TUESDAY, JULY 18, 1933 MOUNTAIN WOMAN

Try to recall I was born where nettles Climb a barren wall.

If my acts wound you— Everyone knows I was reared with thorn-apple, Wild plum and rose.

If I grow bitter Try not to care: Unsprung trees grow acrid fruit In this mountain air.

Miami is to have a $100,000 brewery—a awful come-down for a town with champagne ideas.

The stock market is going up so fast, it may be long before you can call a man a broker without insulting him.

Wiley Post is flying so fast around the world that the cable companies are finding it difficult to keep up with him.

Banker Joseph W. Harriman has disappeared again on the eve of a hearing, making it more convinced than ever that he is a "slippery" fellow.

The Sanford-Orlando highway is becoming so slippery in rainy weather that people near a peak of riding over to our neighboring city, they just say let's "skid over."

The two Lithuanian liars, who left New York for their native country and who cracked up in a German forest, carried no passports, which would have guaranteed their protection wherever they went.

As one newspaper puts it, referring to the World Monetary and Economic Conference, all the participants "entered it with no more clearly defined purpose than a noble resolve to co-operate for the common good, provided he got all the benefits of the co-operation."

U. S. Steel is reported running at a profit after two years of heavy losses. Thus many a share holder who has been blue because steel was in the red, is now tickled pink because it's in the black.

Three Hillsborough county murderers finally paid the penalty with their lives at Raiford. It took about two years to bring this about. Acres and Johnson orders are expected soon. They are running about three months behind the Hillsborough case—Lakeland News.

While Lindbergh is studying the northern circle course to Europe in contemplation of regular air lines across the North Atlantic, the Germans have completed successful experiments with a floating airplane base in the South Atlantic by means of which it is hoped to establish a four-day service between Berlin and Rio.

The discontinuance of the Daytona-Orlando-Tampa service of the Eastern Air Transport will have little effect upon Sanford today, but in a few years a town without access by air with the outside world will be just as isolated as Key West was before Flagler built his over-seas railroad.

Convicts mutinied at the Tooke Lake state prison camp because they got neither pie nor cake on the Fourth of July. Here in Key West as elsewhere there were many law abiding citizens who were deprived of these delicacies, yet lawbreakers to whom the Fourth of July should be a symbol of nothing, want to coerce the government into pampering them. Cal-o-nine tally should be made fashionable again—Key West Citizen.

The Approaching Storm Cloud

Natural animosities, inherited hatreds, and mutual suspicions and distrusts are usually plentiful enough between certain nations to provide an admirable foundation for war. Such a condition exists between France and Germany and the whole world waits for the spark which will start another display of pyrotechnics in Western Europe.

There are any number of little "sparks" in the atmosphere today, any one of which might land on the powder keg. But there is one looming in the future which has possibly greater potentialities than all the rest to be the "casus belli" which will send German and French armies at each other's throats.

In 18 months a plebiscite will be held in the rich Saar region when the inhabitants will decide whether they will continue under the present League of Nations regime or whether they will join politically with France or Germany.

This territory since the Treaty of Versailles was signed, giving France control of the Saar coal deposits, has been of great economic advantage to the French.

Coal from the Saar has been a large source of supply for the Lorraine iron fields, and at the same time the Saar region with its dense population, absorbs most of the agricultural products of Lorraine. Any action which might disrupt this perfect economic set-up would be extremely resented by the French and it is not altogether certain that they would tolerate it.

It might be contended that France should be willing, under treaty terms, to allow the Saar inhabitants to make their own choice. This possibly would be true if it were not for the fact that the Nazi followers of Adolph Hitler have been carrying on a systematic campaign of propaganda in an effort to effect a reunion with the Saar.

The population is almost entirely of German origin and it is being appealed to with every kind of seductive means to come back to the fatherland.

Whether or not France can counteract this propaganda in the next year and a half is a question upon which may rest the peace and happiness of Europe for some time to come. It is unlikely that she will let Adolph Hitler talk her out of her sixth best customer without putting up a pretty hot scrap.

An experiment with the shipment of fruit which may have a far reaching effect on the citrus industry was effected recently when 7,500 cases of tree-ripened oranges were sent to New York from Los Angeles by steamship.

The fruit arrived in perfect condition despite the fact that the boat which carried them had no refrigeration facilities.

By means of a cheap system of dipping the oranges in a solution of paraffin they reached their destination retaining all their lusciousness, a condition which would have been impossible heretofore unless they had been subjected to costly refrigeration.

If this new process can justify all that is claimed for it, then the citrus grower will receive very desirable benefits. Because there would no longer be need for refrigeration, the elimination of this expensive item would result in greatly reduced transportation charges.

Steamships could carry the fruit without having to install extensive cooling systems, and the possibilities of foreign markets would be much enhanced.

The Gardener's Prayer

O Lord, grant that in some way it may rain every day, say from about midnight until three o'clock in the morning, but you see, it must be gentle and warm so that it can soak in; grant that at the same time it would not rain on campion, allyssum, helianthemum, lavender, and the others which you in your infinite wisdom know are drought-loving plants.

I will write their names on a bit of paper if you like—and grant that the sun may shine the whole day long, but not everywhere (not, for instance, on spiraea, or on gentian, plantain lily, and rhododendron), and not too much; that there may be plenty of dew and little wind, enough worms, no plant-lice and snails, no mildew, and that once a week thin liquid manure and guano may fall from heaven.

Amen.—Karel Capek, the Gardener's Year.

DIXIE IS SCENE OF REAL TEST OF DRY REPEAL

(Continued From Page One) state's counties and Tennessee acts believe their majority will be anywhere from 50,000 to two to one. Anti-repealists are just as emphatic in their predictions. Days in Arkansas claim the state is safe and Charles Rice, anti-repeal campaign manager in Alabama, said his forces expected the state to vote dry by a "hand some majority."

The Rev. John F. Baggett,

chairman of the United Prohibition Forces in Tennessee, can see no chance for the repealists except through "fra d." The repealists have based their campaign on the South's cherished tradition of states' rights and demanded that this section which went to war for the cause refuse to attempt to tell other states how they shall drink. They have stressed that there is no fear of the return of the saloon but they warned their followers that there was such a danger and attendant evil effects on social conditions.

In reporting the sentiment in Arkansas, Governor Futrell said he was taking no part in the campaign himself. Gov. Hill McAllister, of Tennessee, did not mention repeal by name in his introduction of Mr. Farley here but did call attention to the support given by the Democratic platform by the Tennessee delegation at Chicago and said President Roosevelt expected the "Democratic Party to redeem its solemn pledge."

Sergeant Alvin C. York, Tennessee World War hero, joined the dry campaign in urging his neighbors at Pall Mall to disregard the master general and vote against repeal. He said "We don't need these

But oneday my husband explained to me what "Toasting" is—and what it does. Where he learned it all, I don't know, but I began to understand the difference in cigarettes. Now I find myself enjoying Luckies' mildness and fine taste with a new respect. But even more—since I am a woman quite sensitive to personal daintiness—and since my cigarette and my lips are so intimately related, I especially appreciate the comforting purity of "Toasting". Quarterly reports from all circle chairmen, revealing splendid work by the entire society in the past three months, were given at the regular business meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the First Methodist Church held yesterday afternoon at the church auditorium.

Mr. W. S. Thornton presided over the meeting which was opened with a song. Reports were heard from various officers of the organization in addition to the circle reports.

Among the high points of the program was the account given by Mrs. C. P. Herndon, superintendent of local work, in which she announced the annual "relationship" picnic to be given Tuesday, July 25, at 1:00 o'clock at Evansdale Park for all women of the church with the Missionary Society as sponsor. Mrs. Herndon also read an itemized statement of the work done and furnishings bought for the past year. ## Public Appeals For Support Of Recovery Is Aim able draft, though in a new one which, first of all codes so far presented, called for the entire industry to be put immediately under federal license.

Also, it called for a strict price control by the industry itself, a provision which may be questioned sharply by the administrators. The new code raised minimum wages to $15.50 for a 40-hour week.

Another agreement was submitted by the "industrial majority of clothing manufacturers" bringing together 111 manufacturers who were not represented in the already presented code of the clothing manufacturers' association, whose plans are managed by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America. Terms of the new code similar and a joint hearing probably will be held at the beginning of next week.

Before then, however, there might be an agreement between the industry and President Roosevelt and hour terms immediately as was done yesterday to make the cotton code's benefits apply to the more than 200,000 additional workers in rayon and silk weaving plants, cotton thread and "throwing" or thread twisting factories.

This system might be employed generally to get wages up without waiting for the formal and deliberate process of holding hearings, and promulgating the resulting agreement. It takes two or three weeks at best on such code.

The national extension now in the making would seek even more information, purely voluntary wage-raising and labor-saving action, along the lines of that taken by the steel industry in increasing wages 10 percent yesterday without waiting for an executive order by the President.

A strong appeal from President Roosevelt might form the center of the movement. It still was considered possible that he might in his recent general hour limits and advise what minimum wage levels should be.

Proposals to the recovery administration have ranged from $12 to $14. Wholesale inflation of child labor has also been contemplated.

The plan, which Johnson and yesterday he might be ready to announce today, has contemplative state organizations, headed by prominent citizens, with governors to take on honorary duty. Under these, local meetings would be arranged with "minute men" pickets to stir enthusiasm and all business men and consumers of the national recovery objective.

Along with this, there was the prospect that a wave of advertising would precede the campaign. It would employ all available means of reaching public opinion, from posters to magazine and newspaper articles, and civic and patriotic organizations.

Designs for posters, for label buttons, for advertising slogans and emblems intended to be used by merchants and manufacturers joining in the movement, have been assembled by a staff of artists working quietly for the national organization.

Reports from the textile cities showed that the new wage and hour terms went into effect with little immediate change. Many mills immediately began assembling more workers to round out the two to four shifts they will operate. One North Carolina mill which had been working three shifts discharged 65 employees to bring its crews down

"Zoo In Budapest" Is At Milane Wednesday

"Zoo in Budapest," reported as one of the most unusual pictures ever portrayed on the screen, comes to an engagement on Wednesday for an engagement of one day. It is the first independent production by Jesse L. Lasky under the banner of Fox Film.

The story, built around the activities and the atmosphere of a great zoological park, deals with the romance of a young man who has lived all his life among the animals, and simple, unsophisticated orphan girl who comes to the zoo for a lesson in natural history. The two meet for the first time, and drawn by an unknown urge, find themselves strangely in love with each other. But back of this gentle theme of young love lies the terrifying pattern of caged beasts, their hates and hungers, their loves and lusts, the source from which the plot gains its momentum and is said to move from one overwhelming thrill to another.

"Zoo in Budapest" features Loretta Young and Gene Raymond in what promises to be one of the most thrillingly entertaining pictures of the year. The supporting cast, headed by O. P. Heggie, is a notable one. It includes Wally Albright, Paul Fix, Murray Kinnell, Ruth Warren, Roy Stewart, Frances Rich, Niles Welch, Lucille Ward, Russ Powell and Dorothy Libaire.

Nazi Punish Kin Of Persons Who Write Against New Rule

BERLIN, July 18.—Five close relatives of Philipp Scheidemann, Socialist leader and first chancellor of the post-war German republic, were arrested recently by Captain Hermann Goering's Prussian secret police and removed to a concentration camp, not for anything they themselves had done but as punishment for an action of their distinguished kinsman.

The five must suffer because Scheidemann has written an article for "The New York Times," describing conditions in Germany, which has displeased the Nazi government. It is stated that since the authorities cannot arrest Scheidemann, who is living abroad, they have taken his innocent relatives into custody.

It is officially announced that this act by the Prussian secret police is to serve as an example and "general warning" to other German emigres living abroad. If they write articles criticizing the Hitler regime, their relatives in the Reich are to be made to suffer.

The names and exact relationship of Scheidemann's five relatives have not been divulged, beyond the fact that they are all males.

It is intimated that if any German political refugees offend the Hitlerites in similar manner in future, their women relatives may be sent to concentration camps.

Scheidemann's daughter recently committed suicide in Berlin.

"I want a JOB"

You know me on the telephone. Actually, I'm not at all well, and I want a job.

What can I do well at? I can do your errands at the stores for groceries, household supplies, and all kinds of little items. I can guard your home against emergencies. I can help protect the children. I can be a good night watchman, for I never sleep.

I'm good company, even when I'm quiet, for you know I'm there when you want me. You won't be lonely some with me around.

I'll bring more visitors to you. I'll work for ten cents a day, or even less, and I know I'm worth that.

Give me a month's trial, and see if I don't make good. Come in or call our Business Office today to ask about service. You can call us without charge from any Public Telephone.

BYRD'S SOUTH POLE SHIP THRILLS WORLD'S FAIR VISITORS WITH TALE OF ADVENTURE IN ANTARCTIC

CHICAGO, July 18.—Thrilling because of the testimony it bears to the courage of seventy-two brave men and the hardships they suffered in the name of science at the nether tip of the earth is the City of New York, now visited by thousands daily at a Century of Progress—the Chicago World's Fair.

From pressure of ice forces it higher out of the water, rather than backing it lightly underneath, as it would a steel ship.

Never falling to interest even the most sophisticated visitors are the colorful penguins. They are housed in the Byrd exhibit, two of the "super" species, and two "native" penguins.
