The Seminole Chapter of the Future Farmers held their first meeting of the 1944-45 school year Tuesday night at the P. F. P. building.

The bi-yearly election of chapter officials took place with the following officers being elected:

President—R. H. Stenaland
Vice-President—Robert Green
Secretary—Jack Martin
Reporter—Julian Baumel
Advisor—Mr. R. Johnson

Seventeen members and twenty odd visitors attended the meeting, many of whom plan to become members of the local chapter.

Mr. Johnson demonstrated several games learned in the forestry camp this summer; and refreshments in the form of ice cream were enjoyed by all.

Ovidio Part Time Class Holds Its Regular Classes

R. F. Cooper, advisor for Ovidio Chapter of Future Farmers of America, states that his part time class has been very active for the past few weeks. This class is made up of boys who have dropped out of school or who are not attending school at the present time. They meet from 7:30 to 9:30 at night and the following boys are members of the class: Eugene Allen, Laddie Mariner, Jesse Adams, Edward Jordan, Jesse Lukaw, Johnny Kelsey, Deryl Brown, Arthur Hunter, F. Kelly, Richard Hadenhaugh, Eugene Austin and Clarence McCall.

For the first few meetings, Mr. Cooper had an experienced painter come in and explain mixing and applying paints, varnishes, stains, etc., as well as explaining the amount of paint needed to cover a given space. Each boy was allowed to paint a portion of the new Home Ec. Dept., as practice work. For some of the other meetings an experienced painter came in and explained how to hang doors properly.

Some of the boys wanted some instruction in Vocational Guidance and Fred R. Wilson accepted an invitation to speak to the boys on this as a vocation.

One evening was given to a recreation program.

Two of the part time boys helped Mr. Cooper build the new addition to the Home Economics Department. The experience that these boys have gotten through this class should prove very profitable in most of their present plans call for future meetings of the class from time to time throughout the year.

Many Changes Are Made In Library At Seminole High

With the opening of school, students of S. H. S. became aware of many changes throughout the school. Among these was in the library. Miss Long, the librarian of previous years, has now been succeeded by Miss Edna Chittenden, a former top-notch English instructor, and the library is now going through a process of re-organization.

More shelves are being constructed so as to enlarge the library. When these are finished the library will be rearranged. New books were ordered this week and everyone is looking forward to their arrival. The library also subscribes to a large number of well known magazines, among which are the American, National Geographic, Current History, Atlantic Monthly, and Readers Digest.

Many freshmen do not know how to use the library, therefore, an English class has visited the library and been instructed on the use of the catalogue and index, also the classification of the books.

New rules have also been put into effect. Some of the more important of these are: (1) A student owing a library fine will not be allowed to use the library. (2) Library fines may accumulate until they reach the price of the book. (3) All having library fines not paid by the end of the year will not receive final report cards, nor will they be issued text books at the beginning of the next school year. (4) Students must have a permit before they will be

Journalism Club At High School Prepares For Another Year's Work

For the second time in S. H. S. history, a club, still in its infancy, is being formed for the purpose of giving potential journalists practical experience in that line. When one looks at this page and realizes the work that is represented—gathering the material, typing the story, correcting the errors, retyping it and etc., one can appreciate the statement that the quality of the "experience" is fully exceeded by its quantity. The club meets on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Thursday for an hour each time. Every minute of this time must be utilized to the best advantage.

The purpose of the club is twofold: to give the readers of The Sanford Herald a better understanding of the school—its joys and its sorrows in sports and activities of various types, and to give it in the words of a student written by a student. Naturally some of the material, particularly that of freshmen, because of their inexperience, sometimes has to be gone over by one of the other members, but usually an assignment is written entirely by the one to whom it was assigned.

Last year the club was limited to fifteen members, but this year the membership has been extended to twenty-five. The election of officers for the coming year was held last Monday with these results:
President—Mary Martha Emerick
Vice President—Edward Marshall
Secretary—Susan Kirtley.

Home Economics Classes Receive Varied Training

The year's Home Economics classes are falling in with the modern situation. In case America becomes embroiled in the European war, these girls will be helping in their country's struggle by showing the utmost thrift. As a small item in this line, they will help with the soap which they are learning to make in the classes.

A small saving, perhaps you say. But I wonder to how much more it will amount than a saving of a few pennies when the time of rationing comes. It will mean the difference between the clean, sanitary America of today and the America that might be if soap were rationed as it is in certain countries of Europe.

The Home Economic classes are also learning that "personality" is more important than "grooming." Points of a good personality are emphasized, which includes cleanliness and good grooming.

The grooming teaches the care of the clothes, hair and body.

The second year students are studying "Art in Everyday Life." This includes manners, beauty in personality, and costume design.

Especially emphasized in both Economic classes is the need for a good personality, since success as women depends greatly upon personality.

High School Art Classes Formed

Art classes have recently been organized at Seminole High School. The teacher, Mrs. Mildred Babcock, will direct the classes every Monday.

This course is a school project and is offered, free of charge, to all students interested in the study of art. Throughout the year landscaping, portrait drawing and designing will be taken up. A student may specialize in any one of these or take the general course, consisting of a little of all phases of art.

Students Should On Campus At S.

The pupils of S. H. S. should not be like little children but ways going where they do not belong. They should stay in their own big school yard instead of taking up the sidewalks which are meant for the streets and those who need to walk in the streets. There is plenty of room in the school yard and the sidewalks. Many questions were asked by some students to get off the street. We should show respect by obeying traffic laws in the streets surrounding the building.

The S. H. S. students should also be grateful to Mr. James Moughton, who has cut the path way on the streets leading to the school. This improves the appearance of the school very much.

FBI Agent Speaks At Special High School Assembly

The student body of Seminole High School enjoyed a special Monday afternoon at a special assembly in the auditorium. Mr. Charles Morrison, manager of the Ritz Theater, introduced the speaker, Mr. John W. Vincent, Federal Bureau of Investigation Agent from Miami.

Mr. Vincent delivered a splendid speech. He related the story of two vicious criminals, Bob Stone and his partner in crime, and how they were finally apprehended when the case was assigned to the F. B. I. He also stated the qualifications of a G-Man and commented upon the adventures work in the organization.

At the conclusion of his interesting speech Mr. Vincent asked if any of the students had any questions that they wanted him to answer in regard to the F. B. I. and the capture of the two criminals about whom he had talked. Many questions were asked by a Freshman who wanted to know if he carried a gun. Hilarious laughter resounded throughout the auditorium as Mr. Vincent replied "I was under the impression that I was talking to High School students."

Mr. Vincent gave a big hand at the conclusion of his speech and the student body was dismissed.

CHUMPS

In an editorial captioned "Calling All Chumps," the Miami Herald warns Americans against propaganda from the war countries, particularly atrocity stories, and winds up with the following advice: "When we come upon these horror changes let's use that most expressive bit of Americana—'Oh yeah!' If we must again be chumps let's not be the same variety we were in 1917. Remember 1917? That was the year we saved the world for democracy. Oh yeah? Yeah! That was the year we went to war to make the world safe for democracy, including this one. And at 11 o'clock on the morning of Nov. 11 the following year we had done it. At the hour no power on earth existed as a threat to the world's democracies, particularly our own. A magnificent job of work—largely American work—had made this country absolutely safe from aggression. As of Nov. 11, 1918, under conditions we had contributed so mightily to create, the peril of war to the United States had been completely removed because there was not in the whole world a single nation capable of making war upon us. Were we chumps for doing that? Were we chumps for bringing peace to the world and firing it so that whatever motive might remain there was no ability left to violate that peace? No, the chumps were those who proceeded promptly to destroy the conditions which brought that about. They did it by allowing a force to build up which could again plunge the world into war and now we have a war of their own making. Surely no one in his right mind believes that armies would be marching in Europe today if Germany had not been permitted to arm and grow strong in violation of the terms of the Armistice and the treaty of Versailles. Among the chumps who let that happen must be included the United States. After suppressing disorderly international conduct which we had put down for our own protection, we turned our backs and let the war start over again. If as a result we stand in peril of war today we have mostly ourselves to blame. We were the first to pull out. We brought our army of occupation home from the Rhine where it was left as part of an international force to see that Germany didn't renew the war. Following our example England pulled out. Deserted by her allies and berated as a Simon Legree, France finally withdrew though against her better judgment. Then Hitler shortly moved in and from that day dates the sequence of events which brought war to the world. Atrocious stories did not get us into the last war, nor did the 'international bankers' as post-war propaganda alleged. We are funds without interest are authorized to be made by the federal government provided such employers pay their State unemployment contributions before Oct. 9. Delinquent employers in Florida who do not pay up before Oct. 9 will be required to pay the total tax for the period in which they are delinquent to the federal government in addition to the amount due the State. Thus employers who owe for 1937 and fail to make payment before Oct. 9 must then pay State contributions of 1.8 per cent and federal unemployment taxes of 2 per cent and for 1938 pay 2.7 per cent and 3 per cent respectively. The amendments, also, grant relief to those employers who in the past paid their State unemployment contributions to a local board and were required to pay the full tax to the federal government in addition to the amount paid the State. Upon receipt of proper application by the office of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, refunds without interest are authorized. Applications must be filed in accordance with applicable Federal regulations of limitations and forms regulations. Letters of request should be addressed to employers who have paid the full federal unemployment tax for all or any part of the year have not been billed to pay the full State unemployment contribution. When your son or daughter is away at school, does your guiding influence remain at home?

As boys and girls leave for schools and colleges, home is made lonely and the young people face homesickness and separation from the guiding influence of home. The affectionate, sympathetic understanding present in home life is difficult to maintain in letters, but by telephone, ties can be kept alive and telephone visits at regular intervals with children away at school are as lifelines through the children's world. They'll be happier, and do better work. And what a joy those impulsive voice-visit will be to you. The best plan is to arrange for your boy or girl to call home "collect" at regular intervals at a particular time. Then by using Station-to-Station service after 7 P. M. or at any time on Sundays, you can talk 100 miles for 35c, 200 miles, 60c, and greater distances at correspondingly low cost.

If pearls have to stand a little while when you're canning them, it's best to keep them covered in salt water so they won't darken. Use two table-spoons of salt to a gallon of water. To help keep pearls used in appetizers, salads or desserts from darkening, sprinkle them with a little orange, lemon, lime or grapefruit juice as soon as peeled and store in a cold place.

Should U. S. Repeal Embargo On Arms To War-Torn Europe?

Yes! Remove Bans To Strengthen Neutrality—Senator Thomas

By ELBERT D. THOMAS
 The President has called a special session of Congress, and he has told the public exactly what he has called it for. He has made recommendations for modification of the present so-called neutrality act.

In the first place, since there is a major war in Europe, we have noted that the declaration of America's neutrality came not as a result of the Neutrality Act of 1937 but as a result of the law of nations and the law of war. There are domestic statutes and American custom beginning with Washington's first proclamation of neutrality.

After the President had issued a proclamation of neutrality, it was necessary for him to issue the Neutrality Act of 1937. The act was a second proclamation of neutrality.

It is the opinion of the author that the President should issue a third proclamation of neutrality, which should be the basis for a new neutrality act.

There is now as the result of the two proclamations any doubt that the primary objective of the American nation would be to remain neutral, and by remaining neutral, we should keep out of active participation in war. This makes it possible for America to be allowed all freedom of action as long as she remains within the realm of international law and other her actions in regard to domestic law definitely in the domestic field.

When the present neutrality act is amended, the following things should be done:

1. The Munitions Control Board should remain such as it is, except as it may be amended in order to meet the new conditions.
2. The practice of issuing loans for war purposes should be prohibited.
3. American ships should be prohibited from carrying arms to belligerent nations.
4. The practice of issuing loans for war purposes should be prohibited.

NO! 'It's Eastern Road To Western Front,' Warns Senator Nye

By GERALD P. NYE
 Repeal of the arms embargo is nothing more, nothing less, than the Eastern road to the Western Front.

If only people would learn and know and remember the lessons of the last 20 years, there would be immediate action to maintain why there should be strict neutrality in any sense today.

People are asking: What will happen when there is no embargo? The answer is: We will be in a position to buy arms from the enemy and sell them to the enemy.

It is the opinion of the author that the President should issue a third proclamation of neutrality, which should be the basis for a new neutrality act.

Compensation Taxes Aid State Revenue

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Compensation taxes were shown today to be responsible for an increase of $100,000,000 in state revenue in 1937, the Census Bureau announced today.

The increase was due to the fact that the states have been able to collect more from these taxes than they have in the past.

The Census Bureau reported that the total amount of compensation taxes collected in 1937 was $1,000,000,000, an increase of 10% over 1936.
