, the chief winemaker, who learned his art at the French home of champagne in Rheims.

Well, to get down to the bitter truth, in a trip through a winery they spend most of the time telling you how wine is made. They don't feel it is necessary for you to test a sample from each cask. It seems they have people paid to do this. And there is a long waiting list for the jobs.

So, getting drier at every step, I learned how grape squeezing ends up in a champagne bottle.

The grape juice, sugar and yeast ferment happily together in the oak casks for months. The wine is then drawn off and blended with other wines—and this is where the winemaker's skill enters. The blended wine then is put in bottles, more yeast and sugar are added, and the bottles are corked and laid on the sides. There they mediate for years.

"It is the yeast released by the fermenting yeast that makes the

U. S. Inspection Of Tomatoes Please Buyers, Growers

JACKSONVILLE, Jan. 24. (Special)—Government inspection of tomatoes began last week for the first time in the history of the Florida City State Market Reports indicate growers and buyers are pleased with this service. Auction sales of tomatoes start this week and the market anticipates 10,000 to 11,000 field crates of fair quality tomatoes. A heavy volume of Pole and String beans and a light volume of squash will be available, according to reports.

In addition to a good volume of string beans, the market anticipates ten acres of cabbage ready for the market.

"Cabbage and cauliflower are available at the Palatka State Farmers' Market. In spite of a weak market, 18,000 acres of cabbage and 1,500 acres of cauliflower moved during the past week.

Chicken Raisers Advised To Buy Quality Chicks

FARMERS ADVISED TO START HIGH QUALITY CHICKS FOR SUCCESS

Gainesville, Fla.—Farmers who are planning to start chicks within the next few weeks for the laying flock next fall were advised today to get high quality stock from a hatchery cooperating with the National Poultry Improvement Plan.

"High quality chicks may cost a little more when purchased, but they will pay for themselves in the long run through their high egg production," said W. H. Melton, poultry specialist with the University of Florida Agricultural Extension Service.

He explained that high quality chicks come from good, healthy, high-producing flocks and have health and vigor that will enable them to stand up well under the strain of heavy egg production.

Farmers who do not know of hatcheries cooperating with the National Poultry Improvement Plan may obtain a list from Dr. D. C. Gilles, State Live Stock Sanitary Board poultry veterinarian, Tallahassee, Florida.

From every 100 straight-run chicks started, the farmer may expect to get 40 quality pullets.

Before the chicks arrive, Mr. Melton pointed out, the farmer should be sure that his brooder house, stove, and feeding and watering equipment are adequate and are clean and in good working condition.

The poultry specialist also advised farmers to use high quality, proven feed for their chicks and to follow a feeding schedule that will keep the birds eating and growing rapidly.

"It is very important," he explained, "to keep the brooders and equipment clean and in good working order, make brooding conditions as comfortable as possible, provide plenty of good feed, and keep a close watch on the chicks to be sure they are developing normally."

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has demonstrated that baby chicks may be raised by an high as 20,000 feet

James Melton Of Metropolitan To Sing At Florida

GAINESVILLE, Jan. 23.—(Special)—James Melton of the Metropolitan Opera Association and the University of Florida's most distinguished "singing alumnus," will return to the campus Thursday, February 9, at 8:15 P. M. for a concert in the Florida Gymnasium.

It will be the former University of Florida student's first visit since he gave a concert here in 1917 as his contribution to the Metropolitan Opera Association.

Melton credits the former University President Dr. A. S. Murphree with encouraging him to "embark on a singing career."

During his visit here in 1917, the Metropolitan Opera Association's leading tenor received the University's first honorary Doctor of Music degree.

Melton's appearance on campus February 9 will be sponsored by the Lyceum Council. The concert will be staged in the new Florida Gymnasium in order to accommodate the large crowd expected to attend.

For the concert, Melton will draw from his large repertoire of songs which number over 4,000. A biographical sketch of the singer says of him:

"James Melton may rightfully be called the 'All American Star' of the music world, and his legion of admirers take pride in the fact that, native of the South (he was reared in Texas), he received his voice training and operatic schooling in this country.

Another reason that makes a Melton appearance a highly successful one is that he is a program planner without equal. Whatever the song, whether an operatic aria, a familiar classic, or some folk melody, he imbues it with a personal quality.

Berlin's Growing Refugee Problem Stumps Red Cross

By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY AP Newswriter

BERLIN — Horrified west Berlin is wondering how to cope with its growing refugee problem. At the rate of 100 a week, men, women and children are coming from the Soviet occupation zone to seek asylum in the west. None are ever turned back.

At present there are approximately 10,000 refugees in the western sector of the city.

The West Berlin city government cares for about 3,500 in city-run camps. Another 3,000 are being cared for in nine camps run by the German Red Cross and other German relief agencies.

It has been strictly a German problem since May 1949, and a money-short city government is surely pressed.

German officials estimate it costs about $40,000 a month to take care of the camps.

Some refugees have been placed in private homes and get rations from the city. A few, usually former Russian prisoners of war whose families already are in the west zone, are flown out. The bulk remain in West Berlin.

A pressing, immediate problem is the sub-standard living conditions which prevails in the refugee camps.

West Berlin authorities have organized a screening system for all refugees. They say pseudo-refugees frequently are sent over to act as agitators or informants for the east. Other refugees are not considered in the regular classification, and are regarded as migrants.

As a result, 40 per cent of all those received are not listed as legitimate refugees and are not aided by the city. What becomes of those?

An Allied officer said that many of them are out of all proportion being in the black market. A few turn to crime. Some manage to find enough work to earn a living. And others are helped by private relief organizations.

Some refugees can be certified for permanent residence in the west sector, but the number is very small compared with the total influx. Berlin's government cannot approve more than 700 a month.

An Allied officer said "the biggest problem is what of their future?"

He summarized the younger refugees, especially would adjust themselves and make a new start.

"The middle-aged and old, they are a problem. Some day we will all be gone from Germany. And the Germans will have on their hands, old, infirm, and sick people who have no home to go to, no new place to go."

that costs less per pound than some "Lowest-Price Three" models.

There's more—much more—but that gives you the idea:

You have a lot to choose from in the 1950 Buick line. So much so that we can truly say here's a car to gratify any taste, and prices to suit practically any purse.

Will you see your Buick dealer just to see if that isn't so?

It has been eight long years since Buick has been able to bring you a full and complete line and say, "Sir—suit yourself!"

We can now.

Never before could we give you a choice of four wheelbases, three engine sizes and five power ratings.

We can now.

Never before could we offer you an array of models that ranges from simple, practical utility-type coupes to sportsters as sleek and commanding as the stunning, Buick-fashioned Riviera.

We can now.

We have long offered you valve-in-head efficiency. For 1950 we have higher compressions and greater power in every engine—plus a new engine—the F-263—

TUESDAY, JAN. 24, 1950
TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

There is no teacher comparable to experience. Many have experienced blessings because of their kindness to a sick person or an unfortunate one, to friends. I have learned by experience that the Lord hath blessed me for thy sake.—Ge. 30:27.

The City of Ocala expects to start construction on its swimming pool in the near future.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt revealed in her memoirs that her husband "hesitated" on his third bid. So did a lot of other people.

The new state tennis singles champion is Ricardo Balbier, Rollins College student, who has frequently been seen in action on Mayfair courts in this city.

Lewis Schott, director of the State Beverage Department reveals that Sanford will receive $5,862.12 as its share of the division of the State cigarette tax money for November, 1949, the first month of its operation. At that rate the total for an entire year would be $70,345.44, a rather sizable chunk. And enough in the course of a few years to get some of the things done around here which need to be done.

The State Welfare Board reports that 70 percent of those receiving old age assistance in this state are getting less than $50 a month. That is not much to live on in these days of high prices, but it is worth remembering that the best way to stop the aged adequate assistance is to stop paying out money to keep people from working, to stop "priming the pump" when the well is already overflowing and in danger of running dry, to keep the budget balanced and the financial condition of the country on a solvent basis.

Alger Hiss has been convicted of perjury, but what the verdict really means is that in the minds of the jury at least Hiss stands convicted of having supplied Russian spies with secret U. S. documents and information while Hiss was employed in the U. S. State Department. There are other people still occupying high government office in the United States who have an equally strong feeling for the communicative philosophy of government, and who should be eliminated from public office.

Seven out of ten income taxpayers in the upper brackets make "mistakes" in their own favor when preparing their tax returns, the Treasury Department insists, as it asked for more money to investigate returns in the lower brackets where they suspect similar "mistakes" occur. One of the main reasons why we are opposed to trying to correct all of the evils of mankind by federal legislation is because it imposes a burdensome hardship upon the law-abiding while being ignored by those who are not. And, nothing is done about it. What good is it to have an FEPC bill if it is not enforced so better than of our present statutes.

Calling American appeasement: Chinese Communists a terrible danger. New York Times says the danger of the Soviet Union is a bill of goods. The Chinese Communists are a danger to the world.

Final Blow For Butter

The decisive Senate approval of the bill to repeal discriminatory federal taxes against oleomargarine was a stroke for common sense in government regulation of foods. But the butter interests managed to get in one final punitive blow against their vegetable competitor. This was the clause in the Senate measure requiring that oleomargarine be put up in triangular packages.

If this regulation should stand, its final effect on the competition between butter and oleo would probably be slight, and its usefulness in preventing the fraudulent sale of oleo as butter would be even less. It is a ridiculous insult to suggest that housewives need a radically new shape of oleomargarine package to distinguish between butter and oleo on the grocer's shelves. It is silly to suppose that any defrauder willing to make a dishonest dollar by palming oleo off as butter would be deterred by the triangular oleo package. If the regulation is retained it would have the punitive effect of forcing oleo manufacturers to install new molding and packaging machinery, and would accomplish little else.

The triangular package provision might not survive study by the conference committee which must iron out differences between House and Senate bills. Regardless of that point, both houses of Congress now have approved the idea that the household shopper has a right to free choice between oleo and butter, and have put an end to the long illusion that the federal government ought to protect one American industry against the competition of another American industry.

The Military Draft

The Department of Defense has asked for an extension of the authority to draft men for the military services. The draft power has not been used for the past year, because it has not been needed to keep the services up to their authorized strength.

It makes sense, however, to keep the draft power alive so that it can be used if necessary. The defense establishment is considered so vital that we are pouring more than a third of the national budget into it. As long as the strength of our defenses continues to be so important, it is also important that the manpower required for them be available at all times.

It is good to have enough volunteers for all needs. But the only way to make certain that all needs will be met is to keep the power of conscription.

The Human Equation

In his address at the Gilmer Yamboree, Felix R. McKnight, assistant managing editor of the Dallas News, told a few of the troubles of publishing a newspaper.

These troubles center around that intangible known as the human equation. In that respect, as a productive enterprise, a newspaper differs from a box factory or a steel mill whose products are cut and dried as to specification. A newspaper changes daily.

Into The Dallas News pour 1,000,000 words a day. There is room for only 100,000 in the paper. Selectivity becomes a major art, and there the trouble of human equation arises. One reader feels a column should be devoted to Tito. Another feels that Tito should be left out and a column devoted to Mickey Cohen of Los Angeles.

These million words must be read, checked, edited, set in type or discarded within a few hours' time, with the pressure of deadlines and the necessity of accuracy hanging over the editors' heads.

Through it all, the enterprise - to be independent - must be financially stable. Yet, the dollar mark must remain forever secondary to public service. And there again, what is public service? Does the paper have a prime obligation to give the reader what it likes to read, or what it ought to read?

There are times when the paper must oppose the mob. And there are many times when it must "afflict the comfortable and comfort the afflicted."

The American newspaper is not blameless. But it succeeds in informing you if you want to be informed. Upon that criterion it stands or falls. . . . The Dallas News.

Too Late To Classify

The Marines landed in Orlando last week and they had the "altitudinal well in hand" from the start.

The occasion was the launching of George Smathers' campaign for a seat in the United States Senate. It has been my privilege to witness the opening of many political campaigns during the last 20 years but never have I seen one so equal the affair at Orlando last Thursday.

Long before the time set for the meeting motored to the scene of the state. The air was electric, everybody seemed to sense that something big was in the air.

Then hell broke loose, the vast army of Smathers supporters just had to let off steam. Like high school kids before a football game they paraded up and down Orange Avenue in gaily decorated cars lined bumper to bumper, banners waving, horns squawking and heads playing.

The Coliseum, huge convention hall, was well filled an hour before the time set for Smathers' appearance. Experience political observers estimated the crowd to be over 5,000. It was a different sort of a crowd than you usually find at such gatherings—it was made up of folks representing all walks of life, farmers, grocers, business men, clerks, grove workers, employees, teachers and housewives. Notably absent were the political hangers on, the quacks who are so common at such events.

There was no occasion to make believe or feign enthusiasm. The speakers who came were not the usual "paid" speakers, they were the people who were making up the news.

Now in the political history of Florida has any candidate for any office ever gotten off to such a successful start as did George Smathers.

THE WORLD TODAY

By ALVIN STEINKOPF (For DeWitt MacKenzie) AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

LONDON—An old friend who used to be my neighbor in prewar Vienna writes from the Austria capital:

"We are beginning to have a feeling of pride in those Austrian peace treaty negotiations. More than three years they have been going on now, and I believe that's longer than the run of the show 'Oh, Vienna' in London.

"Such a little country, but how trouble-torn we must be that the great powers take time to decide about us!"

The Big Four has been trying since January 1947 to write a treaty of independence for Austria. In 218 meetings (plus foreign ministers have settled just about everything except a little dispute about how much Austria should pay for supplies received from Russia since 1945.

The amount involved is less than a million dollars. Last December in New York the deputies decided to let Russia and Austria come to terms between themselves. Since then, Russia has turned down two Austrian offers and the matter is still up in the air as the deputies meet here for their 240th session. The West thinks Russia just doesn't want Austria to be freed.

In more serious vein my Austrian friend gives some impression of the feeling of uneasiness that disturbs his more thoughtful countrymen. He says that they start seeing like a normal country.

They know they aren't big enough to be dangerous to anyone and concede, with resignation, that their destiny is being shaped by the hands of their country in distant capitals.

A year or two ago my friend, a Catholic, wanted all occupation armies to get out, as promised when a treaty is written. He thought that with American aid Austria could make a go of it. Now he isn't quite so sure, and he confesses it's comforting to see Western troops about. As long as they are there, he figures, things will hang in their present uneasy balance.

He is a little alarmed by the possibility that should everyone, including the Russians, leave tomorrow the country would be vulnerable to the schemes of Austrian Communists being trained as political agents, he believes, in regions of Russian occupation.

Not weighing it all up, he still wants every occupation army to get out. He thinks that Austria as a whole has reached a sufficient degree of prosperity to resist Communism.

Many Austrians are thoroughly convinced that Marshal Tito in Belgrade is the unwilling cause of the delay in putting the treaty finishing touches on the Austrian treaty.

Russia, according to this Austrian, is not finished with Tito. They think he is in for more pressures and that Russian troops in Hungary and Rumania might apply them.

These troops are in Hungary and Rumania "to guard Russian communication lines" to the occupation force in Austria. If the Russians sign an Austrian peace treaty they would be obliged to remove their troops within 90 days. If they did take them out, there wouldn't be any justification, legal or otherwise, for keeping Russian forces in the two satellite lands. There would be no "communications lines" to protect.

So the Austrians, longing for a peace treaty, are resigning themselves to waiting for the settlement of the Tito-Kremlin quarrel—one way or another.

Sanford Forum

Editor, Sanford Herald, Sanford, Florida

Dear Sir:

In our Forum letter of Jan. 10, we presented facts that led us to believe there is a definite need for the Memorial Stadium. Of course many people feel the stadium is needed, but they question the plan of financing, especially since we stated that the construction of the stadium would NOT effect the present tax situation.

The reality of the stadium will depend upon the outside of the Feb. 21 referendum pertaining to the extension of the Florida Power & Light Company's franchise for 80 years. If the question is favorably acted upon by the voters the City would receive six percent of the company's gross income as an annual kickback. The gross income figure pertains to commercial and residential service in Sanford. Based on present estimated figures, the City would receive a net kickback of $12,000 plus taxes paid, or about $18,000 annually. However, we would like to point out the only set figure is the six percent. As Sanford progresses both the company's gross income and the kickback would increase. In other words, the City would net at least $1,000 per month for the next 30 years.

What should Sanford voters consider when attempting to reach a decision on the franchise extension question? The undersigned conducted a private investigation and we believe our findings will interest local citizens.

First, let us suppose the measure is voted by the voters. Sanford would continue to be served by the Florida Power & Light Company for the next eight years according to provision in the present franchise. At the end of the period the City could do one of two things—either construct its own utility or enter into another agreement with a private utility with the possibility of no kickback provision in the agreement.

What about these two options? Could the City afford its own utility? The answer is not The cost would be prohibitive. The Florida Power & Light Company is now building a plant at Palatka at an estimated cost of over $10,000,000. But this figure, applied to a municipally-owned plant, doesn't include the big cost of distribution and then the maintenance of the distribution system. Another factor would be the provision in rates for depreciation. After Jacksonville built its power plants two years ago it boasted of its exceedingly low rates. Two years ago the plant nearly collapsed. No provision was made for such an emergency. Two years ago the people of Jacksonville had to vote a $50,000,000 bond issue to pay the cost of the plant.

SOVIET URANIUM MINES

LUENSBURG, Germany, Jan. 24.—(AP)—The Russians were reported today to have begun digging uranium from a new field in the Soviet zone of Germany. Five German workmen who said they fled from the mine described it as located in the Harz Mountains about 25 miles from the British zone border.

St. Johns River Fishing Rules Are Eased By Law

TALLAHASSEE, Jan. 24.—(AP)—The men who seine for catfish commercially in the St. Johns River and Lake Okechobee now have a fixed set of rules to follow.

The regulations were adopted by the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission yesterday. They replace those which have been in effect more or less informally during an experimental period of commercial fishing on the inland water areas. There aren't many major changes, though.

State Rep. W. J. Hendry of Okechobee County, a fish dealer, said they are somewhat less stringent than before.

For one thing, the fishermen can be on the water from 3 A.M. to 5 P.M. daily. Heretofore they have been restricted to daylight operation.

On the St. Johns River only, hoop nets will be permitted for the first time.

Fishermen will be given annual permits expiring at the end of June of each year. They may buy permits in June for the whole year, or one in December for the half year. They will not be issued in any other months.

The National Commission on teacher education and professional standards said today it is becoming deeply concerned over faulty training of teachers.

J. S. Concerned With Poor Teacher Training

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—(AP)—The National Commission on teacher education and professional standards said today it is becoming deeply concerned over faulty training of teachers.

The formal education of teachers takes place in such a great number of institutions of such varying type and quality that the preparation of teachers does not always meet the needs of education for these times," the commission said in a statement.

PRESENT FOR HUSBY

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Mrs. Harry A. Linawaver, wife of a divorce lawyer, answered the doorbell of her home last night. She told a strange, well-dressed caller that the attorney was not at home.

Exclaiming, "Here's a present for your husband," the man pushed her in the nose, she reported to police.

Prophet Saw End Of World Coming, But Not Police

MANILA, Jan. 24.—(AP)—The sun rose this morning on a world disturbed by no more than its usual problems.

This was all right with most people. But it was bad luck for 17-year-old pupil Miguel Armidilla, a former bootblack.

Two weeks ago Miguel spread the word he had seen given miraculous powers in a vision. He donned a monk's flowing gown, rented a simple place in an suburban San Juan.

People flocked to his place. They brought food and worldly things for him to "bless."

Miguel walked among them and did so. Hawkers vended ice cream, candy and knicknacks. The pesos rolled in.

Miguel had another vision. Yesterday, he prophesied, would be the first of four days of darkness. There would be terrible earthquakes. Then the world would vanish.

Newspapers printed his prediction. Many people came to his place. Among them were the police. Yesterday even the skeptics weren't too sure. For nine seconds Tacloban, Leyte, was shaken by an earthquake.

But Manila cops could not feel the quake. And they could still see the sun. By its light they gently plucked Miguel from a crowd of his followers and crated him off to headquarters.

As the revolving earth brought normal darkness to Manila tonight, no charge had been filed against Miguel.

But a municipal health authority suggested softly that Miguel be examined by psychiatrists.

Florida received $148,949 of the federal excise taxes on sporting arms and ammunition last year. It matched every three dollars received with one dollar and spent it all in state wildlife restoration work.

Half Million Southern Workers To Get Pay Raise

ATLANTA, Jan. 24. — (AP) — Half a million workers in the southeast get a raise in pay to 75 cents an hour under the new federal Minimum Wage Law.

Joseph C. Noah of Birmingham, Ala., regional director of the Labor Department's wage and hour division, estimated here that 570,000 workers are eligible for the new 75-cent an hour minimum wage.

He said about 1,600,000 workers throughout the nation are expected to come under the raise of the wage floor from 40 to 75 cents.

He noted that violations of the law can be punished by fine, but added his office has not found many cases in recent years.

Treasury To Check On Middle Income Tax Offenders

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—(AP)—The Treasury Department is eyeing even more closely the income tax returns of individuals making between 7,000 and $25,000 a year.

It plans to crack down on tax evaders in this group if Congress will put up the money for additional enforcement agents.

The plan lined up in testimony made public yesterday by the House Appropriations Committee.

The committee was told by T. C. Atkinson, assistant internal revenue collector, that the middle-income group makes numerous "errors" in computing tax liability.

Secretaries of the Treasury Snyder asked for more money for tax law enforcement.

"This is the most effective way that I know of to increase the government's revenue under the existing tax laws," he said.

George J. Schoeneman, commissioner of revenue, told the committee that tax audits during the fiscal year 1949 brought in $1,891,970,000 which might otherwise have been missed.

But most of these audits, affecting individuals in higher income groups. Only 17.8 percent of the returns on incomes in the $7,000 to $25,000 group and only 3.9 percent of those under $7,000 are now being so closely checked.

Treasury officials said they have found that 7 out of every 10 returns checked in the upper groups are found to be erroneous, with the errors generally in favor of the taxpayer.

They estimated that the government gleaned $8.40 for each dollar spent on extra enforcement personnel in the 1949 check.

Commissioner decided to defer action on any more meter installations for the present.

Installation of back-tops, posts and wire for the tennis court at Ninth Street and Park Avenue was authorized following the suggestions of Mrs. P. M. Gingles.

recreation supervisor. The posts and wire were donated to the city.

Installation of street lights on Shepard Avenue, Thirteenth Street and Shepard Avenue and Fourteenth Street and Belle Avenue in Goldboro was ordered.

He added that, in his opinion, U. S. Steel "has not made a fair return either on its sales or investment at any time during the last 20 years."

"It has paid constantly increasing wages to its employees and supplied constantly, whose earnings provide the facilities with which wages can be earned and goods can be produced, have received very inadequate returns on their investments."

In referring to arguments that the steel price hike would be reflected in climbing price levels in other industries, Cairns said:

"Personally, I do not foresee any harmful effect whatsoever. There have been or will, of course, be some price changes in steel consuming industries, some up and some down.

"When the change is up I believe it will be due more to increased labor, transportation and other costs, than to any change in the price of steel.

"The decreases in automobile prices—which were announced earlier our price increase—is a case in point."

Meanwhile House investigators heard testimony today that a private citizen knew about the atom bomb project at the time a company the man headed sold 1,000 pounds of uranium compounds to Russia.

The man was Boris Fregel and the time was the spring of 1943.

The testimony came from Dr. Philip L. Merrill, Atomic Energy Commission official who formerly made wartime uranium purchases for the atomic bomb project.

He appeared before the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Merritt said Fregel was president of the Canadian Radium and Uranium Co., sole sales agent for a Canadian uranium producing firm.

Fregel's company has been described as an American firm with headquarters in New York.

Merritt said the Canadian Radium and Uranium Company sold 1,000 pounds of uranium oxide and sulfate to the Soviets through a contract giving the U. S. government exclusive rights to its uranium supplies.

In the Senate, members of the finance committee got into a lively argument today over whether the people have to pay twice for Social Security benefits.

Senator Milliken (R-Colo) contended the answer is "yes." Senators Lucas (D-Ill) and Kerr (D-Okl) challenged him.

The exchange interrupted testimony by Bill Child, Idaho public assistance commissioner, who sided with the two Democrats in the no-decision debate.

Milliken touched it off by assailing the practice of using old-age insurance collectors to run the government. Government bonds are put into the trust fund when the money is taken out.

Milliken contended that the money can be replaced only from tax revenues collected for other government purposes. That, he said, means that "you're collecting it again."

Alger Hiss Given Five Years in Pen On Perjury Count

Ex-State Department Employee Again De- nies Giving Secret Files To Russians

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (AP)—Alger Hiss was sentenced today to five years in a federal penitentiary after his conviction on two perjury counts.

He will appeal his case.

After a trial that unfolded in a manner, the former State Department official denied to the end that he ever chipped secret state documents to Whittaker Chambers, self-styled courier for a prewar Soviet spy ring.

Before federal Judge Henry W. Goddard sentenced him to five years on each of the two counts, the sentence to run concurrently and declined to levy any fine against him. This was granted per Hiss's appeal.

Rising from his seat beside his attorney, the man who was an adviser to President Roosevelt at Yalta with Marshall and declared in a dramatic voice:

"I would like to thank you for your consideration and for the opportunity granted to deny charges against me.

"I am confident that in the future all the facts will be brought out to show how Whittaker Chambers was able to carry out forgery by typewriter."

After being sentenced, Hiss was escorted by the custody of his attorney, Claude H. Cross of Boston, until 4 P. M. today when he must post $10,000 bond.

Cross filed a notice of appeal with the clerk of the court.

Cross asked Judge Goddard not to imprison Hiss.

Cross said Hiss' "contributions to the interests of the United States are matters beyond dispute." He added concerning Hiss' financial condition that "what little savings he had were yours long before the conclusion of the first trial."

The first Hiss trial ended last July in a jury disagreement.

Cross said Hiss' trial was "fair and just" and that his debts still were unpaid.

"The present trial," said Cross, "was financed by loyal friends and loyal American citizens who still believe in his innocence. His financial ruin is an accomplished fact."

The defense attorney added that Hiss' trial was "fair and just" and that further punishment is unnecessary.

"T-Bone" Smith Qualifies To Run For Legislature

Chrysler Men Out on Strike Over Pensions

89,000 Workers "Hit The Bricks" After Breakdown In Com- pany Negotiations

DETROIT, Jan. 25. — (AP)—Chrysler workers marched out on strike at 10 A. M. today after six months of futile negotiations over a pension plan.

The UO United Auto Workers ordered its 89,000 Chrysler Corporation members to "hit the bricks" immediately after negotiations broke off at 9:45 A. M.

Assembly lines in the big auto firm ground to a halt. The screaming of lathes and pounding of stamping presses ceased abruptly.

UAW president, Walter Reuther said the strike was called because the company would not agree to grant a package of benefits worth 10 cents hourly per worker.

Affected air union employees in all the corporation's plant-building Chrysler, DeSoto, Dodge and Plymouth cars.

Although Chrysler had offered a $100-a-month pension plan, the pattern this year in industry is the union objected to the terms.

The company insisted that it be permitted to operate the plan on a pay-as-you-go basis. The UAW demanded that a jointly administered trust fund be set up with the company putting in a set amount for each hour worked.

A Chrysler statement said:

"Calling Chrysler employees on strike, in the face of the pension and insurance benefits Chrysler has offered, shows again how difficult, if not futile, it is to try to do business with people who do such irresponsible things."

January's Building Nears $300,000 Mark

Amateur Night Program Held On Monday At Tourist Center

Little Chi Chi Hallen, 6 of Fern Park romped off with the first prize in the Sanford Tourist Club's amateur night program Monday night at the Tourist Center. As more than 200 spectators applauded her acrobatic ballet dance, Carl Eisenloewer, program chairman and announcer, held the little dancer up so that everyone could see her after awarding the prize.

Young Billy Park scored a hit with his violin playing and won second prize. Especially pleasing was his rendition of Schubert's "Ave Maria."

Stanley Brunley, tenor soloist and employee of Seminole Motor Co., won third prize with his rendition of "The Whiffenpoof Song" and an Irish melody.

A pleasant variety number was the agile Hungarian Folk Dance performed by Louise Benton and Cecil Koontz under the direction of Mrs. Eusear Price.

Mr. Eisenloewer opened the program with a humorous skit parodying a Hollywood wild west movie, and ended up shooting the piano player, D. Clark with a cap pistol. Assisting in the skit was Joe Murray, R. Ball, A. Ferris and W. Theoford.

Among the interesting musical acts was the Lyman School's duet.

Acheson Charges Russia Absorbing 4 Chinese Areas

Secretary of State Says Russia Has Taken Over

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25. — (AP)—The State Department made new charges today that Soviet Russia is absorbing four Chinese provinces. Secretary of State Acheson said that the provinces are Manchuria, Sinkiang, Tibet, and Inner Mongolia.

Supporting Secretary of State Acheson's recent accusations, the Department issued a detailed "background document" which said that Russia's designs were in part supported by "two secret agreements signed by the Chinese Communist with the U. S. S. R."

It said these were known as the "Moscow Agreement" and the "Hainan Agreement." These purportedly grant further special rights to the U. S. S. R. in Manchuria.

In a speech before the National Press Club two weeks ago, Acheson charged that Russia is detaching Manchuria, Sinkiang, Tibet, and Inner Mongolia and is turning them to the Soviet Union.

A special statement on the subject is contained in the background document.

Building permits in Sanford total $278,400 to date and may reach the $300,000 if the present rate of building continues during the five days remaining for securing permits this month.

Among the most recent permits was that issued yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Bittling for erection of a seven room home at Elliott Avenue and Seminole Boulevard and near the new Harry Touke home. The cost is estimated at $24,000. P. M. Campbell is contractor.

Amateur Night Program Held On Monday At Tourist Center

Little Chi Chi Hallen, 6 of Fern Park romped off with the first prize in the Sanford Tourist Club's amateur night program Monday night at the Tourist Center. As more than 200 spectators applauded her acrobatic ballet dance, Carl Eisenloewer, program chairman and announcer, held the little dancer up so that everyone could see her after awarding the prize.

Young Billy Park scored a hit with his violin playing and won second prize. Especially pleasing was his rendition of Schubert's "Ave Maria."

Stanley Brunley, tenor soloist and employee of Seminole Motor Co., won third prize with his rendition of "The Whiffenpoof Song" and an Irish melody.

A pleasant variety number was the agile Hungarian Folk Dance performed by Louise Benton and Cecil Koontz under the direction of Mrs. Eusear Price.

Mr. Eisenloewer opened the program with a humorous skit parodying a Hollywood wild west movie, and ended up shooting the piano player, D. Clark with a cap pistol. Assisting in the skit was Joe Murray, R. Ball, A. Ferris and W. Theoford.

Among the interesting musical acts was the Lyman School's duet.

Harry Tooke Named To Citrus Committee

Sanford citrus grower and Florida Citrus Commission member Bill Bishop of Crescent City has been named to a special citrus committee to develop plans for stressing the importance of the fresh Florida citrus markets as a feature of the 1950 Florida Citrus Exposition.

John A. Savelly, Jr., Winter Haven president of the Exposition, said that Mr. Tooke and Commissioner Bishop would work with committees to contact fresh fruit shippers and growers to solicit participation in "Fresh Fruit Day" at the Exposition, to be observed on Thursday, Feb. 10.

Working with Mr. Tooke and Commissioner Bishop on the general committee contact packing houses and growers in the respective areas will be the following: Commissioner J. R. McDonald and H. G. Barnett of Plant City; Commissioner Tom Turnbull of Winter Haven with John Lang, Winter Haven and Kingwood Spruit of Lake Wales; Commissioner J. B. "Babe" Prevatt of Tavares and John M.
