Chamber Of Commerce Officials Considering Tourist Tax

By Nancy Simmons
 Herald Staff Writer

A great many tourists enter Sanford during a year and some local officials are now wondering if they should leave more money behind, in the form of a tourist tax, when they return north. That question is now being explored by the Tourism Committee of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

When the committee met Tuesday, Chairman Jim Young disclosed to other members directions he has taken in researching the possibility of a tourist tax. It was noted by Young and Executive Director Dave Farr that many questions will need to be answered as research on the tax continues.

Shaun Briggs, of the Riversip Romance, was also appointed as vice chairman of the committee.

The Tourism Committee began considering the possibility of a tourist tax when it met early in December. Tuesday, Young told those present that legally a tourist tax could be applied either within just a section of the county, such as in Sanford, or in Sanford and Lake Mary, for example. Or, the Seminole County Commission could approve the tax for the entire county.

From whom the tax would be collected is another question that could only be determined for certain once researchers and the local governments decided the tax should be undertaken. However, in other Florida municipalities and counties where the tax is now in effect, hotels and motels often collect the tax. Tourist taxes are collected in Orange, Volusia, Osceola and Columbia counties, among others, according to Young.

Young said that he is obtaining copies of the Florida Statute 125.0104, which governs the establishment of tourist taxes within the state. From the State Department of Revenue he is also getting a book, A Report on Tourism Related Option Taxes in Florida, and will give copies of both documents to committee members within the next few days.

If a tourist tax were to be pursued, Young said that a nine-member council would need to be established, which would include the chairman of

Plans Being Finalized For The Martin Luther King Celebration

By Nancy Simmons
 Herald Staff Writer

The excitement is growing among members of the Martin Luther King, Jr. Steering Committee, as they are finalizing plans for the Martin Luther King, Jr. Celebration to be held Jan. 16-17 in Sanford.

Preparations for all the events are nearly completed, various subcommittee chairmen reported Tuesday night at the steering committee meeting, 7 p.m., in the city manager's conference room at the Sanford City Hall.

"The only thing left to get together is the financing," said Dr. Lurline Sweeting, chairman of the steering committee. She explained that the celebration is sponsored by the city, and funds cannot be carried over from year to year, neither can the city itself contribute funding.

Patrons are being sought to help defray costs of the celebration. James Sweeting noted that a patron has supplied funds to purchase T-shirts that the first 156 runners in the "Race for Freedom" will receive. Patrons have already contributed other funding to the celebration. Other patrons are expected, Dr. Sweeting said. Printing costs are among financial needs yet to be met. The committee's balance prior to the meeting Tuesday was $365.65. However, at least two checks were received during the meeting which are not yet added to the balance.

All events will be held at the Civic Center, with the exception of two Saturday events. Those, the "Race for Freedom" and the festival in the park, both on Saturday, Jan. 16, will be in

County Building Offices Probed

Department Head Reprimanded For Allowing Time Card Padding

By Brad Church
 Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County's building official has been reprimanded for "unauthorized use of county funds" as a result of county policy violations brought to the attention of county administrators by The Sanford Herald Tuesday.

Montye Beamer, assistant county administrator, said today that Building Official Joel A. Dean has been issued a letter of reprimand which will be placed in his personnel file, and that she and County Administrator Ken Hooper will conduct a thorough investigation of the building department.

Claims of impropriety in the building department include Dean authorizing unearned overtime to reimburse employees for travel expenses, and Dean's issuing a temporary license to a mechanical contractor (an air conditioning and heating installer and servicer) who did not qualify according to county ordinances.

Beamer said the mechanical contractor who was issued a temporary mechanic's license by Dean last year in possible violation of county ordinances, has been told the county will not allow him to use the license until he receives his state license. He has completed the paperwork and is expected to get that license soon. Also being investigated is information that a person was hired as a permits clerk after being qualified for the job by having a stand-in pass the typing test for her. That hiring was done by Dean's predecessor, Don Flippen, who no longer works for the county.

The matters were looked into after they were brought to the attention of a Herald reporter by plumbing contractor Art Davis, a frequent critic of county government and one of the investigators of the current grand jury investigation of the county's purchase of Yankee Lake property for a sewage disposal plant who says he plans on announcing his candidacy soon for a county commission post. Davis said people who knew of his involvement in the Yankee Lake investigation came to him with the allegations involving the building department.

Dean readily admitted to Herald reporters and Beamer Tuesday that he had directed employees to recover expenses of attending an out-of-town seminar by falsely adding overtime hours to their time cards. He said although he felt justified in taking that action at the time, he will not do it again.

Dean said he asked at least two employees to pad their time cards because the travel and seminar expenses were incurred at the end of the fiscal year and he had no more money in his travel budget, from which those expenses are supposed to be paid.

He said he told building inspector Donna Larson to attend a meeting in Jacksonville on the national electrical code toward the end of last fiscal year. Her travel and related expenses for that and another seminar totaled $400. "I thought I had enough money left in my travel budget to cover her expenses, but found out later I didn't, so told her to put in overtime for it," he said.

Larson's time sheet, Dean confirmed, shows she was paid for 23 hours of unearned overtime over six pay periods from June 1 to July 18, totaling about $395.

Dean said he also sent another employee to a seminar in Orlando during the same period and that the employee was repaid for $25 in expenses through claiming unearned overtime at Dean's direction.

He said he did not inform either Beamer or Hooper of his orders to employees to file false overtime claims for expense reimbursement.

Beamer said she knows of no other instance in other departments of employees being reimbursed for travel and meeting

Oil Slick Endangers Water Supplies Of One Million People

By Chuck Moody

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The oil slick oozing down the Ohio River endangered the water supply of 1 million people in 80 communities along a 70-mile path of pollution today while thousands of households in suburban Pittsburgh were forced to cope without running water for a third day.

Officials in Ohio and West Virginia closed intake valves as the slick reached 80 miles down the Ohio River.

Ohio Gov. Richard Celeste declared a state of emergency for the Ohio River communities and sent Lt. Gov. Paul Leonard to the scene today. He also alerted the Ohio National Guard to be ready to send trucks — known as "water buffaloes" and capable of carrying up to 5,000 gallons of water — to affected areas.

An Allegheny County official in Pennsylvania today expressed optimism the crisis that endangered the water supply of thousands of people in the Pittsburgh area could ease by the weekend.

"We are guardedly optimistic that the cleanup efforts will lead to the reopening of some intake valves at water companies in the Pittsburgh area by the weekend," said John Kaus, deputy director of the Allegheny County Emergency Management Agency.

The slick began when a 4 million-gallon diesel fuel tanker owned by Ashland Oil Corp. collapsed Saturday in Jefferson, Pa., and spilled about 1 million gallons of oil into the Monongahela River. The oil moved into the Ohio River at downtown Pittsburgh where the Monongahela meets the Allegheny River to form the Ohio.

Coast Guard Petty Officer 3rd Class Dean Jones said the oil was moving at a rate of about 1 mph and an oil sheen had reached the New Cumberland Lock and Dam on the Ohio River at a point that divides West Virginia and Ohio.

Water shortages and mandatory conservation forced schools, factories, restaurants and car washes to close, and hundreds of workers were idled. A nursing home that lost water evacuated its patients.

Kaus credited conservation efforts with helping to keep water flowing to most water customers in the Pittsburgh area.

Decision On Proposed Theater Postponed In Longwood

By Jane Casselberry
 Herald Staff Writer

With three members of the Longwood City Commission new to city government, most items on the agenda were postponed for further discussion at a work session set by newly named Mayor Dave Gunter for 7 p.m. Thursday at city hall.

Action on a conditional use request by actor, producer and director James Best (known to television viewers as Roscoe P. Coltrane of The Duke's of Hazard) to open the James Best Theatre & Film Acting Workshop in Barclay Square has been postponed until the Jan. 18 commission meeting.

Best, now a Longwood resident, wants to open a 150-seat theatre in Suite 141 and 142 of Barclay Square at the northeast corner of County Road 428 and State Road 434.

The Land Planning Agency had recommended approval of the permit at its Dec. 9 meeting contingent on adequate parking, septic tank approval by Seminole County Health Department and compliance with fire regulations. R.J. Ogren, managing director for the theatre, said last week that the Health Department had said no additional septic tanks or holding tanks can be installed because the current system is already at capacity.

A public hearing on the conditional use request on Monday night's city commission agenda was postponed at the request of the property owner Rodney Beverstein of Lakeland and the theatre managing director R.J. Ogren on behalf of the applicant James Best to give them a chance to work something out with Russell Miller of the Seminole County Health Department, who was out of town last week.

Miller said today that he met with Beverstein and he is going to bring in water bills to determine the actual wastewater flow into the septic tank to determine if the capacity is there for the theatre. "It might be possible, but it's not looking too good," Miller said.

Commissioner Henry Hardy III told the property owner at the public hearing Monday night that he had seen sewage from the septic tank system running into Pine Street and the odor was quite bad. "It's a serious problem and it is going to have to be corrected," Hardy told Beverstein, representing the owner, Executive National Companies.

Beverstein said that the pipes in drain field apparently had been damaged when the mulched area behind the center was used by tenants and employees for parking. He said that there was no record of where the drain field was laid in order to continue using the lot for parking, he said the owner wants to obtain permission to move the drain field.

Beverstein said "our primary desire is to hook up to a real sewer system." City sewer service is not yet available in that area.

Miller said Barclay Square was never meant to be on septic tanks, but when the center was 95 percent complete, the developer was informed by the city that city sewer service would not be available and then they had to obtain a septic tank permit from the county. Miller said the non-functioning septic tank can be repaired without any problem, because he thinks it is a matter of cars driving over the drain field.

To be discussed at Thursday night's work session:

- New rules for the public participation period at commission meetings and other rules and procedures for commission meetings — Mayor Gunter wants anyone wishing to speak to submit their name, address, phone number and matter on which they wish to speak by Wednesday afternoon. It was pointed out Monday night that this would be an "agenda item" rather than spontaneous public participation.
- What to do with Longwood's share of Seminole

POLICE

Girl Reports Sexual Assaults; Elderly Woman Says Son Beat Her

Seminole County sheriff's investigators, in unrelated cases, are probing accusations by a 7-year-old Altamonte Springs girl and a 76-year-old Maitland woman. The girl says she was sexually assaulted and the woman reported that her son has been beating her.

In the case of the girl, she has accused a 29-year-old Altamonte Springs man of taking her into his bedroom, undressing her and fondling her. The incident reportedly occurred between 7 and 9 p.m. Sunday. The girl told her mother of her allegations and the mother reported them to the sheriff's department.

In the other case, the elderly woman told deputies that between Dec. 20 and Monday her adult son has hit her several times. She accused the suspect, whom she named, of choking her on Monday. The woman told deputies she fears for her safety and wants to prosecute the suspect.

Credit Card User Arrested

A 28-year-old Winter Park man who allegedly used without permission the credit card of an Orlando woman to pay his $801 tab for board and services at the Cavalier Motor Inn, U.S. Highway 17-92, was arrested after an Orange County Sheriff's deputy reportedly saw him sign the woman's name to add another $23 to the tab.

The Orange County sheriff's deputy alerted Sanford police who arrested Christopher M. Nezes, of 3086 Whisper Lake Lane, at about 12:30 a.m. Sunday, at the motel.

The arrest, on charges of fraud and uttering a forgery, was made after the owner of the card, Cheryl Ford, was contacted in Orlando. Ford told police the suspect did not have permission to use her credit card and she wanted him arrested.

Game Warden Arrests Hunter

Florida Game Warden Jesse Baker reported confronting and arresting an armed man who was apparently hunting at the Osceola Landfill, Osceola Road, east Seminole County, at about 8:15 a.m. Sunday.

Baker reported that Michael John Scalera, who was armed with a 12-gauge shotgun, did not have a hunting license. Scalera has been charged with hunting without a license and armed trespass. He has been released on $1,000 bond to appear in court Jan. 25.

Speeding Driver Charged

Sanford police reported pursuing the speeding car of Victor T. Woods, 26, of Dorchester, Mass., after it ran a stop sign on Park Avenue at about 5:15 a.m. Sunday.

When the car was stopped on Fourth Street at Laurel Avenue police reported seeing a partially smoked marijuana cigarette in the ashtray of the car. The car was searched and cocaine, marijuana and drug paraphernalia reportedly found.

Woods has been charged with possession of each of those items of contraband. He was being held in lieu of $3,500 bond.

Woman Tagged For Auto Theft

A Seminole County sheriff's deputy who made a traffic stop of car that didn't have a license tag in sight found that the car had an expired temporary tag. The deputy also determined through a records check that the car had been reported stolen in Orange County.

The driver of the car, Bobbi Jean Holden, 18, of Eatonville, was arrested on charges of auto theft and driving with a suspended license after the car was stopped on Station Street, near Altamonte Springs, Saturday. She was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Burglaries And Thefts Reported

Sheriff's deputies have the name of a suspect who may have stolen a $700 front door and $1,200 French doors from an Ashley Construction Co., site at lot 36 Bearded Oaks Terrace, Longwood, between Friday and Monday.

- While the clerk was distracted by one man another stole 10 tires with a total value of about $670 from the Shell station, 2690 State Road 436, rural Winter Park, Sunday, a sheriff's report said.
- Marie S. Frank, 29, of 1000 Lake of the Woods Blvd., #206-C, Fern Park, reported to sheriff's deputies Sunday that her 1985 Mustang valued at $10,000 has been stolen.
- A $5,000 diamond pendant, other jewelry, a revolver, a camera and other items were stolen Sunday from the home of Russell Charles Smith Jr., 1740 McCulloch Road, Oviedo, a sheriff's report said.
- The 1983 Buick of Nicholas Montaruli, 58, of 224 Lochlow Drive, Sanford, was stolen Sunday from Freddie's Steakhouse, U.S. Highway 17-92, Fern Park. A sheriff's report valued the car at $4,000.

Four Assaults Reported In Sanford

A 16-year-old Sanford youth was cut on the arm Saturday night while a couple were fighting in the Sanford Plaza Parking lot, according to Sanford police.

Another youth was attacked by four or five males, while he walking down the street, and an Orlando woman was hit repeatedly in the face by a Sanford man as she was getting into her car at the apartment complex where he lived, police also reported.

Marques Howard told police that he was leaving the Sanford Plaza theater at about 11:45 p.m. when he saw a man and woman fighting in front of the Great Escape Game Room. He told police that the fighting moved to the parking lot, and he managed to become involved, and was cut on the upper right arm by a broken bottle, which had been in the possession of the female.

Police said Monday that they do not have the victim's official statement yet, and are therefore uncertain how Howard "became involved" in the incident.

The youth was taken to Central Florida Regional Hospital by private vehicle, where he was treated and released.

Dwawn Willis, 19, told Sanford police that he was walking in the vicinity of 8th St. and Pine Ave., at about 2:40 a.m. Sunday, when four or five males jumped out of an older model Nova and cut him several times with a sharp object, probably a knife.

He told police he did not know his attackers, and that the attack was unprovoked.

In a third incident, which occurred at 10:30 p.m. Sunday, Doris Jean Smith, 31, of Orlando, was allegedly struck several times in the face by a man who lived in the apartment complex where she had been visiting. She told police that moments before the incident, the man and his wife, and a friend of hers, had been involved in an argument. She said that she said a few words, then left. However the man followed her to the parking lot and began striking her as she attempted to get in the car.

Police said warrants may be pending in that case.

In a strange twist of events, a Sanford woman's alleged assailant was found cut around the back of his neck and under his chin, after the woman and her friend were returning home after calling the police.

The incident happened shortly after 5 a.m. New Year's Day, according to Sanford police.

Rosalyn Peterson, of #34 Lake Monroe Terrace, told police that Larry Bradley, her boyfriend, had entered her apartment to get his clothes and leave. She said he went into the kitchen and got two knives, then threw one of knives at Peterson, saying he was going to kill her.

A friend of Peterson's was also in the apartment at the time. Peterson told police her friend grabbed her, trying to protect her from Bradley. In the struggle, the knife in Bradley's hand apparently cut the friend's right middle finger.

Peterson and her friend were able to get out and go call the police, according to the report. But she told investigators that when they returned, Peterson was lying on the ground in front of #33 Lake Monroe Terrace, with his neck cut and bleeding badly. Bradley, 30 of 2055 Airport Blvd., was taken to the Central Florida Regional Hospital, where he is in good condition.

According to rescue reports, Bradley was cut at the back of his neck, from ear to ear, as well as under his chin. He also sustained multiple superficial wounds to his chest.

Police said Monday that the incident is still under investigation and that charges are anticipated.

Two Get DUI Sentences

The following persons have pleaded or been found guilty of driving under the influence or having an unlawful blood alcohol level.

The first-time offenders have had their driver license suspended for 6 months, been ordered to pay a fine and court costs usually totalling $367.50 and complete 50 hours of community service. When a guilty or no contest plea is entered or if the defendant is found guilty of an alcohol-related charge, other charges are usually either not prosecuted or dismissed. Most of the first-time offenders are allowed to apply for business-only driving permits. In cases where the sentences differs, the actual sentence is reported.

—David Eugene Sillemann, of 802 Palmetto Ave., Sanford, was arrested on Oct. 23, on U.S. Highway 17-92 in Sanford after police received a call that an allegedly drunk man was driving in the area.

—Charles Arthur Lewis, 68, of 2532 Hlawatha Ave., Sanford, was arrested in Sanford on July 31, after the car he was driving was involved in a auto accident.

Fire Damages Home

A one-alarm fire gutted the bedroom of a Lake Mary home Monday, according to fire officials.

The home at 213 Ruskin St., rented by Dennis and Barbara Randall, may have caught fire because the couple's children were playing with matches, the fire marshal determined.

Fire officials were called to the scene at 3:05 p.m., and had the blaze out in about 10 minutes, said Lake Mary Fire Chief Bob Stoddard. The children's grandmother, who had been babysitting, took them out of the bedroom and shut the door after the blaze began, Stoddard said. He said this helped contain the fire to one room before firefighters arrived.

No estimated damage to the home was given. Heat and smoke damaged the rest of the house slightly, Stoddard said.

Frigid Forties Hit Seminole

By Fred H. Cooper
Herald Staff Writer

We bound out of doors in the morning and are immediately hit by a brisk 40 plus degree air mass, shiver twice, and dash back inside shouting "Baby, it's cold outside."

Seminolans get cold when the thermometer dips below 50. And it did last night. Will again tonight, and tomorrow night, and maybe the next. But, bliss pat, it will bounce back into the 60s and 70s during the day. And, the sun will shine each day with very little chance of rain before Thursday. That's the way it is around here.

The saucer-shaped, brightly colored object early Sunday and viewed it through a telescope mounted on the doorstep to her family home. She called police to verify the sighting.

She said the UFO hovered high over the west London neighborhood of Kensington before disappearing two hours later.

Police officers saw an unidentified object after a call from a member of the public, the spokesman confirmed. "We are unable to say what it was."

There were no corroborating sightings in Seminole County.

The Farmer's Almanac says this winter will be mild in our county, but rough up north. Those predictions are proving true.

A frigid Canadian air mass held its grip over much of the nation for the third straight day, routing the homeless, endangering the elderly and setting temperature records on edge from upper Michigan to Texas with the worst cold snap of the season.

Low temperatures were well below zero across the Plains and upper Midwest early today, while temperatures were in the teens in the Northeast. Temperatures were below freezing across much of the rest of the nation except for southern Florida and California and the desert Southwest.

The homeless flocked to shelters in Chicago today, where the temperature dipped to 9 below zero.

Freezing drizzle glazed the roads in the Texas panhandle and southern plains, making travel hazardous. Snow advisories were posted for the Owens Valley of Southern California as well as much of northern Arizona.

Winter keeps folks busy over in London also.

Scotland Yard, too busy with down-to-earth crimes like murder to investigate "lights in the sky," declined to probe a reported sighting of a UFO over London, a spokesman said.

Three policemen, summoned by a teenage girl who spotted a bizarre object in the sky, reported back to their stationhouse that they too had seen it, a police spokesman said Tuesday.

Booster Problem Downplayed, NASA Indicates No Further Delay

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Rocket experts say a tiny "blow hole" found in an O-ring nozzle joint after a shuttle booster firing was unexpected but minor compared to the nozzle "boot ring" failure that delayed the first post-Challenger flight.

H. Guyford Stever, chairman of a National Research Council panel overseeing NASA's booster redesign project, said by telephone Tuesday that he did not view the nozzle joint blow hole as a major problem.

During a full-scale test firing Dec. 23, the boot ring, which protects a nozzle bearing assembly from heat, was damaged, possibly because of a design flaw or extreme stress.

As a result, NASA delayed the next shuttle flight, but the boot ring problem did not involve the O-ring joints, and NASA's internal estimates of a six- to 10-week launch delay are based on pressing an earlier boot ring design into service for the first post-Challenger shuttle flight.

Presidential Primary Ballot Set

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Former Gov. Claude Kirk, extremist Democrat Lyndon LaRouche and former Ku Klux Klan leader David Duke are "frivolous" candidates who should not be on Florida's presidential primary ballot, a special selection committee says.

The 1988 Presidential Selection Committee, which has the sole authority to determine who will be on the ballot, Tuesday approved 13 leading Republican and Democrat candidates. Voters will select their choice for their party's nominee on March 8, "Super Tuesday."

The committee is made up of House Speaker Jon Mills, Senate President John Vogt and state Democratic Party Chairman Charles Whitehead, all Democrats; and House Minority Leader Dale Patchett, Senate Minority Leader Tom Jennings and state GOP chairwoman Jeanie Austin, Republican Jim Smith, who as Secretary of State presides over all elections, is on the committee as its non-voting chairman.

Martinez' Savings Claims Disputed

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — House Appropriations Chairman Sam Bell is disputing claims by Gov. Bob Martinez that he saved the taxpayers $200 million in his first year in office.

Martinez Tuesday identified $201.4 million in savings through budget cuts and improved efficiency achieved in 1987, and said he is headed toward a campaign commitment to "sweat out" $800 million in fat from the state budget.

Bell, D-Ormond Beach, and two of his subcommittee chairmen — Elaine Gordon, D-Miami, and Fran Carlton, D-Orlando — said Martinez either is projecting savings that simply are unrealistic, or taking credit for ideas that came either from former governors or the Legislature.

The legislators also argued any savings achieved have been covered by state budget calculations, and said Martinez hasn't freed money to be used for something else in the next spending plan.

A brief biographical sketch should also be included, as well as the name and address of the person making the recommendation. Additional supporters of the proposed recipient should also be listed, according to Dr. Sweeting.

Hit-And-Run Driver Gets Only 12 Years

Circuit Judge Protests Sentencing Rules

INVERNESS (UPI) — Citrus Circuit Judge John Thurman says he thinks a hit-and-run driver who killed two teenagers should serve more than 12 years in prison but that he was restricted by state sentencing guidelines.

Ray Calhoun, 38, of Inverness was sentenced to the maximum allowed under the guidelines for the traffic deaths of William Clair, 19, of Homosassa Springs, and Joy Canfield, 19, of Lecanto.

The victims were riding a motorcycle on U.S. 19 when they were struck by Calhoun's vehicle two miles south of Crystal River Nov. 8, 1986.

Calhoun surrendered himself six days after the accident after investigators found pieces of his car containing evidence linking him to the accident buried beneath his home.

He was convicted in September of two counts of driving under the influence of alcohol resulting in manslaughter one count of leaving the scene of an accident with injury or death, and a count of tampering with evidence.

"I think a sentence of 12 years is insufficient," Thurman said Monday prior to sentencing

Calhoun. "(But) I can't find a valid reason why I can exceed the guidelines."

Assistant State Attorney Brad King argued the nature of the accident, and Calhoun's excessive speed and recklessness warranted a stiffer sentence.

"If any set of facts would support a deviation from the guidelines, I think that dragging a person over 1,000 feet down the highway before leaving her to die would justify a deviation," King said.

But he said he could find no case law listing similar factors in support of exceeding sentencing guidelines.

Investigators said Clair had been knocked into the median of the highway by the impact and died at an Orlando hospital four days later, and that Canfield had been dragged along the highway under the car for about 1,000 feet and was dead at the scene.

Mexico Faces Bleak Future

Mexico's worsening economic crisis imposes new strains not only on workers and consumers but also on a monopolistic political system that has become the object of growing dissatisfaction among voters.

President Miguel de la Madrid's decision to devalue the official worth of the peso by 18 percent—to a record low of 2,350 to the dollar—simply recognizes the bleak reality underlying Mexico's financial plight. Without the official devaluation, which reflects a loss of about one-third of the peso's worth, there was little chance of stabilizing the currency and averting a sharp boost in inflation, which already is running at 144 percent.

Although the devaluation, coupled with such austerity measures as budget cuts and stricter price controls, is unavoidable for the long-term recovery of the economy, the immediate future is very grim indeed.

Panic buying and hoarding of goods underscore the dangerous loss of confidence that threatens to erase the modest gains made by the government during the past five years toward restoring the country's equilibrium. These include cuts in government subsidies, selling off state-owned enterprises, government spending cuts, a reduction of trade barriers and a swift growth of maquiladora manufacturing operations along the U.S. border.

The falling price of oil, Mexico's chief export, will make it even more difficult to sustain Mexico City's $105 billion foreign debt. In one recent week alone, crude prices dropped $3 a barrel.

The country's internal debt—what the government owes to Mexican institutions and individuals—is now rising rapidly as well, exceeding $20 billion. Consequently, about 55 percent of next year's federal budget will be spent merely to service the foreign and domestic debts.

This leaves little room for traditional election-year largesse by the ruling Institutional Revolutionary Party (PRI). With the presidential election set for July 6, the PRI's chief concession thus far has been a 38 percent wage hike for the 4 million workers who belong to the powerful Mexican Labor Federation. The government granted the wage increase largely to head off a general strike threatened by Fidel Velazquez, the federation's 87-year-old chief.

The economic upheaval presents particular difficulties for Carlos Salinas de Gortari, the PRI's choice to succeed de la Madrid as president. As de la Madrid's minister of budget and planning, Salinas was a prime architect of the government's austerity program. He therefore is opposed by some important sectors even within the ruling party, including the Labor Federation.

Despite Mexico's economic misery, there is virtually no chance that the PRI will lose its monopoly on power in next year's election. But opposition to the PRI's rule and tensions within the party are certain to grow.

To keep pace with annual population growth of 2.9 percent, Mexico must create 1 million new jobs a year. This requires an economic expansion of 7 to 8 percent annually, which is all but impossible without a major restructuring of the economy.

The task of implementing such sweeping reforms will fall to Salinas, who for now has his hands full just trying to preserve the ruling party's historical standing in an increasingly beleaguered nation.

Art Is Where You Find It; So Seek It

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Entering a competition called "An Artistic Discovery" doesn't necessarily guarantee a high school artist will be discovered in the sense that, say, Paul Gauguin and Georgia O'Keeffe were unable to keep their talents hidden forever.

Nevertheless, winning canvases customarily hang in what probably is the world's longest and most sinuous art gallery.

Mind you I said sinuous rather than sensual. After all, the canvases are hung in a pedestrian tunnel.

This particular walkway was dug years ago under Independence Avenue between the Capitol and a House office building named for a former speaker, the late Rep. Clarence Cannon of Missouri.

The fact that a newer tunnel to an office building named for another defunct speaker, the late Rep. Sam Rayburn of Texas, is complete with electric subway cars may be Rayburn's tough luck. More about that later.

Meanwhile, I fear that elongated and serpentine as it is, the non-subway tunnel is running out of room in which to hang canvases. Should that fear prove justified, perhaps the Congressional Art Caucus will move part of the exhibit.

Worrying that a congressional pedestrian tunnel may run short of space in which to display high school art works might strike you as a dismal pursuit, but I remind you that somebody's gotta do it.

Anyhow, the next competition sponsored by the caucus will be its seventh and the group now has more than 200 House member selecting winners in their home districts.

Each year, it seems to me, the "artistic discovery" exhibit has gotten larger, with more and more canvases hanging in the tunnel, in some cases on top of each other.

Should the caucus decide to move a segment, it could elect to share with the Senate, thus making the dream of a former Inland senator come true.

Not long after the Senate opened a branch line underground railroad to the Dirksen office building, this senator advocated dressing up the tunnel with works of art.

Nothing came of his proposal, however. As I pointed out at the time, whizzing past via subway is no way to drink in art.

That was before the Congressional Art Caucus began sponsoring an annual competition among high schoolers, however.

Fortunately, the Dirksen-Capitol subway has a walkway set aside for pedestrians, as does the Rayburn-Capitol underground.

The latter should take care of any latent fears of sharing.

As for the possibility that one of the eventual winners might be a painting of the Grand Canyon that would give subway riders the impression they were about to go over the rim, I can only hope the majority of House members get to work at the Capitol on foot.

VIEWPOINT

Newest Soviet Weapons

By William R. Hawkins

Before the December summit in Washington, Mikhail Gorbachev said of strategic defense, "I guess we are engaged in research" but added "We will not deploy SDI." NBC's Tom Brokaw let this assertion pass unchallenged. Yet if an American official tried to deceive a reporter in this fashion, it would cause a media scandal.

Soviet SDI research has been in progress for twenty years and on a scale so large that Gorbachev's "guess" at its existence is simply not credible. The USSR's military laser program employs over 10,000 scientists and engineers at a half-dozen major sites. Its core is at Semipalatinsk near the Sary Shagan Missile Test Center, a key facility for ABM research and the space program.

Lasers are only one possibility for high-tech missile defense. The Soviets are also working on particle beams and have been since the late 1960s, pursuing research American scientists had abandoned. But by building on British technology stolen by the traitor Klaus Fuchs, the Soviets made breakthroughs that Americans are only now trying to duplicate.

In 1978, U.S. satellites detected evidence of small underground nuclear explosions used to generate the massive pulses of energy needed for particle beam guns. Tests were conducted at Azgir on the Caspian Sea and at Semipalatinsk. Weapons application research is also carried on at Sarova where a new electron beam accelerator was built. Ten years ago, Gen. George Keegan, then Chief of Air Force Intelligence, stated that the USSR "is 20 years ahead of the United States in its development of a technology they believe will soon neutralize the ballistic missile."

The Soviets also have several programs underway for kinetic energy weapons. They have already tested a "gun" that can shoot streams of heavy metal particles such as tungsten at speeds of nearly 15 miles per second in air or 36 miles per second in the vacuum of space.

There is no reason to believe that the Soviets will not deploy new defensive systems given this massive research and development effort. The USSR already has the only deployed ABM system in the world, recently upgraded with new SH-04 and SH-08 interceptors. The SH-08 is a point-defense weapon, but the SH-04 is a long-range ABM that intercepts ICBMs in space.

The Soviets have also been improving their strategic air defense system, adding more SA-10 and SA-X-12 missile batteries which have been tested in the ABM mode. These violate the 1972 ABM Treaty, but the Soviets have ignored American protests.

Memos: Bush Knew Of Iran-Contra Deals

By Jack Anderson
And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — At the dawn of this election year, Vice President George Bush leads all contenders, Republicans and Democrats, in the presidential polls. But his support is lukewarm and could turn cold overnight.

His biggest scare, associates say, was the Iran/Contra horror. But up until now, he has succeeded in disassociating himself from the scandal. He simply denied any involvement. He was aware of the Iran initiative and had expressed "reservations," he said. But he had not been privy to the details. He spoke as if he had been The Little Man Who Wasn't There.

ROBERT WAGMAN

Elusive Insiders

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The hit movie "Wall Street" has perpetuated something of a myth. It suggests that Securities and Exchange Commission investigators can monitor major stock exchanges to detect insider trading.

However, a newly released SEC study of stock activity surrounding takeover bids points up just how difficult it is to uncover insider trading.

Using powerful computers, the SEC's watchdogs track trading on all major U.S. exchanges. In addition, the exchanges themselves — the New York Stock Exchange, the American and the over-the-counter NASDAQ — maintain surveillance units that follow computer trades.

Authorities can quickly identify buyers and sellers even when they are hidden by street accounts and other devices to mask their identities.

But despite all this high-tech surveillance, more evidence is needed to make insider trading cases stick, as U.S. Attorney Rudolph Giuliani has pointed out.

Recently, when fallen arbitrator Ivan Boesky was sentenced to three years in jail, Giuliani sought to justify what many considered a light sentence.

"Without the help of persons like Boesky, it will be difficult, if not impossible, to make insider trading cases. If he (Boesky) had received an unusually harsh sentence it would have sent a message to others that we do not want their cooperation. Boesky has been, and continues to be, of major assistance to us. In light of that cooperation I believe his sentence was fitting."

Giuliani was tacitly admitting that if individuals like Boesky do not give information on others also involved, prosecutors will have a much more difficult time uncovering illegal activities.

This point is driven home by the recently released, but little-noticed SEC study.

It had been assumed that unusual trading activities before a takeover bid is announced are often the mark of insider trading. Thus, the theory goes, all the SEC need do is to trace back trades made in the weeks or months before a takeover bid is announced.

But the SEC's study of stock transactions surrounding 172 takeover bids over a four-year period found that a sudden rise in stock prices before announcement of a takeover bid proves nothing. The study concludes that "price rises are of little value as measures of illegal insider trading."

The study was prepared for the SEC's Office of Chief Economist by economists Gregg Jarrell and Annette Poulsen. It found that stock prices of takeover targets began rising an average of 17 days before public announcement of the takeover attempt. Every takeover target studied experienced a rise in its stock price. The increase averaged almost 39 percent.

The two economists studied 172 tender offers between 1981 and 1985. Stock prices for the companies involved were tracked for 20 days before and 10 days after the first public takeover announcement was made.

Jarrell and Poulsen concluded that the principal reasons for price run-ups were early "foothold" buying by the company about to launch the bid, resultant press speculation, and legitimate research by market analysts.

In the 172 tender offers studied, the average price run-up in takeover attempts with pre-announcement press speculation was 50.3 percent. In takeover attempts with significant pre-announcement foothold buying, the run-up was 47.7 percent. Even in hostile takeovers, which are usually conducted quickly and in great secrecy, target stock prices had an average run-up of 35 percent.

The authors did admit that insider trading might have been a factor in some of the pre-announcement trading. "We are unable to explain a great deal of the pre-bid trading," was the way the authors put it.

It's Ok If Stitches Get Wet

By Rob Stein
UPI Science Writer

BOSTON (UPI) — Although many doctors may disagree, a new study indicates that stitches can — and apparently should — get wet.

"Patients frequently asked the question, 'Can I get my stitches wet?'" Physicians differ in their recommendations. Some feel that stitches and the wound should always be kept dry, while others feel comfortable letting the stitches and the wound get wet," said Dr. Joel M. Noe, an assistant professor of plastic surgery at Harvard Medical School.

To answer that question, Noe conducted a study involving 100 patients who had benign or malignant lesions removed from their skin at the Beth Israel Hospital in Boston and had the incision closed with nylon sutures.

All the patients were asked to wash the wounds with soap and water twice a day starting the morning after surgery. They were told they could shower and wet the stitches but were advised not to bathe. They were evaluated three to 12 days later.

"All the wounds were noted to heal primarily. There were no infections. There were no disruptions nor (openings) of the wound," said Noe in reporting his findings in the January issue of the journal Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery.

"There is no data to suggest that a wound with stitches that is kept dry heals faster, has less incidence of infection, has less pain, or has greater wound strength," said Noe. "The benefit of being able to wet stitches is obvious because of less disruptions in daily activities."

Based on the findings, Noe said he would recommend that patients be instructed to wash their wounds.

"There are several positive reasons. First of all, it tends to make people less intimidated by their wounds. Secondly, the wound is cleaner when you see it so it's much easier to remove the stitches and I think you get a finer scar," he said in an interview.

Showers are safer than baths because bath water gets easily contaminated and then may be in contact with the wound and stitches, he said.

Although surgical soaps and antiseptics may be better than ordinary soap and water, they are expensive, can cause allergic reactions and are probably unnecessary, he said.

"In an age when more procedures are being done on an outpatient basis and where more patients or their families are providing the wound care at home, it seems advantageous to allow patients to wet their wounds," he said.

"There is less disruption in their daily activities. Being allowed to wash their wounds may allay any anxiety associated with dealing with surgical wounds," he said.

Trading Active, Prices Up

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened higher today in active trading of New York Stock Exchange issues.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, which rose 16.25 Tuesday, was up 6.96 to 2038.46 shortly after the market opened.

Advances led declines 544-286 among the 1,244 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 9,670,000 shares.

The market posted its second consecutive advance Tuesday despite a late round of profit taking that cut into strong gains won early in the session.

Despite the erosion of the early gains, analysts were encouraged by the market's advance, particularly the strong advance-decline ratio.

Chester Pado, director of technical research at Jefferies & Co. in Los Angeles, labeled the performance "exceptionally good, especially following (Monday's) sharp gains. Historically, it is normal to have a pullback, but in this case, the market held onto sizeable gains."

"The dollar alone is not causing all this buying," he said. "Foreigners may be more inclined to buy, but obviously there is a fair amount of domestic buying" as well.

the county commission, three members of the tourist business community who would be directly affected by the tax, three members of the tourist business community who would not be directly affected by the tax, and two members of the city commission.

That council would then decide what the tax should be spent for—such as the civic center, beachfront erosion, such as at the lake and riverfront properties. It would also decide how much money the tax should generate, as well as decide whether it should be a county-wide tax, or applicable in only a smaller section of the county, such as Sanford.

If the council decided that the tax should be county-wide, the county commissioners would vote on the proposal. If that commission approved it, then county residents would vote. Young said. If the council decided the tax would be levied only in Sanford, it would go through city channels, with Sanford residents ultimately voting on it.

It was also noted that should the tax go county-wide, officials from the other municipalities would also be on the council overseeing the tax.

The council would also devise a two-year plan for implementing the tax. Young continued.

Every two years the council would have to come up with an updated plan. For example, the first year, the tax might only be one or two cents on the dollar, he said. But by the third year, the council could raise the tax to three cents, as well as direct the funds into new projects. After the initial inception of the tax, only the council would be involved in planning for the tax use. Voters would not vote every two years on each new plan, he added.

Farr pointed out that should a tourist tax be levied county-wide, the funds would also be distributed county-wide, thereby "diluting" the funds Sanford would receive. However, he said that should the tax be levied throughout the entire county, the funds would have to be dispersed proportionately.

Farr also suggested that in drawing more tourists into the community crime rates would also increase, highway litter would increase, and more "flim-flam" dealers would traverse the area. Although most members seemed to express interest in increasing tourist trade in Sanford, Farr said that the question of "Do we really want tourists?" is a basic question for committee members to ask themselves.

In discussing from what businesses the tax should be levied, Farr also said he wondered if it would affect local tourist businesses such as the Rivership Romance. He emphasized that neither would it be right to "cook the golden goose."

Centennial Park.

The two day event begins Saturday, 8 a.m., with a youth breakfast. Committee member Sandra Petty told the group that 500 tickets had been printed for that event, and only 50 or 60 are left at this point. Cost for that banquet is $3.50.

Petty said that breakfast will begin with prayer, then the breakfast buffet will begin. As soon as everyone is served, a fashion show called "Flair of Fashion," will provide the secular entertainment for the morning. Following the fashion show, Petty said Mayor Betty Smith will probably extend greetings to those in attendance. Another prayer will begin the religious part of the program. Special solo music will be provided. Then, the Rev. Arthur Graham, St. Matthews AME Church, will deliver the message. The youth breakfast, which is expected to last about one hour and 45 minutes, will close with everyone singing "We Shall Overcome."

"We want the kids to leave with the message in mind," Petty said.

The race, which begins at 10 a.m. at Centennial Park, is primarily through the Georgetown area. Petty explained. People will be stationed along the route as guides. The race should take about an hour-and-a-half or two hours she said. Prizes will be awarded.

Petty went on to say that several groups will perform in the park. Exhibits will be on view, and food will be available. She told the other committee members they should "bring lounge chairs, sit back, eat and enjoy yourselves." Five vendors have said they will supply a variety of food, Petty added. Vendors will pay a $15 fee to set up, she said.

expenses by filing false overtime claims, but plans on looking into it. She said a memo probably will be posted alerting department heads such practices are in violation of the county's accounting procedures. She said the county books for last fiscal year have been closed and are being audited and there is no way to make corrections in the way the funds were spent.

She confirmed that overtime pay is subject to deductions for social security, federal income tax and retirement benefits, while expense reimbursement is not. The county must match employee contributions to the Social Security Administration. Unearned overtime, then, can mislead accountants in their analysis of departmental needs. It also can drastically change an employee's federal tax liability, sometimes in the employee's favor, sometimes not. It also costs the county and the taxpayer more because of additional costs attached to overtime pay which do not occur when the employee is simply reimbursed for expenses.

Department heads have discretion to handle their own budgets within county guidelines. This action was not within guidelines," Beamer said. She said department heads are generally ruled by the Fair Labor Standards Act in granting overtime pay.

Department heads are required to keep records of all overtime and the reason for it and those records are reviewed monthly and used as a basis for increasing staff and for making up annual budgets, she said.

Beamer said she and Hooper are also investigating allegations that a present employee in the building department was hired about three years ago after another person passed a qualifying typing test for her.

The person, who has since moved to another job within the department, was hired by Flippen, who was building official before Dean was named to the position, Beamer said. She said the employee's personnel file indicates she failed her first typing test, then scored very well on it when she re-took it about a week later.

Beamer said when confronted, the employee denied that another person took the second test for her. Beamer said the employee maintains that she had not typed for a long time before the first test and that she practiced a lot between the first and second test. Unless administrators can find the person who allegedly took the second test, Beamer said it may be difficult to prove.

After investigation of information concerning a temporary mechanic's license issued against county ordinances, Beamer said she informed the holder of the license not to use that temporary license until he receives his state license.

Dean said he issued the license according to what he understood to be in accordance with county ordinances and state law, which provide for the issuing of temporary licenses in special circumstances. The contractor bought a business and the former owner did not include the mechanic's license as part of the sale of the business, Dean said. The contractor was licensed to do business in Sanford, and wished to do business in the county but had not taken the test to be licensed by the state. The ordinance required he be licensed in the state at least four years, but the contractor had not met that requirement.

Dean said he polled members of the Mechanics Licensing Board and, after receiving consensus approval for granting the temporary license, ordered that it be issued. One member of the licensing board, however, Bill Halback, told the Herald that he does not recall being contacted by Dean on the matter and that he was not in favor of issuing the license.

Beamer said the county ordinance mentions other types of temporary licenses which may be granted, but does not mention mechanic's licenses. "The ordinance does not prohibit the issuance of temporary mechanic's licenses, but doesn't permit it, either—it's a borderline case of whether it was legally issued or not."

She said the contractor has since passed the state licensing examination and is waiting for the paperwork to be completed for his license to be issued. Until the state license is issued, he will not be allowed to use the temporary license.

Another matter being looked into is a letter Dean sent to a building official in Pasco County. That building official was soliciting from Dean advice on running a department. Dean had his secretary type up the letter, but not on county stationery, and included a couple of paragraphs referring to his (Dean's) sexual prowess before and after he began working for the county. He indicated it diminished as his work day got longer.

Dean says while he shouldn't have had his secretary type it, because it was in poor taste, he meant nothing by it and was dictating it tongue-in-cheek.

Dean's secretary today said she was annoyed over having to type the letter and would tell that to administrators if she's interviewed regarding it, but stopped short of claiming it constituted sexual harassment.

A 22-year resident of the county, Davis has served on several citizen boards and committees and currently serves on the Code Enforcement Board. He said he will soon announce his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for county commissioner from District 5.

Reagan Reviews 1989 Budget; Request Will Top $1 Trillion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal agencies awaited 1989 spending limits from the White House today to prepare a budget request for Congress that will top the $1 trillion mark for the second straight year.

President Reagan has tentatively approved the 13-digit budget he will submit to Congress in mid-February, and aides say it is not likely to trigger a big fight on Capitol Hill.

Because of last month's two-year compromise with Congress on spending and taxes, the new budget indeed is not expected to spark the bitter battles of the past. It requires a 1989 deficit of no higher than $136 billion.

That agreement calls for $294 billion in defense spending and $14 billion in new taxes. Yet despite the required deficit cut of $76 billion in two years, the budget for the fiscal term that begins Oct. 1 will top $1 trillion for the second straight year because of expected growth in the economy, aides said.

FEC Deals With Jackson, Hart

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jesse Jackson finally qualified for government campaign matching funds, but the Federal Election Commission lawyer is urging denial for another Democratic presidential candidate, Lyndon LaRouche, and explaining to creditors of Gary Hart that they can't collect from the Treasury.

In three separate developments with impact on the White House race, Jackson got some good news Tuesday while the FEC's general counsel, Lawrence Noble, delivered setbacks to LaRouche and those seeking money Hart has owed them since his unsuccessful bid for the Democratic nomination four years ago.

Jackson was ruled eligible by the FEC for $227,423 in matching funds, one day after his 12 major rivals got their first checks from the Treasury.

Jackson had been excluded from his week's transfers until questions about whether he had met minimum requirements for the money were resolved by the FEC. To qualify for matching funds, candidates must collect at least $5,000 from each of 20 states in individual donations of no more than $250 apiece.

Radon Risk Estimates Raised

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A report released today said the radioactive gas radon may cause almost three times as many cases of lung cancer as was previously thought, heightening concern over discoveries of radon in homes nationwide.

The 600-page report from a National Research Council panel of radiation experts said the lung cancer risk from radon is especially high for smokers.

The report was requested by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission and the Environmental Protection Agency in 1984 after studies showed the odorless, colorless gas, released naturally from radioactive rocks, has seeped into some homes in every part of the country, sometimes building up to high levels.

For a unit of measure of exposure to radon, the panel used the "working level month," or WLM, equal to 170 working hours of exposure to air with a certain radioactive energy level from radon and its breakdown products.

Student Takes Class Hostage

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — A teenager who held students hostage at gunpoint in a high school French class for up to an hour before firing a shot into the ceiling and surrendering was depressed over academic problems, authorities said.

The 17-year-old student, whose lack of credits made him a sophomore despite his age, barged into the classroom Tuesday, threatened to kill the teacher and finally gave up after releasing his hostages and firing a bullet into the ceiling.

The youth, whose name was not released because of his age, was booked into the Pima County juvenile detention center on 41 criminal counts, including 35 counts of kidnapping, aggravated assault, burglary and theft of a handgun, Sgt. Thomas Taylor said.

Israeli Officer Shoots Palestinian As Violent Disturbances Continue

JERUSALEM (UPI) — An Israeli officer shot a Palestinian man today as violent disturbances continued in the occupied territories one day after Israel came under new pressure from the United Nations to refrain from deporting alleged Arab instigators.

State-run Israel Radio said the Palestinian man forced his way into a military car in the West Bank town of Tulikarm and stabbed a female soldier in the hand before he was shot and captured by an army officer in the vehicle.

The radio said Khaled Kheirallah, 20, was in serious condition after being apprehended and taken to Tulikarm Hospital, 20 miles northeast of Tel Aviv. The female soldier was slightly wounded on the hand. An army spokesman said he had no immediate information on the incident.

Council Seeks Israeli Restraint

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Israel's U.N. ambassador condemned as "hypocrisy" a unanimous Security Council resolution calling on Tel Aviv to refrain from deporting Palestinians accused inciting violence in occupied Arab territories.

After the 15-0 vote Tuesday, Ambassador Benjamin Netanyahu defended Israel's policies in the occupied territories as "the first and foremost duty of any government — to maintain order."

He said only a few Palestinians are being deported and they are "members of extremist and terrorist organizations," and that many have previous convictions on charges of committing acts of terrorism.

Colombia Seeks Ochoa's Arrest

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI) — The government issued arrest warrants for Jorge Ochoa Vazquez and four other reputed leaders of a drug ring that smuggles an estimated $1.7 billion worth of cocaine into the United States each year.

Justice Minister Enrique Low said Tuesday that Ochoa was being sought for possible extradition to the United States after American authorities lodged an additional 14 charges against him, clearing the way to reopen extradition proceedings.

American Birth Rate Remains Steady

WASHINGTON (UPI) — About one of every 10 babies born in this nation of immigrants in 1986 had a foreign-born mother, the Census Bureau said Tuesday in its first effort to include figures on the foreign-born in its annual fertility-rate reports.

The report said about 379,000 babies were born to foreign-born women aged 18 to 44 out of a total of 3,625,000 births in 1986. There were 3.8 million foreign-born women in that age group compared with 46.4 million women born in the United States.

Bureau officials said the figures released Tuesday were collected in special supplements to its April 1983 and June 1986 Current Population Surveys financed by the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

The surveys showed that the American fertility rate — the number of births in a year for every 1,000 women — increased from 82.9 in 1983 to 88.9 in 1986.

At the same time, the Census Bureau said the overall U.S. birth rate remained generally steady at an estimated 70 births per 1,000 women, close to the 1985 rate of 69 for every 1,000.

In a finding that could have major policy implications for the debate over government spending for day care, the bureau also reported that half the nation's new mothers were in the labor force within a year after giving birth, compared with only 31 percent a decade ago.

Women aged 30 to 34 — born at the peak of the "baby boom," between 1952 and 1956 — were the only group showing an increased fertility rate, up to 79 per 1,000, from 70 per 1,000 in 1985.

Other closely watched fertility rate figures found still significantly higher fertility rates among Hispanic and black women in the 18-to-44 age group, with with Hispanic women having a rate of 106 births per 1,000 women, compared to 67 per 1,000 for non-Hispanic women.

An estimated 429,000 Hispanic women gave birth in 1986.

the bureau said, representing 12 percent of all births to women in the nation, the same as reported in the 1985 report.

Tuesday's report said the large disparity between Hispanic and non-Hispanic women is the result of more Hispanic women having at least a second birth.

The overall fertility rate for black women was 78.4 per 1,000, according to the report, compared with 68.2 per 1,000 for non-black.

"While black women 18 to 24 years old had a considerably higher fertility rate than their white counterparts, fertility rates were not significantly different between the two races for women 25 to 29 and 30 to 44 years old," the report added.

The report also said 17 percent of women aged 18 to 44 who had a child in the survey year were not married, not statistically different from the 18 percent last year.

"Although only 33 percent of all births to women 18 to 44 years old were borne by women under 25," the report said, "59 percent of all births to unmarried women occurred to women in this age group."

About half of recent black mothers were unmarried compared with 23 percent of Hispanics and 12 percent of recent white mothers, the report said.

Hugh Bass Hired As New Assistant State Attorney

The new year brought a new face to the state attorney's office in Sanford Monday when Hugh Bass reported for work as a member of the office's felony division.

Bass is from Jacksonville and is coming to Seminole County from the 5th Judicial Circuit.

"I worked out of the state attorney's office in Tavares," he said.

Bass graduated from the University of Florida Law School in 1985. He received a bachelor's degree in business from the University of North Florida.

While in law school, Bass said he was a member of the university's trial competition team.

Bass said his highest profile case while working with the SAO in Tavares was a recent DUI manslaughter trial, in which a 78-year-old man with a 1.7 blood alcohol content was traveling in the wrong lane on U.S. Highway 441 in Lake County. Bass said the man caused an accident that

Amnesty: Repressive Nations Torture Children

LONDON (UPI) — Amnesty International said Tuesday repressive governments around the world kidnap, imprison and torture thousands of children — some brutalized "to force their parents to speak."

"Innocence and vulnerability are no protection against abuses of power by the state," said the London-based worldwide human rights group in appealing to governments to stop the victimization of children.

"Thousands of children have been unjustly imprisoned, tortured, killed and orphaned by the state. Some have been forced to watch their parents being tortured and others have been born in prison and taken away from their mothers at birth."

The group in its January newsletter said it had evidence of human rights violations by 18 countries and "distressing instances of the torture of children have reached Amnesty International from all quarters of the world."

"Some children are tortured to extract information, some to force their parents to speak," it said. "Many of the young torture victims appear to be tortured to frighten and intimidate their communities."

The group said thousands of children in South Africa — some as young as 7 — have been arrested since June 1985 when the government imposed sweeping emergency powers to counter black unrest.

"Most were assaulted," it said. "Some were beaten, whipped and kicked for several hours, others were given electric shocks. Many emerged from detention profoundly injured, physically and psychologically."

Amnesty said that in Turkey security forces reportedly tortured four boys last year by "giving them electric shocks to their mouths" because they lived in a village used as a staging ground for Kurdish separatist guerrillas.

"One of the most awful memories I have is of children screaming through the night," a witness to child torture told Amnesty.

In Ecuador, an 8-year-old boy was "thrown over a roll of barbed wire" and beaten by soldiers searching for a stolen rifle last May, Amnesty said.

Amnesty also said there are widespread reports of "disappeared" children presumed held by security forces in Argentina, Peru, Sri Lanka and Afghanistan.

Mixed Doubles: Another Ballgame

I recently overheard a conversation on the court next to where I was playing. It seems that one of the women who is a very avid tennis player, was engaged to be married and was starting to have second thoughts. She told her partner that she and her husband-to-be had played tennis the night before and much to her dismay, she found out that he was not a very good player. She said that she was really afraid that the two of them would not be a very good mixed doubles team and that it might adversely affect their marriage. She went on to say that the guy on the next court to them was quite a good player and seemed about the right age...wonder if he is married, she mused.

Sound like an exaggeration? Well, it kinda is but not far from the truth in some circles. Mixed-doubles and husband and wife doubles is a serious business in our tennis mad state of Florida. Many, many tournaments throughout the year are devoted to mixed doubles alone and many others offer mixed events along with singles and doubles.

Some of the most emotional, hard fought, tense and volatile matches that I have ever seen or been involved in have come in mixed doubles matches. Some of these matches last over three hours and actual physical fights break out between partners. One man threw his racket at his wife, and one woman poured Gatorade over her husband's head.

Marriage counselors would say that what happens on the tennis court is just the tip of the iceberg.

Rule # 1 - This first one is for men only. "Get rid of the macho, King of the Court attitude." I heard men tell their wives, "now honey, you stand in this one little spot, if a ball happens to come at you, well hit it. I'll cover the other 98 percent of the court. This simply won't work. You will be a bad team and your wife will be humiliated. Play it straight. If the ball is in your partner's area, let her take the shot. You may be pleasantly surprised how well your wife/partner plays once you give her a chance.

Rule #2 - Never try to instruct or coach your partner while the match is going on. I have actually seen players try to do this even during a point. To discuss tactics during the changeover is fine, but please leave the coaching alone until after the match.

Rule #3 - Do not glare, growl, cuss, hiss or generally act like a toad when your partner misses a shot. No one wants to make a mistake and you will just make your partner more nervous and more likely to miss the next call with your antics.

Rule #4 - Never refer to the female player on the other team (if you are the male) as a "super player," or gifted and fit looking athlete or a very steady player. This refers to your wife/partner that if that girl was on your side, you would of course, win.

Rule #5 - Don't bring off-the-court problems on to the court with you. I once heard a woman tell her husband that if he wasn't so sloppy around the house, he wouldn't have missed that easy volley...what?

Rule #6 - Do praise your partner's good shots and good efforts. Everyone likes a little oil on their heads. It makes us all play better.

Rule #7 - Do play a lot of practice matches. Practice makes, well, you know.

Rule #8 - Do have fun. It's not life or death out there. That little trophy doesn't mean that much...does it? Tell me it doesn't. I know people who would sell out their best friend for a $2.95 tennis trophy. Ridiculous, isn't it?

Rule #9 - Laugh at the mistakes, have fun, loosen up and if he double faults again...deck him!

Tribe Outguns Mainland, 67-57

Seminole High School used a strong fourth quarter to wear down the Daytona Beach Mainland Buccaneers, 67-57, before 451 fans Tuesday night at Seminole High's Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium.

The Tribe, 7-4, will return to conference action tonight against DeLand at Seminole, game time is set for 8 with the junior varsity getting underway at 6:15.

"I feel the one thing that helped us the most was everyone got involved in the game," Seminole coach Greg Robinson said. "All our starters were contributors and our players off the bench came in and played well."

Guard Andre Whitney led the Seminoles again with 19 points, 11 coming in the third period to wake up the sluggish Tribe. Craig Walker scored 15 points and pulled down a game-high 12 rebounds. The 6-8 senior also blocked seven shots to dominate the play in the paint. Walter Hopson added 10 points with a pair of fourth period slams.

Forward Reginald "Cheese" Bellamy added nine points with eight rebounds and four steals in another fine all-around effort for Seminole.

"I told the team at half not to get down and come out playing hard in the second half," Bellamy said. "We got going late and showed what we can do, when we hit the boards like we did tonight we're a great team."

Walker scored 10 points in the opening half to get the Tribe rolling to an 18-13 first quarter edge. Walker scored six points in the opening quarter including a dunk with 2:51 remaining off a nice feed from Bellamy.

Walker continued to control the middle in the second period coming up with three consecutive blocks to intimidate the Mainland interior game.

"We came out and played with some intensity," Walker said. "If we keep our heads in the game we play well."

"Coach Robinson got us ready for this week," added Walker. "We need to keep improving and we got a good start tonight."

Seminole hit a slow spot in the second quarter as the Bucs were able to work themselves into the

"I was a little disappointed with our defense on him (McCloud)," Robinson said. "We'll need to do a better job when we come up against other players who can score like he can."

Seminole had its running game in full force in the second half as it came out and quickly regained the lead.

"Coach talked to us at halftime and got us fired up for the second half," senior forward Walter Hopson said. "He told us what we had to do and we went and got the job done."

Hopson scored all his eight points in the second half to aid in the Tribe's pulling away. Hopson also pulled down seven rebounds, five in the second half.

Whitney scored the Tribe's first four points in the second half to give them a 34-32 lead. Walker added a bucket after pulling down an offensive rebound to keep the ball in their possession.

Sammie Edwards came up with eight points and a game-high seven assists. Edwards was a factor in the Seminole running game as he was able to find the open man most of the night.

"When we're running we're unstoppable," Edwards said. "We finally got running in the second half and that's what helped us."

Seminole took a 46-45 lead into the final quarter when Bellamy and Hopson took over. Hopson started the period off

Maravich Collapses, Dies During Pickup Game

Basketball

Gary Lydick, at the church to tape a religious radio show with Maravich, said the former star marveled at the good time he was having Tuesday.

"He said, 'I haven't played but once in the past year — in an NBA Legends game,'" Lydick said. "He said, 'I need to do this more often. I'm really feeling good.' Maravich turned to walk away and immediately fell to the floor. He wasn't playing hard at all and then the next thing, he just fell."

"We could tell immediately that it was very severe. I'm sure he probably went into a seizure. His eyes started to roll and he became very jaundiced almost within a matter of a minute or two."

In recent years, Maravich had become outspoken on nutrition and fitness. At last year's NBA old-timers' game in Seattle, Maravich appeared to be in better shape than most of the former players.

Maravich, nicknamed "Pistol Pete" for his unabashed willingness to shoot, played three seasons at LSU under his father, Press Maravich, who died last year. His mother earlier committed suicide and Maravich referred to her death at recent public appearances.

The 6-foot-5 guard became one of the most flamboyant players ever to pick up a basketball. Maravich would take long, loping strides downcourt. Barely past halfcourt he might just as soon hoist a shot from 30 feet or hit an unsuspecting teammate with a behind-the-back pass.

Despite Maravich's electric presence,

LSU barely finished above 500 his first two varsity seasons. The Tigers went 22-10 his senior year in 1970. That season, in which he scored 50 or more points 10 times, he was named United Press International's College Player of the Year. He struck for 69 points against Alabama.

Maravich scored 3,667 points during college, an average of 44.2 points a game. Even though college players at that time were eligible for varsity play for only three years, no four-year player has since matched Maravich's total. His field goal and free throw totals of 1,387 and 893 remain major college records.

In Maravich's last college game, he scored his usual 40-plus points, including a hook shot from halfcourt at the halftime buzzer against Georgia.

CASSELLBERRY — Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks and Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots found out a little more Tuesday night about what direction they are headed in.

Lake Howell, while veering off course every once in a while, kept on a path toward contending for the Seminole Athletic Conference title.

Lake Brantley, meanwhile, is pointed in the right direction — the Lady Patriots just need a jumpstart.

Lake Howell got a combined 34 points from Tammy Lewis and Lisa Nuxol en route to a 59-48 SAC victory over the cold-shooting Lady Patriots Tuesday night before 221 fans at Lake Howell High.

"I'm not positive what direction we're going in right now," Lake Howell coach Dennis Codrey said. "We're not playing all that well but this was a big win for us tonight."

Lake Howell, 9-2 overall, is 3-1 in the conference and trails

Lake Brantley, which shot just 25 percent (21 of 84) from the floor, dropped to 1-5 overall and 1-2 in the league. The Lady Patriots host DeLand Thursday night.

"It's been the same story over and over," Lake Brantley coach Cindy Frank said. "We just can't get the ball in the hole."

Neither team could find the hole in the first period as Lake Howell took a 9-5 lead. With Jennifer Tullford catching fire, the Lady Patriots came back with nine of the first 11 points in the second period for a 14-11 lead. Tullford scored eight of the nine points and eight of her team-high 14 points.

Nuxol, who finished with 11 points and 10 rebounds, came back with five consecutive points for Lake Howell and Lewis then scored three for a 19-14 lead. Late in the half, Lewis launched in a three-point shot and hit another two-point jumper to give the Lady Hawks a 28-20 halftime lead.

Lake Howell ran the lead to 10 points, 40-30, late in the third period on a pair of free throws by Sherod Keaton and the Lady Hawks took a 41-32 lead into the final eight minutes.

Barb Billmyer's layup brought Brantley within 43-35 early in the fourth but Lewis, who finished with a game-high 23 points, then nailed another three-pointer and Val Lehr followed with her only two points of the game to give Lake Howell a 48-35 lead with 5:20 remaining.

Bacchus Boosts Brantley

By Mark Blythe
Herald Sports Writer

Dave Bacchus came off the bench to score 10 points and the winning basket as Lake Brantley downed Bishop Moore, 47-45, in prep action Tuesday night at Bishop Moore High School.

The Patriots, now 6-4, will return to action tonight at home against Lake Howell. The Hornets fell to 3-6.

Darren Leva and Bo Pamplin led Lake Brantley with 11 points apiece. Bacchus' effort off the bench woke up the sleeping Pats in the first half.

"We came out and played a real lethargic first half," Brantley coach Steve Jucker said. "We went to a 1-3-1 trap in the second half and that seemed to work us up."

The Patriots fell behind 28-21 after the first half before waking up and working themselves back into the game.

"Bacchus came off the bench and did a real good job," Jucker said. "He was able to come in and was able to score the winning basket."

Lake Brantley took control of the ball with the 45 second remaining and the score knotted at 45. The Patriots worked the clock down to 10 seconds with Bacchus connecting with four seconds remaining.

"It was an off balance running jumper," Jucker said. "He was off balance but still made the shot, they called timeout but didn't get a shot off."

Lake Brantley returns to conference action tonight against rival Lake Howell. Brantley beat the Silver Hawks in the Central Florida Classic Christmas tournament with the services of guard Doug Lawson. Lawson went down in the game with a knee injury and is expected back in 2-3 weeks.

"We'll need somebody to pick up for Lawson's scoring tonight," Jucker said. "We'll also have to control the tempo and keep from running with them."

OVIEDO RIPS GATEWAY
Senior guard Garth Bolton continued his high scoring with a game-high 25 points to lead the Oviedo Lions to a 81-47 victory over Gateway Tuesday night at Gateway High School.

The Lions, 7-2, will return to action Friday in conference play against Lake Mary. Gateway fell to 7-5 overall this season.

Bolton scored 15 points in the opening half, 11 in the second quarter as the Lions jumped out to an early lead.

"We played well in the first half and bothered them with our full court press," Oviedo coach Dale Phillips said. "We didn't do much in the second half, we just coasted and protected our lead."

Dwight Everett had another fine game for Oviedo finishing with 15 points, the return of center Steve Kandell was evident as he scored 10 points before fouling out in the fourth quarter.

"It was nice to see Kandell back and producing," Phillips said. "He got into foul trouble but looked good for his first game back."

Albert Cortinez led Gateway with 14 points as Cesar Clejo netted 13 with three three pointers.

Tracy Brandenburg and Julie Billmyer sparked a late rally that brought the Lady Patriots within six points, 51-45, with 1:30 remaining, but Lewis, Jennifer Brown and Brooke Burns all hit a pair of free throws in the late going to seal the victory for the Lady Hawks.

"Nuxol did a nice job in her first start," Codrey said. "And I also thought Burns and Keeton gave us a good spark when we needed it."

Behind Lewis and Nuxol for Lake Howell, Keeton had eight points and Burns added five while Kelley Grider contributed seven rebounds.

For Brantley, Brandenburg tossed in 11 points, Julie Billmyer added seven and Barb Billmyer contributed six. Kim Gunderson led the way inside with 11 rebounds and Julie Billmyer grabbed nine.

BRANTLEY WINS JV — Lake Brantley's junior varsity ran its record to 3-1 Tuesday with a 50-38 victory over Lake Howell. Lori Bunce led the JV Lady Patriots with 18 points while Sarah Keith added nine, Christa Schroeffel tossed in eight, Kelly Hartman contributed seven and Chris Rabaja chipped in six. Cathedra Winston had a game-high 20 points for Lake Howell.

Lady Rams Battle Lyman

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Editor

Lake Mary's Lady Rams have their sights set on challenging No. 1 Lake Brantley for the Seminole Athletic Conference title but the Rams can't overlook Lyman's Lady Greyhounds tonight.

Lyman, which lost only twice in the last two years, comes in with just a 6-6 record but the Lady Greyhounds are still a highly competitive team. Lyman proved that by tying Lake Mary in regulation in the Burger King Classic (Lake Mary won in penalty kicks).

Lake Mary, No. 7 in the state, comes in with a 12-3 overall record and 3-1 in the conference. Lyman is 4-2 in the league.

The Lady Rams have one of the top goal-scoring tandems in the state in Donna Rohr (29 goals) and Michelle Mattingly (24). Defensively, Amy Alexander and Michelle Padilla lead the way while goalkeeper Tammy Scott has recorded eight shutouts thus far.

Lyman depends on a pair of senior leaders in Randi Huddleston and Bonni Steeves while freshman Tracy Sher has played well in the early going. Julia Callarman and keeper Becky Carr anchor a very solid Lyman defense which shut Lake Mary out in regulation in the Burger King tourney.

In other SAC action tonight, Seminole is at DeLand and Lake Brantley goes to Lake Howell.

Seminole, 3-7 overall and 1-4 in the SAC, struggled with injuries the first half of the season but hopes to have everyone healthy for a strong second half. Senior sweeperback Cindy Bengue and senior keeper Kim Walsh key a strong Seminole defense while Melissa Shuckman and Tracy Farrelly are among the offensive leaders.

Raiders Entertain Indian River

By Mark Blythe
Herald Sports Writer

Seminole Community College's mens basketball will hope to come up with another strong defensive effort and a patient offense tonight as it hosts Indian River Community College at the SCC Health Center. Tip-off time will be 7:30.

The Raiders, 10-5, returned to action Monday and came up with a solid effort over a talented junior varsity squad from the University of Central Florida.

Seminole coach Bill Payne will have his hands full as IRCC already owns a 106-102 decision over Seminole early in the year with two players just now joining the team.

"Dave Williams is probably Indian River's best player and he just came to the team after being suspended from the team for ten games," Payne said. "He's around 6-5 and is a very, very talented player."

Seminole will look to work the ball inside where they have plenty of power and strong support off the bench. Barry

SEMINOLE JV RIPS BUCS

Robert Moore scored a game-high 23 points and pulled down a career and game-high 16 rebounds and six blocked shots to lead Seminole past Mainland, 67-51, in junior varsity action at Seminole Tuesday night.

Brandon Cash had another solid game for the Tribe with 10 points, 14 rebounds, four blocked shots and four assists. Bernard Eady added seven points while handing out 10 assists. Eady also came up with a pair of steal to lead the Tribe.

Scott Sukup scored a career-high 12 points which included three jumpers from three-point land. Steve Dickinson added nine points as Andreas Redding netted six points and came up with a pair of steals.

TRIBE FROSH ROLL

Four players scored in double figures Tuesday night as Seminole's freshman rolled over Oviedo, 73-30, at Seminole High.

Sam Ayers and Kerry Wiggins scored 12 points each for the 'Noles while Ron Colfield and Oscar Edwards each had 10 points. Seminole, 4-1 for the season, hosts Lake Mary Thursday night at 6.

Rams, 'Hounds Fight To 1-1 SAC Deadlock

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Editor

Lake Mary's Rams and Lyman's Greyhounds engaged in their second soccer battle in two weeks Tuesday night and the result was the same as the last time they met — a 1-1 tie.

Todd Luke gave Lyman a 1-0 lead in the second half but Lake Mary tied it with 14 minutes remaining on a penalty kick and the Seminole Athletic Conference game ended in a 1-1 deadlock at Lyman High.

Lake Mary, ranked No. 1 in the state in Class 4A, now stands at 9-2-3 overall and 4-0-1 in the SAC. Lyman, No. 4 in the state, now stands at 8-2-1 overall and 3-1-1 in the league. Lake Mary hosts Oviedo Thursday night while Lyman entertains Seminole.

"Lyman had more quality chances but our guys showed well by putting together some good soccer to tie the game up," Lake Mary coach Larry McCorkle said. "It was pretty much a replay of the Pizza Hut (1-1 tie in regulation)."

Both teams took 16 shots on goal Tuesday and both Lake Mary goalkeeper Pete McNally and Lyman keeper Kelly Walden had seven saves.

After a scoreless first half, Lyman got on the board 11 minutes into the second half. George Kouritis won a ball in heavy traffic and slipped it through and into the open when Luke ran on and fired in a shot from 12 yards out.

"Kouritis saw the space and laid it out nicely and Todd (Luke) came running on and blasted it in," Lyman coach Ray Sandidge said. "It was beautiful goal. We had some other excellent chances to score but couldn't finish them off."

Twice in the game Lyman had shots at an open goal only to have the ball cleared off the line by Lake Mary defender Jim Spicher.

Lake Mary tied the score with 14 minutes remaining when Frank Rameur put in a penalty kick. The PK was set up when Lyman was called for fouling Jon Brooks in the penalty area.

"I went over the film a dozen times and feel it was a questionable call," Sandidge said of the foul. "The guy (Brooks) had completely lost the ball when the foul was called."

DELAND BLANKS SEMINOLE
After a scoreless first half, DeLand scored a pair of goals in the second and held on for a 2-0 victory over Seminole in Seminole Athletic Conference action Tuesday at Seminole High.

Soccer

DeLand improved to 4-3-1 overall and 2-2-1 in the league while Seminole dropped to 3-6 and 0-4.

"We're still improving game by game," Seminole coach Carlos Merlino said. "We had a good week before the Christmas break and we're beginning to play more competitive soccer."

Kenny Mooran broke up the scoreless tie for DeLand with 25 minutes remaining on a corner kick and Justin Ford added an insurance goal off a rebounded shot with 14 minutes left.

DeLand took 10 shots compared to Seminole's six. Seminole goalkeeper Chris Bowlin kept it close with eight saves and DeLand keepers Chad Miller and Tim Foren combined for the shutout.

HOWELL, BRANTLEY TIE
Brian Mills and Pablo Garzon each scored second-half goals as Lake Howell and Lake Brantley fought to a 1-1 tie Tuesday in Seminole Athletic Conference action at Lake Brantley High.

Lake Howell now stands at 4-5-2 overall and 2-1-3 in the SAC while Brantley stands at 3-6-1 and 2-2-1.

It was a pretty evenly played game all the way around as Lake Brantley took 17 shots compared to Lake Howell's 12 and Lake Brantley keeper Chris Price made five saves while Lake Howell's Joe Schulman made three.

Lake Brantley plays at DeLand in an SAC game Thursday while Lake Howell has a non-conference game at home against Daytona Mainland.

OVIEDO GIRLS LOSE
Winter Park pumped in five goals in the first half and added three more in the second en route to an 8-1 victory over Oviedo Tuesday in girls soccer action at Oviedo High.

The Lady Lions dropped to 0-9-1 for the season and will return to action Friday at home against Lake Mary.

Jenny Lambousis scored the lone goal for Oviedo Tuesday and goalkeeper Whitney Yonker made five saves. Winter Park outshot Oviedo, 15-6.

C.C. Hayden poured in 26 of her game-high 28 points in the second half Tuesday night as DeLand's Lady Bulldogs took over sole possession of first place in the Seminole Athletic Conference with a 57-46 victory over Seminole High at DeLand.

DeLand, 6-1 overall, stands at 4-0 in the SAC while the Lady 'Noles, 5-4 overall, are 2-1 in the SAC. Seminole hosts Daytona Beach Seabreeze Thursday night.

"We played C.C. (Hayden) well in the first half and held her to only two points," Seminole coach Charles Steele said. "But we let her run the floor and get the ball to easily in the second half."

DeLand took a 10-8 lead after the first quarter but Seminole then went on a 16-9 second-quarter run for a 24-19 halftime lead. The game was tied at 38-38 after three quarters and the Lady Bulldogs then outscored Seminole, 19-8, in the fourth.

Basketball

TRIBE JV WINS — Seminole's junior varsity won its third game in a row Tuesday with a 76-24 rout of the DeLand JV. Coach Julius Francis' team, 3-1 overall, plays at Lyman Thursday night.

Shawna Cohen poured in a career-high 27 points and grabbed 12 rebounds to lead the JV Lady 'Noles while Yolanda Baker added nine points and 13 rebounds.

Craig Walker skies for a slam Tuesday vs. Mainland.

Sutton: No. 1 Cats Won't Drown Foes

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI) — Kentucky Coach Eddie Sutton says he remains opposed to "drowning" opponents by big scores, even if costs his Wildcats their No. 1 ranking. "I don't ever want to beat someone by more than 20 or 25 points. You don't need to be out there drowning people," Sutton said Tuesday. "Someday it might come back to haunt you. You may be down and they will bury you. You have to have compassion for your fellow coaches. Kentucky was named No. 1 in early December, but despite remaining undefeated, failed to beat opponents by sizeable margins and lost its top ranking to Arizona. Arizona lost Saturday at New Mexico and Kentucky returned to the top of the ratings Monday. Sutton, whose 9-0 squad is averaging 14.6-point victory margins, said he will not change to keep hold of the top ranking. "It's nice to be No. 1, but that doesn't mean that much to me

Include Fish In Your Diet For Good Health

Research has shown that including fish in your diet can help reduce the risk of heart attacks. Even the "fatty" varieties of fish can have a therapeutic effect on fat and cholesterol levels. Fish, too, provides minimal calories with such nutrients as Vitamin A and calcium.

Fish is a food that microwaves well and very quickly. Allow 4-5 minutes per pound. It should flake apart easily when cooked.

If you are on a low cholesterol diet remember to use a low cholesterol margarine, skim milk, "egg beaters" instead of the egg and omit cheese in the recipes and you will be adapting the recipe to your individual health need. I find that seasoning with lemon juice and using lots of fresh vegetables provides flavor enhancers for almost all types of fish without added fat.

SCROD WITH VEGETABLES

1 1/2 lbs. scrod, cod or other white fish
2 tablespoons low cholesterol margarine
2 tablespoons white wine
1/4 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1 small green pepper
1 medium onion
1 medium tomato
Cut fish into 6 serving-size pieces and place in a 10 x 6 inch baking dish. Place margarine in a 1 cup glass cup. Microwave on high 30-45 seconds or until melted. Stir in wine, salt and pepper. Cut green pepper and onion into 6 thin slices and place 1 slice on each piece of fish. Pour margarine/wine mixture over all. Cover with plastic wrap. Microwave on 100% power 4 minutes. Cut tomato into 6 thin slices and place 1 slice on each serving. Microwave on 100% power 3-4 minutes or until vegetables are tender crisp and fish flakes apart easily. (About 6 servings), 80 calories each.

This is a fast and easy way to prepare a fish fillet. Any fillets can be used.

SNAPPER ITALIAN

1/2 cup Italian salad dressing
1 lb. red snapper or favorite fish fillets
1 tablespoon snipped fresh parsley
Pour dressing into a 10 x 6 inch baking dish. Coat both sides of fish. Arrange in dish; cover with plastic wrap. Microwave on 100% power 4-5 minutes or until fish flakes apart easily. Garnish with parsley. (Serves 4, 155 calories each.)

Combine fish and vegetables in a light sauce for a flavorful fish entree. Try with your favorite fillets.

FISH WITH DILLED SAUCE

1 lb. sole fillets
1 small carrot, peeled and cut into julienne strips
1 small zucchini, cut into julienne strips
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup sour cream
2 Tablespoons mayonaise
1 Tablespoon dry white wine
1/4 teaspoon dill weed.

Cut fillets into serving size pieces. Fold each fillet in half crosswise and place in 8 inch round baking dish. Arrange equal amounts of carrots and zucchini on top of each fillet. Sprinkle with salt. Cover with plastic wrap. Microwave on 100% power 4-5 minutes or until fish flakes apart easily. Set aside. Combine sour cream, mayonaise, wine and dill weed until blended. Transfer fish to serving dish; spoon sauce over. (4 servings; 125 calories each)

You may read this several times to make sure. The tartar sauce makes the coating for these fish fillets.

BREADED FISH

1 lb. fish fillets (whitefish, cod)
1/4 cup tartar sauce
1/4 cup dry bread crumbs
1/4 teaspoon paprika
Cut fish into serving-size pieces. Arrange in single layer in 12 x 8 inch baking dish. Spoon tartar sauce evenly over fish. Spread to coat. Combine bread crumbs and paprika. Sprinkle evenly over tartar sauce. Cover with paper towel. Microwave on

Cook Of The Week

Dishing Up Old-Fashioned Food Is A Natural For Antique Buff

By Dorothy Greene
Herald Correspondent

As far as Mary Bridges is concerned, the older, the better. Not necessarily people, mind you, but treasured antiques, are what have become the objects of her affection over the years. For our Cook of the Week and her husband, Bill, proprietors of Badges Antiques and Mini Mall in Sanford, a little bit of history or a step back in time is as exciting and satisfying as dishing up a good, old-fashioned family meal of chicken and dumplings.

Mrs. Bridges is a Sanford native and describes herself as the "baby" of nine children, six boys and three girls, "and they can all cook," she says. "My mother had Carlton's boarding house on Sanford Avenue for years," she adds, "and she served all the clubs in town and the Navy base when it first came here. We had 150 sailors three times a day! They'd come in trucks to the house when they started the air base." In addition, Mrs. Bridges explains, her mother served meals to five different clubs in town, one each day, such as the Rotary, Kiwanis, and the Lions, at the USO which was housed in the present Chamber of Commerce building.

"She cooked everything old-fashioned," says Mrs. Bridges, "and in large quantities. And we all had to help out in the kitchen. She taught every one of us how to cook, the boys, too. When you have to peel a fifty-pound bag of potatoes one at a time, you need kids. You need help!" she says, laughing.

After attending all the Sanford schools and graduating from Sanford High School when it was located on French Avenue, Mrs. Bridges recalls how she met her husband, Bill, at the skating rink which was then located where the Civic Center is now. My, how Sanford has changed! Bill Bridges was a Navy man from Illinois stationed in Sanford, she says, and when her car broke down outside the rink, he helped her get it started again. After skating and dating they were married two and one-half years later at the First United Methodist Church on Park Avenue, and on Dec. 19, they celebrated their 35th anniversary together.

"We lived in Illinois for 13 years after we were married," says Mrs. Bridges, "and FINALLY moved back to Sanford in 1965. The Bridges' son, Scott, was born in Illinois and has a lovely daughter, Julie, who loves spending lots of time with her grandparents." She's a great ballet dancer," says Mrs. Bridges, proudly, "and baton twirler. She was in her first Christmas parade this year and she did real good." A special guest room is set aside for Julie at the Bridges' spacious home, and is populated with a countless number of stuffed dolls to keep her company on occasional overnight visits. A veritable toyland for a precious little girl!

Since most of Mrs. Bridges' brothers and sisters still live in the area, when the clan gets together, it's a party. And when all the aunts, uncles, nieces, nephews and cousins gather under one roof to celebrate a birthday, anniversary, holiday, or whatever, you know the food has to be good. "We love all kinds of food," says our cook. "I don't like, except, maybe, caviar. I don't like caviar and that's the only thing I probably could eat if I fed myself. Daddy made us eat three bites of everything, then if you didn't like it you didn't have to eat it, so you learn to like anything. Every one of us likes every kind of food."

"We're together a lot," adds Mrs. Bridges. "We're a big family that helps each other and see get along well." So with all those good cooks under the same roof at the same time, the party fare is always lip-smacking good. Just recently, Mrs. Bridges says, a nephew announced his engagement and within a few hours she and her sister put together a spread that was fit for royalty. In no time at all, Mrs. Bridges and her sister prepared a large, hollowed-out watermelon filled with melon balls, fried chicken, fresh vegetables for dipping, cheese balls, several other hors d'oeuvres, and a festive punch. "We were amazed that we did all that in just two or three hours," she says. "We had a lot of little goodies. It was a feast."

Acquiring a taste for antiques came slowly to Mrs. Bridges as she explains that it was her husband who really had a love for old objects while she preferred the modern. "My husband would go to the auctions and buy a piece," she says, "and he would refinish it and want to bring it in the house. And I would say, 'No, I don't like it.' So he would take it to an auction sale. But then he got a Hoover

Oranges Star In Desserts

Fruit has always been synonymous with hospitality, and oranges are a special favorite in the U.S. For your next party, we offer a couple of citrus desserts guaranteed to bring a meal to a rousing finale. Best of all, they're quick fixes with fine, fresh ingredients—and just as fast as box mixes.

Now an everyday food, oranges long were a symbol of luxury. In 1529, the Archbishop of Milan gave an orange-based status dinner of 16 courses that included caviar and oranges fried with sugar and cinnamon, one thousand oysters with pepper oranges, sturgeon in orange aspic, and fried sparrows with oranges. The dinner concluded, of course, with candied orange peel.

In 15th century Breslau, hosts celebrated citrus during an annual orange shoot, the Fomeranzenschiessen, by putting oranges atop the guests' heads and shooting them off. A waste of oranges, if not guests. Our suggestions are more practical. Made in a Minute Mousse is a lighter-than-air dessert that whirrs in a blender, chills for an hour—an orange-chocolate mousse worth its weight in gold for today's working woman who wants to entertain without fuss.

Into the blender go semi-sweet chocolate bits, Florida orange juice, egg yolks and orange peel. The mixture combines with meringue and is turned into dessert cups with diced Florida oranges; that's all there is to this delectable mousse.

Why Florida oranges, particularly? Cooks today are ever conscious of food quality, and Florida citrus is simply the best in the world—heaviest, juiciest, sweetest.

cabinet, a kitchen cabinet with the bins for flour and potatoes, a breadbox built in, and with spice racks built across and all that. It was really beautiful oak. I liked it, but I didn't want to tell him I liked it."

As her husband worked on the cabinet out in their garage, she told him that she liked it and that she would like to have it in their house. But, teasing, he said, "No, you don't like antiques, so I'm going to take it to the auction." It was shortly before Christmas and our cook says she began to get worried as he told her that he had sold it at an auction. "But, then it appeared under the Christmas tree," she says, "and I've not wanted anything but antiques since!" As a result of her new-found liking for the old, the Bridges' home is warmly furnished with items that hold a wealth of history.

These days, Bridges Antiques can be found on West Highway 46 outside Sanford with a newly added mini-mall which Mrs. Bridges talks about with great enthusiasm. "We have nine shops under one roof," she explains, "and each dealer has a variety of vintage clothing, dolls, furniture, jewelry and gems, and cut glass. It's just got everything in it," she says.

Away from the business, Mrs. Bridges likes to delve into one of her favorite pastimes—chalking. A unique and beautiful way to finish ceramic pieces, chalking is done with artist's chalk in lighter pastel shades, rather than with brilliant colors applied with a brush. She first applies an antiqued base to the figure by brushing with two coats of ivory paint. Then she adds a coat of brown oil paint, wiping the figure to obtain the antique effect. When the pieces are ready, she applies the chalk in various colors. Mrs. Bridges then coats each piece with a fine matte spray to preserve the finish. One of her prized projects is a life-like nativity scene which graces the living room at Christmas time.

All around the Bridges home are indications that our cook is a very talented woman with need-point topping the list of the "crafty" things she creates. She also is very good at flower arranging which is always a lovely touch to home decorating. A favorite hobby of Mrs. Bridges' is her year-round wreath making which she always enjoys giving as gifts. Using dried grapevines, she creates wreaths for all seasons, adding colorful ribbons, flowers and little hand-painted wood ducks, birds or swans to fit the design. "And I love to sew," she says, which explains her slim, trim figure.

But ask her what she loves to do the most and she'll almost always answer "entertain." Luncheons, dinners, weddings, parties, or "family doins" are a snap for our cook as she puts it all together without a hitch. "I've had one or two garden weddings here this past year," she says. "I like to do that kind of thing." Besides the weddings, she has hosted an engagement party, a birthday luncheon, and a recent dinner for 30 guests. "I like to have one of my sisters help me," she admits. "Usually, my sisters will come to the rescue, either one of them. My sisters and I like to go all out in a big way. We just like entertaining a crowd, because Momma did it, I guess." Putting her smoker to good use, our cook also likes to prepare smoked turkeys and hams to have on hand for a crowd.

Entertaining in a big way also means shopping in a big way, and when our cook visits the supermarket—watch out! "I like to store it up so I don't have to go running out all the time," she says. "I was there five hours the last time. The manager loves me and the checkers and baggers hate me," she says, laughing.

Listed below is a delicious sample of how Mrs. Bridges puts all those groceries together:

Baby Left Home Alone Requires Better Company

DEAR ABBY: My teen-age unwed daughter was expecting me at 3 p.m. to pick up her baby for the weekend. I arrived 30 minutes early and found the baby home alone in his paypen—I could see him through the window. Fortunately, the landlord who lives next door let me in. My daughter arrived 15 minutes later.

Dear Abby

I told her she had done a terrible thing by leaving her baby alone for even five minutes—she could have had a car accident or been detained for any number of reasons. She said her roommate was due home at 5 p.m. and the baby would have been OK if something had happened to her.

I love my daughter very much, but I also love this precious grandbaby. I am so afraid this might happen again. I cannot imagine leaving a baby, or any child, alone. I lived in a house for even five minutes—let alone going away in a car to do an errand.

How can I make sure this will never happen again?
WORRIED GRANDMA

DEAR WORRIED: You can't. This is clearly child neglect. If your daughter refuses to listen, it would be in the best interests of the child to be removed from her care. After a child has been trapped (alone) in a fire, or kidnapped, or molested, it is too late. Until your daughter realizes the seriousness of leaving a child alone in a house, she's not competent to raise one.

DEAR ABBY: My parents have been married for 52 years. My mother is a saint. Together they raised 11 children. I learned about my father's other women when I was 12, but I never told anyone.

Many years have passed. Lately my father has been coming to my house to use my phone to call other women long-distance so the calls won't appear on his telephone bill. I pay for those calls although I can ill afford to. I feel as if my father wants me to know he is cheating because he knows it hurts me. My mom baby-sits to make ends another winner, equally easy. Beaten egg yolks, sugar, cornstarch and milk are heated to boiling, and that's all the cooking required. In go almond extract and whipped cream, and the mixture is layered into parfaits with fresh Florida grapefruit wedges and strawberry puree. Heavenly Citrus Parfait is well named—airy, sweet and tart with the incomparably refreshing taste of the grapefruit to keep blandness at bay.

For cooks meticulous about the taste and healthfulness of fine fresh ingredients, the recipes are real treasures. Next time you have a party or just want family treats, take 10 minutes and see for yourself.

MADE IN A MINUTE MOUSSE

1 package (6 ounces) semi-sweet chocolate bits (1 cup)
1/2 cup Florida orange juice, heated

4 eggs, separated
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
3 tablespoons sugar
1 Florida oranges, peeled, diced

In blender container combine chocolate and orange juice; blend 30 seconds until smooth. Add egg yolks and orange peel; blend 30 seconds longer. In a large mixer bowl beat egg whites until foamy; gradually beat in sugar until stiff. Fold whites into chocolate mixture. Divide orange pieces into 8 dessert dishes. Spoon about 1/2 cup mousse mixture over oranges. Chill at least 1 hour, or until firm.
Yield: 8 servings.

HEAVENLY CITRUS PARFAIT

3 egg yolks
1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 cup milk, scalded
1 teaspoon almond extract
1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped
2 Florida grapefruit, peeled and sectioned

1 package (10 ounces) frozen strawberries in syrup, thawed

In small bowl beat egg yolks and sugar until thick and lemony colored. Add cornstarch. Gradually stir in milk. Transfer mixture to small saucepan. Cook over medium heat until mixture boils; boil 1 minute, stirring gently with a wire whisk. Remove from heat. Stir in almond extract. Chill. Fold in whipped cream. In container of electric blender process strawberries until smooth. Alternately spoon pudding mixture, grapefruit sections and strawberry puree into 4 parfait or dessert dishes. Garnish with additional grapefruit sections, if desired.
Yield: 4 servings.

meet, while Dad spends money on other women.

I love both my parents, but I still have this little core of hate for my father, and feel that he is deliberately nurturing it. I hate to hurt my mother by telling her about Dad. Do you think I'm wrong?

SEALED LIPS

DEAR SEALED: No. After 52 years, she knows the kind of man she's married. I think you should tell your father that he may not use your telephone to make long-distance calls. And if you really think he is trying to hurt you by letting you in on his dallying with other women, avoid him whenever possible.

DEAR ABBY: I need your help, as do thousands of other nuns. Years ago, we worked for small salaries or none at all—in hospitals and parochial schools. Donations helped supplement our small salaries, and we nuns were able to survive.

Today, these same communities are in serious financial difficulty because we have more and more elderly members and fewer younger members to support them. Many of us now send out begging letters requesting donations. Why? Because most people think that the Catholic Church totally supports us. That is not true. While many dioceses do what they can to help offset some of our financial difficulties, they are not able to fully provide for us. Abby, we need funds for food, utilities, upkeep of buildings, health care and funds for education in order to continue to help the sick, the abused, the homeless, etc.

The real problem then is: How can we let people know that Catholic nuns need their help and support?

A NUN IN NEED

DEAR SISTER: I, too, was unaware of your situation, and if this letter alerts members of your faith to offer more support, then your prayers have been answered.

Superstar Lets Career Take A Backseat To Real Interest

Latin superstar Ruben Blades is an anomaly in the music industry. A Harvard graduate with a master's degree in international law, the singer-songwriter has been awarded a Grammy for his music. His acting career also has skyrocketed: His latest role is in Robert Redford's upcoming "The Milagro Beanfield War."

But Blades lets entertainment take a back seat to his real interest — human rights. He recently stated his intention to run for the presidency in his homeland of Panama.

Now, Sony Video has released a documentary about the "King of Salsa" called "The Return of Ruben Blades" (85 minutes, $29.95 list). Guests in the piece, which covers both Blades performing and activist careers, include Linda Ronstadt and Pete Hamill.

(BU) More home-video releases: The Oscar-winning "Buddy Holly Story" has been unavailable on videocassette until now. But the recent success of "La Bamba" — which focused on Ritchie Valens, another victim of the plane crash that killed Holly — has spurred RCA/Columbia to release the video.

Both movies will be shipped to the home market on Jan. 21.

(BU) Sad news: UB40's producer and video consultant, Ray "Pablo" Falconer, was recently killed in England in an auto accident. The car was being driven by his brother, Earl Falconer, the band's bass guitarist, who escaped serious injury.

(BU) Word around the record industry has it that Neil Young will reunite with Crosby, Stills and Nash for a new album.

(BU) Superstar guitarist Eric Clapton's career will be traced in a six-album boxed set due out this spring, including 72 tracks from his early Yardbirds days through Cream, Derek and the Dominoes, Blind Faith and as a solo artist. Clapton will also be a special guest on the next "Cinemax Sessions," this one filmed in Jamaica and featuring a galaxy of reggae stars. Along with fellow Brit Joe Cocker, Clapton will play alongside Jimmy Cliff, Bunny Wailer, and Rita & Ziggy Marley.

(BU) Peter Gabriel will do the sound track for Martin Scorsese's controversial upcoming film, "The Passion" (originally "The Last Temptation of Christ"). David Bowie has replaced Sting in the role of Pontius Pilate, due to Sting's touring commitments.

(BU) Ozzy Osbourne has found a new guitarist to replace exiting Jake E. Lee. He's 21-year-old unknown Zakk Wilde, a New Jerseyite who submitted his tapes along with thousands of other hopefuls. Wilde's first appearances with Osbourne were on the band's recent tour of British prisons.

Two people you won't see on Osbourne's upcoming American tour, however, are Jim and Tammy Bakker. He invited them — extending the offer to open his show on national TV no less — but they have been giving his job opportunity the cold shoulder. Wonder why?

Stallone: 'The Image Is Forever

By Paul Wedel
BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — As Rambo, Sylvester Stallone makes miraculous escapes against impossible odds, but as an actor he admits he has little chance of escaping his violent action-adventure image.

"I'd love to do something different," said Stallone, a towel draped over his trademark muscles during a break in the filming of "Rambo III."

"Sylvester Stallone is going to play Mark Twain, a writer, or he is going to play a monk," he mused. But, he acknowledged, "You just don't believe it, you know."

"The image is forever. As much as I'd like to be broadening the field, I have to be realistic. I'm caught in a certain persona. People see me in a certain way."

"When I die they'll put this headband in my grave," he said, fingering the headband worn he has worn in all the "Rambo" films. "That's the way it is. It's a blessing. It's a curse, but it is something that is very rare. I can't fight it."

Stallone rose to film fame as Rocky Balboa, the down-and-out heavyweight boxer who gets a shot at the championship. He has gone on to more tough guy roles, playing a union organizer, a cop and an arm-wrestling truck driver.

"If all of a sudden you say here is Sylvester Stallone in a fun comedy, you'd say 'Wait a minute,'" he said, recalling the comedy "Rhinestone," with Dolly Parton, that was a misera-ble flop.

As John Rambo, the violent Vietnam War veteran, however, he has been a huge box office success. Stallone's first "Rambo" movie grossed $120 million and the second $270 million, making it one of the highest grossing films in history.

Although Stallone never served in the military and has drawn criticism from Vietnam veterans, he said he genuinely likes playing the taciturn soldier who seems more at home with weapons than with people.

"He's a very difficult character because he doesn't speak much, so he has to act a lot, move," Stallone said.

"I like the philosophy that he is a man who should have lived 500 years ago. He needs a cause. He needs a reason to exist. I like that his life is one of dedication and obedience. He learns that in this movie."

"Rambo" was the creation of novelist David Morrell, but Stallone wrote the story and screenplay for "Rambo III," which brings the hero back to Southeast Asia, not to fight but to find peace in a Buddhist temple.

"He thinks he can become and live like a Buddhist with the monks (in Thailand)," he said.

But his former superior officers, Col. Trautman, played by Richard Crenna, is captured by Soviet troops in Afghanistan and Rambo is lured back into action.

"There is a part of him that's peaceful. There is a part of him that needs to be involved in a cause for freedom," Stallone said.

Food for Thought

Seasoned butter, shaped into logs and kept in your fridge or freezer, is ready to add an elegant touch to grill of steaks or fish. Top steak with roomy-parley butter; for fish, mix in lemon peel and mint.

Super-light pancakes are made with sour cream and whole wheat flour. Mix together in processor, if you wish) 2 eggs, 2 1/2 lbs. flour, 4 1/2 tsp sugar, 1 Tbs. wheat germ, and a touch of salt. When smooth, add 1 cup sour cream and blend gently. Cook on buttered griddle.

Save space, save money. Roll out biscuits right on the baking sheet and cut them out. Shape trimmings into more biscuits.

Sauce for sauteed chicken: sautees a little wine to deglaze the pan, then heavy cream and Dijon mustard. Smooth and serve.

Cocktail treat: a tiny pancake holds a spoonful of cream sauce or sour cream topped with sugar. Choose any kind of sauce, from the most insipid to the most regal.

Respiratory Failure May Cause Crib Death

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a nervous wreck, constantly checking my newborn because I'm so worried about SIDS. I can't believe that babies just stop breathing. They must choke or suffocate. There has to be a logical explanation.

Please give me some information so that I can get a good night's sleep.

DEAR READER: Normally, when we stop breathing, the respiratory centers in our brains stimulate us to breathe before any damage takes place. In some infants who have underdeveloped or immature nervous systems, the respiratory centers do not stimulate breathing. Many specialists believe that sudden-infant-death syndrome (SIDS or crib death) is due to failure of the newborn's respiratory centers. Of course, this is a dangerous situation with potentially tragic consequences. It is the most common cause of death in children between the ages of 2 weeks and 1 year, occurring about once in every 350 live births.

Children outgrow the tendency to stop breathing — more accurately, as they mature, their respiratory centers become more normally sensitive to apnea (lack of breathing). The chances are that your baby is not at risk for SIDS. Nonetheless, I think that you ought to share your fears with your pediatrician. He or she will be able to provide the necessary information to relieve your anxiety — or, if appropriate, can tell you what steps to take to protect your child.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I recently watched a nurse try twice to put an IV in my 6-year-old granddaughter. The little girl cried and the nurse yelled, "Relax." I don't like to have a nurse blame her lack of skill on the patient. Is it humanly possible to relax when someone is hurting one? (That is, just for ordinary people, who aren't into "alpha" relaxation techniques or anything?)

DEAR READER: I do not believe that most of us — certainly not a 6-year-old child — can relax on command. Even though the nurse was uncon-fortable and frustrated at not being able to achieve her goal, she was acting in an unprofessional way, to be speaking as she did to your granddaughter. I suspect that the nurse was, in fact, telling herself to relax. I am sorry to hear that your granddaughter was yelled at; this could only serve to increase the little girl's level of fear and mistrust.

In instances like this, I think that parents (and grandparents) have every right to complain to the doctor. Intravenous lines are sometimes difficult to put in — especially in children; however, a caring professional must make the effort to avoid playing the game of "It's Your Fault."

Forget the "alpha" business; the nurse's behavior was simply inconsiderate and unmannerly.

The best defenders have a good sense of smell. They can sniff out defensive plays that other players might overlook. Place yourself in the East position, confronted with your partner's lead of the diamond jack against three no-trump. Declarer wins dummy's king of diamonds and plays a low heart from dummy. If you rise with the heart ace, you will give the declarer two tricks, not only the queen but the obvious king in the concealed hand, so you play low — or do you?

The basic principle of defending against three no-trump is to take enough tricks to set declarer before he can take his nine tricks. Here, if East plays the jack, 10 or nine of hearts at trick two, declarer will obviously scamper home with nine tricks — 3 diamonds, 1 heart and 5 clubs. The only chance for the defense is to grab the heart ace and then take four spade tricks. But note well how that needs to be done. With the layout as it is, East must first play the spade king. West will encourage with the eight, and East will next play a low spade. Now the Q-10 are gone and West can play back the five through the dummy's 9-6, enabling East to take two more tricks with the J-7 to set the contract.

YOUR BIRTHDAY
JANUARY 7, 1988

In the year ahead, rewards that are due you for your past efforts will start to trickle in. What begins rather inauspiciously will eventually turn into something impressive.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your compassionate inclinations will impel you to come to the aid of one who needs your help today, but if you report your deeds to others, it will embarrass the party you assisted. Afghan Rebels Step Up Attacks

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — U.S.-backed Moslem rebels stepped up attacks in Afghanistan and Soviet troops punched into the outskirts of the embattled city of Kabul...

One diplomat quoted "independent reports" as confirming that convoys carrying relief supplies last week reached Kabul, a town of 40,000 people near the Pakistan border 90 miles southeast of the Afghan capital Kabul.

But, he said, Soviet and Afghan government forces will have to construct numerous posts to hold the mountainous dirt track and prevent guerrillas from reimposing a siege of the garrison town, site of almost three weeks of some of the heaviest fighting since Moscow's December 1979 invasion to prop up a communist regime.

"I remain to be seen whether Soviet and regime forces will be able to keep the road open," he said.

The Kabul government, which is supported by Soviet troops estimated at more than 110,000 men, said last week at least five relief convoys entered the town.

It claimed some 1,600 rebels died in an offensive by an estimated 20,000 Soviet and 30,000 Afghan soldiers to break the guerrilla siege that began in November, adding it lost seven soldiers. Moscow has put guerrilla casualties at 2,000, but gave none of its own.

Rebel news agencies in the Pakistani border city of Peshawar, where the main guerrilla groups are based, acknowledged Monday the siege had broken, with one convoy making it into Kabul with supplies for residents and the Soviet and Afghan army defenders. But, they said, combat was still raging in the area.

A Western diplomat, quoting travelers who reached Kabul from the area, Tuesday said Soviet combat units battled into the suburbs of the town and reported that conditions there were severe and "the remains of many dead regime troops are still within the city."

He and another diplomat, speaking separately on condition of anonymity, said Kabul hospitals were full of casualties from the fighting, exacerbating a shortage of medical supplies.

They reported security in the capital was tightened last week because of a "surge" in bombings, rebel rocket attacks and fighting outside the city.

On the diplomatic front, U.S. Undersecretary of State Michael Armacost and Pakistan Foreign Secretary Abdul Sattar held a second round of talks Tuesday in Islamabad in an attempt to coordinate their positions on Afghanistan.

Armacost arrived in Islamabad Monday to discuss Pakistan's war-torn Soviet-backed neighbor, where Moscow has proposed withdrawing its occupation troops once an acceptable political settlement is reached.

Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze made a surprise visit to Kabul Monday, raising speculation about Soviet moves to end the war.

The diplomats in New Delhi, who hold weekly briefings on the condition they not be identified, said there had been recent heavy fighting around Afghanistan, including a rebel rocket attack Dec. 27 into an Afghan army division headquarters in the Kabul suburb of Kharga. The diplomats said 11 soldiers were killed along with an unspecified number of civilians.

They also reported fighting north and south of the city and in the Panjahir Valley to the northeast.

They said the rebels, who are armed by the United States, China and Iran, on Dec. 18 attacked the airport in Kandahar, the nation's second largest city, killing or wounding 20 Soviet and Afghan soldiers and destroying a plane.

One quoted a witness as saying the bodies of 20 Soviet soldiers were brought to the Soviet military hospital in Kabul from a battle Dec. 19, and said heavy combat was reported in Herat, 385 miles west of Kabul. The other diplomat said many civilians were killed in a Christmas rebel attack 125 miles northeast of Kabul.

Reagan Will Look To Future In State Of The Union Speech

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan will use his 1988 State of the Union address to frame goals for his final months in office, with a substantial emphasis on foreign policy concerns, a senior administration official said Tuesday.

The official, who asked not to be identified, said the address, to be delivered Jan. 25 to Congress and a national broadcast audience, will be followed by a comprehensive legislative package.

The president is expected to reiterate his regular call for a balanced budget amendment and a line item veto, but some new proposals will be included in the speech, which will feature a "fairly big chunk" of foreign policy, the official said.

National security adviser Colin Powell was working on the foreign policy section of the speech. The president most likely will use the address to reveal whether he will seek additional military aid for the Nicaraguan Contras fighting the Sandinista government in Managua.

White House spokesman Martin Fitzwater said the administration is waiting for a meeting of the Central American leaders this month to assess the effectiveness of the regional peace plan coordinated by Costa Rican President Oscar Arias.

The State of the Union is now in its second draft and will be reviewed by Reagan this weekend. The official said that the views of "outsiders" as well as the president's personal pollster, Richard Wirthlin, and other pollsters were solicited for the look ahead to the year 2000, which Reagan will set his sights on.

The speech, thematic rather than specific in detail, will reflect where the president thinks the nation has been and "where he wants it to go," the official said.

The chief executive gathered with his advisers just before Thanksgiving and outlined ideas on what he wanted to say. "I think the president comes into 1988 in an upbeat mood, ready to complete the agenda he began in 1984," the official said. "He realizes there are a number of things he can do."

The official said that although it is Reagan's final year in office, "I think he goes into 1988 expecting to have some successes" with the Democratic-controlled Congress. Among them, the official said, is Senate confirmation of Judge Anthony Kennedy to the Supreme Court and approval of the INF Treaty to wipe out superpower medium and short range missiles.

Reagan also anticipates Congress will give its blessing to the free trade agreement with Canada signed last Saturday.

Reagan is counting on making the most of the first six months of this year, because after that the nation's attention will shift to the presidential election contest.
