

Fifteen New Faculty Members Are Named At University Of Florida

GAINESVILLE, Aug. 13.—With an unprecedented number of freshmen and sophomore applications already on file at the University of Florida, Dr. John J. Tigert, president of the University, announced today with Board of Control approval the appointment of 15 new faculty members to the University College, lower division, in which freshmen and sophomores matriculate.

Four of the new faculty members were appointed to the expanded humanities department under former Rhodes scholar, Dr. Robert F. Davidson, himself a newcomer to the University. Dean W. Little of the University College, said:

The humanities—a required sophomore course—stress the cultural heritage of the past and the influences shaping the pre-

Milk Mixture for Stomach Ulcers

A recent medical discovery now used by doctors and hospitals everywhere has proven unusually successful in the treatment of stomach ulcers caused from overeating. A liquid preparation yet so effective, in many cases the pains of stomach ulcers disappear almost immediately. Also recommended for gas pain, it relieves them during the night. Ulcer sufferers may now try this home remedy by obtaining a bottle of LURIN from their druggist. LURIN contains this new discovery—LURIN—plus a special mixture of two teaspoons in a half glass of milk. Costs but little. Must satisfy or money refunded.

Lurin for sale by Laney's Drug Store and Drug Stores everyday world as they find expression in literature, philosophy and the arts.

The newly appointed members of the humanities department include:

Dr. William Ruff, for 11 years a member of the English department at Yale.

Dr. John Henry Groth, for ten years head of the Department of German at the University of Washington.

Dr. Robert E. Carson, painter and musician, who for 7 years taught social studies at Stephens College.

Dr. Thomas A. E. Hart, formerly a faculty member of the Division of Language and Literature at the University of Michigan.

Other new faculty appointments in the university College are:

Dr. Stephen F. Fogle, associate professor of English, formerly a member of English faculty, University of Illinois for 6 years.

Dr. Arthur L. Funk, associate professor, American institutions, former history professor, St. Petersburg Junior College. Recently discharged from U. S. Navy.

Dr. Eugene Ashby Hammond, associate professor, social sciences. Former instructor, social sciences, University of North Carolina.

Dr. Malcolm McLeod, assistant professor of English. Formerly at the University of Florida, in 1942.

Dr. Franklin C. Ostry, assistant

DIPPING HIS PEN into an inkwell, President Truman gets ready to sign a bill authorizing payment of almost two and a half billion dollars in GI terminal leave pay. The Chief Executive is expected to act soon on a separate bill authorizing the funds. Looking on is Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R-Mass.) who authored a bill to provide amputees with specially-equipped autos. The measure signed by the President provided $50,000,000 for the purchase of such cars. Health Board Warns Vacationers And Beach-Goers Of Sun And Poison Ivy

JACKSONVILLE, Aug. 13.—Vacationers and beach-goers were warned by the State Board of Health today to guard against the well-known "summer enemies," too much sun and poison ivy.

During vacation time the average person who has been cooped up in an office most of the year has a strong desire to get out in open as much as possible. However, little do they realize that the average "winter" skin can stand about 15 to 20 minutes exposure to sunlight the first day.

The next day, if the skin has not been burned, it would be safe to extend the time to 30 or 40 minutes and continue increasing the dosage each day until the danger of sunburn no longer exists.

Contact with poison ivy causes symptoms ranging from slight redness and itching of the skin to exaggerated swelling and blisters and severe burning sensations. The family physician should be called in such cases. Until he comes, washing the affected areas with mild soap and rinsing well will afford some relief.

Despite its ability to create suffering, poison ivy gives fair warning of its presence to all who will use caution. It is an easy-to-spot plant made up of resembling the oak leaf. The poison comes from both the leaves and the bark.

Abraham Lincoln was the first bearded president.

TWO "IRON LUNGS" for use in the treatment of infantile paralysis are shown being loaded at a special laboratory field, N. Y., to be flown to Des Moines, Iowa. The iron paralysed will go into a "pool" of this equipment, which is being developed for the treatment of polio in the Mid-West. The wave of infantile paralysis is now reaching epidemic proportions in some localities in the South, West, and Middle West is reported to be the worst to hit the U. S. since 1916. (International)

Those "ghost rockets" which have been seen lately flying over southern Sweden may just do
"looks that kill" as Joe Stalin flexes his muscles in Moscow.

"After the other World War", writes John Temple Graves in the Times-Union, "the nation was cured with a wave of dishonesty.
It would be something if after this one, we should be blessed with a wave of honesty." There is nothing wrong with the world today, we venture to predict, that a wave of honesty would not not improve the standard of living.

The price of new automobiles has been increased by the OPA 22 percent with actual increases ranging from $62 to $322. Other increases are in sight as OPA moves to put into effect recent congressional changes in the law permitting dealers compensation for higher costs. Thus, the public is beginning to learn that wage increases which ignore price levels do not improve the standard of living.

Senator Pepper, who foresees the last World War with greater clarity than most, now foresees the third. "The whole picture looks dark," he says, "and nothing but a forthright about-face can possibly save the world from war in a few years." About-face, or no about-face there will be war in a "few" years because there always have been wars every few years, and there always will be, as far as this generation is concerned, and the rest; and the next.
The most any of us can hope for is that the length of the "few" years can be stretched to 10, 20, or perhaps 30.

That ballots are better than bullets in the conduct of democracy seems to be the considered judgment of Jim Buttram, the big War veteran who led the GI revolt in Athens which dethrone an entrenched political machine at the point of guns.
Letters have poured in from all parts of the country, he says, asking his advice on how to get rid of similar corrupt machines in other communities, but his advice has been to "Go slow" and "try to avoid violence." "I stayed on the wire about a month," he says, "trying to get help from the Governor, the Attorney General and the FBI . . . before we gave 'em
the Atkins treatment!"

Our enterprising society editor digs up a list of 75 or 100 Sanford business and professional men most of whom have moved here during the war years. The shortage of labor, the pressure of business, the scarcity of food and materials in general have prevented in many instances the hospitality and the welcome which in normal times Sanford's civic organizations and its old time residents have customarily accorded newcomers in our midst. But now that the war has been over for a year and jobs are being filled by returning veterans we should have more time to extend such courtesies. It might be a good idea for the Chamber of Commerce to sponsor a big "Welcome to Sanford" dinner for all those who have moved here in the last few years.

Versatile Coast Guard

Another birthday rolls around for the Coast Guard this month—the 156th this time. In all those years the service, originally founded by Alexander Hamilton as the Revenue Cutter Service, has been bounding from one strange job to another.

During the war the Coast Guard performed such various tasks as supervising the loading of explosives, hunting for Jap subs, landing troops in all the great invasion operations, and fishing pilots out of the English channel. In the Pacific its harbor firetugs, far from home, stood by for port security. Its buoy tenders wandered practically all over the world marking safe courses for American ships.

In Alaska for years the service has protected the seals and brought in the dentists. One of the most modern icebreakers in the world spends a hectic fall and spring on the Great Lakes breaking loose freighters and ferry boats which get stuck fast in the ice, clearing channels for the commerce of the lakes. Air-sea rescue units and Coast Guard helicopters have performed fantastic stunts from the Gulf of Mexico to Labrador for the sake of rescuing persons who sorely needed it.

In Sanford the Coast Guard Auxiliary performed an equally creditable service during the war, with its members serving as lookouts at various New Smyrna posts and assisting the local Naval Air Station in rescuing naval air pilots forced down in nearby lakes or swamps. And the duty in many of these instances was long and arduous.

In the year ahead the Coast Guard, with personnel and funds sent to a fraction of wartime allocations, but with duties greatly increased from the pre-war list, will doubtless go right ahead performing its odd assortment of jobs in a human and efficient manner. Whoever thought up the motto, "Always Ready," had the right idea.

Atom Town

Oak Ridge, Tennessee, a town which was built three years ago around the people who helped produce the atomic bomb, is developing civic consciousness, according to writer in Business Week.

Sidewalks and curbing are being installed and temporary buildings are in the process of being improved, reinforced, painted, and made permanent. Transient workers are moving out and the population has become stabilized at about 44,000. The citizens, who are on the average younger than those of most cities of this size, enjoy recreation areas, community centers, a little theater, a symphony orchestra and a public library.

The Oak Ridge payroll is large, with higher than average wages for the individual. This fact makes for prosperity in the surrounding region, as one employee out of three lives outside of the town. Emphasis is changing from interest in the bomb project to power production and the development of radioactive substances for peacetime use. Over 100 varieties of the latter are available at Clinton laboratory and are in demand by hospitals, educational institutions, and commercial laboratories. The atomic power plant, however, will not be ready to produce electricity before 1948, and the power used in this area comes from the TVA.

This busy, fively town, with its forward-looking activities, is one constructive result of the development of the atomic bomb.

Unfought Battles

A battle, never fought, which would have been a humdinger, was the contemplated German assault on Gibraltar. Secret war records now uncovered show that the Nazis had their plans for an artillery attack in 1941 that would have surpassed anything yet seen. Among the guns were 80-centimeter mortars on railroad mounts, which could fire a shell a yard in diameter and over six feet long, or twice the size of the long-range shells aimed across the Channel at Great Britain. Franco, Hitler's not-so-silent partner, was to supply the troops, but the German shells were expected to do most of the work.

Could the Nazis have turned the trick? Undoubtedly they would have come near it. Skeptics should remember how in 1914 supposedly invincible Liege and Antwerp were reduced in no time by the unfeared German 42-centimeter howitzers, and how in 1940 Belgian strongholds like Eben Emael held out no better than cream puffs against the Nazi shelling.

Heavy artillery was a German specialty. In both wars, Gibraltar would have been the supreme test, but only a bold man could be confident that Gibraltar would have held out.

Rural Common Sense

By Spuds Johnson

CONTINUING FORESTS IS ONE OF OUR MOST PRESSING PROBLEMS

In view of the rapidity with which we are cutting down our forests, the continuation of our forests has become one of the most serious and pressing problems of natural resources confronting our country today.

In fact, it may not be long before a good forest will be only a smattering of what they are today—unless we do something about them.

A century and a half hence will be only a smattering of what they are today—unless we do something about them.

A century and a half ago, settlers went laboriously about the necessary task of cutting and clearing woods, by ax to make way for their homes; today, portable saws and other modern equipment do the job of cutting and processing timber in a fraction of the time required in the early days.

There were many uses for forest timber in the early days; today, there are many, many more uses.

Wood is used for thousands of purposes and the demand for wood is greater than ever before.

It is needed for building houses, for production of newsprint and other paper, for making furniture, and for the production of innumerable articles for homes, offices, manufacturing plants, and other places.

It's well and good to use our forests if we do something about renewing and perpetuating them.

We must do far more than we are doing now or have done, however, if we are to continue to have trees. And we want to continue our forests because we need them for making and constructing things, for preventing erosion, for their influence on weather, and for their aesthetic value.

Every farmer can help by planning more trees, practicing efficient forest management, protecting trees from fire, and keeping in mind how much trees mean to us for success, comfort, health, and happiness.

I hope that foresters who have been so long since used the term

"forester" in Canada a "disgraceful comedy."

There was a connection with it, all right, but for the life of us, we can't see the joke.

Grandpa Jenkins says it has been so long since he used the term "father of bacon" that the other day, when he ordered an order of bacon, he said "I want the bacon to be real bacon."

Feds Go To Gainesville Tonight;
Bisson, Kettles Slated To Hurl

By ARTHUR BECKWITH
Herald Sports Editor
The Sanford Celery Feds and the DeLand Red Hats split an 8-7 double header last night at DeLand. Sanford took the first game 4 to 1 behind masterful five-hit pitching of the lefthander Eddie Howington, and losing the nightcap by 15 to 4 count.

Howington aided his own cause in the first game by pounding out two hits in four trips one of them a triple with two mates on board. Howington whiffed five and issued free passes to four Red Hat members.

Doris Glor took a liking to the offerings of Bob Kennington and pounded out two hits in four trips, one of which was a double. Manager Ed Levy also had a double and single in four trips to the platter.

In the second game the Feds hurlers could not silence the bats of the Red Hats, and when the smoke had cleared the DeLand club had a 15 to 4 ball game in the bag. Big Cal Blanc and Jim Payne gave up 17 hits, among them were two base blows by Pavlich, Edwards, Rosa and Harrington and three base blows by Nash and Fuchs. There were no home runs in last night's games.

Levy and Buddy Lake each had two hits in three trips to the plate. Lake adding a double to the extra base blows. Bob Tuttle and Jerry Silverman pounded out a triple for their only hits in the second game.

Silverman pitched the last inning for the Feds and turned in a creditable performance. He allowed no hits, no walks and struck out one batter, Walter Harrington.

Security Wins By 6-1 Score, Moss By 6 To 4 Margin

Two Games Scheduled Tonight In City Softball Circuit

The Sanford Herald took a twin shellacking last night due to the poor pitching of Junior Dyess for the Security Lumber aggregation and Paul Ellis for the Moss Amusement Company.

The Herald lost the opening tilt to the Security team by a 6 to 1 count. The nightcap was won by Moss by a 6 to 4 score.

In the first game the Security aggregation got to the offerings of the Herald pitcher "Red" Hiers in the first inning for four runs and then again in the second inning for two more. Dyess held the Newsman at bay the whole game giving up but five hits.

The nightcap was a hard fought ball game that was a full seven inning affair. The Herald's inability to support the pitching of Hiers was the deciding factor in the second game.

In order to finish the current schedule there will be two games scheduled tonight. In the event that Haynes and Williams are defeated by Robson's nine and the Herald is defeated by Moss the Olson aggregation will be in the play offs which will take place at the completion of the schedule.

The games tonight will offer the softball enthusiasts of Shreveport some spectacular play as the teams will be playing for keeps in order to maintain their places in the league standings.

The games scheduled are Moss Amusement Company vs. the Sanford Feds and the second game of the twin bill offers Haynes and Williams vs. Robson Sporting Goods.

Last season the Boston Red Sox established a new major league record for double plays with 198 twin killings. Strangely enough they did it without a big name infield. Theirs was strictly a makeshift affair. The Red Sox used two first basemen, two second basemen, two shortstops and four third suckers during the season. They didn't know from day to day who was playing which position, but that didn't make a bit of difference.

In the second game the Feds hurlers could not silence the bats of the Red Hats, and when the smoke had cleared the DeLand club had a 15 to 4 ball game in the bag. Big Cal Blanc and Jim Payne gave up 17 hits, among them were two base blows by Pavlich, Edwards, Rosa and Harrington and three base blows by Nash and Fuchs. There were no home runs in last night's games.

INSIDE SPORTS REPORT

By ARTHUR BECKWITH

Umpires Resign

According to information that we received yesterday the two Sanford men that were hired as arbiters in the Florida State League, Billy O'dham and Bill Ludwig, resigned their jobs effective Monday.

In a telephone conversation with Ludwig yesterday, we were informed that both Ludwig and O'dham had been to Daytona Beach and had a long chat with Florida State League President Ernest Paddett.

Ludwig stated: "I'm a business man and I don't like to take time away from my work to help the league out in times of difficulty until they could get a complete staff of regular umpires to work."

Bramham to Roign?

President Wattie Roign of the National Association of Professional Baseball said today that he plans to resign his post because of ill health according to Associated Press reports.

A publicist in Bramham's office in Durham, N. C., says he asked the diamond leader about the rumor. He says Bramham merely smiled and made no comment.

The job of minor league head pays a $25,000 annual salary. The President of the National Association directs the decisions of more than 40 minor leagues.

This is not an advice to the bivalve or a host to the housewife column. It is the true story of the latest news from the world of sports.

We saw the advice to fishermen about filleting fish in the Florida Game and Fish magazine and thought that some of you were taking it for what it is worth. Anyway here goes.

There are many fish that are highly edible but are so bony that many persons shun the pleasure of eating them. This difficulty is easily overcome by making holes in these fish, as one would do with hamster or bass. It is easy to do and all you need is a sharp knife and a little practice.

Remove the head, cut deep on each side of the dorsal fin and pull it out.

Then make a full length cut along each side of the backbone, leaving the spinal column intact. Then cut across the backbone in a zig-zag fashion, being careful not to cut through the spinal column.

Then lay the fish flat on its side. Take a sharp knife and make a series of diagonal cuts across the body, being careful not to cut through the spinal column.

Now lay the fish on its back and make a series of diagonal cuts across the body, being careful not to cut through the spinal column.

Now lay the fish on its side and make a series of diagonal cuts across the body, being careful not to cut through the spinal column.

Atomized Cities Still Forlorn As Rebuilding Slowly Starts

AP Newsfeatures

TOKYO—Hiroshima and Nagasaki, the cities where atomic bombs fell in dramatic finale to World War II, have accomplished little in the year since to rebuild from the ashes of desolation.

A considerable amount of cleaning up has been done under government auspices of the blast debris and fire wreckage, but this has left vast open areas in the center of the cities. Occasional concrete structures still stand and are being used for schools, municipal functions and government agencies.

Nature alone has made a good start at hiding the bareness with growth of grass and weeds. Trees swept bare of leaves and limbs in the fury of fission have pushed out anew.

Construction so far has been mostly of small wooden houses for temporary shelter.

The desolation of Hiroshima was determined when the air force fixed upon that city as the primary target for the first military atomic bomb, but nature played her destruc-tive role in sending destruction upon Nagasaki, too, and it has been disclosed by Pacific air commander officials here.

The primary target fixed for the second bombing was Kokura, at the northern tip of Kyushu, the site of four powder magazines.

Zines, a huge army arsenal and important iron, steel, machine, mechanical, automotive and railroad equipment plants.

The files of the atomic bomb operations tell the story of what happened in these words:

"On 9 August, 1945 a similar force (to the single plane which dropped the bomb on Hiroshima) set out for Kokura but, finding clouds prevented visual bombing, turned to Nagasaki, a secondary target and "completed its mission without loss to our forces." Nagasaki is on the west coast of Kyushu, about 100 miles from Kokura.

City Is Formally Handed Full Title To Naval Station

Plans Made By Sanford Officials To Utilize Facilities
Of $4,350,000 Plant

In a brief but impressive ceremony this morning at 10:00 o'clock, a large wooden key, symbolizing the Sanford Naval Air Station, was presented to Mayor H. James Gut by Capt. F. T. Ward, chief staff Naval Air Advanced Training, and control of the station which had been officially commissioned on Nov. 3, 1942, passed to the City of Sanford on a revocable permit.

On the platform in the flag banner where the presentation was made were Comdr. W. P. Niblett, head of Administration, Capt. W. C. Wingard, director of Public Relations, and Lieut. Comdr. G. H. Sigley, chief staff under Admiral Ralph Davison in his capacity as commander of Naval Air Stations in the Seventh Naval District. The group arrived exactly on time by plane.

Commander H. H. Wheeler, who has had command of the station since it was put on caretaker basis, opened the program before a small gathering. "We meet here today for the Navy to turn over this station to the City of Sanford." He declared that since Mar. 1, when the station was placed upon a caretaker basis, he had been working toward the transfer which "staged beyond the horizon" but due to progress through the co-operation of Mayor Gut, City Manager H. N. Sayer and Chamber of Commerce Manager Edward Higgins (all present on the platform) they had been able to achieve this goal.

He thanked the City for the use of the "tool, the use" of the USO and other facilities made available for personnel in the station. He outlined the condition of the revocable permit issued by the Bureau of Yards and Docks of the revocable permit issued by the City until such time as ultimate disposal is made by other government agencies. He introduced Capt. Ward, who came in place of Admiral Davison to make the presentation, due to the fact that the latter was unable to leave his duties in Washington, D. C.

Capt. Ward thanked the people of Sanford for the hospitality and "wonderful treatment" given to the citizens to the more than 4,500 men who had trained there. He pointed out that a modern airport is a "must" in a growing community and that it was only fitting that it be turned over to the City. He then presented the large key to Mayor Gut.

Capt. Ward, the acceptance of this key to the Sanford Naval Air Station is a source of great pleasure to me," reported Mayor Gut. He then briefly outlined the history of the airport from the time in September, 1940, when City officials conceived the idea of starting a flying school for the training of pilots followed by the purchase of 875 acres of land then came the application to WPA to build the flying field, certified in July, 1941, and plans for runway approved on Jan. 24, 1942. On May 1, the Navy took over and started construction on May 16. The Station was commissioned Nov. 3, 1942 by Admiral A. B. Cook.

He also stated that relations with Naval personnel had been cordial and that "We are very proud of the men who trained here."

"Yesterday was the anniversary of our victory in World War II," said Mayor Gut. "We hope in the years to come to use the splendid facilities of the station for the common good of the citizens," he added.

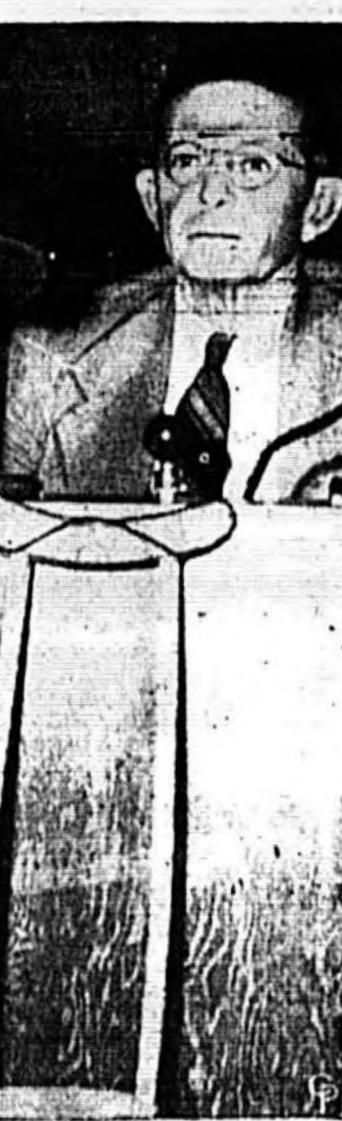

Commander Wheeler then read his dismission orders and thanked officers and men for helping him get the task of turning over the station to the City completed. He declared that he felt it a privilege to end his Naval career in the City of Sanford. "My friends and personal relations have been most pleasant," he asserted. He then introduced Lieut. Clarence Amos, NSN, who will be in command of the Naval facilities remaining in storage.

Lieut. Amos declared that it was a pleasure to find the station in good condition for which he thanks Comdr. Whistler, Naval and civilian personnel, and declared that all orders of his predecessor would remain in effect.

Col. E. R. Bradley, Famed Sportsman, Dies In Kentucky

LEXINGTON, Ky., Aug. 15 (AP)—A veteran sportsman whose horses won almost every major stake in America died today. He was Col. E. R. Bradley, known to sportsmen as the nation's premier turfman. Bradley died at his Idle Hour farm at Lexington. He was 86 years old.

The sportsman's horses have won four Kentucky derbies. Thoroughbred racing was his hobby, and his famed Idle hour farm was considered a model breeding establishment. Bradley had amassed a fortune in real estate and other investments, and from the income from an elaborate casino at Palm Beach, Fla. He had spent his winters at Palm Beach and his summers in New York and Maryland.

Bradley was born at Johnston, Pa. He left home as a young man to seek his fortune in the west. He had been a coal miner, a cowboy and a scout for General Nelson A. Miles during the war on the Apache Indians.

Fields Cited For Contempt By Group

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—

The House has made good its threat against contract broker Benjamin Fields. The Surplus Property Committee today cited the Washington promoter for contempt because he refused—for the fourth time—to produce records showing how he split profits from the sale of excess war goods.

Committee Chairman Roger Shaugnessy had warned yesterday that the contempt action would be forthcoming unless the elusively broker gave the representatives the information they wanted. Recalled to the stand today, Fields again refused—telling the legislators he had given them all the data he could find and that he's preparing a detailed record of his surplus property transactions as requested.

DEMPSEY'S MOTHER DIES

MURRAY, Utah, Aug. 16 (AP)—The mother of former heavyweight boxing champion Jack Dempsey, 67-year-old Mrs. Cecile Dempsey, died early today at her home in Murray. Death was attributed to her advanced age.

A city permit has been given to Edward King to construct a cement block dwelling on Orange Avenue between Eighth and Ninth Streets at a cost of $1,500.

Strike Threatens To Tie Up 360 Ships; Seaman Picket Big Great Lakes Ports

CHICAGO, Aug. 15 (AP)—Striking CIO maritime workers today are picketing at major ports of the Great Lakes in the first day of a walkout which threatens to tie up 360 vessels.

President of the National Maritime Union, Joseph Curran, said in Cleveland that the union's lake members number about 4,000 and another 1,000 were expected that between 1,000 and 6,000 other seamen would join the striking.

A union spokesman in Washington declared that his organization had modified its demands. He expected that originally the demands were for a 10-hour wage increase and preferential hiring, but that now the chief gains sought are a 14-hour week and maintenance of union membership. In Detroit, a representative of the Great Lakes Transport Company claimed the walkout was just an organizational strike which broke a contract which was to have run until Dec. 1.

Another CIO group, the electrical employees of the International Telephone and Telegraph Company, today walked out to enforce demands for a pay raise of 15 cents an hour and other benefits. The company announced its intention to continue operating in nations posted in plants at Albany, New York; Chicago; Canton; and East Moline, Ill.

Still another 10 union, the American Communications Association, is in the ninth day of its strike in New York against Radio Wireless, Inc. Both sides have rejected various proposals to settle the dispute which has hampered the flow of foreign messages.

Meanwhile, bakery strikes have continued to reduce the bread supply in Philadelphia and Chicago.

As these developments took place, top CIO officials met in Washington to chart a wage policy. The strategy conference was called as three big CIO unions talked of making new wage demands to make up for recent price boosts. These threats were made by the packing house workers who have been negotiating with Swift and Company, the executive board of the Ford local of the United Auto Workers, and the executive board of the CIO of all workers, which has been meeting at Fort Worth.
