ATHLETIC FIELD COMPLETED AND READY FOR USE

City Manager States Field is in Final Shape and Everything But the Grandstand Com- pleted—Will Be Finished Soon

The new municipal athletic field which was provided for in a recent bond issue of this city is completed except for the grandstand which is rapidly being built. It has been learned from City Manager W. B. Williams.

Work on the field itself and the new baseball diamond has just been completed and they are in good shape, he said. The field has been so that it will be an ideal place for any kind of athletic game or celebrations of any sort. Mr. Williams explained, because of the fact that it may quickly be drained after even very hard rains and in dry weather it may be irrigated from flowing sulphur water wells as are the farms in that vicinity.

It has been said there is probably not another athletic field in Florida that can compete with this one in drainage facilities. Where other fields will be sloppy and extremely dry during rainy seasons, it has been pointed out that the local field will not be hampered by this difficulty. On the other hand water running from the wells through the field will keep it from being extremely dry in the dry season.

The field, which comprises about 15 acres, is well fenced in and is ready for use. Grass has been planted and the baseball diamond rounded out with clay. The grandstand will in all probability not be completed for about 30 days although the field is now ready for use, it was learned. The grandstand, which is built on the southwest corner of the field, will have a seating capacity of about 1,000, stated Architect E. J. Moughton today. It will have a tier of section on the east side which will be reserved for negroes, he said.

In conclusion the architect said that plans for bleachers also have been drawn and that if money is left over after the grandstand is finished they will be erected.

The bond issue provided for $30,000 to be expended on the field and its equipment of which about half was spent for the land and the other half is being spent for its preparation and for the equipment, Mr. Williams said.

Knoxville Preacher Says Was Framed For Enforcing Law

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 12.—Asserting that he had been warned that he was being "framed" for his law enforcement activities, the Rev. C. W. Gant, charged with the murder of Anderson Green in a meeting with the officers and alleged gun men, denied when he took the stand at his trial in federal court here last Friday that he fired the shots that killed Green.

His testimony was corroborated by Deputy Prohibition Agent W. O. Hill, who himself declared that he followed Green when the latter ran and fired three shots at him when he turned toward his pursuer with a pistol in his hand. Rev. Gant, Hill testified, tried to stop Green's companion, who likewise fled.

CONDITIONS OF BUSINESS SHOW READJUSTMENT

Decreases Seen in Industrial and Trade Activities Over Entire Country According to Regular Report of Fed- eral Reserve Board Showing ing Large Readjustments of Business Conditions Are Now Well Under Way

WASHINGTON, July 12.—An important readjustment of business conditions characterized by decreases in industrial and trade activity and lower prices was declared by the federal reserve board late Friday night to be under way throughout the United States.

The board called attention to reduced earnings by industrial workers with a consequent curtailment in their buying power and sharp decreases in production. The lowered prices have carried to every commodity excepting food which remains almost unchanged.

"The considerable expansion of production during the early months of 1924," the board said, "was followed by important curtailment in certain industries, in response to a lessened volume of current purchases and a hesitancy on the part of manufacturers in placing forward orders. In fact, there has been in recent months a larger decrease in production of certain commodities than in their current consumption, and in consequence stocks of these commodities have been reduced."

Decreased Credit Demand

"The recession in business since April by a decreased demand for credit for commercial purposes, and this, together with the continued inflow of gold imports, has brought about an unusual ease in the money market. This decrease in the volume of commercial borrowings, however, has been less than the additional purchases of last years by commercial banks so that the total of member-bank credit in use is not only larger than at the beginning of the year but larger than in any previous period."

In connection with the credit situation, the board said that the earning assets of the twenty-four national reserve banks was lower at the beginning of this month than at any time for six years. They were approximately $225,000,000 below the figure of the same date last year. The declines in earning assets have been general in all banks, but have been particularly large in the New York bank.

Virtually all important industries showed decreased employment in the last two months as compared with a year ago. The largest reductions in pay rolls were reported in the automobile, iron and steel and women's clothing business.

Reduced Earnings

The reduced earnings of factory and industrial workers were reflected in smaller department store sales. Mail order houses also showed smaller movements from their shelves during May and early June.

Prices of commodities at wholesale dropped more than a full one per cent average in May, and a greater drop appeared in prospect for June, complete figures for which are not yet available. The general level of prices for a group of foodstuffs was six per cent below the level of May, 1923.

Compared with a year ago, the report added, the sharpest price decreases were in building materials, house furnishings and metals. Prices of farm commodities and foods, which did not advance in early 1923, were most other groups showed increases suffered much smaller declines.

Hillsborough Sheriff to Investigate Suicide

TAMPA, July 12.—Sheriff Spencer announced today he will investigate the suicide of the death of Doyle S. Blumie, killed last night, but declared by police to be a suicide. Blumie, 30 years old, and a well known aviator, shot himself twice in the head, according to stories of his wife and mother-in-law, who told the police they struggled to prevent him taking his life. The sheriff asserts direction taken by bullets and location of powder marks justified an investigation.

Former Governor Of South Carolina Is On Trial Again

ALLENDALE, S. C., July 12.—Standing in the prisoner's dock by demand of the prosecution and by the protest of his own counsel, Dilson G. Harvey, former governor of South Carolina, pleaded guilty Friday when he went on trial for a second time on charges of violating the state banking laws in connection with the failure of the Enterprise Bank of Charleston, of which he was president.

The former chief executive stood with arms folded while the court clerk read the indictment charging him with accepting various deposits after he knew the bank to be insolvent. His countenance showed no change when Judge J. Henry Johnson upheld the demand of Solicitor Randolph Murdaugh that defendant take his place in the dock for arraignment.

Edgar A. Brown, of defense counsel, protested vigorously, declaring that it was an unheard of procedure for a defendant in this kind of action to be compelled to enter the dock. He was told by Judge Johnson that he could not get an exception to the ruling if he desired.

The selection of a jury was completed Friday within a short time after the case was called. Testimony of W. W. Bradley, state bank examiner, consumed practically all the morning session. The examiner, referring to the records of his office, traced the decline of the Enterprise Bank until November 6, 1923, when it was finally closed.

McAdoo Pledges His Support To Nominee In Coming Campaign

GERMANY VOICES PROTEST AGAINST PROPOSED ACTION

London, July 12.—Premier MacDonald is struggling with two new difficulties that have arisen as a result of his trip to Paris, and the joint note issued by Premier Herriot and himself.

A strongly worded appeal from Berlin has been received by the British, and probably transmitted today to Washington as well, in which Chancellor Marx explains his government will be placed in an impossible position if Germany is not entitled to a voice at the conference, which is to settle the details of the application of the Dawes report.

Germany, in this note, also invokes the ART, originally put forward in the British notes to the allies, but now abandoned, that the Dawes scheme lies outside the treaty of Versailles, and hence must be agreed to by Germany—not imposed on her.

London Bankers' Stand

But of more importance than the protests of Germany, is the attitude of the leading London bankers towards the international loan to Germany, which is the foundation of the Dawes plan. Mr. MacDonald has been informed that the British banks will not raise their quota of the German loan upon the basis envisaged in the MacDonald-Herriot joint note.

British finance is solidly behind the Dawes report itself and demands the whole report, and nothing but the report. The premier has been told that if the loan is to succeed, there must be no "controls" besides those devised by the Dawes committee, and no attempt by isolated allies to seize or continue to hold special pledges which the report indicates must be given up.

Briefly, the banks have served notice on Mr. MacDonald that the London conference will fall, so unless an agreement is reached making isolated action by one or two of the allies of an economic character against Germany an impossibility.

No More Ruhr

In other words, there must be no more Ruhr, and the French must bind themselves in advance to this effect.

These warnings, I learn, have had a profound effect in the quarters, for they emanate from the same quarters which, just as the Russian-British conference assembled here, issued a statement laying down the conditions upon which Russia would be able to get loans, a statement that has prevented, and will continue to prevent, any serious outcome of the Anglo-Russian meeting.

Agent Is Indicted For 2nd Degree Murder

TAMPA, July 12.—Quincy W. Nelson, special agent for the Atlantic Coast Line, was indicted yesterday by a grand jury on second degree murder charge in connection with the shooting to death a fortnight ago of Marcelino Alvarez, a taxicab driver. The shooting followed an altercation on a street corner. The witnesses testified Nelson was intoxicated. Nelson contends he shot in self-defense after Alvarez had thrown bricks at him.

Convict Escapes For Second Time In Year

TALLAHASSEE, July 12.—Walter Reeves, age 33, who recently returned from California after having escaped and had been at liberty more than a year, has escaped from the state road camp near Cottondale, it became known yesterday. Reeves, originally from New York City, was sent up from Putnam county in March of last year for three years on a charge of grand larceny.

TWO QUIET DAYS AT LOCUST GROVE FOR JNO. W. DAVIS

NEW YORK, July 12.—John W. Davis is to spend today and Sunday at his home at Locust Valley, L. I. Sunday afternoon he will try, as he expressed it, to scrape through eighteen holes of golf under a hundred at the nearby links of the Piping Rock Club.

Mr. Davis lives on six rolling acres of Long Island, landscaped by their former owner, A. C. Bedford, of the Standard Oil Company. Beside the vast and pretentious estates of his neighbors, such as those of George D. and H. I. Pratt, of the Standard Oil Company, who own nearly a thousand acres, the home of the man who was ambassador to Great Britain appears simple, solid and comfortable.

A winding roadway leads up through gray-tipped pines past a garage and ample flower garden, to a shingled house, stained brown. There are a hundred twins of this house outside every large city in the United States.

At 8 o'clock Friday morning, beside the leaded glass French windows of the dining room, Mr. Davis was having breakfast with his wife, her sister, Mrs. Philemon M. Watson, of Indianapolis, and his own sister, Miss Emma Davis, who still lives in his old home in Clarkburg, W. Va.

Beyond the dining room is the living room, distinguished only by an oil portrait of Mr. Davis. All trophies of Mr. Davis' distinguished career, loving cups, gift statuary, and presentation clocks, which every public man inevitably collects, were missing. It is a pleasantly lighted room, filled with comfortable chairs and tables strewn with magazines.

Immediately after breakfast, Mr. Davis went for a walk in his garden, accompanied by "Doty," instead as she calls herself, aged four and a half, daughter of the gardener, and the only person in Locust Valley who didn't feel both that something tremendously important had happened and uncertain what to do about it.

The garden was solidly behind for the Democratic candidate to the extent of a dozen blooming rose bushes. The lawn, closely cut, was shut in on all sides by the trees of neighboring estates. Mr. Davis, bareheaded and in a loose blue suit with a thin white stripe, showed himself at least enough of a dirt farmer to decide what dirt should be placed around the roots of the rest of the rose bushes.

His automobile was waiting. Mr. Davis said goodbye to "Doty," and said farewell to the garden and started for New York for his second day's grid as a candidate.

Police Department Fines Total $14,092 In Past Six Months

A total of 148 arrests were made by the local police force during the month of June and receipts from estrated bonds and fines and costs in the municipal court amounted to $1,819, according to the report of Chief of Police Roy G. Williams for that month, which was filed at the city clerk's office Friday.

Comparison of this report with the report for May shows a considerable decrease in the total receipts but only three less arrests than during the month of May. The total number of arrests for this year up to June 30 is 898.

While in May there were 24 arrests for the sale or possession of intoxicants, in June there were only five. This is a considerable drop in the number of violations of this sort as the figures indicate.

In Statement Issued Today California Declares In Favor Democratic Ticket

McAdoo Confident Of Davis' Ability

Wm. Ladd Rockwell Also Pledges Hearty Support Of Davis

NEW YORK, July 12.—Wm. G. McAdoo, in a statement issued today, said he would give John W. Davis his cordial support and take part in the campaign.

"I am satisfied that Mr. Davis is in full accord with the progressive program outlined in the Democratic platform," said Mr. McAdoo. "I am confident that, as president, he would faithfully execute the party's mandate."

Referring to a criticism from some quarters against Mr. Davis because of his connections with certain interests as a lawyer, Mr. McAdoo said Mr. Davis' high character, integrity and services should satisfy every apprehension of this sort.

"If I did not believe this, continued Mr. McAdoo, I could never render aid because I have always believed that the interests of the people should never be subordinated to a merely selfish partisanship."

Declaring that "no candidate ever had a clearer title to a nomination than John W. Davis," Wm. Ladd Rockwell, national campaign manager for Mr. Davis, said last night that Mr. Davis and his family were the recipients of enthusiastic support in the forthcoming campaign.

Mr. Rockwell's letter to Mr. Davis said:

"Please accept my warmest congratulations upon your nomination. Your record as a citizen, lawyer and public official is so splendid that our party is assured a leadership of the highest order, and when you are elected president one so admirably equipped is bound to make a record that all America may well be proud of."

"I want to take this occasion to assure you of my enthusiastic support and to wish you the success that I know will be yours."

Mr. Rockwell's letter to Mr. Bryan expressed similar sentiments. In an interview while he was dictating these letters, Mr. Rockwell told newspaper men his official relations with Mr. McAdoo had "ceased the moment Mr. Davis was nominated."

Mr. Rockwell said that, although he did not know what would be Mr. McAdoo's attitude in the coming campaign, it was impossible for him to think of Mr. McAdoo bolting the party, as it has been reported he contemplated.

Before leaving late last night for what he hoped would be a quiet week-end at his country home at Locust Valley, Long Island, John W. Davis, Democratic nominee for president, put in a busy day, receiving a continuous procession of callers, among them William G. McAdoo, Governor Smith and Coddell Hull, chairman of the Democratic national committee.

After an hour's conference with Mr. Davis, Mr. McAdoo said he had called simply to pay his respects to the nominee, whom he had known for many years. When asked whether he would support Davis and Bryan the California replied:

SIDELIGHTS OF KIWANIS FRACAS

By SCHELLE MAINES

Dad Dumas is proud of his bunch, and had to wear a farmer's hat to keep from grinning all over his head. He likes this victory stuff.

Somebody should page Mathews' pants. That boy had a "rip" snoring time with his britches.

Fact is he should have the home run prize, because his britches caused him to run home. This baseball is hard on a fellow's clothes.

Those white overalls made the band look like it had painter's collars and a lady remarked that it sounded as much.

Sound, well that is all the band expected to do. Tunes were outlawed by the umpires.

Maines could afford to have red stripes sewed on his britches legs, it don't take much ribbon, you see.

With Marshall it's different. He don't like stripes no how.

With those kind of hats, and them kind of streamers Orlando presented an imposing appearance, Mexican as it were.

Ted Kissam wore his streamer to the banquet, trying to look like a hula hula girl, Hurlbert followed suit.

Doc Edwards operated on one of the balls yesterday, and put it to sleep in center.

McCall and Overlin made a splendid battery—but Orlando don't think so.

Lane will take a harvesting machine out in right next time he plays—says a wash basket is too small.

McCall and Kissam matched themselves with a three bagger each—Home runs were not allowed. No ground rule, but the pitchers did not offer any such and such, you understand.

Riva is there with the close eye, and Mathews from the Orange town was there with the bally-boosing, just like professional stuff.

Birdie and Hurlbert pulled off a round of wrestling on third base. Birdie lost OUT.

Doc Marshall, well he is just a soloist in all that the term would seem to imply. Listen for his music.

Mathews says Orlando will beat Sanford if it takes ninety-nine tries, and some one replied "make it by acclamation on the 103rd game."

Rain threatened but Fort's musicians played "It ain't going to rain no more" and the weather man believed it.

Two Kiwanis Clubs Stage Big Banquet Here Last Night

to "throw" the game in some manner. Just what he meant was never made clear. However, Mr. Maines, equal to the occasion, filed an objection to the charge and was duly recognized by Hisszoner, the chair, and forthwith he gave an example of senatorial oratory that would have caused even the Pantheon walls to reverberate with the euphonious echoes of his voice.

Mr. Maines declared that there had never been any attempt to bribe the umpire, but for the sake of "Auld Lang Syne" and others present, the official was implored to give more consideration to his form of dress. This was done on the grounds that he had failed to come out to the grand entrance in the proper habits. Later in an interview Mr. Maines declared that to wear semi-evening clothes to a ball game even by an umpire is prohibited under the Pure Food and Drugs Act of 1906. The outcome of this whole affair was that Dr. Edwards through his attorney, Mr. Maines, filed suit against Mr. Frazier for causing him "mental anguish."

Others to speak were Loyd C. Bebout, who received ovation after ovation, Ted Kissam, the Orlando pitcher who has become favorably impressed with Sanford's fair sex, Bill Hurlbert, the visitor's first baseman, Mathews their catcher, and R. H. Berg.

Perhaps the most pathetic part of the program was the rendition of that piece entitled "The Bath-tub Mule," by W. S. Entminger, of Longwood, who declared that his city was proud of its largest suburb, Sanford. This number was received with cries of "more" but the mere was not forthcoming. Another louching number was "Dago Bill," in a characteristic "Dago Bill" style Bob Herndon, told of his troubles selling "the bassan" and how to shine apples according to Hoyle.

Mrs. L. C. Bebout sang two selections which were greatly enjoyed. Little Maxine Brockhahn gave a dancing skit, which drew much applause from the gathering. Both of these numbers were well liked. Some considerable space was devoted to the activities of "Fort's Band Extraordinary," a musical organization, in existence since time immemorial and alleged to have led "Coxey's Army" to Washington once upon a time, performed last night as it never performed before. This gathering was a real treat, including many of the best of the city, including Gillon, Maines and Bebout, and the rest of the evening. The time number rendered was "Cool Chilly" for which the band received a rousing applause.

Mississippi Dry Agent Is Shot To Death Thursday

MERIDIAN, Miss., July 11.—Prohibition Agent D. S. Cleveland was shot to death and Sheriff N. E. Cannady narrowly escaped injury Thursday in a battle with alleged moonshiners eight miles from this city, according to word received at the sheriff's office.

Details of the affair were not available here but a posse with bloodhounds has gone to the scene. Cleveland, a former Meridian policeman, was 48 years old. He was regarded as one of the most active dry enforcement officers in the state.

Posse Seek Two Posses tonight were continuing the search for Ed, Ben and Clyde Pickett, brothers, wanted in connection with the killing of D. S. Cleveland, prohibition agent, at a whiskey still, alleged to have been operated by them eight miles from here.

Cleveland, a former Meridian policeman, and Sheriff N. E. Cannady, engaged in a pitched battle with the alleged moonshiners when the officers attempted to raid the still. Cleveland was shot with a load of buckshot, nine of the missiles entering his head and upper part of the body. Before dying, he fired until his pistol was empty.

Sheriff Cannady was uninjured. The three men disappeared in a dense undergrowth, mounted horses and went to their homes, leaving there in automobiles, the officers said. State Prohibition Commissioner Dalley, accompanied by a detail of his assistants, is expected to arrive from Jackson tomorrow morning to assist in the hunt for the men.

Twenty reasons, why Orlando was substantially beaten yesterday afternoon, follows: Bebout, Overlin, Steele, Meriwether, McCall, Byrd, Hutchinson, Berg, Mathews, Gardiner, Lane—ALL PLAYERS of Base Ball

Hert Fort, Doc Marshall, Sherm Lloyd, Schelle Maines, John Gillon, J. G. Michael, A. Raffald, Sam Baumel—All players of Music.

Birdie Bebout had his horse in the bath tub, and wanted to take it, a ban ball that is his excuse for holding out on the truck.

Any old alibi is better than none. Steele, true to form as well as name, gets the prize for stealing the first sack.

Palmer takes the cake for being an originally dressed rimpire.

The gun that he packed was not necessary for the visiting bunch was lacking in pep as well as base ball playing.

Fort has a patent for a drum stick.

Sherm Lloyd, wasn't the band director, but he lead in the music.

Orlando's bazzoo players had all played out before the eats were announced. Not a note was given, when their turn came.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., July 11.—Miss Pauline Hessler, who graduated from the high school at Hughesville near here this year, traveled more than 4,500 miles on horseback during the four years of her school course, she estimated, having ridden a pony from her home to school and back each day.

Last year Miss Hessler rode 1,600 miles from the time school opened until commencement. She declared the exercise "brushed the dust" from her brain and made her able to think and work better.

Sanford: Berg breezes, Matthews walks, Bebout fans. Overlin makes first on fielders choice but Matthews plows up ground all over second base, tears his britches and bolts it for home—he is out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Asher out, Bebout to Berg, Matthews out McCall to Berg, while Hurlbert breezes. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Sanford: Steele takes a lambast from Kissam and is given first, steals second, Meriwether singles over third, steals second, pinching Steele on third, McCall fans, Byrd files out to center, but Steele scores on the throw in, while Meriwether is caught at home base on same play. One run, one hit, no errors.

Kissam matches McCall with a three sacker, and deliberately steals home. Douglass out Hutch to Berg, White files to left, Phillips singles with a roller through pitcher's box, steals second and third, and Jinkins fans. One run, two hits, no errors.

Hutchinson and Berg place, Gardiner taking Matthews place, doubles to center, Bebout walks, and Overlin goes out pitcher to third. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Michael gets on when Overlin misses third strike, Asher singles to center, Michael taking third, Asher steals second, Matthews safe when McCall tags Michaels between third and home, Hurlbert is hurt by McCall and shoves Matthews over to second and Asher to third, Kissam whiffs, and Edwards taking Douglass' turn goes out Bebout to Herald. No runs, one hit, one error.

Sanford: Steele singles to right, pilfers second, Meriwether singles to third, and while umpire is asleep Steele takes third, but is denied the honor by being called out, Meriwether succeeds in taking second, McCall just walks out on third strike, called, Byrd pops to left. Two hits no runs, no errors.

Sixth Inning White is out McCall to Berg, Phillips singles, Jinkins singles, placing White on second, Michaels singles, filling bases. Asher rolls one to Birdie who picks it up and loves it for a few minutes, finally throwing to McCall, while Phillips is strolling home. (This was called a feature play by some misguided fan.) The bases yet full, Matthews sirt on fielders choice when takes jinking out at home, Overlin throwing to first who drops it, and in some way Gardiner recovers in time to play back to Overlin, who plays to Steele catching Asher, and the drive is over. One run, three hits, one error.

Sanford: Hutchinson fans, Berg singles over third, Gardiner singles to center, Bebout walks filling bases, Overlin safe on a roller to pitcher who chases Berg at base.

Prime Minister Of England Explains Herriot Confab

Whether Owen D. Young, the American delegate, could be given authority by President Coolidge to act, without senatorial sanction, if such a course was decided upon, would first be passed upon by the solicitor of the state department, and possibly, by other governmental legal advisers, it was said. That he serve as a special arbitrator in a strictly limited capacity was one solution seen by some observers. The state department was still without direct reports of the agreement and comment was withheld. Reiterating the earnest desire of this government to co-operate in expediting any plan for early execution of the Dawes program, some officials maintained their disbelief that the "American delegate could be given a "full vote" in the reparations committee without seriously affecting the informal status he has been ordered to rigorously hold.

Reroof this time for all time. Genasco Latite Shingles are not only weather-safe, fire-safe and economical in cost, but they last for years with little or no cost for repairs. That's because they are made of tough, long-fibered felt sandwiched between thick layers of Trinidad Lake Asphalt Cement—a product of the ages. Equally important—you can lay them tight over your old worn-out wooden shingles just as easily as over new boards. No ripping off of the old roof—no taking risks of damage by sudden storm. Genasco Latite Shingles are locked tightly together—clamped firmly to your roof. No curling—no flapping in the wind. Made in three natural, unfading colors—red, green and blue-black. Come in and let us show you these wonderful shingles.

When the delegates assembled this noon to vote for a nominee they were still sleepy from their last night session which lasted until one o'clock this morning. Perhaps they had a lot to do toward their action. If they stay in session all of tonight perhaps tomorrow there will be a vice-presidential candidate.

Let's make Sanford's Sunday schools as famous as her celery. This is the slogan in a campaign which has begun in an effort to increase the Sunday school attendance in this city. According to an estimate by Dr. King of the Baptist Church, there are four thousand persons in Sanford.

For Larger Sunday Schools

Sanford has a right to be proud of its churches. They are institutions accomplishing great things. Without them no city could prosper and grow. There is no doubt as to the value of the churches to this city, or to any city for that matter.

We take great pride in our well kept and prosperous farms surrounding the city. We note the rapidly increasing number of beautiful homes. We point out the fact that this is a railroad center. We talk a great deal about the future of our city and think of the great progress being made. But sometimes we forget about the important and far reaching work of the Sunday schools and churches of the community.

Any city's greatest asset is its boys and girls who are rapidly becoming citizens. The first obligation of any city is to its citizens. In looking after the training and development of the lives of its boys and girls the churches and the schools are doing an important work.

It is needless to ask what institutions furnish the greater amount of material for the building of moral fiber. Every person knows of the work done by the Sunday schools and the churches in giving proper instruction to the younger life.

A campaign has been begun to make the Sunday Schools of Sanford larger and greater, not so much for the sake of numbers as for the sake of making the city greater in things worth while. This campaign will have the support of the men and of the women interested in the welfare of the community. It should have the co-operation and backing of every commercial club, fraternal order and civic organization in order that the best results might be obtained.

The slogan of the campaign is a good one. The idea is a good one. The campaign should be a successful one.

This America Of Ours

Much good use is being made of that speech by Peter O. Knight before an important convention of business men held in New Orleans the first of this month.

The Tampa man set forth the picture of America's business conditions as it is today. And if any among his audience had been wearing blue goggles when he began to talk, they must have seen the blue give way to rose and gold long before he had concluded his address.

Perhaps there are pessimists here in Sanford who need to have the color of their outlook changed. It would be difficult, indeed, for any of us to feel very gloomy over the prosperity signs in these United States, after reading Mr. Knight's quite moderate estimate of the situation as it is.

"On the Fourth of July, 1776," said Mr. Knight, "the United States of America was born; and in less than a century and a half it has grown to be the giant of the earth, the banker of the world, with one hundred and twelve million people, a national wealth of three hundred billion dollars; and no class or group controls the financial welfare of our citizens."

"We have grown so great," he continued, "that we have one city that has more population and wealth than Norway and Sweden or Scotland or Ireland or Holland or Belgium or Denmark or Switzerland or Cuba before the war."

"In 1894, when I organized the Exchange National Bank of Tampa, the largest bank in the United States had what seemed to be the stupendous sum of thirty millions of deposits. Now, in New York we have the National City Bank with over seven hundred and forty million dollars of deposits. The banks of New York City have deposits of more than five billion dollars, more than twice the deposits of all the banks in the United States in 1890. And today the total deposits of all the banks amount to thirty-seven billion dollars, with forty-four billion of banking resources."

"The steam railroad mileage has increased from 53,000 miles in 1870 to 290,000 miles in 1924. The gross revenues of the railroads in 1915 were two billion, eight hundred and seventy-one million dollars. The gross revenues in 1923 were in excess of six and a half billion dollars."

"The wages paid to the employees of the railroads today amount to approximately two billion, eight hundred million dollars, equal to the gross receipts of the railroads in 1915."

"Since 1870 the value of farm animals has increased from one billion, five hundred millions, to nearly ten billions; cotton from four million bales to over ten million bales; coal from twenty-nine million tons to six hundred million tons; petroleum from two hundred and twenty-one million gallons to twenty billion gallons; and steel from sixty-eight thousand tons to thirty-seven million tons."

"In 1860 the assessed value of property in the entire United States was only twelve billion and eighty-four million dollars; and in 1923 property subject to general taxation in the South alone was assessed at thirty billion dollars, which is thirteen billion dollars more than for the whole United States in 1880."

"In 1880 the total value of the farm products of the United States was two billion, two hundred and twelve million dollars; and in 1921 the value of the South's farm products alone was approximately eight billions, five hundred million dollars."

"We are producing at the present time about 75 per cent of all of the corn in the world; about 30 per cent of all the hogs; we produce 65 per cent of all the cotton grown in the world."

"The turn over in dollars and cents of the Federal Reserve Bank operations alone amounted last year to the staggering sum of five hundred and fifty billion dollars."

"While it was common talk after the war that our steel mills had tremendously over-expanded, the United States Steel Corporation is planning to expend fifteen million dollars this year for continued expansions."

"Twenty-one years ago the total life insurance in force was ten billion, two hundred million dollars, and the year's total of life policies taken out during the year 1923 was twelve billion dollars—nearly two billion dollars more than the entire amount of life insurance outstanding in this country twenty-one years ago."

"Wages are higher than ever before in the history of this country; and the standard of living in the United States is today unquestionably the highest in the world."

"At the close of last year there were nearly 15,800,000 automobiles in the United States, and 15,000 moving pictures."

"Yet there are today thirty-one million savings accounts among twenty-one million families, or one and one-half savings accounts to every single family in the United States, the highest on record."

"Since 1914 we have purchased from Europe some four billion dollars of securities formerly held there."

"It is conservatively estimated that last year three billion, six hundred million dollars of new securities were issued."

"We have no pestilence, no famine, no disease, no earthquake, no volcanic eruption, no destruction of property, and I confidently assert that our country as a whole is in a sounder condition and fundamentally stronger than ever in its history. And we have made progress not only financially as no other nation, but we have made more improvement in the arts, sciences, and inventions than the rest of the world combined."

"Also, we are spending more money for education and for religious purposes than all the rest of the world combined."

"Have we reason," Mr. Knight concluded, "to face the future fearfully?"

AS Brisbane Sees It

That's That. Political Insurance. LaFollette Grow. However, Don't Worry.

JOHN W. DAVIS, once ambassador to Great Britain, now lawyer for J. Pierpont Morgan and company, banking house, is nominated by the Democrats for president of the United States.

IF THOSE THAT nominated Mr. Davis merely plan another Parker campaign, taking Mr. Davis for political accident insurance, while they actually mean to elect Mr. Coolidge, the Democratic candidate will not be important.

THE OTHER DAY when Wall Street betting was 11 to five on Coolidge's election, it was said here that the odds ought really to be 11,000 to 1, barring the unknown quantity of LaFollette. But 11,000 to 1 on Coolidge would be hardly fair now that the Democratic nomination has been made. You can decide for yourself whether those odds should be made longer or shorter.

Mr. Davis' nomination makes the LaFollette campaign more interesting and more puzzling than ever.

Many farmers in the northwest intend to vote against the Republican administration to express dissatisfaction with high railroad rates, and other troubles.

It is likely that those farmers will leave the Republican party to vote for J. Pierpont Morgan's lawyer, who inevitably will be connected in their minds with railroads managed and rates put up through the J. Pierpont Morgan office?

Mr. Davis' nomination must mean many Republican votes for LaFollette that would have gone to the Democrats, had a different Democrat been named.

IF REPUBLICANS are wise they will do something to please the farmers. The best thing at present is to concentrate on better prices for farm products, wheat, corn, oats, rye, etc. Wheat prices went up a couple of cents a bushel yesterday. Perhaps Republicans feel that they can now ignore the Democrats. But they can't ignore LaFollette and the only way to fight LaFollette is with high prices for the farmers.

LUCKILY THE prosperity of this country does not depend entirely upon men nominated by political conventions. The nominee means something as much as ONE per cent of the total. The people, what they want, what they WANT and what THEY think means 99 per cent.

THIS COUNTRY has one New England, moderate conservative, running for president and it has a pleasant, estimable corporation lawyer, SUPERLATIVELY CONSERVATIVE, running for president.

It has in Senator LaFollette an expression of the dissatisfaction among farmers and others. And at the same time it has in LaFollette, a man who has for real lawlessness (what Wall Street gentlemen are pleased to call "red radicalism and Bolshevism") a contempt as great as that of any conservative.

MORE IMPORTANT than any candidate is the COUNTRY. We have the world's gold, 112,000,000 of the best people, treasures unlimited, only half developed, public schools that guarantee gradual elimination of ignorance and power in the hands of the people to do whatever they please. IF THEY THINK IT WORTH WHILE.

Such guarantees make you feel that you need not worry about candidates.

THE BEST OFFICIALS and candidates in all the world's history could not make a civilized nation of the Congo region in a thousand years. THE WORST candidates or officials in all the world's history could not prevent the development and growth of the United States in the right direction.

"SEEST THOU A MAN diligent in his business. He shall stand before kings." A man that is not diligent and earnest in his business, where British dignity is concerned, does not stand well before the British king.

MISS WILLE, the wonderful young girl from California, has shown extraordinary and preconcerted power against the crack players of Europe. She and Mrs. George Wightman on Saturday won the championship in the women's tennis doubles in England. These victories mean to this country much more than mere athletic victory. The brain does more than the muscles in game of quickness and skill. Every movement of the muscles starts in the brain. Speed depends on mental powers. This is why the French are so proud of the marvelous Miss Wille. She typifies in her way the power of the brain.

FISHING IS NOT THE ONLY SUMMER SPORT

JUST IN PASSING

"Miss Florida" was chosen from all the girls at Daytona Beach last week and "Miss Florida" hailed from Sanford. Any other "Miss Floridas" that might be given the title at various contests are not genuine. The Junior Chamber of Commerce of Sanford has the credit for Miss Florida and will fight for its rights.

Frank D. Waterman, of Eustis and New York, is not only one of the finest fellows in the world socially, but he is one of the best business men and political prognosticators in the country. Two weeks ago Frank predicted to The Herald that Davis would be the nominee "eventually" and he had the right dope on the matter. Frank knows whereof he speaks and usually speaks in the right language. Wish we had some men of his type in Sanford.

I note that some of the newspapers in the state say that the city officials of Sanford and other cities should be responsible for the curb market. It all goes back to the idea advanced many years ago of a red market house built and located by the city of Sanford. We could have one of the finest markets in the state of Florida and we could all save money on foodstuffs and that is really what our city officials should be trying to do.

One good thing the city is talking about is the municipal swimming pool and I am glad to see the Junior Chamber of Commerce taking it up. Sanford could do more with a municipal swimming pool than any other city in the state, for it would bring the crowds here from other places. A good pool and dancing pavilion on the lake shore that could be used as a meeting place of all kinds would bring many a dime to the city that is now going to other cities. Give your people amusements or they will go elsewhere.

Now that the Democratic nominees have been selected we can look for Forrest Lake and Rolland Deane to come back and tell us just how it happened that neither one of them were selected at the last moment for vice-president. Sanford should have some recognition at the convention.

I want to congratulate the Kiwanis Club on its excellent ball team. These boys are good enough to play in big league company and there have been many games played here by so-called ball players that had none of the spectacular features of Thursday's game. And then they beat Orlando, which is another source of supreme satisfaction to all concerned.

Glad to see The Herald talking about a steam laundry. For years other cities have levied tribute on Sanford in the laundry line and we show our weakness in the industrial line when we broadcast to the world that we are unable to have a laundry in Sanford and yet Sanford is contributing to the support of several outside laundries. There is one of the finest fields for a laundry here that the state of Florida can offer. There are other lines of business that should be filled here and they will be taken up from time to time until we get them.

You have to go away to hear good things about Sanford and every time you get away from Sanford you find people talking about our wonderful growth and the big chance we have this winter to build a big city here on the banks of the St. Johns. There are so many big things that we can do and so much that needs to be done that we should not attempt any vacations this summer, but stay on the job and build Sanford into the city of our dreams. Other people say that we have the best city in the state, and that we are showing a marvelous growth and taking the last five years and our 86 per cent increase in population bears out these statements.

Sanford and Orlando boosters want another trip on the Clyde Line and this summer we will go to Jacksonville. The trip to Green Cove Springs last year was too short and Walter Rose and Jeff Bligh of Orlando were disappointed because they had to come home too soon. This summer we will go to Jacksonville and stay away from home a week. Are all of you fellows ready and willing to go?

Secretary Pearman is arranging a trip to California for the celery growers of Florida and their friends and it will be one of the finest trips that you have ever made. It will take place in September; it is enough folks can be gathered together to make up twenty-five and so on folks sleeper will be given over to the party where you can remain all during the trip. This will not only be a pleasure trip but an educational trip as well and our growers and shippers should arrange to make it.

Article in papers says that the new Democratic nominee for president, John W. Davis, looks mighty fine in his golf togs. There is another man who looks good in his golf togs and that is C. W. Stokes of this city. He has just as good a "front" as Mr. Davis or any other man, and is just as big as the presidential nominee. In fact I would rather vote for Stokes for president than for Coolidge.

Judge Schelle Majors has scored another triumph. He beats the bass drum in the Kiwanis band and no one knows where his stomach leaves off and the bass drum begins. It is one of the finest "habeas corpus" cases that have ever come under my observation and Frank Miller, who is a good judge of human form and size, says the same thing. I am looking on the case in Schelle's Robcock Statutes and will tell you about the "corpus delicti" next week.

RELIGIOUS LIBERTY

Delivered by William Jennings Bryan in Democratic National Convention, New York, June 23.

For twenty-eight years Democratic conventions have been gracious enough to invite me to speak before them and patient enough to listen to me. I have not words in which to express my gratitude for the courtesy, the love and the loyalty of the millions of Democrats who have been my co-laborers for more than a quarter of a century.

I have spoken to you on many themes—never on themes more important than today; and, since they take applause out of my time, and since I am speaking to your hearts and heads and not to your hands, please keep still and let me speak to you.

I have only a short time in which to lay before you the arguments that seem to me the most important on this subject, when we are about to decide, not only the line in this campaign this fall, but that which may affect larger organizations than parties.

Let us understand each other; let us eliminate the things that are not in this issue and come down to the three words that these, our good friends, as honest as patriots and as anxious for the welfare of the party as ourselves, take out of the language and exalt above any other three words that will be used in this campaign. Note, my friends, that they take our report, every word of it, and note also that we offered to take every word of their report—but three. We said: "Strike out three words and there will be no division among us." But three words were more to them than concord in our party in a great campaign.

You have listened to the applause when there was read to you the best Democratic platform that was ever written—the noblest principles that have ever been embodied in a platform. It contains pathetic pleas for people in distress, but none of our principles, none of our pleas, stirred in the hearts of these men like the three words "Ku Klux Klan."

I call you to witness that the minority never took the standards of their states and marched when we appealed to them on grand principles; it was only when some one—ANY one—named the Ku Klux Klan, that they were aroused.

Let me place before you the five reasons which I submit to your judgment and your conscience. First, this plank, these three words, are not necessary. In every state in the Union anybody whose rights are denied can find redress; and the Democratic party, in that part of its platform on which we all agree—in words as strong as strong can be written, with emphasis as great as can be employed, puts all the strength of our party back of every right, especially back of the right to religious liberty for which we of the majority stand. It is not necessary, I repeat, first, because the laws protect everyone.

Second, in this country it is not necessary to protect any church. I have such confidence in the Catholic church, which was for fifteen hundred years my mother church as well as yours, that I deny it needs political aid. I deny it needs political aid. I deny it needs political aid. I deny it needs political aid. I deny it needs political aid.

Article in papers says that the new Democratic nominee for president, John W. Davis, looks mighty fine in his golf togs. There is another man who looks good in his golf togs and that is C. W. Religious Liberty

By William J. Bryan.

son and to which it was still loyal in the days of Woodrow Wilson.
I am not responsible for your action, but I am for mine. I defend the Democratic party because of what I owe to it. It took me up when I was ten years younger than any other man had been when nominated by a great party for the presidency, and it found me in a western state, farther west than it had ever gone before; it gave me a million more votes than it had ever given to any Democrat before, and it nominated me twice afterward, and I had neither a campaign fund nor an organization.
The Democratic party has done more for me than for any other living man—for any other man who ever lived—and I am grateful; I cannot express my gratitude, but I can express my purpose by paraphrasing words that are familiar to you:
"Partisans, spare this party,
touch not a single hair;
In youth it sheltered me and I'll protect it now."
I have left for the last what I regard as the strongest argument.
If the Democratic party is diverted from its duty some other party will take up its task. Even if our party is destroyed, another party will spring up to do its work.
My last objection is that I am not willing to divide the Christian Church, because if it is destroyed there is nothing to take its place.
We must stand together to fight the battles of religion against mat-terialism.
Much as I owe to my party, I owe more to the Christian religion.
If my party has given me the basis of my political beliefs, my Bible has given me the foundations of a faith that has enabled me to stand for the right as I saw it, without stopping to count how many stood to take their share with me.
My father taught me that I could afford to be in a minority, but that I could not afford to be wrong on any subject. He believed in the Bible and in God; he believed that God stood back of every righteous cause with an arm strong enough to bring victory to his side; and that has been my faith. I believe religion is of more importance than the politics, and I believe the world now needs not so much a declaration of war between denominations as it does to get back to God and a sense of responsibility to Him.
The burglars steal $65,000,000 a year in this country and the pickpockets nearly as much; the bank robbers and train bandits steal large sums; but the swindlers take $2,000,000,000, ten times as much as all the thieves in the penitentiary stole. Is it not better to unite the Christian church behind the Ten Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount than to divide it into angry factions?
The world is coming out of a war, the bloodiest ever known.
Thirty millions of human lives were lost, directly and indirectly;

$300,000,000,000 of property was destroyed, and the debts of the world are more than six times as great as they were when the first gun was fired. How are you going to stop war?
Some say commerce will do it; but commerce did not do it, and commerce had reached its highest point just before the war began. Some say education will do it, and education had reached its highest point just before the war began. Some say science will do it, and science had reached the highest point just before the war began. Science, instead of preventing war, mixed the poisonous gas and made the liquid fire. It was science that made war so hellish that civilization was about to commit suicide. None of these things have stopped war on can stop war.
There is only One—who can bring peace to the world, and that is the Prince of Peace, the One at Whose coming angels sang, "On earth peace, good will toward men."
Jew and Gentile, Catholic and Protestant, stand for God on whom all religions rest; and Protestant and Catholic stand for the Prince of Peace. Is it possible that now, when Jesus—the hope of the world —is more needed than ever before—is it possible that at this time, in this great land, we are to have religious warfare? Are you willing to start a blaze that may cost innumerable lives, sacrificed on the altar of religious prejudice? I cannot believe it; God forbids; I call you back in the name of our party; I call you back in the name of our Heavenly Father. I call you back in the name of the Son of God and Saviour of the world. Christians, stop fighting; let us get together and save the world from the mat-terialism that robs life of its spiritual values. Banish the "Hymn of Hate"; our song must be "Blest be the tie that binds our hearts in Christian love."
Paul said: "BRETHREN, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual, restore such an one in the spirit of meekness; considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted." Let us act in that spirit.
We can better exterminate the Klan by recognizing the honesty and sincerity of the members and teaching them that they are in error. Christ on the cross prayed, "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do." Let us,
His disciples, follow His example.

LIDDELL BREAKS WORLD RECORD IN OLYMPIC GAMES

Thin-Legged Scot Speeds Way to Stellar Win—American Injured When He Falls on Track—Finals Sunday.

OLYMPIC STADIUM, Colombes, France, July 12.—Eric Liddell, thin-legged Scotch divinity student, won Olympic glory for Great Britain Friday when he sped to victory in the 400-metre run with a world's record and brought to a climax the most sensational series of races ever witnessed in any international event.

The Swiss and American stars before him had shattered the world's mark for the distance, but Liddell, undaunted, came back to the final test with an even greater speed that broke the heart of his nearest rival, Horatio Fitch, long-limbed Chicagoan, who, himself, had set a new record only an hour before in the semi-finals. Liddell's time for the distance was 47 3-5 seconds.

A Decisive Victory
When the world record toppled for the third time in two days, Liddell stepped into a niche among the other Olympic heroes, embracing the great array of games have ever known. His victory was as decisive as it was startling, for, leading from the crack of the gun, he fought off his only real challenger, Fitch, in the stretch, and won, going away by 8 meters. On the stretch behind lay the prostrate forms of Joseph Imbach, the little Swiss locksmith, who virtually broke down after having been the world's record holder for 24 hours, and J. Coard Taylor, the gallant American, who, despite an injured ankle, held third place cinched with a closing rush when he tripped over a lane marker and fell heavily to the ground.

Taylor's fall enabled G. M. Butler of Great Britain, and Johnston of Canada, to gain third and fourth places, but the American, semi-conscious, responded to the appeals of the onlookers to rise and staggered across the finish, winning fifth place. Then he collapsed.

Further down the track, almost unnoticed in the pandemonium that broke loose when Liddell broke the tape, another tragedy was enacted as Imbach lifted himself painfully from where he had fallen exhausted. He went to the starting pole ill and showed over the first half of the distance that he was hardly off form. His collapse came as he was stumbling into the stretch.

His condition last night was said to be not serious, but Taylor, who had to be carried off the field, was under medical care for a badly pulled ligament and lacerations of both knees.

America fared well, however, for Emerson Norton, of Georgia, town and Harold Osborne, Illinois Athletic Club, the decathlon ace of the United States, were one-two in a brilliant battle for points over the first half of the gruelling ten-event contest, which will be completed today. The United States also captured the second heat of the 3,000-metre team race trials. The first heat saw Finland's cracks, Nurmi, Ritola and Tala, finish one, two, three, giving the Scandinavians a clean sweep of the heat.

The United States, aided by the six points tallied in the 400-metre race, while Finland added nothing to its score, increased its point lead to 80% over its nearest rival and assumed a position which last night seemed so strong as to virtually assure continuance unbroken of the string of Olympic track and field triumphs since the modern revival 28 years ago.

The total score now shows the United States with 183% and Finland with 108, while Great Britain, through its three spectacular track victories, jumped to 60% in third place.

Ray Comes to Grief
The 3,000-metre team race second heat saw the American mile champion, Jola Ray, come to grief. In this, his first appearance in the Olympics, he lost a shoe and was in a bad mix-up at one of the turns.

Three Americans, however, William L. Cox, Mercedesburg Academy; Edwin S. Kirby, Cornell; and W. L. Tibbetts, Jr., Harvard, finished second, third and fourth, behind Elvin Wide, the Swedish star, who shook off Ray early in the race and won easily.

Finals Sunday
Wide, however, will not compete in the finals Sunday for the failure of his teammates to support him enabled France to beat Sweden for the second qualifying place.

Houser

Bud Houser, of the University of Southern California strong-arm man, who took the shot-put honors at the Olympic games.

Epinaud Entered In 3 Races By British

NEW YORK, July 12.—Epinaud, Pierre Worthheimer's great four-year-old thoroughbred, arrived here Friday on the Berengaria for a series of races in this country. He has been entered in three races. The first will be at Belmont Park, the second at Aqueduct and the third at Latonia. On the consular papers Epinaud was valued at $200,000, but it is said that Worthheimer has insured the racer for 300,000 English pounds.

W. T. Tilden, Norton And Griffin Reach Tennis Semi-Finals

ST. LOUIS, July 12.—William T. Tilden, II, Philadelphia; Brian T. C. Norton, St. Louis, and Clarence J. Griffin, San Francisco, reached the semi-final round of the National Clay Court tennis championship at the Triple A. Club as a result of their victories in the fifth round Thursday. Tilden won from Robert Kinsey, San Francisco; Norton eliminated Walter Westbrook, Pasadena, while Griffin surprised all by defeating Howard Kinsey, San Francisco, in a four-set match.

All three contests in the fifth round were hard fought. The first real upset took place when Griffin defeated Howard Kinsey. Kinsey had won from Griffin in the finals of the Pacific Coast championship last month and considering the fact that Griffin was placed 13 and Kinsey six in the national ranking in 1923, the victory Thursday was impressive. The final score was 7-5, 2-6, 3-6, 6-2.

Tilden encountered considerable difficulty in defeating Robert Kinsey. Although losing in four sets, Kinsey thrilled the galleries with his brilliant game. The score was 6-3, 3-6, 6-3, 3-6.
