Nine New Directors Named

Museum Mulls Past, Faces Future

Maryann L. Cross
Herald Staff Writer

Although the Henry Sheldon Sanford Memorial Library and Museum preserves relics of the past, the museum's future will now rest with nine new board members.

The Sanford City Commission appointed nine Sanford residents as members of the board Monday. Ned Yancey, Tom Peterson, B.L. Perkins, Paul Bordenkircher, and Joyce Mikkola will serve as voting board members. Irma Dangleman, Vann Parker, Alfreda Wallace, and Nina Logan will serve as advisory board members.

Curator Alicia Clarke said future plans for the museum will depend upon what the new board decides.

"I have some recommendations that I'll be making when the board meets concerning items such as future exhibits, but nothing will be done without the input of the board," Clarke said.

However, there are some changes that have been made at the museum recently. Clarke said the museum staff has been extended to include a full-time clerk/typist and Mildred Caskey will continue to work part-time as associate curator. Clarke said Caskey has served as part-time curator for the museum for 15 years.

In addition, Clarke said the museum will soon be open 31 hours a week. Beginning Nov. 1, the museum will be open Tuesday-Friday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday 2-5 p.m. Clarke said the museum needs volunteers who would be willing to conduct tours, help with research, and assist in related museum activities.

Clarke added that the museum's telephone number has been changed to 322-2611 ext. 264. Because this is a city hall switchboard number, the museum can only be reached by phone

Monday through Friday.

An curator, Clarke is responsible for planning, directing and supervising the operation of the museum, as well as the indexing and development of computerized research files, computerized inventory of artifacts, annual planning and initiation of educational exhibits, and management of the collections.

Collection management includes the care and preservation of artifacts and manuscripts. Clarke said the museum has had an on-going book restoration project since February, 1983. When the project first began David Dobbs Enterprises, Inc. of St. Augustine was hired to restore some of the books in the museum's collection.

Paul Sawyer of Daytona Beach and his wife, Janet, are now in charge of restoring the books.

Moderate Market Higher

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened higher Thursday in moderate trading of New York Stock Exchange issues.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, which rose 0.33 Wednesday, was up 24.53 to 1871.35 shortly after the market opened.

Advances led declines 755-332 among the 1,454 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 20,425,900 shares.

Blue chips posted slight gains in a mixed session Wednesday, giving the stock market its second day of relative stability after two weeks of Wall Street turmoil.

Trading once again ended at 2 p.m. EST under the shortened trading hours adopted by the nation's exchanges for the rest of the week.

Though many stocks retreated, analysts said the market held up remarkably well in the face of the dollar's plunge against other major currencies.

"It was a relatively stable day and it's important that we continue the stability," said Trude Latimer, analyst at Josephthal & Co.

While the market's behavior was tamer than some recent performances, volatility was far from absent. In the context of the last two weeks, however, action was fairly calm, analysts said.

The market's drop over the last two weeks has been like "running 'Gone with the Wind' on fast-forward in 10 minutes," said Phil Erlanger, chief technical analyst at Advent Inc.

"This was not a disappointing day," Erlanger said. "All of this short-term choreography will not be of consequence until a lot of time has gone by or we break the key level of 1700 on the Dow."

Erlanger said 1700 is the most important level for investors to watch.

"If we break below 1700, the market will not be able to sustain itself above the 1,000 level," said Erlanger. "We are on the edge, but not over the edge."

He said if the market can stay above 1700 and move above 2200 by the beginning of January, it can start a "fresh bull market cycle" that could send the Dow to 3500 by 1989.

Authority OKs Expressway Map

Property In Path Now Reserved

By Brad Church
Herald Staff Writer

The right-of-way map for the proposed Seminole County Expressway between State Road 426 and Interstate 4 was approved by the seven member expressway authority in two parts Wednesday night, with the portion between Airport Boulevard and I-4 passing narrowly on a 4-3 vote.

The vote on the portion between State Road 426 and Airport Boulevard was 6-1.

The vote on the map, which gives the authority the right, under state law, to reserve property in the right-of-way for up to 10 years, was split into two parts on the motion of Seminole Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff, who opposed approval of the northern part. Joining Kirchhoff in voting against the approval of the northern portion were Sanford Mayor Bettye Smith and Seminole County Commissioner Barbara Christensen, who also voted against the map for the southern portion.

Kirchhoff argued that building the expressway only to Airport Boulevard would take more traffic off I-4 than building it all the way to I-4, according to traffic projections. He also said the portion between Airport Boulevard and I-4 would never pay for itself and there is no money committed to its construction. Building the expressway only to Airport Boulevard would also preserve the commercial area at the intersection of Airport Boulevard and Highway 17-92, he said.

"An expressway is to get people between their homes and work, which is what this road would do between SR 426 and Highway 17-92," he said.

Teen Parenting School Grant Application Approved

The Seminole County School Board Wednesday unanimously approved school administrators applying for a $75,000 grant to continue the district's After Teen Age Parenting Program (After TAPP) into the 1988-89 school year.

TAPP, which is conducted at the Crooms School of Choice in Sanford, allows girls between the 6th and 12th grade to continue with their education from the time they give birth until the infant reaches the age of six months. After TAPP is a program that takes over from the time the infant is six-month-old until the third birthday. The program is presently serving 19 students from around the county.

The School Board delayed approving the application to the state for funds for the program because they were concerned about the school district getting into the "day-care business".

The board approved school administrators applying to the state for the funds only after the wording of the grant was changed, so that the actual physical care of the infants in After TAPP will be done by services contracted for by the school district. The board wants to remove the day-care portion of the program from the Crooms site.

Barbara Kirby, Crooms principal, said the grant originally asked the state for $45,000 for the day-care of the children in the program. Since the board asked for the services to be contracted out to outside agencies she is asking the state for $75,000 instead.

The state should inform the school district whether it will get the grant sometime in February, according to Kirby. "At that time, if not before, we'll (district and school administrators) start making contacts with other agencies for the care of the children," she said.

While no definite organization has been selected to handle the day-care portion of the program yet, Kirby said that Coordinated Community Child Care is being considered. "4-C's is a national organization with 40 centers throughout Seminole County," Kirby said.

There should be no transportation problems caused by the change in day-care locations from the school to an outside center, according to Kirby. "We will provide services (for the children) as far as transportation goes," she said. The program will contract outside with either the city transit system or a private cab agency to transport the babies from the school to the

United Way Tops Record Goal

Herald Staff Writer

The United Way of Seminole County went over its record $667,000 goal at its victory dinner Wednesday night with campaign workers reporting a healthy $709,925 total.

A smiling 1987 Campaign Chairman Joseph Vaccaro wrote the figures on the tote board as division after division came in above their goals.

Carmine Fogarty, chairman of the Major Firms division, led the way with a whopping total of $414,377, besting its goal of $385,000. Stromberg Carlson added a corporate gift of $15,000 to the employee total of $111,361. The division total also includes Seminole's $80,000 share of Metro firms in the tri-county area whose operations overlap county boundaries.

The Major Retail division was next highest with $82,489. Other division totals included Financial, $48,751; Education, $39,233; Commercial and Special Gifts, $31,700; Professional, $29,100; Medical, $29,060; Government, 25,565; Special Events (golf tournament), $8,000; Miscellaneous, $1,700.

Keynote speaker at the annual event, which took place at the Sheraton-Maitland Hotel, was Troy W. Todd of Longwood, president and chief executive officer of United Telephone.

There are 23 agencies supported in part by the United Way in Seminole this year.

Former Seminole United Way executive board chairman John C. Knapp, who resigned when he left Telex in Longwood to join ITT at Cape Canaveral, was presented with a plaque for his service.

POLICE

IN BRIEF

Police Sight, Arrest Robbery Suspect Within Matter Of Minutes

Quick work by the Sanford police resulted in the arrest of a man within minutes of a robbery in Sanford Tuesday.

Police received a call of a robbery 8:08 p.m. at the intersection of Fourth Street and Sanford Avenue. A description of the suspect was broadcast, and Lt. Ralph Russell saw a man fitting the description at Eighth Street and Sanford Avenue, according to reports.

The victim, Joel Buerzle, 27, of 2600 Georgia Ave., identified the man Russell stopped as the one who had attacked him.

Buerzle had been struck with an unknown object and kicked several times in the head. The suspect was carrying a metal object in one pants pocket and had blood stains on his clothes though he was not cut, a police report said.

Arrested and charged with robbery and aggravated battery was Charles Leon Boykins, 19, of 3395 Odel St. He was being held in lieu of $8,000.

Spouse Abuse Alleged, Charged

A Winter Springs man was arrested on a spouse-abuse battery charge after his wife told police he had beat her and she feared he would do so again.

Police report that they went to the 731 Ridgewood Way home several times Sunday in reference to disturbances.

When police arrived for the last time, around 7:57 p.m. that day, the woman said her husband had begun to drink on Friday and had hit her several times during the weekend. The officers reported that the woman had seven bruises on one arm.

Arrested and charged with spouse-abuse battery was Joseph A. Semrad, 40. He was released on $500 bond.

Illegal Fishing Brings Arrest

A Midway man has been arrested after reportedly failing to appear in county court on a charge of selling catfish without a license.

The arrest stems from a charge earlier this year that the man, who is self-employed, sold catfish without first obtaining a license to do so.

Arrested and charged was Taesuk Chae, also known as Roger, of 3300 State Road 46, Midway. He was arrested Monday at 1:40 p.m. He was released on $100.

Diner Attempts To Eat And Run

A transient who apparently tried to get away without paying for a meal at an Altamonte Springs restaurant has been charged defrauding an innkeeper.

Restaurant personnel told police the man had done a variety of things to keep from paying his $18.60 bill. The incident occurred at Red Lobster, 800 East Altamonte Drive, around 6:39 p.m. Tuesday.

The officer was told the man left the bill in the restroom, walked around the restaurant, and to the register several times. The man also reportedly tried to get out an emergency exit when the officer arrived.

The man was escorted to the cash register, and payment for the meal — steak, rock lobster and a drink — was demanded. The man said his money was in his vehicle, but, outside the restaurant, he said he had just arrived in town on a bus from Maryland and did not have any money.

Arrested and charged with defrauding an innkeeper was Christopher Alan Paulk, 25. No address was listed for Paulk, although he does have a relative in Longwood, according to police reports. He was being held on $100 bond.

$62,500 More In Fines, 3 Years Probation

Car Rebuilder Free, But Still Paying

A payment of $62,500 Wednesday kept the financial backer of a defunct Sanford car rebuilder out of jail, though he still has to pay at least another $62,500 and serve three years of probation.

James Frank Serafine, 46, of Claracona, also was ordered by Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr. not to engage in any business in which he would accept money before goods or services were provided.

Serafine was a backer of Pony Cars and Parts Inc., of Sanford. The company, which advertised itself as a refurbisher of classic Ford Mustang cars, folded in August 1986, leaving about 40 customers with deposits down and no 1965 and 1966 cars delivered.

The $125,000 in restitution is to be distributed to the customers on a percentage based on how much of a deposit they paid to the company.

In exchange for the payment, the state had agreed to recommend that Serafine receive probation. The state also agreed to drop fraud and conspiracy charges.

The customers claimed Serafine, one of his sons, David, and Sanford resident Bruce Savage kept telling customers the cars would be delivered. At one point the company said it had moved operations from Sanford to Daytona Beach to cut overhead and find better laborers.

The delays, however, prompted customers to look into the company and file complaints with the State Attorney's office. Suits followed the complaints, and criminal charges were filed.

No Contest Pleaded In Girl's Assault

A suspended teacher entered a plea of no contest during the second day of his trial on a charge of sexually assaulting a 12-year-old girl in 1981.

Hryon Clinger, 38, of 425 Wood Park Way, Longwood, will likely be sentenced to a year in the county jail for the after-school assault. The girl was a student in his health class at Teague Middle School. Circuit Judge O.H. Eaton Jr. agreed to withhold a judgment of guilt so that if Clinger successfully fulfills his sentence and up to 15 years probation, he will not have a criminal record.

The victim, now 18, accused Clinger of assaulting her in December 1981. She told investigators that she met Clinger on June 4 of this year and that he allegedly made several statements about the incident. That, she said, prompted her to report the 6-year-old event.

There is no statute of limitations in Florida on capital felonies that include molesting a 12-year-old child.

The state was prepared to attempt to prove in trial that Clinger tied the girl's hands and feet to a table then assaulted her.

Clinger, a teacher with the county for seven years, was suspended with pay from his teaching position in June. The suspension was changed in August to suspension without pay.

Eaton set Dec. 11 for sentencing.

Woman Enters Guilty Plea In Cocaine Trafficking Case

A Lakeland woman who bought one pound of cocaine from an undercover police officer has pleaded guilty to trafficking in cocaine.

Betty Jean Inman is scheduled to be sentenced Dec. 10 by semi-retired Circuit Judge Humes T. Lasher. Inman faces a mandatory three-year sentence and a mandatory $50,000 fine.

Inman was arrested in March after she paid an Altamonte Springs undercover officer $32,000 for the drug.

She had arranged to meet him in the parking lot of Sun Bank on Palm Springs Drive. They negotiated the deal, and the woman handed over the cash. After the officer handed over the cocaine, other officers moved in and arrested her.

Man Reportedly Fights Deputy After Accident

An Orlando man was arrested on various charges after reportedly wrecking his van in an accident in Maitland.

A sheriff's deputy reported that Maitland police said a man who walked away from an accident in that city was on U.S. Highway 17-92 in south Seminole County. The incident occurred around 1:30 a.m. Tuesday.

The deputy located the man at a Circle K convenient store at 155 Spartan Drive in Fern Park. The man said he had been involved in an accident, but when the deputy asked him for identification, the man became "abrasive and defensive."

The deputy put him in the patrol car but decided to handcuff him because he was pounding the window and screaming loudly. The man, who began to fight with the deputy, had to be forcibly handcuffed. During the scuffle, the man struck the deputy's chest and cut his hand on the lawman's badge.

After the man was arrested, he was transported to Florida Hospital—Altamonte Springs for treatment for the cut.

Charged with resisting arrest without violence, resisting arrest with violence and battery on a law enforcement officer was Ronald Rom Rice, 22. He was released on $1,000 bond.

Five-Day Forecast For Central Florida

Wear Longies On Halloween

Staff And Wire Reports
 Wasn't it wonderful. Meandering outside and surveying the scene. Clear, blue skies; nippy temperatures; gorgeous sun, puts a lit to your voice and a lift to your soul. And those nippy temperatures weren't too bad, were they. Got a chance to comfortably wear fall clothes.

Now, a word to the wise: Whilst wondering over your route tricking and treating this Halloween select your costume with care. Better plan on long Johns under your witches dress or Dracula's suit. Else, pack a pair on your broom. Won't be real bad but folks in Seminole County and the suburbs to the south will be more comfortable with temperatures in the 50s if warmly clad. Munching chocolates along the way will also help.

Thinking of help, we have neighbors in the far northwest that need help. They're in a drought which we discussed yesterday. Hope you remember. Anyway, they're accustomed to having heavy rains in the fall. Now, none. Salmon are having trouble swimming upstream to spawn; Christmas trees are dry and may not be able to be shipped; folks can't water lawns or wash cars. Even cut off the public fountains. And, Mt. Rainier is losing its snow. Worst drought in a century.

Their solution? Rain dances. However, the Indians in the state of Washington have never had a rainfall problem so they know no raindances. Children of the Yakima, Lummi and Quinalt tribes are doing their best to implore but still Seattle, Takoma and Yakima are soakless. We can help!

We have dancers and dances that will probably bring rain. Some of our efforts at least bring tears. We can get the cloggers from Volusia County; the dance entrants in training for the Golden Age Games; the weekly participants in the dances at the Sanford Civic Center. Get everyone together at the Marina, or other suitable place, and do a rain dance for the brethren in Washington. (State now, not D.C. Pray, don't dance, for the folks within the Beltway.)

Thinking about our weather, and weather problems elsewhere, recall for a moment the old saw about "everyone talking about the weather but nobody can change it. Well, there are folks with that ambition, but in reverse. Change a condition that is adversely affecting weather.

Scientists agreed Wednesday that the so-called "greenhouse effect" is changing the global climate, but they were less certain as to what changes it might bring and what should be done about it.

The scientists' views on the warming trend were described in papers presented at the First North American Conference on Preparing for Climate Change.

Our friends in the Carolinas have it colder than us, and the humanoids in California seem to be getting Washington's rain. A frost warning covered North Carolina's chilly sandhills and coastal plain today, while more rain threatened much of California, where some areas were trying to dry out from earlier downpours.

Cloudy skies with scattered rain or snow showers will extend over Michigan, western New York state and northern Maine, the National Weather Service said, while showers were forecast across much of California, Nevada, Arizona and Utah.

Local Report

The high temperature Wednesday in Sanford was 72 degrees and the overnight low was 52 degrees as reported by the University of Florida Agricultural Research and Education Center, Celery Avenue. No rainfall was recorded. Mostly sunny and fair today with expected high near 73 and little or no chance of rainfall.

Jury Deliberates On Whether Mother Drove Girl To Suicide

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — A jury given a detailed explanation of Florida's child abuse law is trying to decide whether Theresa Jackson drove her teenage daughter to suicide by forcing her to work as a stripper.

The jury of five women and one man heard closing arguments and received the case Wednesday in the landmark child abuse trial of Jackson, 40, charged in the suicide of 17-year-old Tina Mancini.

The jury deliberated for three hours, asked Judge Arthur Franza to clarify portions of the child abuse and sexual performance laws, then recessed for the night. The panel was to resume deliberations today.

The jury includes four parents of teenage children — one whose daughter is the same age as Mancini when she shot herself — and one woman, barely out of her teens who still lives at home with her parents.

Broker Killings, Gun Laws Linked

MIAMI (UPI) — A police officer says the rampage by a distraught investor who killed himself and a stockbroker might have been prevented under Florida's old gun laws, but a supporter of the new and more lenient laws called the assertion absurd.

"This scenario could not have taken place with this weapon under the old gun laws," said Metro-Dade County police spokesman Cmdr. Bill Johnson. "You had a cooling-off period, for people to do just that — cool off."

Arthur Kane — a former Kansas City lawyer named Arthur Katz who entered the federal witness protection program in 1976 after helping authorities in an insurance fraud case against his law partner — bought his weapon less than one hour before opening fire in a brokerage office where he had watched his investments lose millions in the stock market's plunge, police said.

County Expands Tennis Programs At Two Parks

By Brad Church
Herald Staff Writer

A plan to make the already successful Seminole County tennis programs at Sanlando and Red Bug Lake parks even more successful has been approved by county commissioners.

Jim Bible, director of environmental services, told commissioners Tuesday the tennis facilities at the two parks are the finest in central Florida. Sanlando Park was awarded the U.S. Tennis Association's Outstanding Tennis Facility designation in 1985.

Although between 80,000 and 100,000 people played tennis at the two parks in the last year, Bible wants to increase the use of the facilities by implementing programs which will increase usage during off hours in the middle of the day and on weekends.

Cindy Harkins, tennis coordinator for the county, said the county contracts with a tennis pro who administers and schedules tennis lessons, and recruits and trains assistant pros. In return, the tennis pro earn money through lessons they give. The county gets half the money for the lessons.

She and Bible proposed expanding the tennis pro's responsibilities to include beginning new programs. The programs would include additional tennis clinics, additional local and family-type tournaments, and involvement in U.S. Tennis Association recreational activities, such as Special Olympics.

wheelchair tennis, and National Tennis Week activities.

In return for more responsibilities and time, the tennis pro and his assistants will be paid more. Bible estimates the cost will be $3,500 to $5,000 per year per tennis pro, but told the commissioners the program would be self-supporting. He said income from the additional use of the tennis facilities at the two parks will more than make up the cost of offering them.

Small Loans Mean Big Returns

Over the past 40 years, billions of dollars have been spent on efforts to improve the economies of developing nations. These efforts have been based largely on the theory that successful economic development requires a "macro" approach—investment in large-scale industrial projects.

They haven't worked all that well. In all too many countries, economic development has failed to trickle down. Large-scale investments have not eradicated hunger or stemmed the tide of migration from destitute rural villages to dehumanizing urban slums. Millions of people around the world survive, often marginally, through self-employment, outside their country's formal economic structure.

Since the early 1970s, development policy has gradually been shifting toward ways of channeling aid, in the form of credit, directly into the hands of those people who need it most—small loans to the working poor in Peru, for example, or to basketmakers in Ghana. These loans are designed to help small entrepreneurs produce a sufficient and dependable source of income.

The U.S. Agency for International Development may soon be providing assistance for these micro entrepreneurs—if congressional red tape doesn't get in the way. Bipartisan legislation introduced by Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., has 47 Senate co-sponsors ranging from conservatives such as Sen. Orrin Hatch, R-Utah, to liberals such as Edward Kennedy, D-Mass. Similar legislation is being considered in the House.

The microenterprise legislation would require AID to spend $50 million in 1988 and $75 million in 1989 on business investment loans to the "poorest of the poor." The sums covered in the bill would be transferred from existing AID programs and do not involve any new appropriations.

The loans would be for a few hundred dollars each. As several private organizations around the world have proved in recent years, a few hundred dollars is enough to start a small business in most developing nations. The loans would be administered by nongovernmental organizations, and are so small, the bureaucratic sharks who feed on foreign aid probably wouldn't be interested.

Landless peasants in India and impoverished slum dwellers in Mexico City would be interested. This is legislation that makes sense—for the United States and even more for aspiring small entrepreneurs abroad.

What's The Beef?

At the request of the beef industry and consumer groups, the U.S. Department of Agriculture is changing the name of beef it now classifies as "good" to "select." The aim is to give the "lowest"—but also, paradoxically, the leanest—grade of beef a better image and, it's hoped, revive sagging beef sales in the face of the onslaught, so to speak, of chicken.

That's, er, fine, but it raises several questions.

Since many consumers apparently never knew that "good" is actually the leanest (though not the tenderest or tastiest) grade—that, in fact, it's better, healthwise, than its name suggests—will changing its name to "select" make any difference?

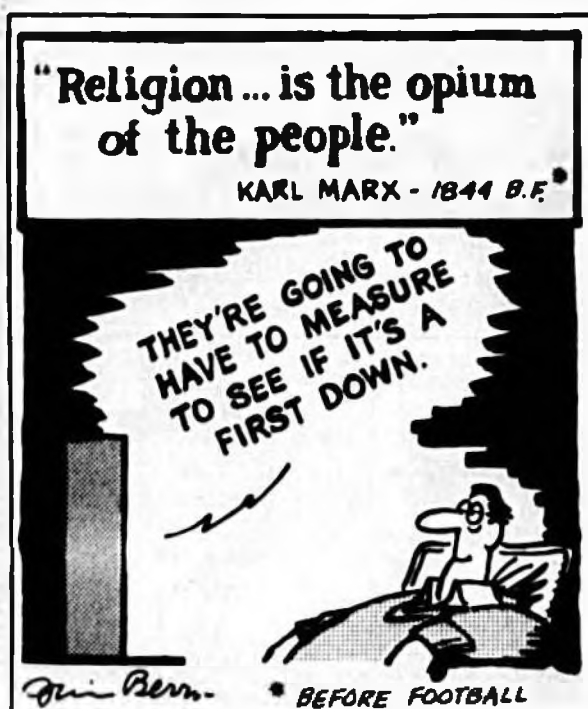

Will they understand that "choice," the next "highest" grade, is still better than "good"—or, rather, "select"?

Presumably the "highest" grade—"prime"—will retain its cachet with shoppers, but will they be any more aware than they are now that "prime" also means fatter?

Will the USDA put out leaflets to explain all this? Will this newspaper's printers run out of quotation marks before we run out of questions?

Eat hearty!

The Agent Orange Bill: It's About Time

In mid-October three U.S. legislators, all Vietnam veterans, introduced a bill that would compensate Vietnam vets sick from exposure to Agent Orange.

It's a bill whose time has come. Unfortunately, that time came almost 10 years ago.

One of three lawmakers, Rep. Lane Evans, D-Ill., rightly called the government's foot-dragging on Agent Orange compensation "a national disgrace."

The "national disgrace" began in the mid-1970s. Soldiers who'd crawled through, eaten and drunk dioxin, a byproduct of the herbicide nicknamed "Agent Orange," complained of health problems. In some cases, the problems were similar to those they'd experienced while they were actually spraying and traipsing through Agent Orange — chloracne, migraine headaches, nausea, numbness. In other cases, the illnesses were absolute horror stories: palsy, cancer, children born with multiple and severe birth defects.

These veterans went to the Veterans Administration for help, and the agency slammed the door on them. In 1979, then VA chief Max

Cleland ordered the VA to deny all Agent Orange claims because the agency didn't have "adequate information on exposure for causation to decide intelligently the merits of these claims."

The next logical question was, "Then why don't you get that 'adequate information'?" Cleland's rationale for not getting it: Establishing an outreach program would only create "needless anxiety."

Since that time, several studies have been conducted on the effects of exposure to Agent Orange, including some researched by the government. Some of these studies have supported the veterans' claims and others have weakened them. But one undertaken by the New Jersey Agent Orange Commission is particularly compelling: Scientists found a "biological fingerprint" — a tell-tale trace of dioxin — in the blood of veterans exposed to Agent Orange.

Yet this study still came short of proving a cause-and-effect relationship between Agent Orange and illness. The VA continues to deny Agent Orange claims based on this lack of "causal relationship" between exposure and disease.

If this sounds familiar, it should. It was this same lack of "causal relationship" that led the government to deny all but a handful of health claims of the "atomic veterans" of the post-World War II era. These are the guys Uncle Sam marched out, without radiation-proof gear, to watch atomic bombs as large as 10 megatons explode. Others were sent out in short-sleeved regular uniforms to clean up in Nagasaki and Hiroshima after the atom bombs were dropped.

The National Association of Atomic Veterans had to sue the Department of Defense just to get names of atomic vets, so it could compile health statistics.

National disgrace, yes. National outrage, certainly.

We send these guys out to fight wars, to live in hell and risk death and dismemberment. Then we pour a substance on them that a Harvard research scientist calls "the most toxic small molecule known to man," and then we refuse their health claims because the molecules weren't bullets.

ROBERT WALTERS

Say 'No' To Secrets

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Two dozen "freedom fighters" are valiantly resisting a government's efforts to strip its citizens of their lawful rights, illegally suppress information and operate under a cloak of secrecy.

Those insurgents are not fighting for freedom in Poland, Afghanistan or some other nation threatened by the Soviet repression. In this instance, the struggle is occurring in Washington, D.C.

There are, however, disturbing similarities between the events here and heavy-handed measures used by totalitarian governments to intimidate citizens who insist upon accountability from their public officials.

At issue is the "Classified Information Non-Disclosure Agreement," a one-page form the federal government wants signed by its 3½ million to 4 million employees and contractors with clearances allowing them to see classified information.

Also known as Standard Form 189, the secrecy pledge is one of numerous measures instituted during President Reagan's tenure by an administration paranoid about "leaks" — even if they do not endanger national security but instead are merely politically embarrassing.

The most controversial element of SF 189 is a provision that requires those who sign to promise not to disclose classified or "classifiable" information.

Nobody objects to protecting classified data, but the reference to "classifiable" material has generated a storm of protest because nobody knows what it is.

Is it information that could be, should be, might be or ought to be classified? Is it data subject to retroactive classification if it proves to be politically embarrassing? Is that part of the secrecy pledge designed to entrap whistleblowers by making every sheet of paper inside the federal bureaucracy subject to security classification?

Skeptics suggest that any or all of those alternatives are plausible. One critic, Sen. Charles Grassley, R-Iowa, has called on federal employees to engage in the bureaucratic equivalent of civil disobedience and refuse to sign SF 189.

A conservative politician who usually supports Reagan, Grassley says SF 189 constitutes "a broad grab for power" by an administration determined "to place a blanket of silence over all information generated by the government."

Scandal Hurts U.S.-Greek Relations

By Jack Anderson
And
Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON — The personal peccadilloes of two prominent Greeks have managed to put further strains on the always touchy relations between Athens and Washington just as the Reagan administration is preparing to renegotiate the leases on U.S. military bases in Greece.

The two men are Andreas Papandreu, the Socialist prime minister and U.S.-basher, and George Koskotas, publisher of the conservative opposition newspaper Kathimerini. American officials are at odds with both of them.

Papandreu has reportedly separated from his American-born wife, Margaret, and is rumored to be having an affair with a woman named Dimitra Liant. The scandal has been given exhaustive coverage in the Greek press and has outraged both the pro-American element in Greece and the powerful Greek

JEFFREY HART

What A Campaign

There has been nothing like it within living political memory, and the bet here is that Mass. Gov. Michael Dukakis will shortly be out of the running.

Two of his top aides, John Sasso and Paul Tully, have resigned. Why? They told us the truth about Joe Biden's plagiaristic habits. They made available an "attack video," which sounds sinister, but is not, comparing a Biden speech with a speech by the British Labor Party leader Neil Kinnock. The plagiarism was absolutely proven. The "attack video" added no embellishments. It was simply the truth.

On a sober view, Sasso and Tully did the Democratic Party, not to mention the American people, a great favor. Joe Biden obviously has a major problem about the dividing line between reality and illusion. He not only stole Neil Kinnock's words, but stole his ancestors. Kinnock has coal miner ancestors. Biden does not. But Biden claimed them. Maybe Biden should move to Wales.

Does anyone, conceivably, think that Sasso and Tully should have concealed this information? What is the lengthy presidential primary about, if not to expose these candidates to the full light of day over a prolonged course? And we are the better for it.

And for the Democrats, it has been an astonishing course. First into the abyss was Gary Hart, who apparently thought that Donna Rice was more important than the presidency. Then we had the Biden fiasco, plagiarism plus lying about his academic record, living in a world of illusion, unconcerned that there exist law school records and transcripts of speeches given by other politicians.

Next comes the peculiar spectacle of Rep. Pat Schroeder, who became an almost candidate, mobilized the women's movement, and then set it back 10 years. Schroeder, who should really be called Patsy Schroeder, turned herself into a stereotype. When she announced her non-candidacy, she wept. She attacked the "system." She declared that she did not want to be a "photo opportunity," valuing her personal privacy too much. Her husband told her to wait a minute and stop crying. This is a world leader? A Margaret Thatcher? Even a Jeane Kirkpatrick? Appropriately enough, when this giggly woman signs her name, Pat Schroeder, there is a smiley face inside the loop of the "P." Women, and the rest of us, didn't need this character.

The front runner, now, in this ongoing farce is the Rev. Jesse Jackson, a Castro admirer who is widely rumored to have Gary Hart problems and who has permanently forfeited the sympathy of Jewish voters with his "Hymietown" slurs.

Yet Jackson is a ticking bomb for the Democrats. He may well come out first in the "Super Tuesday" primary of 14 Southern states. All he needs to do is carry the black vote plus a few leftists, and he will show up at the Atlanta convention with more delegates than anyone else. In some sense, Jackson is a real candidate, certainly more real than people named Babbitt or Gephardt. At least you would recognize Jackson if you met him on the street.

Which brings us back to Dukakis, who is in the midst of his first and probably last crisis as a presidential candidate. As the New York Times put it, wittily, Sasso and Tully were thrown overboard for spreading "vicious truths." Astounding.

Spiked Sweets Problem

By United Press International

New ice cream and dessert products that are spiked with alcohol may leave children craving more, according to doctors who treat alcoholics.

Results from several studies on the impact of liquor-spiked sweets have yet to come in, but doctors say they are concerned the new products may induce tolerance or cravings in children, even though the products are marketed for adults.

Most of the new products contain less than 2 percent alcohol, but some carry warnings to recovering alcoholics and people whose alcohol consumption must be restricted.

Dr. Sheila Blume said in a report from the Alcoholism Council of Greater New York she is not so much concerned with the amount of alcohol in the foods, but their names.

She said she fears children may associate alcohol with pleasant taste, thinking "I like whiskey candy, therefore I want to try whiskey."

The council recommends alcoholics avoid the new products and that parents keep them away from their children.

Transplant Infection

Doctors have developed a way to reduce the risk for a potentially deadly infection that often afflicts kidney transplant patients.

Transplant patients who receive a component of blood serum containing disease-fighting antibodies appear much less likely to develop an illness related to infection with a common virus known as cytomegalovirus (CMV).

An estimated 40 percent of the population in the United States is infected with CMV, but the infection is usually harmless.

In transplant patients, however, the infection can trigger pneumonia, hepatitis and other complications because their immune systems have been suppressed to reduce the chances that they will reject their transplanted organ.

In a study involving 59 transplant patients published recently in The New England Journal of Medicine, researchers at the New England Medical Center and several other Massachusetts institutions gave patients CMV immune globulin.

The substance is a form of blood serum specially treated with antibodies to the virus.

"We conclude that CMV immune-globulin provides effective prophylaxis in (kidney) transplant recipients at risk for primary CMV disease," they said.

Orthodox Church leadership.

As Koskotas' newspaper editorially gloated over the stew Papandreu was in, the conservative publisher suddenly found himself in a mess. He was arrested in the United States on Oct. 8 by the Internal Revenue Service, just before he was due to visit the White House as an official guest of the U.S. Information Agency. The circumstances of the arrest were embarrassing to the USIA and the Reagan administration, to say nothing of Koskotas.

Apparently, the USIA hadn't conducted background checks on the distinguished foreigners it invited to the agency-sponsored "International Council Conference." The guests included the Greek publisher, who is also owner of the Bank of Crete.

Because the conferees were to visit the White House, the Secret Service did its usual investigations and discovered an outstanding 1980 warrant for Koskotas' arrest on 64 counts of tax fraud. The Secret Service alerted Internal Revenue, which made the arrest. Koskotas was arraigned on Oct. 15; bail was set at $1 million.

Our reporter Gary Clouser has reviewed the arrest warrant and indictment, and interviewed Elliot Jacobson, an assistant U.S. attorney in Manhattan who was involved in the case.

The indictment charges that Koskotas and three co-defendants collected unemployment benefits and income-tax refunds by creating fictitious employees of painting firms operated in Manhattan by Koskotas' father. The indictment claims the firms used phony Social Security numbers for the non-existent employees.

In addition, U.S. and Greek authorities are suspicious of Koskotas' claim that he lost his passport and of his efforts to obtain a new one. From the Greek consulate in Washington, he obtained a travel document to replace his passport. Prosecutor Jacobson said the passport was seized during the Greek publisher/banker's arrest, and was returned to him as part of the bail arrangement. Koskotas returned his travel document to the Greek consulate and reported that he had found his passport.

A well-informed, Washington-based Greek journalist, Elias Demetriopoulos, who used to be an ace reporter for Kathimerini, tipped us to Koskotas' tax problems last January, two months before Koskotas bought the newspaper. But the IRS refused to confirm or deny the allegations. Demetriopoulos says he is upset over "this most regrettable fate that has befallen" his old paper.

Koskotas is a mystery man to most Greeks, who wonder about the source of his wealth and political clout. Meanwhile, U.S. policymakers are wondering how these personal scandals will affect relations with Greece.

Sanford Completes Sanitary Study

Maryann L. Crose
Herald Staff Writer

A recently completed study of the water and sewage lines in Sanford will allow the city to apply for $4 million in state grant funds to upgrade and renovate sanitary and storm sewer lines.

Jim Branch, vice-president at the engineering firm of Conklin, Porter & Holmes, presented the study during a public hearing at Monday's the Sanford City Commission meeting. The commissioners unanimously voted to adopt the resolution that approved the study and called for implementation of the plan.

Bill Simmons, Sanford's director of engineering and planning, said the public hearing and subsequent adoption of the resolution concerning the sewage system is the final step required by the state Department of Environmental Regulation before the state will send the city the grant papers.

Sanford applied for $4 million in state grants in September to fund the estimated $5.6 million cost of separating sanitary and storm sewer lines in the city. A federal grant normally would finance 55 percent of the cost. But the city qualifies for special funds because of innovations using a vacuum sewage line instead of a gravity line.

According to Simmons, a gravity line works well in areas where the sewage flows from hills to a sewage plant or in areas where the flow is to a receiving body of water (usually the lowest elevation point in the area). But when people start to build farther from the plant or in areas too low to permit the gravity system to work, then sewage pumps are needed to take the sewage to the plant.

Simmons said with the vacuum system, however, pumps are not necessary because the system uses a combination of spring action and atmospheric and vacuum pressure to move the wastewater to the plant. In addition, the vacuum lines can be laid close to the surface, allowing the lines to be run anywhere they are needed. The end result, Simmons said, is a system that costs less to build.

Branch said the vacuum sewage study area, approximately 315 acres between French and Park avenues and Second and 20th streets, contains large-diameter sewers which drain the streets and other areas and also carry the sanitary sewage waste to the city's sewage collection system. Branch said during low flow periods (with no rainfall or minor rainfall), the sanitary sewage wastes are collected in the east-west sanitary pipe along Second Street and flow to the Poplar Street wastewater treatment plant.

During higher flow periods (with moderate to severe rainstorms), the stormwater and a portion of the sanitary wastes are carried out through the storm sewer system and discharged into Lake Monroe. Branch said the DER has mandated that the city must eliminate these overflows into the lake by Dec. 30, 1995.

Branch said his firm considered several alternatives for separating sewage and storm lines before choosing the vacuum system. One alternative that was considered was the construction of a gravity sewer system within the alleyways of the study area, with a large number of sanitary sewage lift stations and shallow gravity lines.

But this type of system was rejected due to the problem of locating available sites for the lift stations and the extreme difficulty of constructing gravity sewers with the many obstructions present in the alleyways.

The other alternatives and their costs were:

- new gravity and storm lines in the roads, at a cost of $9.3 million;
- new gravity sewer in roads and rehabilitation of storm sewers in the alleys, at a cost of $8.6 million; and
- vacuum sewers in the alleys and rehabilitation of the storm system in the alleys, at a cost of $5.6 million.

Based on these figures, Branch said his firm concluded that constructing a vacuum sewage system with vacuum pipes laid in the alleyways would be the most flexible and cost-effective alternative for the city.

Branch said monthly user charges for all the improvements including plant work, sewer rehabilitation, sewage disposal and the combined sewage separation were estimated at $20 to $22 per customer per month once the system is in operation.

Obscenity Law Revisions May Be Sought

By Brad Church
Herald Staff Writer

Representatives of the Seminole County Sheriff's Department and State Attorney's office will attend a future work session of the Seminole County Commissioners to discuss possible revisions of the county's obscenity ordinance, or the drawing of a new ordinance.

Robert McMillan, deputy county attorney, told commissioners Tuesday that he has received suggestions from Sheriff's Lt. Don Eslinger, a vice detective, for drawing up an ordinance which would include the licensing of exotic dancers and the setting criminal penalties for obscene acts.

McMillan said when Seminole County decided to pass an obscenity ordinance in 1981 there were no adult book stores or topless dancing establishments in the county, so the ordinance was aimed at keeping them out, rather than regulating them. The ordinance, therefore, is part of the zoning code, and requires a special exception permit. McMillan said obscene acts were considered to be adequately covered by state law that no county ordinances were considered necessary.

However, he said the sheriff's department would like an ordinance based on actions and calling for criminal penalties for violations, and has given him copies of the Orange County and Altamonte Springs ordinances as examples. Orange County, for instance, prohibits topless dancing in establishments that sell liquor. McMillan said Orange County also requires the licensing of exotic dancers, and an investigation of the dancer's background, including any possible criminal record, before a license is issued.

Commissioners told McMillan draw up a recommendation for possible revisions to the present ordinance, or a new ordinance, and to invite representatives of the sheriff's and state attorney's offices to a commission work session to discuss possible county action.

Perfect Gift: Dead Plants

REISTERSTOWN, Md. (UPI) — David Lawrence is selling what he calls the perfect holiday gift for someone who has everything — a dead plant he calls an "Everbrown."

"I have no doubt they'll end up in somebody's garbage can — look what happened to pet rocks, they were thrown at neighbors' dogs — but for a while it's there for a good laugh," said Lawrence, who founded Everbrown Inc. seven months ago.

Unknown Gunman Slay 2 French Embassy Guards, Wound Another

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Two French Embassy guards were killed and one was seriously wounded today by two unidentified gunmen who opened fire on a street in the Lebanese capital, an embassy official and police said.

A spokeswoman at the French Embassy said the two French soldiers were killed and a third seriously wounded in Christian east Beirut. She said the three men were guards at the embassy but did not release details about the incident.

She identified the victims as Lt. Christian Moudon, Lt. J.g. Andre Crouz and soldier Miguel Collignon.

Police said the three Frenchmen were fired at by two gunmen shortly after 10 a.m. in a narrow street in the Dora district of east Beirut, the Christian side of the divided Lebanese capital.

Iran Bombs Iraq; Soviets Mediate

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — Iran said its warplanes bombed military and economic centers in southern Iraq today, inflicting heavy damage as a Soviet envoy spent a second day in Baghdad engaged in talks to end the seven years of fighting.

Iran's official Islamic Republic News Agency said Iranian bombers hit "enemy positions, concentration centers and military-economic installations" in the township of Tib, near the city of Al'Amarah, 190 miles southeast of Baghdad.

The Iranian air strike followed Iraqi bombing raids Wednesday in southern Iran in which Tehran officials said at least 18 people were killed and 70 wounded. Tehran vowed to retaliate and shelled the southern Iraqi port city of Basra overnight.

Officials Won't Confirm Release

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — A militia leader says the kidnapers of a South Korean diplomat set him free two days ago after receiving a $1 million ransom, but Korean officials deny paying the money and cannot confirm that the hostage was released.

Speaking at his heavily guarded residence in Moslem west Beirut, Shiite Amal militia leader Nabih Berri Wednesday confirmed reports that Do Chae-Sung, second secretary at the South Korean Embassy, "was released 36 hours ago" after 21 months in captivity.

In Seoul, however, a South Korean government official and state-run radio said today that Do, 38, is alive and in good condition, but it is not known whether he has been freed.

U.S. GIs Slain; U.S. Policy Same

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — U.S. officials vowed today American policy will not be influenced by the "terrorist" murders of three U.S. servicemen in a rising tide of political violence that also struck down five Filipinos on the streets of Manila.

An anonymous caller to a Western news agency said the Americans were killed by communist hit squads in revenge for the weekend delivery of 10 U.S. armored personnel carriers to the Philippine armed forces, and that seven more Americans would be killed.

Under Secretary of State Michael Armacost, winding up a four-day visit to Manila, told reporters "we don't know who was involved" in the teamwork killings late Wednesday of two active-duty G.I.s, one retired U.S. serviceman and one Filipino near Clark Air Base.

day-care site and back, according to Kirby.

Another thing Kirby said was included in the grant application at the insistence of the school board is the requirement for student participation in the program. In order to remain in After TAPP all the students must maintain a grade point average of at least 1.5 out of a possible 4.0.

Kirby said the state minimum average to obtain credit for a course is presently 1.0, but is being changed to the 1.5 figure for the 1988-89 school year. The minimum GPA for program participation is now in accordance with school board policy, according to Kirby.

In order to stay in the program the students must also maintain required school attendance set by the program administrators. Kirby said that students may now have either 10 days of excused absences for a regular birth or 15 days for a caesarean birth. The students are also allowed eight unexcused absences throughout the course of the year.

Kidnapped Baby Found

HYATTSVILLE, Md. (UPI) — An ailing infant snatched from a hospital crib more than four months ago was healthy and at home with his parents today, thanks to an alert firefighter who led authorities to the baby and his suspected abductors.

At the same time, the search continued for a newborn kidnapped four months ago in Baltimore.

Jeremiah Thate, who was 3 1/2 weeks old and ailing from pneumonia when he disappeared June 11 from Prince George's Hospital Center, was reunited with his jubilant, teary parents late Wednesday at Holy Cross Hospital in "very good condition" and taken home today.

"He looks great," said a smiling Theresa Thate, 24, of Hyattsville. "All the way here it was like, 'Is this real, is this real, is this a dream?' He's ours and he's back."

Robert Thate, the 23-year-old father, said, "I was on the edge. I was losing hope. A lot of times I just had to choose and just trust the Lord that things were going to work out."

Thate said Jeremiah, the couple's third child, recognized him when they were reunited.

"I used to sing to him when he was (in the womb) so he just recognized my voice right away when I started singing," he said. "He just perked up," said his wife.

County Approves Changes In Development's Plans

By Brad Church
Herald Staff Writer

Changes in the plans for a 529-acre development west of Sanford were approved by county commissioners Tuesday night.

The Kingwood planned unit development, now renamed Lake Forest, is located just west of Interstate 4 and north of State Road 46. Originally approved in January, 1986, the development was described as a "golf course community" and had as its centerpiece a 110-acre golf course. It was to include 1,780 single- and multi-family homes, a 32-acre lake system and 80 acres of open spaces.

Tuesday night the commission approved revised plans which eliminate the golf course, reduce the number of housing units from 1,780 to 1,016 and increase the lake system from 32 to 50 acres.

Representatives of Kingwood Joint Venture, owner of the property, and NTS Florida Properties, Inc., principal partner in the development, said the reduction in the number of housing units is partially due to elimination of plans for multi-family units. By reducing the number of housing units, the housing density will be 1.92 units per acre rather than 3.36 as originally planned.

Plans for a 20-acre commercial development along SR 46 at the south end of the property were not affected by the changes.

The development is bordered by SR 46 on the south, S. Oregon Avenue on the east, and Orange Boulevard on the north and west.

Plans call for phased development of a clubhouse, swimming pool, tennis courts and a daycare center, and for water and sewer to be furnished by Seminole County.

Other action by commissioners following public hearings Tuesday night include:

- Approval of a reduction in the natural buffer between the Hampton Park PUD and Country Downs development near the intersection of Country Club Road and SR 427 on the border of Lake Mary. Craig Batterson, with Professional Engineering Consultants, said an old 25-foot right-of-way at the north edge of the property was vacated and the land was given to property owners in the Country Downs development, reducing land in the Hampton Park PUD planned for the originally-agreed to 50-foot buffer.

The county staff supported the reduction in the width of the buffer to 25 feet, noting that Hampton Park was originally planned as a multi-family unit development, but was now being developed in single-family homes, with 72 already built.

Residents along Keeneland Pike whose backyards border on Hampton Park objected to the reduced buffer, and Matt West, Lake Mary city planner, requested that a brick wall be required between the two developments. Country Downs is within Lake Mary's borders and Hampton Park is outside. Commissioners approved the reduction in buffer area and said they could not require a brick wall to be built at this late date after development has already begun.

- Approved a reduction in the conservation tract of Hunters Landing planned unit development west of SR 434 and north of the Orange County line. The reduction in the conservation tract from 17.28 acres to 10.24 acres resulted from a revised report from the St. Johns Water Management District which reduced the amount of land considered flood prone.
- The reduction in the conservation area will allow the development of 322 dwellings rather than the originally planned 253, with no increase in the number of units per acre.
- Approval of a two-year extension on a mobile home permit in an agricultural zone for Louis S. Moscato. The mobile home is located on a five-acre lot north of Fawn Run about a quarter-mile east of Lockwood Road. The Board of Adjustment had denied a two-year extension of the permit and commissioners reversed that ruling.

Government Criticizes Kremlin Before Summit Negotiations

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department, surprised by the apparent Kremlin decision to resume negotiations on a summit and other issues this week, has used the occasion to issue two reports critical of the Soviet Union.

One document, prepared nine months ago, appeared without announcement or explanation in the State Department press office Wednesday. It said the Soviet agency that contacts Western business executives has been used for espionage.

Another report, first issued in January, was handed out again. It amounted to a statistical and historical study of the number of Soviet diplomats expelled from nations around the world for improper activity, again usually espionage.

In Moscow last week, at the meeting in which he refused to set an expected summit date with President Reagan, Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev had berated Secretary of State George Shultz for a report issued in August charging the Kremlin with falsely accusing the U.S. government of developing and spreading the AIDS virus throughout the Third World.

Next Court Nominee Due Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consultation with Congress notwithstanding, President Reagan made it clear that conservative credentials were paramount in his selection today of a second nominee to succeed retired Supreme Court Justice Lewis Powell.

A small group of conservative federal appeals judges emerged in recent days as apparent front-runners for the vacancy following the defeat of Reagan's first nominee, Robert Bork. White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said the president would announce his choice in an East Room ceremony this afternoon.

Those said to be highest on the final list submitted to Reagan by White House chief of staff Howard Baker were Judges Anthony Kennedy of Sacramento, Calif.; Ralph Winter Jr. of New Haven, Conn.; Douglas Ginsburg and Laurence Silberman of Washington and Edith Jones of Houston.

Hospital Worker Gets AIDS In Needle Accidents

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — The tragedy of a hospital worker who contracted AIDS when she was accidentally stuck by a needle while taking a blood sample shows that medical personnel put their lives on the line every day.

The employee of Mercy Hospital was wearing a protective gown and gloves when she was accidentally injected last July with a small quantity of blood from a victim of acquired immune deficiency syndrome. Mercy Hospital said in a statement Tuesday.

"At the time of the incident, the employee was taking appropriate precautions for protection against AIDS," officials said.

The employee, who was not identified, worked full-time at Kaiser Permanente Medical Center and was moonlighting at Mercy Hospital when the accident occurred.

She is now on disability leave from Mercy and on a medical leave of absence from Kaiser, hospital officials said.

Ben Skonieczny, a Kaiser spokesman, said hospital workers are vulnerable to such accidents "unless you're wearing a suit of armor or plastic gloves."

"As tragic as it may be, it reinforces the fact for all hospital health care workers that recommended procedures aren't just made up. Health care workers everywhere are literally putting their lives on the line."

Nationally, there have been about a dozen reported AIDS virus infections among health care workers, said Charles Fallis, a spokesman for the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta.

Airport Boulevard," Kirchhoff said. "A beltway is to take people around an area, and if a beltway is what is wanted, it should go east of Lake Jesup and down to the east side of Orlando."

However, Fred Streetman, chairman of the authority, and Seminole Commissioner Bob Sturm argued that since the route of the expressway between U.S. 17-92 and I-4 has already been approved, property owners in that corridor would remain in limbo about the future of their property whether the map was approved or not.

The votes came after more than two hours of comments from the public, most of them against the beltway route itself, and many against the reservation of property that adoption of the map authorizes.

Among those speaking were attorneys representing clients who own property in the corridor, who claim the reservation of property without compensation is unconstitutional.

David Foerster, an attorney from Jacksonville who said he represents property owners in the State Road 426 area, told the authority that a case which originated in Tampa, challenging the constitutionality of the law authorizing property reservation for highway construction, is now before the First District Court of Appeals. He urged the authority to delay adoption of the map until a decision in that case is rendered.

Gerry Small, representing Citizens Against the Expressway Route, told the authority "We will not accept Route 68." She quoted a state manual that says expressways through municipalities should not split them, and said her group has written hundreds of letters asking that the route be reconsidered, without any responses.

Small also argued against approval of Seminole County's proposed one-cent sales tax. Speaking to Seminole Commissioners, who are all members of the expressway authority, she said, "You are asking people to approve a tax which will be used to take their homes and their lifestyles."

Harry Robson, who owns Center Mall on U.S. Highway 17-92 in the expressway path, said he and his wife worked 50 years to reach their present position. He charged the county commissioners on the authority with having conflicts of interest.

"It seems to me that when the authority wants money you go to the county commission, and then you put on your commissioner hats and lend the authority money. I think you should all resign," he said.

Mildred Springs, who said she represented her parents, both in their 80s, who live in Howell Place, a housing complex for the elderly, which will be demolished for the expressway. Reading a letter from them, she said, "Congregate living places for the elderly are hard to come by...We aren't sure we could live through another move."

Bob Thomas, a Sanford City Commissioner, told the authority "It appears that the city of Sanford is being used as a sacrificial lamb for this expressway. We will lose a large part of the city's tax base and economic life."

Realtor Missing

By Deane Jordan

A Winter Park Realtor who reportedly flew his private plane into Sanford Airport Saturday possibly while carrying a large amount of money after a business transaction has been reported missing.

Catherine Price, of 2903 S. Park Ave., told sheriff's deputies Wednesday that her husband, Arthur Price, has failed to call home or his office. Price was expected to be in the area Sunday for an important business transaction. Price works for Century 21, 1399 W. State Road 434, Longwood.

Price said the last time she saw her husband was Oct. 22 when he left to fly out of Sanford on a business deal. She said the airport reported that he returned Saturday though that could not be confirmed today.

Friends of the family said today Mrs. Price told them that police are investigating the possibility that the man did not fly out of or into Sanford Airport and that he may have used another airport. Whether Price filed a flight plan is not known at this time by authorities.

FAA Flight service in Orlando said they have had one non-police inquiry as to whether Price filed a flight plan with them but without a plane number a search would take hours.

Sanford Airport also could not locate a flight plan without a plane number. Further, the filing of flight plans under Visual Flight Authority is not mandatory and is a service provided to pilots to help locate them if they get into trouble.

Price's business phone was constantly busy today and an answering machine took messages at the couple's home.

Price did not show up at home Sunday as scheduled, his wife said. She also reported that he would have had a large sum of cash with him during the return trip.

The amount of money he was believed to have been carrying was not reported.

Mrs. Price said he had important business in the area Sunday and had told her that he would be back by then. She said he has not checked in with her or the real estate office. She said it was not like him not to keep in contact.

Price, in his early 40's, has worked for Century 21 for about 1 1/2 years.

Vengeful Tigers Do Not Forget Bell's Mad Dash

GAINESVILLE — Vengeance is a word that comes into play in many a Southeastern Conference football contest, but perhaps in none more so than Saturday's Florida-Auburn game (ESPN, 7:30 p.m.) at Jordan-Hare Stadium.

Picture the scene from a year ago at Florida Field. Things were looking bleak for the Gators as Auburn, led by tailback Brent Fullwood (166 yards, touchdown), held a 17-0 advantage going into the final quarter.

Enter Kerwin Bell. The then-junior quarterback, returning from injury, replaced ineffective Rodney Brewer just before the end of the first half. It may have taken almost one and one-half quarters, but Bell finally sparked the Gators to an 18-17 victory, culminating with a dramatic two-point conversion as Bell clawed into the end zone with 36 seconds to play.

It was perhaps Florida's all-time greatest come back victory.

Last year's loss, however, has given the War Eagles (6-0-1 overall, 2-0-1 SEC) a powerful motivation to win Saturday against the Gators (5-2, 2-1).

"They (Auburn) will have the added incentive because of last year's game," senior outside linebacker Clifford Charlton said. "We will have to play our best game of the year to be in the game. I'm definitely excited to play in this one."

A victory in this year's game is crucial to both teams as the hunt for the SEC crown continues. Auburn, which posted a 20-20 tie against Tennessee before winning two consecutive SEC contests, is in a must-win situation if it is to catch SEC-leading Louisiana State (6-0-1, 3-0).

Florida, which already has a loss (to LSU) in the SEC, heads into its toughest two weeks of the season: Auburn, Saturday and Georgia, Nov. 7.

The 11th-ranked Gators, however, are simply fighting for survival in the SEC, while Auburn still has a legitimate shot at the title.

"Florida football seasons appear to always get down to the two-week stretch of Auburn and Georgia," fourth-year head coach Galen Hall said. "And we are looking forward to round one at Auburn. It is a big challenge to our team and an opportunity to play against one of the nation's best teams."

Sixth-ranked Auburn lost one of the most powerful weapons in the SEC in the arm of senior quarterback Jeff Burger who was ruled ineligible Wednesday. Burger and offensive lineman Jim Thompson took what the NCAA considered a "special benefit" — an illegal hunting trip — with a friend of the Thompson family.

The 6-foot, 211-pound Burger, who sat out last week's game against Mississippi State, leads the conference with a passing efficiency of 157.39 (third nationally), having completed 105 of 154 passes for 1,314 yards and 10 touchdowns.

Backup Reggie Slack tossed for 280 yards and three TDs in the 38-7 victory, which caught the attention of the Florida secondary. "Auburn is awesome. That's the easiest way to put it," junior free safety Louis Oliver said. "They have added a potent passing attack to their always tough running game, so our defense will have to work hard to be ready."

Auburn's running attack of late, though, does not compare to last year's, which was led by Fullwood's 1,391 yards. The former St. Cloud all-stater was first-round pick of the Green Bay Packers. After seven games, sophomore Vincent Harris leads the Tigers with 260 yards, just 36 more yards than Florida tailback Emmitt Smith gained in one game against Alabama.

Due to the lack of the traditionally strong running game, Auburn Pat Dye has had to emphasize the passing game more than in the past. Obviously, Burger has accepted the challenge, turning in his best season as a collegian.

"Auburn is throwing the football much better than they have in years," Hall said. "Jeff

Burger's Ineligibility Surprises Dye

AUBURN, Ala. (UPI) — Auburn Coach Pat Dye says he has "no idea" if the NCAA will rule before this weekend on the school's appeal of a ruling declaring quarterback Jeff Burger ineligible for the season.

Dye said Burger and backup quarterback Reggie Slack will continue to split time in practice until the NCAA rules on the appeal. The sixth-ranked Tigers are preparing for a Southeastern Conference showdown against No. 11 Florida Saturday.

The NCAA Wednesday declared Burger and offensive tackle Jim Thompson ineligible for the season because they violated extra benefit rules by accepting an Oct. 11 hunting trip with a friend of Thompson's family.

"You've got to accept it and go on," Dye said. "It's not what we wanted to hear. I guess I was prepared for both (possibilities), but I was a little bit surprised by the ruling."

Janet Justus, the NCAA's assistant director of eligibility, said she did not know how long it will take to decide the appeal, but she does expect a ruling before the end of the regular season.

The rule in question bars student athletes from receiving privileges not accorded other students because of their status.

Dye previously had said he did not think the trip violated the organization's rules.

A statement released by the Auburn Sports Information Department said the players will remain ineligible while the school appeals the ruling.

"Their status for Saturday's game with Florida and the remainder of the season is uncertain and will remain uncertain pending a final ruling from the NCAA on Auburn's appeal," the statement said. "No timetable has been set for the appeal or an NCAA response."

Burger and Thompson were held out of last Saturday's Mississippi State game because Auburn officials were concerned the trip could be considered a special benefit under NCAA rules.

A friend of the Thompson family flew Burger and the lineman on a hunting trip in south Alabama the day after the Oct. 10 Vanderbilt game. The man is a University of Alabama graduate, published reports said.

The incident marks the third time

Burger has been in trouble this year. An academic honesty committee at the school recommended Burger be suspended for the fall and winter quarters for plagiarizing a term paper. Auburn Vice President Warren Brandt, however, overturned the penalty.

Burger was briefly declared ineligible before the season began because assistant coach Pat Sullivan signed his property bond after Burger was arrested following a fight at a fast-food restaurant. The NCAA restored Burger's eligibility on an appeal from the school.

Burger is 105 of 154 for 1,314 yards and 10 touchdowns this season, making him the third-rated passer in the nation. Slack, his backup, was 11 of 17 for 183 yards and three touchdowns in the 38-7 victory over Mississippi State.

Magnitude Glows For 'Noles, Lions

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

It has been quite awhile since either Seminole or Oviedo played in a football game which glows in the magnitude of Friday's District 4A-7 encounter. Kickoff is 8 p.m. at Seminole High School. Tickets are $2.50 in advance and $3.50 at the gate.

A Seminole victory clinches the District 4A-7 championship. An Oviedo victory moves it within one win (Orlando Edgewater on Nov. 13) of the district crown.

For Seminole, one has to return to 1981 for a year of glory. Coach Jerry Posey's 'Noles posted unbeaten Five Star Conference and District 4A-9 records. All-State first team guard Isaac Williams, All-State second-team fullback Lenny Sutton, quarterback Jeff Litton and linebacker Greg Register were the big

Fish Diet Supports Lack Of Eskimo Heart Attack

Every fisherman needs one more good excuse to go fishing. Here is a fool-proof excuse that is backed by scientific research and will also save money on the family budget.

Eat more fish. We have all heard for a long time that fish and poultry are good for us, and that red meats help build up cholesterol in our circulatory system.

There is now scientific evidence to add support to the theory that a lot of fish in the diet will actually reduce the chance of a heart attack.

Take the Eskimo for example. This group of people has a very low incidence of heart attacks. Although they walk and exercise a lot, their diet is the major reason for their healthy hearts.

What do they eat that protects them from heart attacks? Fish. Not only do they eat a lot of fish, but so do the seals and other animals in the Eskimos' diet. Indirectly, or directly, fish make up about 90 percent of the Eskimo menu.

Scientists know that fish contain a special oil called omega-3 fatty acid. When eaten by humans, it makes our blood thinner. When we have a lot of this omega-3 fatty acid in our systems, we don't build up a lot of cholesterol in our circulatory systems, and our blood pressure remains lower.

To add more credence to this theory, Eskimos from the same families living in Canada and eating a diet similar to ours were studied. It was discovered that the Eskimos who ate as we do experienced heart attacks. So it is the fish diet that seems protective against heart attacks.

The easiest way to add this oil to our diets is to swallow a fish oil capsule every day.

What red-blooded American man wants to gulp down a capsule, when he

For Oviedo, one has to go back to 1982. The Lions missed out on an Orange Belt Conference and District 3A-8 title by one game. A rain-soaked

7-6 setback to Osceola Kissimmee was the difference. Linebacker Tommy Johnson, running backs J.W. Yarbrough and Barry Williams along with nose tackle Kevin Yentz were the standouts.

Six years for the 'Noles and five years for the Lions. Two programs that are overdue for basking in the glow. The paid dues come true Friday night.

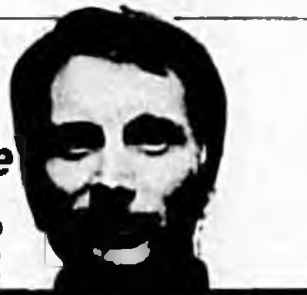

"We haven't been looking back in history," Seminole interim coach Roger Beathard said. "There is enough pressure with this game. If we beat Oviedo, we go to the state playoffs. You can't make it any more important than that."

Oviedo mentor Jack Blanton agreed. "Whoever wins this one is going to be on the right road," Blanton said. "A win would help our program greatly. But we can go out and catch the real thing!

Simply explain to your wife that fish are expensive, and you must go out and catch some in order to keep your family healthy and to save money. (She doesn't need to know how much money it actually winds up costing for every fish that you catch.)

SHUPE'S SCOOP — Does your oil burn and smoke when you fry fish? Use peanut oil instead. It can withstand high temperatures and will not burn or smoke. It is for this reason that all the chicken franchises use peanut oil instead of other oils.

WEEKEND CAST — Ron Rawlins at Highland Park reports that fishing is improving daily with both speckled perch and bass. Look for speckled perch in Lake Woodruff and trout in Lake Wales. Brickeyard minnows for the best action. Bass can be caught on plastic worms fished in the lily pad fields of Lake Woodruff or on wild shiners placed near floating mats of water hyacinths.

Deil Abernathy at Osteen Bridge is looking forward to a good fishing season. Speckled perch are starting early and can be caught in the old river channel, Brickyard Slough, Government Cut, and possibly in Lake Monroe. It has really been too windy to find out exactly what is happening in Lake Monroe. Bass fishing is improving, with many bass in the 24 pound range being caught. Bass follow the rising water, so remember to fish off the main river channel for good action.

snook are running from 8 1/2 pounds, while most of the reds are well above the 27 inch size limit. Jigs, Mirrolures, Rebels, Rapelars and crankbaits will also take fish.

Captain Jack of Port Canaveral reports that offshore fishing is still tough and go. Most of the calmer days seem to fall in the middle of the week, so only a few anglers are making it into the deep water. Some party boats are making it out and report that the bottom fish are beginning to make their annual pilgrimage into shallower water. Inside the Port, bluefish, flounder, jack crevalle, sheepshead, trout, and a few snook are keeping anglers from getting skunked. Reds and trout are improving daily in the Banana and Indian rivers. Gold spoons fished on the deeper flats will catch both of these species. Finger mullet or live shrimp are good live baits and can be fished on the edges of channels and ledges for good catches.

A lot of bluefish are being caught at the New Smyrna jetty. Blues love rough waters, and the strong north winds have really been whipping up the ocean. Sheepshead, whiting, flounder, redfish, and drum are also being caught in good numbers on live shrimp.

Mary Is Wary Of 'Dogs, Hiss

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

DeLand coach Dave Hiss is either the eternal pessimist or the best con man in the game.

Despite always wondering how his team wins, the Bulldogs are almost always in the running for a district championship. Last year, for example, the head Bulldog said his team didn't belong on the same field with Lake Mary. DeLand ended up beating Lake Mary and went on to win the District 5A-4 title.

One year later, the Rams and Bulldogs are about to do battle in another important 5A-4 game Friday night at Lake Mary High. DeLand can just about wrap up the district championship with a win. Hiss, of course, said he is only worried about his team not being embarrassed.

Fearless Picks, Page 10A

"Lake Mary has some of the best athletes in Central Florida. I don't know how we'll line up with them," Hiss said. "I don't think our fans will go down there because it could be like Custer's Last Stand. We're not ready to play. We're banged up and beat up and the kids have no emotion and enthusiasm. I don't know how we win any games."

How the Bulldogs look to Hiss during the week and how they perform on Friday nights are completely different things. DeLand has a 5-1 overall record and leads both the Seminole Athletic Conference (4-0) and District 5A-4 (3-0).

"Hiss did the same thing last year," Lake Mary coach Harry Nelson said of the DeLand coach's pre-game whining. "I think he's trying to con me. All I try to do is get through the best I can."

If they are going to have a shot at winning the district, the Rams must get through Friday night. Lake Mary, 4-2 overall, is 3-1 in the district. The Rams need a victory over DeLand and then hope the Bulldogs win their remaining games to set up the best scenario for Lake Mary — a three-way tie between Lake Mary, DeLand and Lake Howell.

"We're not worrying about anything else," Nelson said. "We have to beat DeLand first. We have to just think about one game at a time and we can't look back."

Last year's victory over Lake Mary is what propelled the Bulldogs to the district crown. After that victory, Hiss went to the middle of the Lake Mary field and dug up some turf as a souvenir of what was probably his biggest win.

"Last year we had good performance against Lake Mary," Hiss said. "But we can't live in the past. Harry (Nelson) is probably showing his kids the film and saying not to let it happen again."

A year ago, Hiss said the main reason for his being so pessimistic before the game was Lake Mary had the superior talent. This year, Hiss feels Lake Mary has better skilled people, but he has had even more to worry about.

"Football is the farthest thing from the kids' minds right now," Hiss said. "They found out they like girls now and that takes up a lot of their time. Grades are coming out next week and they're anxious about that and some of them have been in and out of the principal's office."

"I just hope our kids wake up in the next 48 hours or it will be a long night for us."

SPORTS

IN BRIEF

Julian's 2-Run Triple Lifts Bridgewater To First Victory

Kevin Julian's two-run triple keyed a five-run fifth inning as Bridgewater picked up its first victory of the season, 6-4, over Stromberg-Carlson in Sanford Men's Softball League action Wednesday night at Pinehurst Park.

Both Bridgewater and Stromberg-Carlson are 1-3 for the season. Tim Raines Connection ran its record to 4-0 with a 16-2 thrashing of Wrecking Crew (1-3) in Wednesday's second game.

Bridgewater had a 3-1 lead going into the fifth when Julian's two-out triple drove in Ron Hammel and Randy Reed. Jeff Croger followed with a single to score Julian and Brad Croger tripled in Jeff Croger with the fourth run of the frame. Brad Croger then scored on a Stromberg-Carlson error.

The five-run fifth turned out to be important for Bridgewater as Stromberg-Carlson rallied for three runs in the top of the seventh. Jeff Madison's two-run triple highlighted the inning but he was thrown out trying to stretch it to a home run.

In Wednesday's second game, Tim Raines played for his franchise and blasted a solo home run and two-run double in the rout of Wrecking Crew. Rodney Turner added three hits and five RBIs. Mark Songer and Mike Edwards had two hits each for Wrecking Crew which managed only six hits in the game.

In games Monday, Wrecking Crew walloped Bridgewater, 15-4, and Six Flags Nursery dropped Stromberg-Carlson, 12-6.

Chellos, Roy Spark Canadiens

United Press International

There were several reasons the Canadiens should have lost to Edmonton at Montreal Wednesday night. Chris Chellos and Patrick Roy, however, were the main reasons the Oilers lost for the second straight night.

Prior to the Canadiens' 3-1 victory, the Oilers had not lost in the Forum since March 15, 1984, and Montreal is still without defenseman Larry Robinson, who suffered a broken leg while playing polo during the offseason.

Furthermore, goaltender Roy could have been preoccupied with the outcome of a meeting at the league offices Tuesday concerning a possible suspension for last week's stick-swinging incident against Warren Babe of the Minnesota North Stars.

Roy, however, stopped 23 shots, and Chellos filled the void left by Robinson by recording three assists. Only Charlie Huddy's power-play goal at 16:46 of the third period prevented the Oilers from being shut out for the second straight game.

In other games, Toronto whipped the New York Islanders 5-2, Los Angeles edged the New York Rangers 4-3, Buffalo tied Hartford 2-2, and Detroit dumped Winnipeg 5-1.

Perkins' TD Tosses Lift Bulldogs

Travis Perkins threw a pair of touchdown passes to lift the Bulldogs to a 12-7 victory over the Wildcats in Sanford Recreation Department Flag Football League action Wednesday at Chase Park.

The Bulldogs improved to 2-1 with the win and are tied with the Cowboys for first place while the Wildcats dropped to 1-3.

Perkins connected with Terry Jones on a 45-yard touchdown pass in the first half and the Bulldogs had a 6-0 halftime lead. The Wildcats struck for seven in the second half when Lashawn Eason scored on a five-yard run and Corey Redden ran in the extra point.

The Bulldogs broke the tie when Perkins hit Charlie Farmer with a 45-yard TD pass.

Jordan Walks Out Of Practice

CHICAGO (UPI) — Michael Jordan, the leading scorer in the NBA last season, walked out of a Chicago Bulls' practice Tuesday because he felt his scrimmage team was being cheated in scoring.

Jordan, who averaged 37.1 points per game last season, departed practice 20 minutes before it ended after an argument with Bulls Coach Doug Collins.

"I'm a competitor, and I want to win," Jordan said upon leaving the practice. "I always keep score in everything, scrimmages, games, whatever, and I know the score was 4-4. Doug said it was 4-3, my team losing. I know after a long, tough practice, the losing team has to run. I felt like he (Collins) was stacking the odds against me on purpose."

LA Hires Hawkins For PR Post

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Tommy Hawkins, a former basketball star and local broadcaster with no baseball experience, Wednesday became one of the major leagues' highest-ranking black executives when he was named vice president, communications for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Dodgers President Peter O'Malley said Hawkins, 50, will oversee publicity, promotions, community relations, public relations, group sales and special events.

Hawkins inherits many of the duties formally held by Fred Claire, who became Dodgers Vice President of Player Personnel in April after Al Campanis was forced to resign following his disparaging remarks about blacks made during an interview on national television.

Daniels Denies Involvement

TOPEKA, Kan. (UPI) — Lloyd Daniels, the former Nevada-Las Vegas recruit and New York high school basketball star, Wednesday denied involvement in recruiting violations at UNLV.

Daniels also said at a news conference he has successfully completed 45 days of inpatient care recently at a Topeka hospital, his second attempt to make it through that phase of a drug rehabilitation program. He will continue to get counseling at the hospital, he said.

Potter Wallops Torres 6-3, 6-2

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Top seed Barbara Potter of Woodbury, Conn., defeated 13th-seeded Michelle Torres of Northfield, Ill., 6-3, 6-2 in a third-round match, and two seeded players lost Wednesday at the Virginia Slims of Indianapolis.

In second-round matches at the Indianapolis Racquet Club, No. 4 seed Kathy Horvath of Largo, Fla., retired during the second set of her match against Michelle Jaggard of Australia, and No. 8 seed Alycia Moulton lost to Anne Smith of Dallas, 6-1, 6-2.

County Sports Hall To Chamber

The Seminole County Sports Hall of Fame, which will induct four more members in January, will move its home base from Seminole Community College to the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

Inductees plaques will be on display at the Chamber office, which is located at 400 E. First St.

The Hall will induct basketball players Simon Harper and Vernell Elizy along with baseball scout Zinn Beck and multi-talented sportswomen Harriett Boyd.

Hearns Hunts Missing Jewel

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Thomas Hearns, who has won world championships at weight classes from 147 to 175 pounds, tonight chases the missing piece to his plan of becoming boxing's first four-time champion.

Hearns is an 8-5 favorite to defeat Argentine Juan Roldan at the Las Vegas Hilton and win the vacant World Boxing Council 160-pound title.

"This is the big one for me, something I've been dreaming about for a long time," Hearns said. "A lot of people wish they could be in this position — not only to win four titles, but to win three or two or even one. Few men have ever made it to this point and I'm proud of that."

"The condition that Thomas Hearns is in, this fight cannot go 12 rounds."

Hearns, 29, previously held titles in the welterweight, junior middleweight and light heavyweight division and is one of 10 boxers to hold pro championships in three weight classes. Henry Armstrong, Alexis Arguello and Roberto Duran failed in tries to win fourth crowns.

"That was them. This is me," Hearns said. "It's my turn now."

Roldan, 30, agrees the bout will not go the distance.

"Thomas won't make it past the fifth round," he said.

Hearns first realized he might win four titles as a 6-foot-1 welterweight champ in 1980. He lost his welterweight title to Ray Leonard in 1981 but held the WBC junior middleweight title from 1982-86, and defeated Dennis Andries for the WBC light heavyweight title March 7.

Hearns lost a middleweight championship bout on a third-round knockout against Marvin Hagler April 15, 1985. Hagler also defeated Roldan, in 10 rounds, in 1984.

Hearns and Roldan want a rematch with Hagler, who reigned as middleweight champion more than six years before losing to Leonard April 6.

Hearns, of Detroit, is 44-2 with 37 knockouts. Roldan is 63-3-2 with 41 knockouts.

Hearns believes winning a fourth title will remove the sting of his losses to Hagler and Leonard.

"Roldan's a pretty big obstacle," Hearns said of his experienced opponent. "But if anyone can do it, I can do it. You're looking at a very hungry man right now."

Leonard's victory over Hagler and subsequent retirement left the three 160-pound titles vacant. Frank Tate has won the Thomas Hearns fight Juan Roldan tonight. At stake for Hearns: boxing's first four-different weight division champion.

International Boxing Federation title and Sumbu Kalambay captured the World Boxing Association crown.

Mills Lane of Nevada will referee the 12-round bout tonight.

A crowd of about 9,500 is expected at the Hilton's outdoor area for the closed circuit TV bout. Also on the card, Bobby Czyz will defend his IBF light heavyweight championship against Charles Williams, and Michael Nunn and Darnell Knox meet for the North American middleweight title.

VACA DECISIONS HONEYGHAN

LONDON (UPI) — Jorge Vaca of Mexico earned a majority decision over Lloyd Honeyghan of Britain Wednesday and won the World Boxing Council welterweight title in a match cut to eight rounds because of an injury.

The referee stopped the bout in the eighth because of cuts suffered by Vaca in a clash of heads. Ringside doctor Gerry Carp ruled Vaca could not continue, so referee Henry Elespore of the United States asked the three judges to submit their cards for the first seven rounds.

Judge Chuck Hasset of the United States and Bob Logist of Belgium favored Vaca: Hasset scored it 67-65 and Logist had it 67-66. Malcolm Bulmer of Australia ruled 67-65 in favor of Honeyghan, who still holds the International Boxing Federation crown.

SOKC Chutes Into '87 Meet

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

LONGWOOD — In years past, Jerry Collins would never mess with Santa Claus and Christmas shoppers. He would always open his Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club one day after Christmas, assuring the white-bearded gentleman's sleigh stop and gift exchanges at every house in Central Florida before venturing to the betting window.

After the presents had already been purchased — and the children satisfied — Collins then opened his chutes for the upcoming greyhound meet.

Then the Division of Pari-mutuel Wagering offered SOKC 50 more dates.

Collins, SOKC's chairman of the board and general manager, mulled over the situation. Then it hit him: How about giving Santa Claus and the patrons 57 days to prepare for Christmas? Fifty-seven days and 57 ways to acquire capital for Christmas shopping.

Well, maybe that isn't exactly how it happened, but Collins is sure of one thing: The Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club opens its 53rd anniversary season tonight. Post time is 7:30 p.m. for 14 greyhound races.

The feature attraction tonight is the 53rd running of the SOKC Inaugural. It will take place in the 12th race, a 5-16th run.

Collins has reason to be optimistic about his season. The Seminole Greyhound Park closed Wednesday night. Last year, SOKC had a record $60,815,963 handle, which was up $4 million from 1985. Last year's attendance, 554,704, was more than 12,000 over 1985.

SOKC's newest innovation is the Pick 8. The track is guaranteeing a $50,000 jackpot for a $2 wager at each performance. "This is the first time in the history of the pari-mutuel business that such a jackpot has been guaranteed for each performance," SOKC publicist Phil "Boomer" Denis said. The bettor must correctly select the eight winners from the fifth through the 12th races.

The Superfecta, picking the top four finishers in the 13th or 14th race, has been expanded. Another Superfecta will be in the 7th race each performance.

Heading the list of kennels is Abernathy, Inc. which was last year's top winner. Hughes Kennels, Mrs. Marjorie Greig, Dennis Young Kennels and Robinson Kennels all return to keep the top five intact.

Union: $39 Million Loss Is Owners' Negotiating Ploy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Claims by NFL owners that they have lost $39 million from the players' pension fund in the recent stock-market plunge are an exaggeration meant as a negotiating ploy, an official for the players' union said Wednesday.

Speaking at the owners' meeting in Kansas City, Mo., Jack Donlan, executive director of the Management Council — the owners' negotiating arm — said Tuesday what had been a $40 million surplus in the pension fund had withered to $1 million due to losses in the stock market.

However, Miki Yaras, director of benefits for the NFL Players Association, said the numbers used by Donlan were taken when the market was at its low point last week.

"It's probably more like $30 million (in losses) today," Yaras said. "And tomorrow it will probably be (lower) depending on the market."

"The truth is we have very conservative managers and we've lost less than other people."

Yaras said "That's correct, precisely" when asked if the losses reported by Donlan were to improve management's leverage in negotiations for a collective bargaining agreement to replace the one that expired Aug. 31. Formal talks broke off Oct. 11 between Donlan and NFLPA Executive Director Gene Upshaw.

STEELERS SIGN WOODSON

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Steelers Wednesday signed defensive back and top draft choice Rod Woodson, the team announced.

Woodson, from Purdue, was the 10th choice in this year's draft. Terms of the deal were not disclosed.

"We're pleased that we've reached an agreement and that Rod will be joining us," Steelers President Dan Rooney said. "We expect him to become a productive member of the team."

The deal was finalized in Fort Wayne, Ind., after Woodson and his attorney met with a Steelers representative, team spokesman Dan Edwards said. Woodson was expected to report to the Steelers offices at Three Rivers Stadium Thursday.

With Purdue, Woodson established 13 school records: 320 career solo tackles, 11 interceptions, three interceptions returned for TDs, 276 interception-return yards, 71 kickoff returns and 1,535 kickoff-return yards.

OILERS LAND HIGHSMITH

HOUSTON (UPI) — Alonzo Highsmith, the Houston Oilers' top pick and the third choice overall in this year's draft, signed a "long-term contract" with the team late Wednesday, club officials said.

Howell Hopes To Dive Into 1st-Day SAC Lead

By Chris Pister
Herald Sports Writer

Diving is often an overlooked event in high school swimming meets but Lyman High found it to be an important event last season. The Greyhounds used an impressive performance in diving to build an early lead en route to the Seminole Athletic Conference championship.

This year, however, the 'Hounds will have a much more difficult time dominating the diving competition. Lyman still has good divers, but Lake Mary, which is competing with Lyman for the team title, is aware of the importance of the event and also hopes to score some big points.

The team that has a chance to make the biggest impact in diving, though, is Lake Howell's Silver Hawks. Led by sophomore John Paulovich, Lake Howell has four divers who could finish in the top six. In fact, the Silver Hawks could even be leading the meet by the end of diving.

The Seminole Athletic Conference Diving Championships will be held Friday afternoon at Lyman High School. The girls division will begin at 3 p.m. followed by boys at 4 p.m. Each diver will get six attempts off the one-meter board.

Lake Howell's Paulovich, only a sophomore, will be the favorite in the boys division while the Hawks have three more good divers in Travis Pendleton, Scott

Swimming

Pausal and Leigh Turner. "I expect John (Paulovich) to win it," Lake Howell coach Dwayne Picou said. "He went to state last year as a freshman and he is looking a lot better this year. I also expect Travis (Pendleton) to get in the top three and the other two (Pausal and Turner) will also do well."

Lyman's top diver is Chris Hebert who is probably Paulovich's main competition. The 'Hounds have three other good performers in Todd Brooks, Tony Disario and Ed McGuckin.

"Last year, we crushed everyone in diving," Lyman coach Don Clark said. "But this year it will be tough. I know Lake Mary has some good ones and Lake Howell always has good divers."

Leading the way for Lake Mary is Shadow Arroyo and coach Walt Morgan will also look for strong efforts from Matt Geans and David Purkerson.

"We need to get somebody ahead of one of Lyman's divers and hope some of the other teams place some of their guys ahead of Lyman's," Morgan said. "We definitely need three good showings from our guys."

Burger is much improved and his receivers are all-star caliber."

But maybe the most frightening aspect of the powerful Auburn squad is its crushing defense. The War Eagles' total defense ranks second in the SEC at 263.71 (10th nationally), trailing only the bruising defense of the Gators at 224.29 (third nationally).

Thoughts of the Auburn defense can send chills traveling up Bell's spine. "They probably have one of the best defenses in the country," the senior QB said. "We will have to have one of our best efforts to have any kind of chance of coming out on top."

While Auburn has one of the best defenses in the nation, Florida boasts the best running back in the nation, at least statistically. In freshman phenom Emmitt Smith, Auburn is averaging 144.43 yards per contest with a total of 1,011 yards through seven games. Both rank first nationally. Against Temple two weeks ago, Smith also captured the collegiate record for gaining 1,000 yards at the earliest point in the season by a freshman, eclipsing the previous mark set by Tony Dorsett (1973) and Herschel Walker (1980) at eight games.

The Auburn will provide Smith and the offensive line with its biggest obstacle thus far. The Tigers' rushing defense is second in the SEC at 111.57 yards per game (Florida leads at 88.29).

"Auburn has a huge defensive line which is very aggressive and very tough to go up against," junior offensive tackle David Williams said.

Emmitt, who chose Florida over Auburn as his collegiate home, agreed. "From what I've seen on film and by watching Auburn is that they come at you and keep coming at you," he said. "They have big-play players throughout their defense and we cannot afford any mental lapses at all."

NOTES — In the last 11 meetings in this series, the home team has won 10 times. Florida's 14-10 victory in 1985 is the only time in the last 11 years that the visitor has won... Florida's 14-10 victory in '85 ranks as one of the most memorable in school history because it vaulted the Gators to the school's first-ever No. 1 ranking in a wire service poll (Associated Press)...

aren't close yet. We still have to beat (Orlando) Edgewater, too."

Seminole is in the favorable position. The 'Noles are 2-0 in the district while Oviedo is 1-0. Since Orlando Dr. Phillips is not eligible due to over enrollment, all Seminole needs is a victory Friday to clinch a berth in the state playoffs. Oviedo, which is 1-0, must beat Seminole and Edgewater.

The opportunity for Friday's winner glows even brighter when one looks down the line. Oviedo offensive coordinator Ken Kroog said, "I think Friday's winner can win the region, too," he said. "Then, they will play (Daytona Beach) Seabreeze (or Satellite Beach). The winner of this district can go a long way (in the state playoffs)."

The 4A-7 winner will probably host Dade City Pasco, the leader in District 4A-8. Pasco, 5-1, has a 3-0 district mark and Land O' Lakes, 4-2, is 2-1. In 4A-5, Seabreeze and Middleburg are each 1-0 while Satellite is 2-0 in 4A-6 and Titusville is 2-1.

Neither Seminole nor Oviedo is too much different personnel-wise from last year. Seminole's defense lost linebacker Rick Kelley while Oviedo graduated Gordon King, the county's best punter and one of the best offensive linemen.

Last year, the Lions blitzed the 'Noles, 23-7. Kroog, however, said that is not a good indicator. "Three scores came off turnovers," he said. "Two were inside the 20-yard line and one inside the 30-yard line. We were opportunistic but we didn't drive the ball at all."

Beathard said his biggest concern is that Seminole does not put itself in that kind of hole again. "We had trouble with punt returns that game," he said. "I don't know why. We didn't have much trouble any time last year. Maybe it was King punting the ball so high."

NOTES — Beathard said he expects punter-defensive end Pat Dougherty and tackle Sean Boudreau both to return to action Friday. They had been sidelined by injuries the past three weeks.

Blanton said linebacker Chuck Lee will miss Friday's contest with a broken hand.

OTHERS — In other action Friday, Lake Mary hosts DeLand in a key District 5A-4 battle; Lake Howell entertains Port Orange Spruce Creek; Lyman journeys to Daytona Beach Mainland and Lake Brantley travels to Orlando Dr. Phillips. All kickoffs are set for 8 p.m.

Martin Has No Moving Opinion

NEW YORK (UPI) — "New" Yankees manager Billy Martin declined to state his opinion Wednesday on whether his team will stay in New York, and Mayor Edward Koch said negotiations between the city and team are progressing.

"I can't predict how long the Yankees will stay in town — I don't even know how long I'm going to be here," the off-again, on-again manager said when asked if he could envision the Yankees playing outside of the Bronx.

Martin was one of several baseball managers and executives at City Hall for a ceremony honoring major-league baseball's efforts to prevent drug abuse.

The city, state and Yankees officials have been negotiating parking provisions in the team's 30-year lease.

Stocks Rise In London

By United Press International
 Prices on the London Stock exchange rallied today but Asian markets continued to tumble, including Tokyo, where heavy selling was triggered by the yen's sharp appreciation against the dollar.
 In London, the prospect of another half-percentage point cut in base rates and further international pledges to support the ailing dollar helped sustain a promising rally in the market.
 By mid-morning the Financial Times 100 share index had risen 26.4 to 1684.8, while the Top 30 had moved up 12.5 to 1301.0.
 The Frankfurt Stock Exchange opened lower today but prices were not as hard hit as they were Wednesday.
 The Tokyo Stock Exchange's Nikkei average of 225 selected issues, which lost 257.43 yen Wednesday, gave up another 543.64 yen today to close at 22,033.89 yen.

 An estimated 700 million shares changed hands in bearish trading, compared with 859.5 million shares Wednesday.
 Brokers said selling was touched off by concern among investors that the yen's sharp rise against the dollar may adversely affect recovery of the domestic economy.
 The Bank of Japan said the U.S. dollar closed at 137.55 yen, down 3.20 yen from Wednesday's closing rate of 140.75 yen.
 Today's closing exchange rate compared with a record low of 137.25 yen set in intra-day trading on April 27 this year. The record low closing rate of 138.10 yen was set the same day.

House Committee OKs Short-Term Spending Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Appropriations Committee today approved a 10-day extension of a short-term spending bill to give Congress more time to work on a huge catchall bill to keep the government in business through fiscal 1988.
 The short-term bill, sent to the House floor on a voice vote, would keep government agencies supplied with money through Nov. 20, the day automatic budget cuts are due to take place unless Congress adopts its own package of spending cuts and revenue increases that leaders and the White House are now negotiating over.

 In its first move on the catchall bill, one lumping together all 13 regular appropriations measures, on a show of hands the panel voted 21-20 against stuffing into the measure legislation to reinstitute the "Fairness Doctrine," wiped out in August by a Federal Communications Commission decision now under appeal. The doctrine says broadcasters must make equal air time available to political candidates.
 The rejection came in the face of House leadership requests that the measure be attached to the spending bill.

Firm Falls To Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — The fifth securities firm to shut down after last week's stock market collapse was Haas Securities Corp., but analysts expect the relatively small Manhattan brokerage house will not be the last casualty of the chaos on Wall Street.

The New York Stock Exchange said in a statement Wednesday that Haas Securities had closed. The firm had traded on the exchange, but it was not known how long they were a member.

The house joins William D. Mayer & Co., American Investment Group Inc. and Metropolitan Securities, all of Manhattan, and H.B. Shaine & Co. of Grand Rapids, Mich. In closing, those firms all cited "financial problems." In closings announcements made on Oct. 21, two days after the Dow Jones industrial average plunged a record 508 points.
 A NYSE spokesman described

Haas Securities as "relatively small," and said it had "2,000 customer accounts."

'When I Was Your Age...' Has Been Around For Ages

DEAR ABBY: I am an average teen-ager in a Midwestern town and I am sure my feelings correspond with those of many. I respect my parents and I know they want to be helpful, but I can hardly stand it when they begin a lecture with, "When I was your age..."

Abby, parents should realize that their experiences may not always be relevant to today's times and today's teen-agers.

I am writing to you because I know that many parents read your column (mine do); so if they can't understand why what they experienced when they were my age doesn't do me any good, maybe they will listen to you.

AVERAGE TEEN-AGER

DEAR AVERAGE: When I was your age, I used to grit my teeth and hold my tongue every time my mother or dad started a sentence with, "When I was your age..." but I listened respectfully to stories about how poor they were, and how many miles they walked to school (with an apple for lunch). It always ended with, "You don't know how lucky you are...to have all the advantages you have."

Every generation (with the

possible exception of Adam and Eve) has heard it many times, so listen respectfully, because one day you'll be delivering that lecture yourself—if you're lucky.

DEAR ABBY: I am the woman whose letter you published about whistling. (Our next-door neighbor whistled constantly, which we found intolerable.)

Well, since my letter appeared in The Portland Oregonian, I received 23 telephone calls from all over the United States and one from Canada, plus letters and postcards. Truly overwhelming! Everyone wanted to talk about his or her experiences with "whistlers." Most were on the funny side, but two calls were sad.

A 16-year-old California girl said her father works nights, so he's at home during the daytime. She invited some friends over to listen to records. Her father whistled constantly, so she asked him to please stop. He hit her in the mouth, knocking out two teeth, then threw her out the door, saying he would have no "mouthy brat" living in his home!

A woman from Georgia said that her gentle, lovable father moved in with her family two months ago. He loves the children and they loved him when he didn't live with them and they only visited him. He whistles all the time—even at the dinner table. Her husband threatens to move out, and the five children fight all the time and refuse to be around Grandpa. Her headache never stops. Now they are going to put Grandpa in a nursing home "where he will surely die soon!"

Wouldn't it have been wonderful if someone, many years ago, helped these whistlers to stop a seemingly harmless habit? In my letter, I treated it as a joke. I don't find it funny anymore.

Thanks for printing my letter even though almost everyone disagreed with your answer.

Cure Itch By Closing Cat's Outhouse Door

DEAR DR. GOTT — Two weeks ago, red rings appeared on my groin and my arms. My doctor said that I had ringworm and told me to get rid of my cat. Fine, except I have no cat. However, my neighbor's eight cats use my garage for their bathroom and I'm in and out of there several times a day. How do I clear up the ringworm? What is it?

DEAR READER — Ringworm is a term that refers to a group of skin diseases caused by fungus. The lesions are typically itchy and scaly and tend to spread centrifugally, in ever-enlarging circles. Several over-the-counter lotions and creams, including Tinactin and Desenex, are useful in curing the infection, which, by itself, is a harmless annoyance.

Ringworm is a common affliction of domestic animals; humans can catch the infection from dogs and cats. I think that your fungus condition is going to prove to be less of a problem than your neighbor's eight cats. Allowing them to use your garage is inappropriate, unsanitary and probably places a lot of social pressure on your relations with your neighbor. I suggest that you close your garage door and inform your neighbor that you're no longer in the business of operating a public feline restroom. If your neighbor has such a hankering for cats, let him assume the responsibility for their care. It seems to me that your garage could be put to better use.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My grandson roughhouses with his son, age 2. He takes him by the ankles and swings him 360 degrees. How much is too much?

DEAR READER — I believe that 360 degrees is too much. Children are amazingly adaptive in putting up with adults' wacky behavior. However, swinging a 2-year-old by the ankles in a circle exceeds the boundary of fun and games, unless your grandson is training the youngster for circus work or to be an astronaut. From a medical standpoint, this activity has the potential for increasing pressure in the brain because of the centrifugal forces generated during swinging. This could cause headaches, blood

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
What does it mean when your partner bids three no-trump immediately over an opponent's three-level pre-empt? Does he have a balanced hand with lots of high cards? Or could he have a long solid suit of his own and the opponent's suit stopped? The answer could well be yes to either question. Nevertheless, we would all bid four hearts with South's hand, figuring the heart suit would give us six or more tricks in a heart contract and maybe nothing in no-trump.

and a spade, while eventually West came to a diamond trick. There is a complex endplay available against East, but no one would ever expect Willy to find it.

Maybe Careful Charlie could find the endplay, but he didn't need it. On the opening lead of the diamond king, Charlie remembered that West had preempted and therefore probably held seven diamonds. So he played low from dummy at trick one. When diamonds were continued, he played low again. On the third diamond play, Charlie could play low and ruff, and then play ace and a heart. East could take his heart king, but that would be it for the defense. Note that this play works just as well even when the pre-empt was made on a six-card suit, although then it isn't necessary.

YOUR BIRTHDAY OCTOBER 30, 1987
Important conditions that have an influence on your income will be more stable in the year ahead. However, this does not mean that you should start spending frivolously.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Today, put your trust in a person who has proven loyal to you in the past, not in someone who you hope might do something for you in the future. Divers Prepare For Record Descent

WAKULLA SPRINGS, Fla. (UPI) — A team of some of the world's top scuba divers began preparing Wednesday for an unprecedented dive into an unexplored underwater cavern deep below the surface of north Florida's Wakulla Springs.

The 14 divers taking part in the six-week project eventually plan to plunge as far as a mile deep into the unexplored reaches of Wakulla Cavern, whose entrance lies some 185 feet below the surface of the crystalline-water spring.

Along the way, they will try to determine the spring's source, answer questions about Florida's underground hydrology, and test revolutionary computer-controlled scuba equipment they believe will greatly expand divers' underwater range.

Divers will also be searching for fossil bones far back in the cavern. During the last dive allowed into the cave, in the late 1950s, divers discovered the bones of mastodons and other Ice Age animals strewn about in the cavern — but no one knows how they got there, or if there are more bones further in.

In that 1950s expedition, divers managed to go only about 1,100 feet into the cave, reaching a depth of about 250 feet during 15 minute dives. Utilizing new, prototype diving technology, divers on the Wakulla Springs Project hope to reach depths of 300 feet for dives of three hours or longer. They hope to go as far as a mile into the cave, riding self-propelled diving sleds at speeds of up to 8 knots.

Project members were scheduled Wednesday to lay the preliminary foundations for one of the key elements of the dive — a suspended underwater "habitat" that will shelter resurfacing divers for as long as 36 hours to prevent the bends.

The bends occur when divers who have been breathing a special mixture of oxygen and helium resurface too quickly. That can form gas bubbles in a diver's blood stream, which can be fatal.

The 27-foot-tall habitat, which looks somewhat like an air-filled parachute, will be anchored to the bottom just outside the cavern entrance. Up to six divers will be able to stay in the habitat at once, relaxing in a warm, dry environment as they slowly ascend to the surface.

Divers will be able to communicate with other project workers at the surface via telephone. They will even be able to order meals from the nearby Wakulla Springs Lodge, to be delivered in watertight containers.

Divers plan to launch the habitat itself on Saturday morning, and begin lengthy dives early next week.

The project is underwritten by the National Geographic Society, the Explorers Club and numerous private and corporate sponsors. The British Broadcasting Corp. plans to send along an underwater filming crew to record the expedition.

Wakulla Springs is located 13 miles southeast of Tallahassee, at the Wakulla Springs State Park. It is one of the world's largest artesian springs, with a steady water flow of 600,000 gallons per minute.

Seven Protesters Arrested

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UPI) — Police arrested 19 demonstrators on charges of blocking University of Vermont administration offices to protest the start of a campus recruiting drive by the CIA.

Seventeen protesters, 16 of them UVM students, were charged Wednesday with unlawful trespass and arraigned later in the day, Burlington Police said.

Two other students arrested earlier were cited for disorderly conduct by blocking the entrance to the executive office wing, which the group seized Tuesday after talks with administration officials collapsed.

Eight other students chose to leave the hallway of the Waterman Building on the Burlington campus voluntarily and were not arrested.

Campus security and Burlington police using plastic restraints carried and dragged the protesters from the building. The students, who were driven away in a large passenger van owned by the university, were being taken to Burlington police headquarters, according to university spokesman Nick Marro.

The university decided to press charges "when it became apparent they wanted to be arrested," Marro said.

The protest came as CIA recruiters planned to a recruitment drive on campus.

Provost John Hennessy, calling the protest a "mob setting," said he was "shocked by some aspects that occurred" and described talks with students as "disjointed."

Happiness Is...
'Hat-O-Ween'

Instead of getting all gussied up (or gussied down) in traditional and original costumes to observe Halloween, Lake Mary Elementary School students put their thinking caps on to create their own original hats to wear to school today in celebration of "Hat-O-Ween." All of the students participated in the event. There were funny hats, weird hats, traditional hats, beautiful hats and a few mad-hatters. Showing off their creations are: Andy Shiplides, front; and back, from left: Allison Robinson, Melissa Grace, Geoffrey Shiplides; and Rebecca Hale.

Police Dept.
Launches New Bike Program

The Casselberry Police Department has begun a Bicycle Safety Program whereby when a Casselberry police officer observes a juvenile bicyclist commit a bicycle/traffic violation, the officer will either issue a traffic citation or a Bicycle Safety Violation Notification.

While the traffic citation requires a monetary penalty, and may still be issued depending on the circumstances, the newly-devised departmental Bicycle Safety Violation Notification will give the officer an alternative to issuing the traffic citation. The Notification was devised to educate juvenile violators rather than penalize them.

When an officer issues the juvenile a Bicycle Safety Violation Notification, the juvenile is asked to present it to his/her parents. This Notification will hopefully alert parents to their child's need to attend a bicycle safety class. There is no mandatory response required; however, parental cooperation is certainly encouraged.

The classes will be conducted by the Community Relations Division in the first Saturday of each month at the Casselberry Public Safety building and will be approximately one hour in duration. Among the topics to be covered will be traffic laws, highway signs, traffic control signals and safe riding habits.

Should parents desire to enroll their child in a class on their own accord, they are invited to do so. For further information contact Community Relations, Casselberry Police Department, 831-3531, extension 251.
