SOLONS FACING CALENDAR OF 22 VETOED BILLS

Measures Left Over From Regular Session Which Governor Martin Failed to Approve, To Be Reconsidered

Many Favor Voting On Proposals Again

Governor Issues Statement In Which He Gives Reasons For Failing to Sign Bills

TALLAHASSEE, Nov. 16.—(AP)—When the extraordinary session of the Florida legislature convenes here tomorrow, the lawmakers will find 22 bills already on the calendar. They are those which Governor Martin did not see fit to approve, and to which he placed his executive veto.

According to a published report of some time ago, a majority of the legislators were polled on the subject of passage of the vetoed measure, and a majority, it was claimed, favor their re-introduction.

Although a number of the vetoed measures were local bills, covered in general laws adopted after their introduction, nevertheless, some of them were of statewide importance. Principally among the latter classification was that appropriating funds for the aid of public free schools in the various counties of the state, and providing for the establishment of loans from the general revenue fund for that purpose.

The governor, in vetoing the school bill, declared that no method was made available for raising the money, and that there were no funds in the state treasury to carry out its purpose.

"The most serious obstacle to my approval of the bill," Governor Martin declared in his veto message, "is the fact that the distribution of the funds thereby appropriated is to each county applying therefor, without reference to the average attendance upon schools in the several counties. The Supreme Court, though finally deciding the matter, strongly recommended, to distribute the general revenue fund, or any part thereof, for the support and maintenance of public free schools."

The school bill passed both branches of the lawmaking body. The House pushed it through with enthusiasm, but the Senate held it up until a deadlock resulted on the general appropriation bill.

Other bills vetoed by the chief executive included those giving officers of the law certain privileges in efforts to confiscate liquors; allowing Eustis all submerged lands within the town's corporate limits; conveying to the city of Miami the same character of lands in Biscayne bay, one abolishing nando, and establishment of a municipality known as the "City of the municipal government of Hernando," and a measure which to place a tax on all dogs of a county.

The "dog tax" bill provoked a statement from Governor Martin to the effect that the farm family needs the protection of a good dog about the house. This particular measure, according to those familiar with the governor's feelings in the matter seemed to rouse the indignation and ire of the

Naval Board Opens Its Probe Tuesday

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Investigation into the charge that Capt. Paul Foley as judge advocate sought to influence the testimony of Mrs. Margaret Lansdowne before the Shenandoah naval court of inquiry was deferred today by that court until tomorrow.

The postponement was on the motion of Major Henry Leonard appointed last Saturday by Secretary Wilbur to succeed Capt. Foley as judge advocate. Major Leonard said he had not had time to complete execution of the record of the court made during his hearings at Lakehurst and was heard. Capt. Foley will take the stand to give his version of his communication with the widow of Commander Lansdowne, of the wrecked Shenandoah.

Girls Made Way From Gotham to Washington on $20; Hiking From There to Richmond

NORFOLK, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Isabella Bent, 15, second cousin of President Harding and Sarah Cohen, 17, who had been missing from their homes in New York City since Friday afternoon were found here early today by a Travelers' Aid Society worker.

Tired and repentant, they were under care of the society today, awaiting word from their parents, who have been notified of their safety. The two girls were located in an apartment house by Mrs. Harriett Stokes, Travelers' Aid Society worker, who lived there.

They said that when they left New York Friday afternoon they had $20 between themselves and made their way to Washington. There within the shadow of the White House, where the distinguished cousin of Miss Bent ruled, the girls said they found their movements unnoticed but were afraid to ask for help. They declare they hiked to Richmond, from where they accepted an automobile ride to Norfolk.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Police this morning began their third day of the search for Isabella Bent, 15, who is a second cousin of the late President Harding and whose mother and step-father she has been kidnapped.

The girl telephoned her mother Friday evening that she would not be home for dinner. She had a key to the apartment and her mother and step-father were not worried when she failed to return at bed time. Saturday morning, on finding her bed had not been slept in, Mrs. Bent notified police who made a second search for two days.

Until last June the girl was a student at a Carmel, N. Y., school and since then has been studying ball-room dancing. Mrs. Bent said her daughter had no stage ambition and no love affairs.

Negro Girl Demanded Rhinelander Marry Her, Messages Show

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 16.—(AP)—The fervor of the letters which Alice Beatrice Jones, daughter of a negro hack driver, first sent to Leonard Kip Rhinelander, during their courtship, gradually changed to an insistent demand that he would loose her unless he married her.

Today's series of letters, introduced at the resumption of the trial of young Rhinelander's annulment suit, are filled with demands of marriage and at the same time promise the greatest secrecy until the wealthy young scion of an aristocratic family should have attained his majority.

On Nov. 3, 1922, Alice wrote: "If you can't come home I will have to go away with some one else."

It was at this time that Leonard was attending school. Two months later, Alice was even more outspoken. "You are going to be mine, now or never," she wrote. "I have thrown down two chances for you. I will keep things a dead, dead secret. After you are mine I would keep quiet until you are your own boss."

and the singing of "Nearer My God to Thee" by the choir. One of the few women present at the services, which were to be stormy in view of a month-long clash of factions favoring the retention of Edwards as pastor, attempted to quell the tumult by hastening to the pulpit and, with her hand on the Bible appealing for peace. Her voice was lost in a sea of shouting, hoots, and cat calls. Quiet came eventually, when about 100 members walked out of the church in a "peaceful demonstration."

Later Osdek announced he and other members of his faith would go to San Bernardino today "to seek a criminal complaint" against the pastor and three members charging them with disturbing a religious meeting. He alleged that Edwards and his supporters by "invading" the church after the pastor had been "deposed" were to blame for the resultant uproar.

RAIL EXECUTIVES ENTHUSED ABOUT CITY'S PROGRESS

Over One Hundred Members of American Railroad Association Visit City Early This Morning on Tour of State

A delegation of over 100 railroad executives, representatives of the American Railroad Association, with their wives and families visited Sanford today. They recently attended a convention in Miami and are now making an extensive tour of the entire state.

Upon their arrival, they were met by buses and cars which were placed at their disposal by the Chamber of Commerce and business men of Sanford. They were shown about the city and were driven out Celery Avenue to view Sanford's celery fields. There were many enthusiastic comments from the visitors about the "City Substantial" and its opportunities.

J. F. Sheehy, vice-president of the American Railroad Association and president of the Chicago Short Line Railroad, expressed himself as very much impressed with the growth and development of Sanford in the past few years.

He declared he visited here about five years ago. He said that Sanford is all the more outstanding today amidst all the boom because, he said, it is really a "City Substantial."

William L. Sykes of Buffalo, N. Y., president of the Grasse River Railroad, was much enthused over the city. He said that Sanford was the type of town that most appealed to a business man from the north. He declared he had heard of Sanford as being a city every center, but had never realized until he visited here today, how beautiful the city was and what opportunities there were here to develop a large tourist center.

The visitors left at 10:30 o'clock in buses for Ocala. They will return here later, it is announced.

GREEN AGAINST FURTHER CUT INFEDERAL TAX

Committee Chairman Thinks Revenue For Next Year Limited To a Sound Policy

Says Nation Can't Stand Further Cut

Solon Opposes Using Foreign Debt Proceeds for Expenses

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Chairman Green of the House Ways and Means Committee believes the Federal revenue for next year has been limited to sound policy in the reduction already voted by the committee in the new revenue bill and indicates he will oppose any attempt in the house to increase the tax cut.

In a statement issued as the committee prepared to complete the drafting of the bill, Chairman Green announced that the door was closed there to any further pleas for tax relief. The treasury, he said, could not stand any reduction beyond the $304,000,000 estimated under the revisions already approved.

This is taken to mean that the committee intends to stand on the rate schedules as now adopted, and further more that vigorous opposition will be interposed to any attempt in the house, as threatened, to go beyond the committee's proposal for reductions in the automobile tax.

Should Not Cut Too Closely
Referring to proposals for total reductions ranging from $350,000,000 to $500,000,000 as compared with the $300,000,000 limit recommended by the treasury, Mr. Green said he was opposed to the use of foreign debt proceeds for ordinary expenses instead of reduction of the national debt, as contemplated in some of these proposals. He further called attention to the need of a federal building program and the additional funds and on government revenue this was impossible.

Mr. Green especially emphasized the opposition that government revenue should not be cut too closely because of the large dependence on business conditions. The fact that since 1921 the actual reduction in revenue has been proportionately less than the reduction in tax rates, he ascribed largely to changing business conditions.

While he believed adequate surplus could be definitely counted on in the present fiscal year, with only half of it affected by the major proposed tax cuts under the new bill, and also in 1927, when some of the reductions still would not be in full force, no one, he thought, could "safely prophesy" now what business conditions will be in 1928.

TWO DEBT BODIES MEET SATURDAY TO SIGN ARTICLES

Settlement Upon Of 2 Billion Agreed Upon After Parley Lasting Ten Days; Interest Charges Begin In 6th Year

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—(P)—The American and Italian debt committees tomorrow will sign an agreement for the funding of Italy's war debt to the United States calculated for the settlement at $2,043,000,000.

Terms of the running arrangement after 110 days of negotiations were accepted by the Italians as a "very generous" treatment of the program. They provide for the usual 62 year period. After formal announcement of the terms late yesterday, the American committee said it feels they "lay as heavy a burden on the Italian people as they are justified in doing and as representing Italy's capacity to pay."

On Gradually Inclining Basis
Both the interest charges, which do not begin until the sixth year, and the annual payments on principal are fixed on a gradually inclining scale.

Beginning at one eighth of one per cent for the first 10 years of the interest period the interest rate during successive 10 year periods is raised to a maximum of two per cent during the last seven years. With the settlement approved by congress, to date from June 13, last, for the first five years, the annual payments would be approximately $5,000,000, scaling from $14,000,000 to $18,000,000 during the sixth to the fifteenth years, inclusive, and thence including to a maximum of $73,000,000 to $80,000,000 during the last seven years.

Besides a reduction of back interest charge in fixing the amount to be paid off, the American committee feels that it has made even greater in the future charge and the division of annual payments.

Delay Agreement Is Reached
In addition it not only agreed to allow a delay of two years in making a payment whenever Italy's field condition warranted but gave permission to pay off the postponed annuities in the third and fourth years, after due with an interest of four and one half quarter per cent applying on delayed payments.

In the British and other settlements, except the Belgian which was postponed, payments must be liquidated in the third year. This concession to Italy was made when its delegates withdrew their demand for a safeguard clause against unexpected exchange fluctuations.

The American Commission pointed to Italy's relative poverty in natural resources and indicated consideration had been given that nation's future.

PROCRASTINATION has lost many a man his life's best opportunity!

The man who puts-off purchasing Florida real estate is the man who never tells you about the great profits he has made. The man who makes big fortune in his investments never delays too long when good propositions are put up to him. So it will be with Marvania. That shrewd buyer who can see the Marvania of twelve months from now, is the one who buys. The one who is afraid that he might make a mistake, and who does not invest now, will not participate in the profits certain to come to owners of property in this well-located subdivision.

MARVANIA

Has many great advantages. It is wonderfully located. It borders on beautiful Lake Monroe. It is being developed and beautiful to be in keeping with Mayfair. The lots are selling faster than we expected they would, and those who wish to be property owners should delay no longer in making the selection of those lots they desire.

SALIENT FACTS ABOUT SPECIAL SESSION GIVEN

Legislature to Convene Tuesday Facing Full Program; Milam, Taylor to Preside

TALLAHASSEE, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Following are the salient facts regarding the special session of the Florida legislature, which begins here tomorrow: The lawmakers will assemble at 10 a. m. Representative Milam, of Jacksonville, will act as speaker of the House. Senator John S. Taylor, of Largo, will preside over the Senate. Governor Martin is expected to read his message before a joint session of both houses held shortly after the special session begins.

The governor has announced that his message will be brief. The extraordinary session, under the law, cannot go over 20 days. The probable extent of the session is conjectural. Some of the lawmakers believe that it will end by Thanksgiving, while others are confident it will go the "full route." The special session was called by Governor Martin for the purpose of amending the constitution of Florida, the enactment of legislation appropriating money from the main fund for the Monroe district. The governor, in his proclamation, added that other laws to cope with the advancement of the state, and permitted under the constitution, would be in order. The character of the legislation to be taken up could not be learned in advance, except through "whisperings" in certain channels of state government. A new state penitentiary at Raiford, a building to house the overflow departments now trying to obtain space in the crowded capitol; legislation against alleged extortion to rentals and hotel and restaurant rates; uniformity of the many local game laws are some of the proposed laws mentioned. Sixty six counties will have representation at the special session, whereas only sixty three sent lawmakers to the last regular meeting. Three new counties, Gulf, Indian River and Martin, will be represented. H. H. McQuinn, of Maitlet, will represent Gulf; A. W. Young, Vero Beach, Indian River and John E. Taylor, Stuart, Martin. There will be no change in the personnel of the Senate.

Education Week Will Be Observed All Over Country

TON, Nov. 14.—(AP)—National Educational Week, backed by the United States Government, the American Legion, and the National Education Association will begin throughout the country tomorrow with the first exercises designed to increase the public's knowledge of the American Constitution. Proclaimed by President Coolidge as a "special season of mutual encouragement in promoting the enlightenment upon which the welfare of the Nation depends" the week will be opened with additional plans for educational support by many state governors. Tomorrow's observation will be marked by the reading, at public gatherings, and in schools, of essays or the Constitution, and by the presentation in the schools, and before civic organizations, of tableaux of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, the Birth of the Flag and other settings, of similar nature. Wednesday will be given over to a special effort to have parents and business men visit the schools to learn more of actual teaching conditions. This portion of the program is considered by the Bureau of Education as one of the most important phases of the work. Commissioner Tigert holding that an intimate knowledge of the schools by school patrons will make for more rapid development.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth. Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga. (adv.)

MORE SCHOOLS WILL BE CREATED SOON IN RUSSIA FOR VAGRANT CHILDREN

MOSCOW, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Vagrant children in Russia numbered more than 300,000, the commissioner of education has found. He characterized it as a situation menacing the welfare of the country and accordingly has organized a new system of factory schools for homeless children. The big centers, like Moscow, Leningrad, Kharkov and others are overrun by homeless waifs who sleep on the sidewalks, half naked and half starved. The "Central Lenin Fund" for vagrant children, to which the government contributed several million roubles and to which another few millions have been added by voluntary contributions, has been found insufficient. The factory school intends to teach the waifs various trades in addition to their general education.

Commerce Leaders Coming to Florida

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Commissioner McManamy and director Bartell of the Interstate Commerce Commission's railroad representatives have gone to Florida to assist railroads there in alleviating congestion in department particularly on the east coast. The commission has held agents in the Florida areas for several months in the effort to relieve the situation, though no federal orders have been issued. Commissioner McManamy and his assistant expect to remain in the state several days, visiting various points and if any action by the commission is considered necessary it will be taken as a result of the findings which may be made.

May And Sweetheart Die in Death Pact

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Joseph Palmeri, 23, of North Bergen, early today shot to death, his 21 year old sweetheart, Miss Minnie Schlaster in the bed room of her home at Union City. Palmeri then shot himself fatally. Margaret Schelister, a sister, found the bodies when she returned from a movie show. She fainted. Police believed that a sudden mental disorder prompted him to commit the crime. On the table was found this note: "She asked me to kill her. We love each other, and forgive us."

THE NON-INVESTOR

I know a certain party Who fares, when summer's done, To that bright land where golden sand

Lies, warm beneath the sun. There, till the call of springtime Abides by sapphire seas, He looks away across the bay To rows of gleaming keys.

It is not wealth that lures him; He's journeyed year on year. When on the road past his abode The leaves fell grown and sere, To that sun-lighted Eden And lived there until spring, And never got a house or lot Or farm or anything.

Though others that I know of Have piled up riches there (Where sands are sold almost like gold) And now are free from care, Though thousands flock there yearly

On mighty fortunes bent, This party that I speak of Is still without a cent.

He'll reappear in April, And in my apple tree He'll perch and sway at close of day

And sing a song to me. And when the nest he's built there, By the gentle breeze tossed, Swings to and fro he'll never know The fortune he has lost!

Street and Highway Safety Week

The week beginning November 22 is "Street and Highway Safety Week." It may seem at first thought that this is just another of those weeks for which this country has become famous during the past few years. It has almost come to the point where every subject in the encyclopedia has a week for consideration. But there is something about "Street and Highway Safety Week" which gives it a preeminent position of importance.

Governor McLeod of South Carolina, in issuing his proclamation calling for an observance of "Street and Highway Safety Week," calls attention to the fact that during the World War forty-eight thousand soldiers lost their lives, while during the same period of time ninety-one thousand persons were killed on the streets of this country by automobiles.

The situation is particularly acute in our own state. The continuously increasing population, augmented considerably by winter visitors, and its comparatively opulent condition which enables almost everyone to own a car, has brought about a situation of congested traffic in all Florida cities and most country highways which is most serious.

Accidents on the whole are due to carelessness or negligence on the part of one of the drivers of two or more automobiles. As Governor McLeod says, when two automobiles pass, it takes both drivers to avoid an accident, while either may cause one. That is the unfortunate part about automobile accidents. A motorist may be exercising the greatest care and may be killed through the carelessness of someone else.

It is a situation which requires serious forethought. After the cars have crashed, it is too late to prevent an accident. It is easy enough to drive on the right side of the street, but it doesn't do much good to stop this fact after you have run over someone.

As Governor McLeod says, "It cannot be imagined that any sane person would deliberately start out to injure any one, but whether through intent or heedlessness, or any other cause, the driver of any machine who violates the traffic laws or the rules of the road, he or she thereby becomes a potential murderer—this specially in view of the fact that whenever two cars pass it requires two drivers to avoid an accident, but only one to cause it."

It Isn't All Luck

Not long ago the president of a leading bank in one of our metropolitan cities was writing for a popular magazine and referred in an unusual vein to his success. Contrary to the usual "financial wizard" who tells how to make a million, he did not ascribe his rise to the top to brains, insight, foresight, or extraordinary industry, but rather to good luck.

He said he had started out as a porter in the bank and had spent a lot of his time sweeping out. One day one of the tellers was taken sick and he was shoved in as a substitute to take his place. Some time later the assistant cashier was arrested for absconding with certain funds, and the teller was promoted to take his place.

He held this job for several years, but finally the cashier developed pains in the back and kidney trouble forced his retirement from active work. The assistant cashier was moved up. Later the president, who was an elderly man, died, and the cashier was again promoted.

So it was merely luck which carried the porter into the president's chair. If the teller hadn't become sick, if the assistant cashier had been honest, if the cashier hadn't been troubled with kidney pains, if the president hadn't died, the porter might still be sweeping out. So it was entirely luck.

But was it? Isn't the president rather given to too much modesty? If the porter hadn't shown the possibilities of a good clerk, he would never have become a teller, even when the teller did become sick, if as cashier, he had not shown himself possessed of those qualities which make for a great banker, the directors would never have chosen him to fill the presidential vacancy.

So it is not all luck. Breaks may mean a lot in this game of life, but they are not everything. A man has to be ready to take advantage of the breaks when they come to him, and if he is not ready, he might just as well not get any breaks at all.

MY FAVORITE STORIES

By IRVIN S. COBB

Almost Startling Really In the days when Frank A. Munsey was in active editorial charge of his various weekly and monthly publications he had a serious-minded office boy who took things literally—and with due deliberation.

One day Congressman Thomas B. Reed then Speaker of the House, came from Washington to New York and dropped into the office of Munsey's Magazine to see its proprietor. Between the famous publisher and the famous statesman a close bond of friendship existed—they were both sons of Maine for one thing, and they had been intimate associates for years.

The bulky Reed stepped into the ante-room and without giving his name said he wished to see Mr. Munsey. The office boy told him Mr. Munsey was in conference and invited the caller to have a seat. More than half an hour passed before the caller was admitted to the inner room. Then he told Mr. Munsey how he had been kept waiting.

Indignantly the latter issued forth and descended upon the youthful keeper of the outer gates. "Do you know what that gentleman is that you've kept dawdling about here?" he demanded. "That is the Hon. Thomas B. Reed of Maine!"

"I'm sorry, Mr. Munsey," said the youth. "I thought all the time it was Dr. John Hall."

"But don't you know that Dr. Hall is dead?" said Mr. Munsey. "Yes, sir," said Truthful James. "That made it seem rather strange to me that he should be calling."

APPLE SAUCE

TAMPA TIMES

We are rising, along with the Fort Myers Press, to voice a word of protest against the effrontery of an age that speaks in a light and flippant manner by examination of his feet. Just think how ignorant we would have been if the old boy had lost both legs in battle.

Mrs. John D. Sherman, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, has ruled that reference to President Coolidge as "Cal" is not rude but suggests a hurry to get acquainted. Well, if we can get by on that excuse, we'll begin using it at once.

chance looker-in could have seen a couple that were enjoying life for sure. Now we are reminded that one of our boyhood ambitions was to be able to put a pipe down in the ashes and light it from a live coal picked up in its bowl—like Grandma did. We have never been able to accomplish that; somehow our fingers always managed to get burned so badly that we had to give up in pain. Nor was the pain of the fire on flesh on what more great that was that of failure to "turn the trick" of getting a light that way. These days we are told that ladies don't smoke. But some ladies do smoke these days. So did some back in those days—Grandma did.

We have wandered. We were discussing apple sauce. It is a fact that the national liver was never in better condition than when it was the universal custom to smear the daily bread with apple sauce, which was baked then—and long before—a savory staple of diet. To take the name of apple sauce in vain is to affront the memory of those revered ancestors who handed down as a part of tradition the secrets of its manufacture and the example of its generous consumption.

Down with those who would block its honored name. Long

Up in the Millions. Italy's Settlement. Times Wipes All Out. Let Stabler Do It. BY ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1925)

IT HAS been said here and in many other places, that he who sells things "short" in the United States, is almost as foolish as the man who called his brother a fool.

If he is not, as the Bible says, in danger of hell fire, literally, he is in danger of such a financial scorching as will make him wiser in days to come.

GENERAL MOTORS in nine months earned more than $80,000,000 in net profits. On Thursday the directors gave stock-holders an extra $5, a little additional present of more than $25,000,000, and a total dividend of more than $1,000,000. We certainly are "up in the millions."

THE DIRECTORS announce that, the company has on hand "in cash and negotiable securities" $155,000,000, and is free of debt. In the United States, if you know how to take care of your business, your business will take care of you.

Consider General Motors—but remember that you are not advised to buy it, or to buy or sell anything else, in this column.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE and Mr. Mellon have arranged for a debt settlement with the Italian government, and the people of the United States are well satisfied with the terms offered by Italy and accepted by this country.

The Italians, straining to the utmost their financial ability, will pay to the United States $2,407,000,000 over a period of 62 years. The terms of the settlement are, as they should be, the most lenient that the United States has made with any power, and there is no reason to doubt that Congress will ratify this settlement.

The amazing thing is that Italy can undertake so gigantic a payment, crippled financially as she is by our strict immigration laws.

THE STATUTE of limitations does not protect the murderer, but time does protect him. X-rays, penetrating Tutankhamen's mummy, are expected to show that the young 15-year-old Pharaoh was murdered. The job was probably done or instigated by those that apparently mourned his death most lavishly, spending money lavishly in fixing his tomb. Murderer and instigators are all safe now.

Tutankhamen, according to the early Egyptian belief, is happy in the realm of light, with Amen-Ra, the sun God. And the murderer is living in horror with Demons and strange things in the gloom of the "underworld."

AS TO what really happened to Pharaoh's ghost, we don't know. But we do know more than any Pharaoh. We know that if he went on going, he would come out the other side of his little world with his troubles beginning again. We know from the scientists that we have Tutankhamen's mummy, that it will be X-rayed, photographed carefully preserved, and that's all we know.

ALSO WE know by one interesting test that the dead, by their might come back to tell us, actually don't do it.

Dr. Gilbert promised his wife that he would get in touch with her, if possible, after she died. The signal which was to prove whether or not mediums could talk to ghosts, written down by the doctor and carefully sealed up, was the date of birth of Dr. Gilbert, his wife and daughter.

Any ghosts should remember dates, and Dr. Gilbert offered a reward of $500 to any medium that would get "the counter-egg" from beyond the grave; 248 of them tried; 248 of them failed.

SAMUEL UENTERMYER, who got tired of making money, too easy a task for such a brain as his, decided to take an interest in other people. Now he wants very crowded cities lacking decent housing for those with small incomes, to build at public cost the houses that are needed.

He urges New York to build 100,000 such homes, and intelligently suggests putting Mr. Stabler of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in charge of the business management.

TWO-FAMILY houses, according to Uentermyer could be built for $11,000 each. The city lend $10,000, the buyer pay $1,000 down interest on the balance at 4-1-2 percent plus amortization. Letting rooms at 8 per month each, the property would pay for itself in 20 years.

IT IS an interesting programme, but involves some difficult conditions—honesty in politics, for instance, freedom from interference, fair prices for building materials. No doubt the thing could be done and would pay, unless Judge Gary of the steel company, or Mr. Carey of the Pullman company, or Mr. Ryan of the Copper company, of copper and asbestos; cheaper, should find a way to make houses lighter, warmer and indestructible.

A CITY allowed by law to build stables for its horses, pens for its sheep, cages for its lions and tigers in the park, would be allowed to build houses for its own women and children.

POLITICS NO SCIENCE

TAMPA TRIBUNE

Premier Baldwin may be counted on to let the cat out of the bag—generally an interesting pass—"Truth," he said to the students of Edinburgh University, "has as little to do with politics as it has with most politicians." A scientist prospers as he adheres to and advances the cause of truth. Even in business, honesty is the best policy. But politics throughout history have been "despised for dishonesty" and have steadily prospered in their increasing diatribe. In ancient Greece the sophist "displayed ingenuity by appearing to prove that which his hearers knew to be false."

It is all the fault of "democracy"—which to Mr. Baldwin means "government by discussion, by the experienced wisdom and virtue of the few. They were well aware that men are prone to be swayed by partisan passions, but they imagined they had discovered the means of controlling and eliminating so evil a tendency. It can scarcely be said that they were disillusioned. True, even while the chivalrously honorable Hamilton was laboring like Hercules to clean the stables of our finance, he was denounced as a corruptionist, and his efforts to bring about a change in the constitution to have an anguishing scandal in his private life. Washington was widely denounced as an "Anglo-man" and pilferer of the public funds, as a "monocrat" bent on tearing from the people the liberties he had won for them against Britain. The men who inspired and led the foul attack were two of the kindest, ablest and (except politically) most virtuous of their Revolutionary comrades—who were both of them, elected and re-elected, as a direct consequence of that attack, to the Presidency. Yet, when Washington and Hamilton wrote the Farewell Address they devoted eloquent pages to the endeavor of saving their countrymen from "party spirit." Edmund Burke, meantime, had perceived the inevitability and indeed the usefulness of party organizations, and had expounded their essential moralities. Yet there is still a cat in the bag—or was until Mr. Baldwin took it in hand.

WHAT CAN'T BE SOLD

NEW YORK TIMES

A soul is on the auction block in Chicago. It is the soul of the Chicago Daily News, that great newspaper built by the genius and care of the late Victor F. Lawson, if the soul can continue after the spirit which created it is gone.

The will of Mr. Lawson, who, with Melville Stone, established the Chicago Daily News, discloses that his entire estate, with the exception of a few gifts to personal friends, has been left to a group of Chicago charities. For the administration of the estate a trust company was designated and charged also with carrying out the purposes the testator had in mind. In the property to be administered was the newspaper, which, so far as the executor is concerned, must be considered without any idealistic thought or any view of its semi-public obligation. The understanding had been, of course, that the purpose of Mr. Lawson was to have the newspaper continued under trust operation, but that has been found inexpedient if the charities are to receive full benefit of the estate. The public does not view the control of editorial policy by a financial concern with favor and under the circumstances the trust company does not desire to carry the responsibility for success or failure of the venture. And so the Chicago Daily News is now being offered for sale to the highest bidder.

There have been greater newspapers than the Chicago Daily News. Many have wielded larger influence for good. But, under the guidance of Mr. Lawson, it was an honest newspaper and one of the most enterprising in the United States. Many times it was apparent that the Chicago Daily News was hesitant to take stand for a right cause when so to do might have jeopardized its income, but it never supported any wrong policy was what might well be termed constructive in that it always could be counted on to support good government and good candidates for office, but never to align itself against the system which produced bad and bred dishonesty in officials. Nevertheless it was a power for good and maintained a high standard of journalism. If it did not have a soul it was expressive of the spirit of its publisher, well meaning and kindly, honest and sincere. People learned to depend on the Chicago Daily News and admire it even while wishing that somewhat it might somehow be more vigorous in advocacy of the standards it set-up. But will the Chicago Daily News be the same under another ownership? That depends on who may be the owner. Should it pass into the hands of some of those who are known bidders, whatever soul it has will be destroyed; others may recreate it and extend it.

It would be a journalistic crime if the Chicago Daily News should pass into the hands of either of its morning contemporaries; or if in agreement they should combine to buy it and destroy it. Whatever it is that makes the Chicago Daily News, call it soul or something else, is worthy of continuance, and it may survive the blow of the auctioneer's hammer.

Newly Formed Garden Circle Holds Meeting Last Friday Morning

Sanford's newly organized Garden Circle was especially fortunate in its first regular meeting, which was held Friday morning in Mrs. Galloway's garden under the most ideal weather conditions. More than 20 members were present, when some of the general principles of garden planning were discussed and studied the way in which they had been worked out in the very delightful garden.

Reports were given as to the classes of subjects in which the members will specialize for next month's Flower Show. As the membership limit of the Circle has been reached, and there is a waiting list of others deeply interested in the work, it was announced that in future two successive unexcused absences will automatically cancel a membership. The next meeting will be held on Dec. 11, in Mrs. Henry Wight's garden.

Mrs. Wight will lead a discussion on Shrubbery in Florida garden, and will show, and explain the use, habits, and characteristics, of some of the unusual and interesting plants mentioned in her present series of articles in "House Beautiful."

Everyone who attended the meeting in Mrs. Galloway's garden agreed that for one's own planning and planting, the study of the actual plants in use, their size, colors, textures, and suitability for various locations and purposes, is of the greatest possible assistance, and the Circle will carry out this study through the year in gardens of almost every size and character.

WILL MEET WEDNESDAY

The Welfare Department of the Sanford Woman's Club will hold its monthly meeting at the clubhouse on Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. A well-balanced program has been arranged and all members are urged to be present.

Mrs. Jessie Sharp and A. J. Lossing were quietly married Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock at the First Baptist Church in the presence of a few relatives. Rev. F. D. King, performed the ceremony.

Distinguished Maharajas Visiting in Europe Revive the Fashion of Turbans. In the days of the crusades the turban as a headdress for both men and women was first introduced into Europe. It was one of the heathenish fashions that the returning crusaders brought home with them. Since then the fashion has occasionally been revived. In the days of Catherine de Medici, when European nations were getting into commercial relations with the near East to considerable extent, Turkish turbans became quite fashionable. English contact with India later brought a somewhat different type of turban into temporary fashion, and among the fashions, traceable to Napoleon's campaigns in the East was the turban that came into fashion in Europe over a hundred years ago.

So apparently there is always a reason when the turban becomes an important item of feminine fashion. And it seems highly probable that the reason for the present revived interest in the fashionable European resorts this last summer of certain turban-wearing gentlemen from India. The Maharajah of Paliala was a popular figure in England last summer—the only part of his conduct that seemed amusing or out of the ordinary was the frequency with which he changed his turban. No one quite understood the necessity for that. Sometimes in a single busy day he would wear as six different turbans, each one of a different vivid coloring. And the Maharajah would have to rush back to his hotel between important engagements to change his turban.

No wonder then that the French milliners have had interesting turbans in their collections for autumn and winter—for there is nothing about the turban that makes it inappropriate for bobbed or shingled hair, and that is an important point in its favor. Marguerite et Leonie of Paris made an interesting turban all of brown and navy blue ottoman ribbon. Our milliners have been selling quite a few metal turbans for evenings. They are the tightly wrapped variety of turban and are worn for dancing. Satin turbans trimmed merely with a single metal or rhinestone ornament have become quite popular for daytime wear since women have begun wearing fur coats again. The sketch shows one of the new turbans—made of bois-de-rose velvet with motives of green and pink enamel.

Women's Column

The first event of the week will be the November Musicals, Tuesday afternoon under the direction of Mrs. F. Bolz as its program chairman. There will be Scotch Ballads and other numbers suggestive of the "Land 'o Cakes and Brither Scots." The hostesses for the afternoon's entertainment which will begin at 3 o'clock are Mesdames MacAlister, Smith, Keeley, Routh, Irwin and V. Douglass.

With her customary thought of an artistic setting, Mrs. Drummond is working out a quaint and charming picture as an enhancement of the pleasure of the occasion. Those who are not members of the Music Department a fee of 50 cents is asked for admission, and reservation should be made as early as possible.

On Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock the Welfare Department will meet with Mrs. W. L. Henley, its efficient chairman, presiding. A program of unusual interest has been prepared, and it is expected that every member will be present. Some matter of splendid interest and importance will be brought under discussion.

The Welfare Department has always stood for the broadest community helpfulness, and has to its credit in the past several achievements, quite independent of the backing of the Woman's Club. The ideal of club activity is to educate, initiate, and then after assistance is no longer demanded, turn attention to "the next thing."

Mrs. Henley has some fine ideas along this line, and it is hoped that every community need will be suggested as they occur to individuals, in order that the most important may be selected for work. Mrs. Gibbs, department program chairman is closely co-operating to make this the best year in its history.

It is not too early to call attention to the Second Annual Art Exhibit and Studio Tea, to be given by the Literature Department on Wednesday, Nov. 25, since this interesting event will only be open for three hours on that afternoon. Miss McNulty of Orlando, will speak, and will display examples of her wonderful skill. She is a very charming, and thoroughly prepared speaker, a member of the American Art Alliance by the merit of her work, in which she was trained at Berkeley, Cal.

Consisting as it does of weaving and early American handicraft, it will fit in excellently with other exhibits which have been arranged for. There will be a very fine assortment of hand made pottery from the North Carolina mountains, hand woven "bed kivers" from Virginia, and hand made rugs from Georgia with tufted spreads from the same source. Many wonderful antiques from Sanford homes will be loaned for this interesting occasion.

LOCH-ARBOR

A Country Club Property of Lakes and Hills

WITH its chain of lakes that will be connected by a series of canals giving this spot of beauty many miles of ever changing water ways, lined with palatial winter residences of wealthy tourists, and shaded with moss covered pine and palm trees, giving beauty that even Age Old Venice will look upon with enviable eyes, and yet will be in keeping with the entire beautifying programme to be carried out, Loch-Arbor stands supreme and in a class by itself.

THE pleasure craft of the residents will skim the silvery waters of Lakes DeForrest and Amory, through the man made canals and waterways to many other smaller lakes, and will be anchored to the doorsteps of the homes at Loch-Arbor.

ALL of these things can be seen by farsighted individuals. Dredges are at work filling and dredging in the making of a masterpiece among Florida's developments.

THE Jewel of Lake DeForrest is now in the making, in the way of an island, to be connected to the mainland by means of driveway and bridge. Just another improvement of Loch-Arbor that will be completed immediately.

ALL of these improvements including every conceivable convenience will consume the many Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars to be used for improvements. Keep in touch with developments of Loch-Arbor, and when the opportunity is given you to become affiliated with the newest project do not let it pass. Loch-Arbor will be the showplace of all Florida.

Outside Investors to be shown Loch-Arbor's possibilities

For the first time in the history of Sanford an organized attempt will be made to bring in outside investors. Tourists will flock to this community to see Sanford and to inspect Loch-Arbor in the new busses recently purchased to run here from the East and West Coasts. Throughout the state offices will be opened representing Loch-Arbor to give the people of the state, and the many winter tourists an opportunity to learn of the wonderful possibilities of Loch-Arbor.

We believe the people of Sanford desiring something different in the way of beauty, of location, and waterways will be pleased that the opportunity is to be given them to purchase some of the limited number of homesites to be offered in the first section of Loch-Arbor.

AND WHAT ARE WE COMING TO NOW? --- HERE SHE IS

By ROY J. GIBBONS
 CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Miss 1926 will be an abbreviated creature!

She will be typically a flapper—everything about her will be shorter, from hair to skirts.

Only her complexion will be much different from her 1925 sister.

It will be ghostly white. Miss 1926 will endeavor by every cosmetic means to resemble, as closely as possible, a snood.

At least these various qualities have been attributed to the "New Year Girl" by the prophecy of Ernie Young, famous theatrical producer of this city.

Ernie is the Flo Ziegfeld of the middle west and way points.

Fully qualified

For 25 years he has been hiring upward of 10,000 ladies every year to perform behind his footlights in a dozen different cities.

This experience amply qualifies him to speak with authority on things pertaining to the fair sex, he believes.

Ernie's predictions about the girl for the next year have come true. He never once missed.

And here's what he says Miss 1926 will be like:

"She will weigh between 115 and 120 pounds.

"She will be about five feet four inches tall.

"She will affect the face of a corpse.

"It will be painted a ghostly white with carmine smears across the lips.

"Her hair will be predominantly hennaed or blond. Few brunets will be seen.

"She will balance with dexterity a cigarette holder no less than 10 inches long between her teeth.

"She will use kiss-proof rouge at evening.

"Eight-Ounce Costume—Her costume will be of the eight-ounce variety and will affect the pattern of vertical-striped silk.

Her dress will be loose and drape itself from her figure showing minute outlines.

Her compact case will vane to be reduced by the calcimine canister (gallon size).

She will wear a strictly military watch.

Her jewelry will consist of crockery (immense glass beads) and three enormous finger rings (glass also).

As for "undie," she will do without or reduce them to the utmost irreducible minimum.

She will wear the smallest chapeau that her milliner can turn out. It will be of some vivid color.

She will own an extra pair of stockings (flesh color).

Four inches shorter

And her dresses will be four inches shorter than they were during 1925.

"And, oh, yes," says Ernie, "I forgot to add that she will once more roll 'em—stockings I mean, not fags."

"And her hair will remain bobbed. And she will start going in for hair tonics and other lotions that are said to prevent baldness.

"Altogether she will be very enjoyable and cute and we will love her more than ever."

"She is Miss 1926. And her slogan will be more freedom and less clothes. And I for one say, let'er have 'em."

Where Increased Prices Are Assured

With the present activity and the development of this section of Sanford and the completing of Hotel Forest Lake, the improving program of near-by subdivisions, the demand for property near Lake Monroe in the eastern section of the city, is worthy of investigation and is deserving of your closest comparison as to its desirability for a homesite or an investment.

Lots in the vicinity of this subdivision are scarce and before long will be almost unobtainable. The investor of today who is far sighted enough to see the possibilities in Marvania will have the same experience as others have had throughout Florida. He will soon find that his property has increased tremendously in value.

Those who purchased property in Mayfair when it was first placed on sale can now sell at enormous profits. With Marvania being developed along the same lines, the same condition is certain to prevail among those who purchase property in this development now.

Prices for Marvania lots are exceedingly low and range from $2500 to $3650, on terms of 20% cash and balance payable at the rate of 10% every three months. At such low prices and at such reasonable terms a most substantial increase is assured those who buy now.

There is no Substitute for Results

Sticks alone, will not make a fire—you must also have a match. Circulation helps to make a newspaper. But mere numbers taken by themselves alone cannot be the sole gauge and measure of a newspaper's ability to produce ADVERTISING RESULTS and more than the mere fact that China has more people in it than any other country, makes China the best country to live in.

For best results in Classified Advertising, call 118 and give your ad over telephone, or a salesman will call.
