Orr Welcomes GAO Audit

Federal Grand Jury May Probe SEEDCO

By ED PRICKETT Herald Staff Writer

An audit by the federal government's General Accounting Office (GAO) and a full scale investigation by a federal grand jury are both methods under censideration by top-ranking Florida politicians to resolve charges and countercharges aimed at Sinford's Seminole Employment Economic Development Corporation (SEEDCO).

The Washington offices of U. S. Sen. Lawton Chiles and Congressman Richard Kelly reported today they were considering both methods in hopes of resolving last week's audit request from the local poverty fighting agency.

SEEDCO President Horace Orr said today he has "no problem" with either method and would "welcome" a grand jury probe or an audit by the federal government's watchdog agency - the GAO.

Today's telephone interviews with both Kelly (R-Holiday) and an aide to Chiles (D-Lakeland) were the latest developments after Orr called a press conference last week and asked Chiles for a "sunshine audit" of SEEDCO operations.

Orr said today he called the press conference and made the request in hopes of countering what Orr says are "attacks" on SEEDCO by an Orlando

Meanwhile, a Chiles aide, Jack Pidgeon, said the senator awaits only receipt of Orr's letter requesting a "sunshine audit" of SEEDCO records

"It looks like something in the nature of a General Accounting Office (GAO) audit is in the ballpark," Pidgeon said. He said staffers in Chiles' Washington and Lakeland offices have been searching for Orr's letter since Orr's press conference at SEEDCO's office at the Sanford-Central Florida Airport.

Judge Rules In Wiretap Case That Deputies Can Work For 2 Bosses

Circuit Court Judge Kenneth Leffler has ruled that law enforcement officers can be sheriff's deputies in two counties at the same time.

The ruling killed efforts of an Orlando man to get wiretap evidence suppressed in a gambling case pending in circuit court.

Luther Judson McNamara, 53-year-old brother of an Orlando auto dealer, was indicted by a statewide grand jury on felony bookmaking charges after sheriff's agents monitored telephone conversations from an Altamonte Springs apartment.

Ford Says Florida Win Will Knock Out Reagan

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Ford says that if he wins the Florida primary and does so by a big margin, that will be a knockout punch to the presidential hopes of Ronald Reagan.

The President's campaign manager, Howard Callaway, says, however, that it will take back-toback Ford victories in Florida March 9 and in Illinois March 16 to convince Reagan that he can't win the Republican nomination.

These assessments in the Ford camp came after the President completed a weekend campaign trip to Florida and prepared for a swing into Illinois this

Police-Run Fence Operation Results In 100 Arrests

WASHINGTON (AP) A fencing operation secretly operated by police and FBI agents did $2.4 million worth of business before the lawmen ended their ruse and arrested more than 100 persons, including 60 guests at a party to celebrate the ring's prosperity.

Those arrested included assistant U.S. Atty. Donald E.

Robinson Jr., who was charged with accepting two bribes and fired from his post.

The bogus fencing operation, dubbed by police "The Sting" and based in a local warehouse, also resulted in the recovery of 1,500 stolen credit cards, 460 government checks, 225 typewriters and calculators, 700 savings bonds, 18 cars and trucks and an electrocardiac machine stolen piece by piece from a local hospital.

Bribes By Lockheed Claimed

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) - Lockheed Aircraft Corp. and its competitors made Christmastime cash payoffs and promised post-retirement jobs to U.S. Air Force colonels in a position to steer foreign military business their way, says a former Lockheed official.

"I have a few names," said Ernest F. Hauser, who left Lockheed as a customer relations officer after suffering a heart attack in 1964. But he declined to make the names public, saying, "It's been a long time and I don't know what good it could possibly do."

Hauser, who lives in suburban Paradise Valley, said the payoffs are "small potatoes compared with the huge bribes you read about in the newspapers."

Nixon Returns From China

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Former President Richard Nixon has returned to the privacy of his San Clemente compound after a trip to China that drew honors from his bosts but criticism from some at home.

There was no word whether Nixon would meet with Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, who was on the West Coast at the Palm Springs home of actor Kirk Douglas when Nixon returned on Sunday from the eight-day trip. Several Ford Administration and State Department officials said during Nixon's journey that the former president would be debriefed upon his reture, as would any visitor returning from China. However, Kissinger had said he would not do the debriefing himself.

ROME (AP) - Italy reopened its official foreign exchange markets today after a 40-day shutdown and the lira slipped further in what may prove a crucial economic test for Premier Aldo Moro's 19-day-old minority Trading was quiet as the lira was quoted at about 778-779 to the dollar, a weakening from Friday's late quote of 770-771 to the dollar.

How the lira holds in official tracing is expected to be a barometer of the durability of Moro's government, Italy's 34th since World War II.

Labor Unions Are Sued

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (AP) - A lawyer for five Saint John labor unions said Sunday they are being sued by the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission for $3.3 million in damages as a result of construction delays at the nearby Point Lepreau nuclear power plant.

Robert Stanton said the action stemmed from a court order last October, banning the unions from telling their members not to work overtime

The commission said the workers were refusing to work overtime to pour cement for the nuclear reactor building. a process that required continuous pouring for a threeweek period in warm weather.

Sec. Kissinger Sets The Stage

The low-key reception given to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger in Venezuela — the first stop on his Latin American tour -- formed just the right setting for the major statement on Latin American policy he delivered soon after his arrival.

They & as no extravagant, welcome to this U.S. emissary suggesting he was bringing solutions to all the problems on the hemispheric agenda. On the other hand, there was little of the anti-Yankee demonstrating in the streets which has greeted some of our diplomats in the past. This seemed to anticipate Mr. Kissinger's call for a more realistic appraisal of what can be accomplished by U.S. policy in Latin America and a more fair judgment The was a de its role in the hemisphere in the past.

The United States either has promised too much to Latin America in such earlier programs as the Alliance for Progress, or those on the receiving end read more into our promises than they should have. It has also been unrealistic for Latin Americans to assume that the power and economic influence of the United States was somehow to blame for failure of their own national aspirations.

The six points listed by Mr. Kissinger as the basis for effective cooperation can serve as goals for a new relationship if there is no attempt to read between the lines. They are not so much promises, but statements of what lies in the realm

There certainly can be closer economic cooperation between "rich" and "poor" nations. but only if the latter realize that this does not mean the kind of wholesale redistribution of wealth that effective organization for dealing with political disputes if the members want it to be. Such bilateral issues as the new Panama Canal treaty can be settled amicably if the slogans of the far left are not used to demand concessions which the United States cannot prudently make.

A stronger framework for mutual security in the hemisphere can be created if Latin American countries are willing to be realistic about the threats to their security -- particularly from Cuba and the Soviet Union. The Soviet-Cuban adventure in Angola should suffice to give this subject the

Mr. Kissinger sees "new, vigorous spirit inter-American solidarity" as the aim of our policy. A mature response from Latin America on the points he outlined, rather than any new programs emanating from the United States, will determine whether that goal is realized.

Media And Spies

A House committee has recommended that the Central Intelligence Agency be prohibited by law from using the media and religious and educational institutions for covert activities. We agree with the recommendation, especially where reporters are concerned. The CIA has announced that it will be agency policy to comply with the recommendation. But the gency policy could change in the future. The prohibition should be written into law to make it iron-clad. The CIA has a necessary function - gathering intelligence for the government. The press also has a necessary function gathering information for the people. A people meaning to govern themselves must have their own sources of knowledge, ndependent of the government. When the two functions overlap, the press suffers and the country suffers. A press that draws pay from the government is no longer independent. A press that loses the trust of its sources powerful figure in public life in the United that aims to take care of us. The biggest upset of the opening round was scored by Hollywood's Kevin Conner. The 21-year-old pool boy at a resort hotel upset the highly favored Sammy Masias on a close decision. Masias twice won the Golden Gloves championship in the past and in recent months ran off a string of impressive triumphs in the Sports Stadium's ring that included Salerno, Scott Clark, Robert Spencer and Terry "Rootin" Tuten. The pro card this Tuesday night will be held indoors in Miami Beach's Convention Hall and will feature Watkins defense of his Southern lightweight championship.

Brown's G/Corvette Ready For March 11 Gatornationals

Sanford's Johnny Brown will be making his second trip to the NHRA Gatornationals, March 11-14 at Gainesville Raceway. Brown will tow his super-strong G-gas Corvette to do battle against over 200 other modified racers. Last year when qualifying was over he was sitting in the 28th position of a 32-car field. "I was real happy with the way the car was working and felt that even though I wouldn't stand a chance to win 180, other cars didn't even make the field." Brown said that he was staging the car for his first round of elimination when the rear end broke and it was all over.

"I have a new rear suspension set up, and if the motor is right, I stand a good chance to make it into the finals," he says this year. The beautiful pearl yellow and brown paint scheme is gone. Brown had it painted an ordinary white. Money went into Denver the motor this time instead of paint.

Brown won't be the only Seminole County racer at Gainesville San Anton as his teammate Randy Harrison will have a car there running in the same class as Brown. Cris Trabulsky, a former world record 5. Louis holder in his class, will be running a super modified car in com-

At the recent Winternationals of dirt tracking during Speed Basketball Weeks he ran second in his heat and was doing well in the 50-lap leature. A crack in the oil pan put him out of the race after he had worked himself on-to the end of the front pack.

Dellarco and crew are now in the process of replacing some 46 sheet metal and putting disc brakes on the front. Old brakes fade Connecticut out on the corners and Dellarco feels that with discs he will be 66 able to out-run the other cars on the turns.

> "Cur records are public information," he continued, "but I believe they should be seen by people who understand what they see." The issue centers on Orr's alleged refusal to open SEEDCO books to the public. Actually, Orr was asked to show payout vouchers covering the past five years. He refused to show the vouchers to an Orlando newspaper. Orr said he had not been treated "fair" in press reports concerning the poverty-fighting agency. However, all along, Orr has offered to open his office and show agency records to the Evening Herald.

any criminality was involved and that the matter could be handled by the GAO audit. Orr also disputed facts about last Thursday's press conference - called to make the request to Chiles and to open SEEDCO records for perusal.

Orr said items were chosen at random and criticized without giving his staff a chance to explain what canceled checks and other items meant. Orr said newspaper reports have destroyed SEED-

CO's credibility in the business community. He hopes the GAO audit will restore some of that confidence in the agency which has brought more than $4 million in federal grants to this area since its establishment in 1970.

Chiles' press agent, Jack Pridgen, said he didn't think
