More in 1964 — seems to be the theme of the advertising and the general outlook early in the new year. And our local builders are certainly in tune with the idea, giving you the "most for your money" in the new homes they are building.

Items which formerly were "extras" or "options" are now standard equipment—part of the package! For instance, all the new homes in Ravenna Park have central duct heating. This makes every room in the house warm and comfortable, even during our chilly snaps this time of year. Another home was sold in Ravenna Park this past week, but models are open for your inspection at 411 and 416 Tangelo Drive. See them this weekend.

In nearby Idyllwild, another "Home of Distinction" is almost finished at 110 Idyllwild Drive. Our Seminole County builders all realize that the kitchen is a center of interest in the modern home, and feature completely equipped electric kitchens designed with imagination. In the homes open and on display in Kingswood Builders' Greenbriar of Loch Arbor, several kitchens have black walnut cabinets which put the final touch to a really beautiful kitchen. In quiet, tree-shaded Greenbriar, homes are available at 100, 107, 108, and 109 Highland Court.

Back with us this week is Cavalcade of Homes. They now have twelve model homes ready to show you. A salesman will be on the premises all this weekend, so see them on your tour of homes. They're located on SR 427 between Lake Mary and Longwood, on the old Dixie Highway.

See all these homes and select yours — you'll agree that for your dollar you're getting much more — in '64.

How To Fix Sticking Door

By Mr. Fix
 Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
 A sticking door is a type of trouble with which nearly everyone has to contend. Folks usually blame the trouble on swelling wood, but there are other causes, so go easy before you begin planing on a course of action.

Wood swells in summer, so if your door is sticking during the winter—when heat is on and the wood is dry—you can be certain that there are other causes.

Even in the summer, take it easy with the plane. Look for some other method of freeing the door or you'll find yourself with a door that breezes come right through during cooler weather.

Planing is seldom required, although it is resorted to, too often. Most trouble can be traced to hinge problems. Either the hinge is loose—or it wasn't mounted properly. Get yourself a screw driver, open the door wide and try each screw. Use a screw driver with a large blade and tighten any screw that seems to be loose. It doesn't take much sagging to make a door bind and tightening up the hinges may free the door.

Frequent tightening often leaves the wood so torn up that screws won't grip anymore. If a larger screw won't work or won't fit, fill the hole with a woden plug or plastic wood. If you use a plug, dip it in glue first. Allow plastic fillers to harden then drill a starter hole.

If tightening doesn't work, you will have to examine the door closely to determine the exact point of binding. Binding at top can often be cured by shimming the hinge at top—inserting a thin layer of cardboard between the hinges and the wood of the door jamb. Binding that occurs at the bottom of the door can be cured with a shim behind the bottom hinge.

Remove the hinge pin and lift off the door. Then unscrew the leaf of the hinge that is on the door jamb. Insert a piece of thin cardboard behind and replace the screws. Hang the door. If one piece of cardboard isn't enough, try another.

Shimming will also take care of a door that won't close easily because the hinge has been mortised too deeply. If all else fails, you will have to plane or sand the door. Do this cautiously. If binding occurs at the top, look for the point that makes contact and sand this spot lightly. If that doesn't work, plane the area.

When planing the top or bottom of a door, plane from the outside to the center to avoid splintering the edge. If door is too wide, remove and do the planing on the hinge side so that the lock won't be affected. You may have to deepen the mortise for the hinge before hanging the door again.

In Colombian cities, house numbers tell how many meters the building is from the corner.

MISS LUCRECIA GARCIA

'Petite' Ambassador Visits Casselberry

By Jane Casselberry
A petite goodwill ambassador from the Dominican Republic is charming 18-year-old Lucrecia Garcia who has added to the holiday fun of a Casselberry family, the William Dunns, of 1028 Crystal Bowl Circle.

Lucrecia is the roommate of the Dunns' daughter, Susan, a freshman major in elementary education at St. Mary's College in Xavier, Kan. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Aristides Garcia. He is the governor of Monte Cristi and also is engaged in tobacco and banana farming.

To hear Lucrecia conversing so freely in English now, it is hard to believe that when she arrived at St. Mary's last September, she spoke only Spanish. English was banned from the schools during the Trujillo regime but under the present government it is a required subject.

Our Christmas traditions were not too strange to her as Christmas trees and gift giving are a part of the celebration in her own country as well.

Among the highlights of her stay were a visit to Cape Kennedy and attending her first basketball game. She also has enjoyed a round of parties with Susan and her friends including a festive post-party New Year's breakfast at the Dunns.

During her stay she has introduced some of her favorite Spanish dishes, such as chicken and rice, to the Dunns household.

Lucrecia also visited her relatives in Sarasota before the girls returned to college this past Sunday.

Adenauer Has 500 Guests On 88th Birthday

BONN (UPI) — Former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer turned 88 years old Sunday, and most of the 500 persons at his birthday party still called him "Herr Chancellor."

Telegrams of congratulations poured in from leaders around the world for "Der Alte," who led West Germany through the difficult postwar years of rehabilitation.

The highlight of the reception given by Adenauer's Christian Democratic Union (CDU) party was the surprise appearance of his successor, Chancellor Ludwig Erhard. Erhard had not been scheduled to return to the capital until today.

Messages came from French President Charles de Gaulle, Britain's Sir Winston Churchill, Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India and Pope Paul VI.

Adenauer stepped down from office last October after leading West Germany for 14 years in which it rose from the ashes of World War II to become a powerful nation once again. Today "Der Alte," as he is affectionately known, is his another member of Parliament.

G. W. Turner Sr., Funeral Held

Funeral services for George W. Turner Sr., 71, who died Friday afternoon at his home in Mullet Lake Park, were held at 4 p. m. Sunday at Brison Funeral Home with Rev. John T. Russell of Orlando officiating. Burial was in the Chulohota Cemetery.

Born July 19, 1902 in Crows Bluff, Mr. Turner was a retired general contractor. He was a member of the First Baptist Church of Sanford.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Lane Turner, of Sanford; a daughter, Mrs. Van E. Kennedy of Lake Alfred; a son, George W. Turner Jr. of Orlando; four grandchildren and four sisters, Mrs. Mrs. Nettie Byrd of Orlando, Grace Barber of Jacksonville, Mrs. Eva Matthews of Cocoa and Mrs. Lydia Eubanks of Orla Vista.

Relay I Just Won't Roll Over And Die

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has a problem—Relay I, its brilliant television station in the sky, refuses to die.

Launched Dec. 13, 1962, the 172-pound Relay was supposed to destroy itself on or about its birthday last month to choke off possible interference with a more advanced Relay, scheduled for launch Jan. 21.

An electrolytic solution was supposed to eat its way through a cable aboard Relay I and cut off its transmitting power. Experts believe the solution's effect may have been slowed by lower-than-anticipated temperatures aboard the craft.

Al Jolson, the famed singer, was born in Russia and came to the United States when he was about seven years old.

Franklin Attending First Auburn Class

AUBURN, Ala. (UPI) — Harold Alonzo Franklin, sole occupant of Auburn University's Magnolia Dormitory, attends his first classes at the newly desegregated institution today.

The 21-year-old graduate student, first member of the Negro race to crack the school's color line, was to begin his history studies at 10 a. m.

Franklin registered Saturday on a campus heavily guarded by Alabama state troopers. He was greeted by a few catcalls but registered without the federal escort which accompanied Negro students entering the University of Alabama—the state's only other desegregated college.

Today most of the state troopers were gone. Highway patrol commander Al Lingo pulled out most of the 100 riot-trained patrolmen he had on duty and left security arrangements to a small detachment.

Franklin, who won a court order requiring the university to furnish him a dormitory room, was assigned a room in Magnolia Hall, a four-story dormitory otherwise vacant. He said Sunday that he spent a "very quiet" first night on the campus, but refused to answer other questions.

University officials, who put strict regulations into effect during the desegregation, announced Sunday that four white students were suspended for removing restriction signs on the campus.

The students, who were not identified, were scheduled to appear before a disciplinary committee today. Highway patrolmen caught them pulling up signs saying the campus was off limits to all but students and faculty members.

Gov. George C. Wallace vigorously denounced the federal court order forcing Franklin's admission and promised to wage a legal battle against it. But he made no attempt to physically block the desegregation as he did last June when two Negroes entered the University of Tuscaloosa.

J. C. Thilpitt, Longwood, Dies

John Cullen Thilpitt, 54, died Friday at Bethesda Naval Hospital in Bethesda, Md., where he had been a patient for 12 days.

Since 1949 he had lived in Longwood and was a resident of the Old Dixie Highway. He retired from the Navy in June 1960, as a Chief Petty Officer and became an employee of the Jones Detective Agency after which he worked for Celery City Printing Company in Sanford.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Irene Thilpitt and two sons, Donald and James, all of Longwood; a brother, Elmer Thilpitt and a sister, Mrs. Mary Kean, both of Bradenton.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday at the Granlock Funeral Home Chapel with Rev. Herbert Goerss officiating. Burial will be in Oaklawn Memorial Park. Military services will be conducted at graveside.

'Witch' Irked Because She's Not Liked

BURLEY, England (UPI) — Mrs. Sybil Leek said today people are turning against her just because she's a witch.

"It's heartless," Mrs. Leek, 41, said. "They are taking away my livelihood."

Mrs. Leek was evicted from her home in this village last month. And today the owner of her antique shop said he was foreclosing his lease on the shop and kicking her out.

"It all started," Mrs. Leek said, "with a woman spreading rumors linking me with black magic and sex orgies. Now the whole village is against me."

"But I'm a white witch," she insisted. "My witchcraft does nothing but good."

Goldwater Son To Head Youth Drive For Dad

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Barry Goldwater Jr., 28-year-old son of the Arizona senator seeking the GOP presidential nomination, disclosed Sunday that he will head a nationwide youth movement supporting his father's campaign.

"My constant contact with young people has convinced me of the tremendous appeal which Senator Goldwater has in the eyes of youth," said young Goldwater in making the announcement.

The organization is to be known as "Young Americans for Goldwater."

Goldwater Jr., a Los Angeles stockbroker, will make his first address in his new capacity Tuesday evening before the Los Angeles County Young Republicans in the Ambassador Hotel.

Two Skeletons Are Identified

BELLE GLADE (UPI) — Parts of two skeletons found in a car pulled from a canal near here Sunday were tentatively identified as a Miami couple who left for Providence, R. I., in 1958.

Miami police said the tag number of the 1949 car pulled from the 40-foot deep canal showed it to be owned by Irving and Elizabeth Silver of Miami.

Relatives of the couple said they left for Providence on July 16, 1958. They never arrived there and were listed as missing persons ever since. Police guess the car ran off the road and into the canal.

Mightiest of gorges, the Grand Canyon still is being cut by the Colorado River.

Arsonist Sets Fire To Hotel Astor's Grand Ballroom

NEW YORK (UPI) — An arsonist set fire to the Grand Ballroom of the Hotel Astor in the heart of Times Square early today. The fire was controlled quickly without injury.

The blaze, which caused damage estimated at $1 million by hotel officials, was "definitely set," said fire commissioner Edward Thompson.

Moments after the fire erupted just after midnight, a hotel employe chased a young man with a crewcut and trenchcoat from the ballroom into the street but he escaped. Police later questioned a man fitting that description but he was released before dawn.

Firemen answering three alarms contained the smoky fire within an hour but the combined effects of fire, smoke and water heavily damaged the 2,500-seat ballroom.

Thompson said its sprinkler system and fireproof construction probably prevented the flames from spreading to other parts of the hotel.

Two telephone operators, braving choking smoke which filled the switchboard room, alerted 30 guests occupying rooms above the burning ballroom.

They moved to the lobby without incident.

Firemen subsequently ordered all 200 occupants of the 11-story hotel to leave their rooms briefly while the building was checked thoroughly. None was found.

Reserve Notes

Since the U. S. Treasury Department announced its intention to gradually replace its Silver Certificate dollar bills with Federal Reserve notes, it has been bombarded with frantic queries from all over the country which say in effect: "Now that our dollar bills are no longer backed by silver are they just paper?"

In the past, the Treasury was always willing to demonstrate that its bills were backed by silver bullion. Anyone could exchange Silver Certificates for the equivalent in silver dollars.

For the record, the new Federal Reserve notes are backed just as fully — by 25 per cent gold and by 75 per cent assets of the Federal Reserve Bank. These assets are in the form of gilt-edge securities.

But for the time being, the Treasury has decided to continue its policy of giving doubting Thomases silver dollars for paper money. Main reason is probably because no one in the department has yet figured how to give 1/240 of a share of Du Pont in exchange for a one dollar bill.

Other doubting Thomases who don't want to travel all the way to Washington can prove the validity of their Silver Certificate dollars simply by spending them as they always have.

Don't worry; they'll be accepted just as readily as the new Federal Reserve notes.

Loss Of Ed Lane

Sanford and Seminole County will miss Ed Lane. When he passed away Dec. 18, the city and county suffered the loss of a man who will be remembered by many of its citizens for a long time to come.

Ed, who billed himself as the "Man who Knows Sanford" probably did know the city and its history as well as any person in this area. He was a native, born in Sanford April 24, 1891. Who can forget his cheerful smile, the gracious greeting he gave to all when he met them on the street, the courteous bow he gave everyone as he tipped his hat — usually a hard straw fedora. After all, Ed was really a showman.

There are still some who remember when the Ritz Theatre was known as the Milano. This was a combination of the words, Miller and Lane. The Lane was Ed.

Who will ever forget his great acts as a blackface comedian back in the days when the Sanford Kiwanis Club presented its annual minstrel shows. Ed was always the central figure. Again he was a showman.

Just the other day his Kiwanians brethren adopted a resolution expressing their sorrow and regret in the passing of a man who for more than 42 years was a loyal Kiwanian and as regular as a clock in his attendance and in his participation in the organization's program of activities.

He was president of the local Kiwanis organization in 1926. During 1950 he served with distinction as lieutenant governor of his Kiwanis Division.

He was also a Mason, a member of the Divan of the Morocco Temple and served as president of the Shrine Club for five years.

Undoubtedly, Ed was one of Sanford's top-notch promoters and through the year aided considerably the growth and development of this area. Along with this Ed always displayed a continued interest in his fellow man. It can't be said about all men, but regarding Ed Lane it can be stated that no one was a stranger to him.

The loss of Ed Lane is one that will be long felt by all the citizens of this city and county and others who also knew him well.

Last Sunday marked the 40th anniversary of the end of the old Maxwell automobile and the beginning of another with the introduction of a car which has made a lasting mark on the automobile industry.

The car, called the Chrysler Six, was the fulfillment of a dream of car executive, Walter P. Chrysler, then board chairman of the Maxwell Motor Co. The new vehicle bore his name and was the forerunner of what was in June 1925 to become the Chrysler Corporation.

The occasion for the history-making introduction was the annual auto show in New York which opened in 1924, on Jan. 6. Since that first showing nearly four million Chrysler cars have been built.

But perhaps of even more interest is the fact that Chrysler came out of retirement to build his dream car. An automotive genius, he had revamped the Buick Motor Co., installing one of the first moving production lines and increasing output from 45 to 150 cars a day. In five years at Buick his annual salary went from $4,000 to $50,000.

While serving as first vice president of General Motors he retired. Less than a year later he accepted a $1 million-a-year offer from Willys-Overland and he was back on the job. Later the Maxwell Motor Car Co., and the Chalmers Motor Co., became embroiled in a controversy. Chrysler was called in to reorganize the Maxwell outfit. And this job gave him the opportunity to begin building his dream car. It took him three years to do the job, but he did it.

Four dormitory housemothers at Howey Asenady, Howey-In-The-Hills, are participating in a workshop for housemothers to help them better do their jobs.

Free guided tours of the Minute Maid citrus processing plant in Auburndale were resumed last Thursday. Children under 10 are not permitted to take the tours because of hazards around the machinery.

A modern milk bottling machine, valued at $15,455, has been presented to the University of Florida's Agricultural Experiment Stations by the American Can Co., of New York City.

There are some 6,000 American companies which maintain industrial research laboratories with an annual expenditure estimated as two and a half billion dollars.

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Back on the LBJ Ranch in Texas, President Lyndon Baines Johnson can ride herd over the 4,500 acres of grazing lands he has now turned over to the trusteeship of his co-owner A. W. Mourland, and contemplate.

For the white-faced Herdords that have not already been sold off, rancher Johnson can contemplate that cattle prices have dropped steadily for the past two months, to the lowest levels since 1951.

When Johnson met with a score of farm organization leaders at the White House the week before Christmas, he turned to Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman at one point and facetiously accused him of causing meat prices to drop. Freeman quickly assured him it wasn't his fault, but the defeat of his programs that caused it.

Depressed cattle prices are not the only cause for contemplation by rancher Johnson and other Texas farmers.

A major worry is that wheat growers' income may be off by one-third next year. Defeat of the Kennedy administration control plan in the wheat growers' referendum last May makes mandatory a drop in support prices from $2 to $1.23 a bushel.

The third worry is cotton, a major agricultural product of Texas and the rest of the politically important South.

The House recently passed a bill sponsored by its Agriculture Committee chairman Harold D. Cooley, D-N. C. At a cost of $250 million to the government, it would subsidize the sale of cotton to U. S. mills at world market prices. The Senate failed to act on this proposal.

It is opposed by Freeman, who prefers the plan of Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., for a direct subsidy payment to cotton growers, above the world market price.

Johnson told the farm organization leaders that he had approved House action on the Cooley bill because President Kennedy had previously favored it. But Johnson did not endorse either the Cooley or Talmadge plans. And this leaves the way open for compromise.

So what's ahead for the new Congress in fast action on wheat, cotton and maybe the dairy and meat situations. For candidate Johnson, like President Johnson and ranch-

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

Do you want to know what the blood pressure reading of 125/80 really means. And also is especially pointed by that "80" figure. Strangely in this case, for the lower number in your blood pressure reading is usually a sure index of damage to kidneys or hardening of arteries.

CASE E-448: Doris M., aged 57, has a medical worry.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "my husband had a medical examination last week.

"And our doctor told him his blood pressure was 125 over 80. He wrote it down for us as 125/80.

"The doctor said that was excellent. But we wonder just what those numbers mean.

"And I'm sure millions of other patients would also like that answer, too."

What's 125/80?

When we medicate your blood pressure, we usually employ an inflatable cuff on the upper arm.

It serves as a tourniquet. As we pump air into the cuff, we listen over an artery in your forearm to hear the "squirt, squirt, squirt" of your heart beats.

We finally pump enough air into that cuff to stop the blood from squirting. Then, we hear no more heart beats.

And this is what your higher number indicates, such as that 125 in the case of Doris's husband.

That higher number on your blood pressure reading simply indicates the millimeters of mercury demanded to stop the blood flow in your arteries at the instant your heart beats.

But in between those 75 beats per minute, the blood is still flowing within your arteries.

"Dr. Crane," you may inquire, "how can the blood keep moving when the heart is idle?"

"What makes that blood flow steadily during the hills between heart beats?"

Obviously, some other pressure must be pushing the blood through the arteries during the intervals between heart beats.

And that pressure comes from the rubbery (elastic) wall of the big artery (aorta) just above the heart.

For when your heart beats, it makes that aorta stretch or swell. But in between the heart beats, the aorta then begins to contract and it is this steady contraction of the rubbery artery that keeps our blood flowing when the heart is not beating.

That lower number in your blood pressure thus shows the degree of hardening of the arteries and kidney damage that must be overcome in order to have any movement of the blood.

And that lower number is often of more value to a doctor than the upper number.

For example, many confident people may have a blood pressure of 175/75, for that upper number varies greatly with emotion.

But 100/105 is usually a more dangerous blood pressure due to organic damage to arteries.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

OUR SAVERS EARNED OVER $600,000

Advice to the gentleman who paused outside our office (and to thousands like him):

You wonder whether you should start a regular savings program for the new year. You and your wife were talking about it the other day. About those school expenses coming up. About that house you plan to buy... someday. And a nicer vacation trip.

You were taking the important first step toward saving... looking ahead to the future... making plans. Now for the second step... making those plans realities through profitable saving.

Our savers know how profitable saving can be. Safe and convenient, too. The earnings they received last year alone will help pay for many things they once looked ahead to.

Our advice to you, sir, is to come again soon. Don't stop outside. Come in and open an account of your own. Then add to it regularly. It's one of the best decisions you'll ever make!

Fuller, Hare Wedding Vows Said At All Souls

In an afternoon ceremony, Dec. 28, Carol Ann Fuller became the bride of John Reynolds Hare. The double-ring, candlelight ceremony was performed by Rev. Edward Lyons of All Souls Catholic Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Fuller, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Hare, Roosevelt Road, Puerto Rico.

The church was decorated with palms and a basket of white carnations on either side of the altar. Mrs. F. E. Beemiller Jr., organist, played traditional wedding music.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and wore a formal gown of white tulle and Alencon lace, trimmed with sequins. The fitted bodice had a scalloped neckline and long tapered sleeves. The bouffant skirt was edged with rows of lace, and fell into a chapel train. Her veil of illusion was attached to a pearl tiara and she carried a cascade arrangement of white carnations centered with a white orchid and white ribbon streamers. Her jewelry was a pearl pendant on a gold chain, a gift from the bridegroom.

Janice Wynn was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. Samy Montano and Mrs. L. E. Harris. Peggy Jean Fuller, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. The attendants wore identical dresses of cotton blue taffeta, with bell-shaped skirts and short jackets. The headpieces were powder blue tiaras with short veils. Their flowers were cascade bouquets of blue carnations.

Robert Hare, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man and the ushers were Samy Montano and Emery Boudreau.

Mrs. Fuller, mother of the bride, wore a turquoise blue satin sheath with a jacket trimmed in matching lace, a feather hat and a corsage of yellow phalaenopsis orchids.

The couple left on a short wedding trip, to an undisclosed destination, and Mrs. Hare wore a Dior blue sheath with three-quarter length sleeves, a matching sleeveless tunic and a brown velvet hat and accessories. Her flower was a purple throated orchid from her bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Hare will make their home in Orlando where he is stationed at McCoy Air Force Base.

Out of town guests here for the wedding were Robert Hare, Puerto Rico, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Harris, New Smyrna Beach and Sgt. and Mrs. Walter C. Hunsicker and children, Orlando.

Wedding Party Entertained At Dinner

A rehearsal dinner was given for Miss Angie Stewart and Scott Bolla recently at the Gold Room of the Mayfair Inn by Mrs. Muriel Bolla, mother of the bridegroom. The table was decorated with pink and white carnations.

In addition to the bride and bridegroom, guests included Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stewart, parents of the bride; Mrs. H. J. Bolla, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney J. Bolla, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hulskamp, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Parker, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Lupier, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Smith, Miss Sunny Skinner, Walter Neal, Connie Stewart and Miss Sharon Lupier.

Julian Stenstroms Host Reunion At Home

Mr. and Mrs. Julian Stenstrom and their son, Ricky, were hosts for a family reunion New Year's Day at their home on Lake Kathryn. This was the first time the family had been together in some years.

A buffet luncheon was served in the afternoon while the football games were enjoyed.

Getting together to discuss the latest family news were: Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Stenstrom, Doug and Patricia; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stenstrom and Sharon; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stenstrom, Mark, Julie, Bryan and Becky; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Czajka, Cara, Nancy, Peter, Mary Kay and Mary Beth from Cocoa Beach; Mrs. E. S. Rokey, aunt of the Stenstroms, and their mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Salisbury.

McReynolds Host Holiday Party

Employees of McReynolds Drug Store, their wives and husbands, were guests of Dorothy and "Doc" McReynolds for a holiday buffet supper. This was the second year for such a party and was so successful it will become an annual event.

The Lake Golden home of the hosts was decorated with seasonal arrangements and a large green Christmas tree on the sun porch was the center of attraction.

The buffet table, laden with all the good food for which the hosts are so famous, was covered with an old-fashioned red damask cloth centered with an attractive candelabra entwined with holly.

A gift exchange added much merriment to the evening, and the guests enjoyed group singing and Christmas music.

Mr. and Mrs. Auburn Reeder, Mrs. Martha Rowland and Mrs. Jane Van Fleet assisted the McReynolds in entertaining the guests.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A friend took me to a card reader yesterday just for fun, and I haven't been able to sleep a wink since. Although I don't have any confidence in this woman's ability to read the future, she knocked me right off my feet. She said that my husband was going to die shortly, that he had been having blackouts at work but didn't want to tell me for fear of worrying me. She said I shouldn't let on that I know because it might upset him and he might die sooner. She also said someone wished me bad luck and she could break the spell by selling me some good luck charms at $10.00 each for myself and my children. (I didn't buy any, I think she's nuts.) She charges $5.00 a reading. I'd like to report this woman. But where?

DEAR ABBY: I read your reply to "JERSEY IN KOREA," who was having such a rough time being true to his wife back in the States. He must be in the Army or Air Force. I am a Marine Sgt., who is away from my family, too, and it will be a long time before I get home, but I'm not having that problem. You see, Abby, my father was on the road a lot when I was a kid and I asked him that same question. His answer to me has been my comfort these lonely nights. "Son," he said, "can you see me eating from the garbage can when I can look forward to a good meal served by your sweet and clean mother?" Sincerely, JIM, U. S. M. C. DEAR ABBY: My son thinks it is improper to give his intended wife an engagement ring until after she has received her final decree of divorce from her present husband. I disagree with him, especially since they have plans to marry immediately after the decree is granted. We have decided to go along with your opinion. Thank you. HAPPY MOTHER-IN-LAW-TO-BE DEAR HAPPY: I agree with your son. Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to ABBY, Box 3363, Beverly Hills, Calif. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3363, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

One point very hard to bring home to the general public is that while you open the bidding primarily on high cards you overcall principally on playing strength. In particular after your opponents open with a major suit it is the height of folly to get into the bidding with a five card minor suit merely because your hand would have been worth an opening bid if an opponent had not opened ahead of you. Even if not vulnerable South should not have overcalled. True, he had 13 points in high cards and a biddable five card suit, but he had three probable tricks against result was as might be expected. West doubled and while East thought for a moment about taking out the double he finally passed and West opened the queen of diamonds. South won the trick and saw no future anywhere. His best hope seemed to be to do something about clubs right away so South played the ace and queen of clubs. This was a wise decision. After that start the best defense could do was to cash nine tricks for an 1100 point profit. Had South adopted some other line of play he would probably have gone down 1400.

We The Women: By Ruth Millett

of week of JAN. 5, 1964 ... Whose fault is it when a husband gives his wife a gift that isn't even on her list of "most wanted" or "most needed" Legal Notice ed" items instead of one of the many things she would have chosen for herself? Before you decide it's the husband's fault, listen to this: A recent survey of more than a thousand men revealed that only three had been able to find out from their wives what they really wanted in the way of a gift. That must mean that when asked what they want for a birthday present or anniversary gift, most wives either say, "I don't know," or "I'd like to be surprised," or they are so subtle with their hints that their poor husbands don't realize they are hinting.

To keep her husband from such frantic searching for a gift, a wife either has to come right out and tell him what she wants or tell her best friend to relay the news, or she has to hint so broadly and so often that she is yearning for some particular thing that even the most absent-minded, preoccupied, unimaginative husband gets the idea, and can happily "surprise" his wife with the perfect gift that will make her voice ring true when she says, "It's just what I wanted. How did you ever think of it?"

Highlights

- 7:30-9:30 p.m. NBC. Monday Night Movie. "Seven Cities of Gold." (Color) Anthony Quinn, Richard Egan, Michael Rennie, Jeff Hunter and Rita Moreno star in this 1953 adventure story concerning the Spanish conquest of Southern California. The leaders of the expedition (Quinn and Egan) are not happy when a crippled priest, Father Junipero Serra (Rennie), is assigned to them, but he succeeds when their weapons fail. The Indian chief's grandson is injured during a brief skirmish with the Spaniards, and Father Serra helps heal the wound. This wins the Indians' trust and they, along with the expedition, help him found a string of missions. 8:30-9 p.m. CBS. The Lucy Show. In his role as Banker Mooney, Gale Gordon is a scream in this one. Mooney is in the hospital with a broken leg and Lucy (Lucille Ball) desperately needs his signature on a check to buy her daughter a new gown. 9:30-10 p.m. CBS. The Danny Thomas Show. The kiddies are out of this one so that the grown-ups can act like children in this occasionally funny but lukewarm plot. Danny and Kathy (Danny Thomas and Marjorie Lord) share a summer cottage with the Halpers (Sid Melton and Pat Carroll) and four definitely prove to be a crowd. 9:30-10 p.m. CBS. The Andy Griffith Show. It's a corny plot that might have been lifted from "Lassie," but Don

Sewing Course To Organize At Lyman

An adult course in clothing construction, open to women from any part of the county, will be organized at 7 p. m. Thursday at Lyman High School with Mrs. Mildred Dzurus, Lyman home economics teacher, as instructor.

Classes will meet from 7 until 9:30 p. m. two nights a week until June and will resume in September at the beginning of the new term. Students will be asked to pay a $5 registration fee and supply their own materials. Modern sewing machines at the school will be available for use by the class.

A limit of 20 students will be accepted. Applications should be made with E. S. Douglass, director of vocation and adult education, at the School Administration Building in Sanford or with Mrs. Dzurus at Lyman.

Mrs. Kennedy Returns To Washington

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy and her two children are back home from an 18-day vacation in Palm Beach, Fla.

The former First Lady, daughter Caroline, 6, and son, John Jr., 3, accompanied by Mrs. Kennedy's sister, Princess Lee Radziwill, flew back Sunday, landing at nearby Andrews Air Force Base, Md. They were met by Sen. and Mrs. Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy at the airport. They then drove to Arlington National Cemetery to make a brief visit to the grave of President Kennedy.

Mrs. Kennedy and her family are staying at the Georgetown home of Undersecretary of State Averell Harriman, who has moved temporarily to a hotel.

Mrs. John R. Ramsey was the first woman to drive an automobile coast-to-coast, accomplishing the feat in 1909 when she drove from San Francisco to New York City.

Sanlando Park Enjoys Holiday Activity

The term "active community" aptly described the Sanlando Trailer Park, corner of Highway 17-92 and SR 434, during this past holiday season.

Arriving early to visit relatives, guests from Illinois, Indiana, New York and Michigan joined in the park festivities which began on Christmas Eve with the traditional Candlelight March through the grounds to the beautifully decorated recreation room where an interesting program was presented by residents. Included on the program were a number of musical selections by the Sanlando Choral Singers.

On New Year's Eve, a program of games and feasting was enjoyed in the recreation room while watching the departure of 1963 and awaiting the birth of 1964 and at 1 p. m., New Year's Day, residents again gathered together for a festive pot luck dinner.

Throughout the holidays, the park was resplendent with outdoor lights and decorations at the individual mobile homes in addition to the large display featured by the owners.

Those visiting from out of state and their hosts at the park included:

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Atkinson from Bedford, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Curry; Mrs. Wayne Smith and Marti from Rochester, Ind.; Mrs. Marjorie Bryant; Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Friet and Fay and Stephen from North Tonawanda, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Perley Friet; Mrs. A. McMurray and son from Peoria, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Packett; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bushman and son and friend, Catherine Blocker, from Honeyo Falls, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Merle Bushman; Mr. and Mrs. Gleason MacInnes and Katla and Marlowe from Lansing, Mich.; Mrs. Glenn Cathey.

Leaving the park for the holidays were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Snyder who visited their son and daughter-in-law in Tallahassee during which time the entire group enjoyed a trip to New Orleans.

State's First Scheduled Air Flights To Be Feted

TAMPA — Aviation history will be recreated in Tampa-St. Petersburg Saturday when a model of a 1914 Benoist Airboat will retrace the first scheduled airline route in observance of the Golden Anniversary of Scheduled Airline Service.

The world's first scheduled airline service originated on January 1, 1914, with the inaugural flight from St. Petersburg to Tampa by the St. Petersburg - Tampa Airboat Line. Piloting the sturdy Benoist Airboat across Tampa Bay on that first flight was pioneer aviator, Tony Janusz.

From that day, and for the next four months, the little airplane, which later added a second plane, prospered and met its twice-a-day schedule without accident or injury.

The stub-nosed airboats were constructed by Tom Benoist at his St. Louis aircraft company specifically for use on the airline that Benoist founded.

G. Barrell Tibbs, a youth of 14 years, worked with Benoist in developing the historic Airboat. Today, at 64, Tibbs is supervising and re-rodading construction of the new model, which is being built from original plans.

During the past 50 years Tibbs has distinguished himself in aviation and is a well-known pioneer figure the nation over.

Work is well over the 50 percent completion mark on the flying machine and it is scheduled to recreate the original flight on Saturday before the eyes of a sizeable number of airline presidents and aviation officials.

Also participating in the commemoration will be a number of antique aircraft, to be flown in by hobbyists from around the nation. Following the St. Petersburg to Tampa flight, a 50th Anniversary commemorative dinner, honoring airline presidents, will be held in the Palm Room of the Tampa Terrace Hotel in Tampa.

Sunday will be set aside for a public display of aircraft, old and new, and equipment at Tampa International Airport. A number of airlines will have on display modern aircraft and passenger handling equipment.

However, highlight of the weekend will be the flying of the Benoist Airboat replica. Many senior airline pilots are vying for the honor of flying the plane. Col. John A. (Shorty) Powers, the "Voice" of the Astronauts, and Igor Sikorsky, of helicopter fame, will be featured speakers during the weekend long celebration.

The original plane cost $1,150. The one Tibbs is now building will cost approximately $7,500. The new plane will be identical to the original in length, 26 feet; wing span, 36 feet; left-hand rotating pusher propeller; wooden hull, open cockpit; and six-cylinder engines. The 75-horsepower marine engine in the original had a chain drive; the new plane will be powered by a 140-horsepower converted automobile engine and will be belt-driven.

Working together in planning events for the 50th Anniversary celebration are the Greater Tampa Chamber of Commerce and the Greater St. Petersburg Chamber of Commerce.

Coopering with the two chambers is the Air Transport Association, which authenticated Tampa-St. Petersburg's first airline claim.

The event received nationwide attention when the late Pres. John F. Kennedy saluted the Anniversary in a public address at Tampa's Al Lopez Field, on Nov. 18.

Mathews Hurls DeBate Offers

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — In identical letters to announced gubernatorial candidates, Sen. John Mathews Jr., Sunday challenged them to debate campaign issues in joint appearances throughout the state.

Mathews sent letters to Hayden Burns, Jacksonville; Fred Karl, Daytona Beach and Robert King High, Miami. He also sent copies of the challenge to Sen. Scott Kelly of Lakeland and Fred O. Dickinson of West Palm Beach, inviting them to participate if they should decide to run.

THE 1914 BENOIST air boat which flew the first scheduled flights in Florida between St. Petersburg and Tampa. A replica of this plane will fly the route Saturday in commemoration of the historic aviation event 50 years ago.

First Federal Assets Up More Than $1 Million

The year-end statement of First Federal Savings and Loan Assn. shows assets totaling $17,268,744. This represents a gain of over one million dollars since Dec. 31, 1962, and is indicative of the economic trend in Seminole County and this vicinity, it is felt.

Reserves now are just under $2 million reflecting a better-than-average relation to savings, according to President E. C. Harper Sr. This has been a major factor in the planning of the association, he said, and it is gratifying to the directors to see an addition of 13 per cent in the 12-month period just closed. The 5,520 savings accounts on First Federal's books earned dividends of $203,322 during 1963, the official said, and is a step up of eight per cent over the figure for the preceding year.

First Baby Is Jackie Kennedy

PUNTA GORDA, (UPI) — The first baby born in Charlotte County in 1964 has been named Jackie Kennedy in honor of the widow of President John F. Kennedy, the infant's parents said Thursday.

Mechanic Welby Kennedy, 29, said he had planned to name the baby, born at 1:07 a. m. EST New Year's Day, John if it had been a boy.

Tearful 'Auf Wiedersehens' Said At Wall

BERLIN (UPI)—East was East and West was West in Berlin again today and the tearful sound of "auf wiedersehen" echoed along the wall. The Christmas pass agreement ended at midnight, and shortly before 3 a.m. Communist guards cleared the last stragglers returning to West Berlin and revealed the barrier which divides the city.

Officials estimated that a record 300,000 West Berliners swarmed through the wall openings Sunday for last-day family reunions, raising to 1.3 million the number of visits made to East Berlin during the 17 days covered by the agreement. Nearly half a million made it on the final weekend.

The holiday crossings to see relatives and friends were the first permitted by the Communists since they erected the anti-refugee wall in August, 1961. Whether they will allow any more in the future appeared to hinge on what political conditions they demand.

Thousands of West Berliners clung to the pass privilege as long as possible, and were caught at deadline lined up on foot and in cars on the Eastern side of the gates, waiting for clearance.

Many had tears streaming down their faces. Even some husky men were crying.

Forest City Group To Meet

The Forest City Civic Association will meet at 7 p.m. today at the Riksha Inn in Fern Park. Guest speaker will be John Krider, Seminole County Chamber of Commerce manager, who will speak on "Benefits of Civic Associations."

Members of the Board of County Commissioners have been invited as special guests of the meeting.

Lee Site At Center Of Triangle Section

By Fred Van Wert (Second of two articles)

When the State of Florida announced 'way back' last summer it was ready to build a new four-year university in East Central Florida, Charles Lee, down Oviedo-way, immediately telephoned Gen. J. C. Hutchinson and informed the County Commission chairman he was willing to give 1,000 acres of land for free as a school site.

Lee said he holds 2,000 acres, roughly divided by SR 13, and the State could have either the east 1,000 acres or the west 1,000 acres at no charge.

In the process of shaping up his brochures on five original sites offered by Seminole County, County Commission was approached by other land owners with offerings.

Whichever ground is accepted in this area, if at all, it will be north of Chuluota, east of Oviedo and south of the Econlockhatchee River.

Seminole County has agreed to purchase any extra land needed to "square" the university site, if selected there, General Hutchinson also informed the Board of Control members here Dec. 23 that the county will "do all possible" to round out a suitable site. He added that if none of the proffered sites is suitable, the county will purchase any 2,000 acres within the Econ area. The county also agreed to purchase a 50-acre lakefront tract for recreational purposes for the university.

The General also outlined plans for road improvements in the area.

Jack Sutton, Board research analyst, informed the Board members here Dec. 23 that the Econ site is in the center of the Daytona-Orlando-Melbourne triangle both population-wise and geographically.

Dr. J. Howard Culpepper, Board executive director, extolled the beauties of the area, its rolling hills, lakes and the river. He cited the entire area has natural drainage into the Econ, as opposed to the necessity of installing an expensive drainage system if the Board selects the Bluestone site south of Orlando. Only Bluestone, Econ and Lake Ada, adjacent to the south city limits of Sanford, remain under consideration by the state board, out of 23 original offerings.

Dr. Culpepper pointed to only one disadvantage, and said this is minor: The Econ river, when hit by flash rains, some times runs over its banks for 150 or so feet west of SR 13. He indicated he favored the property east of SR 13.

The state already has earmarked $200,000 for preliminary studies after a site has been selected. The Board of Control will ask the 1965 Legislature for construction funds, hoping to have the school ready for its first students in 1968.

The Board of Control is meeting Friday morning at Tallahassee and has promised to announce its decision as to a site selection. (The writer will be present to report the decision in Friday's Herald.)

Unlike Orange County, Seminole is ready to proceed if the Econ or Lake Ada site is selected. The 1963 Legislature gave Seminole County permission to hold a referendum last November. The entire electorate approved a special election for freeholders.

Should the Econ or Lake Ada site be chosen, and soil boring tests prove satisfactory, County Commissioners will call for a special election to approve an ad valorem tax to raise funds for the purchase of necessary lands. This special election will be only for freeholders—50 per cent of the registered freeholders must vote, and 50 per cent of those voting plus one must approve the taxation.

Seminole and Orange County residents should know Friday afternoon whether it is to be ... Lake Ada ... Econ ... or Bluestone.

We're still getting calls about trucks on First Street even though signs indicate they are prohibited. One caller—a local store manager—said he was in favor of both. He said that it was impossible for some trucks to unload merchandise at his store without using First Street or having to back almost the length of a narrow alleyway.

On the other hand, he said he favored leaving the signs posted to keep trucks off of First Street unless it is necessary for them to use the street.

This makes more sense to me than anything we've heard yet. How does it strike you?

Another subscriber called to say he had a suggestion. Admitting that he was 81 years young and couldn't get around like he once did, he said he was in favor of putting in an elevator at the Courthouse so the elderly could get to various offices people are required to visit from time to time. He also said he did not want anybody changing the county home setup. He said the home's site on U. S. 17-92 was one of the most beautiful spots left on the highway and any ideas anyone has of moving the home should be put aside right now.

These people who insist on driving with bright lights and drive up right behind you had better be sure no law officers are in the neighborhood. According to a new law which went into effect Jan. 1, you must dim your lights before you get any closer than 300 feet to the auto you are approaching in the same direction. Also, you must dim your lights no less than 500 feet from any auto you are meeting.

And, talking about new laws, there's another one, too. No more than three passengers in the front seat.

Did you notice a map printed in a newspaper published just south of Sanford which indicated that if the State Board of Control selected the Bluestone site in Orange County that it would require only 33 minutes driving time between Bluestone and Lakeland?

Could be so, if you use a jet. You see, it's about 51 miles from Lakeland to Bluestone. Don't believe you could drive it in a conventional auto in 33 minutes.

Also, why would students want to commute from Lakeland. They're only 32 miles from the University of South Florida.

This makes about as much sense as another part of the map which indicated that Orlando's population was 314,000 plus while Sanford's citizenry totaled 147,000 plus. In the first place, Orlando doesn't have 314,000 people. In the second place there's not 147,000 people in Sanford if you counted every man, woman and child six times.

Truth of the matter is that Independent Research Associates, the firm the paper says made the survey, got Seminole confused with Volusia. As we understand it, the figure, 147,000, is the population of the entire county of Volusia—not Sanford.

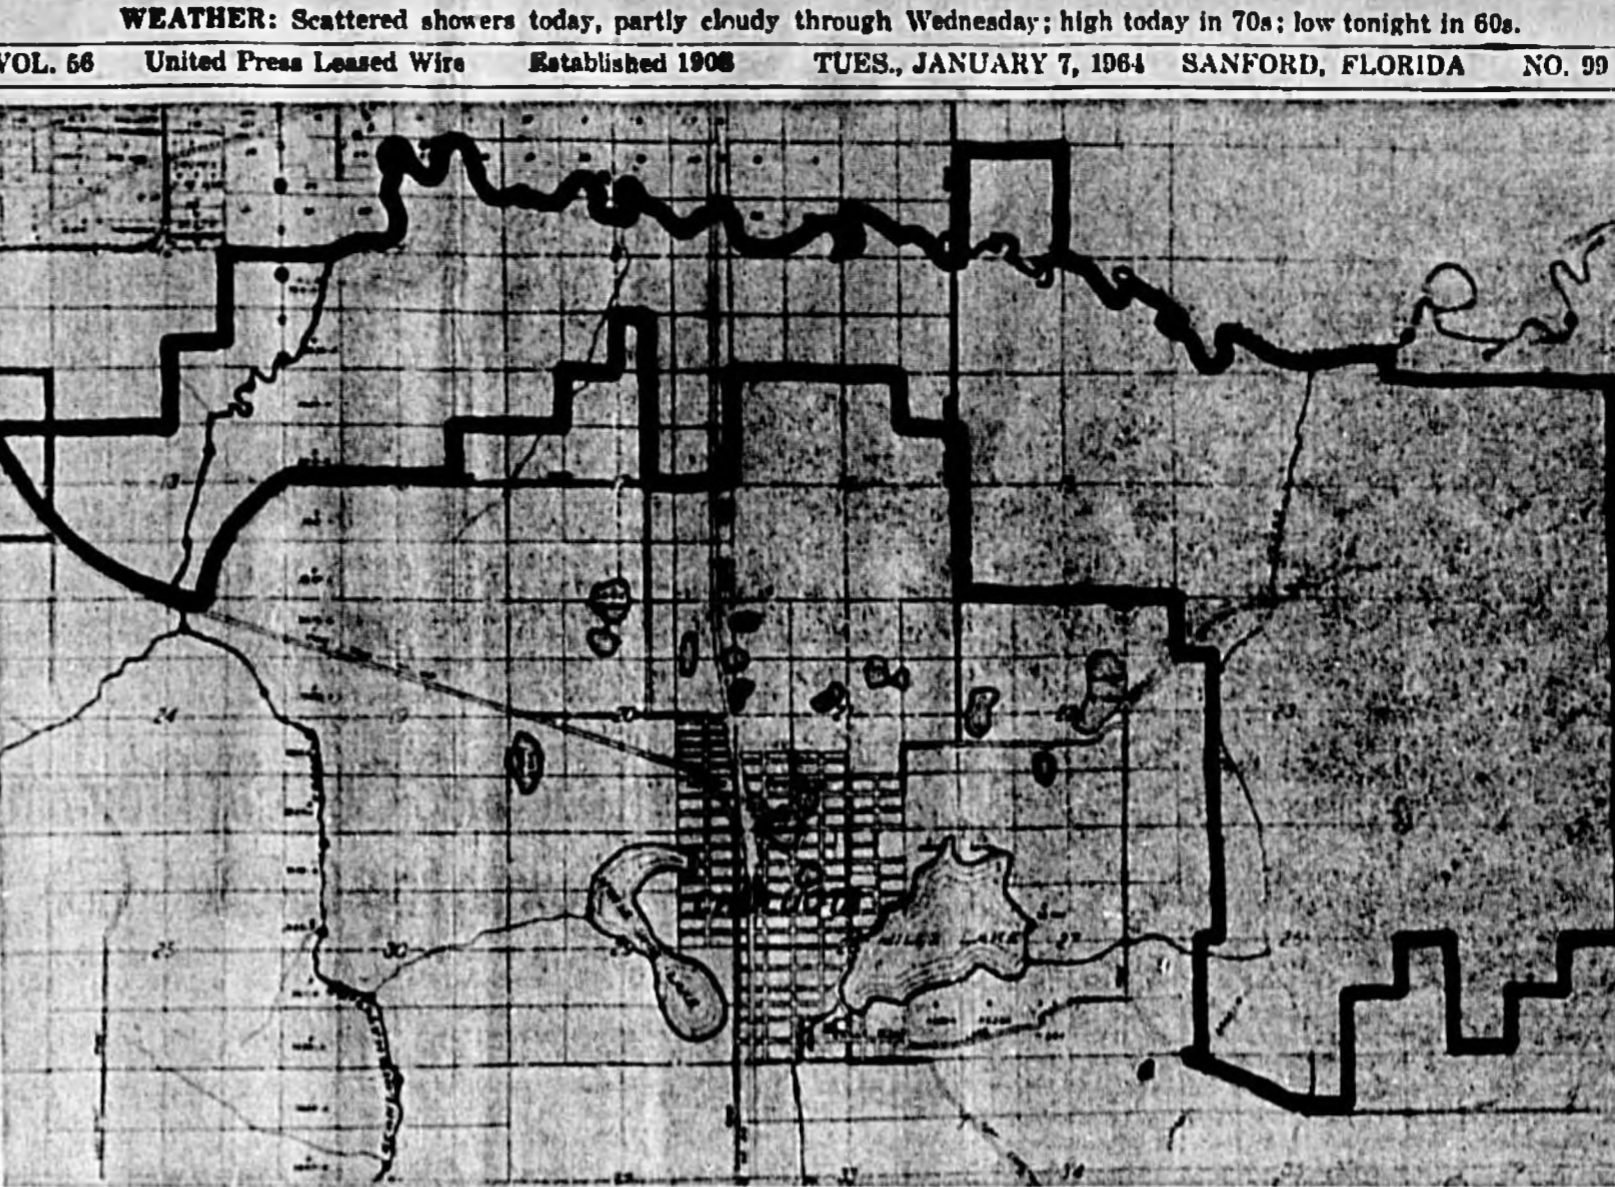

Oh, well. Some research firms have those kind of days. And some newspapers, too. We know, don't we, staff?

Did you know that the size of the average farm in Seminole County is 310 acres? We didn't until we read County Agricultural Agent Cecil Tucker's latest information sheet. We'll bet you didn't know it either.

Moving the Sanford Public Library to the old Post Office Building seems to be no particular chore. But the Clock hears that keeping 18,000 volumes in order is!

Today's chuckle (from the Lions Pause)—Anytime you think you'd like to be young again, just think of algebra.

Anybody putting in a bid for the lot just west of the Old Post Office at Palmetto Avenue and E. First Street?

ECONLOCKHATCHEE River site proposed for the new state East Central Florida university is mapped. Actually, the outline encompasses more than will be given—the state has been given a choice. Originally referred to as the "Lee Ranch site," Board of Control prefers to call it the "Econ site."

Confusion Muddles University Picture

An utter state of confusion reigned today among news wire services, (other) newspapers and two space experts as the time neared for the State Board of Control to choose between three sites for a four-year, degree-granting university for high school graduates in East Central Florida.

Although The Sanford Herald repeatedly has pointed out the differences between the four schools slated for this area, two space experts were to meet with Gov. Farris Bryant this afternoon to protest the "placing of the space university" in Orange or Seminole County.

Factually, there are four schools slated for East Central Florida:

1. A four-year, degree-granting university for high school graduates, the site to be selected Friday by the State Board of Control at Tallahassee between the Bluestone site, 12 miles south of Orlando, the Lake Ada site, immediately south of Sanford, and the Econlockhatchee River site, north of Chuluota and east of Oviedo.
2. A space university for graduate engineers, scientists and educators, probably to be located a dozen or more years from now near Cocoa.
3. An extension of the University of Florida school of engineering.
4. A central facility for GENESYS, abbreviation for a television school for graduate engineers, scientists and educators.

Maj. Gen. Leighton I. Davis, commander of the Air Force Missile Test Center for the last 2½ years and newly named commander of a new Air Force national missile range division, and Dr. Kurt DeBus, director of the John F. Kennedy Space Center, were to meet this afternoon with Governor Bryant "to protest placing the space university in Seminole or Orange County."

The Sanford Herald continually has endeavored to differentiate between these four proposed schools. Seminole County leaders are interested only in the undergraduate university ... and it is this school which will be located by the Board of Control Friday.

Douglas Stenstrom, chairman of the long range committee on education of the Seminole Chamber of Commerce, in an effort to clarify the picture among the different proposed schools, today issued this statement:

"My friend, General Leighton I. Davis, is quite correct. If the Florida Legislature had authorized the establishment of a space science university to serve engineers and scientists, it should be located in Brevard County where the great majority of the scientists and engineers are situated.

"This, however, is not what the Legislature did, and it is not what the McDonald Committee recommended.

"The McDonald Committee was retained by the State of Florida to make a thorough analysis of Florida's higher education needs at a cost of thousands of dollars to the state. The committee reported in March of 1963, prior to the legislative session. It recommended that a four-year, degree-granting university be established in the "Orlando-Daytona Beach-Cape area to serve high school graduates entering college."

"Up to this time Seminole County had made no bid for the new institution because we did not have either scientists or the engineers.

"When, however, we learned of the recommendation of the McDonald Committee the Chamber of Commerce proposed that we bid for the new state university.

"The rest is history. The Legislature approved an appropriation of $20,000 for planning the new university to be established somewhere in a nine-county area.

"Twenty-three sites were offered, including five in Seminole County. Now, three sites remain and the Board of Control is to select one of the sites on which the university is to be established. The institution is to admit graduates of high schools in the East Central Florida area and from other sections of the state—not scientists and engineers.

"This does not mean, however, that the Legislature does not recognize the need for the facility to serve our scientists and engineers. Indeed, the Legislature placed $13 million in the $75 million bond issue program which was passed by the voters of Florida in November to provide such facilities.

"Ultimately this university, the location of which is to be selected Friday, will have a great graduate engineering facility and it will be the space sciences institute of the free world.

"But this takes time. Meanwhile, through an extension of the engineering college of the University of Florida, graduate courses will be offered to scientists until our new university is accredited. Also, the FICUS and the GENYSSES programs are being designed to assist the scientists and engineers."

Proposed Single UF Campaigns Protested

Loring Burgess, president of the United Fund of Seminole County, declared today that he was strongly in opposition to a proposal by government officials that single campaigns be conducted in eight United Fund and Community Chest areas.

The proposal was made recently by John W. Macy, Jr., chairman of the U. S. Civil Service Commission.

Burgess, vice president of the Florida State Bank of Sanford, said he vigorously protests this plan since it arbitrarily takes from the local community the right of self-determination as to which agencies may solicit and what campaign plan will be used.

"In addition," said Burgess, "budgeting is eliminated and designation by each contributor is the criteria to be used."

Under the plan, said Burgess, federal installations in the test areas would conduct their own drive with government personnel. This is why, he explained, it has been proposed that single campaigns be conducted in eight United Fund and Community Chest areas.

This would make it almost impossible for community planning of allocations arrived at by examining budgets, Burgess continued. He went on to point out that "there would be discrimination against the agencies normally participating in United Funds as the single demonstration plan would include agencies unwilling to have their budgets reviewed through a community-based committee process and also unwilling to give up their regular community-wide campaigns."

The local United Fund head also pointed out that Macy's proposal would take control of the United Fund campaign out of the hands of the present organization as it would become just another participating agency. "In addition," he said, "it is misleading as it is not really a single campaign since the national health and international agencies are free to solicit federal employees at their homes and on the streets."

Burgess made it plain that the proposed plan does nothing for the community. "In fact," he said, "it removes the influence of this important group of workers from the community's effort to save campaign expenses, allocate funds intelligently and promote sound community planning."

Concurring with Burgess today was George Touhy of Sanford, a Seminole County United Fund director and executive vice president of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association as well as Howard Hodges, president of the Sanford Atlantic National Bank.

Gary Sworn To 8th Term As Oviedo Mayor

M. L. Gary of Oviedo received the official oath of office to begin his eighth term as mayor at Monday night's meeting of the Oviedo City Council. Also receiving the oath of office from City Clerk Dorothy Courier were T. L. Lingo Jr., who returns to the board and Robert L. Ward, who enters his first term as a councilman.

Gary, with approval of council, appointed Mrs. Courier as city clerk and George A. Kelsey as chief of police. Mrs. Courier is entering her fourth term in the office and Kelsey, his ninth.

Ben F. Ward Jr., outgoing councilman, presided for the last time as board president during a brief business session held prior to installation of the new members.

The mayor, on behalf of the board, expressed appreciation to Ward for his work on the council with Ward replying that he had received much pleasure in working with the group and that he was pleased with cooperation during his presidency.

In other business it was announced that work on the clerk's office is completed and that new furniture is scheduled for delivery within the week; a discussion was held on continuation of Academy to Franklin Street. Bills were paid to close out the year.

Swofford May Run For County Board

Mayor Lawrence Swofford of Altamonte Springs today said that he is confident that he will be a candidate for the Board of County Commissioners.

Swofford said that he had been visiting various areas of the county to obtain reactions of the people in regard to his running for a seat on the commission and that the response was favorable.

Although he admitted that in all probability he would seek office he was not ready at this time to issue a formal announcement.

Swofford would be running for commissioner from District No. 3, the office now held by Commissioner James P. Avery of Lake Mary and Caselberry.
