Kidnaped Victim Found Dead

BELLEVILLE, Ont. (UPI)—Police today sought to determine whether 10-year-old Tommy McNevin's scoutmaster kidnaped the boy and then left him tied to a tree to die of exposure.

Young Tommy was found by police Wednesday where his abductor had bound and abandoned him in a futile attempt to collect $25,000 in ransom.

The suspected scoutmaster, Warren Williamson, 41, committed suicide after being questioned by police about the kidnaping.

"If it was somebody he knew, I was sure he would have to kill him to keep him quiet," Tommy's father, Donald McNevin, a well-to-do creamery owner, said today.

"I wish I were back making $30 a week rather than owning my own business," the distraught father said.

Tommy was kidnaped Monday after leaving home alone to play hockey with his friends. His father, a former alderman here, received a $25,000 ransom demand a short time later.

The same day, Williamson, an elder of the United Church of Canada of which the McNevins were members, called on McNevin and said he had been chosen by the kidnapers as "go-between" to deliver the ransom money.

Williamson said he had found a note on the visor of his automobile instructing him to get the ransom money and then rendezvous at a local drive-in restaurant.

The ransom note had demanded "$25,000 in used fives, tens and twenties" and cautioned McNevin not to contact the police. "You will receive a call any time after 9 p. m. with further instructions," the note said. "Follow instructions and your son will be home shortly after midnight tomorrow."

Chief Police Inspector J. Clair Hayes said Williamson was brought into police headquarters and after long questioning was released. The scoutmaster was found dead several hours later in the basement of his ranch-style home—a shotgun at his side. In a suicide note to his wife he said that he was having financial difficulties.

Police refused to disclose the full contents of the suicide note but said it appeared that only "one person was involved" in the kidnaping.

Young Tommy was not found until nearly 24 hours after Williamson committed suicide. Two local policemen found the boy's body slumped against the ropes that bound it to a tree five miles northwest of here.

Chamber Warns Against Scheme On Home Repairs

Homeowners in this area warned today by John Krider, executive director of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, to be on guard against a vicious scheme that is prevalent today—the "Model Re-Siding Job Racket."

Although this scheme may victimize homeowners regardless of their circumstances, it is particularly reprehensible, Krider stated, because it frequently works a severe hardship on those who can least afford to suffer any financial loss.

The Chamber manager emphasized that although the vast majority of firms engaged in home repair and maintenance work are reputable businessmen, a small, shady element in this field operates one of the costliest, as well as one of the slickest, rackets to which the public falls victim.

The promoters of this scheme are itinerants who usually approach a homeowner with the yarn that they are just coming into the neighborhood and would like to use their home as a model to demonstrate to others what a fine home re-siding job they do. Krider stated that according to the National Better Business Bureau, with which the Chamber is affiliated, these promoters offer $50.00 or $100.00 as commission on every subsequent sale made in the area, and a bonus for every customer the victim recommends. The homeowner is led to believe that the cost of the job will thereby be liquidated in short order. Krider reported that victims learn of their sorrow that everyone is given the same sales pitch, the price stipulated generally is higher than the prevailing cost for such work, the work is apt to be sub-standard, oral promises are not kept, and that the commissions and bonuses are a myth. Their obligation to pay, however, is set forth in a signed contract, which contains none of the salesman's misrepresentations.

"Perpetrators of this scheme," Krider stated, "usually select homes which obviously require re-siding. Since the owners of such homes frequently are lacking in funds, they are obliged to take out loans, or mortgage their homes. Thus, the costs which may run as high as several thousand dollars victimize those who can least afford it."

Navy Activities Brings 'Wrath' Of Congress Leader

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Of all the literature published by Congress, none is more stimulating than the volumes put out each year by the House defense appropriations subcommittee.

This might sound like faint praise, but I mean it to be complimentary.

These volumes contain the transcripts of the hearings conducted by the subcommittee on the annual military budgets. If a reader is willing to wade through several hundred pages of drifting syntax, he will usually find something to astonish him.

I have just been through the first volume of the current series and I found myself flabbergasted on page 456. That was where Rep. Daniel J. Flood (D-Pa.) accused the Navy of "un-Navy" activities.

The thing that prompted this startling allegation was a directive stating that Navy men with more than four dependents should not be given overseas assignments except in unusual circumstances.

When Flood spied the directive, he immediately called on Vice Adm. W. R. Smedberg, the Navy personnel chief, for an explanation.

"What is this, birth control in the Navy?" he asked. "This is most un-Navy."

Smedberg said the policy was put into effect to reduce expenses on the transportation of Navy families. It was not intended as a deterrent otherwise, he said.

"I want to be consistent in my metaphors," Flood said. "Who gave birth to this order?"

The admiral replied that it "was his effort when I arrived" and that he had continued it "purely as a necessary money-saving method."

"What is magical about the figure 'four'?" inquired Flood. "Did you just pick that out of left field? What genius said 'four'?"

"I cannot answer that," Smedberg said. "I imagine the man with the wife and three children is considered by somebody a pretty good family and about the most we can support overseas, sir."

It would appear then, said Flood, that "no matter how good a fellow is, if his timing is bad, he is a dead duck in the Navy."

The admiral assured the congressman that such was not the case. He said "if we have an expert in a particular field who has to go to a job overseas, he goes, no matter if he has six or seven children."

The matter was dropped at this point with Flood still feeling, apparently, that the policy was un-Navy. And that shows, I guess, how much military life has changed since I was in uniform.

Majority Of County Youngsters Score Above Average In Achievement Tests

Seminole County children in grades four through eight scored on or above the national average, and 68 percent scored above the state level in recent achievement tests, R. T. Milwee, superintendent of public schools told the Pinecrest P-TA Tuesday.

Milwee praised the Seminole County teachers and said that they were doing a fine job.

He discussed some points of the proposed legislation that will affect the schools and the children and teachers and said that operating funds should be on the expected level of new students each year, rather than the number enrolled in the past year.

Other subjects which will be included in the proposals for better schools, better teachers and better education, which Milwee brought out, were the Junior College Program, educational television and the teachers pay raise requests.

Seminole County legislators, Mack Cleveland and Gordon Frederick were also present at the meeting and were introduced to the audience. They extended their thanks for the invitation and asked that individuals write to them at any time. Information sheets containing the names and addresses of all the legislative members were made available to the group by Legislative chairman, Michael Conio.

Mrs. Margaret Reynolds, principal, introduced Miss Peg Barnes, intern student from Stetson University and made announcements concerning the coming "Fun with Maglow" show on April 4, "A Mid-Summer Night's Dream" to be presented by Miss Lucille Campbell's sixth grade on April 21 and the Glee Club program on April 28.

A resume of the work of a librarian, including a humorous poem was given by Mrs. Long, school librarian. She said that about 200 children per day visit the library to read, research or check out books from the 1400 books available. A Book Exhibit of newly published children's books will be held in the library from April 10 to 14, from 7:30 to 3 p. m., which will be open to the public.

Doug Gordon, Captain of the Patrol Boys, gave a report to the PTA on the recent Bicycle Safety Check held at the school. He thanked the Safety Committee and all the members of the law enforcement agencies that worked with the Patrol Boys in the bike testing program. He said that about 250 bikes were checked with only about 25 being found defective.

Mrs. Largen Chairman Of Cancer Crusade Here

Mrs. Pat Largen has been named chairman of Seminole County's 1961 Cancer Crusade.

Announcement of her appointment was made today at local headquarters of the American Cancer Society which has scheduled the educational and fund-raising drive to begin April 1.

Mrs. Largen, an ACS campaign leader, made an immediate appeal for a record turnout of volunteers for the many duties to be carried out during Cancer Control Month.

Assignments will be made to committees on publicity, individual canvass, special gifts, trades and industry and organized groups.

"Because cancer eventually strikes two out of three families," Mrs. Largen said, "there is urgent need for everyone to do his share to combat a disease which last year took the lives of more than a quarter of a million of our fellow Americans."

"Locally," she continued, "we can help save lives by serving as volunteers, by contributing our money to the crusade, or by doing both."

"Crusade workers not only will ring doorbells to collect funds but also will leave in each home informative leaflets which could help save the life of some member of the family. This free educational material stresses the value of annual health checkups and the importance of learning the seven danger signals."

Mrs. Largen pointed out that some 55,000 men, women, and children die needlessly of cancer every year simply because they do not see their doctor in time.

"Our volunteers, in addition to asking for fund contributions, will urge every adult in every household to get this annual checkup."

"By congressional resolution, April has been designated as Cancer Control Month," the chairman said, "so let us all join together to surpass the 1960 record by giving more and working harder in the 1961 Crusade. One million Americans now living have been cured of cancer. Our objective is to help save more lives and to support the research that will one day find a solution to the cancer problem."

Six Man Crew Perishes In Shakedown Cruise Crash

COLUSA, Calif. (UPI)—A six-man test crew was killed Wednesday when a four-engine Super Constellation crashed and burned in a rice field on a shakedown flight from McClellan Air Force Base near Sacramento.

An Air Force spokesman said there were no classified weapons on the plane and the cause of the crash was not known.

"There was no word from the plane at all—it just disappeared," he said. "It must have been sudden."

The dead were identified as Maj. Frederick P. Davidson of Quin, Ill.; Maj. Donald Pollack, Canton, Ohio, the co-pilot; M. Sgt. John J. Neubeum of Pocatello, Idaho; M. Sgt. Thomas J. Bennett of Cayuga, Ind.; Franklin R. Swanson, Sacramento, Calif., a civilian employe of Lockheed Aircraft, and Roy N. Kurosawa, Sacramento, civilian crew member.

Development Board Showdown Nears

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—State Merit System Director Gerald Howell and Development Commission Chairman Wendell Jarrod moved closer today toward a showdown over classification of Development Commission jobs.

Howell said Wednesday he had asked for the names of all personnel added to the commission payroll since Gov. Farris Bryant took office. All state agencies under the Merit System are required to notify Howell when new personnel are hired, even to positions exempt from the Merit System.

Howell said he was not notified in the case of several new employees hired by the commission. Two of the hires, he said, were those of Roger Starke of Tampa as director of the Tourist Services Division and Otha Bruce of Jacksonville as head of the Industrial Services Bureau.

New Apportionment Plan

A new reapportionment plan, which would give Seminole County its own senator, has the approval of the local legislative delegation, powerful legislative leaders and Gov. Bryant.

The present plan is to have the proposed reapportionment amendment introduced no later than the second week of the legislative session opening Apr. 4.

The plan would not be presented on an emergency basis, which would mean that if adopted it would be put before the people at the regular general election of November, 1962.

The proposed amendment would stand by itself. No bill setting up the actual districts would be offered to become effective if the amendment was ratified. Instead, the job of implementing the new formula would fall to the 1963 Legislature, with the first 45-Senator, 105-member seats in 1965.

The theory behind a 45-district Senate, with the 23 larger counties guaranteed a senator, is that the bigger population centers by banding together would have a one vote advantage over the rural counties.

However, in actual practice, the medium size counties (including Seminole) in the 50,000-75,000 population bracket would hold the balance of power.

A similar proposal was backed by the legislative delegation of Seminole as well as the county residents in 1958—we hope it will be backed by the people again. Now if the rest of the state will only go along.

WORRY CLINIC by Dr. G. W. Crane

CASE H - 66: Jackie B., aged 11, is the shy school boy whose grades dropped when he moved into a strange neighborhood.

Jackie's extroverted parents had forgotten that Jackie was a timid youngster, friendless and not very athletic.

Back in the old home town, Jackie had grown up with his classmates and knew his teachers long before he reached their school room.

Even though Jackie was developing neurotic ailments as an excuse to avoid going to the school (which he now hated), it still wasn't too late to apply some of the prescription outlined yesterday.

His parents therefore launched the following plan:

(1) They had a party for the neighborhood children of Jackie's age.

Jackie named the ones he wanted invited, and his mother telephoned the other mothers.

Jackie immediately gained status by being the host to a gala party. So the other kids paid more attention to him thereafter, thus reducing his previous feeling that he was a "lone wolf."

(2) His dad got 8 tickets for a ball game which meant Jackie could invite two special kids to go along with himself and his parents.

Because of his dad's business connections, he had arranged to get autographed balls from one of the famous players.

That meant Jackie and his two classmates each took home a prized souvenir of the game.

Because it was Jackie's family that made the event possible, Jackie thus inherited more goodwill from those two pals.

It is not wise as a permanent strategy for papa to keep "buying" friends for his children, but when a youngster has suddenly been uprooted from a small town and thrust into a strange neighborhood, it is smart for his parents to help launch him socially.

Instead of focusing so much attention on frilly debutante "coming out" parties, it would help stabilize shy children far more if their parents held "coming in" parties several years earlier.

Even if you just shift neighborhoods in the same big city, your child may feel woefully alone and friendless, so do something special to bring neighborhood youngsters into your home.

"Psychic trauma" in childhood is often the cause of later anti-social treatment for neurotic (or insane) adults.

Insanity is simply an inward flight from a forbidding social environment that seems cold, cruel or friendless.

So Jackie's parents, even though 6 months belatedly, helped get Jackie into a friendlier relationship with some neighboring youngsters of his own age.

(3) They helped organize a Boy Scout Troop in the church nearby and Jackie's dad served as Assistant Scout Master.

Jackie's mother then got active in the PTA and became better acquainted with Jackie's room teacher.

They even had her over for dinner one night, which helped make the teacher seem more like an old family friend.

What were the results? Jackie soon lost his terror of school. His morning stomach-aches and headaches vanished. Eager next returned.

And his school marks soared back to the straight "A" average he formerly had rated in his old home town from which he had come.

Parents, you can also make or break your child's future school career by a little timely home aid, so send for the booklet "How to Tutor Your Child at Home," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20c.

CROSSROADS OF THE WORLD By William Drury

The oddest Communist I ever knew was Ah Pak. She was my Chinese amah (servant) when I lived in Singapore. A tiny, fragile figure, always neat and clean and cheerful in her starched white blouse and wide black pants.

She did not know her age, which was around 55.

Her attitude to me was positively feudal. She called me "Tow-kah" (Master) and insisted that I comport myself with princely dignity so that she would not lose face with the other amahs.

That's the kind of Red she was. Communism was—and still is—banned in Singapore. Ah Pak did not care. Quite openly, she called herself a Communist. Her motherland, China, was Communist, wasn't it? Well, then, that made her a Communist.

To Ah Pak, it was as simple as that.

The capitalist I led used to give Ah Pak. She believed us capitalists should keep a tight grip on our wealth and not lose it around to peasants like herself.

One filthy capitalist trick that angered her was the social security system which the wicked British imperialists forced upon that colony.

This was called The Provident Fund.

It worked in exactly the same way as American social security. A small percentage was deducted from an employee's wage and his employer paid in an equal amount.

This infuriated Ah Pak. She did not mind money's being deducted from her own salary, but she objected strongly to the fact that I was compelled to contribute, too.

I shall never forget the day I last saw her. I was selling that afternoon at the Chuan to England, but first there was the little matter of Ah Pak's welfare.

She had found new employment with a doctor, and I had to call at the Provident Fund office to arrange the transfer of her social security payments.

There was a worried frown on Ah Pak's face as we entered the office. Gripping her tightly rolled umbrella, she trotted a respectful two paces behind her lord and master.

A government clerk greeted us at the counter. A plump young Chinese with horn-rimmed glasses. "I am leaving Singapore," I told him, "and wish to arrange..."

I got no further, because at that moment an amazing thing happened.

"BUNCH OF CROOKS!" snapped little Ah Pak in Cantonese, suddenly pushing in front of me and waving her umbrella in the face of the startled clerk. "How dare you take this man's money away from him? You ought to be jailed, the lot of you!"

"But it's for you!" the clerk stammered.

"I don't want it! I didn't earn it! How can you force me to take it if I don't want it? Give it back to him!"

"Amah," I said weakly. "Please. The entire department had stopped work to stare at this midget spitfire."

"Call yourself government official!" Ah Pak stormed, banging the umbrella on the counter. "The whole lot of you ought to be shot! Shot, do you hear? It's downright thievery! Comes the revolution..."

Scarlet with embarrassment, I dragged her outside.

I have a searing feeling that there are a lot of Ah Paks in Red China. More than the party bosses like.

POLITICAL NOTEBOOK By Peter Edson

TOKYO—(NEA)—Nomination of Harvard Professor Edwin O. Reischauer as U. S. Ambassador to Japan has been the No. 1 subject of conversation among the American and Japanese official circles in this capital since it was first hinted at several weeks ago.

There is no responsible opposition to the appointment here. There is general agreement that it will be wonderful to have an American ambassador who understands the Japanese psychology and who can speak the language. But there is still the problem of getting the appointment confirmed by the U. S. Senate. This is where the pros and cons will get an open airing.

Professor Reischauer is a Japanese scholar and historian. His book, "United States and Japan" is a standard reference work. He is associate director of the Harvard Center for Far Eastern Studies. He was born in Japan of American missionary parents.

He is married to a highborn Japanese woman, Haruko Matsukata, granddaughter of a Japanese general and prime minister. She is his second wife, his first wife having died.

There is a U. S. Foreign Service rule that no American diplomat may marry a foreign-born woman and serve in the country of her birth. There is only one known case of a U. S. Foreign Service officer having married a Japanese woman.

Foreign Service regulations would not apply to an ambassador who is not a career diplomat. But the fear of foreign service administrators is that if Reischauer is appointed ambassador to Japan, it will make it difficult to enforce the rule against career diplomats wanting to marry Japanese women.

There has been some fear that the Japanese, being proud and race conscious, would not accept in the highest social circles a Japanese woman who had married a foreigner. But there has been no open objection here to accepting Mrs. Reischauer as the wife of the American ambassador if the appointment goes through.

On the contrary, it has been pointed out that it might be embarrassing for the wives of some Japanese officials who were not as highborn as Mrs. Reischauer and who would be outranked socially by the wife of the American ambassador.

People who remember Mrs. Reischauer say that before her marriage she was quite Westernized or Americanized in her ways, and that she would be accepted as an American.

Other questions being raised in Tokyo concern Reischauer's own qualifications for the ambassadorship.

It is conceded that his greatest appeal would be with the intellectuals and the students. These were elements that played a leading role in demonstrations against the cancellation of President Eisenhower's visit to Japan. It is considered important that the United States have the support of these elements.

But it is pointed out that this should be the job of a No. 2 man in the U. S. embassy, or the head of the U. S. Information Agency—not the ambassador.

Also, it is said that if Reischauer as U. S. ambassador had to defend American policies which ran counter to the views of the intellectuals and students, he would lose his influence and be actively opposed by them.

The job of U. S. ambassador in Tokyo is to influence the country's business and ruling party leaders. About 80 per cent of the ambassador's problems are trade and economic matters, which are not Reischauer's specialties.

Against this contention it is argued that a strong second man in the embassy who could handle these matters would leave the ambassador free to influence the factional political leaders who will play an increasing role in Japan's future swing from conservatism to liberalism and democracy.

Another subject not fully explored is whether Reischauer could win confirmation from a Senate now alerted by delays over his nomination. He has written some articles highly critical of American policy in the Far East. Some of his observations, taken out of context, might be used as evidence that he is opposed to American China policy as it has developed since the end of World War II.

The question of money does not enter the case. Reischauer is not a rich man. But career diplomats have been serving as ambassadors to Japan since the end of the war and they have been able to live on their salary and allowances.

Webster Speller Gets New Lease

PEPPERELL, Mass. (UPI)—A Massachusetts woman artist has given a 178-year-old best seller a new lease on life.

Noah Webster's quaint "American Speller" was first published in 1783. Eventually more than 100 million copies were sold—a record equaled only by the Bible.

Several years ago, Mrs. Barbara Cooney Porter, an artist, came across a copy of the old speller. She got the idea of reprinting it, with illustrations. Her modernized speller now is sharing some of the popularity of the original.

Annual Jaycee Egg Hunt Scheduled Easter Sunday

The annual Jaycee Easter Egg Hunt will be held Easter Sunday in Fort Mellon Park, beginning at 2 p.m.

All Seminole County children are invited if they are between the ages of one and 10 years. It is expected that 400 or 500 children will be present to take part in the big hunt and prizes will be awarded for specially marked eggs.

The children will be divided into three groups. One group from one to three; one from four to six and one from seven to 10. Each group will hunt in a separate area and all are requested to bring their own containers, baskets or paper bags to carry the ones that they find.

Ed Taft, chairman of the project, estimates that about 150 dozen eggs will be needed and says that contributions would be greatly appreciated. Anyone wishing to donate eggs for the hunt may leave them at the Jaycee Information Center on French Ave.

Local merchants are contributing the prizes that will be won by the children.

Reds, U.S. Progress In Arms Talk

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI)—UN diplomats expressed hope today that progress on disarmament between the United States and Russia would break the log-jam that has stalled the General Assembly for more than three weeks.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson reported Wednesday night that he had attained "considerable" agreement with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko on how the issue should be handled in the current assembly session. But Stevenson said differences still remained and more talks may be necessary. The two met for nearly two hours Wednesday night in the latest of a series of private conferences on the subject.

Most delegates felt disarmament was the key to general agreement on what items should be discussed before the assembly adjourns on April 21. Once it was determined how disarmament negotiations should proceed, they believed, the other pieces would fall into place.

An idea of how the remainder of the session will go was expected to come out of the General Assembly meeting this afternoon. It will discuss the Steering Committee recommendations on the closing date and the agenda.

The Steering Committee, which plans the schedule and agenda for the 99-nation world parliament, Wednesday set the closing date, although there are more than 40 items awaiting disposition.

Hopes for increased action on some key matters were raised by Stevenson's statement on his meeting with Gromyko.

First Oviedo Twin Boys Since 1906 Are Born

By MARIAN JONES
The arrival of Timothy and Thomas Usery, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Usery on St. Patrick's Day, started Oviedo residents to finger counting the twin population of the town over the past years.

Back before our time in Oviedo, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Brannen of Lake Charm Circle, became parents of Connie and Cloie, twin daughters. In 1930, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bedenbaugh were the proud mother and father of twin girls and though many residents remember the event, none can recall the girls' names.

A girl and boy, Meriwyn and Gary, were heartily welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Leinhardt in 1948. Mrs. Leinhardt, niece of Mrs. M. L. Cary and Donald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Leinhardt, and their family now live in College Station, Tex.

In 1952 a Valentine gift arrived for Mr. and Mrs. John Courier in the form of a lovely pair of daughters, Mary and Martha, who now are in the third grade at Oviedo school and, since they are identical, create the usual amount of confusion.

The little boys born to the Userys at Winter Park Memorial Hospital, bring the picture up to date. The babies weighed six pounds, seven ounces and six pounds, 12 ounces and since the family already has three girls, Bill was so excited about "his boys" that he called friends all around town to announce their arrival at 2:30 a.m.

Timmy and Tommy are the first pair of boys to be born to Oviedo parents since 1906 when the late Mrs. John Batts Jones gave birth to stillborn, premature twins.

Other local families boasting a duet are the Kenneth Wiggs of West Palm Beach, daughter and son-in-law of Mrs. Ruby Esles, who have twin sons, and Marion and Marvin Estes, residents here some time ago, were adults when they moved to Oviedo.

Many things have happened in Oviedo all about the same time. Freddie Robbins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Robbins, underwent major surgery at the Winter Park Memorial Hospital last week. He had just made the honor roll at Stetson University, prior to his illness. He is a sophomore at Stetson.

Buddle Hooker, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hooker, who is making his home with them this winter, fell 30 feet from a tree at Sweetwater Park last Wednesday just before dark and was rushed to the Winter Park Memorial Hospital. He is still there.

Little Chancey Thomas, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Thomas, was carried to the Winter Park Memorial Hospital with intestinal flu. He is reported to be improving.

Leon Cullum was rushed to an Orlando hospital last week and underwent an emergency appendectomy, the day following his mother's departure for an Ohio visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben G. Wainright and daughter, Joy have returned from a "rush" trip to Miami, called by the death of Ben's brother-in-law, Bob Riney.

Mrs. Mary Williams and A.C. Beardlee visited the Florida Citrus Exposition, at Winter Haven, Florida.

The G.A.'s of the Forest City Baptist Church, held a breakfast cook-out, Saturday at 8 a.m. at Rock Springs. Following breakfast, the girls enjoyed swimming and hiking. Mrs. Martin Dunn and Mrs. Richard Brown accompanied the group.

The Forest City Baptist Church, Womens Society of the white Cross met Tuesday morning at the home of Mrs. Richard Brown, 3623 Lakeview Drive, Beverly Terrace.

The Home Demonstration Club of Lake Brantley, met at the home of Mrs. Martin Dunn Wednesday. The group discussed "A place for anything and everything in its place."

CPO Wives Entertain Auxiliary

Members of the Fleet Reserve Auxiliary were guests of the CPO Wives Club at the monthly meeting in the NAS Ballroom.

A special program was presented, starting at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Alex Squires, president, introduced Garnett White and Dr. Robert Smith, who gave informative facts about the work of the Cancer Society and statistical reports on cancer victims in Seminole County.

An educational cancer film entitled "Time and Two Women" was shown, followed by a question and answer period, conducted by Dr. Smith.

At the business session of the club, a roll call showed that 20 members were present. Sarah Cannon was welcomed as a new member and Louise Holloway was introduced as a guest.

It was voted that an Easter egg hunt would be held on April 1, for children of club members. Those eligible will be toddlers through 10 years of age.

All wives of Chief Petty Officers, on active duty or retired, are welcome to attend one meeting, prior to joining. The next meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. April 19, in the NAS Ballroom.

THE MAJORETTE CORPS of Seminole High School is one of the school's most outstanding attractions and the highlight of every football game and parade in Sanford.

A girl who has a lot of responsibility is assistant head majorette, pretty, blonde Rosemary Southward.

As the second-ranking member of the "A" corps, she is also nominal head of the "B" corps and as such is responsible for instruction and drill of that group and she spends about half of her time with them.

Born and raised in Sanford, as were her mother and father, Rosemary is strictly a home-grown gal. This is her senior year at high school and she will be graduating with the rest of her class in June. Her first steps out of the close-knit family circle will come next fall when she enters the college doors, probably in a nearby state. But two pretty little sisters who may no doubt follow in her footsteps, are 13 year old Candy, who is now in Junior High and eight year old Sue, a third grade student at Southside.

Rosemary has been a majorette for three years, two years in the A corps, after one year in the B group. She has received her training along with the other girls, from Mr. and Mrs. Merle Smith of Orlando, baton and twirling instructors, who come over on Tuesdays to drill the girls in new steps and techniques. Mrs. Smith does most of the choreography for the sparkling routines that the girls put on at the ball games and other public entertainments.

All the girls help with the designing of the beautiful costumes that they wear and under the leadership of Mr. Cowley, the styles and accessories are planned.

Probably the most popular of the costumes is the Indian Maiden costume, which features a black wig with long braids and a headband with feathers sticking up in it. In white outfits with pleated skirts, their skin darkened with heavy makeup, the girls emerge as very authentic looking Seminole princesses.

Rosemary jingles with medals that the girls have won in their district and state competition each year. There are four that represent Superior rating in the district contests and three for state Superior honors.

It would be a mistake to think that the graceful routines and high-stepping drills of the majorettes "just come naturally." Along with the other members of the band the girls spend one hour before school, one hour in class, and one hour after school each day, with plenty of practice and drill, drill, an addition of 10 hours a week over other students at the school.

But there's not a finer, more well-trained or better-looking group of twirling anywhere than our Seminole High School Majorette Corps.

IT'S A PLEASURE to mention the name of a former neighbor of your columnist, Patrolman Tony Falgione of the Orlando police force.

ROSEMARY

Tony is a native of New York and stayed for awhile with his brother, Chief Radioman Joe Falgione and his wife Lois, who have been our neighbors since we came to Sanford and fine neighbors they are, too.

But Tony is the hero of the family. A quite-young man, he had a great ambition to be a lawyer and finally made it in a nearby city, after he came here about two years ago.

During last fall's devastating hurricane Donna, Tony first gained publicity by delivering a baby in his police car at the height of the storm.

Sunday night, he saved the life of a motorist who had, to all appearances, just died of a heart attack. Using the recently publicized method of striking the chest with the heel of the hand and massaging the chest in the region of the heart, Tony got the man's heart started and continued to massage his chest for about ten minutes while help came.

Tony says that it's all in the line of duty and that they teach him these first aid measures at police school. He is very modest and disclaims any applause, but it is certain that the victims of the circumstances where he was able to render fast and effective first aid, and their relatives, are more than grateful for his know-how and ability.

Friends Say Goodbye At Tea

Mrs. David King was the guest of honor at a tea held recently by the VAH-1 Officers Wives Club at the home of Mrs. Charles Dunn.

Pink was the color chosen by the hostesses, Mrs. Dunn, Mrs. George Kimmons, and Mrs. Robert Provencher to express, within the formal setting, the guest of honor's warm friendliness.

The table, covered with a gros point de Venice tablecloth, was set with a silver tea service at each end. The centerpiece, an arrangement of pink carnations and snapdragons with touches of white babybreath, was flanked on each side with a silver candelabrum holding pink candles. The petit fours, served with the tea and punch, were decorated with pink and white icing, and the warm color tone was further enhanced by silver containers of azaleas throughout the house.

Mrs. King, whose husband, Cdr. David A. King recently received orders to London, England, will be leaving Sanford with her husband and daughters, Vicki and Kat, April 12.

A leather jewel case, trimmed in brass, was presented to Mrs. King as a farewell gift. Bearing the inscription, "Lucy, from the VAH-1 Officers Wives Club", the gift will express the group's admiration, respect and friendship for "Lucy" wherever she goes.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 37 and my new boy friend is 57. He is a very nice man and I expect he is going to propose any time as he sort of talks that way. He is not the extravagant type but he has a peculiarity I want to ask you about. He carries his money in a roll of bills with a rubber band around it. My Daddy says this is a sure sign of a stingy man. I would like some advice.

CORA

DEAR CORA: If he just "carries it" and the rubber band never comes off and neither do any of the bills, your Daddy is right.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is very good natured, but he has one fault that drives me crazy. He is very untidy.

I am not a fussy person about house-keeping, but it unnerves me to clean house and then have him come home and throw his coat on the couch, hang his tie on the doorknob, drop his shirt on the floor, drape his trousers on another doorknob, and throw his socks and underwear under the bed. He walks around the house bare-foot, leaves newspapers all over the floor and anything he takes out of the refrigerator (milk or butter) just stands around. He throws himself (all 210 pounds of him) on my good bedspread and "relaxes." I've tried talking nicely to him (he calls this "nagging") and letting things pile up, and nothing works. Have you any suggestions? GOING CRAZY

DEAR GOING: Accept him for what he is. A big, good-natured slob.

DEAR ABBY: I am a ninth-grader taking biology. I love biology, but I can't stand the smell of the room. I know the remains of frogs, earthworms and crayfish have to be preserved, but does it have to smell like that? NAUSEATED

DEAR NAUSEATED: All biology labs smell like that. Ask your teacher if you may spray it with scented air purifier. (Aren't we lucky Darwin could stand it?)

CONFIDENTIAL TO MARGIE: Some folks, who can't add and subtract, quit school to get married and have no trouble multiplying.

"What's your problem?" For a personal reply from Abby, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, Box 3865, Beverly Hills, Calif.

We The Women:

By Ruth Millet

If the home has become America's No. 1 status symbol—as the experts say it has—a rare bargain in "homes for sale" was offered recently in Washington, D. C.

According to a news item the Georgetown house of President and Mrs. Kennedy was placed on the market. When America's first couple bought the house in 1857 they paid $78,000 to call it home.

It was said to be for sale for a mere $105,000—and cheap at the price for anyone looking for the ultimate in status symbols.

How much more in status could you get for a $27,000 mark-up than the former address of the man who just moved into the White House? I haven't seen the house, but

Monroe Denies There's More Than Friendship With DiMaggio

REDINGTON BEACH, (UPI)—"We're friends," said Joe DiMaggio. "We're friends," echoed Marilyn Monroe in her soft sigh.

But the understanding gulf between the shapely movie actress and the former New York Yankee baseball star revived speculation today that the two may be close to another marriage. The "friends," who are sharing a beach cabana and have nearby hotel rooms at this Gulf Coast resort, declined to elaborate.

Nan Fabray... That's Life In A Fire Station

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—Ranald MacDougall is a writer married to Nanette Fabray... who plays the role of Nan... who is married to a writer named Dan in the "Westinghouse Playhouse" telefilm series.

In real life, Nanette is the same effervescent dynamo she is on the show. In real life, Ranald is as easy going as the character Corey plays. But like Ranald, Corey often is swept off his feet and put into some wild and wacky situation created by Nanette's pen.

This home life includes "living in a rose-covered fire station," which we'll mention in a moment. In real life, Nanette married Ranald, who is a writer and the father of two children by a previous marriage.

It was Nanette's background—stage shows and live TV—which gave the filmed series a slow start before it started busting laugh meters despite the awful title of "Westinghouse Playhouse."

Soviets Announce Abolition Of Correspondent Censorship

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union today announced the abolition of censorship of foreign correspondents.

Press Chief M. A. Kharlamov announced that from now on foreign correspondents would be free to send dispatches by cable or telephone from any point at their convenience.

He added, however, that correspondents will be required to keep copies of their stories for examination at any time by the Press Department.

Kharlamov said whether to install teleprinter machinery in correspondents' offices was another question and would be considered in due time.

He said consideration also would be given to letting correspondents send film out of the country unhampered.

At no time during the press conference did Kharlamov use the word "censorship."

He sidestepped all questions as to how the censorship had operated, how many people had been involved in it and so forth.

He made it clear that correspondents would continue to be held responsible for anything they wrote.

This dispatch, telephoned from the UPI's Moscow bureau to Helsinki, Finland, was the first to move uncensored out of Moscow under the new rules.

Dispatches now can be telephoned from anywhere instead of only from the central telegraph office where the censors sat.

The abolition of censorship ended some of the most severe restrictions in the world on freedom of communications. Censorship had been in effect almost continuously since 1917.

There were indications Soviet authorities are planning other measures to ease the work of foreign correspondents and expedite the flow of news.

Hearing Nears On Milk License

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—The way was clear today for the State Milk Commission to hold a hearing to consider revoking the license of Foremost Dairies.

The State Supreme Court Wednesday threw out an injunction by Duval Circuit Court prohibiting the commission from holding the hearing. The court held that Foremost must exhaust all possible remedies before the commission before it takes its case to the courts.

The commission has charged Foremost with underpaying some farmers for their milk, not accounting for some milk, and on three occasions refusing to let a commission deputy check its books.

North Orlando Club Members Visit Nursery

Members of the North Orlando Garden Club were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Toy at their nursery in Winter Park where Mrs. Toy gave a lecture on the art of flower arrangement. She displayed several arrangements prepared before the meeting and explained each. She also demonstrated tools that are needed in arranging flowers for the home and for show entries. Following the lecture, a discussion period was held during which the hostess offered her assistance to the club in future work. The meeting closed with a tour of the nursery grounds.

Audubon Society Makes Field Trip

Seminole-DeBary Audubon Society members, on a field trip last week, visited the homes of John Boldman, Mr. and Mrs. A. Walls, Dr. Lola Wells and Miss Clarissa McPetridge. Miss McPetridge, assisted by Mrs. William Gray, served coffee and cake after which L. H. Babbitt, a naturalist who is visiting from Peter Sham, Mass., gave a demonstration on snakes and lizards. Following the refreshment period, the group went to Enterprise Cemetery where they fed the Blue Jays.

Lake Monroe Jottings

By MRS. H. L. JOHNSON
Happy spring to you! It is legally spring now you know. And I am so glad even if we have had some hard rains this past week. They certainly have changed the appearance in my lawn. It's lawn mowing time now. Happy Birthday Genl Wheatland. Some teenagers surprised Genl with a birthday party and gave her a pretty ring. Sister Jeri is going to sing and dance in the Easter benefit ball for the crippled children. Jeri is a really talented girl. Rena and Claude Hawkins and son, Sid, motored to Jacksonville for the weekend to visit Rena's sister Myrtle Pickett and family. Nathan Stripling has returned to Alexandria, Va., after a weekend with Margie and the children. Nathan is working on a dredge that is in Alexandria for the present time. Wish you could see the grapes that the Home Demonstration Club members are making. Several of the members went in to the center last week and were taught how to make the grapes and now they are teaching us. Rose Poff had the misfortune of catching her finger in the door of the car—result—a smashed finger. I know that is very painful. Hope you can attend the Good Friday Cantata at the Lake Mary Presbyterian Church. It is under the direction of Boh Mero and has the

Mrs. Milton Tinsley, president of the Altamonte Springs Civic Club, reported today that the ham dinner originally scheduled by club members to be held Mar. 16 was canceled because of Maitland Ave. road conditions. KING JUPITER AND QUEEN JUNO, Roman deities, personified by Terry Miller and Jeannie Langford, reigned over the Latin Club Banquet, while slaves Susan McCall and Ronald Goers, standing behind them waited to serve their every wish. The cafeteria of the high school was decorated in Roman splendor for the annual feast and pageantry.

VENUS, GODDESS OF LOVE, is the title bestowed on lovely Linda Williams at the banquet. She was chosen in the Pageant of Beauty and presented with a golden apple, symbol of love.

Seats Open For Concert By Symphony Tonight

The Florida Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Henry Mazer, will present two Pop Concerts in Sanford today.

This first rate musical presentation is being brought here under the sponsorship of the Sanford Recreation and Parks Dept. The evening concert at 8:15 p. m. has a program of selections that range over a full repertoire of contemporary and classical selections. It is designed to please listeners of varying tastes, both young and old.

Beginning with the overture from "The Roman Carnival" by Berlioz, which will be followed by a Masquerade Suite of the Walls, Nocturne, Mazarin, Romance, and Galop as composed by Khachaturian, these selections will be enhanced with a Rhapsody for oboe entitled, "The Winter's Past." The Overture to "Orpheus in Hades" by Offenbach, will be the fourth number.

The second section of the program will include the ever-popular "Blue Danube Waltz," "The Girl I Left Behind Me" and "Bugler's Holiday" both by LeRoy Anderson and winding up with selections from "My Fair Lady" and from "West Side Story," an arrangement by Leonard Bernstein.

The special free concert for Sanford school children scheduled at 3:30 p. m. varied slightly from this program.

Plenty of seats are still available for the evening concert and reservation calls will be received at the Recreation Office until 3:30 p. m. The box office will open at 7 p. m.

Recreation department officials urged county residents to attend the performance so that the symphony can continue to be booked here.

"We have had a disappointing advance ticket sale and hope that all who appreciate good music and entertainment will come out tonight and help us keep this outstanding symphony coming to Sanford," they said.

Road Probers To Turn Over Results To State

JACKSONVILLE (UPI)—The Legislative Roads Committee will let others decide what to do about a Jacksonville firm accused of defrauding the state and giving payola to state employees.

The committee, at the close of its final hearing Thursday, agreed to turn over results of its probe into activities of the Duval Engineering and Contracting Co. to state and local authorities for possible legal action, if appropriate.

The committee, headed by Sen. Scott Kelly of Lakeland, spent most of Thursday digging into reports of alleged collusion, "systematic cheating" and other charges against Duval Engineering, one of the largest road-builders in the state.

At the same time, the State Road Board in Tallahassee suspended Duval on a general charge of fraud despite the firm's contention that no specific instances of wrongdoing were pinpointed.

Two truck drivers for Duval told the legislative committee how a seven-finger secret signal was used for putting short loads of asphalt on trucks hauling to state road projects. And a retired road department worker said he was convinced the firm used a "calculated, systematic system" to cheat the state in road building materials.

At no time was it brought out specifically how much the so-called "short-changing" cost the state, but Kelly told newsmen after the session committee investigators still were working on the case.

Bulletin

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—America today launched a Redmond rocket with a dummy Project Mercury capsule in a special test of the machine designed to hurt no man into space, possibly by May.

Program On Art Scheduled Sunday

Members of the Sanford Art Assn. will present another program of community education on the importance of art appreciation Sunday at the Civic Center.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Freund of Stetson University will be guest speakers at the 2 p. m. program and there will be no admission charge.

Freund's subject will be "Art and the Human Spirit" and he will show some of his work as he did on a previous appearance here at the Sanford Tourist Club.

His art education has included study in Missouri, Princeton University, Colorado Springs and Paris, France. He also made a gallery tour of 12 foreign countries and recently spent eight months in Mexico and Central America.

Freund has had wide experience as a teacher and his works are seen in government buildings, museums and the Ford Company publications.

He has been awarded travel scholarships, a Carnegie grant and fellowships.

Mrs. Elsie Freund also has had art training in Missouri, Colorado and Kansas and, besides painting, has considerable experience in many crafts as teacher and exhibitor. She will show some of her jewelry craft at the Sunday meeting.

Stock Steady

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks steadied at the opening today following Thursday's general sell-off. Trading continued heavy, favoring investors concerned over the quality of leadership in recent sessions, the nearness of the tax payment deadline, the imminence of what may prove to be a disappointing crop of first quarter reports and the darkening Laos situation, brokers said.

Final Respects

ODESSA, Tex. (UPI)—Friends, relatives and schoolmates paid their final respect today to Elizabeth Jean Williams, 17, the melancholy girl who asked her high school chum to kill her.

Police were trying to learn whether or not she was serious when she talked John Mack Herrington, 17, into putting a shotgun to her head, and with a final kiss to remember her—having him pull the trigger while she held the barrel against her temple.

Bear Lake Road Work To Start

Work on widening a three mile stretch of Bear Lake Rd. from 58' to 66' to the Orange County line will start the week of April 1, Road Supt. J. C. Lavender said today.

Cost of the project is estimated at $18,000. The road will be widened from an 18 foot width to 22 feet.

Allies Back President On Strong Laos Stand

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy's warning that Russia must stop the Soviet-backed rebellion in Laos or face possible intervention drew hearty support today from U. S. allies.

The president told a tense-packed news conference Thursday night that the future course of world affairs might hinge on the Kremlin's reply to a Western plea for a truce in Laos.

Russia promised to study "carefully and urgently" the British proposal for a ceasefire, a Foreign Office spokesman said today in London. He said there has been no other response from Russia so far.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan who met with his Cabinet until 1 a. m., said the United States "is the world's most powerful nation and much depends on her strength and leadership." He noted the "vigor and confidence" shown by Kennedy in the situation.

At Bangkok, Thailand, military experts of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization put finishing touches today on a master battle plan for us in Laos if the Communists reject the ceasefire offer.

The master plan will be presented to the foreign ministers of the eight SEATO nations who meet here next week in one of the most critical sessions since SEATO was founded to check Communist expansion in Asia.

The ministers, including Secretary of State Dean Rusk, will decide whether to continue to press for a diplomatic settlement or put the military plan into effect.

The free nations of Asia were taking new heart from the firm position of the United States as expressed by Kennedy.

Kennedy did not disclose any details of planned action if the assault against the royal Laotian government continues. But his grim statement came against a background of U. S. military movement toward the area.

American military forces already were moving to alert positions in Asia and it was expected that British forces would follow shortly unless there was a sudden change of attitude in Moscow.

Peel Denies Murder Link

FORT PIERCE (UPI)—Dapper Joseph A. Peel Jr., took the witness stand at his murder trial today and said he had nothing to do with the 1955 slayings of Circuit Judge and Mrs. C. E. Chillingworth—"not directly or indirectly."

The 37-year-old Peel, on trial as mastermind of the Chillingworth murders, took the stand at mid-morning.

He also denied in a firm strong voice that he did not run a gambling or bolita operation with Floyd (Lucky) Holzappel or George (Bobby) Lincoln, the two confessed killers of the Chillingworth couple who fingered Peel as the brains behind the deaths at sea.

One of the first questions was whether Peel had anything to do with hiring or ordering Holzappel or Lincoln—or either of them—"to kill and murder Judge Curtis E. Chillingworth."

"I did not. Not directly or indirectly," Peel said.

Peel followed society jewel thief Ted Rinehart to the stand.

Rinehart testified a star prosecution witness, P. O. (Jim) Wilber, proposed framing Peel. He also said that Wilber had asked him to get him a gun from out-of-state in May 1955.

Rinehart's testimony about the proposed frameup was almost the same as what he said Thursday with the jury out of the room. The jury heard his testimony today.

Special Charter Group Sought For Altamonte

Altamonte Springs Attorney B. J. Davis will ask the council at its next meeting to appoint a special charter committee to make amendments to the present charter.

Davis said that a new charter will not be ready in time to be presented to the 1961 Legislature. Davis had been authorized to revise the present 40-year-old charter and bring it up-to-date with other municipalities.

Davis had hoped to have the charter ready to present to the legislative delegation but "more study" is needed on it," he said.

Davis emphasized that the people of Altamonte need to be advised of the charter changes and that a special committee would inform the citizens of any new amendments.

Davis reported also that he is preparing a resolution to present to the County Commission next week requesting an answer on why classification of SR 437 within the town was changed from a municipal road designation to a county road designation.

Davis said that a special meeting of the council was held Wednesday night to protect the classification.

Garden Clubs To Honor Services

The Florida Federation of Garden Clubs will place a Blue Star Memorial Marker honoring all members of the armed forces at the second landscaped island on Hwy. 17-92 in special ceremonies Tuesday at 10:30 a. m.

Mrs. C. R. Mays Jr., federation president, will deliver the dedicating address.

An announcement released by Mrs. C. M. Flowers, publicity chairman of the Sanford Club, reads:

"Designed to honor those who have served, are serving and will serve in the nation's armed forces, the Blue Star Highway project embraces the total program of National Council. Because it is a living memorial, it is roadside development in its broadest scope. State federations and clubs interested in building in the present, on the past, for the future are making an obligation. Roadside beautification is a requisite to placing a marker. . . the roadside chairman first secures approval of the selected site from the road department or city officials.

"Markers and plantings are examples of good public relations with people of the community, the road department and the armed services."

All Sanford Garden Club members and interested persons are invited to attend the ceremony.

Navy Ends Search For Crash Victims

The Navy announced today that the search for survivors of the Navy jet which was lost in the Mediterranean Tuesday has been terminated.

The ASD Skywarrior with a crew of three including Cdr. Charles O. Donnald III, pilot; Ensign Thomas R. Walton, bombardier, and Lowell S. Barnares, aviation electrician second class, third crewman, crashed Tuesday afternoon on a flight from the U.S.S. Franklin D. Roosevelt. The aircraft, which was observed making a low level practice bombing run a short distance from the ship, failed to recover from the maneuver and collided with the water.

Investigation to determine the cause of the accident is continuing. At the time of the crash the Roosevelt was operating in the southern Mediterranean Sea with the U.S. Sixth Fleet.

'Unidentified' Object Spotted By DeBary Woman

Several DeBary residents got a long look at an unidentified object in the sky Thursday night and said it hovered west of them for half an hour then disappeared.

Mrs. H. E. Batson said she sighted it about 8 p. m. and thought it was the moon until she also saw the moon.

"It had a sort of halo around it and seemed to be standing still and I looked for about five minutes before calling the neighbors. We watched it for half an hour before it disappeared," she said.

Quake Routs 250,000 In Italy

MESSINA, Italy (UPI)—Eight sharp earthquakes rocked Messina today and most of this Sicilian city's 240,000 population fled in panic into the surrounding hills.

No deaths or serious injuries had yet been reported.

Fire broke out in many different sectors of the city but firemen were slow to reach them because the streets were jammed with people trying to get out of the city.

Joining them in the big show, will be the Sanford Junior High Majorettes and six other twirling teams from Central Florida high schools. There will be a school dance in the cafeteria, after the show.

Entertainment Assn. Drive Set

The Sanford-DeBary Entertainment Assn. will open its new membership drive with a dinner May 15, President Chester Reaick said today.

The directors of the association met Wednesday night and agreed to sponsor three attractions next season.

Reaick said that memberships are available at the Chamber of Commerce.

The president reminded all members that though the season is over by reciprocal agreement with Mt. Dora, they can hear Nelle Rankin, famed Metropolitan Opera Star, there at 8 p. m. April 8.

Bill Deadline

State Rep. Mack Cleveland Jr. today urged all municipalities in the county to have their local bills in the chief clerk's office of the House of Representatives by next Tuesday.

All bills in their introductory form must be in the clerk's office at that time if they are to be presented to the legislature this year, Cleveland added.

No Instructions

GENEVA (UPI)—Lack of instructions from Moscow appeared today to be holding up progress on a nuclear test ban treaty.

While U. S. delegate Arthur Dean has been unfolding details of new proposals that would make a test agreement possible, Soviet delegate Semyon Tsarapkin has sat in stony silence.
