'Sky King' Dies In Brevard Crash Astronauts Were Waiting For Their Childhood Hero

What was to be the happiest day of Kirby Grant's life turned to tragedy today when "Sky King" was killed in a one-vehicle auto accident in Brevard County.

Grant, 73, of 8038 Sheeah Blvd., Winter Springs, who became well-known through his late 1950s television series "Sky King," was dead on arrival at Jess Parish Memorial Hospital in Titusville following the 8 a.m. accident, according to Florida Highway Patrol Spokesman Capt. Mike Kirby.

Grant's wife, Carolyn, was informed of the accident at 10:30 a.m. today. The couple have three children.

Grant was on his way to view today's scheduled shuttle launch, the trooper said.

Grant's neighbor of eight years, Shirley Tiffany, said he had been invited to attend today's launch by the astronauts.

"He said this was one of his happiest days in a long time," Mrs. Tiffany said. "He was so proud. All of the astronauts requested his presence because they said they would not have gotten into aviation except for the inspiration of their childhood TV hero, "Sky King."

Sheriff's Son Recovering After Crash

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Sheriff John Polk's son Kevin Polk, 21, was recovering today following surgery to repair multiple fractures he received early Tuesday in a motorcycle accident on Interstate 4 near Maitland.

Young Polk's wife, Debbie, said today he did well in surgery yesterday morning where he was treated for a broken right wrist and arm and breaks in both of his ankles, but he had a bad night last night and she was returning to Florida Hospital-Orlando to spend the day with him.

Polk, of 2527 Poinsetta Drive, Sanford, was riding east on Interstate 4 near Maitland Boulevard on a 1985 Honda, which he has owned for three weeks, Mrs. Polk said. He was going home from his Orlando warehouse job at about 1:30 a.m. when his motorcycle was struck by a car driven by Anastasia Wood, 18, of 312 Park Place, Altamonte Springs, according to a Seminole County sheriff's spokesman.

Ms. Wood was also driving east and was in the outside lane of the road, while Polk was riding in the inside lane. Ms. Wood reportedly told investigators she hit her car's accelerator instead of the brake when she felt she was coming too close to another car. She lost control of her vehicle which struck Polk's cycle, the spokesman said.

Ms. Wood's vehicle rolled over four times, but she was not injured. Charges are pending against her while the Florida Highway Patrol, which did not have a written report on the accident Wednesday, continues its investigation, the spokesman said.

Sheriff Polk returned from Tallahassee early Tuesday to be with his son. The younger Polk works for a beer distributor, the spokesman said.

Ex-Mayor Can Stay On Ballot

Casselberry Residency Affirmed

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A former Casselberry mayor is eligible to be on the ballot for the office again next week even though he lived outside the city for several months this year and while doing so apparently violated a county zoning code by sleeping overnight in a business office.

County records also indicate the former mayor did not have a an occupational license for the business to operate in an unincorporated area of Seminole County.

Circuit Judge C. Vernon Mize Jr. ruled Tuesday that Owen Sheppard, 56, was eligible to run for the office because there was insufficient evidence to show he was not a legal resident of Casselberry, even though Sheppard said during a hearing that he lived in the Fern Park office from April to September.

The mayor of Casselberry, Charles Glascock, asked the court to remove Sheppard's name from the November 5 ballot, contending Sheppard could not run because he did not meet the city's residency requirement.

The city charter requires candidates for mayor be a resident of the city for at least a year prior to the time they qualify to run for the position.

Sheppard said today that he did spend nights at his Fern Park office and did not get approval from the county to do so as required by zoning. He said he did not get a county occupational license for the marketing business because he had a Casselberry occupational license.

A spokesman for Casselberry, however, said the city's occupational license would not be valid in Fern Park and a spokesman for the county said that no matter where a business is located, whether in a city or in unincorporated area, a Seminole County occupational license is also required.

Sheppard, who was reluctant to give the specific address of the office — Owen Sheppard and Company — said he also lived with his daughter during that period in Pine Hills, in Orange County. He said the Casselberry occupational license expired in August and he closed the office.

Owen Sheppard

John Dwyer, Land Management Coordinator for the county and responsible for zoning enforcement, said zoning violations and probably occupational license infractions that are not occurring now would not be investigated. He said a person must be caught in a violation before the county would have a good case.

In a hearing earlier this month about having his name on the upcoming ballot, Sheppard, mayor of Casselberry from 1980 to 1981, did not contest that he wasn't a Casselberry resident from April to September. He said he lived in his Fern Park business marketing office at 2908 Lake View Drive during that period because of financial reasons. He is estranged from his wife who lives in their Casselberry home.

But Sheppard argued at the hearing before Mize that the city charter did not state the one year residency requirement must be the year immediately before the time a candidate qualifies, the opposite position of Glascock, who is running for reelection.

Glascock said he was pleased that Mize upheld the charter requirement that a candidate be a resident of the city for the year prior to qualifying to run for office.

"That was the point I was trying to make," Glascock said Tuesday. He said he was going to meet with his attorney today to decide whether to appeal Mize's ruling that allows Sheppard to run.

Reagan Hopes To Curtail Superpower 'Paranoia'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan says the most he can get out of the November summit meeting with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev is to "eliminate some of the paranoia" between the superpowers.

In an interview with the British Broadcasting Corp., taped Tuesday at the White House and aired today, Reagan also said he believes the futuristic "star wars" space defense is the "most momentous in the century."

He said he would be willing to share the space weapons technology with the Soviet Union and disclosed that "leading scientists who are involved in this say they can foresee achieving this ... in a matter of years."

The 30-minute interview with the BBC was the first in a series of interviews with foreign news organizations before the Nov. 19-20 summit in Geneva, Switzerland.

"I think the most we can get out of it (the summit) is to eliminate some of the paranoia," Reagan said. "If we could reduce the hostility, suspicion ... this is vital and important."

Paralyzed Coach Charged With Drunk Driving

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A Lyman High School volleyball coach paralyzed in car accident Oct. 12 in Lake County has been charged with driving under the influence and careless driving.

The charges were filed Tuesday by the Florida Highway Patrol against Karren Newman, 36, of Sanford. The charges were not filed until after laboratory analysis of her blood was returned to FHP, a process which normally takes about two weeks, a spokesman said.

Following the accident, according to FHP records, Ms. Newman had a blood-alcohol level of 0.2, twice the level to be legally under the influence in Florida — 0.1.

Ms. Newman, who led the Lady Greyhounds to a conference championship, is paralyzed from the waist down and is undergoing physical training and attending classes to help her cope with the paralysis.

She declined to discuss the charges or her injuries today.

According to an FHP report, Ms. Newman's car was traveling westbound on State Road 46 in Mount Plymouth when it ran off the north shoulder of the road, crossed two lanes and ran into a car driven by Clinton John Williams, 19, of 98 Welsh Trail, Sorrento.

Williams said he saw an oncoming car driving erratically so he slowed to about 20 mph and pulled on to the south shoulder of the road. He said the car, a Pontiac which he estimated was traveling about 55 mph, pulled back onto the road, crossed the lanes and ran into his Datsun sedan crushing it.

He said he lost four front teeth in the accident and received a severe cut on his bottom lip. A passenger with Williams, Kaaren McCowan, 18, of 908 Clayton St., Mount Dora, had to be extricated from the car. She was treated for a broken ankle and a cut on her leg, Williams said.

AIDS Treatment Shows Promise

PARIS (UPI) — A drug used to prevent rejection of transplanted organs could be used to treat the deadly acquired immune deficiency syndrome virus, a team of French doctors says.

The doctors from Laennec Hospital in Paris told a news conference Tuesday that two test patients, a 35-year-old woman and a 38-year-old man, showed improvement after daily doses of Cyclosporin-A, a drug manufactured in Switzerland by Sandoz Laboratories.

"Without our treatment, the man would be dead today. As for the woman, the growth of the disease was stopped. It is the first time in the world that this has happened," the researchers said in a statement.

The two AIDS victims began treatment last week with the drug, the researchers said. Four other Laennec patients have since begun treatment.

The team, which has worked together on AIDS-related research since 1982, cautioned that the drug does not cure AIDS. But they said preliminary tests showed it may have the same effect on controlling AIDS as insulin does on diabetes, allowing victims to live normal lives.

A comprehensive land use plan that will set density of development was tentatively approved by Lake Mary city commissioners by a 4-1 vote Tuesday evening. Commissioner Ken King voted against the plan, stating his concern about development in flood prone areas.

Final vote on the plan will be taken Nov. 12 at 6 p.m. at city hall.

Several amendments to the original plan prepared by independent planning consultant Diane Kramer were approved after lengthy debate.

All Three Heart Transplant Patients Are All Doing Well

Three men kept alive with three different types of mechanical pumps until human hearts could be found and implanted are in critical condition but free of complications and doctors say they were recovering well.

Anthony Mandla, 44, was in critical but stable condition in the Hershey Medical Center in Hershey, Pa., Tuesday, and Thomas Gaidosh, 47, was in critical condition in Pittsburgh's Presbyterian-University Hospital.

The Pennsylvania men, the world's 10th and 11th artificial heart patients, received human organs Monday. Gaidosh was kept alive by a Jarvik-7 device while Mandla received the experimental Penn State artificial heart.

Critical condition is normal following heart transplantation surgery. Hospital officials said Mandla could be released in about two weeks, Gaidosh in six weeks.

In San Francisco, Richard Dallara was in critical but stable condition in the Pacific Presbyterian Medical Center.

Dallara, 33, an auto mechanic from Sonoma, Calif., received a new human heart Tuesday after surviving four days with two Thoratec pumps working alongside his own heart, which was weakened nearly to the point of death.

Money Laundering Bill Urged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department, saying that current banking laws fail to prevent money laundering, wants Congress to outlaw the practice of funneling the fruits of crime through legitimate financial institutions.

Appearing before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee Tuesday, a top Justice Department official said legislation making money laundering a crime would give prosecutors an important new tool in their crackdown on drug smuggling.

But the American Civil Liberties Union says the Reagan administration's bill poses a "serious threat" to individuals' rights to protect the confidentiality of their banking records.

Assistant Attorney General Stephen Trotter testified that the Bank Secrecy Act, the only law on the books to deal with money laundering, is inadequate because it simply requires banks to report cash transactions of more than $10,000.

Weather Experts Missed Storm

IRVING, Texas (UPI) — Four weather experts, including one who had left his post for supper, failed to recognize the danger of the thunderstorm that struck Delta Flight 191 to the ground, killing 137.

Three National Weather Service employees and a weather observer at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport testified Tuesday that they observed no violent weather near the airport before the jetliner crashed Aug. 2.

Testimony in the four-day National Transportation Safety Board hearing was to enter its second day today.

Jack Williams, in charge of the Fort Worth weather service office the night of the crash, testified he did not issue a severe thunderstorm warning, despite reports of 80 mph winds at the airport after the crash.

Williams, who retired Oct. 3, said he identified the cell at 5:50 p.m. but, because it appeared minor and because similar storms had caused no problems in North Texas throughout the day, he saw no need for a warning.

Walesa To Be Questioned On Polish Election Boycott

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — A prosecutor summoned Solidarity trade union founder Lech Walesa for questioning in a dispute with the government over results of last month's controversial parliamentary elections, union sources said.

The sources, who asked not to be identified, said Tuesday that Walesa received the summons at his home in the Baltic seaport of Gdansk. He will be interrogated by the state prosecutor on Nov. 6, the sources said.

After nationwide parliamentary elections Oct. 13 that were boycotted by the banned trade union, the government reported a voter turnout of 79 percent — low by Polish standards. But Walesa estimated the turnout at about 60 percent.

Government spokesman Jerzy Urban said last week that Walesa was being investigated for slandering the state electoral commission because of his lower turnout estimate.

Walesa said the accusations of slander were "absurd," saying he had not mentioned the electoral commission by name when issuing Solidarity's estimate of voter turnout.

Marcos Wants To Collect Rent

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — President Ferdinand Marcos said today the United States must again define its monetary obligations to the Philippines under an accord that allows the presence of two major U.S. bases in the country.

At the same time, the presidential palace announced that Marcos' wife Imelda opened "a new era of friendship and cooperation" with the Soviet Union.

Marcos said in a palace ceremony it was necessary to "define more accurately the mutual obligations" of Washington and the Philippines under an accord covering two key U.S. bases in his country, a palace statement said.

Marcos told top American business executives that the United States "does not seem to think" $900 million of aid it pledged his government over five years in exchange for the use of the bases is "obligatory," the statement said.

Stolen Art May Be Ransomed

NEW YORK (UPI) — Nine famous art works stolen from Paris' Marmottan Museum are more likely to be ransomed than fenced into the art underground, but experts say it may be months or years before ransom demands are even made.

"When stolen art is of the quality of the paintings stolen from the Marmottan Museum in Paris last Sunday, they are impossible to get rid of through the art underground," said Donna Carlson, head of the Art Theft Archives of the Art Dealers Association of America in Manhattan. "They don't go to a fence."

30 Years Of Summitry

Fending Off Another Stone Age

Editor's note: The 9th postwar summit will be held in Geneva Nov. 19 and 20.

By Arnold Sawilak
UPI Senior Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Summit conferences are not new, but the threat of weapons that can fly thousands of miles to kill millions of people has given special urgency and drama to periodic meetings of superpower leaders since the end of World War II.

The last summit meeting of the wartime western allies was held July 16-Aug. 1, 1945, in Potsdam, Germany — only days before the first atomic bombs dropped on Japan.

That meeting, between a still untested President Harry Truman, Soviet Premier Josef Stalin and Winston Churchill, replaced as British prime minister by Clement Attlee in mid-conference, was held to finish the reshaping of Europe begun the previous year at Yalta, and to set the surrender terms for Japan.

Those agreements and the newborn Bomb set the stage for the East-West Cold War that has repeatedly brought the major powers to the brink of war — and provided the impetus for eight major meetings of top American and Soviet leaders since 1955.

Arms Race

The first summits focused on political questions such as the division of Germany and the status of Eastern Europe. But as both East and West perfected intercontinental missiles and more efficient megadeath weapons, the emphasis shifted to efforts to stop the global arms race.

That is the reason for the ninth postwar summit, the first in more than six years and the first attended by the current leaders of the United States and the Soviet Union, to be held in Geneva, Switzerland, Nov. 19-20.

Chilly

President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev will meet in an atmosphere considerably more chilly than at the last summit June 15-18, 1979, when, at the height of detente, presidents Jimmy Carter and Leonid Brezhnev signed the SALT 2 treaty at Vienna, Austria.

The long-range weapons limits agreed to in that summit have been violated by the Soviets, say some U.S. critics — but the treaty itself never was ratified by the Senate.

The Soviet invasion of Afghanistan, the election of Reagan — who made no secret of his distrust of the Soviet Union — and a massive arms buildup by both countries since the last summit pushed U.S.-Soviet relations into the deepest freeze since the early 1960s.

The first summit after World War II was, like most of the wartime meetings, a Big Four gathering.

Ten years after the Potsdam conference, President Dwight Eisenhower, Soviet Prime Minister Nikolai Bulganin, British Prime Minister Anthony Eden and French Premier Edgar Faure met July 18-21, 1955, in the Palais des Nations in Geneva. They discussed German reunification, disarmament and East-West relations.

No agreements were reached. The Russians, suspicious about letting East and West Germany reunite, insisted that an overall European security agreement had to come first and the issue continued to fester for years.

Eisenhower offered a plan for the exchange of detailed military information including "open skies" verification of military bases by aerial photography. Bulganin didn't turn it down, but later said inspection would have to include U.S. bases all over the world, a proviso that he did not think host countries would agree to.

But everyone went home saying tensions had been eased, and there were increased trade and cultural contacts in the months that followed.

One-On-One

Four years later, the first of the one-on-one U.S.-Soviet leaders' meetings that have replaced the multi-power summits was held at Camp David, the presidential retreat in Maryland's Catoctin mountains.

Eisenhower and Nikita Khrushchev, the Soviet president, met Sept. 25-27 and worked out several agreements including the withdrawal of a Russian ultimatum that threatened West Berlin's independence. They agreed to reopen talks on Berlin and to seek peaceful settlement of "all outstanding international questions" including disarmament.

Those meetings capped an unprecedented 13-day cross-country tour of the United States by the Soviet leader that included a major appearance at the United Nations, where Khrushchev proposed a total world disarmament plan.

Shot Down

On May 1, 1960, Soviet air defense crews fired a new missile at an object about 13 miles above Sverdlosk, shooting down both an American U-2 spy plane and the next scheduled summit conference, which was to begin May 16 in Paris.

The United States first claimed the U-2 was a weather plane, but the Russians had the pilot, Francis Gary Powers, who parachuted into their arms and confessed his real mission.

When Eisenhower showed up in Paris to meet with Khrushchev, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and French President Charles DeGaulle, the Russian said he would not sit down with Ike without an apology and punishment of those responsible for the U-2 flights.

The 1960 summit collapsed after one session.

The next summit meeting was held June 3-4 the following year in Vienna. It was an abrasive confrontation between Khrushchev and the new American president, John F. Kennedy.

The Russian, seeking to take advantage of Kennedy's still-fresh Bay of Pigs humiliation, tried to browbeat the American on the festering question of divided Berlin, going so far as to threaten war.

They managed to salvage an agreement on the neutralization of Laos, then the Indochinese hot spot. Kennedy later called it "a very sober two days."

Khrushchev reportedly was emboldened enough by his assessment of Kennedy at Vienna to try to put Soviet missiles into Cuba in 1962. Kennedy's tough response in turn humiliated Khrushchev and started him on a slide toward involuntary retirement.

It was to be six years before the next summit, where the players were new, the situation tense and the locale unusual.

In June, 1967, Israel and its Arab neighbors went to war for the third time. The Israelis captured the entire Sinai peninsula from Egypt, the west bank of the Jordan River from Jordan and the Golan Heights from Syria. The United Nations arranged a truce, but the Soviet Union demanded that the UN insist that Israel return its conquests. Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin flew to New York to make the case against Israel in person.

President Lyndon Johnson sent word he would like to meet with Kosygin. The Russian didn't want to come to Washington; the American didn't want to go to New York. They split the difference, descending for two days of meetings, June 23 and 25, on the campus of little Glassboro State College, about half way between the two cities on the New Jersey Turnpike.

They got along passably but disagreed on the Mideast and on U.S. military involvement in Vietnam, although they had agreed weeks earlier in the first use of the Washington-Moscow hotline to stay out of the Arab-Israeli conflict. They did move toward agreement on non-proliferation of nuclear weapons, which resulted in U.S.-Soviet submission of a treaty to the UN a short time later.

Detente

The next summit, May 22-29, 1972, brought the word "detente" into the language when President Richard Nixon went to Moscow, the first visit of an American president to Russia.

Treaties came down like spring rain during the trip. The main agreements were the first SALT and anti-ballistic missile treaties, pacts on space, health and environmental cooperation and a statement of principle designed to promote peaceful coexistence, or detente. Kosygin was still premier, but Communist Party leader Leonid Brezhnev was running the Soviet show.

For Nixon, the trip was a triumph of diplomacy and politics, overshadowing the battle for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination and, after his earlier trip to China, giving him a huge boost toward re-election.

Thirteen months later, Brezhnev visited the United States, meeting Nixon at Camp David and at San Clemente, Calif., to sign a treaty pledging both countries to avoid nuclear war and agreements on oceanography, agricultural research, transportation and cultural exchanges.

The June 18-26, 1973, summit was another diplomatic success, but this time national attention was diverted by another developing drama: the Senate hearings on the Watergate scandal were about to start.

By the fall of 1974, Nixon was out and Gerald Ford represented the United States in a meeting with Brezhnev at Vladivostok, a Siberian port no American had visited by 52 years.

The Nov. 22-24 summit, at the end of a Far Eastern tour by Ford, yielded an interim nuclear missile limitation agreement that led to the SALT 2 treaty and Carter-Brezhnev summit of 1979, the last time Soviet and U.S. leaders have sat down together trying to avert the global conflict that Albert Einstein once said would make the weapons of World War IV "stones and arrows."

State Offers Low Income Families Help With Energy Bills

TALLAHASSEE — Starting Nov. 1 low-income Floridians can apply for one-time assistance with home energy costs.

Application forms for the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program will be available at Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services (HRS) economic services (AFDC or Food Stamp) offices. Forms also will be available at some city and county welfare offices, Community Action Agencies, utility companies, and other community-based organizations.

Applications must be returned to HRS by Dec. 16.

Payments to eligible households will be mailed in January, and will depend on household income, size and location within the state. Last year the average payment was $138. The program does not pay monthly utility bills.

Limits for monthly household income under the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program are: $481 for one person; $646 for two; $811 for three; $976 for four; $1,141 for five; and $1,306 for six. Add $165 for each additional person over six.

Households with income above these limits may still be eligible, because some incomes are not counted. More information is available from local HRS Economic Services offices.

More than 182,900 households applied for assistance last year, said HRS Economic Services Program Supervisor Margaret Quimby, and 157,750 of them received benefits.

Tropical storm Juan, downgraded from a hurricane, drifted northward in Louisiana early today after slamming into the coast a second time and flooding thousands of people from their homes. Elsewhere, isolated thunderstorms hit parts of the South, the Plains and the Midwest early today. Juan was nearly stationary and centered between Lake Charles and Lafayette, La., early today after being downgraded from a hurricane by the National Weather Service Tuesday afternoon. Highest winds were 60 mph, but higher winds were reported in squalls. ## Speech Freedom Not Universal

Demonstrators beat conga drums and chanted, "Out of Nicaragua, CIA!"

But Arturo Cruz, the Nicaraguan opposition leader, sat calmly under the white tent of the Institute of the Americas on the campus of the University of California at San Diego. The middle-aged man wearing spectacles did not look like an object of angry chants. He did not look like a Sandinista or a contra.

He looked like a professor. Calm and civil, he clutched a folder containing his speech, while the drums beat and the director of the institute, Joseph Grunwald, stated the purpose of the independent, scholarly institute: "To give an opportunity for all views to be heard. Views — not drums."

Grunwald announced that the institute soon would be sponsoring a speech by a Sandinista cabinet minister. But the drums did not cease. Grunwald traced the trajectory of Arturo Cruz's personal life, from a student educated at Georgetown University, to development banker, to opponent of Somoza who was imprisoned for 14 months by the dictator, to Sandinista rebel, to Nicaraguan ambassador to Washington, to Sandinista opposition leader. It was a long and troubling journey. The journey of a man of the center in a country of extremes.

In the audience were people who supported the contras and those who wondered why a man who respected human rights and democracy would join forces with former Somoza national guardsmen backed by the CIA. Was Cruz truly democratic? Or was he just another power-hungry Latin mouthing slogans to get U.S. support for his personal gain?

When Cruz stood up to speak, the drum-beat rose and the chant became deafening.

"We envy the right in this country for people to express all views," he said, his voice barely audible above the drums. "I wish some day in my country to have dissidents of the right or left be able to express their dissatisfaction." He delivered his speech to the end, without faltering.

Conflict is a revelation of character. Cruz's support of freedom of speech at a time when protesters were trying to deny him that right said more about the man than his thoughtful speech. It said that Cruz understands that democracy is not a slogan; it is a difficult and tumultuous process. It said that Cruz values the freedom to disagree, even when that freedom is abused by the beaters of drums.

"I don't agree with him," said a woman in the audience. "But it makes me mad that they're not giving the man the right to speak."

It makes us angry also. There should be no place for drums drowning out a speaker on a university campus. A place for pickets and leaflets, yes. But if speakers at independent institutes are drowned out, where will we be able to hear the voices speaking truthfully; how will we ever know what to do about Nicaragua — or any other conflict?

Cruz is no longer free to voice his views in his own country. In Central America, the slim waist of the Americas, there has been little room for a center, for leaders using reason to express their views, for people who respect dissidents. The journey of Arturo Cruz shows the painful journey of Nicaragua searching for social justice and freedom between the extremes of ideologues who preach violence of the left and the right.

We are not proud of the protesters who beat drums and yelled chants, though they have the right to express their views as long as they respect the rights of others. But we are proud of the institute for holding the conference and look forward to hearing the view of the Sandinista leader.

We hold in esteem the man in spectacles who stood up to the drums with a message of freedom and peace for his own country, and for us.

Health Grants Are A Major Waste

WASHINGTON — This year I've been investigating the $5 billion National Institutes of Health, questioning the value of much of its behavioral and social-science research — from studies on political attitudes to adolescent eating habits.

At the outset, I found that Congress was conducting virtually no oversight of these low-priority, nonmedical expenditures. Earlier this month, however, following several columns exposing wasteful NIH-funded behavioral studies, the Senate Appropriations Committee decided to ask the responsible NIH agencies to detail how research dollars are being awarded in this area.

Specifically, the panel issued a report expressing concern over whether NIH institutes are funding such studies "on the basis of the most pressing current needs..."

Sen. William Proxmire, the committee's top-ranking Democrat, told my associate, Tracy Fletcher: "An excellent case can be made for the support of health-related behavioral-science research by NIH."

But he added, "After looking at some of the social- and behavioral-science research currently being supported with NIH funds, one has to ask if the best use is being made of our research dollars."

Much of the research Proxmire is complaining about is being funded by NIH's $300 million National Institute of Child Health and Human Development.

NICHD is able to fund only a meager 28 percent of its approved research-grant applications — fewer than any other NIH institute. Yet it continues to spend one-fifth of its budget on social and behavioral research that has little relevance to the pressing health needs of children.

Here are a few examples of the dozens of questionable NICHD grants we uncovered:

— A study of the food-foraging habits of the Ache people in Eastern Paraguay. Cost: $163,254.

— A study of late marriage in a village in Spain from 1873 to 1983. Cost: $74,561.

— A study of how children cope with the stress of having their tonsils removed. A group of 80 children will be studied before, during and after the operation to compare different "coping styles." Cost: $85,780.

— A study of several hundred Baltimore children through the first two years of school, to see how they make the transition to full-time schooling, and why some are successful and some are not. Cost: $162,994.

— A study of junior-high, high-school and college students to test whether academic achievement is determined by a student's study habits, and if achievement and study habits change as a student gets older. Cost: $139,950.

— A study of how children and adults find their way around their neighborhoods. One part of the research will test children's memory for direction after they are placed in a large, unfamiliar environment, like the St. Louis Zoo. Cost: $83,828.

— A study of the social and psychological effects that using computers has on children — whether using computers makes children more gregarious or promotes social isolation. Cost: $228,084.

When asked about such grants, NICHD Director Duane Alexander told Miss Fletcher: "I guess it's an area that's easy to attack."

JACK ANDERSON Soviets Have New Target

Soviet spies have been trying for years to steal U.S. military computers and software, but now they have another target in the high-tech area: computers that can help the Soviets straighten out their agricultural mess. The Kremlin hopes that decades of farm mismanagement can be offset by the marvels of the computer age. Computers would not only keep track of supplies and demand — preventing, say, the shipment of wheat to a region already overstocked, or sending corn to farms with no pigs to eat it — but could be used in genetic development of grain and animals adaptable to the various Soviet regions.

AIDS & INSURANCE: Victims of AIDS may soon have to worry about insurance coverage for the staggering cost of their disease. Some insurance companies are pressuring state governments to share the results of the new AIDS blood tests so they can identify high-risk customers. Those with positive test results would then be charged higher premiums or have their policies canceled. The only other solution, insurance officials say, would be to raise rates for single males or deny coverage to known homosexuals. The problem with using the tests, of course, is that they identify only about one in 10 of those who will contract AIDS.

MINI-EDITORIAL: The painstaking detail with which President Reagan's colon cancer was reported was justifiable. After all, he is the most important single official in the Western world and his health is a legitimate matter of public concern. But does this apply to the president's wife as well? We think not. Surely Mrs. Reagan is entitled to a modicum of privacy when she goes to the doctor. Yet every technical detail of her recent examination was duly reported in the press. We shudder to think what Harry Truman's reaction would have been to similar treatment of his beloved Bess.

UNDER THE DOME: The FBI has formally assured Sen. Patrick Leahy, D-Vt., that it did not, as published reports charged, inquire into U.S. District Judge Franklin Billings' views on school prayer and abortion during its background check last year. "We have reviewed the investigative reports and found no indication questions concerning school prayer or abortion were asked," the bureau wrote, adding: "We do not make inquiries regarding a nominee's position on social or political issues."

South Africa's Last Good Friend

An alliance between American conservatives and the white supremacist government of South Africa is growing stronger every day.

The partners — Americans who want to turn back the clock on civil rights in the United States and white South Africans for whom the racial clock stopped 50 years ago — are being brought together by an extensive public-relations network launched by the South African government.

The campaign includes $900,000 worth of influence sellers, a $2.5 million effort aimed at luring more tourists to South Africa, and a series of subsidized trips to South Africa for leaders of America's right wing.

Recipients of free trips include Howard Phillips, chairman of the conservative caucus; Allan Ryskind, editor of the conservative weekly Human Events; and Ed McAtter, chairman of the Religious

Oriental Cooking

BANGKOK, Thailand (NEA) — It is generally agreed among gourmets that French and Chinese cooking are the world's two greatest cuisines, and they are so different that any attempt to compare them is utterly futile. One noteworthy difference is that French and, indeed, most Western cuisines build through various smaller preliminaries to a "main course," then diminish again toward dessert. whereas a Chinese meal consists of a longer series of separate but more or less equal courses. For the benefit of the curious, here is the listed menu of a splendid nine-course luncheon to which I was treated in Taipei on this trip:

"Four sauteed dishes" — tasty chunks of chicken and various meats; shark's fin with brown sauce (not in a soup — just the delicately sauced fil); Peking duck; sliced lobster with four sauces; steamed bamboo-shoots-and-oyster soup; noodles; smoked pomfret with pepper-salt (a big, beautiful fish, served whole); sweet soup — with lotus seeds, I believe; and a selection of fruits (orange sections, watermelon slices and papaya). All this was accompanied by thimble-sized glasses of the weak rice wine with which the Chinese like to make their numerous toasts, and capped with oolong tea. The meal was a masterpiece of delicacy.

At the other, or indelicate, end of Oriental cookery, with the force of about 9.0 on the Richter scale, are the famous Thai curries. I served in India during World War II, and am accustomed to thinking of curry as an interesting flavor used by the British to kill the taste of Indian food. But a recent encounter with a Thai beef curry that I ordered up from room service in my Bangkok hotel has reminded me forcefully that there are curries, and then there are curries. As an inspired wit once remarked, a really good Thai curry works twice as fast as the next-fastest nasal decongestant.

The first thing one notices on the table is a chaotic pile of steamed white rice — the neutral playing field, as it were, on which the ensuing battle is to be fought out. Off to one side are various "satays" — little noshes of one sort and another, from mango chutney to roasted cashew nuts and what appear to be dried strips of fruit peel.

The beef curry is in a pot of its own, and consists of a fairly thin reddish broth at the bottom of which one finds the beef chunks and various peppers, chickpeas, chilies, etc. Scoop out several spoonfuls onto the rice, and away you go.

The insidious thing is that, at first, the stuff tastes spicy but not all that hot. (It is also delicious.) After about five minutes, however, I noticed that my forehead was damp, and the entire rim of my mouth felt as if it was afire. A little beer, which I had prudently ordered with the curry, helped some.

Five more minutes, and my eyes began watering. Well, that had happened once before, when I accidentally bit into a pepper during a Szechuan dinner. But a few minutes later my nose started to run, and I dimly wondered what I had let myself in for. The dominant emotion at that point, however, was an insane urge to go on eating — and alternating, now, between beer and ice water in a futile effort to put out the flames.

SCIENCE WORLD Surgery Versus Glasses

By Gayle Young
UPI Science Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — When a Russian doctor first introduced a surgical procedure in which faulty eyesight could be corrected by slicing and reshaping the cornea, patients and the medical community gave a collective shudder.

Now, over five years later, almost 200,000 Americans have spurned their eyeglasses and doctors across the country are switching from skepticism to enthusiasm over the procedure.

"There are still ophthalmologists who will not do the surgery, but many more have crossed that line of resistance," said Dr. Mary Beth Moore, assistant professor of ophthalmology at The University of Texas Health Science Center in Dallas. "More people are hearing about the procedure and are willing to try it, especially those who can't wear contacts or wear glasses because of their jobs."

What changed both doctors' and patients' minds seems to be the recently released results of two separate studies on radial keratotomy — one conducted at the behest of the National Eye Institute and the other by a private physician in Kansas City who has performed the operation on more than 900 people.

Both studies show an effectiveness rate of more than 90 percent with few complications, said Dr. Seretha C. Cartwright of Emory University, coordinator of the Eye Institute's study.

"The procedure was found to be safe and effective," she said. However, not every patient walked away from the operating room with 20-20 vision and some reported their vision continued to change years after the surgery, she said.

In performing radial keratotomy, surgeons make eight slits positioned in the cornea like the spokes of a wheel. These incisions flatten the lens, causing light rays to focus closer to the retina which brings faraway objects into sharper focus.

The surgery is only effective on people with moderate to mild nearsightedness, doctors say. But its success has spurred a flurry of new eye surgery techniques to correct other vision deficiencies.

Epikeratophakia, where a donated cornea is carved in the shape of a contact lens and sewn over the patient's own cornea, has been performed for five years at the Louisiana State Eye Center in New Orleans.

Commission Meeting Was Forum For Campaigning

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

With the campaigning underway for the Dec. 3 city election, politics reared its head at Monday night's Longwood City Commission meeting when John Hepp, a commission candidate for district 4, asked to be put on the agenda at the next meeting.

Hepp, a former mayor who is running in a three-man race with Commissioner Ed Myers and former commissioner Charles Pappas, stood during the public participation period to speak and ask to be included on the agenda at the next commission meeting. He said he wanted to discuss the legality of Police Chief Greg Manning also holding the position of city administrator.

Manning, who was twice appointed city administrator by the present commission, asked that Hepp not be allowed on the agenda as it "would hurt employee morale."

"This commission has done more to solve problems than any other commission in 13 years I've been with the city and I don't want someone getting up here and interfering," Manning said.

Later he repeated his statement about the commission's accomplishments adding "I sure don't want it to come to an end because of a personal attitude."

Commissioner June Lormann, who is running for re-election against Dr. Fred Pearl, said, "I wonder if, since Mr. Hepp is a candidate, he should be put on the agenda. It is partially a political situation."

"These appointments (Manning's and City Engineer Charles Hassler's replacing Tommy Jackson as public works director) were made quite awhile back," said Manning. "Now Mr. Hepp is coming at election time to question it. It should have been done at that time. I don't believe it's fair to come in now."

"A lot of people get interested around election time," commented City Attorney Gerald Korman. "Mr. Hepp wants to discuss things we've already held public hearings on."

Hepp responded, "I don't believe I heard anybody ask for you. Is the city attorney supposed to make such comments or is he supposed to wait until he is asked by the commission for an opinion?"

Korman replied that "the mayor holds the gavel, if he feels any individual just wants to make political points he should treat him just like any other individual."

Mayor Harvey Smerilson is running for re-election against former mayor and commissioner Steve Uskert.

City Clerk Don Terry said "Anyone who comes directly to the city clerk can get on the agenda."

Hepp brought up several items during the public participation period. He suggested that since the commission was considering changing the dates of city meetings they might also consider the day because of the "concert next door" (Rosie O'Grady's pipe and drum band practices each Monday in the city's community building across from city hall) and the ballgames on television.

The commission earlier gave preliminary approval to an ordinance changing the meeting nights to the first and third Mondays and fourth if needed, leaving the second Monday open for workshops. The commission presently meets on the second and third Mondays. The change is being made to allow the staff more time between meetings to prepare.

Hepp also said the proposed borrowing of $5 million by the city for street and drainage projects was in violation of the charter requirements regarding capital improvements that calls for a referendum. Smerilson said "We are legally going along with this. The people have already shown they don't want a millage increase to pay for capital improvements by voting them down. This is a fairer way to finance them."

Hepp also wanted to know about the $800,000 police station. "Now I read it will cost $1.5 million," Hepp said. Smerilson said he had heard a rumor it would cost $1.2 million, but he doesn't know where that comes from since the figure is still $800,000.

IN BRIEF

All Systems Go For Challenger And International Shuttle Crew

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—The shuttle Challenger was fueled for launch today with a record crew of eight on a weeklong Spacelab flight chartered by West Germany that marks a new era of international space cooperation.

Final processing has gone smoothly and the major concern today was the threat of rain and thundershowers in the area spawned by tropical storm Juan.

Torrential rain accompanied by heavy lightning rolled over the launch complex Tuesday night but early today a cloudless sky greeted shuttle workers, although rain remained in the forecast.

Challenger's giant external fuel tank was fully loaded with its half-million gallons of supercold liquid hydrogen and liquid oxygen propellant shortly after sunrise and the crew members, awaking in the staggered shifts they will maintain in orbit, were all up and about by 7:40 a.m. EST.

The shuttle's five NASA astronauts are commander Henry Hartsfield, making his third shuttle flight, co-pilot Steven Nagel, James Buchli, Guion Bluford and Bonnie Dunbar, the seventh American woman to fly in space.

Joining them for the Spacelab D1 mission — the "P" stands for Deutschland — are physicists Ernst Messerschmid and Reinhard Furrer, both of West Germany, and European Space Agency astronaut Wubbo Ockels, also a physicist, of the Netherlands.

Shands Branch May Be In Prison

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A task force is studying options for improving prison medical care that include making a prison hospital a satellite of Shands teaching hospital, Gov. Bob Graham said Tuesday.

A subcommittee of the task force headed by Tom Herndon, Graham's chief of staff, said state leaders should also consider pumping enough money into the Reception Medical Center at Lake Butler to allow it to offer the same type and quality service available at outside hospitals.

Department of Corrections Secretary Louie Wainwright said those and other options need more study before he is ready to recommend what to do with the 150-bed facility.

A federal judge on June 28 barred prison officials from conducting surgery or caring for critically ill prisoners at the hospital. The court order came after a team of outside doctors said substandard care contributed to the deaths of inmates at the prison hospital.

...Plan

sewer service; a development district — to protect the "semi-rural" character of the downtown; the Lake Mary Boulevard corridor — to include the Interstate 4 interchange east to the city limits and allowing for a 200 foot setback on either side of the boulevard; residential uses — to include the density of development standards within city limits and to include easements with no building allowed below the mean highwater line (instead of the previous wording not below the 100 year flood plain).

Mrs. Kramer said some areas should be set aside for conservation purposes and those should be no smaller than 1 acre and essential sewer services should be used to control growth by extending sewer lines and/or denying septic tank approval because of ecology problems.

Several areas of consideration were also suggested by her plan to include: (1) a section studying planned unit developments; (2) different land use implementations; (3) impact fees to be added later; (4) a yearly review of the question of the vested rights of property owners to do as they wish with their land; (5) buffer setback requirements to preserve the environment including a 200 foot setback around lakes with attention to stormwater runoff areas.

Lengthy discussion among the five commissioners, Mayor Dick Fess and City Attorney Robert Petree concerning the as of yet unfinished transportation study by Camp Dresser that is a vital part of the land use plan though it is not a requirement by state law.

Commissioners seemed in a quandary about what they were legally required to do with the transportation study, thus prompting Mayor Fess to interject. "We must be very specific about what we are doing with this or we will be leaving our legal tails hanging out..." The study took two hours of heated debate, head scratching and input from assembled citizenry, including a question from developer and resident Ken Steves who asked, "How much more time do they need for that transportation study?"

Fess then said he is, "quite frankly screwed up on this. I have already ripped the heads off of counsel and the staff about it. It has been a total comedy of errors by everyone involved and they (Camp Dresser) are way off their time table for this. It will be reviewed at a later time. We can adopt this plan without the transportation study included in it. My God! What are we trying to do protect Lake Mary against the rest of the world?"

After the revelation that the land plan could be adopted without the transportation study, Commissioner Charlie Webster then exploded at City Manager Kathy Rice saying, "Kathy, why didn't you tell us we can adopt the damn thing without the transportation plan included?" Her reply was, "No excuse Commissioner Webster."

When the final vote came near midnight only King still expressed concern over the plan. His problem with the plan is a consistent question he has about building on existing flood plains and more specifically building commercial developments near them, thus aggravating already ecologically sensitive areas.

"My 16 years experience as a college biology teacher has taught me that when you have a large drainage basin that area is frequently flood prone," King said. "You can't over-develop around flood prone areas without damaging the surrounding area."

Williams said the accident and several others in Lake County about the same time involving alcohol has convinced him no one should drink and drive. Williams, who works for a grocery chain, said he has not been drinking the night of the accident.

...Sheppard

"That will be up to legal people to decide," he said. "The integrity of the charter has been maintained."

The ruling meant that Glascock will now face Sheppard and former city commissioner John Leighty in the mayoral scrimmages.

Sheppard also argued that while he lived in the Fern Park office, his legal residence was on Lake Triplet Drive, within the city and now occupied by his wife, Phyllis.

"I never had any doubt really," Sheppard said about Mize's ruling. "I would have never had run had I knew I was ineligible. I always felt morally and legally qualified to run."

Sheppard said because he knew he had to be a resident to qualify to run he moved from Fern Park to the Reflection Apartments in Casselberry. Although he lives in the apartment, Sheppard said his legal address is still the couple's home.

During the hearing, Mrs. Sheppard testified that while her husband has not lived at the house for more than a year he does pay the utilities, mortgage, sewer, water and telephone bills, receives mail there, and does household repairs. Sheppard said he and his wife are not in the process of a divorce.

To qualify to run for mayor of Casselberry, a person must be a registered voter, be a resident of the city for at least a year prior to qualifying, open a campaign bank account and produce the signatures of 15 registered voters of Casselberry attesting that the person is qualified to run.

Glascock filed the suit Oct. 15. He is finishing his third year as mayor, one year as a replacement for Sheppard who resigned as mayor because of personal problems.

The ruling:

"It is my finding that the city of Casselberry's charter provision requires that a candidate for public office be a continuous resident for one year prior to the date of qualifying for election. I further find that the evidence is insufficient to find that Owen Sheppard is not a legal resident of the city of Casselberry. That while the evidence did show that Mr. Sheppard was residing for a period of several months outside the city, the evidence is insufficient to show the acquisition of a new domicile or the required intent to acquire a new domicile. Therefore, it is the determination of the court that Owen Sheppard is a legal resident of Casselberry."

...Grant

"He had been over there to meet them and they had all given him their autographs," Mrs. Tiffany said. "He was on his way to the launch dressed his boots and hat. The PR man at the cape had asked him what special treatment he would like and he told him 'I am the make believe, they are the real thing. I just want to sit there and watch.' He was such a sweet man."

The accident occurred on U.S. Highway 50 just inside Brevard County. Grant was third in a line of cars traveling eastbound on the two-lane road when he pulled his 1983 Cordoba out of the line of traffic and attempted to pass the two cars in front of him. After he pulled out, the car in front of him also pulled out to the northside shoulder of the road.

Grant over compensated and then crossed the highway slamming into a water-filled southside ditch. Grant was ejected through the passenger window into the water. He was not wearing a seat belt, according to the FHP.

A witness driving behind Grant, Roy Walters, 39, of Orlando, pulled Grant from the water. No other cars were involved and no one else was injured.

Trooper Kirby said investigators initially thought the car that pulled out in front of Grant did not stop, but he said they are not sure. Charges may be pending following an investigation. Kirby said there was no indication any alcohol was involved in the accident. Damage to Grant's car was minimal, he said.

Mrs. Tiffany said the Florida Highway Patrolman who brought the bad news came to her door by mistake and asked her as a friend of the Grants to accompany him when he informed Grant's wife Carolyn of the accident a little after 10 a.m.

Mrs. Tiffany said she then phoned two of the Grants' three children, son, Kirby Jr. and married daughter, Chris, so that they could come to be with their mother. She said the couple also has another married daughter living out of state.

In an official statement, Sea World spokesman Kim DeVos said, "We are deeply saddened by the untimely loss of Kirby Grant. He was a loyal and dedicated member of the Sea World staff since 1979, serving as a goodwill ambassador — in all the world respected and admired. In August he joined the Cypress Garden staff and had already begun representing them in his very special ways. We share his family's grief and send them our love and prayers."

Ambassadors For Halloween Safety

Evening Herald, Sanford, Fl. Wednesday, Oct. 26, 1988—7A

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

Two local ambassadors have been going door to door this month in an effort to ensure on Halloween—and throughout the rest of the year—Sanford's youngsters can safely do the same. While Sanford Police Lt. Mike Rotundo has offered a security message to students at area elementary schools, John Leaman, National Child Safety Council (NCSC) safety coordinator, has visited local merchants to obtain the funds that finance Rotundo's discussions and presentations.

Both men agree their efforts have been successful. Lt. Rotundo has seen a large number of Sanford's elementary school youngsters and Leaman reported he has raised approximately $4,000 from 50 city merchants and businessmen.

Lt. Rotundo, head of the Sanford Police crime prevention and community relations department, has provided the NCSC program to local children for the last four years.

The materials he uses are geared at three different age levels (6-7, 7-9 and 9-12) and offer their safety message in a fun, non-threatening way. This is done through coloring books full of clowns and animals, manuals containing word games that offer safety messages, and entertaining story books containing serious, security messages.

Also, Rotundo has just received the NCSC's new "Safetyup," a hand puppet superhero who sings his safety message. "Safetyup" tells children the whys and hows of learning phone numbers, reporting emergencies and saying no to strangers, drugs and alcohol.

The NCSC program "is great, it makes kids aware," said Rotundo. "It's a fun way to provide important information. The kids learn and enjoy at the same time."

He described the packages' three age groupings as "a terrific way to educate."

"I'm able to reach the kids on their level, instead of offering them information they find boring or don't understand."

The Seminole schools give high praise to the NCSC program, as well as "the personable and enthusiastic man who presents it."

"Lt. Rotundo's visits are enjoyed by students and staff," said Walter Meriweather Jr., Seminole schools safety and insurance manager. "They're fun for our children, but they also teach them valuable lessons."

Distributing this information with life-saving potential makes Lt. Rotundo "the link" between "making kids aware and helping them understand that the messages in something like a coloring book are so important." Meriweather added.

Rotundo stated that his was "a pretty easy job," because the NCSC materials "have been researched and developed so well."

"The presentations are a way to build a friendly relationship between police and children. They're meeting a police officer in situations that are fun for them. Instead of just seeing us in big cars driving past them on the street," he said.

According to John Leaman, Sanford's merchants and businessmen have been "very, very generous" in assisting the program's continuation.

"People want to do their part and they give what they can," he said, adding that this year's donations have ranged from $25 to $300.

"Without them we couldn't do it," he said. "And because of them there won't be any problem with providing materials to Lt. Rotundo."

Leaman, who described the NCSC as "the largest and oldest child safety organization in the world," said the money he raises in Sanford is utilized exclusively for the city's children.

"It's part of a community's effort to protect its children," said Leaman, a Longwood resident who has been active in the program for the past five years.

"I enjoy going around," he said, "because I know what the results are. I'm helping Sanford by providing the safety materials that are taken into the schools."

Leaman said in addition to the materials it provides for local child safety programs, the NCSC also sponsors a national child safety council which publishes and distributes an abducted child directory every three months. The NCSC also initiated and coordinates nation-wide efforts to locate missing children through its milk carton and paper bag programs. Leaman said.

A book case in the Sanford Police Department lobby is filled with information on the programs that are coordinated by Rotundo. In addition to the local child safety effort, the data describes the city's Neighborhood Watch program and citizen crime commission.

A lifelong Sanford resident, Rotundo sees his involvement with citizen security as "a very important way of helping my neighbors."

He also sees Sanford's response to these programs as perhaps necessitating the addition of another officer to assist him. "People are the most effective tool we have against crime," Rotundo said. "And the more of us involved, the safer our city will be."

Miami's Urban Stress Test

MIAMI (UPI) — Ah, the magic of Miami.

As everyone who watches television knows, Miami is the city of chain saw massacres, cocaine cowboys, teeny bikinis, refugees, slime, sleaze and sun.

What does all this mean? Stress with a capital "S."

This year, the bad news has been exponential. First, Miami-Dade County earned the repeat distinction of being the murder capital of the world. In addition, more cocaine than ever before has been seized in sun city.

But the latest news came as a surprise: that Miami's high crime rate, dense population and surface water pollution combined to push it to the bottom of the list in a new "urban stress test." Miami had the worst score of 184 cities, edging out New York, Los Angeles and even Cleveland.

Not surprisingly, Miami's finest were not pleased with the latest bolt of rotten publicity.

In response, Miami Herald columnist Carl Hlaasen wrote his own version of the Urban Stress Test. He called it "Carl Hlaasen's South Florida Stress Test."

Question No. 1: On the average, how many nights a week are you awakened by the sound of gunfire?
—Every night (10 pts.)
—Four nights or fewer (5 pts.)
—I sleep right through it (1 pt.) Judging by your experience, what kind of gunfire is it?
—Saturday Night Special (1 pt.)
—MAC-10 or Uzi (5 pts.)
—Medium range artillery (10 pts.)

How many times have you been taken hostage by a deranged lunatic who was not a member of your immediate family?
—Only once or twice (1 pt.)
—Three or more times (5 pts.)
—I am currently a hostage (10 pts.)

Other questions and answers dealt with drug smugglers, exiled dictators, international arms merchants, pipe bombs and animal sacrifices.

Hlaasen, a South Florida native, said he wrote the column because he is "tired of all this defensiveness and (the) silly reactions you get from the founding fathers" whenever a critical article is written about Miami. "They wonder, why are they picking on Miami?"

"No one has a sense of humor about it," Hlaasen said. "Any big city has problems. They've been making jokes about New York for years."

... The fact of the matter is we have a TV show ("Miami Vice") on every week that has a minimum of eight violent murders every night.

"We have all the problems of Manhattan or Toledo, Ohio, but we also have a beautiful climate."

Hlaasen concluded his personal stress test with the scoring.

"Scoring is simple: 30 points or less means minimum stress — you're doing fine. Forty to 80 points means it's time to restock the Vallum.

"Anything over 80 points and you'd better pull the kids out of school, call the moving van and start house-hunting in a quieter place.

"Say, Beirut."

Longwood Sets Bryant Hearing

The Longwood City Commission hopes to resolve once and for all the matter of City Building Official R.A. "Bud" Bryant's job at a continued public hearing at 6:30 p.m. on Nov. 12 at city hall. Labor attorney David Kornreich will be present to instruct the city commission and give his recommendations at the hearing.

This will be the third session of this ongoing hearing at which the building official has had charges, complaints and questions hurled at him by the commission. At the end of the Oct. 22 session a motion by City Commissioner Ed Myers that Bryant be "terminated" was tabled on a motion by Commissioner Larry Goldberg.

At first the building official was criticized for by-passing the chain of command and not going through City Administrator Greg Manning when he sent the commission a memo interpreted as meaning that the building department could not do its job properly due to outside interference. When it was determined that Bryant does not report to Manning but is directly responsible to the commission he was then criticized for not going directly to the commission with any problems he might have.

Manning has also cited several instances where developments did not meet the requirements in height of trees in landscaping, back up space, and handicapped parking signs, which Bryant said is the responsibility of the city engineer.

Another complaint was that Bryant informed the Home Builders Association that the commission had improperly transferred $8,500 raised from building fees from the building department to the police department budget. After the HBA lodged a complaint with the city the funds were returned to the building department.

Bryant is the only building inspector since the commission eliminated the salary for the second year's budget which started Oct. 1. The commission would like to put City Engineer Charles Hassler over the building department, as well as the public works and planning departments, but is awaiting a ruling by the state attorney general on whether he can legally hold both positions.

The hearing will be held prior to a joint meeting between the city and county staffers on matters of mutual interest at 8 p.m. Nov. 12.

James Goll, 9 year-old son of Robert and Elaine Goll of 621 Tony Ct., Winter Springs, is the winning artist in Cardinal Industries' contest to design a corporate greeting card. It was announced by the judges.

Federal Computers Vulnerable To Fraud

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Civilian federal agencies that use computers to store sensitive information, pay bills and send monthly benefits to millions of Americans may adopt Pentagon measures to guard the systems against fraud.

A survey of 25 computer systems at 17 federal agencies shows they are vulnerable to fraud and waste because of lax security. General Accounting Office Associate Director William Franklin told Congress Tuesday.

The survey was based in part on the Defense Department's "trusted computer systems evaluation criteria," a method of checking security "being considered for future application by civilian agencies," Franklin said.

Franklin and Richard Kusserow, inspector general of the Health and Human Services Department, said government workers — not "hackers" tapping into computer systems from the outside — are the major source of security problems.

A 1983 HHS survey and a report on recent interviews with 46 persons involved in computer-related fraud showed more than half were federal employees. Kusserow said. Of the rest, 32 percent were state and local government employees and 12 percent were employed by private agencies under contract to government agencies, he said.

Such fraud, he said, was generally covered up by wiping out computer records within a few months and by destroying related paperwork.

Statue Of Liberty's 100th Birthday Celebration Set

NEW YORK (UPI) — President Reagan will relight the Statue of Liberty's torch at her 100th birthday party, a four-day fete featuring a parade of up to 141 ships and a concert with Frank Sinatra and Lionel Richie, officials said Tuesday.

Chrysler Chairman Lee Iacocca, who also heads the Statue of Liberty-Ellis Island Foundation, said Miss Liberty's centennial celebration in July will be "heard and seen around the world."

On Monday, Reagan declared 1986 "The Centennial Year of Liberty in the United States." The statue was given as a gift to the United States by France in 1886.

Plans call for the president to unveil the newly restored Lady Liberty July 3 and light her new torch. Her old torch was removed 15 months ago on Independence Day.

The ravaged 151-foot Lady of the Harbor, now encased from head-to-toe in 300 tons of aluminum scaffolding, has been undergoing a multi-million dollar face and body lift for more than one year.

Ellis Island, the immigration center closed in 1954, is also being restored.

Chief Justice Warren Burger will swear-in 5,000 new citizens on Ellis Island July 3 at Miss Liberty's 100th birthday party as another 20,000 people simultaneously take the oath across the country, he said.

The next day, there will be an International Naval Review in New York Harbor with navies from as many as 117 countries joining the U.S. Atlantic Fleet.

Ships from as many as 141 nations will be on parade in a Parade of Sails likely to surpass the march of tall ships at the U.S. Bicentennial celebration in 1976, Iacocca said.

Fireworks launched from 30 barges in the harbor will light up the skies July 4 and the New York Philharmonic will perform in Lady Liberty's honor in Central Park, he said.

Iacocca said there would be free concerts the night of July 4 and July 5 in New Jersey's Liberty State Park.

The July 6 finale at the Meadowlands in New Jersey will feature more fireworks and another concert — this one by Frank Sinatra, Lionel Richie, Kenny Rogers and Willie Nelson.

Lyman Clinches SAC Crown

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

For all intents and purposes, Lyman's Lady Greyhounds won the Seminole Athletic Conference title the second time they beat Oviedo (three weeks ago). Lyman made it official Tuesday night as it clinched the first SAC volleyball championship with a 15-1, 15-9 victory over Lake Howell at Lyman High.

Lyman, which improved to 17-3 overall, did what it does best Tuesday night as the powerful net play of Kim Forsyth and Sheila Mandy was too much for the Lady Silver Hawks to handle. The Lady Greyhounds, 9-0 in the SAC, can end the season with a perfect conference record Thursday at Lake Brantley.

Lake Howell, which now stands at 4-7 overall and 3-5 in the conference, takes on second-place Oviedo tonight and ends the regular season Thursday at Lake Mary.

Lyman zipped to a 6-0 lead in the opening game with a spike and a block by Forsyth leading the way. Jolee Johnson's dink returned the serve to Lake Howell and Johnson served a point to make it 6-1.

The Lady Greyhounds then came back with nine straight points, three on Dawn Boyesen's serve, two on the serves of Donna Ball and Mandy and one on Kristie Kaiser's. Mandy served the final two points of the first game. Forsyth converted on 5 of 6 kill opportunities in the opening game.

Lyman built a 6-2 lead in the early going of game two with Tami Foss serving three points and Forsyth and Mandy each getting in spikes. Lake Howell pulled within 6-4, then got the serve back and put on its best rally of the night.

With Michelle Arana's line drive serve doing most of the damage, the Hawks reeled off four straight points for an 8-6 lead. One of Arana's serves was an ace while a spike by Johnson accounted for the sixth point.

With Lake Howell holding a 9-8 lead, Mandy went on to serve six straight as Lyman took control, 14-9. Forsyth's block highlighted the rally. A sizzling spike by Forsyth returned the serve to the Lady Greyhounds and Jodie Vega served the final point of the match which came on a spike by Lori Helms.

OVIEDO NIPS LAKE MARY

Oviedo's Lady Lions bounced back from a first game defeat to claim a 13-15, 15-11, 15-13 victory over Lake Mary in SAC action Tuesday at Lake Mary High.

The Lady Lions, 16-3 overall and 7-2 in the conference, end the regular season tonight at 7 at home against Lake Howell. It will also be Parents Night tonight at Oviedo.

Lake Mary, which has come on strong lately, now stands at 4-13 overall and 3-6 in the SAC. The Lady Rams conclude the regular season Thursday at home against Lake Howell.

"Lake Mary has really improved a lot," Oviedo coach Anita Carlson said. "They had some serves that gave us problems. Lisa Knapp was the only one in the back row who could return some of their serves."

Carlson said along with Knapp's back row play, senior standout Stephanie Nelson had a good night at the net as did junior Kelly Price.

OVIEDO JV TRIUMPHS

The Oviedo junior varsity moved to within one win of a berth in the SAC JV Championship by downing Lake Mary Tuesday, 15-7, 6-15, 15-11 at Lake Mary High.

The JV Lady Lions ran their conference record to 7-2 which is tied with Lake Brantley (7-2) for first place. Oviedo plays Lake Howell today while Lake Brantley takes on Lyman Thursday. Lake Mary is one game back at 6-3. The JV Lady Rams face Lake Howell Thursday.

The JV championship will be played Friday night.

1,064-Yarder Next For Tribe Defense

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Seminole's steadily improving defense has met all the rest, now it's time to meet the best. And the best running back in Seminole County, statistically speaking, is Oviedo's Andrew Smith.

Smith, a senior, has rushed for 1,064 yards this fall, already eclipsing the standard measurement for runners — the 1,000-yard barrier. It fell with a thud last week when he rushed for 136 yards.

The hard-running halfback became Oviedo's second 1,000-yard rusher in two years. Pop Bowers, who is teaming with ex-Lion David Wilson at Evangel College in Springfield (Mo.) this college season, went over 1,000 last year.

As Lyman did with tailback Robert Thomas last week, Oviedo makes no secret of who is going to give the ball. "Andrew is our offense," Oviedo coach Jack Blanton has said many times. "He is awesome."

Smith also leads the county in touchdowns and scoring with 10 TDs for 60 points. He has caught three passes for 24 yards.

... County Football Leaders On Page 12A

And, Smith still has four games remaining to add to his outstanding yardage total.

Despite his power and speed, along with a solid offensive line anchored by center Andy Palmer, guard Gordon King and tackle James Walker, Smith may find some tough sledding against the Seminoles.

The Tribe has reduced its point total each game. It gave up 24 to Astronaut, 20 to Titusville, 14 to Lake Howell, 13 to Lake Mary, 10 to Lake Brantley, seven to Seabreeze and six to Lyman Friday in a 7-6 win.

Seminole's aggressive defenders had mixed results against Thomas, a back close to Smith's caliber. They allowed 103 yards but it took Thomas 33 attempts to run up his total.

"They have some swarming defenders," Oviedo assistant coach Ken Kroog said about the 'Noles. "They really get after you and like to hit."

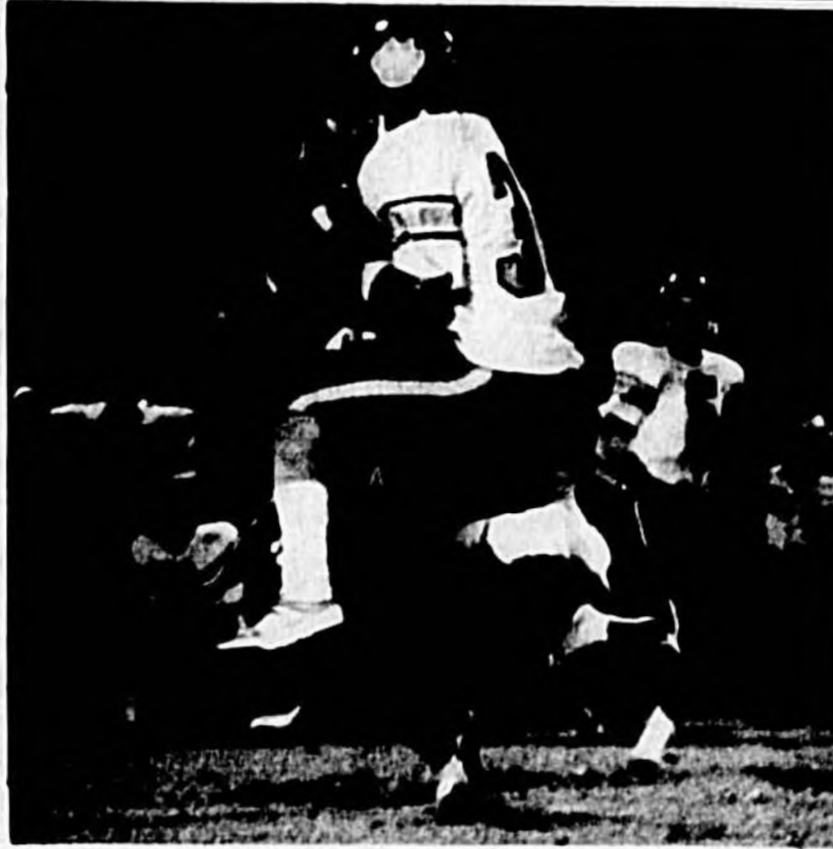

No doubt they'll be after No. 21 for Oviedo Friday.

While Smith rolled up another 100-yard outing in Oviedo 15-12 loss to Lake Mary, the Rams' defense — led by junior linebacker Ryan Lisle — made the difference in the game.

Lisle came up with eight tackles and eight assists along with two fumble recoveries and an intercepted pass. He returned one fumble for a touchdown and corralled the pass in the fourth quarter to cement the victory.

For his exploits, Lisle was named the Burger King Defensive Player of the Week Tuesday by the selection committee. Seminole's Carl Tipton, a crisp-blocking guard, took Burger King Offensive Player of the Week for 90 percent blocking success, the highest of the year by a Seminole lineman.

Overlooked during Lisle's great night was the performance by lineman Robb Reddington. The 200-pound Lake Mary junior collected nine tackles and four assists in the win. Oviedo's Willie Gainey also turned in a good night defensively, picking off two passes to run his season total to four.

Bennett Steadfast: Young Stays Idle Despite 0-8 Record

TAMPA (UPI) — Steve Young fans will have to wait at least another month to see Tampa Bay's millionaire, third-string quarterback.

Coach Leeman Bennett, still looking for a victory halfway through the regular season, said Monday his original plans to bring Young along slowly remain intact — although the 0-8 Buccaneers are already eliminated from the NFC Central Division title.

"I thought yesterday's game was a real key one for us," said Bennett, referring to a 32-14 loss to New England. "I thought going in if we could win eight out of nine games we'd be in consideration for a wild card (playoff) spot."

Bennett said guard Sean Farrell, who rested a pulled hamstring Sunday, will probably be shifted to tackle for this week's game against the New York Giants. He added he was not considering any other changes, including the use of Young in place of starter Steve DeBerg. Young, who played two years for the USFL's Los Angeles Express after a record-setting career at Brigham Young, is also listed behind rookie Alan Risher on the depth chart.

"Like I said before, you may see Steve Young in the 12th week, the 13th week, something like that," said Bennett. "DeBerg was hurried on a number of his throws by the Patriot defense. He didn't play great, but he also didn't play at stinko."

Bennett pointed to injuries as an integral factor in Sunday's game, which saw the Patriots rally from a 14-0 deficit with 32 unanswered points.

"Our effort was good, but when you lose four or five players off a team that's not that deep in talent to begin with, you're out there with a much shorter stick than the other guy," Bennett said. "All we can do is hang in and stay patient. I see people out there trying and giving effort. This (0-8 start) is one of those things that's very difficult to accept."

Starting tackle George Yarno suffered a partial tear of knee ligaments and will be placed on injured reserve while return specialist Leon Bright had an operation Sunday for torn knee ligaments and will miss the rest of the season.

"The guys are a little bit down like all of us," said Bennett after Tampa Bay's 32nd loss in its last 40 games. "We went into the game expecting to win and it looked like we had an excellent chance. We just didn't get it done. Losing has taken its toll on all of us for eight weeks."

GIESLER TO MISS WEEK
MIAMI (UPI) — Arthroscopic surgery performed on Miami offensive tackle Jon Giesler should allow him to return to action next week, but it is just a stop-gap measure and the seven-year veteran from Michigan will need more surgery after the season.

Giesler underwent the surgery Monday night during which doctors removed particles from his right knee.

"I'm still going to need some more surgery after the season's over," Giesler said. "What they did was just to get me through the season."

The knee was so sore it was slowing Giesler's performance and making it nearly impossible to walk for several days after a game.

"It just got to the point where it was hampering my performance," he said.

Shula is hopeful Giesler will be back for the Nov. 10 rematch with the New York Jets in the Orange Bowl.

Wet Bet? Put Cash On Greyhounds

While my sportswriting counterparts — Fearless Fister and Timmy the Greek — are sweating over this week's prep football matchups, I've been given the opportunity of trying my hand at some predictions.

Of course, my forecast takes place in a much wetter environment than that of the football gridiron and the prophecy is one of greater importance than a mere meeting of two teams.

The meeting occurs Friday at 2 p.m. with the diving and Saturday at 10 a.m. The event is the annual conference championships and the place is Lyman High School in Longwood.

Although the significance of the meet remains the same, the name and opponents have changed. The former Five Star Conference Championships is now the Seminole Athletic Conference Championships and the teams have gone from 11 to six.

The teams may have changed, but the faces are the same. Lyman has won the conference title six out of the last seven years and is favored by many to add another championship crown to its collection.

However, Walt Morgan's young Ramphibians have other ideas, according to Lyman head coach Don Clark.

"Walt (Morgan) and I both have our people in the right places," Clark said. "He has more guys, so it's going to boil down to whoever comes through and decides to swim that day. That will decide the true conference champions."

Clark and his Greyhounds are used to coming through with spectacular performances, as the girls' team has won the last two years on the last event. "The last two years we (girls' team) haven't won and individual event, but have won the meet," Clark said. "Last year we won the meet by 10 points because we won the 400 free relay. I hope this year we can put it (championship) away early with some good swimmers."

Chuck Burgess
SWIMMING

Gray hairs and nail-bitten fingers are the norm for Clark's exhibitions at meets. "I tell my kids every year that I can only take them so far," Clark said. "Their performance on the day of the meet depends on them. I can't swim for them."

Lyman, which is the slight favorite over Lake Mary in the boys and the heavy favorite in the girls, may have a problem in the depth department, though, according to Clark.

"You don't win a meet solely with your best kids. You've got to have depth," he said. "Without depth, you're dead. I just hope our middle kids can come through for us."

In the boys' meet Charlie "Chazz" Rose looks to be the dominating figure. "Charlie is entered in the 200 I.M and the 100 free," Clark said. "And unless he breaks both of his legs or something catastrophic happens, he'll win both of them."

As far as domination goes in the boys' competition, that's about it for the 'Hounds, who wager the Rams will give them a fight to remember. "I've been telling my guys not to take Lake Mary too lightly," Clark said. "They've got a great program and Walt Morgan is one heck of a coach."

Looking on down the line, there should be no real threat to these two teams — in force that is.

Predicted order of boys' meet: Lyman by a bone over Lake Mary or I sleep in the doghouse for a week and give up making educated guesses. The rest of the field will turn up as follows: Lake Brantley, Lake Howell, Seminole, and Oviedo.

The winning coach of the boys' and girls' meets will receive coach of the year honors and the first two finishers will be awarded All-Conference status.

The girls' meet will matchup more evenly as first places go. Lake Brantley holds the edge as it presents Shari Spiller, Lisa Moon and Kristen Pauley.

"Lake Brantley will win over half of the events, but they don't have the depth," Clark said. "They've got those three girls and they're definitely quick."

Probably the hottest race of the meet will take place during the 100 breaststroke, according to Clark. "The 100 breast is unique because there are three girls with the same times and the meet may be decided on the outcome."

The race will feature Jane Hall, Kelly Wise and Spiller, all from different teams.

Leesburg Gents Really Play The Game

Tennis players all love to be on the court playing their sport. Most good tennis players play three or four times a week and although they take their play and practice seriously it is still just a game to them.

Ah, but there is a certain number of tennis players that do not consider it just a game. To this group of tennis nuts it is a way of life. They play every day of the year.

I know four gentlemen in Leesburg that play doubles for two hours every morning of the year and have not missed a day in over four years. They play through pain, rain, divorces and any other obstacle that threatens to get in their way.

They are the counterpart to the ultra-marathoners who run 30 or 40 miles every day. Now it's true that this type of tennis player is the rare one — the exception and not the rule — but still there are many, many out there like that.

They will not give up their daily game of tennis for anyone or anybody. For this person there should be a way out, don't you think? There should be a set of rules and/or reasons for this tennis junkie to be able to take a day off every now and then.

I was in Leesburg a few weeks ago playing one of my former players and good friends Rich Shanklin. Rich is a former Lake Brantley High standout who went on to make All American at Seminole Community College and all-conference at Old Dominion.

Anyway, Rich pointed these guys out to me and I was very interested in talking to them about their tennis. They have played together for years and to insure that no one ever misses and spoils their game they devised their own set of rules as to when they can miss a day.

Larry Castle

I thought it was quite amusing. Here's the scenario:

●1. — You may miss a day because of nuclear war. The rational being that playing tennis during or soon after a nuclear war would probably cause too many distractions to really concentrate on the tennis call. All the people running about would really cause one to lose concentration and take the eyes off the old ball. Also the air at this time is a little heavy and you could probably only get in a set or two anyway.

●2. — You may miss a day because of a broken leg (or other important bones) that are useful in playing tennis. Besides the cast makes funny marks on the court and it gives a player a built-in excuse when he misses an easy overhead smash. Take at least a few days off before you set back out there.

●3. — You may take a day off because of excessive heat. Once the temperature on the court reaches 130 degrees Fahrenheit a tennis player should begin thinking about taking a day off. For one thing the rubber on your shoes starts to melt and the synthetic fabrics of your tennis clothes start to ooze over your body.

●4. — You may take a day off if it is snowing. If the level of the snow is more than net high you should take a day off. If the snow is below the level of the net you should take some cans of red spray paint, paint the lines and the balls and play on.

●5. — You may take a day off when the city is using the courts to train attack dogs. When eight or 10 large attack dogs are roaming around your court, concentration tends to suffer. It's hard to watch the ball and the dogs at the same time. Also, when one or more of these large animals has you around the foot, running after the ball is more difficult.

●6. — You may take a day off to get married or divorced. Actually you should only take one-half a day off for the latter and you don't have to furnish the balls for a while.

Hall Hopes To Slow Bo

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — Florida Coach Galen Hall knows his Gator defense cannot stop Auburn's Bo Jackson Saturday, but he hopes they will be able to slow him down enough to win the game.

"We know we can't go out and completely stop a dominating player like Bo Jackson," Hall said Tuesday at his weekly news conference. "You just hope to play well enough on defense to slow him down. Not too many teams have even managed to do that."

The Gators put their 17-game unbeaten streak on the line Saturday when they visit Jordan-Hare Stadium, and they do not have a history of great success at Auburn, with a 3-20-1 record at the Tiger's home field.

But Hall said past records mean nothing and he expects the teams to be evenly matched.

"We haven't had a very impressive record up there in the past, but this is a new year," Hall said. "Our team came out of the Virginia Tech game a little beat up and bruised up, but we'll practice and play this week with a lot of pride and emotion. I believe Auburn will do the same."

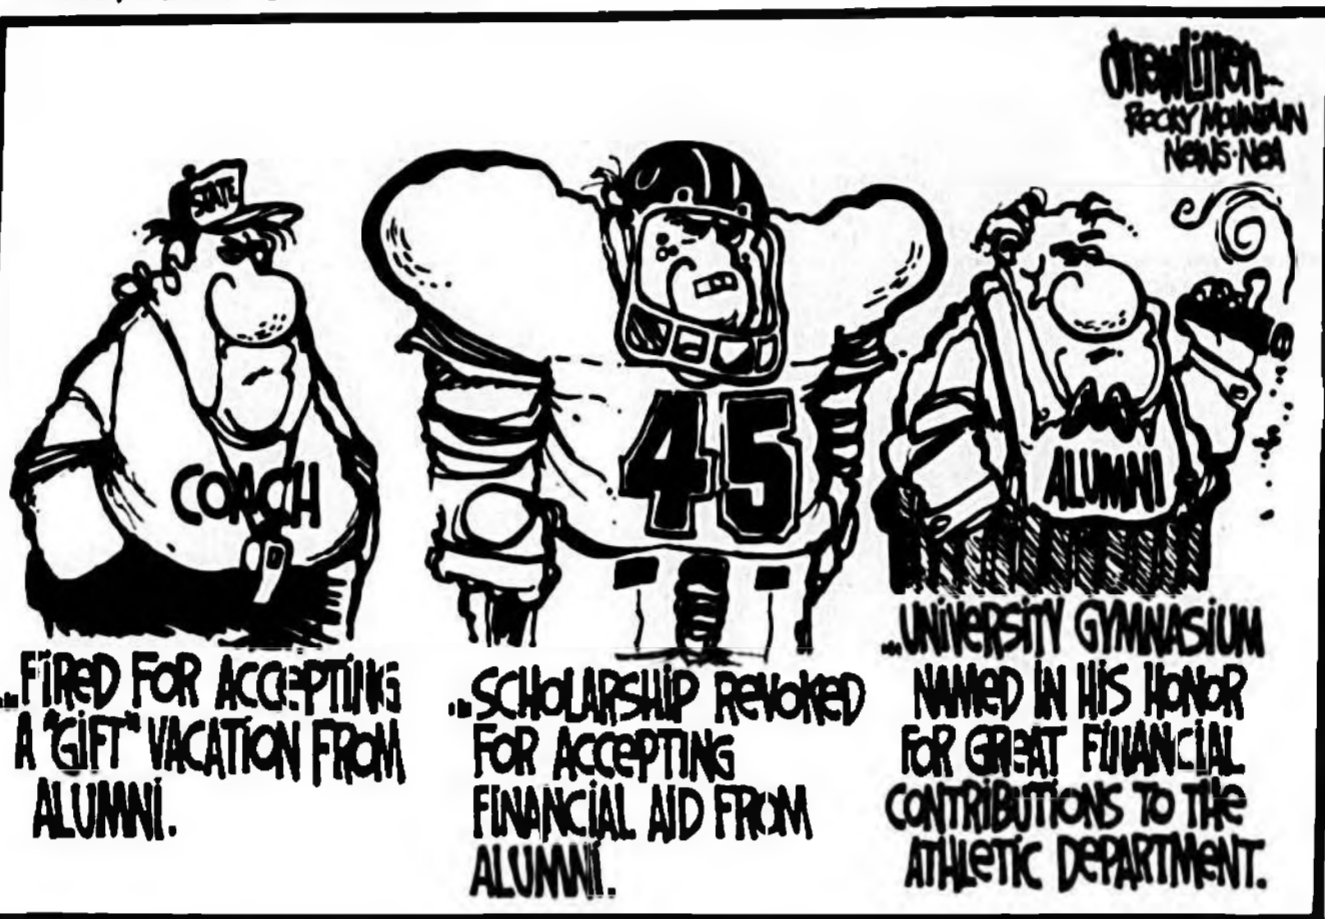

Auburn had trouble in its only loss this year when Tennessee jumped out to an early 21-0 lead, forcing the Tigers to throw away their basic game plan of Bo left, Bo right and Bo up the middle. But Hall said Auburn has more than just Jackson.

"Of course our main objective is to contain Jackson, but Auburn's football is not just Bo Jackson," Hall said. "They can beat you in many different ways with their exceptional talent on offense, defense and in the kicking game."

Hall said one big concern right now was getting tailback Neal Anderson in shape to play this weekend. Anderson suffered a severely bruised knee in the first half of the Virginia Tech game and did not play the second half.

"It will be a day-to-day situation with Neal Anderson's knee," Hall said. "But John L.

win, lose & DREW

Williams had a 153-yard performance against Virginia Tech, and we have confidence in him if we have to go with him. He'll work all week a both fullback and tailback."

"Our players are excited about the opportunity to play in a great traditional rivalry like this and the challenge a team like Auburn presents," Hall said. "It should be tremendous game for both teams and their fans. It's what college football is all about."

BUONICONTI: SLIM CHANCE

MIAMI (UPI) — Marc Buoniconti's paralyzing spinal cord injury is not considered life-threatening, but doctors for the son of former Miami Dolphins Pro Bowler Nick Buoniconti say his chances for recovery of movement are slim.

Buoniconti, 19, a sophomore linebacker for The Citadel, was paralyzed from the neck down Saturday when he tackled fullback Herman Jacobs of East Tennessee State. He was flown by air ambulance Tuesday from Johnson City, Tenn., to the spinal cord unit at Jackson Memorial Hospital, which serves as a teaching facility for the University of Miami.

"The chances he'll have arm movement are not real high, but they do exist. He's got good blood. His dad's a fighter and he's a fighter," said Dr. Barth Green, a UM professor of neurosurgery. "If there's a message in this, it's that where there's life there's hope, and we're doing our best."

Whirling Canes Surprise Coach; Prepare For FSU

MIAMI (UPI) — Winning six straight games has shattered most pre-season predictions of a poor season for the Miami Hurricanes, and the team has exceeded the expectations even of Coach Jimmy Johnson.

The 12th-ranked Hurricanes were largely ignored in the pre-season polls, mostly because they had lost quarterback Bernie Kosar and receivers Eddie Brown and Stanley Shakespear, and because only three seniors were scheduled to start.

"This team's playing about as well and maybe even better than I expected this summer," Johnson said Tuesday at his weekly news conference. "We're much further ahead than the prognosticators predicted," he said.

"I did see a 5-5-1 (record predicted for Miami) somewhere," he said, laughing.

Now that the Hurricanes, 6-1, are in the national eye, they know the best way to stay there is winning, beginning Saturday at Tallahassee against No. 9 Florida State, 6-1.

Johnson, however, refuses to place any great importance on the game.

"A 7-1 record is what's at stake right now," he said. "I think the players want to be recognized as one of the best teams in the country. They're starting to get some recognition now."

"They realize that to continue to receive that kind of recognition, they have to win," Johnson said.

Last year's 38-3 Seminoles victory also is not much of a motivating factor, he said. Johnson said the Florida State game last year is the worst the Hurricanes have played with him as head coach.

"We played about as poorly as any game since I've been here," he said. "I can guarantee we'll be better prepared this year."

"I think the players realize what's at stake," Johnson said.

Frosh Rams Keep On Rolling

By Tim Horn
Special to the Herald

Like its junior varsity counterparts, the Lake Mary freshman football team just keeps on rolling along.

Tuesday night at Lake Mary Stadium, the Ram's freshman squad ran its record to 7-0 with a 12-6 decision over Osceola Kissimmee. Lake Mary's freshman and junior varsity football teams have now both won 15 straight over the last two seasons. The Rams JV returns to action at home Thursday, Nov. 7 against New Smyrna Beach. Coaches Bill McDaniell and Charlie Reynolds will be looking for their second consecutive unbeaten season.

The Rams led 6-0 at halftime on the virtue of strong play from its defense and a 10-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Mitch Shatto to tight end Jack Oberdaus.

In the third quarter, Ram defensive end Calvin Davis recovered a fumbled punt by Osceola at the Rams own 45 yard line. Running back Mark Parrish then broke loose for a 50-yard run to the Osceola 5 and Tarrance Carr took it in on the next play to make it, 12-0.

Osceola, which dropped to 6-2 with the loss, averted the shut-out with a late score in the fourth quarter after recovering a Lake Mary fumble at the Ram 10.

Lake Mary coach Jim Hughes credited the win to defense, citing the play of defensive players Carlos Hartsfield, Mike Armada, Gary Whack and Davis.

Football

"The defense played outstanding," Hughes said. "They won the game for us."

The Rams will close out their season next Tuesday at home against Lake Brantley.

In other freshman action Tuesday, it took Lake Brantley two overtimes to hand Seminole just its second loss of the season, 7-0, and Lyman crushed Oviedo, 38-0.

After regulation ended with no score Seminole, 5-2, tried a field goal in the first overtime on fourth down (in the overtime each team is given four downs to score from the 10 yard line), but it missed. Lake Brantley fumbled on its opportunity.

In the second overtime, the Patriots scored on a fourth down play to put the pressure on Seminole. The 'Noles used three running plays to move the ball to the four, but a fourth down pass was overthrown.

Seminole coach Mike Ferrell said the Patriot defense played very tough.

Anthony Lewis, Willie Grayson and Jack Mann had 15 tackles each for Seminole in the losing effort.

Seminole concludes its season at home against Titusville next Tuesday.

Lyman, which closed out its season at 3-4 with the win over Oviedo, had no trouble at all in shutting down the Lions' attack.

"We played a real line de-field will result with Lake Howell, Oviedo and Seminole, in that order.

For all teams and swimmers competing, one word of advice from a retired swimmer now turned oddsmaker. Swim with desire and your heart and if you don't win, at least you know you've given it your all.

Tuesday's dual swim meet between Lake Mary and Lyman was cancelled.

IN BRIEF

Hagler Trains For The Beast, Expects Back To Be Recovered

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Marvin Hagler opened training camp this week with a brisk 90-minute workout and said he expects to be fully recovered from a back injury when he defends his world middleweight title Nov. 14 against John "The Beast" Mugabi in Las Vegas.

Marvin Hagler

Hagler, who suffered a lower back sprain while training in Brockton, Mass. last week, said he did not experience any problems during his first workout.

"I feel really good," Hagler said. "The warm weather here is a big plus. It's 90 degrees here and you get loosened up a lot quicker. I'm not even thinking about my back anymore. The one thing I'm concentrating on is getting to Las Vegas where I'm going to feast on 'The Beast.'"

Hagler, 61-2-2, will be making his 12th title defense as he closes in on the middleweight record of 14 set by Carlos Monzon. Mugabi, a native of Uganda, has knocked out all 26 of his pro opponents.

Bucks Extract Revenge, Hold Off Sixers, 119-117

United Press International

Perhaps still smarting from last year's 4-0 sweep in the NBA Eastern conference semifinals, the Milwaukee Bucks extracted a measure of revenge Tuesday night, holding off the Philadelphia 76ers 119-117.

With one second left, Sidney Moncrief snapped a 117-117 deadlock with a 15-foot jumper that celled a score-tying basket by Julius Erving.

The victory improves the Bucks record to 2-1 while Philadelphia drops to 1-1. The 76ers had rallied from 117-111 deficit in the final 1:31 to tie the game at 117-117 on a 10-foot jumper by Erving with 17 seconds remaining.

Without calling timeout, the Bucks ran the clock to five seconds before Moncrief drove toward the hoop and pulled up for the winning shot.

First-year coach Matt Guokas was not pleased with his team's performance.

"We can win a game like that, but we're not going to do it night in and night out when we play that kind of defense," Guokas said. "That's a dangerous way to go through the season."

Paul Pressey, who connected on 12-of-16 shots, led the Bucks with 28 points while Moncrief added 23.

"I think my shots were just dropping tonight," Pressey said. "They were very good shots and the more aggressive you get, the more shots you get."

Philadelphia was led by guard

Hawks 102, Knicks 97
At Atlanta, Dominique Wilkins scored 22 points and grabbed a game-high 13 rebounds to power the Hawks, who outrebounded the Knicks 60-44. New York rookie center Pat Ewing pulled down 10. Knicks guard Darrell Walker hit 28 points.

Scoffers? Dunkel Hits 9 Of 9 Preps

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor
For those of you who scoff at the Dunkel Index, get a load of this. Last week, the Evening Herald published the odds on nine Central Florida prep football games. The DI not only picked each one correctly but it picked the spread on the Apopka win over Colonial exactly — 21 points.

Locally, it had Seminole by 4 over Lyman and Lake Mary by 5 1/2 over Oviedo. Both won. Seminole by 1 and Lake Mary by 3. Not too shabby. The DI picked Evans by 17 over Oak Ridge. The difference was 17. The DI picked Winter Park by 21 over Boone. The Wildcats won by 27. West Orange, Astronaut, Ocala Forest and Merritt Island were other successful DI picks.

With this in mind, it's time to venture into this week's slate. Thursday, in a Halloween special, Dunkel has Mainland by 1 1/2 over Lake Mary. Also on Thursday, the DI has Oak Ridge a 7 1/2 choice over Boone.

On Friday, the Dunkel Index likes Seminole by 7 1/2 over Oviedo. The DI has Lyman by 6 over Spruce Creek. Apopka, which moved to No. 2 in the Florida Sports Writers Association poll and No. 4 in the DI, is a 24 1/2 point pick over Lake Brantley. Dunkel likes Evans by 13 1/2 over Lake Howell.

In other games, the DI has Merritt Island by 24 over Edgewater. Vero Beach by 12 1/2 over Colonial. Seabreeze by 8 1/2 over New Smyrna Beach in a game which may determine the District 4A-5 championship. Astronaut by 12 1/2 over St. Cloud and Jones by 17 over Rockledge.

Seminole remains the highest ranked county team despite its 2-5 mark. The Tribe is rated 134th in the state with 48.5 points. Lake Howell (138th, 48.3) is right behind. Lake Mary (164th, 45.8), Lyman (168th, 45.4), Oviedo (207th, 41.1) and Lake Brantley (231st, 38.6) round out the list.

Cook Of The Week

Antique Lover's Favorites Command: 'More Please'

By Dorothy Greene
Herald Correspondent

There's nothing quite like a confident cook, one who is not afraid to experiment with recipes or invent them if she has to! Our Cook of the Week, Dorothy Howard Erisman, is a busy lady who says she prefers to cook "from scratch," but doesn't mind short cuts and time savers. Self taught in the kitchen, Dorothy says, "I love to cook, and I love to eat, especially desserts."

Born in Beloit, Mich., Dorothy was raised in Rockford, Ill., and graduated from high school here in 1937. "I'm looking forward to our 50th class reunion and am trying to contact some former classmates. Ours was the last class of the old Rockford High. The class was so big, they had to break it up into two high schools after we graduated." Second oldest of four children, Dorothy's family is scattered far and wide from Arizona to Georgia.

Dorothy has been a Seminole County resident since 1944 and has done a little bit of everything, from candy clerk to mail carrier. "I used to live in a little house where Gooding's market is now in Maitland," says Dorothy. "I was waitressing in a little drive-in diner next door, when I was asked if I would like to work for the Post Office. So on July 1, 1946 I started working for the Maitland Post Office and was a clerk for 17 years until I became the first female carrier at the Altamonte Post Office in 1963." Dorothy chuckles when she recalls having to deliver mail in her old 1953 Chevy which was given to her by her children. "It was an old clunker, but it got me around." Later, Dorothy learned to drive one of the large post office step vans to make her rounds and says she enjoyed every minute of until an unfortunate accident forced her to retire with "almost" 25 years service.

"While I was working, there wasn't much I could do except cook for the family, and there's nothing more hectic than working for the Post Office at Christmas time," says Dorothy, "yet I always had 20 or 25 people to dinner on Thanksgiving and Christmas. The kids always decorated the tree."

Besides five children of her own, Dorothy has gained four stepchildren since her marriage to Paul Erisman in 1981. "He's also retiring from the Post Office in Ohio, so we had a lot in common when we met," says Dorothy. A singles meeting at the First United Methodist Church in Sanford brought them together and Dorothy says they are both enjoying retirement and doing things together.

"We had a camper and went camping a lot," says Dorothy, "and we loved it, but we sold it, so now we just go by car when we want to take a trip." Paul belongs to the Oddfellows lodge and they have just returned from a convention in London, Ontario. A recent trip to Hawaii still has Dorothy filling a scrapbook with memorable photos.

Most of Dorothy's hobbies were born while she was recuperating from her injuries 11 years ago. "That's when I started knitting, nothing fancy just knit and purl, but I love it. Then I got into stained glass and really enjoy making decorative pieces," says Dorothy. A strikingly beautiful example of her stained glass work is a colorful butterfly panel which is set in the front door of the Erisman's comfortable home west of Sanford.

Dorothy also is very gifted when it comes to needlework, and has made some lovely embroidered pieces which include her "chicken scratch" designs. With two legs in casts and a forced retirement, this lovely lady began creating some fantastic hobbies which have become a source of relaxation and pride. "I started china painting and was taught by a very talented lady who is now in her 90s. My mother and grandmother used to do china painting and I have some of their lovely pieces in my collection." Dorothy purchases plain, white china cups and saucers and hand paints various dainty designs on them, usually a floral pattern. They are then fired to preserve the artwork and added to her collection or given as treasured gifts.

Dorothy is an antique lover and has acquired an assortment of dolls and an enviable collection of just about everything from music boxes to salt and pepper shakers, miniature figurines, bells, and all sorts of glassware. Her sense of humor shines as she says, "I have accumulated so much that I would like to have an estate sale, now, while I'm still alive! I remember reading an article about a 95-year-old lady who wanted to have a party and invite all her friends while she could still enjoy it. Well, I want to have an estate sale and sell all my collections so I can see who gets what and save my children the bother." Dorothy says she just loves her prized collections, but just doesn't have the time to pursue it anymore.

Dorothy is actively involved with the Sallie Harrison Chapter of the DAR and also belongs to the Maitland Historical Society, the Altamonte Springs Historical Society, and the Christian Women's Club of Maitland. Several of Dorothy's antique dolls and doll buggles are presently on display at the Maitland Historical Society's Exhibit. All this plus Paul's involvement with volunteer work adds up to a very busy schedule for the Erisman's.

"I love to cook, and I probably spend too much time at it," says Dorothy. As most good cooks also love to eat, Dorothy says that when her weight started to get out of hand she started the first Overeaters Anonymous group in Sanford which has since expanded throughout the state. "I have always believed in a balanced diet," she says, "and have never taken any vitamins or pills in my life. I believe if you eat right you feel good."

Dorothy likes to cook just about everything and her meals include the basic meat, potatoes, vegetables and salad combinations. However, she does admit to a sweet tooth and usually goes all out to prepare a special dessert for family and guests. Following are some favorites that say "more, please!"

Seminole County 4-H Volunteer Attends Regional Leader Forum

Shelley Bessesen, Seminole County 4-H Leader from Geneva, recently returned from the 1988 Southern Regional 4-H Volunteer Leader Forum held at Rock Eagle 4-H Training Center in Eatonton, GA.

Over 400 adult volunteer leaders from 13 Southern states, the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico attended this week-long session. Mrs. Bessesen was one of the 62 adult volunteers representing Florida at the forum. She received her trip as first place winner in the 1985 Central Florida Fair Adult Essay Contest on 4-H.

Numbness Due To Circulation Kinks

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT - Will you please give me some information concerning numbness and redness in hands that occurs during the night? At times it is accompanied by a sensation in the upper arm similar to that when a tourniquet has been applied.

DEAR READER - You may be suffering a circulatory interruption that temporarily decreases the amount of oxygen reaching the nerves to your hands. The positions sleeping persons assume often result in kinking of arteries in the arms; hand numbness and redness can result. If possible, try to alter your sleeping position and see if the symptoms resolve. Although you may wish to check with your own doctor to make sure you have no permanent arterial occlusion, your symptoms should usually disappear when the hands are able to receive adequate circulation at night.

DEAR DR. GOTT - I like drinking a well-known brand of herbal tea because I'm trying to avoid caffeine. My husband disapproves because the teas have not been proven safe by the Food and Drug Administration. Are they safe? Should I stop drinking them?

DEAR READER - Your husband is correct in his belief that herbal teas are not tested or controlled by any federal agency. What's more, there is tremendous variation in ingredients from brand to brand. I understand that recent news stories have reported dangers of some herbal-tea preparations.

Nonetheless, I have never heard of an adult getting into trouble from these compounds providing they are consumed in moderation. I think you are safe. Continue to drink herbal tea, but make sure that you buy it from reputable outlets.

DEAR DR. GOTT - About three years ago, I noticed that my semen had developed a light rusty color that, upon examination, proved to be caused by blood. A urologist advised me that this condition was not uncommon and not to be concerned about it. He also found that one lobe of my prostate gland was slightly enlarged, but not enough to warrant surgery.

DEAR READER - The seminal blood you describe probably is coming from the prostate gland. There are other possibilities, of course, but in the presence of some prostatic enlargement, this seems to be a logical conclusion. I would be more aggressive than your doctor, however, in ferreting out the exact cause. Although you may have a low-grade prostatic infection (which can be treated with antibiotics), I am concerned that a small tumor in the gland might be leaking blood.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
At tournament bridge, when vulnerable opponents are about to score 620 or 650, it's good tactics to sacrifice even though you may give up 500. Meanwhile your frustrated defenders, angry at not being allowed to play and make their vulnerable game, are going to do their utmost to set you four tricks doubled, if they can. Watch the careful play made by Evelyn Fowler of Lubbock, Texas, to inflict the maximum penalty on sacrificing opponents.

The four-diamond bid by Evelyn who was sitting West, showed a singleton diamond, and a maximum pass. When North made a lead-directing double, South decided to sacrifice against the East-West vulnerable game. Although five spades would make, East could not be sure, so he doubled the five-diamond sacrifice.

East won the spade ace and cashed the club ace, Evelyn signaling with the eight. When East ignored the encouraging club and played back a spade, it was apparent that he had started with the lone club ace. Now Evelyn made the key defensive play. Without cashing the king, she played a low club. East ruffed and switched to a heart.

That line of play gave the defense six tricks for a 700-point penalty, more than enough to compensate for the vulnerable game they could have made. If the club king is played before East is given the club ruff, declarer can rise with the heart ace, draw trumps and discard dummy's losing heart on the queen of clubs, holding the damage to 500 points.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY
OCTOBER 31, 1985

In the year ahead, you will be bombarded by numerous opportunities. They will come thick and fast, but will be fleeting. You'll have to act swiftly to capitalize.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Be extra cautious and prudent in your commercial dealings today. If you suspect something is wrong, call a halt to everything until it's corrected. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker set instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Don't put too much weight on an arrangement where you share something of potential value with another. Each party may expect more than is feasible.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Tested and proven procedures will be the most productive today. This is not a good time to experiment with shortcuts.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You might get an urgent request today to do something out of the ordinary for a pal. Before you respond, be sure it's necessary.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't let victory slip from your hands today. If you start out in a strong position, be careful not to take foolish actions to weaken it.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't exaggerate your financial position today and pretend you have more than you actually have. You'll be in awkward straits if someone requests a donation.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Don't let a friend get you involved in something too rich for your means today. You don't have to match what your pal spends.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you fail to think for yourself today, people who don't have your best interests at heart may make decisions for you that won't be to your advantage.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be certain that any work or service you require from others today is assigned to craftsmen who truly possess the expertise to do a good job.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Proceed at a measured pace today if you are involved in a new enterprise or venture. Mistakes made in the early stages will be hard to rectify later.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your actions will be closely scrutinized by others today, so be sure that your behavior doesn't reflect poorly upon your reputation or image.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You may be dissuaded from a wise course of action today because you might listen to a person who doesn't fully understand your intentions.

Shoppers go for Homemakers' handmade items at Holiday Showcase Annual Holiday Showcase Aids Homemakers' Projects

The Extension Homemakers held their annual Holiday Showcase where clubs sold handmade craft items. Monies made by individual clubs will be spent in service projects and community needs in each club's respective cities where they meet.

The homemade quilt, a council project where women from each club helped to make it, was the main doorprize in a drawing.

In a recent statewide quilt contest, the club's quilt won runner up to the grand champion. Monies from the quilt will go toward items in and around the Extension Service.

Past items purchased with the funds made at the Showcase have been a flag pole from the Extension Service, a demonstration table and mirror so the home economist can give demonstrations that people in the audience can see, dishes etc.

Members' current focus has been to get a sign publicizing programs for the Extension Service built on 17-92.

The Homemakers are Seminole County's educational volunteers. They receive educational programs and extend the knowledge learned to their club members and other community groups. They also are involved in community projects and give thousands of service hours every year back to the county.

Take Care Of Your Liver And It Will Care For You

DEAR ABBY: Last year, you alerted more Americans to the hazard of liver disease than any other public relations activity we have ever promoted. November is National Liver Awareness Month, so will you please be the "voice of the liver" again?

THELMA KING THIEL,
PRESIDENT, AMERICAN
LIVER FOUNDATION

Dear Abby

DEAR THELMA: I'll try. FELLOW AMERICANS! (with apologies to Paul Harvey):

Approximately 50,000 men, women and children die of liver disease every year. You may have liver disease and not be aware of it because liver diseases show few symptoms until the damage is far advanced. There are no treatments or cures for most liver ailments except liver transplants, and livers are hard to come by.

The liver is a miraculous organ; it manufactures blood, vitamins, bile, protein and amino acids. If it is mistreated, overworked or damaged, it will close down. And so will you.

Your liver has the job of "detoxing" all the poisons you take in - drugs, environmental pollutants, alcohol and other chemicals you eat, breathe and absorb through your skin. The clotting factors that stop the bleeding when you cut yourself while shaving or peeling an apple are created by your liver.

This is fair warning, and it could be the only one you will ever get because your liver cannot tell you that it is going until it's almost gone.

Liver damage can be prevented - if you know how.

For a free booklet on how to care for your liver, send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to: The American Liver Foundation, 998 Pompton Ave., Cedar Grove, N.J. 07009.

of "Gretchen" he will have "Wretched" on his chest. Then he can have "I Am" tattooed above the "Wretched," and "Without You" tattooed below it.

Or he could simply shave his chest and place a piece of adhesive tape over "Gretchen" - then write the name of his present wife on the tape! This would probably be the least costly and painful solution.

TOM DUGGAN, WOODWARD, OHIO

DEAR ABBY: The letter from Mel, a Marine stationed in Okinawa, Japan, requesting pen pals for a platoon of lonesome Marines, prompts this letter. I've thought about writing to you many times before, but never got around to it.

In 1967, a similar letter appeared in your column. It was from an Air Force man named Joe King, stationed at Korat Air Base in Thailand. From that one letter, approximately 10,000 letters poured into Joe's mail room. Mine was one of them.

To make a long story short, my letter fell into the hands of a man who was not looking for a pen pal, but he answered my letter anyway.

After nine months of corresponding, we met, and four months later we were married. Last May we celebrated our 17th wedding anniversary and have three lovely daughters.

We've often wondered if, or how many, other relationships developed as a result of all those pen pals you put together. Forgive this late thank-you, Abby.

In large micro-proof bowl, combine 2 cups sugar and 1/4 cup evaporated milk. Cook on high power 5-6 minutes, stirring every 2 minutes until of soft ball consistency. Add 1 cup miniature marshmallows, 1 1/2 cups peanut butter and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Blend well. Spread into waxed paper lined 11x7x1 1/2 inch pan. Let cool. Turn out onto serving tray and remove waxed paper. Cut into squares.

BARBECUE SAUCE FOR CHICKEN OR RIBS

1 cup tomato catsup
1 tablespoon vinegar
1/2 cup water
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 medium onion, chopped
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons margarine
2 tablespoons brown sugar
Salt and pepper to taste
Place all ingredients in saucepan and heat to a simmer. Pour over browned chicken or ribs and bake for 1 1/2 hours or until tender.

BASIC YEAST DOUGH

Can be used for bread, rolls or sweet buns. Recipe will yield 2 small loaves of bread and two 8 in. square pans of pecan rolls.

1 pkg. yeast
1/2 cup warm water
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg, well beaten
2 cups water
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
8 cups plain flour

Dissolve yeast in 1/2 cup lukewarm water. In large bowl, blend warm shortening and sugar, add egg, 2 cups warm water, salt and yeast. Add flour and mix well. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead gently. Put in greased bowl and grease top of dough. When doubled in size, punch down and knead again. Divide dough in half and shape one half into two loaves. Place in buttered loaf pans and bake at 400° until golden brown, about 25 minutes. Roll out remainder of dough to desired thickness and brush generously with melted butter. Sprinkle with a mixture of brown sugar, cinnamon and pecans. Roll up jelly roll fashion and slice into individual rolls. Place in well buttered pans and bake in same oven for about 20-25 minutes.

RHUBARB CREAM CAKE

1 package white cake mix
4 cups rhubarb, cut up
2 cups sugar
1 cup half and half cream

Prepare cake mix according to directions. Pour batter into 9x13 inch pan. Mix rhubarb and sugar, together and place on top of batter. Pour half and half over all and bake at 350° for 40-45 minutes.

New 'Twilight Zone' Appears To Be So-So

By David Handler
It's been more than 20 years since I first saw them, but there are dozens of episodes of the original "Twilight Zone" that I can still remember with total clarity.

No series stuck with me like that one did. No one brought to series TV the chills, the thought-provoking irony, the depth that Rod Serling did. The original "Twilight Zone" was one of the handful of truly great series in the history of TV.

The new hour version, which CBS started this fall on Friday nights, is not. Rod Serling is dead. The show's intelligence and moral mission seem to have gone with him. The new "Twilight Zone" just isn't overwhelmingly creepy like the old show was. The scares don't stay with you through the next day like they used to. Nor do the messages.

This isn't to say the new "Twilight Zone" is all bad. It isn't. It reminds me of "Night Gallery," the hit-and-miss supernatural anthology Serling hosted in the early '70s. Some stories are quite good. Others are a bit strained.

There's no host anymore. No broken-nosed Serling standing off to the side of the action, smoking a cigarette, biting off his words. Just an off-camera narrator, Charles Aidman, who sounds a little like him.

Of the stories I saw, "A Little Peace and Quiet" was the best. Melinda Dillon played a harried housewife who finds a necklace in a strongbox one day while digging up her garden. She puts it on, and discovers it grants her the power to stop time. Whenever someone bothers her, she simply says, "I think you'd better just shut up," and everything in the world freezes — except her.

"Children's Zoo" was an amusing short film about a little girl who gets an invitation to visit a new zoo. The invite specifies that she must bring her parents, who are always bickering.

When she arrives, it turns out it's a naughty parents who are on display in cages. She gets to select a new set, and leaves hers behind.

Irresistible Cakes A Dream Come True For Chocoholics

It's here — that glorious time of the year when you say "Happy Holidays," and people you meet on the street give a nod and produce an engaging smile. It's a time of family reunions and, of course, a time to gather friends to share the warmth of your home. That's where hospitality begins — at home — along with wonderfully delicious food.

Whether this trio of irresistible cakes is the focal point of an informal dessert buffet party, or just one cake is a finale to a holiday meal, guests will be enchanted with your creative flair. Recognizing that the season of dessert indulgences often begins with rich chocolate offerings, three types of chocolate are represented in these recipes from the Baker's chocolate and coconut collection. Imagine the chocoholic's dream come true with a bevy of desserts that offer the delicate flavor of sweet cooking chocolate, superb blend of semi-sweet chocolate and deep, rich unsweetened chocolate!

When it's time to cut the rich Continental Chocolate Cake, be sure to keep the Chocolate Wedges intact on every slice. Each semi-sweet wedge, arranged in fan-like fashion, rests on creamy Continental Flair Frosting. Beneath it all is a moist cake made of unsweetened chocolate and garnished with frosting rosettes around its base. For a change of pace — and for those who adore rum flavor — cut ever so gently into the Pina Colada Cake. It's crowned with a flurry of flaked coconut, with garnish of thin strips of candied red and green cherries arranged to resemble poinsettias. The cake batter has delicate flaked coconut blended throughout. A pineapple-rum glaze enhances a truly light-textured chiffon cake.

Festive and fabulous with sweet cooking chocolate Christmas trees perched on rosettes of whipped topping, the Sweet Chocolate Holiday Roll deserves center stage. Here's a fragile sponge cake roll prepared with sweet cooking chocolate, and it's doubly delectable because the Mocha Filling also boasts sweet cooking chocolate as an ingredient. Frosted with a Sweet Chocolate Glaze, there is a dusting of confectioners sugar over cake and trees.

With these recipes that are as special as the season itself, your holiday hospitality will be unforgettable!

SWEET CHOCOLATE HOLIDAY ROLL

1 package (4 oz.) sweet cooking chocolate
 1/4 cup water
 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
 1/4 teaspoon baking soda
 3/4 cup sifted cake flour
 3/4 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 5 eggs, at room temperature
 1/2 cup granulated sugar
 Mocha Filling
 Sweet Chocolate Glaze
 Chocolate Christmas Trees
 Heat chocolate, water and butter in saucepan over low heat, stirring until mixture is smooth. Remove from heat and stir in soda; cool slightly.

Sift flour with baking powder and salt. Beat eggs in large mixer bowl at high speed of electric mixer, adding granulated sugar gradually and beating until fluffy, thick and light in color. Sift flour mixture over egg mixture and fold in gently until blended. Then gradually fold in chocolate mixture. (Do not over mix.) Pour into 15x10-inch jelly roll pan, which has been greased, lined on bottom with waxed paper and greased again. Bake at 350° for 18-20 minutes.

Turn out onto cloth, sprinkled lightly with confectioners sugar. Quickly remove paper and trim off crisp edges. Starting with short side, roll up cake, rolling cloth in cake. Cool on rack for about 1 hour. Unroll. Fill sponge roll with Mocha Filling; frost with Sweet Chocolate Glaze. Chill. Using a star tip, pipe rosettes of thawed whipped topping on top of cake roll. Carefully place Chocolate Christmas Trees on rosettes. Dust cake with confectioners sugar.

 Melt chocolate in saucepan over very low heat, stirring constantly; cool. Pour chocolate into parchment cone or plastic-lined baking sheet in triangular tree shapes about 2 inches long and 1½ inches wide at base. Pipe lines in centers of triangles to simulate trunk and branches. Chill until firm, at least 15 minutes.

Carefully remove triangles from waxed paper with a knife and arrange three triangles to form each tree. Top each tree with whipped topping and a silver dragée. Makes 30 triangles or 10 trees.

CONTINENTAL CHOCOLATE CAKE

4 square unsweetened chocolate
 2 cups sugar
 1½ cups buttermilk
 2 cups all-purpose flour
 1½ teaspoons double-acting baking powder
 1 teaspoon baking soda
 1 teaspoon salt
 ¾ cup butter or margarine
 3 eggs
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 Continental Flair Frosting Chocolate Wedges

Melt chocolate in saucepan over very low heat. Add ½ cup of the buttermilk; stir until well blended. Cool thoroughly. Mix flour with baking powder, soda and salt. Cream butter; gradually add remaining sugar, beating until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well. Blend in about one-fourth of the flour mixture. Then add the chocolate mixture and vanilla. Add remaining flour mixture alternately with remaining buttermilk, beating thoroughly after each addition. Pour into 2 greased and floured 9-inch layer pans. Bake at 350° for about 40 minutes, or until cake springs back when lightly pressed. Cool cakes in pans 10 minutes; then remove from pans and finish cooling on racks.

Frost tops and sides of cake layers with Continental Flair Frosting, reserving ¼ cup frosting for garnish. Using a star pipe, pipe rosettes around base of cake and one large rosette in center of cake. Pipe a circle on top of cake about 1 inch from edge. Place 16 Chocolate Wedges on top of cake with points toward center.

CONTINENTAL FLAIR FROSTING

1 cup sugar
 1 cup heavy cream or evaporated milk
 4 squares unsweetened chocolate
 ½ cup butter or margarine, softened
 1 teaspoon rum extract or vanilla

Combine sugar and cream in saucepan. Bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Reduce heat and simmer gently for 6 minutes. Remove from heat. Add chocolate and stir until chocolate is melted. Stir in butter and rum extract. Chill until mixture begins to thicken; then beat until thick and creamy and of spreading consistency. Makes 2½ cups.

CHOCOLATE WEDGES

4 squares semi-sweet chocolate
 1 tablespoon butter or margarine

*Or use 1 package (4 oz.) sweet cooking chocolate

Melt chocolate with butter in saucepan over very low heat, stirring constantly. Trace two 8-inch circles on waxed paper-lined baking sheet. Pour half of the chocolate onto each circle and spread evenly to cover. Chill until firm, at least 30 minutes. Cut each circle in 16 wedges and lift gently from paper with a knife. Store on waxed paper in refrigerator or freezer. Use to garnish desserts. Makes 32 wedges.

PINA COLADA CAKE

2 cups all-purpose flour
 1½ cups sugar
 3 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
 ¾ teaspoon salt
 ½ cup oil
 6 eggs, separated
 ¾ cup cold water
 1 cup flaked coconut
 1 tablespoon grated orange rind
 ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
 1 can (8 oz.) crushed pineapple in juice
 1 cup sugar
 ½ cup butter or margarine
 ½ cup light rum

*Or use ½ cup unsweetened pineapple juice and 1 tablespoon rum extract.

Mix flour with sugar, baking powder and salt in bowl. Make a well in center and add oil, egg yolks, water, coconut and orange rind. Beat until smooth. Beat egg whites with cream of tartar until stiff peaks form. Gradually pour egg yolk mixture over egg whites, folding gently just until blended. (Do not beat or stir.) Pour into ungreased 10-inch tube pan. Bake at 325° for 1 hour and 15 minutes, or until cake springs back when lightly pressed. Invert pan on funnel to cool completely.

Combine pineapple, sugar and butter in saucepan. Cook and stir until mixture comes to a boil; boil 5 minutes, stirring frequently. Remove from heat and stir in rum. Remove cake from pan, place on serving plate and prick with cake tester or wooden pick. Carefully spoon warm syrup over cake. Garnish with additional coconut and candied cherries, if desired.

Americans Go For Corn Muffins

In America in the mid 1800's, when wheat was scarce and expensive and corn was abundant, corn muffins emerged as a favorite way to use corn meal. From region to region, the muffins differed taking on characteristics unique to the area. These country corn muffins have a universal appeal. They can be made with either white or yellow corn meal. The corn meal is blended with flour, mixed with an egg, sugar, buttermilk, and, appropriately, corn oil. This country type of corn muffin has in recent years become the favorite breakfast bread at city coffee shops.

COUNTRY CORN MUFFINS

1½ cups white or yellow corn meal
 1 cup unbleached flour

¼ cup granulated sugar
 ¼ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
 1 teaspoon baking soda
 ¼ teaspoon salt
 1 egg
 1 cup buttermilk
 ¾ cup corn oil

Grease 12 (2½x1¼-inch) muffin cups. In medium bowl with fork, stir together corn meal, flour, sugars, baking soda and salt. In small bowl, beat egg slightly; stir in buttermilk and corn oil. Add to corn meal mixture; stir just until moistened. Spoon into prepared muffin cups. Bake in 425°F oven 20 minutes or until golden.

Immediately remove from pan. Cool on wire rack or serve warm. Makes 12.

Rock Shrimp Divan teams shrimp with broccoli in a cream sauce.

Treat Those Guests To Some Great Hospitality Straight From The South

Fall is usually a frenzy of activity - school's back in session, football rivalries are rekindled, and folks are outdoors enjoying the last warm days they'll experience for many months. The social scene shifts its emphasis from summer-time family outings to include entertaining friends and business associates.

When it's your turn to entertain, treat your guests to a little hospitality straight from the south. Shrimp have long been a tradition on party menus. Recently, however, southern seafood outlets began to offer a variation on this popular party theme. Rock shrimp, a distant cousin of the familiar soft shell species, is the South's newest gift from the sea.

The taste and texture of rock shrimp is unique - for a shrimp that is. The firmer textured flesh of rock shrimp coupled with its sweet taste brings to mind the flavor of another well known crustacean - lobster. And in appearance the rock shrimp tail is not unlike lobster, in miniature.

It may not taste or look like a shrimp, but rock shrimp does have characteristics that identify it as true shrimp. Like shrimp the delightful rock shrimp meat is found in the tail segment only. Excepting the seaports where they are landed, rock shrimp tails are marketed frozen either whole or split and deveined. The wide size variations found in shrimp does not occur in rock shrimp. Normally they are the size of a medium shrimp, about 35-40 shrimp in every pound. Rock shrimp tails yield the same cooked meat as shrimp, roughly half the raw tail weight.

When preparing rock shrimp extra precautions must be taken to avoid overcooking. The tender flesh of this new shellfish product cooks in a matter of seconds, not minutes, so timing is of the utmost importance. As with other "boiled" shellfish remember to rinse the cooked, drained rock shrimp in cold water to stop the cooking process.

Rock shrimp impart such a rich taste to an entree that a little goes a long way. Since one pound of cooked rock shrimp meat is sufficient for six servings it is the perfect choice when choosing a menu for entertaining. Rock Shrimp Divan teams the sweet goodness of rock shrimp with colorful broccoli and a rich cream sauce. Treat your fall guests to a seafood treat that's sure to be repeated in all seasons.

ROCK SHRIMP DIVAN

- 2 pounds raw, split or whole rock shrimp tails, fresh or frozen
  - 1 quart water
  - 2 tablespoons salt
  - 2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen broccoli spears
  - 2 cups fresh mushrooms, sliced
  - 1/2 cup margarine or butter
  - 2 tablespoons minced onion
  - 1/2 cup all-purpose flour
  - 1 teaspoon salt
  - 1/2 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
  - 1/4 teaspoon white pepper
  - 1 1/2 cups chicken broth
  - 3/4 cup milk
  - 3 ounces cream cheese, softened
  - 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
  - 1 jar (2 ounces) diced pimiento, drained
  - 1 teaspoon lemon juice
  - 3/4 cup heavy cream, whipped
- Thaw rock shrimp if frozen. Peel and devein rock shrimp. Combine water and salt and bring to boil. Place rock shrimp in boiling water and simmer for 30-45 seconds. Drain. Rinse in cold water for one to two minutes. Cut large shrimp in half. Cook broccoli according to package directions. Drain and keep warm. In a 10-inch frypan, cook mushrooms in margarine until tender. Remove mushrooms. Add onions to frypan and cook until tender but not brown. Blend in flour and seasonings. Gradually add broth and milk, stirring constantly until thickened. Add cream cheese and stir until cheese is melted. Stir in rock shrimp, mushrooms, green pepper and pimiento; heat thoroughly. Just before serving, stir in lemon juice and fold in whipped cream. Arrange broccoli spears in a baking dish, 12x8x2 inches. Spoon rock shrimp mixture over broccoli. Broil about four inches from source of heat until delicately browned. Makes 6 servings.

LEMON-TARRAGON CHICKEN PATTIES

- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
  - 1 teaspoon crushed tarragon leaves
  - 1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
  - 1/4 teaspoon onion powder
  - 1 clove garlic, crushed
  - 1 package (12 oz.) frozen prepared breaded boneless chicken patties
- In small bowl, combine lemon juice, tarragon, pepper, onion powder and garlic. Set aside. On cookie sheet, arrange chicken patties. Heat in 425°F. oven 10 minutes. Turn chicken over. Brush sauce on top of chicken. Heat an additional 6 minutes or until hot. Makes 4 servings.
- Grilling Instructions: In small bowl, combine lemon juice, tarragon, pepper, onion powder and garlic. Set aside. Place frozen chicken patties on grill 6 inches above hot coals. Heat, covered, 15 minutes, turning occasionally. Brush sauce on both sides of chicken. Heat an additional 5 minutes or until hot, turning occasionally.

Keen Competition Expected At The 11th Annual Event

By Jane Canselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Seasoned seniors will go for the gold in Sanford's 11th annual Golden Age Games scheduled for Monday Nov. 4 through Saturday Nov. 8. Activities will get underway on the opening day with an all-in-fun Fallen Arches Parade beginning at 8:30 a.m. from Fifth Street and Park Avenue and ending up at the Sanford City Hall patio for the 9 a.m. opening ceremonies.

The honor guard from the Knights of Columbus Father Lyons Council will lead the parade and present the colors at the ceremony.

The Olympic-style sports gathering, sponsored jointly by General Foods Post Cereals and the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, the Golden Age Games are open to anyone 55 years of age or over.

"The spirit, vitality and prowess displayed by veteran athletes at the Post Golden Age Games is an inspiration to Americans of all ages," said Ken Defren, manager of Corporate Communications for General Foods. "We are pleased to once again support this unique gathering of men and women who have not made age an obstacle to enjoying the benefits of regular exercise and the camaraderie of physical competition."

Last year more than 2,500 persons entered from the United States, Puerto Rico and Canada and a record number of competitors is expected for this year's event.

"Since the games started in 1975, there has been a significant increase in entries every year," notes Golden Age Games Chairman Jim Jernigan, director of Recreation and Parks for the city of Sanford.

The Games has something for everyone with nearly 40 events from which to choose. For the more active Golden Agers there are physically challenging events such as the triathlon, decathlon, mini-marathon, track and field, tennis, the half-mile swim, diving, bike racing, and basketball.

For those who are nautically inclined there are sailing and canoeing events. Golf and bowling tournaments are always popular competitions drawing hundreds of entries.

A new event this year is the golf/longest drive contest which will be held at the Sanford Airport Driving Range. The hitting area will be a teeline 6 yards by 15 yards and the landing area will be 50 yards wide and 300 yards long.

Balls and clubs will be furnished or you can use your own club. Prizes will be awarded in age categories with separate competition for men and women.

The event, which is sponsored by the Seminole County Sheriff's Department, will take place from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Thursday, Nov. 6.

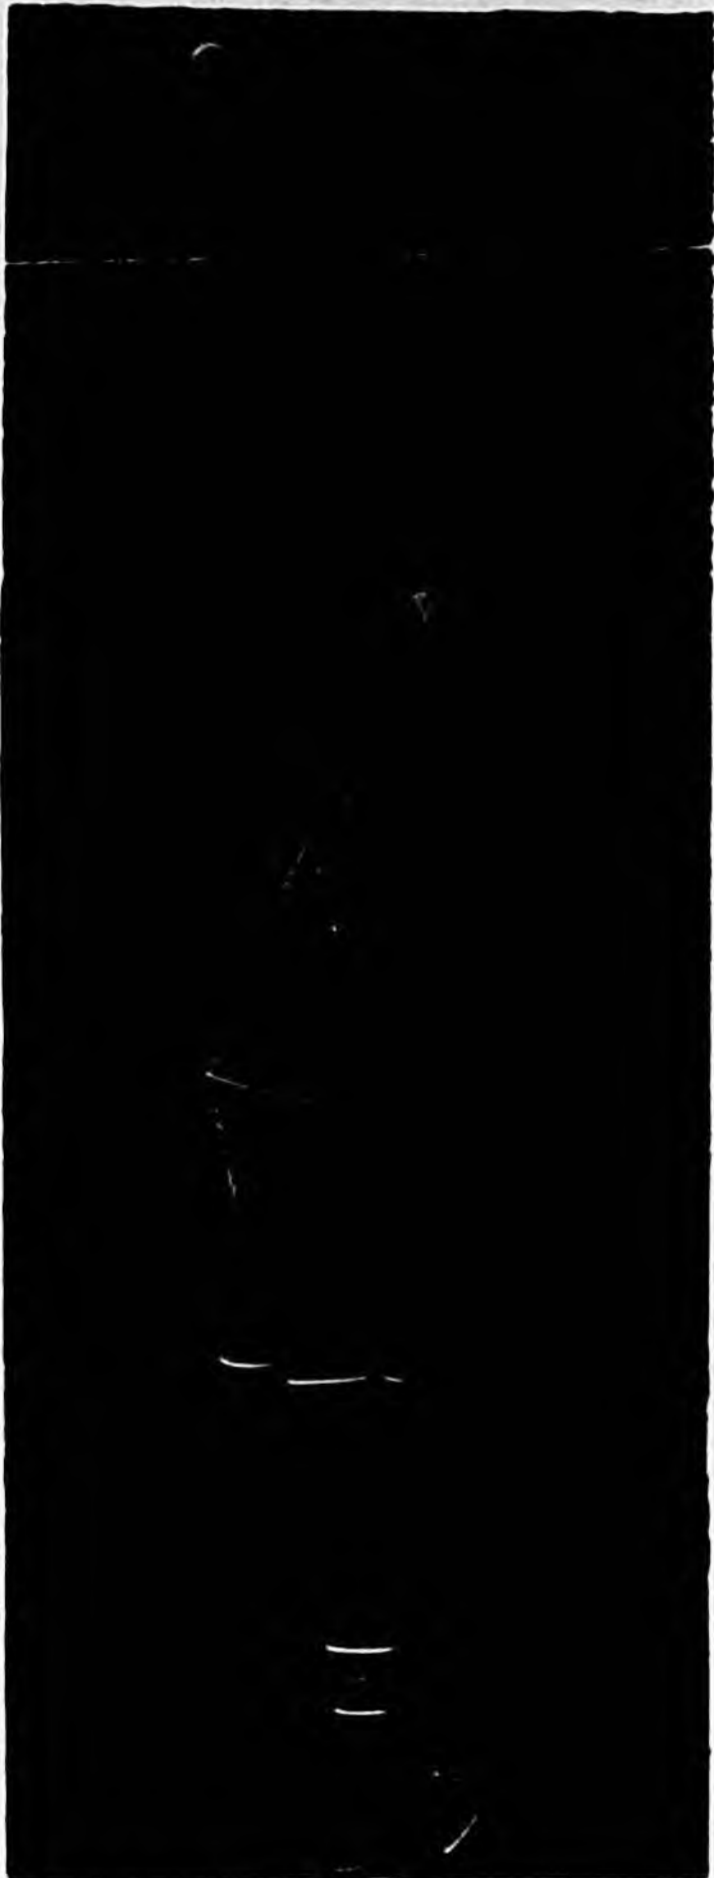

The synchronized swimming and diving competition will be held at the Lyman High School pool in Longwood this year. Tennis events will be hosted by the Bayhead Racquet Club on Lake Mary Boulevard. Mixed doubles are back this year by popular demand.

For those less athletic there are plenty of things to enter such as billiards, croquet, pancake race, knitting contest, hobby show, photography, dominoes, checkers, table tennis, cribbage, bridge, canasta, archery, shuffleboard, and pinochle.

The dance contest gives those who prefer to waltz or jitterbug a chance to shine. On Thursday night there is the talent and variety show that provides entertainment for the audience in Sanford Civic Center and will award talented seniors with medals.

On Wednesday night there will be a barbecue in Fort Mellon Park followed by a dance at the civic center.

Watch It

With his eye on the ball this Golden Age Games tennis buff positions his racquet for what looks like it'll be a hefty swing. The Golden Age Games schedules a variety of tennis matches, singles, doubles, etc., for men and women. Check schedule.

Racewalking Still A Popular Activity

There are two events in the Games in which the medal recipients will win in a walk — the racewalk and the leisure walk.

Nearly 50 racewalkers, men and women, are scheduled to launch the 4th annual 2-mile racewalk in the 1985 Golden Age Games at 2 p.m. Nov. 4.

Always a popular event, the race will be staged at the Seminole High School track. The facilities at the Georgia Avenue stadium provide super environment for both participation and viewing in this aerobic exercise.

Sponsorship of the 2-mile racewalk over the past four years is a credit to the Fleet Reserve Association, B. Duke Woody Branch 147 and its Auxiliary Unit. Assisting the "Fleet" in the officiating will be the Interact Club of Seminole High. Vince Howard, president.

Five categories of senior age groups will racewalk after a simultaneous start to determine finalists in each age group for both men and women. Gold, silver and bronze medals are the coveted prizes for win, place and show.

The six-mile leisure walk challenges the stamina of every entry in this popular event. The technique used in this race may be one of many; walking or racewalking are indeed acceptable. The only means for disqualification is running. DON'T RUN.

The leisure walk is made of five age categories, both men and women. Gold, silver and bronze medals are the prizes for finalists in each category.

Starting time for this long winded event is 10 a.m. Nov. 8.

The six mile course will be well marked with painted blue lines for about the first 2.5 miles, switching to painted green lines for the remaining 3.5 miles. The painted lines will be seen on the right side of the thoroughfare.

Officials for this event will be made up of members and auxiliary of the Fleet Reserve Association, B. Duke Woody Branch 147, Sanford, and assisted by the Interact Club of Seminole High School. Vince Howard, president.

Came on out and cheer your favorite "SUPER SENIORS."

About to break the winner's ribbon in the woman's 100-yard dash in last year's games is Mary Bowermaster, 67, of Fairfield, Ohio. Ms. Bowermaster, who said it was her sixth trip to the Golden Games, runs to keep in shape and stay active. She wears #1 just to remind her to do her best, she said.

The Golden Age Games Executive Committee or any official will not be responsible if a conflict of activities in scheduling occurs. It will be the responsibility of the participants to carefully select their activity schedule in advance so as to pay particular attention to:

1. Deadlines
2. Approximate length of time of each activity
3. Possible delays because of weather
4. Possible delays because of number of participants

The only guarantee is that activities will start prior to scheduled starting time. Word of caution — only participate in activities that you are physically able to perform.

Local Athletes To Carry Torch

Kay Thomson, 61, of Lake Mary, and John Kane, 75, of Sanford, have been selected to be torchbearers to light the flame at the opening ceremonies for the 11th Annual Golden Age Games to be held Nov. 4-9 in Sanford.

Jack Horner, president of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, which co-sponsors the event, said the honorees have been active in the Games for many years, both as members of the executive committee and as participants.

"They have spent so much time working for the Games," he said. "Wherever they go they are our ambassadors of goodwill promoting the Games, including a lot of television appearances."

The Games' Overall Women's Champion in 1980, Mrs. Thomson has won 111 medals since 1978 in decathlon, track and field, canoeing, bike racing, race walking, leisure walking and other events. She is talking about entering the triathlon this year.

She was not old enough to enter the Games until 1978.

"I saw the people competing in the Games on television and I couldn't wait until I turned 55 so I could enter," said the lean and tan grandmother. "I thought it was great that Sanford thought about the Golden Ageds. It gives you something to look forward to, an incentive to take care of yourself and train to compete with your peers."

Kane, who represents the Over 50 Club on the executive committee, has been active on the committee and as a Games participant since 1974. The club sponsors the midweek dinner-dance.

He and his wife, Minnie, were the grand marshals for the parade that kicked off the 1981 Games. They help in many ways from the mailout of Games information to soliciting ads for the record book. Kane participated in track and field, the dance contest, pancake race, and bowling, winning a total of 26 medals.

NEUMANN LEADS IN SMALL INCISION CATARACT SURGERY

The NEUMANN EYE INSTITUTE and the Ambulatory Surgical Center of Central Florida located in DeLand, Florida offer a wide range of specialized eye care. The Institute now offers a new, cataract implant operation, resulting in faster recovery and the improved likelihood of better vision.

Nearly half the people over the age of 65 are afflicted with cataracts. In fact, last year 800,000 cataract removal surgeries took place nationwide. It is estimated that one million surgeries will be performed this year in the United States, with 400,000 taking place in the state of Florida alone. More patients are undergoing cataract surgery because more people are living longer and put up demand in being satisfied because patients are better informed about the enhancement of the procedure's effectiveness, safety, and reduced cost.

Let's start at the beginning and find out exactly ... what is a cataract?

Cataracts are a cloudiness in the normally clear crystalline lens of the eye. The natural lens is normally transparent, permitting the unobstructed passage of light through the pupil, into the eye, and resulting in clear vision.

When this lens develops an opacity, or becomes cloudy, it is called a cataract. Although cataract development is part of the normal aging process such as getting wrinkles and gray hair, surgical advancement, at the NEUMANN EYE INSTITUTE are able to interrupt this natural aging process of the eye. In the past, it was popular to wait until the cataract matured or "got ripe" before surgery would be performed. Now because of increased effectiveness, better vision rehabilitation, enhanced safety, and decreased costs, patients request cataract surgery whenever their lifestyle or occupation is compromised. Also eye physicians now have new instruments that can enhance actual outdoor vision. This is important because many patients may feel well in the doctor's office but their vision outdoors in bright light, or while driving at night, is severely compromised.

What does this treatment involve? To remove a cataract a large incision (14mm) 1/2 inch or more was made to remove the natural human lens, and a large, hard plastic lens implant was inserted in its place. Up to eight sutures were necessary to close the incision.

With the introduction of the new, foldable intraocular lens, (used in conjunction with an ultrasonic technique) the entire cataract surgery procedure, at the NEUMANN EYE INSTITUTE, has changed ... changed for the better.

Dr. Albert C. Neumann, Founder and Medical Director of the NEUMANN EYE INSTITUTE, has been chosen along with other world class eye surgeons in the country to evaluate this newest concept in intraocular lens cataract surgery.

These new lenses are designed to replace hard lenses, which have been widely used for the past 15 years. Called the elastic lens implant, it is made of a proprietary, medical grade silicone. The flexibility characteristic of the lens allows it to be folded. With this ability the incision to insert the lens need only be 3mm or approximately 1/8 inch, rather than the previously necessary 14mm incision or approximately 1/2 inch. Therefore only one tiny microscopic suture is required for incision closure. This new lens is employed with the ultrasonic cataract removal technique called phacoemulsification. First introduced to Central Florida by Dr. Albert C. Neumann over 10 years ago, phacoemulsification allows a tiny, ultrasonic pulsating tip to be passed through the small 3mm incision. Cataracts are broken up and the diseased lens vacuumed out rather than the whole cataract removed through a large incision. Then through this small incision the new, soft, folded lens can be inserted.

Only one fine suture is then required for closure of this small incision. This small incision and soft, elastic lens reduces healing time for patients and significantly improves their vision faster. Patients are able to return to their previous lifestyle quicker. In fact, a busy executive could go back to work the next day!

The Ambulatory Surgical Center at the NEUMANN EYE INSTITUTE is the first state licensed Medicare approved freestanding eye ambulatory surgical center in the state of Florida, accredited by the AAHC. 300-400 eye surgeons worldwide visit the Eye Institute each year to learn the latest eye surgical techniques and concepts.

Family members or friends accompany each patient and are encouraged to view their loved one's live surgery on video monitors in the family waiting area. A surgical counselor is present to thoroughly explain to those watching what is taking place. When surgery is complete, patients are joined by their companions to enjoy nourishments and take part in post operating educational instructions. In the surgical center, where Dr. Neumann has performed over 1,500 eye surgeries during the past two years, the patients are able to come in, have surgery, and within three or four hours return home. No hospitalization or overnight stay is necessary. Not only is this better eye care but it is also much less expensive than the hospital alternative. In fact, it is estimated that the Ambulatory Surgical Center of Central Florida has saved patients Medicare and the American tax payer more than $1 million over the past three years.

Dr. Neumann lectured on small incision cataract surgery during his recent Orient trip. During this 21 day lecture tour, initiated by his optometric colleagues, Dr. Neumann visited ten major cities throughout China and Japan speaking on the techniques and benefits of small incision cataract implant and nearsightedness surgery developed at the NEUMANN EYE INSTITUTE.

The NEUMANN EYE INSTITUTE is providing free cataract screening every Friday, noon, in the NEB lobby. Your current glasses need to be brought with you. Special informational packages on cataracts and small incision cataract surgery will be available at this time.

Two Mile Race Popular

Fleet-footed contestants agains may turned in impressive times as they did last year when they caught a tail wind and pumped for all they were worth in the Golden Age Games' 2-mile racewalk competition. Nine competitions, determined by age and sex, saw hotfooted entrants racing around the Seminole High School track while fans packing the stadium cheered them on.

At the sound of the first gun, it was immediately clear that Chris Christiansen of Venus, Fla., 60-year-old silver medalist the year before, would be the man to beat in the 60-to-64-year-old category.

He got off to a very quick start, puffing around the track at a pace that put him out front early in the race.

The 6-foot speedster kept up his pace and rounded the quarter-mile track eight times to beat his opponents. His finishing time, 19:03, was seven seconds better than his time the previous year.

Christiansen attributed his win to rigorous training and a comprehensive competition schedule. He said running seven miles every other week and entering practically all the meets on the senior citizen circuit kept him in prime condition.

In the 55-to-59-year-old category, Carl Mays, a 58-year-old Bellevue, Ohio resident, led the field. Like Christiansen, Mays travels the senior circuit in the Midwest and said he also runs five-miles a day to train.

Mays said he started running because he was 10 pounds overweight and had high blood pressure.

"A good tail wind" had enabled him to win last year's meet, he said.

In the women's 60-to-64 age category, a Lake Mary grandmother scooted her way to first place last year. Kay Thomson, 61, who won 18 medals in the previous year's games, said playing baseball with her son is what keeps her in shape.

She overcame a wrist injury sustained while ice skating backwards earlier in the year to come on strong for the Sanford '84 games.

Tan and youthful, Mrs. Thompson said she "can't sit down and knit yet. Maybe when I'm 96."

Many of the racers drew cheers and good-natured exhortations from spectators.

"If you can't move it, get it out of the way," one of the crowd yelled to a contestant poking his way around the track. "Come on, get it in second gear."

The senior trotters were also a source of inspiration for the teenagers commissioned to act as timers and markers.

"You can get a big kick out of watching these folks," said Jerry Hauck, a 16-year-old from Seminole High School.

"I couldn't walk that fast," he added while watching the runners.

One runner who was in a class by himself last year was Thomas Johnson, 86, of Coral Gables. He waved to the cheering crowd every time he stiffly paced by the grandstand.

Golden Age Discus Champion Is Returning

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

Although no longer on faculty at the Ohio High School where he taught for 32 years, Peter Gulgin plans to show his opponents a thing or two when he comes to Sanford next month for the Golden Age Games.

The 70-year-old national discus champion has entered 13 events and plans "on winning them all," he said. In efforts to achieve this, he has spent recent weeks golfing, bowling and playing softball in Punta Gorda, where he has lived for the last five years.

For Gulgin, however, "getting in shape" is a means to his year-round end. Since his retirement seven years ago, Gulgin has apparently done anything but. Instead, he travels all over the country attending meets, averaging 10 to 15 a year, he said.

At these competitions, the multi-event entrant said he has won "more contests than I can remember," and "had a great time" while doing so.

One title he takes particular pride in is that of National Senior Citizen Association discus champion, which he has held for the last four years. Last year, Gulgin went to the Senior Olympics in Rome attempting to win the world title, but "got sick from the long airplane ride" and was unable to compete.

Undaunted, though, Gulgin says he'll be in Australia when the games are held there in 1987. "to win it for our country then."

Always an athlete, Gulgin earned nine letters, three each in baseball, football and track, while a student at Kent State University during the 1930s. While teaching shop at Oberlin High School, Gulgin said he also coached its track team to 17 consecutive conference championships.

"I love competition and, of course, winning," he said.

At the Sanford games, with son, Nick, and 7-year-old granddaughter, Heather, cheering him on, Gulgin will compete in bowling, golfing, golf ball driving, the discus, football, shot-put and softball throws, softball batting, the canoeing sprint and obstacle course, the long jump and, the grueling decathlon.

Then, less than a month later, he will be in Puerto Rico, doing it all over again. "It's the only way to stay young," shrugged the 70-year-old superathlete.

Billiards Contest, A Game Of Rivals

"Rack 'em," will soon be heard as members of the Golden Age Games line up for pocket billiard play offs.

The mens tournament, Nov. 4 and 6, will be held at Woogle's Pub, 3863 U.S. Highway 17-92 in Sanford. The women will meet Nov. 6 and 7 at the Sanford Civic Center at Sanford Avenue and Seminole Boulevard. Play is limited to eight ball and rotation rocket. The men's and women's tournaments are sponsored by the Sanford Optimist Club.

Pocket billiard judge for the 11th Golden Age Games will be Al Greene Sr., of Sanford.

Greene, one of the finest billiard artists in Florida, was the tournament judge last year.

"Billiards is one of the less publicized sports, yet it requires a keen mind to picture angles necessary to make good shots," Greene said.

Greene, himself a fierce competitor, has been known to win lunch by running the table or when outside by sinking 30- to 40-foot putts on the golf course, an exceptional feat for a man who lost one leg in a train accident.

Last year's silver medal men's champion in the pool competition, James Whelan, 65, a retired Marine sergeant from Orlando, plans to return this year to go for the gold. Whelan came in second to 71-year-old

James Leach of Fern Park. Leach ran the balls on the last set up and did not give Whelan a chance to shoot.

Dates and times for the men's games are Nov. 4 p.m., 8 ball; Nov. 9 a.m., rotation, all at Woogle's Pub. The womens times: Nov. 6, 9 a.m., rotation; Nov. 7, 2 p.m., 8 ball, all at the Sanford Civic Center Youth Wing.

Novices Can Win The Pancake Run

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

Players planning to participate in the Golden Age Games pancake race may be readying for the race by eating pancakes instead of running with a pancake and flipping it as the race requires, because the demands of this sport seem to be easily mastered during the race itself.

A review of last year's race shows, although experienced flippers took the gold - 70-year-old, four-time top man Wilbur Ott of Bartow and Sanford's Minnie Kane, a nine-year veteran at the game was the winning woman once again, fleet-footed novices took home the rest of the heavy metal.

In this case the heavy metal probably weighs less than the pancakes, which are created according to games official Paulee Stevens' wind resistant recipe, which includes a bit of body-building sand or sawdust. Ms. Stevens says she varies the secret recipe from year to year. "I wouldn't want to eat them, dear," she cautioned last year.

It was windy on the field for last year's run, but Ott said the breeze didn't put him off his game.

In separate men's and women's races the pancake players, in a field of about half-a-dozen runners rush down the track while flipping their single panned flapjack at specific points on the track to return, still flipping, back to the starting point, which is also the

Although she doesn't really need an edge in the game, gold medal pancake racer Minnie Kane gives her flapjack a few pre-race flips before running away with it and the women's title in last year's game.

This year's flip-off is scheduled for 1 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 7, at Ft. Mellon Park, a post lunch scheduling which should further insure the pancake racers won't be tempted to do anything more with Mrs. Stevens rather solid, flattened spheres than give them a few fast flips and then run for the gold.

Homemakers Sponsor Show

Once again the Seminole County Extension Homemakers will be sponsoring the Golden Age Games Hobby Show. It will be on the bottom floor of Sanford City Hall, 300 N. Park Ave.

Eight divisions make up the Hobby Show with medals given in each division. Those divisions are Arts, Crafts, Ceramics, Horticulture, Collections, Needlework, Home Decorations and Materials, and Wood Craft.

Any entry must be the work of the person entering and must not have been entered in a previous Golden Age Game Hobby Show. Entries must be made by amateur status individuals. Racks, easels, or other holders must accompany entries if they are needed for proper display and judging. However, only officials will be allowed to set up your display. Only potted plants may be entered in the Horticulture division. The decision of the judges is final.

In order to enter an exhibit, participants must register on Nov. 5 from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. Exhibits will be open to the public on Wednesday from 204, Thursday from 9-4, and Friday between 9-12. Exhibits will be picked up on Friday from 12-4 p.m.

Each year a unique variety of hobby items from oil paintings to wood carved clocks, old cigar bands to homemade quilts fill the City Hall and delight participants and exhibitors alike. For a flyer with categories and rules and regulations concerning the Hobby Show, call the Sanford Chamber of Commerce, 322-2212 or Barbara Hughes, Extension Home Economist, 323-2500, Ext. 179.
