Oviedo Renews Water Plant

By Ruth Davidson Further steps toward t long-term project of building a municipal water plant is Oviedo were taken at the August meeting of the Oviedo Town Council when contract was renewed with the engineering firm of Driver and Spooner Associates of Miami to bring the feasibility report up to date. Work on the project, reported by Councilman W. H. Martin to be in planning stages for more than the past 10 years, officially began in October, 1962, when agreewith the engineers to begin Martin explains that now, e located near Oviedo, fur ther surveys must be made with expectations that they will be completed before the end of the year. It is hoped, he said, that the plant can be located on three acres owned by the town south of the comproposed plant will be subject o approval of the engineering

TUCSON GREEN VALLEY,

Aris. (UPI) — Golf earls are becoming as ubiquitoe as 10gallon hats in this model retirement community as they roll down the main boulevard and sit seremely in parking spaces formerly the sole prerogative of automobiles.

Residents have discovered that the golf earls not only play a useful role on the compact of these anglers, if he were a litterbug, would dump about a pound of rubbish into our streams, lakes and salt water —or along the shores," Mr. Gutermuth said. "That adds up to a potential of 50 million pounds of rubbish in a single season. At that rate, we would have more litter than fish."

As a matter of fact, the World Peace Through Law Center, based in Washington, plans to turn out the first multivolume world law code in history, not to mention a complex that agencies exist to control rates and operations, and a guide to law service and a guide to law so thoroughly pervading throughout the world as to make war truly obsolete.

But World Law Day, and the week-long September conference here of which it will be a part, already represents a good deal more than a filmy dream. Some 2,000 legal leaders from 120 countries would hardly be gathering in Wash.

ROVER won't recognize the 22 fire plugs in North Orlando now that Volunteer Fireman Bob Bailey has taken over the job of painting them yellow and dusting them with phosphorescent powder so that they glow when light hits them. Seriously, the project is being undertaken in order that the plugs can be quickly spotted should necessity for their use arise in fighting a fire.
