2nd Child Neglect Charge Impending

Assistant State Attorney Tommy Speer said today he anticipated no additional charges would be placed against the 38-year-old mother of three-year-old Mabel Callaway, whose dead body was found Aug. 20 by Seminole County Constable Chester Boyd in her vermin-infested Oviedo home.

Elizabeth Callaway was arrested after the discovery of the body and charged with child neglect.

She is still in the county jail in lieu of $4,500 bond.

A Coroner's jury at Oviedo Monday ruled the child died as the result of being struck on the head with a blunt instrument, after hearing Dr. Arthur Schwartz, Volusia County medical examiner, explain his autopsy findings.

Speer said, "There is no evidence of who actually beat the child and we have no witnesses that the child was beaten."

The assistant state attorney indicated he would possibly file a second child neglect charge against the woman in view of the woman leaving a few months old baby at the house under the care of another child.

Speer said upon conviction, Mrs. Callaway could receive as much as two years on each neglect count.

Prediction: It's Right Here!

By FRED VAN PELT

Sanford is the permanent county seat of Seminole County.

This will be the finding in the very near future of the Florida Supreme Court, in the opinion of a number of governmental officials close to the situation.

These informed parties stated to The Herald this morning that the high court's decision will be that the City of Sanford is the permanent county seat in view of the fact that it always has served in that capacity, that no other municipality or area in the county has been so viewed, even though the city has been looked upon as a "temporary county seat" since the county was formed in a split-off from Orange County more than a half-century ago. (Volusia, Orange and Seminole Counties at one time comprised Mosquito County, with Enterprise as the county seat.)

The Supreme Court's decision also will determine the manner of issuance of bonds for construction of a $3.2 million court house and for construction of a branch court house, a mental health center, juvenile detention center, agriculture center and county jail addition.

Clerk of the Florida Supreme Court this morning informed The Herald by telephone that the justices, returned earlier this month from vacation, have "started the suits rolling again" but said she had no information when the Seminole County court house suit would be decided. The suit was filed by several South Seminole residents questioning Sanford as the "permanent" county seat. The Circuit Court ruled that it is. The matter is now in the high court on appeal for its decision.

"WE WERE SAILING ALONG . . . ."

A PROD was given to the State Department of Transportation this morning to move up on its priority list the improvement of SR 426 between Oviedo and Geneva. The road has been improved between Goldenrod and Oviedo. Greater Oviedo Jaycees also sent a letter to Gov. Claude Kirk asking a "hurry-up" in improving the "barge canal hi-way." Schools Seek Portable Buildings

Crowding Remedy Sought

By BILL SCOTT

Seminole County School Superintendent John Angel at his weekly press conference this morning reported plans were going forward to remedy the overcrowding at six county schools.

Angel said school board will have to advertise for bids before eleven portable classrooms can be moved into several South Seminole schools needing extra rooms to handle overflow attendance.

Facilities at Casselberry, English Estates, Altamonte, Longwood, Spring Lake and Lake Mary, all elementary schools, are presently handling more students than the facilities were intended, Angel said.

The superintendent is expected to address the English Estates Parent Teacher Organization at a meeting Tuesday night before double sessions for first and second graders are placed into effect next week.

Probable hours for the twin sessions, which have been met by parents with many complaints, are 8 a.m. till 12 noon and 12:15 p.m. till 4:15 p.m.

Other steps taken to meet the overflow at other facilities include: one portable to be installed at Casselberry; four at Altamonte; three at Spring Lake; two at Longwood and one at Pinecrest.

Ten teachers, including eight for elementary schools are also needed by the county, the su-

Two Vie For Post

Nomination for appointment as Seminole County tax assessor has been submitted to Gov. Claude Kirk by his local patronage committee, it was learned today. Nomination is tantamount to appointment, subject to security clearance.

Governor Kirk's press secretary informed The Herald by telephone this morning that the nomination has been received in Tallahassee and the appointment will be forthcoming "in the very near future."

Patronage committee members have been "mum" on their selection but it has leaked out the appointment rests between Guy Allen and David N. Berrien. A number of men have been considered for the post. Robert Anderson, real estate broker, the No. 1 selection of the committee, and John A. Spolski, Herald associate editor, No. 2 selection, requested their names be withdrawn from consideration.

The appointment will be made to fill a vacancy caused by the death of S. O. (Oz) Dorminey two weeks ago. Dorminey, a Democrat, defeated Don Willson, a Republican, in last November's general election after Mary Earle Walker, a Democrat, retired after many years

Road Designation Changes Bid

Legislation designating Wekiva Springs and Red Bug Roads as primary state highways has been requested by County Commissioner Greg N. Drummond.

Drummond, in presenting his request to the Seminole-Orange legislative delegation last night at Orlando, pointed out that Wekiva Springs Road, also known as SR 434, extends from U.S. Hwy. 17-92 to SR 436 and, as SR 431, on into Orange County.

"This road," the county commissioner said, "will be carrying out-of-county and out-of-state tourists to the proposed Wekiva State Park. Thus it would be serving a state facility and, therefore, should not be a Seminole County expense."

Red Bug Road, Drummond stated ,was "at one time a state road. It will now transport students to Florida Technological University from US 17 to SR 426." He also proposed another new road be constructed and continue from the west part of the county on a direct line to FTU.

State road officials are considering widening of SR 320, on which FTU fronts three miles south of Oviedo, and of constructing a causeway across Lake Jessup to expedite traffic from Sanford via Sanford Avenue to Tuskawilla Road and on to the state school.

The State Department of Transportation has scheduled a public hearing on Oct. 23 for the improvement of SR 46 between the Wekiva River and Interstate 4. Construction is slated to be completed within this fiscal year.

Sanford Manor To Close

Sanford Manor, a 105-bed nursing home, will close this week after only one year of operating.

Built and [illegible] at an $875,000 cost, the facility today announced intention to close after losing between $5,000 to $6,000 monthly or $63,000 total loss since opening.

In a prepared news release, John W. Jenkins, administrator, cited increasingly rigid Medicare requirements for the decision to close the facility.

Jenkins said "Medicare regulations and qualifications have become stricter and are more rigidly enforced since last October and now only 20 per cent of the patients here are Medicare patients."

Jenkins advised that all nursing homes are experiencing the same difficulties and receiving denials of claims submitted to the federal agency.

"Many of these elderly citizens receiving only very small pensions would not have come to the nursing home without Medicare benefits and when these benefits are denied they have no money to pay."

He continued, "The nursing home has not been able to collect payments for services rendered to these patients."

Jenkins informed that the home's board of directors had experienced losses in excess of $100,000 and because of the mentioned problems have decided that Sanford Manor has shouldered more than its share of the community's burden.

Jenkins disclosed that most of the facility's 66 patients are being moved to other area institutions, mainly DeBary Manor, which is also operated by the same board of directors.

Jenkins forsees a greater use here of the local hospital for housing nursing home cases and expressed the belief that this situation would overburden the hospital's facilities.

Jenkins said he did not know what use would be made of the property after this weekend's closing, and could not comment to a report that the county might be interested in the facility for conversion into a mental health treatment center.

Other Allies Die In Accidents

GIs Killed By Own Explosive

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Nine American soldiers and seven Vietnamese were killed in Vietnam war accidents in the past four days, the U.S. Command announced today. Another 17 Vietnamese and 16 Americans were wounded in the incidents.

Most of the American casualties occurred Saturday. U.S. headquarters said eight men from the 1st Infantry Division were killed and 16 wounded when an explosive charge they were placing near an artillery base blew up.

The accident occurred 23 miles northwest of Saigon and is being investigated.

A U.S. Marine was killed Tuesday six miles south of the demilitarized zone when a helicopter rotor blade hit him. The helicopter was lifting a Marine patrol out after a brief fight.

The 24 South Vietnamese were killed or wounded in an American gunship attack Tuesday in the Mekong Delta about 190 miles southwest of Saigon.

The U.S. helicopter gunships opened fire with rockets and machine guns on suspected enemy troops who turned out to be civilians 16 miles northwest of Bac Lieu, a provincial capital.

U.S. headquarters said four men and three women were killed, and 12 men and five women were wounded.

"The incident is being investigated," a communique said.

The enemy forces supposed to be in the area were never located, and there was no fighting, spokesmen said.

According to the U.S. account, South Vietnamese regional forces were landed in the area by American helicopters after intelligence reports that there were Viet Cong troops there.

"As the regional force troopers were landed," the U.S. Command said, "an unknown number of suspected enemy were observed evading from the area. U.S. Army helicopter gunships supporting the ground force were cleared by the senior government of Vietnam representative on the operation to engage the evading personnel with aerial machine-gun and rocket fire.

"The regional force soldiers searched the strike area and found seven Vietnamese, later identified as civilians, killed and 17 other Vietnamese civilians wounded by the gunship fire. There was no reported ground contact with the enemy, and there were no regional force or U.S. casualties."

Asked why the people were fired on if they had not been positively identified as Viet Cong, a U.S. spokesman said: "It is not a friendly area. They were probably making a move that led the Vietnamese commander to believe they were enemy. I don't know whether the terrain was such as you could easily tell whether weapons were being carried or not."

Meanwhile, military sources said South Vietnamese troops will take over the entire defense of Saigon within the next 30 days, freeing a brigade of American paratroopers.

Greg Drummond informed fellow members of the Commission that a state officer informed him that because of the immediate need for a program he will endeavor to be here for the Commission meeting next Tuesday but in any event will be here by Sept. 30.

The Commission learned from County Attorney Harold Johnson that a new state law, passed by the last Legislature, supersedes any local act seeking to censor movies.

The Commission, therefore, voted to request theater owners to increase their vigilance in keeping out juveniles when showing "X" rated films and to police previews, or trailers, of future showings.

Alexander informed the board one of its members will be asked to confer in Tallahassee with state officials on county road funds within the next two weeks.

Draft Call Cut Pictured

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird indicated today draft calls for the months ahead will be reduced as a result of the new troop reductions in Vietnam and an over-all 20,000 man cutback in U.S. armed strength.

"The Vietnamization program will have a very substantial effect on programmed draft calls for the months ahead," Laird told a news conference.

The defense secretary said he will inform the Selective Service System Friday of the planned changes and will urge Congress that same day to enact reform legislation designed to remove inequities in the draft.

Although Laird refused to say flatly there would be draft cuts, his words carried that clear intent. Sources hinted the October draft call of 29,000 probably will be reduced.

Administration sources indicated meanwhile President Nixon still hopes he may be able to move before the end of the year to boost U.S. troop withdrawals from Vietnam to about 100,000 men.

Even as Laird prepared for today's public detailing of Nixon's order Tuesday withdrawing at least another 35,000 troops from the war zone by Dec. 15, the sources said the manpower situation would be reviewed again, presumably before 1970.

Laird disclosed the latest withdrawal from Vietnam will include the remainder of the 3rd Marine Division, leaving only one Marine division in the [illegible] Vietnam, leaving more responsibility to the South Vietnamese 1st Division.

The Marine slice of the new withdrawal will total 18,457 men, including support elements.

The Army will send 14,263 men home, including a brigade and support elements.

The Navy cut will total 5,239 in construction battalions and support elements, while the Air Force will reduce by 2,841 men in combat squadrons and support outfits.

This total comes to 40,500 spaces a reduction from the authorized ceiling of 549,500 men which never has been met. The actual number of men being pulled out totals about 35,000.

Added to 25,000 brought out during the summer, the new Nixon decision will raise to 60,000 the number of American servicemen pulled back under the administration program to reduce the U.S. battle role and shift it gradually to the South Vietnamese.

Laird said the pull-back will result in an additional inactivation of 20,000 men from the over-all strength of U.S. armed forces. Most of these troop reductions will be from the Army and in the United States.

This brings to about 126,000 the slash in total U.S. armed strength announced by Laird as an economy measure related to the reduction in the U.S. commitment in Vietnam.

Nursing Homes Profit Good

By JAMES R. POLK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite a billion-dollar bonanza from the federal government, America's nursing homes are a stark and lonely place to die.

Abuses in money and medicine, an air of death and despair shadow the aged through the dusk of their days.

Doctors rarely see their patients. Nurses use drugs freely to restrain the elderly. Mental patients are dumped into nursing homes by the thousands. And fraud feeds on the federal dollar.

Through medicaid and medicare, the government suddenly has taken over financial responsibility for most of the nursing home care in this nation. The taxpayer now pays $2 out of every $3 pouring into private nursing homes.

Profits are healthier than ever. But other ills fester—tough federal regulations have been slower than federal dollars in reaching nursing homes.

For this hidden million Americans, the end can be an empty, grim, even degrading tragedy.

The Associated Press, in an extensive nationwide study of nursing homes, found facts and cases like these:

—In El Granada, Calif., a nursing home operator is accused of stealing a dying patient's savings of $13,000 after she and a lawyer lifted his feeble hand to guide his signature on a legal paper.

—A suburban New York City nursing home billed medicare for nearly $400,000 for physical therapy in one year. When the government tried to recoup part of the money by suspending medicare payments, the nursing home discharged all its medicare patients.

—Some physicians, dentists, X-ray firms and other medical specialists have been accused by Senate investigators of making profitable "mass visits" to nursing homes where patients are plentiful. Records show one doctor who operates his own nursing home in Jefferson, Tex., billed medicare last year for 4,560 visits to just 56 patients.

—For the most part, however, doctors care in many nursing homes across the country is so scarce that it is a national scandal. In one large home in Topeka, Kan., a survey showed three-fourths of the patients checked had not been seen by a doctor in at least half a year.

New Policy Council Ready For Business

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic National Committee's new policy council is finally ready for business—and it may provide Hubert H. Humphrey with a platform from which to challenge President Nixon's performance.

Humphrey, the party's 1968 defeated presidential nominee and a possible candidate again in 1972, is chairman of the panel assigned to keep vigil on the Republicans.

Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma, the party chairman, and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, the 1968 nominee for vice president, are vice chairmen of the Democratic policy council, which has been some eight months in the making.

Muskie and even Harris are considered possible 1972 candidates for the Democratic presidential nod.

Harris announced the council's makup on the eve of a conference of Democratic state chairmen today, and a meeting of the national committee Thursday.

He appointed 20 Democrats, among them three governors, three senators, three members of the House and two big-city mayors, to the council executive committee.

Harris said 30 prominent Democrats later would be named members at large and six committees which deal with policy and issues in major areas.

Harris hopes liaison, and general agreement on the issues, would avoid the problem faced by a similar group during the Republican Eisenhower administration when Democratic congressional leaders regarded the council as an intruder.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, the Democratic leader, said he would be glad to work with the new council. "We just have to make up our own minds here, and do what we think is best, because we vote."

Lyman can use two and South Seminole Junior High needs one additional teacher, Angel informed.

Scattered South Seminole schools need one or two to solve the understaffing, he continued.

Asked about latest information on U.S. Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) requirements in turning down the county's 1969-70 desegregation plan, Angel said there was nothing new to report as Douglas Stenstrom, board attorney, had forwarded answers to the 20 allegations made by the federal agency concerning the school plan and had requested an extention of time in which to reply at a Washington hearing.

No date was requested in Stenstrom's request for delay, due to the pending lawsuit against the school plan expected to be filed by an Orlando attorney representing many Seminole plaintiffs.

Altamonte Meeting

A light agenda is scheduled for Altamonte city council which will meet tonight at 7:30 p.m. at city hall. Sale of alcoholic beverages on Sunday and access roads to the sewer project are among the items to be discussed. Attorney Joseph Murasko has also requested to be heard upon the federal grant and loan for the new municipal sewer system.

ONE INJURED in a morning traffic mishap at intersection of Persimmon Avenue and First Street, Mrs. Nancy T. Edgington, DeBary woman, was admitted to Seminole Hospital for observation after receiving emergency room treatment. Sanford Patrolman Eddie Hughes charged the woman with using the improper lane after her vehicle collided with a car driven by Wendell Agee, 53, 2800 Country Club Road.

Pollution Studied

By CHARNER LEONE

Conservationists from all levels of government were promised a hearing within two or three months on the pollution on the St. Johns River. Nathaniel Reed, chairman of the State Air and Water Pollution Control Board, made this promise last night at a meeting staged by the Izaak Walton League at Sportsman's Lodge in Welaka.

A list of the municipalities and firms polluting the St. Johns is being compiled, he said.

Reed promised that politics would hold no place in the proposed hearing. He cited the state's pollution laws as the best in the nation, and said that he would see that they are enforced.

Among the 175 to 200 conservationists and municipal representatives present at last night's meeting were representatives from Lake, Clay, St. Johns, Flagler, Putnam, Volusia and Duval Counties. S. B. (Jim) Crowe, owner of Crowe's fishing camp, was the only representative from Seminole County present, although it is highly probable that members of the city and county commissioners were invited to attend, he said.

Crowe, whose fishing camp is on the St. Johns River, said that the main factors in the pollution were the sewage and industrial wastes dumped in the river. However, the spread of water hyacinths contributes heavily, too. And he added, "So do the beer cans the hot rod boaters throw overboard!"

Lake Jessup is an example of what's happening to us, he said. Sewage from Winter Park and the manufacturing plants along 17-92 is dumped into Soldier Creek Swamp, which forms the head waters of Lake Jessup. Lake Jessup is a backwater off the St. Johns.

According to one count, said Crowe, there are 17 sewage plants dumping into the St. Johns, primarily through the Econlochatchee River.

Some efforts are being made to clean up the water, however. Deltona has a tertiary sewage treatment plant, which is about the best you can get, said Crowe. But that produces a fertilizer that promotes the growth of algae. The remedy for that situation is very costly.

The goal is 90 per cent clear water. How is it now? "Real rank!" said Crowe, especially around Lake Jessup, which is worse than Lake Monroe.

The cleanup program should be underway by 1972. That is, the offenders will be notified by then and should have begun to remedy the pollution situation themselves, or suits will be brought in court, said Crowe.

Two Vie For Assessor's Post

of service. Governor Kirk's choice to fill Dorminey's seat will be obliged to run for election in November 1970.

Allen, a long-time Republican worker, served as acting postmaster of Sanford from the fall of 1959 to the fall of 1963. He was nominated for the post by President Eisenhower but never confirmed by the Democratic-controlled U. S. Senate. President Kennedy nominated the present postmaster, Miss Lucile Heard, to succeed Allen and she assumed the office as permanent postmaster in October 1963 after confirmation by the Senate.

Berrien, originally a Republican, switched parties when his employer, Thomas McDonald, was seeking public office several years ago. He switched again, from Democrat to Republican, last week. This morning he forwarded the following telegram to Governor Kirk.

"Believe I am best qualified of anyone not actually working in the assessor's office for the appointment as Seminole County tax assessor. Have almost six years of experience with abstract and title insurance work in Seminole County. Your committee has resume. You need some one popular enough in both parties to get your nominee elected next year.

"Check with local bar association and financial institutions regarding my qualifications and with Charlie S. Smith of Division of Recreation and Parks in Tallahassee."

Before being elected President of the United States, James Monroe served as Secretary of State for President Madison and Secretary of War briefly for President Lincoln.

Woman Becomes UN Head

By MILTON BESSER
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Angie Brooks favors the direct approach in the traditionally roundabout world of diplomacy. Sometimes this flusters her colleagues at the United Nations.

But they genuinely admire and respect the ambitious lady lawyer from Liberia who was unopposed in today's election for president of the 24th session of the U.N. General Assembly.

As the second woman and third African to fill that prestigious role in U.N. history, the 41-year-old assistant secretary of state from Liberia is certain to enliven assembly proceedings.

She prefers gay African prints with matching turbans in stylishly long costumes called the lappa in Liberia. They become her ample figure. She lives pendants of African design, bracelets and earrings.

She draws aim at the top post in any group that fires her interest—both in and out of the United Nations.

This year was the turn for an African to be elected assembly president, and she campaigned long and vigorously for the honor. The only other woman to serve in that post in 1954 was Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, sister of Jawaharlal Nehru, the late Indian leader. Other African presidents were Mongi Slim of Tunisia in 1961 and Alex Quaison-Sackey of Ghana in 1964.

In her elected post Miss Brooks will preside over all full assembly sessions. One of her first duties will be to introduce President Nixon to the 126-nation assembly when he delivers the U.S. policy speech on Thursday. Behind the scenes she will help coordinate and speed assembly business.

She comes from the oldest republic in Africa, founded in 1847 with the help of Americans who sought to establish a colony in Africa for free Negroes. Monrovia, the Liberian capital, is named for President James Monroe.

Her family was not wealthy, and she had to work as a student in colleges in the United States where she earned her undergraduate and law degrees.

Miss Brooks has been coming to the United Nations since 1954. She was summoned hastily from Wisconsin—where she was seeking relief from hay fever—to fill an unexpected vacancy in the Liberian delegation to the General Assembly.

She let her colleagues know she wanted to be chairman of the assembly's trusteeship committee and in due time she got the job. She was elected also president of the U.N. trusteeship council, and was chairman of visiting U.N. missions to Ruanda and Urundi and to the U.S. trust territory of the Pacific.

She was president of the International Federation of Women Lawyers in 1964-67.

Back in Liberia she became assistant attorney general in 1953 after entering government service in the Justice Department, and was named assistant secretary of state in 1958.

NAACP Criticizes 'Incentive

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — An incentive program to employe welfare mothers, set up by the state and financed primarily with federal funds, is just part of the same old thing, according to a Florida NAACP leader.

The program, costing $5.2 million the first year, is expected to cut welfare payments by only $2.4 million, but its planners say future returns will more than pay for the program.

However, Marvin Davies, Florida field secretary for National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said "my experience has been you can train black people all you want in this state but outside of menial jobs, they still can't find a job."

Davies said the Work Incentive Program (WIN) should not be undertaken until the state studies what "has happened in these programs that failed."

"They have a miserable record in placing black people in the jobs in which they have been trained for," he said.

But state officials believe WIN is probably the most constructive approach yet toward ending welfare. The program, undertaken by the Departments of Commerce and Health and Rehabilitative Services, is aimed at finding work for 3,300 mothers who this year are receiving aid to families with dependent children (AFDC) payments.

"The program seeks to solve not perpetuate the cycle of welfare," said Lt. Gov. Ray Osborne, supervisor of the plan.

"I think it can work. I'm excited about it," Osborne said.

The maximum withdrawal from the welfare rolls would be $2.4 million for the mothers and children involved in WIN, officials claim.

However, WIN coordinator Eugene Bowen, who represents the Division of Family services, says the program will return more than it costs. His division is responsible for recruiting AFDC mothers into the program.

Mini Now Becomes A Maxi
By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Eeeny. Meeny. Mini. Maxi. Which to wear to catch a taxi?

That's the problem facing American girls today.

After years of inching hemlines up to perilously high levels, fashion designers did a turn about this year, dropping clothes—particularly coats—to the floor and telling girls to take their choice.

Will the American woman buy the switch? A survey of stores in several large cities indicates the answer is a cautious "yes."

In San Francisco, Ann Capwell, assistant buyer for I. Magnin, said, "We're stocking maxi coats increasingly, but not so many maxi skirts. Style trends are always a little late in reaching the West Coast. We're still stocking and selling miniskirts, but our sales people are being instructed to call maxis to customers' attention."

A spokesman for Neiman-Marcus in Dallas said, "Last year we had a very small number of maxi coats, but this year there is a large number of maxi fashions in all apparel departments. The trend started with the fall clothes."

Despite their popularity, the spokesman said, "the maxi fashions have had no effect on the minis. Many wear their miniskirts under their maxi coats."

The junior coat buyer for Chas. A. Stevens, a Chicago store, said she couldn't get enough maxicoats. She said the coats were selling in everything —"including bonded tissue paper."

'Constitution Week'-Time For True Dedication

It is high time and timely that voices of authority be raised to call the American people to a renewed appreciation of the Constitution of the United States of America.

Thus we applaud the action of Mayor Lee P. Moore in designating the week starting today as "Constitution Week" and urge that this great document be given more than cursory attention.

Its record demands such a tribute. Born in the throes of revolution and victory in 1787, its proceedings kept secret for 60 years so that the product could stand without the fog of debate, the Constitution is properly termed by the mayor as "the greatest document for human liberty in two thousand years of recorded history."

Its true value to the American people has always been beset by the interpretations made by judicial actions and the interpretations of the interpretations by interpreters of every shade of political and legal convictions.

Throughout, however, the Constitution and its amendments has stood guard over the basic principles which the high-minded delegates to the constitutional convention had pledged themselves to support.

Washington and Franklin were not delegates but their wisdom was sought and subjected to the careful discussions which the 55 delegates who attended the historic gathering in Philadelphia representing 12 of the 13 original states advanced to support their points of view.

The document itself was ratified by slow steps. First to ratify was Delaware on Dec. 7, 1787 and the last of the originals was Rhode Island on May 29, 1790.

Thus the creation of this keystone of American democracy was something which demanded and received the very best thinking by the best thinkers of that age and represented, in the very highest sense, fundamentals which have stood sound despite the changes from the days of stagecoach to the jet plane.

We would like to draw attention to another paragraph from the mayor's proclamation in which he terms the Constitution: ". . . the foundation for a free, prosperous and independent life for every citizen, but each generation, in time, must work for and claim it, otherwise through carelessness or indifference, the rights and liberties we have enjoyed may vanish . . ."

This is a very sound piece of advice. For over the years, the alert and bold leaders of our nation have used the Constitution as a guide.

In the controversy which erupted when Gen. Douglas MacArthur and President Harry S. Truman collided during the Korean War, it was to the Constitution that the president repaired.

Said President Truman: "If there is one basic element in our Constitution, it is civilian control of the military."

Doesn't this show how important an understanding of the Constitution can be? Doesn't this, in itself, make a contribution to today's issue of the "military-industrial" complex?

No comment on this great document, however, can properly be made without a word of appreciation and recognition to those many patriotic societies and bodies which continue to publicize and support the Constitution.

Among these is, of course, the Daughters of the American Revolution which was founded in Washington on Aug. 8, 1890 and members of which are prominent and respected citizens of our city and our county.

Constitution Week in 1969 can be made into a landmark of renewed understanding and support. Will you help?

Oh! That Word

The French may have a word for it, but they're going to be hard-pressed to find that right word and express it gracefully to airline stewardesses. Aging stewardesses on Air France had threatened a strike if the company's automatic retirement age of 40 was not relaxed. Air France officials had taken the view that some portions of some stewardesses were too relaxed after 40 to make continued flying status attractive.

Now the objecting ladies have won their point, in part by agreeing to continue to throw curves. The new automatic retirement age will be 50. But flight status for stewardesses between ages 40 and 50 will depend upon the examinations and judgments of what news stories rather appropriately termed a "mixed" commission. In other words, this new special condition will depend upon the condition of the stewardess in question.

Airlines, in the United States at least, have had problems choosing between efficiency and attractiveness, though the two are by no means mutually exclusive. For our part, we'll take a little efficient service any day. But that point of view may only reflect the fact that the average age around this office is easing out toward some post-40 figure.

But, young or old, we'll have no part of that "mixed" French commission which must rule on the "attractiveness" of stewardesses past 40 who still want to fly. What man of any age has ever developed enough courage and poise to tell a lady she is no longer pretty enough to do her job? — Charlotte (N.C.) Observer

Easy Answer

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has given a $59,082 grant to the University of California at Davis to study the cause and cure of fraying shirt collars.

It shouldn't take $59,082 for the researchers to discover that after taxpayers' money is taken and spent for stupid research projects, they have no money to buy new shirts, so they wear their old ones, frayed collars and all. — Jacksonville (Fla.) Times-Union

Crane's Worry Clinic:

Frustration Antidotes

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph. D., M. D. .

CASE 1-509: Anita J., aged 34, was an efficient secretary before marriage.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "I now grow so discouraged at my lack of accomplishment.

"We have 3 children in school and about all I ever seem to do is get them off in time for their school bus; then have the evening meal ready for their return.

"Day follows day in this same unproductive fashion so I get frustrated by not seeing any major accomplishment.

"How can I solve this problem?"

Wives, paste this Case Record on your kitchen wall, for it contains the following advice to prevent feelings of frustration:

(1) Make yourself an "Agenda" for the week, listing the various tasks you wish accomplished on each day.

Then cross them off with a red pencil as you complete them to bolster your ego.

But remember, you will generally find that you bit off far more than you could chew, so many items will probably be left unfinished.

(2) If you have children in your home, that is your primary career, so try to keep a smile and merely do the best you can!

Remember, a happy home is usually a messy home if there are youngsters involved!

A neat-as-a-pin type of household is not a good environment for kiddies!

For it shows that you are stressing externals and missing the jolly camaraderie that children crave.

Jesus thus reproved Martha for being too preoccupied with here household chores. He then praised Mary for joining in the discussion in the living room!

(3) Make an agenda for each of your children.

Then let them rotate the job of being "Captain" for a day. The Captain is to police the behavior of himself and his brothers or sisters, to make sure they have performed their chores.

It is much simpler for each of the members of your household to make his own bed in the morning and hang up his clothes, towels and wash cloths, than for Mamma to do so.

Besides, it starts your kiddies on the road to being more self-reliant adults.

Remind your protesting kiddies that in the Army, every man makes his own bed pronto an neatly!

(4) Send for the tests below and let your youngsters rate themselves thereon.

For those "Behavior Tests" indicate what is expected nowadays of the average boy or girl in American homes.

And if they grumble, you will be shielded, for when they rate far below their age, they can't blame you mothers but must gripe at the "tests," so you thus escape some of their ire.

(5) Don't encourage your children to be hippies by giving them an allowance but let them work for their money!

Set aside certain standard items that merit pay. Then there will be "ceiling unlimited" regarding their income, for they can earn more if they wish to work more.

Send for my "Behavior Tests for Teen-Agers," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents. They also apply to all children who can read!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Hal Boyle Says:

Sidewalk Comments

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Sidewalk comments by a Pavement Plato:

A common dream among American girls today—and among many young men, for that matter—is the dream of marrying a millionaire.

One wonders why. But if you ask a poor working girl the reason she'd like to marry a millionaire—any millionaire—she looks at you as if you had gone daft and replies:

"Because he's got all that money."

It could be that a millionaire might also have acne, ulcers, athlete's foot, and a cast in his eye. It makes no difference. He's still got all that money.

Of course, when a girl dreams of marrying a millionaire she idealizes him as well as his money. She envisions him as tall, dark and handsome, young, deeply romantic, poetic and generous to a fault. She has the idea that the first thing he will do after they leave the church is to take a bag of gold off his shoulder and divide it into two piles—his and hers.

And since he is generous to a fault, he will gallantly see that her pile is slightly larger than his.

The fault with this picture is that it is hardly typical of the average millionaire.

Your run-of-the-mill millionaire is usually middle-aged, partly bald, has a bulgy stomach and is already married to a woman who watches over him and his money like a hungry vulture. Romantic? Pah! Like any other cost accountant, the figures that interest him most are those in a ledger.

Suppose, however, he is still a bachelor. Do you think that, like Prince Charming, he spends his days and nights running around the kingdom trying to fit a glass slipper to a poor but honest sackcloth-clad Cinderella.

Not him. Making money is ordinarily a time-consuming passion in itself. Your ordinary millionaire has no idle hours to spend in vain pursuits. Ask him if he is looking for a poor working girl to marry, and he'll reply:

"Are you out of your mind? I already have one dependent I'm supporting—Uncle Sam. What do I need with another?"

About "Student Rebel" Aims

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—As the country's college student stream back to school, the most fearful observers worry over public opinion poll figures which show that perhaps two-fifths of the students "sympathize" with the goals of the revolutionaries and radicals.

Since three or four polling agencies agree on the proportion of college youth expressing such sympathy, the figures themselves can hardly be questioned. Nevertheless, the impression left by these findings could be grossly misleading.

At the outset, it has to be noted that—at least in the radical world—the contriving of goals is a very special art.

To dispose first of the easy part of the matter, it is well-established that revolutionaries and radicals deliberately include in their goals some widely felt but minor grievances. This assures an automatic measure of support "on the cheap."

The larger point, however, is that revolutionaries—Communist, socialist, fascist or whatever—inevitably state major goals which are bound to be broadly acceptable in their general terms.

Douglas Pike, a specialist on the Hanoi-inspired National Liberation Front, notes that the Viet Cong's political objectives include building an "independent, democratic, peaceful, neutral and prosperous Vietnam."

In support of that aim, the NLF would promote the economy, education, culture, science, technology, public health, improved working conditions, veterans' and welfare benefits, integrated minorities, religious freedom and the rights of foreigners.

As he notes in his book, "War, Peace and the Viet Cong," these goals are almost "meaningless for political assessment." They are also the aims of the established South Vietnamese government. For that matter, adds Pike, what government anywhere in the world does not claim to stand for such things?

What it comes down to, in Vietnam or on college campuses or the American political arena, is what is to be done, specifically, in the name of such unchallengeable goals. And, most importantly, how it is to be done.

The opinion sampler's job is not finished when he reports that 40 per cent of U.C. college youth have "sympathy" for radical goals." What does that sympathy mean?

Are the presumably millions of student sympathizers prepared to follow the revolutionaries all the way in their violent "search-and-destroy" missions on the campuses? If not, where do they draw the line and why?

Large numbers of the sympathizers, often very bright young folk, insist they are against violence. Yet in the next moment they may add that they are willing to do whatever they must to achieve their goals. The logic of this is an inclusion of violence as a means of attaining their ends.

Hubert Humphrey took note of the youngsters' puzzling inconsistency in a speech in late May at Williamsburg, Va.

"In one breath, they insist on neat and rational order for society. In a second breath, they say that orderly thought and action imprison a man and corrupt the honesty of his responses."

Pollster Daniel Yankelovich says that if the four per cent of revolutionaries can mobilize the sympathizing 40 per cent, "You have a mass protest."

The questions are: Mobilize to protest in what way? To strike? To burn down the school library? To assault unsympathetic students and teachers? To invade classrooms and try to shut others up?

If the mass of sympathizers really chooses to go that route in 1969-70 and beyond, then they will be well on the way to becoming nondemocrats—though it still would have to be demonstrated that such radical behavior would carry over into the adult political arena.

At the heart of the sympathizers' bewilderment is their confusion over "method." Their thing is to ennoble their goals and proclaim unimportant. But in democracy method is the whole story.

Domestic Comment:

Paper Plans–And Reality!

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It can be stated definitely that President Nixon's recent delay in proclaiming additional American troop withdrawals from Vietnam did not result primarily from the step-up in Viet Cong-North Vietnamese military activity.

Though Red attacks were the announced reason for the delay, enemy offensives actually were a minor factor.

Postponement in withdrawals was primarily a result of earlier paper miscalculations. The planners have proved to be overly optimistic on the speed with which Vietnamese units could take over from American forces.

Thus far the problems are not serious.

Nixon and President Thieu agreed at Midway on the withdrawal of as many as 75,000 American troops by the end of 1969, depending on the situation.

The script still calls for withdrawing 25,000 troops every three to six months or as many as 100,000 a year, give or take, according to enemy reinforcements and the problems of substituting Vietnamese troops.

(Withdrawal announcements need not be in 25,000-man chunks. The President could delay somewhat and then announce 40,000 or 50,000 or any other number that fit political, economic and military requirements.)

Original plans did not take sufficient account of the interminable delays in maneuvers so complicated as those involved in substituting one army for another, considering the differences in training and equipment, especially since the Vietnamese detachments additionally must learn how to mesh in much more efficiently with a variety of American helicopter, radio communications, air and engineering units.

All this is a much different problem from moving out one body of troops and substituting another. To a considerable degree it must work by cut and try. This intermeshing has proved to be a real problem, primarily because it requires an understanding on the part of individual Vietnamese company and platoon commanders and noncommissioned officers as to what these U.S. technical supporting services can and cannot do and precisely how they can and cannot be used. That is, they have the difficult problem of learning more precisely how a combat unit must fit in with its sophisticated (U.S.) support like a hand in a glove.

Victims Start Rebuilding

UF Head Tells 'Camille Story'

By CHARNER LEONE

The American flags wave bravely in the yards of those who have returned to the scene of the disastrous hurricane that swept through the Gulfport, Miss. area a few weeks ago. They mark the home of a victim who is rebuilding, often from scratch, what was once his own, personal part of America.

Jack Horner, Chairman of the United Fund Drive in Seminole County "told it like it is" when he addressed the pacesetting firm, Dynatronics, at their pre-kick-off breakfast. The Division Chairmen were old of some of the work of the United Fund, and of their part in the drive to raise $50,000 in this county.

Horner recently visited parts of the disaster area. He viewed much of the wreckage from the bird's eye view of an Army helicopter, and a ground "tour."

There he saw some of the United Fund Agencies in action.

Two United Fund agencies from this area are particularly evident in the heartrendering effort to rebuild this vast tract that once housed fellow Americans. The Red Cross and the Salvation Army are very much tuned in and on the scene during this crisis which is following the disaster.

They are passing out food and clothing as it is needed and offering long range aid that will be needed for an indefinite time until the area is back on its feet.

"I just couldn't believe it," said Horner. There are four and five block areas that are gone. The damage was devastating and complete. New shopping centers were completely wiped out. Swimming pools marked the sites of once beautiful homes. Homes looked like a child's doll house that has had the roof removed.

And the most touching scene, said Horner, came when his team entered a home. Clothes, suits and shirts, hung in a closet, apparently untouched by the waters that had once covered them and which had now receded. Toys around the home made him wonder what had become of the family who had recently occupied the house. Were they among the 43 persons who are still listed as "missing"?

Much of the holocaust was the result of the more than 90 tornadoes which accompanied the hurricane, said Horner. It was a series of disasters, not merely one, he said.

"Could it happen to us?" he queried.

They were hopelessly lost when their communications went out. Their only communications were furnished by cars of the law enforcement agencies, which, spaced at one mile intervals along the highway, provided the only link with the "outside." "How much can go over a microphone?" asked Horner, who was visibly touched by the story he told the United Fund workers.

Weed Control Discussed

Mr. Frank J. Jass
County Extension Director
Agricultural Center
Sanford, Florida 32771

Re: Our Current Beautiful Lakes in Seminole County.

Dear Mr. Jass:

Thanks for your letter of September 10th, regarding our acute weed problem in Lake Martha, Lake Burkett, and Bear Gully Lakes. Yes, you can be of some help especially since I live in Seminole County and Orange County does not receive one penny of my ad valorem tax dollars. Seminole gets them all.

You can follow up on Mr. S. E. Tamburo, Jr.'s letter and suggestion of August 11, 1969, and secure from Mr. James Bell of Aqua Weed Control Corporation on Colonial Drive the best estimate of cost to eliminate this weed infestation from our three (3) lakes. The important thing is to do something now, not after it is so late that our lakes are polluted and weed infested. Let's do not leave our children polluted lakes due to our procrastination and inertia.

West Orange County has polluted lakes right now that are a disgrace to intelligent human beings caused by a do-nothing policy at that time.

Please let me quickly make very clear that none of this pollution problem can be laid at the feet of Mr. Henry Swanson and his competent staff as this happened before he came into office in Orange County.

We, in Seminole County, are about where West Orange County was twenty-five (25) years ago in this regard, so let us do something and do it quick so our children, and children's children can enjoy the beautiful God given lakes we now have.

If I can be of any help, please do not hesitate to call me. Please send me your recommendations after a complete study.

Again, thanks for your letter and offer to be of help. We are going to need all the help we can get. Look at Sanford and our County Courthouse there. It speaks loudly for itself.

With very best regards, I am,
Sincerely,
Paul Pankey

Utility Squable

EDITOR HERALD:

In regard to the utility rate hike. Since we live in Sunland Estates, which is outside the city limits, we will pay twice as much as city residents.

The Sanford Police Department does not come out here at all. I have been referred to the sheriff's department and the Sanford Fire Department wouldn't come out here if the entire place burned. Why should we be forced to pay their salary increases?

If this is Mr. Earl Higginbotham's idea of fairness we do not need him as mayor or anything else.

Geneva FD Outlines Protection

By LIZ MATHIEUX

In order to provide maximum coverage for fires by the Geneva Volunteer Fire Department, the following information has been placed for use in the event of a fire in the Geneva, Lake Harney, Rest Haven, Osceola and Mullett Lake areas.

Between the hours of 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. fires may be reported by calling the Geneva Service Center at 349-5234. If no answer call first, Arthur D. Smith, 349-5192; second, E. W. White, 349-5315; third, Evans Bacon, 349-5349; and fourth, W. E. Dibble, 349-5354.

For night calls between 7 p.m. and 7 a.m., call B. F. Box at 349-5324 or Evans Bacon, 349-5349; Blaine Miller, 349-5385; or Buddy Thomas, 349-5238.

For emergency calls concerning brush or woods fires, call the Florida Forestry Service in Longwood at 838-1229; the Forestry Service is not equipped to fight structural fires.

Upon discovery of a fire and a telephone is not available, go to the fire station located in Ed Putnam's grove and press the alarm button which is clearly marked on the control panel. Remain at the fire station until the firemen arrive to direct them to the scene of the fire.

In order to reduce the number of fires in homes and adjacent areas, the fire department suggests that each home dispose of all trash near buildings and to insure that all faulty electric plugs and appliances and other hazards be repaired or removed from the premises. Space heaters should be located away from chairs, curtains, or other furniture.

Pontiac's 70's

Surprised that Pontiac's setting the style for the umpteenth straight year? Of course not.

But you may be a bit dazzled to find out that Pontiac finally outdid Pontiac.

Take Bonneville. From the strong, new bumper grille to the standard 455 under the hood, it's a rouser.

Inside: instant limousine. So luxurious some of the traditional big boys are already screaming.

One of the nicest things we could have done for Grand Prix's luxury was to leave it alone. We did. But we popped in a 455 V-8 for you to order. (It's an old Pontiac proverb that luxury should have power.)

Enter LeMans Sport. A brand-new series in the Pontiac stable. Wait'll competition sees it pull the new 400-cubes-under-the-hood trick. We'll show you that one if you check the right box on the order form.

By now, you've spotted our '70 GTO. But maybe you haven't heard it. A sound so tough we've thrown modesty to the wind and dubbed GTO "The Humbler."

This is Pontiac '70. And we figure this is the way driving's going to be. So why wait?

Pandora's Box Of New Issues Opened

FCC Ex-Chief Sees No Change

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rosel H. Hyde, who guided the Federal Communications Commission through some of its most turbulent years, says he doesn't expect his successor to reverse established FCC policies.

"But we must bear in mind," Hyde added in an interview, "that some of these things that have had a lot of publicity haven't really become agency policy yet."

After 41 years in federal regulation of broadcasting, including 23 as a member of the FCC, the last three as chairman, the 69-year-old Hyde is being replaced.

During his years as chairman, the FCC has been up to its ears in difficult and controversial policy-making, much of it still unresolved.

It has proposed—but not yet made final—rules designed to make cable-distributed television a programming competitor of free broadcasting.

It has also proposed, still tentatively:

—Limiting the ownership of broadcasting stations to no more than one station per market area.

—Making TV stations take at least half their "prime time" programming from sources other than the major networks.

And it has opened a Pandora's box of new issues with inquiries into, among other things, the ownership of broadcast stations by business conglomerates.

During Hyde's tenure, the FCC spelled out rules requiring broadcasters to give equal time to persons subjected to personal attack over the air, and it also required balancing cigarette commercials with antismoking announcements.

Just this summer it issued final rules bringing pay-television to the brink of reality, awaiting only clearance from the courts and Congress.

The commission also has ordered broadcasters to practice equal opportunity in employment; permitted the use of privately-owned equipment to transmit over "common carrier" communication lines; and ordered a cut in interstate telephone rates.

Almost routinely, the commission must issue thousands of licenses and regulate the rates and activities of some of the world's biggest businesses, including such giants as AT&T, ITT and the networks.

President Nixon's choice to replace Hyde at this turbulent point in the life of the FCC reportedly is Dean Burch, a Tucson, Ariz., lawyer chosen as chairman of the Republican National Committee in 1964 by GOP presidential candidate Barry M. Goldwater.

Irish Barricades Come Down

By COLIN FROST
Associated Press Writer

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The British army today began dismantling Roman Catholic barricades in the riot-torn Falls Road district of Belfast.

In some instances, the army said, the local population was helping troops take down the barricades, but a crowd of women and children sat in front of their barricade in Gilford Street singing civil rights songs and refusing to let the army take down the obstruction.

The army said it had moved three battalions of soldiers into the district to "provide massive protection" for the Catholic inhabitants.

Lt. Gen. Sir Ian Freeland, commander of the 7,500 British troops in Northern Ireland, said the dismantling operation began after talks with provincial government officials and in accordance with procedures worked out during talks last week with Belfast's civil rights leaders.

The agreement provided for British officers to reach separate agreements with the residents of each barricaded neighborhood on the protection the residents feel they need following removal of the barricades.

Belfast's Catholic minority threw up makeshift barricades during last month's Catholic-Protestant warfare, and the Protestants replied with barricades of their own. British troops have put up a "peace line" barricade between the two communities, and the Protestants removed their barricades voluntarily. The Catholics kept more than 150 barricades.

A Catholic citizens' committee had indicated earlier today that the city's Catholics were ready to remove the barricades, but it later withdrew the statement and called a meeting tonight to vote on the matter.

Jim Sullivan, chairman of he Central Citizens' Defense Committee, said: "The barricades stay until we've made a democratic decison."

He was replying to Bishop William Philbin, the Roman Catholic bishop of Down and Connor, who toured the makeshift barricades and told the men behind them that the obstructions "must come down now. We will not be bullied into keeping them by a small minority."

Freeland met Monday with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Home Secretary James Callaghan. He returned from London today with orders to take down the barricades despite Catholic opposition.

Callaghan said after the meeting: "The barricades must come down, and progress must be made in the matter very quickly." He ruled out negotiations between the army and citizens' committees and said Freeland would arrange the timing and manner of the removal with the Ulster government of Prime Minister James Chichester-Clark.

1st Negro Legislator Honored

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Negro congressman says abolition of the Electoral College would encourage black separatist parties and other splinter groups that would shatter the two-party system.

Rep. William Clay, D-Mo., sounded his warning against shifting from the present system to direct popular elections as the House neared a key vote on electoral reform.

An alternate plan, sponsored by Texas Democrat Rep. John Dowdy, calling for awarding electoral votes on the basis of congressional districts instead of by states was rescheduled for voting today after a delay in the House Monday.

Clay, a freshman congressman from St. Louis, said the present system of electing presidents enhances the political power of Negroes in urban areas by making it possible for them to influence large blocks of electoral votes. Wiping out the electoral college, he said, would eliminate the influence of Negro voters in the North as well as the South.

Clay's position puts him at odds with most urban congressmen.

Clay declared the Electoral College is the best protection for the two-party system, which, he said, offers Negroes their best opportunity for political participation.

Without the cohesiveness of the Electoral College, he said, the national parties will be weakened and splinter groups will be encouraged to take their views to the electorate.

"I am certain that black separatist, conservative and liberal parties would evolve," he said.

"These splinter groups will choose to take root when it becomes unnecessary for them to work within the major political parties."

Clay said advocates of direct election were over-reacting to the scare created by George C. Wallace's third-party race last year. What they should really be afraid of, he said, is the possibility of divisiveness that direct elections might create.

Construction Will Take Decade

Capitol Complex Wins Approval

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The State Cabinet today authorized architects to go ahead with Phase 1 of a master plan to build a modern Capitol complex that will take a decade or longer to complete.

Site preparation can start within six months, the Cabinet was told.

The first phase will build square House and Senate office buildings at each end of the present Capitol. The buildings would be built around interior courtyards and connected to the Capitol by covered walkways.

Cost of the four-story buildings was estimated at $8.4 million. Cost of the entire master plan was roughly estimated at $40 million to 50 million.

Chester Blakemore, director of the Department of General Services, said more than $10 million is in the bank from sale of bonds to finance the first phase.

The Cabinet rejected a suggestion by Gov. Claude Kirk to table the proposal until the Legislature does something to build more roads.

Architect Edward Durell Stone who explained slides and plans for the project to state executives and legislative leaders, said through the next decade, the plan would "progressively achieve a state Capitol worthy of this great state."

The second and third phases propose tearing away the Capitol dome and what Stone called the "rather nondescript" additions to the original Capitol. New House and Senate chambers and a 16-story executive office tower then would be built behind the old center section of the Capitol.

"Our buildings will be related to that old building, which is symbolic and sentimental and a justifiable landmark of the past," Stone said. He called the original Capitol beautiful specimen of Greek revival architecture.

The fourth phase includes the possibility of two office buildings which Stone said would make the whole group more imposing. The plan also includes underground parking, underpasses for present streets and a cascade of water in connecting pools where the present parkway leads into the Capitol.

Stone said it will take almost a year to work out interior plans and specifications for the two legislative office buildings but site preparation could start within six months.

Arctic Ocean Shipping Pictured

NEW YORK (AP) — The SS Manhattan's voyage through the Northwest Passage turned up nothing to discourage the hopes of its sponsor for year round use of the Arctic waters by commercial shipping.

"We are still shooting for a year-around capability and have seen nothing in the last two weeks to change our objectives, said Stan Haas, project manager for Humble Oil & Refining Co.'s Arctic expedition.

Haas spoke Monday after the 115,000-ton tanker arrived in Sachs Harbor on Banks Island in Canada's Northwest Territories.

Then the ship headed for Barter Island, Alaska, the last stop before her destination at Point Barrow and the 49th state's North Slope where an estimated 10 billion barrels of oil lie beneath the tundra.

Humble said that it will wait until after the Manhattan returns on Nov. 15 to make a preliminary judgment on whether a commercial route through the Northwest Passage is possible.

Year round shipping through the Northwest Passage could lead to a restructuring of the world trade patterns, a $2 billion shipping boom in the United States and a new frontier in the Arctic.

Marine Cut Seen By Navy

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy is considering deactivating a Marine division, one-third of which is in Vietnam, as a way of further cutting defense spending this year, Pentagon sources report.

Involved is the West Coast-based 5th Marine Division whose 6,600 to 7,600-man 26th Regiment is operating around Da Nang, South Vietnam.

The outfit's other two regiments are at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

Military officers said in advance of today's scheduled White House announcement on troop withdrawals they did not know whether the 26th Regiment might be called home for deactivation as part of the cutbacks.

But they said the deactivation of the 5th, if ordered, would almost certainly require substantial Marine cuts in Vietnam since that division serves as the corps' rotation base for the Pacific area.

The Pentagon sources said dismantling of the 5th Division has been discussed recently as the Corps' part in meeting a $3 billion cut in defense spending ordered this year by Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird.

The 5th Division was activated specifically for the Vietnam war in March 1966 to fill a gap on the West Coast as the 1st Marine Division prepared to go to war.

Including the 1st Marine Division, two regiments of the 3rd Division and the 26th Regiment there are about 70,000 Marines serving in Vietnam.

About 6,000 of the 3rd Marine Division's 9th regimental landing team were sent from Vietnam to Okinawa last month under the Nixon administration's first 25,000-man pullout.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A labor union accused the Nixon Administration today of giving favorable treatment in a labor dispute to an airline headed by a major financial contributor to President Nixon's election campaign.

"A check of the reports to Congress of presidential campaign contributions shows that C. R. Maytag, Jr., president of National Airlines, was one of President Nixon's largest contributors," said the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists.

"As National Airline's $100,000-a-year chief, Maytag is calling the shots in the airline's eight-month lockout of more than 1,000 IAM members," the union said in its newspaper, "The Machinist."

"Maytag's airline and the Justice Department under Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, acting for the National Mediation Board, are now trying to stall the IAM in court" it said.

"Maytag and Atty. Gen. Mitchell are no strangers. Mitchell, President Nixon's former law partner, was the President's election campaign manager. Maytag was an important fund raiser, as well as a big contributor," the union said.

The article said reports to the clerk of the House showed Maytag had contributed $24,000 in separate $3,000 gifts to eight different Nixon campaign committees.

Maytag's office in Miami quoted him as saying he would have no comment until he had seen the Machinists' article.

The union has won a federal court order to the National Mediation Board to release negotiators in the airline dispute on grounds that mediation had failed, the first step in freeing the union to strike.

The Justice Department, acting for the Mediation Board, appealed the order and won a postponement pending a hearing Oct. 15.

The eight months in which the Mediation Board has frozen the dispute, preventing a strike, is one of the longest in recent years under the National Railway Labor Act which governs airline labor disputes.

"It has developed into kind of a feud between National Airlines and the IAM and we are in the middle," said a spokesman for the three-member board.

The union also noted National Airlines won a route from Miami to London even though a Civil Aeronautics Board examiner had recommended that Pan American get it.

Mother Hospitalized; Water Supply Cut Off

Trial After Tribulation For Family

By JANE CASSELBERRY

What's a mother to do? Mrs. Eugene Guerra, mother of two small children, ages two and four, of 155 Fairway Drive, Tee 'n' Green subdivision has not only had her water cut off, but the meter removed as well.

The Guerra's returned home Sunday from Jacksonville where Mrs. Guerra had been hospitalized for a week following an automobile accident and her husband was also there to look after her and the children.

They found on their return a bill from Southern Gulf Utilities saying they were two months behind owing a total of $10.50. (The Guerra's claim that they had not received a bill the previous month). They planned to send the company a check on Monday as they had the money in the bank, according to Mrs. Guerra, but before this could be done the water was shut off without further notification.

When she called Southern Gulf she was informed that the money owned must be in their office plus a $3 charge before the water could be turned back on. She explained that she had no way to get to the office but would put her check in the noon mail.

Feeling that water is a necessity of life for sanitation, washing, drinking and cooking, Mrs. Guerra used her female ingenuity to turn the water back on. When this was discovered this morning by the company the meter was removed and Mrs. Guerra was told she will now have to pay an additional $5 to have it restored.

She was then told by the office that she should have sent her check to the post office box instead of the address listed on the notice left on her door when the water was disconnected, which will probably delay it.

Don Provance, manager of Southern Gulf Utilities, informed the Herald that this is standard procedure for an account two months in arrears and the cut-off date is listed on the notice. Furthermore, he said that after the water is cut-off in spite of extenuating circumstances, service cannot be restored until payment is in the office.

He stated that if the customer had called and explained the problem before the water was disconnected he could have made arrangements. "We are not mind readers," he added.

Mrs. Guerra said she had put up with the "cruddy" water and the fact that every time the system is flushed her lawn is flooded without complaint, but the first time she had a problem she received "no consideration."

HE CAME and took it away! Guerra youngsters stare at the hole which formerly contained the water meter. (Herald Staff Photo)

Strikes And Spares

BY: JOHN A. SPOLSKI

There are a couple of bowling milestones that every kegler can remember, and probably recite for you frame-by-frame. Like the first time they had a 200 game . . . or maybe their first 500 series and then that glorious moment when they put together three consistent games and eclipse the 600 plateau.

It's a feeling which is very hard to describe. Can you then imagine the bowler's feelings when he or she is so good (or is it lucky?) that they go over a 250 game?

Talk to Ron Russi of the Sanford Atlantic Bank team, which bowls on Mondays at 7 in the Kegler's League, and maybe he'll have recovered to the degree that his tongue will function and pronounce the words.

He was just a little-bit speechless after pulling together seven strikes in-a-row to finish with the high for the night . . . a resounding 284 game.

Our Bowler's Salute of the Week . . . Ron Russi (and may you have man, many more — unless you're bowling against me, that is, Ron.)

BOWLING POT POURRI . . .

Pete Duggan brought me back to earth. He just told me that you bowlers took us for $107 during Saturday night's Moonlight Bowling bit. And to think, you collect the long green for such silly things as leaving a red pin . . . or getting a red pin strike . . . or for that matter, simply converting any kind of a split carries loot to you.

The highest individual winner was Woody Wilson who fattened his pocket as a result of picking up the difficult 7-9 split (his first time, he says). That one is worth $5 to anyone making it.

Actually, it's not the high average bowler who really sends us digging as much as it's that group who've been coming out just for the fun of it . . . and go home smiling — and richer!

RON RUSSI JOHN WINTERTON

Last week we introduced you to one of the new 'bombers' from the Dynatronics Men's League (Tuesdays at 7 p.m.) in the form of John Winterton. Big Jawhn had two in the charmed circle.

The Monday evening Adcock Home Improvement Mixed League is back at the pin-pounding routine and starting to make all kinds of loud sounds with gigantic scores.

Darkis Owens topped the league with an opener of 223 and finished the set by averaging 180 for the night, a 540 series. Others who bowled well were Sue Jackson 175/504, Sharon Scott 177, Bill Foster 189/511, Agnes Butcher 187/508, Ellen Betts 182, ditto for Judy Clark and a 202 for Ken Evans.

The Friday evening Seminole Memorial Hospital Mixed League hasn't forgotten what "it's all about" . . . bowling for the fun of it all.

Perhaps Kathy Behrens and Glenna Trutchel really go that one point across. We're glad for it 'cause in our own mind, that's the real reason why bowling has climbed to the number one positions as a participation sport.

Congratulation gals, for a job well done.

GLENNA TRUTCHEL KATHY BEHRENS

It started rather slowly on Saturday morning for the Bantam bowlers; but before the first week had rolled around again, we had quite a few more young bowlers between the ages of six and 15 wanting to get their own bowling shirt or blouse and be assigned to a team.

And as good as it was for the Bantams, the Jr./Srs. really got the hot lines working 'cause we upped the league from a limited 12 teams to a strong 14 teams . . . and at that, only vacancies for about three bowlers to completely fill all of the teams.

Incidentally, in the event we neglected to mention it to you, both of these leagues are sponsored by the Sanford Loyal Order of the Moose.

Since we're on the subject of youthful bowling . . . let's scan the yellow result sheets for a high one or two.

Scott Krecik made it up over a hundred for the Bantams with nine pins to spare. Joe Brister 129, Fred Bowery 128, Terry Waldrop really let loose with a 154, while Helen Crowe couldn't do anything wrong either with a final tally of 156. Some of the other goodies included Steve Sassman 139, Johnny Yelinek 125, John MacGregor 139, Kookie Hawkins 146, Johnny Bigossi 145, Vernie Butcher 136, Dannie Daugherty 141, Mike Limb 152 and Jeff Davis with a 125.

Now remember, these are kids all under 15 years of age.

In the slightly older Jr./Sr. group, we have scores that'd make you and proud . . . Joe Cuneo 203, Larry Brown 198, [illegible] 192/558, Scott Roche 214/543, Vicki MacLeay 185, Bobbie Adams 219, 191 and a 561 series. (Now do you see what I mean about those scores, folks?)

There were a couple more . . . David Hile 182, Mike MacLeay 197/558 . . . and so it goes.

Prep Opener Tomorrow!!

Seminoles Hope To Scalp Oviedo

By GARY TAYLOR
Herald Sports Staff

The Fighting Seminoles, under new head coach Tom Perrin, will get their first taste of real action Thursday night when they play host to the Oviedo Lions at the Sanford Memorial Stadium at 8 p.m.

Under an greement between the two schools, all games between them will be played in Sanford with the money being split.

The Seminoles, out to better their 1968 mark of 6-4, will be fielding a team that lacks the experience of former Seminole grid elevens.

Two big names from last year's squad which the Seminoles had counted on having bac khave given up the prep sport. Joe Potter and Larry Kearse, both stars on last year's squad, have chosen other pasttimes besides football.

Kearse, with his long reaching arms, and Potter, who could stop just about anybody, would have been welcomed additions to this year's inexperienced squad.

The Sanford-based team will have a good chance to see what they have when they play the Lions. The Oviedo squad, numbering only 20, could be an easy push-over for the Sanford squad. With this presumed weaker team to play for the season-opener, the Seminoles will find out just what they need to work on before taking on tougher foes like Palatka, Tampa Jesuit and Lyman.

Assisting Oviedo head coach Herman Lofton with the offensive and defensive lines will be Ralph Stumpf. Stumpf tid last year's squad to their 6-4 record, and will be out to help the Lions better last season's mark of 1-9.

An upset win by the Lions Thursday night would b eespecially sweet to Stumpf, as he has worked hard with both lines to shape them into something that can withstand the Seminoles.

Led by Tommy Barks at the quarterback position, the Seminole grid 11 made a strong showing in a four-way jamboree at Winter Garden last week. The squad battled to a scoreless tie with Lakeview, and then dropped of Ocoee Cardinals 6-0. Since the jamboree, the Seminoles have worked hard to improve their faults.

The defense made a good showing in the jamboree, but there is a lot of work to be done. The offense needs experience. With the number of boys on the team without previous varsity experience, the Seminoles could find the going rough before the season closes.

Head coach Tom Perrin, who is not used to losing, will be out to help the Seminoles finish strong in their division. With the coaching the Seminoles have, along with their talent, they could have a successful season.

Raiders Win In Dual Meet With DBJC

The Seminole Junior College cross country track team opened their 1969 season yesterday with a sounding victory over Daytona Beach Junior College. The Raiders, who held their home meets at the Mayfair Country Club last year, ran on-campus for the first time. The campus oval is three miles in distance.

In cross country, the lowest team score wins. SJC came out on top of DBJC, 18-42 as they opened on the right track.

Facing the Raiders were two brothers from Orlando, Rick and Tim Deuerling, who finished in a tie for first place honors. Setting a new course record, they finished the distance in 16 minutes and 38 seconds.

Only seven boys from each team can run for points in a duel meet. All boys on the team may run, but only a predesignated seven may score.

Finishing just behind the Deuerling brothers was Mike Varnum, at 17:04. Varnum is another SJC star.

Darrell Gruber, of DBJC, finished fourth. SJC's Rick Clark finished fifth while Daytona's Mark Murphy took sixth. SJC took the number seven and eight positions with Bob Nagle and Steve Christlieb, respectively. DBJC's Mike Tierney took ninth while Seminole's Bob Caldwell finished in the number ten spot.

The next meet will be the Raider Run Invitational, scheduled for Friday at 4 p.m. at the campus oval. So far, two teams have accepted invitations to run against Seminole in the meet.

Big Day

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Labor Day in Nassau County went over big with those who bet on thoroughbreds and harness horses.

At nearby Belmont Park, 52,792 fans turned out and wagered a record $1,906,217. In the night harness racing program at Roosevelt Raceway 20,039 attended and wagered $1,814,529.

SNA Lacks Depth

By RICHARD ANDERSEN
Herald Sports Staff

The 1969 edition of the Sanford Naval Academy football eleven is slightly inexperienced and lacks depth in most positions but remember that all submarines have torpedos.

In a recent talk with head coach Bill Klein, he emphasized that this year's squad was inexperienced and lacked a great deal of depth, especially on the line. Klein also stated, "This is the hardest working team I have ever coached."

When asked how this season's team compared with his 7-1 team of last year, Klein replied, "We'll have to wait until November 20 before I can answer that question."

Klein had a great deal of praise for seniors Bill Driscoll, a 204 pound tackle, Randy Leader, last year's all-county quarterback, Joe Ryk, a two-year letterman at fullback, Chip Grant, a speedy pass receiver and Dale Hancock, a hard hitting center. All are lettermen returning from last year's squad.

The only other returner is David Left, but he is presently out with an injured right knee.

The Middies' offensive attack should shape up around Randy Leader, who set school records in every passing department last season. Also in the backfield will be a 129 pound tailback, Bill Horne. Klein says Horne "has got more guts than anyone on the field." Horne's running mate will be Ryk, with Grant at the wide out.

The line will probably consist of Hancock at center, Larry Johnston and Harry Way at guards along with Driscoll and Ken Schramm at the tackle slots and either David Left or James Hardy at the tight end post. LeRoy Rathbun will be at the split position.

Since the BlueJackets are a small team in numbers, most of the offensive players will probably alternate on defense with the possible exception of Tom Bray for Randy Leader.

Under Klein, the Bluejackets are 11-3 and have won their last seven gridiron battles in succession. The squad that won over the academy last is the same team they will be facing this Saturday night in rugged Lake Placid.

If everyone stays healthy it could be a big football year for the Navy, but as Coach Klein said, "We'll have to wait until November 20" before we'll know for sure.

Deltona League Opens

The Deltona Sunday Mixed League began the 1969-1970 season at the Jet Lanes in Sanford with 14 teams. When the last ball was rolled and the pins quit falling, three teams emerged with four point wins, two with 3 point wins and four teams split 2 and 2 records.

Opening night jitters plagued quite a few bowlers as splits and misses were more predominant than strikes. Whitey Ewing led the men with a 541 series, Jim White 531, Ott Granneman 525, J. D. Hudson 518, Len Adams 512 and Paul Rose 502. High games were Jim White's 210, Herman Walstrom 200, Len Adams and Whitey Ewing 193, Jack Hudson, Paul Rose, Ott Granneman, J. D. Hudson, all 180. Carolyn White's 178 was high for the ladies, with Hilde Rudy 165 and Helen Lorenz 163.

Rae Goodman converted the 6-7-8-10 split, with Russ McCain making the 5-7-9 and Helen Lorenz 5-7.

Any teams that would like to enter the league should contact John "Whitey" Ewing 668-5282 or Jack Rudy 668-6700 after 6 p.m. A team is composed of two men and two ladies. The league also needs a few individual lady bowlers to complete teams.

Stetson Soccer

With the opening of the 1969 soccer season just three weeks away, Coach George Borders began Tuesday putting his team through intensive preparation. The Hatters, now a member of the newly formed Florida Intercollegiate Soccer Conference, open a 13-game schedule with Florida Presbyterian Oct. 4 at home.

The Hatters have all but three lettermen returning from last year's team. The 1968 soccer team finished 7-7-1, a school record for the most wins in a single season.

Coach Borders expects to have real scoring potential in the combination of Tim Olagbemiro and newcomer Chai Intarapowit. Last year Olagbemiro was named one of the Outstanding Collegiate Athletes in America, as well as being an All-State selection. Intrapowit is a transfer student from Thailand, and is termed by Borders "A tremendous prospect."

Marine Cut Seen By Navy

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy is considering deactivating a Marine division, one-third of which is in Vietnam, as a way of further cutting defense spending this year, Pentagon sources report.

Involved is the West Coast-based 5th Marine Division whose 6,000 to 7,000 man 26th Regiment is operating around Da Nang, South Vietnam.

The outfit's other two regiments are at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

Military officers said in advance of today's scheduled White House announcement on troop withdrawals they did not know whether the 26th Regiment might be called home for deactivation as part of the cutbacks.

But they said the deactivation of the 5th, if ordered, would almost certainly require substantial Marine cuts in Vietnam since that division serves as the corps' rotation base for the Pacific area.

The Pentagon sources said dismantling of the 5th Division has been discussed recently as the Corps' part in meeting a $3 billion cut in defense spending ordered this year by Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird.

The 5th Division was activated specifically for the Vietnam war in March 1966 to fill a gap on the West Coast as the 1st Marine Division prepared to go to war.

Including the 1st Marine Division, two regiments of the 3rd Division and the 26th Regiment there are about 70,000 Marines serving in Vietnam.

About 6,600 of the 3rd Marine Division's 9th regimental landing team were sent from Vietnam to Okinawa last month under the Nixon administration's first 25,000-man pullout.

Favoritism Charged By Machinist Union

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A labor union accused the Nixon Administration today of giving favorable treatment in a labor dispute to an airline headed by a major financial contributor to President Nixon's election campaign.

"A check of the reports to Congress of presidential campaign contributions shows that C. R. Maytag, Jr., president of National Airlines, was one of President Nixon's largest contributors," said the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists.

"As National Airline's $100,000-a-year chief, Maytag is calling the shots in the airline's eight-month lockout of more than 1,000 IAM members," the union said in its newspaper, "The Machinist."

"Maytag's airline and the Justice Department under Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, acting for the National Mediation Board, are now trying to stall the IAM in court" it said.

"Maytag and Atty. Gen. Mitchell are no strangers. Mitchell, President Nixon's former law partner, was the President's election campaign manager. Maytag was an important fund raiser, as well as a big contributor," the union said.

The article said reports to the clerk of the House showed Maytag had contributed $24,000 in separate $3,000 gifts to eight different Nixon campaign committees.

Maytag's office in Miami quoted him as saying he would have no comment until he had seen the Machinists' article.

The union has won a federal court order to the National Mediation Board to release negotiators in the airline dispute on grounds that mediation had failed, the first step in freeing the union to strike.

The Justice Department, acting for the Mediation Board, appealed the order and won a postponement pending a hearing Oct. 15.

The eight months in which the Mediation Board has frozen the dispute, preventing a strike, is one of the longest in recent years under the National Railway Labor Act which governs airline labor disputes.

"It has developed into kind of a feud between National Airlines and the IAM and we are in the middle," said a spokesman for the three-member board.

The union also noted National Airlines won a route from Miami to London even though a Civil Aeronautics Board examiner had recommended that Pan American get it.

Strikes And Spares

BY: JOHN A. SPOLSKI

There are a couple of bowling milestones that every bowler can remember, and probably recite for you frame-by-frame. Like the first time they had a 200 game . . . or maybe their first 500 series and then that glorious moment when they put together three consistent games and eclipse the 600 plateau.

It's a feeling which is very hard to describe. Can you then imagine the bowler's feelings when he or she is so good (or is it lucky?) that they go over a 250 game?

Talk to Ron Russi of the Sanford Atlantic Bank team, which bowls on Mondays at 7 in the Kegler's League, and maybe he'll have recovered to the degree that his tongue will function and pronounce the words.

He was just a little bit speechless after pulling together seven strikes in a row to finish with the high for the night . . . a resounding 254 game.

Our Bowler's Salute of the Week . . . Ron Russi (and may you have man, many more — unless you're bowling against me, that is. Ron.)

BOWLING POT POURRI . . .

Pete Duggan brought me back to earth. He just told me that you bowlers took us for $107 during Saturday night's Moody's Bowling bit. And to think you collect the long green for such silly things as leaving a red pin . . . or getting a red pin strike . . . or for that matter, simply converting any kind of a split carries loot to you.

The highest individual winner was Woody Wilson who fattened his pocket as a result of picking up the difficult 7-9 split (his first time, he says). That one is worth $5 to anyone making it.

Actually, it's not the high average bowler who really sends us digging as much as it's that group who've been coming out just for the fun of it . . . and go home smiling — and richer!

RON RUSSI

JOHN WINTERTON

Last week we introduced you to one of the new 'bombers' from the Dynatomics Men's League (Tuesdays at 7 p.m.) in the form of John Winterton. Big Jawhn had two in the charmed circle.

The Monday evening Adcock Home Improvement Mixed League is back at the pin-pounding routine and starting to make all kinds of loud sounds with gigantic scores.

Darkis Owens topped the league with an opener of 223 and finished the set by averaging 180 for the night, a 540 series. Others who bowled well were Sue Jackson 175/504, Sharon Scott 177, Bill Foster 189/511, Agnes Butcher 187/508, Ellen Betts 182, ditto for Judy Clark and a 203 for Ken Evans.

The Friday evening Seminole Memorial Hospital Mixed League hasn't forgotten what "it's all about" . . . bowling for the fun of it all.

Perhaps Kathy Behrens and Glenna Trutchel really go that one point across. We're glad for it 'cause in our own mind, that's the real reason why bowling has climbed to the number one positions as a participation sport.

Congratulation gals, for a job well done.

GLENNA TRUTCHEL

KATHY BEHRENS

It started rather slowly on Saturday morning for the Bantam bowlers; but before the first week had rolled around again, we had quite a few more young bowlers between the ages of six and 15 wanting to get their own bowling shirt or blouse and be assigned to a team.

And as good as it was for the Bantams, the Jr./Srs. really got the hot lines working 'cause we upped the league from a limited 12 teams to a strong 14 teams . . . and at that, only vacancies for about three bowlers to completely fill all of the teams.

Incidentally, in the event we neglected to mention it to you, both of these leagues are sponsored by the Sanford Loyal Order of the Moose.

Since we're on the subject of youthful bowling . . . let's scan the yellow result sheets for a high one or two.

Scott Krcek made it up over a hundred for the Bantams with nine pins to spare. Joe Brister 139, Fred Bowery 128, Terry Waldrop really let loose with a 154, while Helen Crowe couldn't do anything wrong either with a final tally of 156. Some of the other goodies included Steve Sassman 159, Johnny Yelinek 125, John MacGregor 139, Kookie Hawkins 146, Johnny Sposato 140, Vernie Butcher 150, Dannie Daugherty 141, Mike Link 172 and Jodi Davis with a 125.

Now remember, these are kids all under 13 years of age.

In the slightly older Jr./Sr. group, we have scores that'd make a sailor drool . . . Joe Cuney 203, Larry Brown 196, [illegible] 202/526, Scott Roche 214/543, Vicki MacLeay 155, Eddie Adams 219, 191 and a 561 series. (Now do you see what I mean about those scores, folks?)

There were a couple more . . . David Hile 182, Mike MacLeay 197/556 . . . and so it goes.

Prep Opener Tomorrow!!

Seminoles Hope To Scalp Oviedo

By GARY TAYLOR
Herald Sports Staff

The Fighting Seminoles, under new head coach Tom Perrin, will get their first taste of real action Thursday night when they play host to the Oviedo Lions at the Sanford Memorial Stadium at 8 p.m.

Under an agreement between the two schools, all games between them will be played in Sanford with the money being split.

The Seminoles, out to better their 1968 mark of 6-4, will be fielding a team that lacks the experience of former Seminole grid elevens.

Two big names from last year's squad which the Seminoles had counted on having back have given up the prep sport. Joe Potter and Larry Kearse, both starts on last year's squad, have chosen other pastimes besides football.

Kearse, with his long reaching arms, and Potter, who could stop just about anybody, would have been welcomed additions to this year's inexperienced squad.

The Sanford-based team will have a good chance to see what they have when they play the Lions. The Oviedo squad, numbering only 20, could be an easy push-over for the Sanford squad. With this presumed weaker team to play for the season opener, the Seminoles will find out just what they need to work on before taking on tougher foes like Palatka, Tampa Jesuit and Lyman.

Assisting Oviedo head coach Herman Lofton with the offensive and defensive lines will be Ralph Stumpf. Stumpf led last year's squad to their 6-4 record, and will be out to help the Lions better last season's mark of 1-9.

An upset win by the Lions Thursday night would be especially sweet to Stumpf, as he has worked hard with both lines to shape them into something that can withstand the Seminoles.

Led by Tommy Barks at the quarterback position, the Seminole grid 11 made a strong showing in a four-way jamboree at Winter Garden last week. The squad battled to a scoreless tie with Lakeview, and then dropped of Ocoee Cardinals 6-0. Since the jamboree, the Seminoles have worked hard to improve their faults.

The defense made a good showing in the jamboree, but there is a lot of work to be done. The offense needs experience. With the number of vets on the team without previous varsity experience, the Seminoles could find the going rough before the season closes.

Head coach Tom Perrin, who is not used to losing, will be out to help the Seminoles finish strong in their division. With the coaching the Seminoles have, along with their talent, they could have a successful season.

Raiders Win In Dual Meet With DBJC

The Seminole Junior College cross country track team opened their 1969 season yesterday with a sounding victory over Daytona Beach Junior College. The Raiders, who held their own meets at the Mayfair Country Club last year, ran on-campus for the first time. The campus oval is three miles in distance.

In cross country, the lowest team score wins. SJC came out on top of DBJC, 18-42 as they sported on the right track.

Pacing the Raiders were two brothers from Orlando, Rick and Tim Deuerling, who finished in a tie for first place honors. Setting a new course record, they finished the distance in 16 minutes and 38 seconds.

Only seven boys from each team can run for points in a duel meet. All boys on the team may run, but only a predesignated seven may score.

Finishing just behind the Deuerling brothers was Mike Varnum, at 17:04. Varnum is another SJC star.

Darrell Gruber, of DBJC, finished fourth. SJC's Rick Clark finished fifth while Daytona's Mark Murphy took sixth. SJC took the number seven and eight positions with Bob Nagle and Steve Christlieb, respectively. DBJC's Mike Tierney took ninth while Seminole's Bob Caldwell finished in the number ten spot.

The next meet will be the Raider Run Invitational, scheduled for Friday at 4 p.m. at the campus oval. So far, two teams have accepted invitations to run against Seminole in the meet.

Big Day

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Labor Day in Nassau County went over big with those who bet on thoroughbreds and harness horses.

At nearby Belmont Park, 52,792 fans turned out and wagered a record $4,906,217. In the night harness racing program at Roosevelt Raceway 20,639 attended and wagered $1,814,520.

Deltona League Opens

The Deltona Sunday Mixed League began the 1969-1970 season at the Jet Lanes in Sanford with 14 teams. When the last ball was rolled and the pins quit falling, three teams emerged with four point wins, two with 3 point wins and four teams split 2 and 2 records.

Opening night jitters plagued quite a few bowlers as splits and misses were more predominant than strikes. Whitey Ewing led the men with a 541 series, Jim White 531, Ott Granneman 525, J. D. Hudson 518, Len Adams 512 and Paul Rose 502. High games were Jim White's 210, Herman Walstrom 209, Len Adams and Whitey Ewing 193, Jack Hudson, Paul Rose, Ott Granneman, J. D. Hudson, all 189. Carolyn White's 178 was high for the ladies, with Hilde Rudy 165 and Helen Lorenz 163.

Rae Goodman converted the 6-7-8-10 split, with Russ McCain making the 5-7-9 and Helen Lorenz 5-7.

Any teams that would like to enter the league should contact John "Whitey" Ewing 668-5282 or Jack Rudy 668-6700 after 6 p.m. A team is composed of two men and two ladies. The league also needs a few individual lady bowlers to complete teams.

SNA Lacks Depth

By RICHARD ANDERSEN
Herald Sports Staff

The 1969 edition of the Sanford Naval Academy football eleven is slightly inexperienced and lacks depth in most positions but remember that all submarines have torpedos.

In a recent talk with head coach Bill Klein, he emphasized that this year's squad was inexperienced and lacked a great deal of depth, especially on the line. Klein also stated, "This is the hardest working team I have ever coached."

When asked how this season's team compared with his 7-1 team of last year, Klein replied, "We'll have to wait until November 20 before I can answer that question."

Klein had a great deal of praise for seniors Bill Driscoll, a 204 pound tackle, Randy Leader, last year's all-county quarterback, Joe Ryk, a two-year lettermen at fullback, Chip Grant, a speedy pass receiver and Dale Hancock, a hard hitting center. All are lettermen returning from last year's squad.

The only other returner is David Left, but he is presently out with an injured right knee.

The Middies' offensive attack should shape up around Randy Leader, who set school records in every passing department last season. Also in the backfield will be a 129 pound tailback, Bill Horne. Klein says Horne "has got more guts than anyone on the field." Horne's running mate will be Ryk, with Grant at the wide out.

The line will probably consist of Hancock at center, Larry Johnston and Harry Way at guards, along with Driscoll and Ken Schramm at the tackle slots and either David Left or James Hardy at the tight end post. LeRoy Rathbun will be at the split position.

Since the Bluejackets are a small team in numbers, most of the defensive players will probably alternate on defense with the possible exception of Tom Bray for Randy Leader.

Under Klein, the Bluejackets are 11-3 and have won their last seven gridiron battles in succession. The squad that won over the academy last is the same team they will be facing this Saturday night in rugged Lake Placid.

If everyone stays healthy it could be a big football year for the Navy, but as Coach Klein said, "We'll have to wait until November 20" before we'll know for sure.

Stetson Soccer

With the opening of the 1969 soccer season just three weeks away, Coach George Borders began Tuesday putting his team through intensive preparation. The Hatters, now a member of the newly formed Florida Intercollegiate Soccer Conference, open a 13-game schedule with Florida Presbyterian Oct. 1 at home.

The Hatters have all but three lettermen returning from last year's team. The 1968 soccer team finished 7-7-1, a school record for the most wins in a single season.

Coach Borders expects to have real scoring potential in the combination of Tim Olagbemiro and newcomer Chai Intarapowit. Last year Olagbemiro was named one of the Outstanding Collegiate Athletes in America, as well as being an All-State selection. Intarapowit is a transfer student from Thailand, and is termed by Borders "A tremendous prospect."

Major Hoople's Football Forecast

Grandios Beginning

Major Hoople Pegs Two Major Upsets

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
Upset Champion

Egad, friends! The Hoopie System has done it ag'ain!

Your favorite correspondent has proved once more his title as Upset Champion is not a fabrication — um-kumph!

Last week, you'll remember, I predicted startling upset victories for the Air Force Falcons over Southern Methodist and the Wake Fores Deacons over highly-regarded North Carolina State. The final scores showed the Falcons winning, 26-22, and the Deacons getting the nod, 22-21 — har-rumph.

Our over-all percentage for the opening day card was a stupendous .815, with nine correct selections, two misses and a tie in the 12 major collegiate clashes — kaff-kaff!

So much for history, now on to the week ahead.

Watch for a new way of hopping — heh-heh — to appear in the Blue Grass country as Johnny Ray, ex-N.D. defensive coach, makes a successful debut as headman at Kentucky. I predict Ray's Wildcats will claw their way to a 28-20 decision over favored Indiana of the Big Ten.

Crystal Gazer

The Air Force Falcons were flying high last week but it will be a different story this Saturday as Dan Devine's Missouri musclemen apply the shackles at Columbia. In a rugged battle, Missouri will prevail, 26-24!

Look for Texas Tech to upset Kansas in a night engagement at Lubbock. In another extremely close game, The Hoopie System pegs the Raiders to triumph, 24-22.

Most of the major powers see action this week, with the spotlight focused on the Houston-Florida, Michigan State-Washington, Penn State-Navy, Notre Dame-Northwestern, Southern California-Nebraska, Purdue-TCU, Texas-California and Oklahoma-Wisconsin meetings. In each of these pairings, the flawless Hoopie system foresees victory for the team named first.

Bacon And Eggs

San Francisco Surges Into First

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bacon and eggs . . . ham and swiss . . . lettuce and tomatoes. None of them go together as well as Juan Marichal and Candlestick Park.

Marichal, the high-kicking right-hander, pitched the San Francisco Giants into first place in the National League's hectic West Division race Tuesday night, beating Atlanta 2-0 on a four-hitter.

It was routine, almost automatic for Marichal, who is virtually unbeatable in Candlestick Park. The victory gave him a 13-1 record at home this season. He is 19-10 over-all, meaning away from home, Juan's mark is a somewhat mediocre 6-9.

Elsewhere in the National League Tuesday, Chicago tripped Montreal 8-4, San Diego drubbed Houston 8-1, Pittsburgh downed Philadelphia 9-3 and Los Angeles swept a doubleheader from Cincinnati, winning the opener 2-1 and taking the nightcap 3-2 in 12 innings. New York's game at St. Louis was postponed by rain.

In the American League, New York nipped Detroit 7-6 in 13 innings, Kansas City trimmed Seattle 2-1, Minnesota blasted Oakland 11-3, Cleveland clipped Boston 3-2, Baltimore blanked Washington 1-0 and Chicago took a doubleheader from California 7-4 and 3-2.

The shutout was the eighth this season for Marichal, tops in the National League, and his three hits and doubled home one of the two San Francisco runs. The other came on consecutive second inning singles by Ken Henderson, Jack Hiatt and Hal Lanier.

Hot-hitting Willie Mays drilled sixth at Candlestick. He has allowed just one run in his last 43 innings pitched at home.

It was the eighth consecutive complete game for Marichal and his 25th route-going effort in the last 33 starts.

SEC Looking For Big Season

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Weary football teams around the Southeast found some relief from heavy preseason drills today as coaches relaxed the pace a bit in preparation for Saturday's openers.

Kentucky slacked off somewhat today after winding up its heavy work Tuesday. Coach John Ray said the team has had two good practice sessions this week and has responded well to warm weather.

A happy Auburn Coach Ralph Jordan turned in short practice sessions today to turn out a polished and well rested squad.

He said Tuesday's session indicated his team was mentally sharp for the first time.

Jordan cited quarterback Pat Sullivan for outstanding work during passing drills and said tight end Ronnie Doss performed well on blocking assignments. On defense, Jordan complimented tackle Keith Green.

Mississippi State was also tapering off to a 90-minute drill today after what Coach Charley Shira termed "a real good workout" Tuesday.

"They showed a lot of zip and hustle, but we're still a little hazy on assignments," he said. Tuesday's LSU workout brought evidence of a virus making the rounds. Split end Jim West and linebacker George Bevan were affected by the virus and other players appeared to be developing similar symptoms.

To add to the troubles, tight end Jesse Truax pulled a muscle during the workout and senior offensive guard Robert McSherry withdrew from his final season of eligibility. McSherry said he regretted the move but felt it necessary.

Three players who had been out with injuries returned to the Alabama workout Tuesday—running backs Pete Jilleba and Phil Chaffin and linebacker Bob Stanford.

Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant said the team didn't look good during the practice, but added it didn't look bad, either. He said, however, "Time is about out and we have to make a lot of progress in two days if we are going to play anybody."

Vanderbilt Coach Bill Pace, trying to put "some bounce back" into his players, worked them without pads today.

"A little leg weariness is to be expected after the two-a-day practices," he said, "but I hoped our boys would bounce back and show some quickness. It hasn't been obvious yet."

Tennessee's Richard Callaway, who forged into the lead for the starting tailback spot, was out of drills Tuesday with an arm infection, but expected back today.

Often beset by injuries, Callaway has been battling Bobby Patterson for the tailback slot.

Justice Candidate Is Drawing Support

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Judge Clement F. Haynsworth's denial of any conflict of interests in a 1963 court decision seems to be drawing some support from the liberal-moderate bloc on the Senate committee considering his appointment to the Supreme Court.

Haynsworth, who was called to testify on his nomination again today before the Judiciary Committee, said Tuesday his part ownership in a vending machine company doing business with a firm involved in the case six years ago had no bearing on his decision.

"I don't see any benefit that he got out of the decision in this case," Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., told newsmen after asking Haynsworth a series of questions.

Similarly, Sens. Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii, and Marlow W. Cook, R-Ky., said in separate interviews they heard nothing to indicate Haynsworth should have disqualified himself from ruling in the case.

The views expressed by Tydings, Fong and Cook, after listening to the testimony, indicated Haynsworth's position was drawing support from the committee's liberal-moderate bloc.

All three had been silent on the nomination of Haynsworth, now chief judge of the 4th U.S. Court of Appeals.

Tydings, who also said it was unfair to call Haynsworth a segregationist as some civil rights leaders have charged, had joined earlier with Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., in requesting the judge disclose all his outside financial interests.

Haynsworth not only complied with this request but also submitted copies of all his income tax returns from 1957 to date.

He said the tax returns would show how much he received in fees as a director of Carolina Vend-A-Matic, a company he and a group of close associates founded in 1956 and of which he continued as a director until Oct. 15, 1963.

However, Haynsworth testified during questioning by Tydings that his fees as a director amounted to $2,656 in 1963. He said he did not recall how much they were in prior years.

Haynsworth testified it never occurred to him to disqualify himself when the court, in a 3-2 decision, ruled the Deering-Milliken textile combine could close down its Darlington, S.C., plant rather than deal with the textile workers union which won a representation election.

"I was not aware of any financial interest I could have in the outcome of that suit," he said. "And I am still not aware of any."

TV To Resist Censors; Plan 'Adult' Program

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Spokesmen of two major television networks say they plan to resist censorship and cater to more sophisticated viewers, but that orders to play down violence will stay in effect.

"Television is becoming more permissive all the time," Michael H. Dann, CBS-TV senior vice president for programs, told a meeting of nearly 400 broadcasting and advertising executives Tuesday.

"I know we are going to continue to be more adult."

Mort Werner, NBC-TV vice president for programs and talent, said he saw no concerted drive to censor telecasts and as for "a lowering of the curtain, I don't think so."

"I don't think the networks are going to knuckle in," he added.

Both spoke in answer to questions by members of the Hollywood Radio and Television Society who expressed apprehension over censorship threats.

"Eight to ten years ago there was an intoxicating excitement in television, with an occasional 'hell' and 'damn,'" said Harry Ackerman, vice president and executive producer of Screen Gems, Inc.

"Suddenly it's like Czechoslovakia. Everything's changed. Are the networks going to knuckle in to Pastore and institute a new dark age of censorship?"

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., who has conducted an investigation of TV program content, is an outspoken critic of violence on the home screen.

Dann commented, "Violence in our society is coming from social change. TV in effect is not responsible for it."

But, he added, "we're going to continue a de-emphasis on violence at all times."

William Self, president of 20th Century-Fox Television, recalled that about a year ago Dann called a producers' meeting on employment of Negro actors and asked if Dann had a progress report.

"All anybody has to do is turn on a set and know there is a phenomenal, explosive use of Negro performers," said Dann. "The great challenge for the industry is to get people on the other side of the camera."

Computers To Launch Apollo 12 To Moon

By JIM STROTHMAN
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —Several go no-go situations which men were responsible for assessing on Apollo 11 may be turned over to computers during the countdown of Apollo 12 in November.

The changes—aimed at taking some of the strain off the launch crew—are among several expected to be implemented by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration as the result of manpower cutbacks and a stretched-out launch schedule following Apollo 11's successful lunar landing.

Other adjustments being made because of the lower launch rate include:

—Changing from a three-shift to a two-shift operation on the launch pad and scheduling tests on a five-day work week instead of the seven-day-a-week pace maintained on Apollo 11. To accommodate the stretched-out schedule, the Apollo 12 moon rocket was moved to its launch pad two weeks earlier than was done with Apollo 11.

—Closing down all activity on one of the two Saturn 5-Apollo launch pads and shutting down one of three firing rooms in the launch control center.

—Taking out of service and putting on standby status one of three Saturn 5 mobile launch towers and one of three assembly bays in the cavernous hangar where moon rockets are put together.

"To meet the national goal, we had three vehicles in process with two-month launch intervals," observed Paul C. Donnelly, launch operations manager for NASA's Kennedy Space Center.

"With four-month intervals, we have two vehicles in flight instead of three. And even the second is not so rushed," he said in an interview.

With fewer rockets and spaceships to work on, NASA and its contractors are reducing the manpower work force by 5,400 people—from 23,600 last July 1 to an estimated 18,000 by July of next year. Most of the 5,400 are expected to be let go by late October, however, before Apollo 12's scheduled Nov. 14 launch.

"For any one mission, the number of people working on the vehicle will remain the same" as on Apollo 11, Donnelly said, "with the exception we don't need the third shift. We can cut the total because we have fewer vehicles" at the moonport.

'There Is Good News Tonight'

By TAD BARTIMUS
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Gabriel Heatter, who kept wartime audiences tuned to their radios with "there's good news tonight," said on his 80th birthday today there is still good news in the world.

Heatter, whose deep baritone brought the English blitz and the Pacific jungle into American living rooms, will spend the day quietly with his family.

The pioneer newscaster retired from his national nightly broadcasts on the Mutual network in 1961. His last broadcast, over a Miami radio station, was May 23, 1965.

"Now he sits on the dock in the sun and watches the porpoises go by," Mrs. Daniels said.

"He plays cards with his grandchildren, who accuse him of cheating because he always wins, and still gets up at 4 a.m. in the morning to hear what's happened in the world."

Heatter suffered a stroke that partially paralyzed his right side three years ago. His enunciation becomes slightly fuzzy at times, his daughter said, but his mind is "razor sharp and his vocabulary is keeping up with the years."

"Dad was once known by a lot of people as the 'Martini King,' and he is still mixing them his secret way and enjoying them every day like he has for 60 years," Mrs. Daniels said. She didn't say how many.

The broadcaster called Winston Churchill and President Franklin D. Roosevelt his friends, and borrowed the English prime minister's 80th birthday quote for his own: "In view of the alternatives, it feels pretty good."

Heatter says the news in 1969, though filled with Vietnam war accounts and the Middle East conflict, still has much good in it.

"If I could say there was good news during the darkest days of World War II, I can sure find good news in the exciting events of this year," he said.

When Neil Armstrong stepped out on the moon, Heatter, using the catch phrase that opened his broadcasts every night, exclaimed to his family, "Ah, there's good news tonight."

Cramer Is Expected To Announce

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Rep. William C. Cramer of Florida is expected today to announce his candidacy for the U.S. Senate seat now held by veteran Democrat Spessard L. Holland.

If Cramer announces, he may find his own congressional seat being challenged.

Florida Republican sources said State Sen. C. W. "Bill" Young, R-Seminole, would immediately announce for Cramer's seat in Congress should Cramer decide to try for the GOP senatorial nomination.

Cramer's bid for the Senate nomination would be opposed by Lt. Gov. Ray Osborne, who announced his candidacy last Friday.

The 77-year-old Holland, in the Senate since 1946, has not said whether he will run for another term.

Holland has indicated that sometime before the end of the current session of Congress he will announce his decision. Sources close to the state's senior senator say the odds are that he will run.

Cramer seriously considered running for the Senate last year when Sen. George Smathers retired but another Republican, Rep. Edward Gurney, jumped into the race and Cramer decided to seek reelection to the House. Cramer is in his eighth term and is ranking minority member of the House Public Works Committee.

He would be gambling seniority on a bid for the Senate.

Osborne announced at a news conference that he would be a candidate for the Senate seat and would not be Gov. Claude Kirk's running mate in the 1970 gubernatorial race. Osborne, who stepped from the legislative halls into the state's No. 2 post nine months ago, said he would not resign his job as lieutenant governor to make the race.

Facility Proclaimed 'A Slaughterhouse'

Broward Animal Shelter Is Shut

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—A veterinarian methodically disposed of some 50 diseased dogs and cats at the shut down Broward County Humane Society Shelter Tuesday as pickets marched outside with signs proclaiming the facility "a slaughterhouse."

"In 20 years I've never seen such deplorable conditions," said Kenneth McGovern Jr.

McGovern is chairman of the Southern States Service Council of the American Humane Society, and executive of the Greater Miami Humane Society. He toured the Broward County shelter Monday and recommended it be closed immediately.

"The filth and stench was unbelievable," he said. "About 50 of the some 300 animals at the shelter had advanced cases of distemper or eneuritis and had to be disposed of."

"I've got my chief vet up here and he's giving them the needle to end their suffering," McGovern said. "We're trying to get the place cleaned up, ... what a mess."

McGovern said he wasn't able to immediately determine who was responsible for the conditions.

However, Patrick Riley, fired Monday as director of the shelter, blamed the Broward County Humane Society, a non-profit group which operates the shelter solely from private contributions. And John Bieber, president of the society, countered that Riley had mismanaged the shelter and was responsible.

Five staff members resigned after Riley was fired. They joined him on the picket line.

Riley, 22 and director of the facility for nine weeks, was fired after he told a news conference that the shelter was overcrowded, understaffed and was filled with obsolete equipment, including a carbon monoxide death box that caused diseased animals to suffer pitifully because it leaked and took up to two hours to kill them.

He told newsmen animals had to be put to sleep every day because disease was rampant.

Bieber said the situation was caused by Riley's mismanagement. He said Riley had called the news conference because he knew he was about to be fired.

"This Riley," Bieber said, "tore down a lot of things because he suspected I might fire him. He is giving out news that is untrue."

Meanwhile, the shelter was deluged with calls Tuesday. Some were from people wanting to help and others were from outraged animal lovers who demanded that the shelter be cleaned up.

The shelter is housed in a one-story building in a Fort Lauderdale residential area. Its equipment is adequate but hasn't been properly maintained, McGovern said after completing his tour.

Trout Teem In Sewage (?) Water

By JOHN CROSLEY
Associated Press Writer

MARKLEEVILLE, Calif. (AP) — A unique lake teeming with rainbow trout on the eastern slope of the Sierra near here is filled with a billion gallons of treated sewage water and authorities say it's pure enough to drink.

Called Indian Creek Reservoir, the man-made lake is fed by a 22-inch pipeline snaking over a 7,000-foot mountain pass from a sewage plant at South Lake Tahoe, 14 miles north.

"The plant is the only one of its kind in the world," says Bob Wakeman, a director of the South Tahoe Public Utility District, serving an area with about 15,000 residents. "The water it produces meets U.S. public health service drinking water standards."

The growth of resort and year-round communities at Tahoe has caused pollution, silting and algae to mar Lake Tahoe's natural beauty, Wakeman says. The $3-million plant and 14-mile pipeline were built to help reverse the trend.

After treatment with lime to remove solids, the sewage water is pumped through filtration beds, channeled through five 30-foot columns containing $150,000 worth of activated charcoal, then chlorinated. The lime and charcoal are later reclaimed.

The water arrives at Indian Creek Reservoir colorless, odorless, tasteless and stripped of harmful waste.

"Everyone asks us why we don't pump the water back into Tahoe and save some money," says Wakeman. "The answer is we could and probably no one would know the difference, but the project is still experimental and its results must be tested thoroughly."

In one test shortly after the 27-acre reservoir opened in August, 8,000 rainbow were planted to see how well they will survive.

Three researchers sponsored by Tahoe conservationists sample the water weekly. One fish implanted. The water is pure enough to drink, if you can stomach the idea."

Dade Pollution Aides Lagging?

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—A conservationist's plea that the state take over Dade County's pollution control agency was tabled Tuesday by the State Air and Water Pollution Control Board.

However, board chairman Nathaniel Reed told James Redford, an Izaak Walton League member from Miami, the state would act if it did determine that local officials were lagging.

"I want you to know, Jim, that we are not passing this by," Reed said. "We want to see whether the local officials are going to maintain the laws of this state or pass a stricter law. If they are not going to maintain the laws of this state or enforce a stricter law, then it is incumbent upon us to step in."

Reed said the board would have to get an attorney general's opinion, expected within 10 days, before it could be sure what action it could take against counties with inadequate pollution control programs.

Redford charged Dade County officials refuse to change a law allowing Florida Power and Light Co., to discharge water heated to 95 degrees into Biscayne Bay.

"They have no intent to change the 95 degrees despite evidence of damage," he said.

Dade officials will meet Thursday with FP&L officials to discuss questions raised about the company's plans to reduce damage to Biscayne Bay by lowering the temperature of discharged waters.

Redford said the present plan will be accepted or else the company will be required to submit a substitute. Either way, he said, the problem caused by discharged hot water will not be solved.

"If they come in with another plan tomorrow, you have to give them another variance," he said. "This could go on forever."

Redford also charged that the county has not taken any action to halt air pollution from Miami incinerators.

Missourian Held After Wild Chase

ORMOND BEACH, Fla. (AP) —A Kansas City, Mo., man arrested after a motorist stole a police car and led officers on a wild chase on busy U.S. 1 was in the Volusia County Jail in lieu of $20,000 bond, charged with two counts of assault with intent to commit murder.

Police in Holly Hill, a small community between Daytona Beach and Ormond Beach on Florida's east coast, tentatively identified the man as Irwin Morlin, 35. Officer R. E. Lindsey said the man identified himself but had nothing in his possession with that name.

The chase ended after the man plunged the patrol car into a ditch and fled into a swampy area. Officers said he was captured without a struggle a short time later. Patrolman Joe Phillips said Morlin was driving down the road firing at them continuously, but "we didn't return any of the fire until he slammed up an embankment beside U.S. 1."

Evidence Attacked

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Two vital pieces of state's evidence in the first-degree murder trial of Kenneth Ray Wright—a razor blade and a blood-stained skirt—were attacked Tuesday in testimony by the first witness for the defense.

Wright, a 29-year-old Ocoee handyman, is on trial for the mutilation murder of Camella Jo Hand, a blonde 8-year-old third-grader. The girl's body was found in a shallow grave two days after she disappeared while walking to school.

Army Pvt. Ricky A. Smith, formerly of Ocoee, testified Tuesday that on Easter Sunday, four days before the murder of Camella Jo, he and Wright had worked on Smith's small, black foreign car. The soldier said they used numerous razor blades, rags and tools.

His testimony attacked the creditability of the razor blade, which the state said bore a partial fingerprint identified as Wright's, and the skirt, found in the grave beneath the girl's battered body.

Smith told the court the skirt "looked very familiar" and that it could have been one of the rags the two men had used working on the car. He said the rags and razor blades had been dumped into a trash can behind his Ocoee home after the work was completed.

Smith said the blades were used to cut thin pieces of metal which were used to tighten the car's main bearings.

Miss Sandra Kay Brown, R. E. Frey Married In Candlelight Ceremony

By MARYANN MILES

Miss Sandra Kay Brown and Randy Earl Frey were united in Holy Matrimony, Sunday, Aug. 31, 1969, at 8 p. m. at the Forest Lake Seventh-day Adventist Church, Forest City.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Brown, Lake Brantley Road, Forest City, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Frey, Holiday Drive, Bear Lake.

Elder Leslie Mansell was the officiating clergyman before an altar accented with a profusion of potted palms, branched cathedral candelabra and two pedestal standards of white gladis and mums. The kneeling bench was outlined with a white archway, trimmed in flowers and greenery, with a pedestal floor basket on each side. White satin bows and greenery identified the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father and mother, the radiant bride chose for her own a formal gown elegantly designed of peau-de-soie and pearled, scalloped imported Chantilly lace in an Empire A-line silhouette. The all pearl lace bodice was fashioned with a Sabrina neckline and elbow sleeves. Her sweeping train, lavishly embroidered with scalloped lace, fell from a self-button back to a chapel length train.

Howard Sneets offered organ numbers of appropriate nuptial selections. Jim Davis sang "I Love You Truly," and Mimi Lindsay sang the "Wedding Prayer."

MRS. RANDY EARL FREY

Mrs. Kenneth Brown, sister-in-law of the bride was her matron of honor. Bridesmaids included Donna C. Smith, Patty Rogers, Mrs. Nita Stiggin and Mrs. John Brokaw.

Their floor length gowns of pastel chiffon, Empire styled, featured bell sleeves with satin bands encircling the waist. Their matching circular nose blushes were secured by matching satin Dior bows and they carried cascades of mums and daisies.

Donnie Lynn was best man and ushers were John Brokaw, Kenny Brown, Wimberly Wolfe and Frankie Rogers.

Candelighters were Robin Frey, brother of the groom and Donnie Moore. Jimmie Kellar was Bible boy and Michelle Hamilton, the lovely little flower girl.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Brown chose a mint green chiffon two-piece outfit. Her long sleeved coat was edged in lace, as well as the dress. She had matching accessories and a corsage of peace-colored roses.

The mother of the groom wore a yellow chiffon long sleeved dress with an accordian pleated skirt and a yellow satin belt. A yellow corsage complemented her ensemble.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the social room of the church. The bride's table, overlaid with white linen cloth, was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake, trimmed in a variety of flowers. Accenting the cake were two silver candelabra with bouquet, of flowers in the center of each.

A separate table held the bubbling mint green punch. Mrs. Albert Smith was in charge of the reception. Assisting her were Mrs. Lewis Stubbs, Mrs. James Duke, Miss Brenda Young at the gift table, and Miss Carol Jarrard in charge of the guest book.

Very special guests included three sets of grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Colson, Mr. and Mrs. John Frey and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hansen.

For her going-away outfit, the bride wore a white two-piece dress and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Charles Koke Feted At Shower

By MARIAN BETHEA

The lovely home of Mrs. Barbara Carlton, 214 Forest Dr., was the setting for a recent bridal shower honoring Mrs. Charles Koke the former Sherry Irby. Mrs. Koke's wedding was an event of Aug. 15 at Central Baptist Church.

The attractive honoree wore for the occasion a Navy blue shift with white lace trimming.

The hostess presented Mrs. Koke with a gift of Corning ware. A novel innovation had its inception at the soiree. Instead of the usual bridal games, Mrs. Barbara Kito, representative of a home interior decorating and gift firm, displayed gifts from all over the world and decorating ideas for the new homemaker. Mrs. Kito also exhibited exquisite custom floral arrangements.

The refreshment table was overlaid with an ecru lace cloth and was centered with an arrangement of pink snapdragons and roses in a cupid vase. Punch was served from a crystal bowl and silver appointments held orange chiffon cake, mints and nuts.

Amid an aura of excitement and anticipation the ebullient new bride opened her many lovely gifts from the guests who included: Mrs. Edith Irby, the honoree's mother; Mrs. Jo Koke, mother of the groom; and Mmes. Glenda Moore, Dee Carter, Dorothy Causey, Carolyn Brunnelle, Marie Sumners, Warren Fordham, Reggie Massey, Albert Jarrell and Glenn Jones.

Also the Misses Denise Irby, Debbie Irby, Gay Echols, Jeanette Wolf, Anita Wolf, Kathy Todd, Bonnie Todd, Marlene Wyche and Judy Wyche.

CAROL ANDERS

By MARION BETHEA

All so much fun was had by members of Phi Delta Zeta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi at an oriental soiree held recently at the lovely home of Barbara and Doc Gorman in Lake Mary.

The Gorman home was transformed into a veritable Chinese restaurant with lanterns strung throughout the dining area. The accidental guests found it almost necessary to execute yoga positions to dine in the accustomed style of the Chinese.

Sorority members, their husbands and guests, who were properly attired in Chinese coolie hats, were seated around L-shaped tables upon the customary mats, and appeared so authentic in dress and demeanor one would surmise they had read Li Chi or Book of Rites.

Cantonese cuisine of choosey chow mein, rice kerrivai, Chinese salad (a "way-out" concoction of mixed salad greens and Cantong noodles) fortune cookies, tea and "finger foodie" of chineses and relishes was served.

The Phi Delta Zeta "dynasty" found, to paraphrase an old axiom, that there's many a slip 'twixt plate and lip in maneuvering chopsticks, but after dining sumptuously dained their own "mod" Confucius saying: "he who eat 'till tummy stout, then must find he soon 'flake out'."

Enjoying the first social of the season arranged by Mrs. Marilee Powell, chairman, were George and Jackie Markos, John and Jan Myers, David and Melanie Howe, John and Marilee Powell, Barbara Brunings, Pam Reynolds, La Jallet, Sue Jallet and Walt Lamb.

At the first business meeting of the year, also held at the home of Barbara Gorman, members were highly entertained by Carol Anders, charm instructor of Wendy Ware Charm School, who presented a most interesting and constructive program.

Also Melanie Howe was elected as new treasurer to fill the term of Sue Jallet who will marry this month and move to Dayton, Ohio. Linda Hittel was elected as corresponding secretary for the year and La Jallet was elected to reign as the Chapter's Valentine Girl.

Gardeners Set Open Meetings

By MILDRED HANEY

Open meetings for the coming year for the Garden Club of Deltona, Inc., have been set at Oct. 10, Jan. 9 and April 10. The club theme for the year is Community Beautification. Its purpose is to promote such knowledge and love of gardening as will result in a more beautiful community.

Tickets are now on sale for the Japanese Tea ceremony which will be held on Oct. 10, 1969. Mrs. Ted Johnson, ways and means chairman, 668-3895, is in charge of the tickets.

Your youngsters will love bread baked in tiny loaf pans. These pans measure 4¼ by 2 by 1⅝ inches and are often available in dime stores among the doll-size cooking utensils. A recipe for yeast bread that calls for about three cups of flour will usually fill about six of these miniature pans.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our 19-year-old daughter has been seeing a psychotherapist about some problems. This is perfectly all right with us, but his mode of "therapy" has us worried.

Our daughter tells us that after each session he takes her in his arms, holds her close and kisses her tenderly. We says this is the new "sensitivity" therapy. Have you ever heard of anything like this? WORRIED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Before jumping to any hasty conclusions, you must remember that your daughter is in "therapy" and could be indulging in fantasy, exaggeration or wishful thinking. However, "sensitivity" therapy is a new approach, as opposed to the usual "hands off" relationship between patient and psychotherapist. Some patients need a friendly touch or a reassuring pat. But no reputable therapist I've ever heard of will "tenderly kiss" a patient as part of the therapy. You have every right to confer with your daughter's therapist and find out if HE'S giving her a "treat" instead of a TREATMENT.

DEAR ABBY: I have a prominent nose, but it is a family trait. In fact we call it a "SCHWARTZ" nose. Every now and then some rude person will ask, "Why don't you have your nose fixed?"

I don't think I need it, but how should I answer?

J. SCHWARTZ

DEAR J. SCHWARTZ: Say, "Why should I have my nose fixed? It runs all right."

DEAR ABBY: We hear so much these days about people not wishing to get "involved." I want to tell you a true story.

My husband and I were driving on University boulevard in Maryland. It was 2 p.m. and the temperature was in the 90's—and no shade. Our car blew a tire and the nearest phone was half-a-mile away.

While we waited for the service we had called this is what happened: A teen-aged boy and girl offered to make a call at a friend's home nearby. A lady returning home with groceries took us to her home to check on the first phone call. She sent me back to our car with a pitcher of ice water for my husband. Her two teen-aged daughters stayed with us until our car was fixed.

Two young men from Maryland U. School Department stopped, offering to change our tire.

Another man in a small service truck, going in the opposite direction, turned around and asked if he could help us.

Two Maryland police cars stopped and offered help. A third one put in an emergency call. Three other family cars stopped and offered help. Two buses stopped offering to drop us off at a service station. FOURTEEN Good Samaritans in one hour and fifteen minutes! The word must be spinning in the right groove.

Sincerely,

MRS. E. P. R.

Jacoby On Bridge

Jacoby and Son

There are differences between the expert and the average player. One is that the expert has put in many hours studying the game so he will bid better. Another is that the average player is apt to be too conservative at times and too optimistic at others. Experts go wrong here also, but the expert is either an incurable optimist or an incurable pessimist. He doesn't overbid one hand and underbid the next.

The most important single difference is that the expert makes the best percentage play on all occasions. The ordinary player doesn't worry about possible bad breaks and blames it on bad luck when things go wrong.

Today's hand is an example of how an expert takes precautions. South is very happy with spade and is ready to attack trumps.

The ordinary player will just lead one of his honors. East will take his singleton ace and undoubtedly will lead a fourth round of spades.

South will have to ruff high and this will establish the nine of trumps as the setting trick.

South has been unlucky. There is no reason for the singleton ace of trumps to be in the East hand but the expert would not have been unlucky.

He would have played a diamond to the ace after ruffing the heart and then led a trump from dummy. Most of the time he would make the same 10 tricks anyone else would. This time he also makes 10, whereas the other player has made only nine.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — Over the years, I have collected over 200 marbles. I would like some suggestions as to how I could display or use them.—M. B. W.

DEAR POLLY — I am sure there must be many more office workers who like to carry flowers from their gardens to place on their desks. I put a carton of empty drink bottles on the floor in the back of my car. Long-stemmed roses and other such flowers may be carried in these bottles filled with water or a partition in the carton might be broken down so as to allow the insertion of a small vase of flowers. No tipping, spilling or wilting of the flowers.—CHARLOTTE

DEAR POLLY — Recently my husband and I took our children to a drive-in movie and, while waiting for it to start, we discovered that the windshield was much too dirty for us to have a clear view. I remembered there were several of those premoistened disposable towelettes in my purse and they saved the day—or night. They work as well on windshields as they do on grubby little hands and faces.—E. M.

DEAR READERS — Of course, they do a better job if you have something with which to dry the glass.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Mrs. R. J.'s problem with her fingers turning black where her gold ring touches them can be easily remedied. A jeweler coated the inside of my gold band (not the stone) with plastic. I later found that when this wore off, colorless nail polish worked just fine.—MRS. R. S.

Beauty after Forty

by Edyth Thornton McLeod

"I have a brown and black plaid suit. What is best for accessories. I am forty and a career woman. The suit is for work. I am tall, skinny and have reddish hair." Nell F.

Why not make a double in fashion? Have a set of brown and a set of black accessories. If there is a blouse with the suit, you could even wear a beige blouse or a white one just for a change.

"Must a set of false curls be exactly a match to one's own hair? My hair is a very dull mud dark blonde color. I cannot afford to have a real hair cluster made. The synthetic ones are very pretty, I think."—Laleah.

There is quite a fashion for the hairpieces, turbans, curls, etc. to be an off shade to one's own hair. The effect is quite attractive. Try it.

"How does one go about matching makeup to clothes and why not match one's own complexion?" Wants To Know.

The makeup matching to clothes is a fashion idea and a very good one. For instance, a bright red dress just must have matching lipstick and a touch of matching color on the cheeks (if you use rouge). A brown outfit looks best with tawny colored makeup accessories. If you would rather match your makeup to your complexion, do so, but new fashion colors won't look as well as when matched to makeup. Take samples of your costumes or the dress, if no sample and select the makeup which blends or harmonizes, but red must be exact. It takes a bit of time for this, but it is well worth it from the effect you obtain. And I think that women should spend time on themselves.

"I am sixty and use lipstick, but my lips are dry and they peel, could my lipstick cause this?" B.T.

I think not, use a drop of cosmetic oil on your lips both before and after applying lipstick. Consult your doctor as to why your lips are dry.

Tomorrow: Welcome the six period of your life!

Horoscope Forecast

THURSDAY, SEPT. 18, 1969

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Others are now breaking promises they have made to you. You, also are trying to release yourself from agreements you have made, due to conditions beyond your control. Understand and be charitable; and expect people to see your side.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) One from out of town whose ideas differ from yours could give you trouble today. All will be fine if you are understanding. You can get that information you need from the right source.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Use your talents to discharge your obligations. Once you love makes some demands now that should be considered and met, where feasible. Be generous.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Take care not to sever any connections merely because you are feeling depressed. You could regret your action later. Keep promises made. Then all will be well.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Your success at your work will depend on your co-workers' cooperation. Improve your health so that you can work better in the future and get more joy out of life.

LEO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) Stop behaving in an imperious manner toward those of whom you are fond. You can easily gain their love and support. See how you can work with your particular talent more efficiently. Be clever.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) This is not a good day to consult your family about that subject that always causes an argument. Stop accepting things as they are. Remove the stumbling blocks in the path of success.

LIBRA (Sept. 22 to Oct. 23) You have to take particular care in motion of any kind today, or in matters of decorum. So don't get into trouble. If you feel like criticizing someone, realize that you are not perfect, either. Be good to yourself.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Try to control your temper today. Your dictorial manner has gotten you in trouble before, especially with your relatives. You will lose your tenants if you don't fix the plumbing.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be friendly with others. Don't antagonize them at every turn. If you want to be invited to a social affair, Instead of being pushy about it, just smile and all will be fine.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Although you are annoyed about many things, you are to blame. So get busy and remedy matters. You will get help from others if you give first. Be more philosophical.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If a friend is behaving strangely, don't be harsh! remember past kindnesses. Be diplomatic at group affairs.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) This is not a good day to try to gain the favor of higher-ups, since you are not up to your best because of a recent disappointment. Get busy with that civic affair instead.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he, or she, will be one of those delightful young people who need to be taught early to listen when elders or important visitors are present. This is a means of learning a great deal. Your progeny, a born troubleshooter and business person, will want to start early on a career. He, or she, can absorb much that is important during childhood. Teach ethics and send to the college preferred.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Ritual Murders

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — An authority on African customs, Dr. Peter Becker, said ritual murder by Africans cannot be stamped out but "must burn itself out like a veld (grass) fire. In education and religion lie the most powerful antidotes." During a period of six months in 1968, six whites and Africans were murdered in South Africa so that parts of their bodies could be used for "muti" (witchcraft medicine).

We The Women:

By Betty Canary

Look, Dick! Look, Jane! Mother and four children are at the airport. She is taking the children to Chicago for the weekend. She calls it an educational tour. Mother is crazy. See Babs wave goodby! See Tad wave goodby! See Clay wave goodby. See Sis pretend he is not with them. Sis is 12 years old.

See father? See father wave goodby? See father laugh? Why is father laughing so HARD?

Now the family is going inside the big jet. See the stewardess? She is pretty. She is smiling. "Hello!" she says. "Are you going to fly in the big airplane? Are you going to Chicago?"

"No," says Tad. "Jet's this the bus to Detroit?" Funny, funny Tad.

The stewardess helps the children find seats. She is still smiling. Why? Is SHE crazy?

The pretty stewardess shows the children how to fasten their seatbelts. She fastens Tad's for him. She pulls it so tight that he cannot talk. Isn't that funny?

The airplane zooms up into the air. Up, up, up! "Goodby, father," calls Babs. "Goodby, airport," calls Clay. "Goodby, earth," calls Tad. "G o o d night, mother!" says Sis.

"Can't you make them shut up?" What is mother saying? Oh, oh, we can't put THAT in the book!

The pretty stewardess brings the children little trays. On each tray is a sandwich and something to drink. What is in the glass? A soft drink? Iced tea? Poison? See the stewardess trip over Tad's foot? See the drinks splash on her dress? Now we will never know what it was. See her step on the sandwiches? They were egg salad. She does not look so pretty any more.

The plane has landed in Chicago. The people on the plane say goodby to the children. They are smiling. The stewardess is waving goodby. She is smiling again. Why are they smiling? Because they are staying on the plane, that's why.

Did the children have fun on their educational tour? Will they have interesting things to tell about the trip when they return to school? What did the children see in Chicago?

They saw the rest rooms at the airport. They saw the rest rooms at Marshall Field's. They saw the rest rooms at the Adler Planetarium. And the rest rooms at the Museum of Science and Industry. And the rest rooms at the hotel.

What can mother tell? Where IS mother? You saw her get on the plane for the return trip. Oh, oh! Maybe she is still locked in the rest room at the airplane.

Highlights

TV Time Previews

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 17, 1969

7:30-8:30 p.m. CBS. Special. "The Diana Warwick Show." "Souled Out!" (Color) Dianne Warwick makes a good showing in her first TV special, ably assisted by Glen Campbell, composer; Burt Bacharach, the Crossdere Clearwater Revival and impressionist George Kirby. She sings solos, which include "Alfie," "Do You Know The Way To San Jose?" and "Windows Of The World," in fine, singing style, and compliments Campbell beautifully in "Duck Of The Bay." She's on less sure ground dancing in "I Stayed Too Long At The Fair" and imitating Marlene Dietrich's rusty singing style. Bacharach accompanies her at the piano. Kirby sings "Walkin' Happy," and Glen solos in "Here's That Rainy Day." A pleasant, well produced, if not inspired, hour.

7:30-8 p.m. NBC. The Virginian. "Long Ride Home." (Color) (Season Premiere) This is primarily a vehicle for introducing a new member to the regular cast, cowhand Jim Horn (Tim Matheson). Horn and partner Ben Stratton (guest star Leslie Nielsen) take temporary jobs at Shiloh but run afoul of a bunch of cattle rustlers who take their money in a poker game. Vengeance for Horn and Stratton is long in coming, but satisfying, and motivates the former's decision to stay on at the ranch, at least for a season. Despite the expository necessities of the episode, it has good action.

8:30-9 p.m. ABC. Premiere. Room 222. "Richie's Story." (Color) A promising series about conflicts in an integrated but good city high school. Lloyd Haynes as Pete Dixon, Room 222's Negro teacher; Michael Constantine as Seymour Kaufman, the principal; Denise Nicholas as Dixon's colleague and girlfriend; and Karen Valentine as Alice, a left-footed, ever-eager assistant teacher are excellent. This first episode establishes character development at the expense of the plot, but you won't mind the lack of action because the characters emerge as believable individuals and the dialogue sounds exactly right. The story concerns Richie, Room 222's star pupil, who has lied about his home address to avoid going to Taylor High, the blackboard jungle his neighborhood offers. The situation is nicely handled and uncontrived. Watch.

8:30-10 p.m. ABC. Premiere. The Courtship of Eddie's Father. "Mrs. Livingston, I Presume?" (Color) If you can accept the rather reassuring premise of a 4-year-old boy incessantly match-making for his widowed pa, you may like this show. Brandon Cruz, who plays Eddie, should prove "Dulia's" Corey a run for audience popularity. The show also has Miyoshi Umeki as a delightful, soft-spoken Japanese housekeeper, given to lapsing into her native tongue. The opening show center on pa's embarrassment when Eddie invites a lovely, would-be starlet for the night, leaves something to be desired. So does the script, which contains endless syrupy pronouncements from Eddie to his father about love, kindness and generosity. But this is definitely worth a look. Bill Bixby as the father, a magazine editor, and series writer-producer-director James Komack as his pad, playboy office colleague, are likable, if not as attractive as Cruz and Miss Umeki.

9-10 p.m. NBC. Kraft Music Hall. "A Funny Thing Happened On The Way To September." (Color) (Season Premiere) Alan King maintains the high quality of his "Comedy Is King" contributions to this series. On hand to help spark the antics and music are Tony Award winner Marilyn Mercer of "Promises, Promises," lovely singer-actress Anne Francine Lawrence, comedian Carl Ballantine and 14-year-old singer Browning Bryant. Comedy sketches, based on activities of summertime, include a hilarious King-Mercer bit about a couple planning separate vacations, which is followed by an equally funny cigarette about the same couple's experiences dining out with the wife's brother (Ballantine) and his date (Lawrence). The husband's old fiancee, he cannot talk. Isn't that funny?

The airplane zooms up into the air. Up, up, up! "Goodby, father," calls Babs. "Goodby, airport," calls Clay. "Goodby, earth," calls Tad. "G o o d night, mother!" says Sis.

"Can't you make them shut up?" What is mother saying? Oh, oh, we can't put THAT in the book!

Emancipation

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A Society for the Emancipation of the American Male has been formed here, dedicated to "restoring the American patriarchy" and returning the male to "his rightful place at the head of the family."

Its spokesman, Carlton M. Brown, claims that the "Holy Scriptures of all nations elevated the male while esteeming the woman who is humble, obedient and solicitous of her husband." He urges that men "stop collaborating with the worldly women and start collaborating with the homey ones."

'Woodlands' Announced

Greater Construction Company has announced its newest subdivision is to be called "The Woodlands" and is located east of I-4 on SR 434.

The first unit will include 96 homes and opening is scheduled for Nov. 2.

A total of 330 homes will be built in the subdivision varying in price from $27,000 to $35,000 according to Greater's Lester Zimmerman.

Among the company's other projects are Carriage Hill and Summerset Subdivisions in Casselberry.

Among the major new segments of the Interstate Highway System opening this summer are 75 miles between Gainesville and Leesburg, Florida; 114 miles that complete the Interstate linking of St. Louis and Kansas City; and 80 miles between Harrisburg and Breeo, Ohio.

Hearty Drink

CALCUTTA, India (AP) — Tea is good for the heart says the latest issue of Tea World, a magazine published by the Tea Board. An article said in lower constituents in Indian Tea check the hardening of the coronary artery which leads to heart attacks. The magazine said this might explain why there is such a low incidence of heart disease among the Chinese, whose fondness for tea is legend.

Career Corner

Historians Study Man, His Story

By JOYCE LAIN

"Since I am entering college this month, hoping for a career as a historian, please make it a topic soon"

A. — Historians are social scientists who record and analyze man and his story. About 85 per cent are college and university professors. Most also do some research, writing and lecturing. (I am not including high school history teachers who are usually classified as teachers.)

Historians may specialize in a specific country or region, a period of time, or in economic, cultural, political, military or other phases of history. Though more specialties in U.S. or modern European history than any other field, a growing group are concentrating in African, Latin American and Far Eastern history. The number of specialties is constantly increasing; for example, the history of business and the relation between technological changes and other areas of historical development are new focal points.

Career Biographies. In addition to the college professors, some historians work as archivists (history librarians) who select, preserve and make available documentary materials of historical value. Other historians edit, write pamphlets and handbooks, prepare exhibits and lecture for museums, special libraries and historical organizations.

A few are consultants in the film and broadcasting industries. About 10 per cent work for the federal government — mainly in the National Archives and the Departments of Defense, Interior and State — where they primarily do research and administrative work. Preparing studies, articles and books. State, local and international government organizations, foundations, research councils and large corporations also employ historians.

History Lessons. For the top jobs in teaching, research and administration, with a very few exceptions, it is essential to have the Ph.D. The doctorate in history usually takes about five years beyond the bachelor's degree.

In high school, emphasize history and social sciences and at least two foreign languages as well as English. In college, a broad education in liberal arts and sciences should be the ticket. Check requirements of graduate schools early.

For more information, write the American Historical Association, 400 A street SE, Washington, D.C. 20003.

Satisfaction. Most historians find their work so interesting and absorbing that it's both vocation and avocation. And you can frequently call your own shots in the choice of activities and allocation of time.

Chamber Hears Noted Biologist

By MARYANN MILES

A film on plants and weeds in are lakes was shown at the September meeting of the Maitland-South Seminole Chamber of Commerce held at the Maitland Civic Center. Ray Kaleel of Lake Mary, biologist from the Orange County Pollution Control Department, as well as C. W. Sheffield director of pollution control, answered the many questions from those living on lakes.

It was reported that big Lake Maitland is infested with the various weeds, but has no money available at this time to do much about it, such as Winter Park has been able to do in their part of the lake.

There are many water plants which include the macrophytes (large plants) down to the phytoplankton (small plants) macrophytes.

Some grow as long as 35 feet, while millions of phytoplankton cells may be contained in a drop of water. Macrophytes may float in the water, grow along the shoreline or below the surface of the water and almost all are perennials.

Both play a vital role in aquatic environment producing oxygen essential for animal life. They sink to the bottom after death retaining nutrients within the water body.

Chemicals are considered a primary method for controlling aquatic plants that have become pests clogging lakes and water ways, but should be used only after all other means of control have been exhausted. Three chemicals authorized are copper sulfate, sodium arsenite, and 2, 4-D.

Mechanical control involves hand-pulling, cutting, and harvesting of plants from restricted areas.

The Maitland - South Seminole C of C will hold its annual Arbor Day on Oct. 4, when the Bottle Brush trees will be sold.

At the October meeting the slate of proposed officers will be presented. Nominations from the floor will also be accepted.

Led To Money

KOKSTAD, South Africa (AP) — His dreams, a detective said, led him to the exact spot where a murdered woman storekeeper had hidden Randi 14,937 (U.S. $19,902). Detective-sergeant Johannes van der Bank, 27, testifying at the trial of an African accused of hacking 56-year-old Mrs. Rachel Feder to death at her store, said he found the money in a special panel under the counter of the shop after having "various dreams about where the money was hidden."

Gives Money

NEW DELHI (AP) — India gave the tiny mountain kingdoms of Bhutan, Sikkim and Nepal almost $30 million for development projects and flood relief in 1968-69, according to an official report.

It's no secret that talented chefs are in short supply. One young lady makes a business of finding and exporting French chefs to America—at executive salaries. Although gifted chefs are scarce, you can enjoy many of their creations, thanks to the marvel of frozen foods. Quite reasonably, too. Of course, it takes a lot of care to keep frozen masterpieces properly frozen all the way from chef to you. But Publix does it expertly. Elegant soups, superb entrees, delicately seasoned vegetables, and fabulous desserts come to you in such perfection that you almost expect to see a chef at work behind those gleaming freezer-doors! If you can't fly to Paris just now, let the chef in the Publix freezer cook your dinner tonight!

Color Appeal Meal

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

A salad that adds color appeal and a new taste treat to a meal is always welcome.

One that fills both needs admirably is a layered molded salad. It is an attractive design of jellied red cranberry juice, with ham, sliced cucumbers and sour cream. Use it as a complete meal when weight-watching or as a special dinner salad.

CRANBERRY CUCUMBER HAM MOLD

4 envelopes unflavored gelatin
8 cups cranberry juice cocktail
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 cucumbers
1 cup chicken broth
1 cup sour cream
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1 tablespoon prepared horseradish
¾ cup mayonnaise
1½ cups finely diced cooked ham

Soak 2 envelopes of gelatin in 1 cup cranberry juice for 5 minutes; stir over boiling water until gelatin dissolves; stir in remaining cranberry juice and vinegar. Pour cranberry juice mixture into a 9x13-inch loaf pan to make a layer ¾-inch deep. Thinly slice ½ cucumber and place slices in a pretty pattern in the layer of gelatin. Chill until firm. Pour 1 cup cranberry juice mixture over the cucumber slices. Pour remaining juice into bowl until cranberry mixture is firm.

Peel remaining 2½ cucumbers, remove seeds and grate. Drain well. Soak 2 envelopes of gelatin in chicken broth for 5 minutes. Stir over boiling water until gelatin is dissolved. Beat in sour cream, onion, horseradish, mayonnaise, cucumber and ham. Dice cranberry mixture chilled in bowl. Fold cranberry cubes into ham mixture. Pour into loaf pan and chill until firm. To unmold dip mold into lukewarm water for a few seconds, tap to loosen and invert on serving platter. Serve with thinly sliced cucumbers and mayonnaise if desired. Makes one 9x5x3-inch loaf.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"Taking the Fifth" has already become part of the nation's slang. This is an unusual mark of distinction for what is, after all, a technical rule of evidence. What does the expression really mean?

Literally, it means claiming the protection of the Constitution's Fifth Amendment, which says that "no person shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself."

The theory of the Amendment is that it is unfair to force anybody to testify on himself. But this does not mean he may keep silent in the courtroom whenever he pleases. He may keep silent only if answering might tend to incriminate him.

Consider this situation:

A witness in a gambling case refused to talk, even after being granted immunity from prosecution.

"Even though I cannot be prosecuted," he told the court, "it could still be mighty embarrassing for me if I tell what I know."

But the court ordered the witness to speak out. The judge said the fear of embarrassment, alone, was not a weighty enough reason to invoke the constitutional privilege.

Still, the basic philosophy of the Fifth Amendment is deeply rooted in our legal system. In accordance with this philosophy, it is a general rule that the prosecuting attorney may not tell the jury that a witness who "takes the Fifth" must have a guilty conscience.

Luxury Food For Americans

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Nutrition Columnist

The recent 15th annual Fancy Food and Confection Show at New York's Coliseum indicates that a larger section of the American public is willing to pay more for luxury foods. From Iranian caviar to wild rice tea cakes, the display of fine items was the largest on record. The attendance of buyers was the highest ever.

Why would the public spend so many of their inflated dollars at this time for Scottish heather honey and imported English biscuits or for "Pasta all Genovese," a green basil sauce from Italy, blended with ground pine nuts and Parmesan cheese? Or for special sesame seed products from Israel and fine fruit preserves from Ireland, England and Scotland?

Edward T. Sajous, executive director of the National Association for the Specialty Food Trade, says:

"Everyone seems to be traveling all over the world. There is no corner of the earth where you cannot find the American tourist. And they all eat. When they return home, they want to serve some foreign foods they enjoyed."

Chinese and Japanese dishes are increasingly popular, Sajous points out.

"Importers of such Chinese items as dried squid, dried seaweed and shark's fin soup report increased sales. Chinese hot mustard is a big item. The Japan Trade Center had great success with quality instant noodle dishes, pickled squid and Mandarin oranges," he reports.

Writers of foreign cookbooks have helped create interest. So have the flood of columns on foreign dishes by newspapers and magazine food editors. Television and radio broadcasters often play up the delights of exotic dishes, too.

There were 151 exhibitors at the show who presented 872 lines of food, including pure Bohemian forest honey, old-fashioned rock candy and Famous Billy Tea, popular with Australian bushrangers. Foreign pavilions included those of Australia, Austria, Belgium, France, Germany, India, Israel, Britain, The Netherlands, New Zealand and Japan and American producers.

"The question of what makes an item a specialty food had to be settled. Caviar, pates, snails, truffles are all gourmet foods and not the usual supermarket items. Price, had to be considered. Specialty foods are more expensive. Many, but not all, are imported. America makes many fine specialty products. Even high-grade candies are classified as specialty foods."

Asked to explain the increase in use of these more expensive, high-quality foods when most people are protesting against rising foods costs, Sajous replies:

"You cannot overlook the fact that we have a more youthful population. Those 24 to 28 seem to have lots of money to spend the way they decide, not the way they were raised to spend it. They are in revolt against the 'good old days'. They are not afraid to seek better things, new and more interesting ways of eating. Most of them have traveled. So I would say that affluent and more sophisticated youth is a large factor in the increased sales of finer and more luxurious foods."

Marvelous Enchilada Casserole

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

This marvelous Enchilada Casserole is the brainchild of Toni Hancock, a young Californian home economist. Toni's husband is a high school Spanish teacher who lived in Argentina for a couple of years and both of them are mad about authentic south-of-the-border cooking.

Toni serves her Enchilada Casserole for supper along with other Mexican foods—guacamole, refried beans and rice. She adds a salad, to, made with tossed greens or fresh fruit. For bread she warms tortillas in the oven and urges guests to slather them with butter. Dessert is likely to be the caramel custard called flan.

A friend of Toni's uses the Enchilada Casserole for brunch accompanied by sangria (a red wine and fresh fruit concoction) and sieved fresh fruit buried in ice. Tortillas and butter go along and so does lots of hot coffee.

When we tested Toni's fabulously good casserole we served it at lunch with a green salad. Caramel-flavored bar cookies made a sweet ending.

At our house we made the tomato sauce for the casserole a day before we were going to use it. When we were ready to put together the casserole, we removed the sauce from the refrigerator and heated it. This way there was little last-minute work. You might like to do the same.

TONI HANCOCK'S ENCHILADA CASSEROLE

2 tablespoons pure vegetable oil
1 large onion, chopped (1 cup)
1 large clove garlic, minced
1 can (1 pound 12 ounces) whole peeled tomatoes
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon oregeno
½ teaspoon basil
½ teaspoon ground cumin
1 can (4 ounces) whole green chiles
1 dozen corn tortillas (fresh, frozen or canned)
3 cups coarsely grated Monterey Jack or mild cheddar cheese
1 container (8 ounces) commercial sour cream

In a medium saucepan heat the oil. Add onion and garlic. Cook gently until tender. Add undrained tomatoes, salt, oregano, basil and cumin; simmer 20 minutes.

Meanwhile, remove and discard seeds and veins from chiles; cut each chile lengthwise in thirds.

Have the sauce extremely hot but off heat. One at a time, dip tortillas in sauce to soften. Place on wax paper and top each tortilla with a chile strip and ¼ cup cheese; roll up. Place stuffed tortillas as they are rolled, seam-side-down, in a single layer in a three-quarter oblong glass baking dish (13½ by 8¾ by 1¾ inches) or similar utensil.

Stir sour cream into remaining sauce; pour over tortillas. Bake in a preheated 325-degree oven until bubbly—20 to 30 minutes. Serve at once.

Makes six servings—two stuffed tortillas per portion.

Wean That Meat And Potatoes

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Wean that meat-and-potatoes man away from this boring—for the cook—dish with his favorite food, steak. Few meat fanciers will fault a steak appetizer as chemise.

In this dish "chemise" is a thin crepe or pancake wrapping for thin slices of round steak sprinkled with cracked pepper and delicately browned.

Serve with a beef sauce or, if you prefer, a wine brandy sauce, asparagus or another green vegetable and fresh strawberries for dessert.

A variation is to use the crepes and sauce with thin slices of leftover roast beef. Heat the crepes and roast beef in a slow oven only five minutes or so. This is a leftover dish that no one can fault.

STEAK EN CHEMISE
8 French crepes
Beef sauce
1 pound beef top round, cut ¼ inch thick
Salt
Cracked pepper
Butter

Prepare crepes and beef sauce before cooking beef. Sprinkle beef with salt and cracked pepper. Pound very thin. Cut into 8 portions. Brown quickly on both sides in butter. Roll each piece in a crepe. Place in buttered individual bakers, allowing 2 crepes per serving. Place in 350-degree oven 5 minutes, just long enough to heat crepes. Top with beef sauce. Serve at once. Makes servings.

FRENCH CREPES: Combine 1 egg, 2/3-cup milk, 2 tablespoons melted butter, ½-cup sifted flour and ¼ teaspoon salt. Beat until smooth with rotary beater. Heat an 8-inch skillet and brush with butter. For each crepe, turn 2 tablespoons batter into pan and tilt to spread. Brown lightly on both sides, turning once.

BEEF SAUCE: Saute 2 tablespoons chopped green onion in 1 tablespoon butter. Stir in 1½ tablespoon cornstarch. Add 1 (10½-ounce) can beef broth, undiluted. Cook, stirring until mixture boils and thickens.

Something Delicious

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Yes, there is something new about chicken salad. Believe it or not, a good cook has come up with an entirely new version. Dressing for the salad is different, too. In addition to the usual oil and vinegar it calls for soy sauce, tomato paste and lemon juice. Besides the usual salt and pepper, it uses ginger, garlic powder and brown sugar. Quite an interesting array! We think your tasters will be as intrigued with this salad as ours were.

If you've never before tried raw mushrooms in a salad you have a pleasant surprise in store. Nice to know, too, that despite their "meaty" texture, they compare in calorie content with leafy greens, celery and cucumbers; one pound of mushrooms yields just under 100 calories.

MUSHROOM CHICKEN SALAD
2 tablespoons salad oil
2 tablespoons distilled white vinegar
1 tablespoon domestic soy sauce
1½ teaspoons tomato paste
1 teaspoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ginger
Dash of garlic powder
Dash of cayenne pepper
1½ teaspoons dark brown sugar
½ pound fresh mushrooms, sliced (2¼ cups)
¼ pound fresh spinach leaves, stems removed (2 cups lightly packed down)
1 small carrot, pared and sliced lengthwise with a swivel-blade vegetable peeler
1 whole chicken breast (1 pound), cooked, boned, skinned and slivered (1¼ cups)
¼ to ½ cup sliced water chestnuts

Into a salad bowl turn the oil, vinegar, soy sauce, tomato paste, lemon juice, salt, ginger, garlic powder, cayenne and sugar. With a fork, beat well.

Add mushrooms, spinach, carrot, chicken and water chestnuts. Toss well. Serve at once.

Downtown Night Spot Put On Auction Block

An out-of-town group is negotiating to purchase a recently-opened Sanford night club.

Robert d'Aversa, owner of the Lui Club, confirmed today that the lounge and dining establishment just opened in the Lakeview Plaza in Sanford's downtown is in the process of being sold.

D'Aversa said the sale is being handled by brokers, who have contacted potential buyers.

D'Aversa, who also has other local business holdings, said Ruben's, a restaurant recently opened at the Sanford Plaza Shopping Center had been leased to Harry Skop, operator of Piggy Bank store and a self-announced candidate for mayor.

Asked about his reported connections with Broadway Joe's, an eatery now under construction in South Seminole, d'Aversa said, "This was a group with Don Jonas, Orlando Panthers football team quarterback."

Other local holdings by d'Aversa include: Continental Technonics, an electronic and telephone supply house; Rex Liquor Store in Lakeview Plaza, and Florida Electric Company, a service-oriented firm for home and industrial work.

AROUND THE CLOCK

Something's wrong . . . somewhere! This is the way it's been told to us about two former coaches at Crooms High School. Both of them dismissed — without a written explanation of why their services were no longer needed.

It is true that a principal does have that prerogative in athletics; however, after teaching for 13 years (10 as a coach and most of these as winning seasons) it would appear that at least as a courtesy, an explanation would have been offered.

The other man was recruited from Florida A & M specifically to teach at Crooms . . .

As a result of this action, both have had their salaries slashed by about $1,000.

You won't believe it . . . you know how we've been carrying stories that at the movies, where there's an adult picture, the management must insist that only adults view it.

Well, we had this one young married couple, who had their six month old child with them . . . AND THEY WERE REFUSED ADMISSION! They had to take the child home, get a baby sitter, and then return to watch the movie. Chalk one up to perseverance . . . I'd have just stayed home and watched the boob tube.)

The public defender, Ned Julian, says he may represent more than one indigent defendant in one case, regardless of explanations from the County Commission. Julian says he may represent all the defendants in one case if they are in accord but if they differ in their defense then it is better to have a court-appointed attorney, also. And one other exception: Prejudice. That is, where the public defender has been associated with the defendant or the witnesses or others involved. Then it is necessary for him to bow out.

Talk about being suited to your job! This couple is suited to a tee . . . Dale and Opal Tee that is. They are resident managers of the new Village Green in Altamonte. The apartment complex is bordered by golf course, too.

Today's FUNNY

Little Green Men 'Invading' Area

Seminole deputies are having a time with little green men and creatures from other worlds.

Make no mistake, the deputies are not seeing Martians or things like that but some of the calls received by the county lawmen are from people who have seen the space men and one Longwood woman even captured one in a bowl—or so she said.

Lt. Roy Rice said a woman called him several days ago that she had caught a little green man and placed him in a covered bowl, until authorities could arrest him.

Anyway, Rice answered the call and received the bowl from the woman — the little man proved not to be in the bowl.

Rice said he tried to humor the woman and went along with her "story."

Deputy D. R. Schreiner is also having trouble with Martians — or people who call the sheriff's office with reports about the space visitors.

He answered a call from a Longwood man who complained that Martians were trying to get into his house.

Schreiner returned to the home later after receiving a complaint that two men and a woman had tried to break into the man's home but had run away with their feet never touching ground.

Schriener questioned why the shunned trio would want to escape without their feet touching Mother Earth and received this reply . "They're smart, they don't want to be tracked."

Oh, well, it's all in a night's work, the lawman grinned, and walked away.

EDUCATORS ADDRESSED THE LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS last night at the home of Mrs. Herman Jacobson, Sanford. Educators Eye Instruction For Disadvantaged

By CHARNER LEONE

Educators have had to increase their efforts with fewer children in fewer schools in an attempt to close the educational gap felt by the disadvantaged child, said Stewart Gatchel, assistant superintendent of instruction for seminole County Schools. Last night he addressed a meeting of the League of Women Voters. Gatchel, John Angel, superintendent, and Walter Teague, assistant superintendent for business affairs, discussed the current status of the school system and proposals for improvement.

Federal money made available to the state enabled statewide innovations in education, said Gatchel. These programs affected the general education in most of our schools, but it failed to help the child who needed help the most—the disadvantaged child. As a result this year even more of an effort will be made to reach that child, thus narrowing the scope of the federal programs.

The remedial reading program is an example of this situation, he said. That program, which has been federally funded, had to be narrowed to give most emphasis to the disadvantaged children, eliminating the program from schools which had the program in the past years, but which did not have as great a need for such a remedial program.

Fortunately, said Gatchel, we have been able to initiate a county-wide program, primarily in the elementary schools. That is, a program which will work with the remedial reading program to help children with other learning disabilities. Emotionally or socially handicapped children would profit from such a program.

The total field of dealing with exceptionalities will be broadened this year, he said. By 1972, in order to participate in the federal program, the gifted child will be included too.

Other programs which have received special attention this year, according to the assistant superintendent, are:

Kindergartens. There are 20 units this year. Last year we had five. By 1972 transportation and a full day session will be included.

Accreditation programs. Accreditation will be based on the "outcomes" as well as the subject matter included. The children will have to demonstrate their ability and accomplishments. Gatchel pointed out that this is an especially ambitious undertaking, but this is one of the few counties that has made steps in that direction.

Education improvement. Every five years all of the personnel employed by the school system must participate in some sort of an in-service training program. This staff development will apply even to the custodial level.

In answer to a question by the president of the League of Women Voters, Mrs. Nancy Bowers, Angel pointed out two alternatives to the question of utilization of all available classroom space. The alternatives, as Angel listed them, are: 1, Wait until the federal government tells us what to do in allocating classroom space, or 2, The administration can assign people into those schools that have rooms available.

Airport Zoning Plan Debated, Dismissed

By BILL SCOTT

Need for a zoning plan for Sanford Airport and the problems experienced by the Sanford Zoning and Planning Board in obtaining needed information on what Seminole County Zoning and Orange-Osceola-Seminole Planning Boards are doing in relation to Sanford were topics discussed last night during a combined meeting of the three groups.

Hosted by the Sanford planners at the Police Benevolent Building, the session lasted three hours and was presided over by Clifford McKibbin Jr., city zoning chairman.

Concerning airport zoning, J. S. (Red) Cleveland, airport manager, cited the need for a five-member special zoning board for the airport to limit heights of proposed structures to be constructed outside the airport but in the approach zones of the airway.

Cleveland disclosed the need of a group to zone for 10 miles at changing heights in the four approaches to the airport.

The zonera, if formed, would place height limitations on what type structures can be erected as far west as the Wekiva River; as far east as Lake Harney; as far south as the Orange County line and as far north as Volusia County.

A state law may be needed to enforce the restrictions, Cleveland said. A. K. Shoemaker Jr., county zoning chairman, told Cleveland, "This is not zoning but building height limitations you're after."

The airport manager reiterated his stand and added "To operate an airport, height restrictions must be implemented."

Glenn McCall, county zoner, disagreed with Cleveland on the need for a third zoning board in the county to handle airport zoning. He explained that city could handle a portion affecting the city and county board could zone portions outside the city.

McCall commented on problems now confronting builders who have to wait from three to four months and appear before several boards before a permit to construct is finally received. He said this would further the process and make it even a longer task.

Gerald Dake, Sanford planner - consultant, complained about the need to keep city zoners informed of what Harlan Hanson, tri-county planner, is doing in connection with city. Dake said the city board had difficulty finding out what was happening between county zoners and tri-county planners and needed to be kept abreast of the activities.

After discussion, a suggestion to have a news letter circulated between the boards appeared to be the solution.

Park Site Discussed Privately

Although not invited to attend a noon meeting yesterday of city-county persons at the Lui Club, The Herald has learned that, for the most part, the two hour session was devoted to talks aimed at leading to the establishment of a Lake Monroe recreation park to be located along Hwy. 17-92 and adjacent to Lake Monroe, and adjacent to the Police Benevolent Building in the county.

Participating in the luncheon were Sanford Mayor Lee P. Moore, Seminole County Commission Chairman John Alexander, Harlan Hanson, of the tri-county planning board; Robert Brown, county zoning director; Val Colbert, SISTER president; William Beck, Chamber of Commerce member of the Lake Monroe park committee, and Arthur Mackey, Alex Serraes, Harold Rowland, and A. B. Peterson Jr., all members of the city's too committee.

Hanson, who already has made one plan for the creation of a park along Lake Monroe, was asked to come up with a more detained plan for the facility to be operated jointly by county in connection with private real estate developers who are endeavoring to place commercial attractions within the park area.

Main interest to the city is whether to locate the much discussed zoo within the site.

Peterson was host to the session, and reported the meeting was held without the press so all participants would have the opportunity to express themselves without fear of being quoted.

Altamonte Retains 'Blue Law'

By MARION BETHEA

Proponents of the "Blue Law" scored another victory last night when Altamonte Springs City Council refused to allow sale of alcoholic beverages on Sunday.

Two area businessmen, Loren Jaeb and Joe Pinter, contended that they were penalized by the city and losing revenue from cigarette sales. A member of the audience interjected that the ordinance was incongruous since all anyone had to do, who wanted to imbibe on Sunday, was to drive to Casselberry.

Councilman William Nuckols stated that he felt the sale should be allowed since the city is in need of additional revenue and this would be a way of avoiding additional ad valorem taxes. Nuckols moved for an amendment to the existing ordinance that on premises sale of alcoholic beverages be allowed on Sunday between the hours of 7-9 a.m. and 12-7 p.m. The motion died for a lack of a second.

Attorney Joseph Murasko, who was forcibly ejected from the meeting last week, appeared more docile as he queried the planned federal grants and loans for the water and sewer system. Mayor W. Lawrence Swofford, equally affable, explained the issue in detail as did engineer William Palm.

Swofford stated that HUD had granted the city $247,099 and $394,999 would come from public law 690 from the State Department of Health. Swofford added that Altamonte was under no obligation to do anything except that which was stated in the application. Palm injected that the water system was seven years ahead of the original projection, and that South Seminole County was the fastest growing section in the tri-county planning area. Palm also explained the criteria for funding from the grants as being family per capita income and whether sewerage from an area was polluting the waterways, etc. Murasko was still recalcitrant concerning the general obligation bonds. Swofford also stated that the bonds would all be in "one package" and that the city would be paying on one instead of three bond issues, which, while affording no gain would also constitute no interest lost. Swofford then asked Murasko if this satisfied him in the way of an explanation, to which the attorney replied, "No, I'm not satisfied, but you answered my question."

Next on the agenda was the access road to the sewer plant, an 80 acre site situated between SR 436 and Wymore Road overpass. Proposal is to grant 25 feet to the east, 25 feet to the north of the north side of 40 acres of Keller Road to the Orange County line. Councilman Nuckols stated that he felt there was no need to give any access since there was already an existing road. Swofford said Keller Road was not platted to the county line, and that there was no deeded easement. Nuckols intimated that a thorough check of the area had not been made, and continued to press the issue until the apparent smoldering anomisity between Nuckols and Swofford threatened at times to break into open hostilities.

The matter was resolved when Swofford agreed to check into the road in question and place the matter on the agenda for next week's meeting of the council.

Hello?

MIAMI (AP)—A recorded telephone message said James Henry Simpson, who runs a dial-a-message for his religious followers, wouldn't be in his prayer room Monday.

He wasn't — he was being booked into the U.S. Marshal's office after he was arrested by the FBI on an Ohio warrant charging him with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

The FBI said Simpson, who claims he is an ordained minister, skipped out on a narcotics violation charge in Cleveland.
