By BOB LLOYD
East Central Florida Regional Planning Council's lack of certification has caused Sanford's application for federal sewer construction funds to be shelved. City officials said today the city may have to fund the $260,000 "Big Inch" interceptor project entirely with local funds if the planning council doesn't soon receive certification from the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development for an environmental impact study required with the city's funding application. At stake is up to 50 percent of the "Big Inch" project costs.

The 24 inch gravity sanitary sewer interceptor line is slated for construction from the city's treatment plant on Lake Monroe through Goldsboro to a point north of 25th Street before June along an old railroad right of way.

City Manager Warren E. Knowles said he was "shocked" when he learned the planning agency that covers the central Florida area isn't certified by HUD to make environmental impact studies.

"We had hoped to get up to $130,000 in federal funds for the 'Big Inch' but now it looks like we'll have to foot all the bill locally if the planning council isn't certified soon," Knowles said.

Knowles said the situation could have "a drastic effect on central Florida cities applying for federal funding."

Knowles said the Sanford application was shelved because the planning agency isn't certified. Federal officials say funds are available, he said, but not until the planning agency is certified.

Knowles said the "Big Inch" line will serve over 5,600 new dwelling units planned or under construction in the planned unit developments of Carriage Cove and Hidden Lake in the city's southwestern sector.

"We may have to use all local funds for the project," Knowles said. This way the environmental impact study won't be required.

Engineering on the "Big Inch" is complete and ready to go to contractors for bids.

Construction time is estimated between three and six months.

"I believe we can still meet our June commitment date to developers," Knowles said this morning as he tried by telephone to find out where the planning council's application for re-certification is lodged in the bureaucratic maze.

He said HUD Jacksonville officials said the council's application is in their office for review and no date for certification is available.

"This means cities in the region are hampering an effort to get federal funds until the agency is certified," Knowles said.

Beltline Priority Is 'Eyed'

By DONNA ESTES

Definite suspicion of the priorities in location of construction of the various aspects of the inter-county beltline to go through portions of Seminole, Orange and Osceola Counties was registered by the Board of County Commissioners Tuesday. Particularly looked at with a jaundiced eye by the five Seminole County officials was the fact the construction will take place under the umbrella of the Orlando-Orange County Expressway Authority composed of all resident Orange County people.

James Green of the Authority attorney assured that the State Department of Transportation will make all final decisions on the location of the expressway and that the Authority will make only technical decisions. Hoffman indicated further that the Department of Transportation will make the entire route of the beltline will be done simultaneously. Hoffman admitted, however, that three alternative routes for the beltline were being considered upon professional engineering advice will be recommended by the authority.

Assistant County Attorney Howard Marsee looked askance at the necessity for Seminole County to "give" its power of eminent domain to the authority for the purpose of condemnation of Seminole lands for the beltline. He is checking the legality of the county transferring this power, Marsee said, questioning several points in a proposed contract among the three counties with the authority and differences including an agreement whereby the county would pledge its gasoline tax revenue. The attorney said the county should receive assurance these funds will be used only for construction on the Seminole County portion of the beltline. Marsee also urged that a method of arbitrating disputes be included in the contract.

Green said the agreement will be used as a basis for the DOT to do a study of the feasibility of the beltline and to determine the route of the expressway. Green mentioned the cost of the study at $125,000 to $150,000. The Authority board member said no county or governmental entity can build the authority without the cooperation of all three counties.

PROPERTY DAMAGE OVER $50,000

A dump truck struck a Seaboard Coastline train at the Montgomery Road crossing, one mile north of SR 436, last night, causing the derailment of at least nine cars and the engine. Michael Edward Grant, 23, of 461 1/2 Mellonville Avenue, Sanford, driving the 1971 White truck, was treated at Seminole Memorial Hospital. The road was blocked for over four hours last night, and then again today as workmen attempt to clear the wreckage and rebuild tracks. (Additional photos page 2A) (Gary Taylor Photo)

Commission Sells City Lot For $31,000

By BOB LLOYD
Sanford City Commissioners voted Tuesday 4-1 to sell a city-owned lot at Myrtle Avenue and Seminole Boulevard to local real estate man William Kirk for $31,000.

The action came after four weeks of controversy and after two former city commission candidates opposed the sale.

Voting against the motion by commissioners John Morris and A. A. McClanahan to sell the "log cabin" lot to Kirk was commissioner Gordon Meyer.

Meyer, who unsuccessfully tried to get the sale tabled two weeks ago, said he feels "at this point the city shouldn't be rushed to sell the lot."

"An overall lakefront development plan is needed so individual developers can coordinate their efforts," Meyer stated. "This would be more beneficial to the city."

Kirk must start construction of a 21,700 square foot, two-story office building on the lot no later than April 1 or the property will revert to the city, commissioners said.

Morris said, in his opinion, the sale is in the best interests of citizens and will serve to set the pace for lakefront development and broadening of the city's tax base.

Two unsuccessful candidates in the recent city election opposed the sale of the lot.

Mrs. Stella Woodhouse presented petitions with 170 signatures objecting to "piecemeal" sale of city-owned lakefront property and asking commissioners to plan for future lakefront development.

Harry Skop, joined by public housing tenant's organizer Alfred DeLattibaudiere, called the sale "a crime" and demanded commissioners table any action.

DeLattibaudiere claimed the property (less than an acre) will triple in value in the next few years.

Mayor Lee Moore indicated the proceeds from this and other recent city property sales could be used to match federal funds to remedy Sanford's $4 million citywide drainage problem.

"I'd rather not sell jobs in the city now than hold the lot for another 10 years," Moore said. Kirk says the unnamed corporation he'll lease the office building to will provide the jobs for local people.

The law firm of Stenstrom, McIntosh and Davis withdrew an offer of $40,000 for the lot before the commission session.

Attorney Douglas Stenstrom had proposed to build a multi-story office building on the lot.

Winter Park developer J. W. Hickman had bid $35,000 for the lot. Tuesday he urged the city to abandon the northernmost block of Myrtle Avenue to add more square footage to the lot and have it re-appraised and re-bid.

Commissioners turned down the suggestions.

BURNING FURNITURE RECEIVES HOSE
A kerosene heater explosion was credited by Sanford Fire Chief G. M. Harriett with causing a fire Tuesday that destroyed one room of a frame house located at 1200 13th Place, owned by W. Renfrow. Chief Harriett reported no injuries occurred in the explosion and resulting blaze, but disclosed the furnishings of one room as well as the living room of the house inhabited by Lawrence Williams were gutted. Animal Controls; Commission Topic

By DONNA ESTES

Representatives of all six Seminole County cities were invited to discuss animal control problems with the Board of County Commissioners Tuesday and the ways the county can assist the municipalities. But as the scheduled discussion time at 12:30 p.m. came and went yesterday only an empty meeting room, devoid of city representatives, greeted the board.

Nevertheless, the board discussed the possibility of a county-wide animal control program, if the cities wish, with a centralized dog catching and retention service. County Commissioner Chairman Greg Drummond suggested this is one area in which the seven governmental units could cooperate to provide better service for all the citizens.

It was noted it would be necessary for the cities and the county to have a uniform ordinance and the estimated $80,000 to $100,000 annual cost could be defrayed by remittance to the county of all dog licensing fees.

Drummond said the operation would probably run slightly in the red, but in this instance he would not be averse to the county subsidizing operation. The chairman said it would not be proper, in his view, to raise costs of dog licensing since those who are following the law would then be penalized for those breaking the law, apparently referring to the fact unlicensed dogs, for the most part, are causing the problem.

Commissioner John Kimbrough, however, insisted theoretically those who own dogs are causing the problem and increase in licensing fees would pay for the program.

Since no municipal officials were present, no affirmative action could be taken. The county will continue to provide retention facilities at a boarding fee of $1.50 per day per dog and a $3 disposal charge. Longwood and Winter Springs are both involved currently in this program and indication was that Altamonte Springs is also interested.

President Truman Makes Final Trip

BY HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER
INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — For the final time, Harry S. Truman today travels the half-mile from his home to the presidential library that bears his name.

When his coffin arrives, in quiet pomp reserved for statesmen, a military band will play "Ruffles and Flourishes" and "Hail to the Chief" for him for the last time. It was a greeting he heard often in the years 1945 to 1953 when he was President of the United States.

The nation he led from war into the chill of an uneasy peace will have a day of mourning Thursday, the day of the funeral, to commemorate the man whose dearest wish was to be known as "The People's President."

In keeping with Truman's and Mrs. Truman's wishes, the ceremony transferring the body from the funeral home to the library where he will be buried was to be simple. Mrs. Truman, 87, would not participate today, a family spokesman said.

The widow was at home today with her daughter, Margaret, son-in-law Clifton Daniel and their four sons.

Richard M. Nixon, 37th president of the United States and Lyndon B. Johnson, the 36th, were to be at the library today to bid farewell to the 33rd president.

The family spokesman said they would visit Mrs. Truman at home. The President planned to leave Independence immediately afterward, but Johnson may remain for the funeral Thursday.

The family still has not announced the guests invited for the funeral nor the pallbearers, but apparently they will be mostly intimates of the Truman's.

A memorial service is scheduled in Washington's National Cathedral at 11 a.m. Jan. 5 after Congress begins its new session.

Truman's sister, Mary Jane Truman, will not be able to attend his funeral because she is recovering in Research Hospital from a broken hip. She will watch the activities on television.

Mrs. Truman had asked that original plans for up to five days of ceremony be shortened.

"We fell unjustified to add to her strain," the family spokesman said. "We wanted to avoid as much strain on her as possible."

He noted that Mrs. Truman had spent 16 hours at the former president's bedside Christmas Day, the day before he died.

Mostly, the honor of paying last respects is reserved for close family and friends and the ordinary people with whom Truman was strongly identified in his 88 years.

What I would like to know, is why can't the engineer of the train be charged in that accident. Maybe if this was done a few times, they would break out that case of flares and use them.

In talking with one of the people that lives near the crossing, I learn that this switching, in the dark, goes on all the time. When will it stop? Certainly not before someone gets killed.

If you've got business planned for the post office, forget about tomorrow. They will be closed due to the national holiday of mourning for the death of former President Harry S. Truman.

There will be no delivery or window service, although special delivery items will be delivered and collections and dispatches will be carried on in their normal manner.

All facilities at the Orlando Naval Training Center will also be closed tomorrow. Beginning at 12 noon, there will be a 21-gun salute, with one minute between guns.

Today, between 8 a.m. and 5:30 p.m., a gun salute was fired, with one gun every 30 minutes.

The center will resume normal operation December 29.

Congratulations are in order today for Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Jardine who are celebrating their 27th wedding anniversary.

More Than 1,400 U.S. Bombs Bombing Strikes

By GEORGE ESPER Associated Press Writer SAIGON (AP) — U.S. bombers blasted the Hanoi and Hai-phong areas of North Vietnam with more than 1,400 strikes in the past week and devastated scores of military targets, the U.S. Command reported today.

The Command, breaking its silence on the heaviest air war, reported in a special communique that more than a dozen different types of targets were attacked, including some for the first time in the war.

The report covered the period from Dec. 18 until late Dec. 24, when the bombing moved over the North was halted — a 35-hour Christmas cease-fire. It was resumed Tuesday afternoon.

The Command also announced the loss of two new planes in the Hanoi-Hai-phong blitz, including the 12th B-52 bomber it had admitted losing in the attack.

The U.S. communique said: "Targets struck included railyards, shipyards, command and control facilities, warehouse and trans-shipment points, communications facilities, vehicle repair facilities, power plants, railway bridges, railroad rolling stock, truck parks, MIG bases, air defense radars, and surface-to-air missile and anti-aircraft artillery sites."

North Vietnam charged that the American bombers have also devastated scores of populated areas, wiped out entire villages, killed or wounded thousands of civilians and destroyed hospitals, churches and schools.

The U.S. Command said Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps fighter-bombers made more than 1,000 strikes against Hanoi and Hai-phong industrial complexes during the seven-day period, and B-52 heavy bombers made more than 400 strikes.

The 400 B-52 strikes dropped more than 10,000 tons of bombs, the Command said, or the equivalent of 2,000 fighter-bomber strikes.

The U.S. Command said the North Vietnamese fired more than 600 surface-to-air missiles during the strikes, the most intense fire American pilots have ever encountered in Indochina.

The command reported one MIG21 down by an Air Force F4 fighter-bomber near Hanoi but did not say how many other MIGs attacked by the American raiders.

Flight From Vietnam

VIENNA (AP) — Pal Toth, Hanoi correspondent of the Hungarian news agency MTI, reported today that there appeared to be a mass flight of civilians from North Vietnam's capital after new U.S. air strikes overnight.

"Ten of thousands of inhabitants, with every conceivable means of conveyance, are fleeing from the operation scene of the new barbarous attacks," he reported.

Describing the air strikes as "a carpet bomb raid," the Hungarian said he saw two B-52 planes shot down over Hanoi. He quoted a morning report that air defense had brought down five B-52 bombers during the raid.

Accident Causes A Derailment

Workmen began clearing the wreckage of a Seaboard Coastline freight train this morning after an accident caused a derailment shortly after 4 p. m. Tuesday on Montgomery Road, one mile north of SR 436. The first seven cars were entirely derailed, with the engine and other cars partially off the track. One box car smashed into a chain-link fence surrounding a nearby house (top photo). Investigating Trooper M. E. (Ernie) Leggett of the Florida Highway Patrol, said charges are pending against Michael Edward Grant, 23, of 4614 Mellenville Avenue, Sanford. Damage to the 1971 white truck he was driving (middle photo) was estimated at $15,000. The truck slammed into the locomotive, causing an estimated $30,000 damage to the train and $8,000 to the tracks. The truck hit near the back of the engine (right). H. J. Tidshaw was the engineer of the train, which was west-bound across Montgomery Road. The truck was north-bound. Both the Altamonte Springs and Forest City Volunteer Fire Departments stood by at the scene for several hours. Grant was treated at Seminole Memorial Hospital. (Gary Taylor Photos)

Cottage Phase-Out Is Scheduled

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — It looks like this New Year's Eve will be the last for 17 weekend retreats built on stilts on the island fishing flats around Key West.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Tuesday said it would go to court to enforce destruction of any house that wasn't torn down by its owner by Dec. 31.

The controversy over the odd cottages began in September 1970, when the U.S. Department of Sports Fisheries filed a formal protest complaining the still houses and their users were polluting the environment.

The houses, built on tall pilings in shallow waters, were used mainly as overnighting shacks by fishermen after streaking bonito and high-leaping tarpon on the flats.

The still houses were built within the Key West National Wildlife Refuge, and owners tried unsuccessfully to get state or federal permits that would let them keep their unique weekend pads.

"Some of these still houses have been down for 50 years," said John Koenig, who owns one of the still houses and is one of the still house owners who set fire to it last spring.

"As I understand it, Congress is allocating all sorts of funds for recreational uses. To me, there's nothing more recreational than fishing from one of the still houses," he said.

Don Scribner and Larry Kendrick are co-owners of another still house.

"It's just a little shack. The platform is about 16-by-24 feet and the house is maybe 12-by-16," Scribner said.

Truman Saluted As Little Man's Friend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Colleagues of former President Harry S. Truman, many members of Congress and others have saluted him as a courageous national leader, a humanitarian and a friend of the "little guy."

And leaders of nations allied with the United States over the past three decades eulogized the former chief executive today for his leadership in the aftermath of World War II.

Truman died Tuesday in a Kansas City hospital at the age of 88.

Charles F. Brennan, Truman's secretary of agriculture from 1948-53, said Truman was a "decision maker in the history of our nation had a clearer and more exalted insight into the true meaning of politics."

George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said he had great admiration for Truman, "particularly because he was a fighter. He didn't give up when he was supposed to be picked."

He did typify true democracy, the right and ability to rise from the level of the farm or shop to the highest office in the land. He had courage and he dared to do the unpopular thing when he felt such action was in the interest of his country. I hope the time will never come when our country has no Harry Truman."

Mrs. Georgia Neese Gray, a Topeka, Kan., banker who was Treasurer of the United States under Truman—the first woman ever to hold that office—called him a "great humanitarian. His love for mankind was manifest in his humility ... President Truman epitomized duty as a citizen, soldier and, yes, as a world statesman, though he would detest being termed the latter ... No man in the history of our nation had a clearer and more exalted insight into the true meaning of politics."

Lord Avon, Sir Winston Churchill's foreign minister and successor as Britain's prime minister, called Truman "certainly one of the greatest presidents."

Other comment included: Queen Elizabeth II — "He will always be remembered with gratitude for his part in the creation of the Marshall Plan, which did so much to help President Chung Hwe Park of South Korea. We are saddened at the loss of this distinguished world statesman whose heroic leadership and decisions during World War II and in the 1950s to save freedom and liberty in Korea and elsewhere will continue to be remembered with a sense of abiding appreciation."

King Constantine of Greece, whose country was the chief beneficiary of the Truman Doctrine, said it "saved Greece from the greatest danger that ever threatened her."

TECHNICIAN INVENTS PILOT'S CALCULATOR

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — Airline technician William H. Dunn has invented a calculator to replace the performance manual used by commercial airline jet pilots. The calculator weighs only 3/4 ounces compared with the manual's 6 pounds 7 ounces.

The device is being tested in the United States for DC-10s and Dunn intends adapting it for new model DC-10s ordered by Air New Zealand for which he works.

Dunn says the invention will enable pilots to discard flight deck manuals and read the required information of a simple circular slide rule.

Negotiations And Vietnam Stalemate

After months of wearying negotiations in Paris to seek a decent armistice in South Vietnam it appears that the United States of America and North Vietnamese Communists have reached a moment of truth...

In reality the difficult negotiations among Washington, Hanoi and Saigon today are no more than a historic rerun of the Washington-Seoul-Pyongyang confrontations that finally led to an armistice in Korea in 1953.

Expensive Advice

Professional advice is an expensive, but absolutely necessary commodity for cities, particularly those in Seminole County experiencing unbelievable growth and development.

Certainly the municipalities of Seminole are blessed with exceptional professional advisers—lawyers, consulting engineers and planners.

Can a planner represent and serve a city while he is being paid a hefty fee by a land developer building in the same city? Can an attorney give his full attention to a city when his personal interests, presumably carry a higher priority?

It must be remembered that when a person takes on the cloak of professionalism, he does not become less human. He still has all the same frailties as other humans.

Criticism Expected Of Nixon's Choice

By WALTER STOVALL Associated Press Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Union leader Peter J. Brennan, President Nixon's choice for secretary of labor, has been subjected for years to criticism that the hard-hat unions he oversees have made little effort to open their ranks to minorities.

Now like Miss America contestants and 'Playboy Playmates,' stewardesses are not entirely innocent victims of the institutionalized ogling that some of them are beginning to complain about.

Women Are Seeking Equal Credit Status

By LYNNE OLSON Associated Press Writer In response, a number of major stores' credit card companies and banks say they are changing or clarifying their credit policies, and some creditors are actively pursuing the business of women.

Women who claim they've been denied credit because of their sex are becoming increasingly militant in demanding equal rights to credit cards and loans.

There are signs that the protesters are having some effect. A subcommittee of the National Business Council for Consumer Affairs acknowledged last month in its report...

Several women's rights organizations, including NOW, the Women's Equity Action League (WEAL) and the Women's Lobby, say they're not deliberately discriminate and their only criterion for extending credit is the ability of the applicant to pay.

No trifling problem, but it's for the birds

DEAR ABBY: I wouldn't miss your column for the world. I find it so interesting and educational, but I do become disgusted with some of the petty things some people find to complain about.

DEAR MRS. F. S.: After the eggs have hatched, clean out the drainpipe with a garden hose. If the Mamma bird comes back after that, she's cuckoo.

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of five children. The oldest is seven, the youngest is a year. My husband and I price ourselves on being good parents and we try to give each child as much individual love and attention as possible.

DEAR POLLY: I want to tell Tony that I, too, am allergic to wool sweaters and even inside linings to winter coats. I lined one sweater with a soft material.

DEAR POLLY:—My Pet Peeve is with manufacturers who put coupons inside the package with their products.

Things They Wish They Hadn't Said

By TOM RAUM Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Footnotes to 1972. A few statements their speakers may wish had been left unsaid.

Former state House Speaker Richard Pettigrew: "Dire predictions Sen. Muskie is in deep trouble are not true. He continues as a solid frontrunner in the party."

Pettigrew said this last March 8 when asked by newsmen to comment on the prospects of his presidential candidate, Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Me., in the upcoming March 14 Florida presidential preference primary.

Muskie came in fourth, with only 9 per cent of the vote, and was thereafter seldom referred to as the frontrunner by even his most ardent supporters.

Former Vice President Hubert Humphrey: "My campaign is off to a poor start. I will carry this momentum into Wisconsin and from there to all the other primaries."

The Minnesota senator made these remarks on March 15, after coming in second in the Florida primary, although trailing far behind first-place finisher Alabama Gov. George Wallace.

Republican 1974 gubernatorial hopeful Jerry Thomas: "At this time I have no intention of being anything other than a Democrat."

The former Senate president so stated in an April 13 interview concerning speculation he was planning to switch parties.

With much fanfare, and a personal welcome by Vice President Spiro Agnew, Thomas made the switch earlier this month.

In the same interview, Thomas also said his only plans for the future were "becoming a private citizen" and that he had no intention of running for governor—either as a Democrat or a Republican.

Now Thomas is considered a major contender for the GOP gubernatorial nomination. He even bought a plane formerly used by State Comptroller Fred Dickinson in which to campaign.

Gov. Reubin Askew: "in the years to come, you'll be convinced you did the right thing for your children and their children."

Askew told this to a Tallahassee audience last March 12 during his energetic, but ineffective, campaign against a "straw vote" referendum against school busing.

Florida voters passed the referendum 3-1.

However, shortly thereafter, following a pressure conference from the cities and from building interests, the board with Levin's support agreed to administer the moratorium "with flexibility."

As a result few cities have wound up under the ban.

However, Thomas' second prediction was that President Nixon would carry Florida by more than a million votes. It was sneered at by Democratic officials at the time, but came to pass.

Add to the list of forgettable quotes, at least one which may have helped win an election.

It was during a September news conference that Public Service Commissioner, elect Paula Hawkins began referring to herself as, "just a Maitland housewife."

She also noted, "government is like housekeeping."

Mrs. Hawkins, a businesswoman long active in the state GOP and an unsuccessful legislative candidate in 1970, used the phrase heavily throughout the remainder of her campaign.

It stuck. And it may have helped push her over the top in an election so close that it wasn't officially decided until several days later when absentee ballots were all counted.

achieve integration — as a political blunder that could hurt his chances of re-election.

For the record, Thomas also opposed putting the busing question on the ballot, saying he was against busing, but also opposed to "government by straw vote."

Outgoing Public Service Commissioner, Jess Yarborough, didn't accept former State Sen. Gerald Lewis, a Miami Democrat, rejecting him in the general election in favor of Republican candidate Paula Hawkins of Maitland.

However, unfortunately for Yarborough, Lewis' defeat came only after he had solidly trounced Yarborough in a September primary for the Democratic nomination.

Pollution Control Board Chairman David Levin: "I'm concerned — so let them go on screaming."

This comment came on Sept. 30, the day before the Pollution Control Department had announced it would impose a moratorium on all new sewer hook-ups—and thus new construction—in all cities not providing 90 per cent treatment of wastes.

That meant most major Florida cities.

However, shortly thereafter, following a pressure conference from the cities and from building interests, the board with Levin's support agreed to administer the moratorium "with flexibility."

As a result few cities have wound up under the ban.

State GOP Chairman L. E. "Tommy" Thomas: "I think we'll win control of the state Senate, and capture eight of the state's 15 congressional seats."

Thomas made this prediction in early November on the upcoming Nov. 7 general election.

When Republicans did neither, winding up with only 14 of the state's 40 Senate seats and four of its 15 congressional seats.

However, Thomas' second prediction was that President Nixon would carry Florida by more than a million votes. It was sneered at by Democratic officials at the time, but came to pass.

New Year's Menu

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor
Everyone toasts the New Year in his own way. Here are two new appetizer recipes for those who enjoy having a few friends in to share the waning hours of yet another year. A Grape Appetizer is a Russe, with its caviar and sour cream, and Baked Mushrooms will intrigue even the most rigid meat-and-potatoes guest.

GRAPE APPETIZER
A LA RUSSE
1 1/2 tablespoons red caviar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup cultured sour cream
1/2 cups halved and seeded green grapes
Cherry, watercress or other green
6 cherry tomatoes, halved
Paprika or dried dill weed

Stir caviar and salt into sour cream in small mixing bowl. With fork, toss grapes in mixture. Turn into 6 appetizer glasses lined with gauzy and garnish with cherry tomato halves. Top with clusters of paprika or dill weed. Makes 6 servings.

BAKED MUSHROOMS
A LA PERRINS
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/2 pound mushrooms, sliced
2 cups toasted croutons
1 cup light cream
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce

In medium skillet melt butter. Add mushrooms and saute for 3 minutes or until golden. Meanwhile, grease an 8-inch square baking dish. In it, alternate layers of mushrooms and croutons. Combine cream, salt and Worcestershire sauce. Pour over mushrooms and croutons in baking dish. Bake in preheated 425-degree oven over 20 minutes or until top is golden brown. Makes 6 portions.

Phyll's Lima Beans in Sour Cream
Salad Bowl
Fruit Beverage
PHYLL'S LIMA BEANS IN SOUR CREAM

My sister adapted this recipe from an interesting new cookbook, "The Bean Book" by Crescent Dragon wagon (Workman).
1 1/2 tablespoons corn-oil margarine
1/3 cup finely diced onion
1 can (1 pound, 4 ounces) butter beans (large limas), drained
2 tablespoons dark brown sugar
2 tablespoons catchup
1 tablespoon sweet pickle relish
1/2 teaspoon dried basil
1/2 cup commercial sour cream
In a 6-inch skillet melt the margarine and add the onion, cook gently until softened. Turn the beans into an 8- or 9-inch glass pie plate, stir in the onion and remaining ingredients. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 30 minutes. Serve over steamed split frankfurters or in separate sauce dishes because this dish has lots of sauce. Makes 6 servings.

PLACE FOR EACH NIGHT
REFRESHER
Golden Brand's Punch
CHEESE ROLLS
CHEESE ROLLS
1 package (10 ounces) sharp cheddar cheese spread, at room temperature
1/2 cup chopped ripe olives
1/2 cup sliced ripe olives
1/2 cup butter, melted
Mix cheese and olives. Trim crusts from bread with a rolling pin, thoroughly flatten each slice, spread with cheese mixture leaving a wide margin around the edges, roll up each slice. The reason for leaving a margin of bread unspread is because some of the cheese will spread as you roll the bread and if the cheese oozes to the end of the rolls when they are baked some of it will run out.) Butter a rack above center in a preheated 425-degree oven until golden brown - about 8 minutes. With a wide shallow wooden bowl at hand, let stand a few minutes, then cut each roll in half. Makes 32. (Rolls may be prepared ahead, then lightly covered with plastic wrap and refrigerated until ready to bake, or they may be freezer-stored and defrosted 1/2 hour before baking.)

Consumers, President To Force Products To Standards

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Consumers and consumer groups throughout the country have, like the President, taken up the drive against permissiveness. They are determined to protest and protest until the products in their supermarkets are all up to standards as advertised.

As part of the new consumer drive there are 350,000 students involved in public interest research groups in 50 schools in 13 states. The groups are strong advocates of consumer protection. They now operate in Massachusetts, Minnesota, North Carolina, Indiana, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia. At the present time 74 schools are supposed to be operating in 25 states by September 1973. They all are out to let permissiveness.

Consumers today are better informed than their parents or grandparents were 15 or 25 years ago. More education, mass media, TV and radio reports and new legislation all help to keep them aware. If dissatisfied with the food offered to them, if a lack of advantage of by manufacturers, they know that now they can force changes through well-placed complaints. But those complaints must be factual, directly on target.

One example of deception that angered the consumer into action and brought legal action.

The Food and Drug Administration and the Federal Trade Commission have issued regulations on the use of "cents off," "introductory offer," and "economy size" claims on food packages. To qualify for "cents off" labels, items must have been recently or regularly selling at a customary price in the promotion areas. As to "free" offers, promotions may not occur more than three times a year, with at least 30 days between promotions. A single size item may not be sold with "cents off" labeling for more than six months in any 12-month period. Since June 30, 1972, when the law became effective, packages must be clearly marked, such as: "Priced marked is cents off the regular price."

Under these rules, consumers can now determine from the label the actual savings being offered. The rules put an end to perpetual promotions that are based on artificial "regular" prices.

How do you go about registering your complaints regarding food products in your market? Write a letter if the merchant is located outside your area. Don't phone or visit personally. For legal purposes a typed letter is important. Keep a copy. Include your address on the letter.

Be sure of yourself. Keep records of bills and cancelled checks. Include brand name, price paid, identification number, manufacturers name, when and where purchased. Send your letter of complaint by certified mail, if possible.

French Vintners Are Promoting 'Just Plain' Wines

By TOM HOGGE
AP Newsfeatures Writer
With rocketing prices putting the prestigious French wines out of reach of all but the most affluent American consumers, France's vintners have launched a drive to promote the produce of their lesser known vineyards.

The campaign, called "The Country Wines of France" was kicked off in Texas last spring and recently shifted to the East Coast. It is geared to the growing American demand for wine come the hallmark of most imports in recent years.

The regional wines are being introduced through tastings at country clubs, colleges and civic centers in suburban New York and Connecticut. The aim is to convince Americans that these wines are not only good to drink but also a valuable aid in cooking.

Country Wines is not a brand name. It covers nine modestly-priced regional varieties of French wines including four whites, two roses and three reds.

The wines are tangy white Alcaise, a fruity dry, Macon Blanc from Burgundy, white Bordeaux called Entre-Deux-Mers, Muscadet with a slight nutting flavor, Rose D'Anjou from the Loire Valley, a rose from Provence, a red Bordeaux, Corbieres from the south of France and a deep red Cotes du Rhone.

Because these wines come from areas that produce millions of cases each year, they are in ample supply and should remain at a reasonable price level.

The influx of these country wines has caused nervousness among some American vintners, but since more than 80 per cent of the wine drunk in this country is still domestic, they should not have too much to worry about. What the country wines will do to imports from other nations is something else.

It is now a well known fact that wine is a versatile flavoring agent that adds a gourmet touch to any dish from soup to dessert. Foods cooked, with wine have the flavor of the wine without any residue of alcohol, because alcohol evaporates long before the cooking term. The perfume of food is reached. For those who want a more pronounced flavor, however, an extra ounce or so may be added to a dish just before serving.

Fish poached in wine makes a delectable dish. So does a beef and kidney ragout with wine or a chicken in white wine. For people who do their cooking in a tiny apartment kitchenette, quick tricks that wine improves include shrimp—frozen, fresh or even canned—sautéed in a white Bordeaux with a dash of worcestershire added.

Here is a recipe for shrimp in wine:

- 1 1/2-ounce can shrimp, or frozen or fresh shrimp cooked and cleaned.
- 2 tablespoons butter.
- 1/2 cup white Bordeaux.
- 1 small clove garlic chopped.
- 4 tablespoons parsley chopped.
- 1 1/2-ounce can small whole mushrooms.
- 1 tablespoon tarragon salt and pepper to taste.

In a skillet warm mushrooms in butter. Add shrimp and brown lightly. Add salt, pepper, garlic, tarragon and parsley. Stir into shrimp. Add the Bordeaux wine and cook for about 15 minutes over medium heat or till shrimp is tender. Serve over rice. Serves 4 and is good with white Bordeaux.

Meatball Isn't A Meatball
By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

A meatball is a meatball except when it is a very special Stuffed Beef Roll with Spaghetti. Versatile ground beef makes a fine meat roll with celery, green pepper and onion to serve with a packaged spaghetti dinner with mushroom sauce. A new cook out to impress his or her date will find this recipe a life saver. Serve with a large green salad, hard rolls and buttered french bread.

STUFFED BEEF ROLL AND SPAGHETTI
1/4 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup chopped celery
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (3 ounces) chopped mushrooms, drained
1 pound ground beef
1 package (19 1/2 ounces) spaghetti dinner with mushroom sauce
2 tablespoons dry bread crumbs
1 egg
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper

Saute onion, celery and green pepper in butter until tender. Stir in chopped mushrooms, set aside. Combine ground beef, canned grated cheese, bread crumbs, egg, salt and pepper. Spread out in 9-inch square on waxed paper. Spread sauteed mixture over meat leaving 1/2-inch border. Roll into log by lifting wax paper. Press edges together to seal. Place in greased loaf pan and bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Cook spaghetti according to package directions. Drain well. Place meat roll on large platter; surround with spaghetti. Pour heated spaghetti sauce over meat and pasta. Makes 4-6 servings.

A 10-year-old Norfolk, England, girl, asked to describe the fall of man in a religious education class, replied: "This was when Adam ate the forbidden fruit and was expelled from Eden."

Cooking Corner Souffles Are Served Just Out Of Oven

By SUSAN DELIGHT
Copy News Service

There are two basic types of souffles, each occupying a different spot on the menu. There are entree type souffles with fish, meat, vegetables or cheese, and dessert souffles, made with sweetened pureed fruit, or a liqueur.

One of the secrets of a good souffle is in the beating and folding in of the egg whites. Another is in the serving. A souffle should be served immediately after being taken from the oven. A traditional souffle dish is one with straight up and down sides. However, a glass overproof casserole can serve just as well.

Be sure to beat the egg whites in a meticulously clean dry bowl. Never use a bowl which has not been completely cleaned of oil or fat. And don't open the oven to check on cooking progress for at least 30 minutes. Allowing egg whites to reach room temperature before beating results in greater volume.

If you must delay serving a few minutes after the souffle is removed from the oven, allow it to stand in a pan of hot water.

Classic chocolate souffle is rich with chocolate and light as a cloud. It is served with drifts of liqueur-flavored whipped cream.

Branded cheese souffle is not a traditional souffle, but an uncooked one made with gelatin. It is a coffee and brandy custard creation made with creamed cottage cheese.

CLASSIC CHOCOLATE SOUFFLE

- 1 cup instant cocoa mix
 - 2 tablespoons sugar
 - 2 tablespoons cornstarch
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 3/4 cup milk
 - 1/4 cup butter or margarine
 - 3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla
 - 5 egg whites
 - 4 teaspoon cream of tartar
 - 2 tablespoons sugar
- To prepare souffle dish, butter a 1-quart souffle dish or straight-sided casserole. For the collar, measure a length of regular aluminum foil to go around dish or casserole; fold into thirds lengthwise. Butter one side of collar and tie with string or tape securely to outside of collar (battered side in) allowing collar to extend 3 inches above rim of dish. Combine instant cocoa mix, 2 tablespoons sugar, cornstarch and salt in a saucepan. Gradually stir in milk; add butter or margarine. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture begins to boil. Remove from heat and cool about 10 minutes, stirring frequently. Blend egg whites and vanilla into chocolate mixture. Beat egg whites with cream of tartar until foamy in large mixer bowl. Gradually add 2 tablespoons sugar and beat until stiff peaks form. Stir about 1 beaten egg white into chocolate mixture. (Egg whites blend better if used immediately after beating.) Gradually pour chocolate mixture over remaining egg whites; fold very carefully just until blended. Pour into prepared dish; place dish in pan containing about 1-inch hot water. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour and 10 to 20 minutes or until cake tester inserted halfway between edge and center comes out clean. Carefully remove collar. Immediately serve with liqueur whipped cream. About 8 servings.

Note: For easy serving, divide souffle into sections with a fork, and spoon into dessert dishes.

LIQUEUR WHIPPED CREAM

- 1/2 cup whipping cream
 - 1 tablespoon confectioners' sugar
 - 1 to 2 teaspoons Grand Marnier or Kirsch (optional)
- Whip cream and confectioners' sugar until stiff in small mixer bowl. Fold in Grand Marnier or Kirsch. About 1 cup topping.

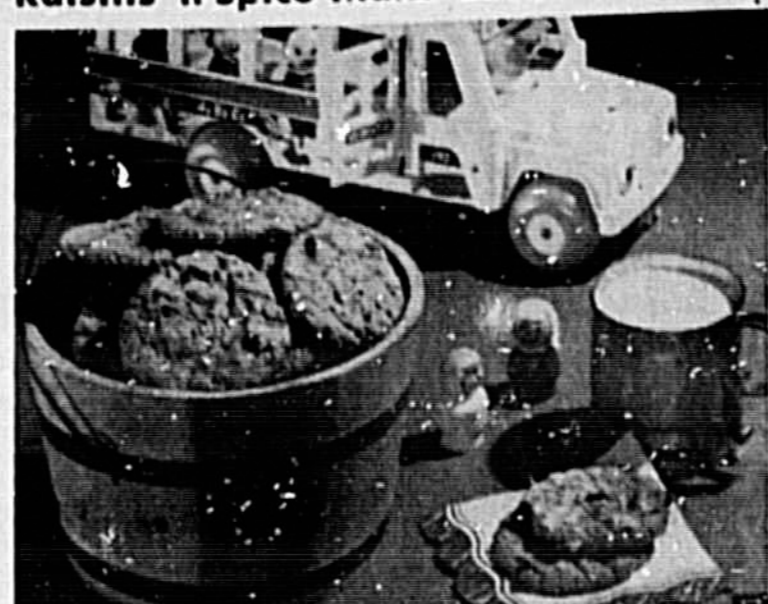

BRANDED CHEESE SOUFFLE

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- two-thirds cup milk
- 2 eggs, separated
- 1/2 teaspoon

coffee powder 1/4 teaspoon salt
1 part creamed cottage cheese
2 tablespoons brandy, or 1 teaspoon brandy extract
one-third cup sugar

Sprinkle gelatin over milk in small saucepan; let stand 5 minutes. Beat egg yolks lightly and add to milk. Cook over very low heat until gelatin is dissolved and mixture thickens slightly, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, and stir in coffee powder and salt. Cool to room temperature, then stir in creamed cottage cheese and brandy. Chill until mixture thickens slightly. Beat egg whites until stiff. Gradually beat in sugar to make a stiff meringue. Fold into gelatin mixture, and turn into 1-quart mold, individual molds, or chill in small coffee cups or sherbet dishes. Chill for 1 hour and 10 to 20 minutes, or four or five hours, or overnight. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Raisins 'n Spice Make Cookies So Nice

Packaged instant oatmeal with the raisins and spice included makes them so easy to prepare! Put a quick way to get us free nourishment into those lively pasties who live at your house. Oh, but you're a nice mommy, they'll say as they munch away. Are Raisins n Spice Cookies a labor of love? Not really — there's more love in those than labor. And what could make a busy mother happier? (Note: Little daddies seem to love them, too.)

RAISINS 'N SPICE COOKIES

- Makes 3 dozen
- 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon soda
- 1/4 cup shortening, soft
- 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 teaspoon milk
- Three 1 1/2-oz. pkgs. instant oatmeal with raisins and spice, uncooked

Winter Menu Treat

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

A variety of vegetables available during winter months helps add color and flavor to the simplest meal. Preparing fresh vegetables is not too time-consuming and the difference in taste from canned or frozen is well worth a little more effort. Shop your supermarket for vegetables to stand for parsnips, carrots, onions, yams, sweet potatoes, yellow squash, pumpkin or turnips for a very special Glazed Almond Vegetable dish.

GLAZED ALMOND VEGETABLES

- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 tablespoons whole natural almonds, chopped, or sliced natural almonds
- 1 tablespoon brown sugar (packed)
- 1 tablespoon granulated sugar
- 4 servings cooked fresh vegetables

Melt butter in 10- or 11-inch skillet. Add almonds and cook, stirring, over medium heat 1 or 2 minutes. Stir in sugars and continue cooking briefly until they appear to melt. Add cooked vegetables to pan and heat, stirring and turning gently until glazed and hot throughout, about 3 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Suggested vegetables:

- Parsnips or carrots: Purchase 1 pound for 4 servings. Trim and scrub, pare if you like. Drop into 1-inch boiling salted water in large saucepan and cook, covered, 15 to 20 minutes or just until fork-tender (not mushy). Drain.
- Onions: Peel and trim 12 small white onions (about 3/4-pound) or four 2- or 3-inch yellow onions. Boil gently, covered, in 1-inch boiling salted water in saucepan about 30 minutes or until tender.
- Yams and sweet potatoes: Allow 1 1/2 to 2 pounds for 4 servings. Cut large ones in half and cook, covered, in 1-inch gently boiling salted water in saucepan about 30 minutes or until tender. Plunge into cold water until cool enough to handle and peel off skins. Cut into quarters or halves, or leave whole if not too large.
- Yellow squash or pumpkin: Allow 2 pounds for 4 servings. Remove seeds and string parts, pare off rind and cut into large chunks. Cook, covered, in 1-inch gently boiling salted water for about 10 minutes or until barely tender; they will soften quite a bit while being glazed). If using acorn squash, slice crosswise into 3 or 4 rings, remove seeds and pare. Cook as above.

Turnips: Allow 1 pound for 4 servings. Pare thinly and cut into slices, chunks or sticks. Cook, covered, in 1-inch gently boiling water for 10 minutes or until fork-tender.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Vermont was the first state to enact an absentee voting law in 1896, which allowed a person to vote anywhere in the state after showing a voting certificate. The World Almanac notes: The majority of the absentee vote is comprised of armed forces personnel, students, hospital patients and businessmen who are away from their home polling places.

SPANISH SIESTA SPREAD
(Makes about 2 cups)

- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- 1 Tablespoon drained horseradish
- 2 tablespoons chopped chives
- 1/4 teaspoon salt

Combine sour cream, horseradish, chives and salt in a small bowl. Mix well; chill. Makes 1 cup.

Bologna (olive ground or finely chopped)
1/4 cup chopped celery
or green pepper
1/4 cup chopped pimiento-stuffed olives
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1/2 teaspoon celery seed

Combine all ingredients and mix well. Chill. Garnish with onion rings and sliced olives, as desired.

OLIVE-CREAM SPREAD
(Makes about 2 cups)

- 2 packages (3 ounces each) chive cream cheese, softened
- Two-thirds cup chopped pimiento-stuffed olives
- 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) minced clams, drained

Combine all ingredients; mix well. Chill. Garnish with onion rings and sliced olives, as desired.

Pig Cuts Help Cut Calories

Fat Porky Pig has come to a reducing salon, courtesy of a new breed of pork products, without losing any savorness. This is important to those who enjoy eating pork but are concerned about weight-producing calories. Those who enjoy the Oriental combination of sweet-and-sour pork will find making and eating a stir-fry or skillet pork an enjoyable experience. To keep scallops crisp and preserve texture of the apricots add them at the last, just before serving.

APRICOT-SKILLET CHOPS

- 1 can (17 ounces) apricot halves
- 1 cured loin pork chops, 1/2-inch thick or 1 1/4 pound fully cooked ham steak
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 2 tablespoons light brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon grated orange peel
- 1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1/4 teaspoon dried mustard
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1/4 cup dark seedless raisins
- 1 cup sliced celery
- 1/4 cup sliced scallions

Drain apricots, reserving syrup. If using electric skillet, preheat at 350 degree setting. Fry pork chops (or ham) in butter on both sides until lightly browned; place chops on warm serving platter and keep warm. Mix cornstarch and sugar; add to skillet along with peel, seasonings and lemon juice. Blend in reserved apricot syrup; cook, stirring constantly, until sauce boils 7 to 10 minutes. Add raisins and celery. Reduce heat; skillet, adding to 225 degrees cover and simmer mixture about 5 minutes or just until celery is crisp tender. Add apricots and scallions. Simmer just until heated through. Pour sauce over pork chops and serve with hot noodles or rice. Makes 4 servings.

Keep a sugar-cinnamon mixture on hand to sprinkle on buttered toast for snacktime. Use 1 to 2 tablespoons cinnamon to 1/4 cup sugar. Place the cinnamon toast under the broiler until fragrant melts.

Quick frosting: Put 1/2 cup currant jelly and 1 egg white in the top part of a double boiler and beat constantly over simmering water until mixture holds stiff straight peaks.
