BREACH IS ENDED BETWEEN MAXIE AND COMMISSION

Schmeling Agrees To Fulfill His Promise And Meet Sharkey

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—(A.P.)—Max Schmeling made his peace yesterday with the New York State Athletic commission, and the price he paid was adherence to a promise he made almost two years ago.

The young German, crowned heavyweight champion here after winning on a foul from Jack Sharkey in the Yankee stadium in June, 1930, promised to resume his feud with the Boston sailor before July 1, a pledge he made after their first match but never kept.

The commission, which took away his title recognition when he failed to keep his word a year ago, immediately lifted Schmeling's suspension to the extent of permitting him to negotiate a contract for the Sharkey match. This will be done by Friday, Max promised, and a $25,000 forfeit will be posted this time along with the legal papers.

While no promoter was mentioned at the commission, Schmeling already has settled on terms with Madison Square Garden for a 15-round engagement with Sharkey in one of the ball parks here in June.

The Boston warrior will arrive here Monday with his manager, Johnny Buckley, to sign the documents.

The conference yesterday removed all prospect of a mat between Schmeling and Mickey Walker.

Schmeling and his manager, Joe Jacobs, plan an extended exhibition tour and a moving picture project in California this winter before starting training in the spring.

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—(A.P.)—Gen. John V. Clinin, president of the National Boxing association, yesterday sent out ballots to members of the organization asking them to vote on the question of vacating the world heavyweight championship, held by Max Schmeling, of Germany, because of the latter's failure to defend or sign to defend his title within the six-month time limit.

The N. B. A. requires that all champions recognized by the body defend their titles every six months. Schmeling's last defensive action occurred on July 3 at Cleveland against W. L. (Young) Stripling, of Georgia. The N. B. A. notified Schmeling he must sign by Jan. 3, and named Mickey Walker, former welterweight and middleweight champion, as the logical contender.

The fight appeared to be on for Miami, Fla., next month, and the N. B. A. did nothing until the prospect had collapsed.

Schmeling yesterday made peace with the New York Athletic commission, which refused to recognize him as champion, following his failure to give Jack Sharkey a return bout, after defeating the latter on a foul, Max yesterday signed his willingness to meet Sharkey next June in New York, but while it squared him up in 12 rounds, it failed to please General Clinin.

The N. B. A. membership includes 29 state commissions, several Canadian and Cuban ones, and is affiliated with the International Boxing union and the British boxing board of control.

Jewelry, Valued At $40,000, Stolen From New Waldorf

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—(A.P.)—Antique and modern jewelry, which police said was valued at $40,000, has been stolen from a showcase in the lobby of the new Waldorf-Astoria hotel, authorities reported yesterday.

A member of the firm of Cecil Patridge, of London, which owned the gems estimated their value and paid the loss was covered by insurance. The loss was discovered yesterday.

The showcase stands in "Pecock Alley," the fashionable indoor promenade of the hotel. The brilliant "alley" is scarcely ever entirely empty.

Among the stolen gems were two diamond bracelets, a diamond and emerald bracelet valued at $5,000, a diamond brooch valued at $5,000, a diamond clip brooch, a necklace of 139 graduated pearls, four long pearl bracelets, a white enamel diamond clip brooch, two diamond pendant watches, one large star shaped sapphire ring, a diamond watch, a diamond and sapphire field watch, a diamond and ruby cabochon ring, a square cut diamond watch ring, and 30 less valuable items.

CAMPBELL WILL SEEK TO BREAK HIS SPEED MARK

Will Return To Daytona In February With Same Speeder

DAYTONA BEACH, Jan. 25.—(A.P.)—Sir Malcolm Campbell, British sportsman and first man in the world to attain a land speed of more than four miles a minute, will return to the beach sands here in February for an attempt to break his automobile speed mark of 215.733 miles per hour.

Campbell, confident he can boost his record to 255 miles per hour, had anxiously awaited favorable word from the city commission, which faced by stringent financial problems, first called him not to come.

However, late yesterday the path to the new attempt was cleared when a body of citizens met with the commission and voted a motion to hold the speed trials as in former years. The commission then agreed to underwrite the trials and various merchants and civic groups promised to extend financial aid as a community project.

Mayor Edward H. Armstrong was authorized to send Campbell the following cable:

"The city of Daytona Beach, Fla. invites you and offers every cooperation to further your attempt to create a new record. Will settle details on your arrival."

In a cable Monday, Campbell advised the commission he was ready to sail Jan. 27 and urged them to reconsider their message that the city could not afford the expense of the racing sanction and supervision which international racing rules forbid a contestant to defray.

Campbell plans to bring to this county the same 1,450 horse power Bluebird car in which he set his record here last Feb. 5. At that time he expressed dissatisfaction with the speed mark and said he believed more favorable conditions could give him a better one.

To increase Campbell's chances for a higher mark, William F. Stumm, his American manager, and local officials have inspected the beach and found the course can be lengthened from 9 to 13 miles, giving a longer acceleration run each way before entering the measured mile.

Campbell twice has set world's speed marks on the beach sands. His first record was made Feb. 19, 1928, in a Bluebird car when he boosted his mark to 176 miles per hour. His second record was 215.733 miles per hour on Feb. 5, 1931.

Campbell did not keep the record long, for on Apr. 22 of that year Ray Keech, since killed in the Altona, Pa., races, set a record of 202.55 miles per hour.

Fast Play Seen In Bowling Matches During Past Week

The Sanford Bowling Alley in the Kent Building saw some fast "duck pin" and ten pin matches during the past week, featured by a match between a team of Orlando and a team of Daytona bowlers who met on neutral ground to decide a series. Orlando team won the match by 31 points, the Orlando total score being 1219, while the Daytona total was 1187.

The Sanford team lost to the Daytona team by 123 points, Daytona scoring 1634 points against Sanford's 1510. Beville of Daytona was high bowler with 161 for high game, and 514 for the three games.

Sanford team went to Orlando and won two out of three games from the Florida Motor Lines team, although the Motor Lines outfit scored 55 points more during the evening than did the Sanford team.

Here are the results of the Sanford-Orlando match:

Mrs. Fred Bolly won high honor this week for the women bowlers, scoring 118 points for high game, and winning two tickets to the Miami Theater.

The five-man league opened Monday night, and Friday night Sanford has a match with the Star Truck Line team of Orlando on the Sanford alley.

Sixteen guests people attended the All-Star dinner which was given at the Mayfair Hotel Monday evening.

Local Basketeers Defeat Daytona By Margin Of 6 Points

Coach Leonard McLucas' Seminole High School basketball squad got back into the winning column last night by scoring a clean-cut victory over Coach Henry Freeman's Daytona Beach Buccaneers. The final score was 24 to 18 in favor of Sanford.

A new team took the field, and for the first portion of the game played good ball, with Wilson Smith, diminutive forward who has played sensationally in the last three games, leading the entire quintette. Smith was high scorer of the evening, ringing 11 points, keeping up his high scoring propensities begun in Jacksonville last week.

While all players performed with credit, according to Coach McLucas, the work of Smith and Harold Sellers, a new guard, was outstanding. Sellers gives promise of becoming the outstanding guard of the squad, the coach said.

Preceding the game, the "B" squad played a fast game with a Daytona "B" squad, to lose by a 21 to 15 score.

The "B" squad plays Ovidio in that town tonight, and will also play the Orlando "B" squad here next Tuesday night preceding a game between Sanford and the Orlando high school "A" teams.

ACTIVITIES OF CONGRESS ARE WIDE IN SCOPE

(Continued from Page One) tive immediately. He was to have served as chairman of the delegation to the Geneva arms limitation conference during its preliminary work.

Secretary Stimson will now take that post, but will be unable to attend the opening sessions of the conference. Until he arrives, Hugh S. Gibson, ambassador to Belgium, will be in charge of the delegation.

While President Hoover was telling correspondents of these developments yesterday, other features of his program for lifting the nation to its normal economic plane were progressing.

The bill to increase the capitalization of federal land banks awaited only the formality of approval by a conference committee and then by the House and Senate. The measure would bolster land bank funds by $125,000,000 with $25,000,000 of that amount earmarked for postponement of mortgage installment payments of needy farmers.

One phase of Mr. Hoover's plans for balancing the budget advanced in the House Ways and Means committee, which announced it would have a tax increase bill ready for presentation by Feb. 1.

A Senate committee conducted hearings on the administration plan for a system of home loan banks to smooth the way financially for the home builder.

General Dawes has accomplished so many important jobs inside the government and out, that yesterday's announcement brought quick acclaim from leaders of both parties. He had intended to return to his private banking business in Chicago after quitting his London post, but instead responded to another call to public service.

During the war, General Dawes served overseas. Afterward he was chairman of the committee which drew up the Dawes Plan for reparations payments. He served as vice president from 1925 to 1929, and gave that post a new meaning by actively engaging in steering legislation through the Senate.

President Hoover appointed him to the London ambassadorship and he took part in the 1930 London arms conference and the extensive economic negotiations of last summer.

When President Hoover made his announcement yesterday Dawes was conferring with Secretary Stimson. He was immediately besieged by newspapermen and gave them one of his characteristically gruff and good natured statements. With his famous underling pipe clenched between his teeth, he pounded a table and said:

"Now this is going to be a long job but I am going to do it."

When one is beginning important work it is not the time to talk about it and when we have accomplished that job it is not necessary. That's all I have to say and that's enough."

In sending the reconstruction corporation bill to conference, the House instructed its conferees to accept a Senate provision limiting loans from the corporation to any one concern to $100,000,000. The House originally set the maximum at $150,000,000.

Other important differences to be settled were: A House provision making the corporation's paper eligible for rediscount at the Federal Reserve System as opposed to a Senate clause expressly prohibiting this; and Senate language setting forth specifically what kinds of financial institutions should receive loans while the House bill said loans should go to any bona-fide establishments.

With the Dawes announcement, President Hoover coupled a statement that Eugene Meyer, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, would serve as chairman of the board of the new corporation.

Dawes and Meyer called at the capitol yesterday to discuss with Senator Walcott, (R. Conn.), and other sponsors of the legislation features of the measure still in dispute. Walcott is author of the Senate bill.

Flood Victims Threatened By Flank Attacks

Humphreys county was the center of the menace yesterday with Belzoni, a thriving town of 7500, threatened by waters from a 60-foot gap which the Yazoo pounded in the Honey Island levee north of there Monday night. Laborers and convicts fought desperately to close the crevasse. A strip 30 to 100 miles long would be flooded should the whole dyke there give away.

Lambert and Marks noted two big gaps in the Coldwater levees and the Quiver River covered a large new area in Sunflower county.

The Tallahatchie was receding after five weeks of relentless pressure in southwest Panola county. At Glenola itself the river was at a standstill.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—(A.P.)—A squadron of eight Coast Guard crews and motor life boats to aid in rescue work is expected to reach the Mississippi flood area in a few hours. They were sent from the Great Lakes and Gulf stations. Coast Guard headquarters here said additional men and boats would be sent if needed.

The rescue workers were in charge of S. B. Johnson, commander of the Great Lakes Coast Guard district. He performed a similar service in the Mississippi flood in 1927.

The union leader, said Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio, in making the presentation of the wage cut proposal had referred to the value of railroad properties as $5 or $6 billion dollars whereas exhibits in the recent 15 per cent freight rates case indicated a figure "near 20 or 21 billion."

The Interstate Commerce Commission also reported an increase in net railway operating income from freight service of 14 per cent a net ton mile from 1923 to 1929. Robertson said, showing a great increase in the profit, to the railroads out of the work of each employee.

The argument that wages should be reduced because the cost of living was lower could not be accepted by the working men. Robertson said. The comparison made by the president was also living costs in 1913, and the spokesman said labor "could not accept the standard of living in 1913."

"The items in the family budget of 15 years ago do not apply to present standards of living," he said. "Many necessary items have not been reduced, such as cost of insurance, medical services, taxes, fuel and public utility services."

After the meeting Robertson said the negotiation now depended entirely on the presidents.

Willard declined to discuss the day's session beyond saying the executives would attempt to have the figures requested by the union ready for the next session at 10 A. M. today.

Hathaway Replies To Martin Letter Declining Debate

(Continued from Page One) cluding this acknowledgment that I did not understand when accepting the post of secretary to you and the promotion to membership in the State Real Department that in consideration I was signing away my political freedom.

"Even so, it was at your suggestion and pledge of support that I entered the race for governor in 1928. Your subsequent entry in the senatorial race after my formal announcement was in violation of a solemn agreement between us that you would not be a candidate for the United States Senate in that primary. You will recall also that my formal announcement for governor in this campaign was made at Wakulla Springs in May after you had repeatedly told me that under no circumstances would you be a candidate for governor. In each instance your word proved only a scrap of paper."

"But the people, in my opinion, are not interested in a newspaper controversy between us. They are, on the contrary, interested in knowing in advance what the candidates for governor have to offer in the way of a solution to the tax problem and the ill that grow out of it."

"One thing is certain, however, if I am elected governor and should fall in my efforts to lighten the burden of the people I will not upon retiring from office take advantage of the distress of any taxpayer, the people who had honored me, in order to enrich myself, even though the opportunity be open and legal."

"And speaking of automobiles—I could never live in luxury and enjoy riding in fine cars at the expense of the misfortune and the misery of my neighbors—especially in times like these."

Very truly yours,
FONS A. HATHAWAY.

Byrd said Virginia was proud of her great men, but that Robert E. Lee was the man that Virginians kept in their hearts

Governor John Garland Pollard announced that through the generosity of an unnamed admirer of General Lee an advance without interest of $115,000 had been made to the Robert E. Lee Memorial Foundation to pay off the mortgage on Stratford, the Lee home in Westmoreland county.

The advance means, he said, that the great estate has passed into the hands of the foundation for a shrine and without time limit as to the loan.

As Virginia paid her tribute to General Lee in exercises at Richmond, Alexandria, Staunton, Winchester, Lexington and other cities, the 125th anniversary was observed throughout the territory where once fluttered the stars and bars. Banks were closed in many of the Southern states and in Atlanta, employees of the State of Georgia were given a holiday.

The United Daughters of the Confederacy sponsored at Atlanta joint exercises in honor of Lee and General "Stonewall" Jackson, while 31 veterans were entertained at the U. S. C. Chapter House.

In Florida and the two Carolinas General Lee was honored in special exercises in the public schools, a ball in Jacksonville concluding the Florida observance.

Confederate veterans members of the United Daughters of the Confederacy followed the custom of bestowing crosses of honor on descendants of veterans and the Kappa Alpha fraternity laid a wreath on the Lee statue. Tennessee observed the day with the annual luncheon at Nashville to which veterans were invited.

Within 20 minutes yesterday, 19 prisoners who had been arrested for picketing at the government mint, were convicted and sentenced to six-month prison terms.

Most of them were women. They had been attempting to stop the shipment of gold from India—an activity, nationalist leaders have been attempting to halt since the outbreak of the campaign against the government.

Three spectators included in the group of picketers, the first to be held under the new ordinance against loitering, also received six-month sentences.

Sylvia Sidney Takes Lead Role At Milane
Sylvia Sidney, has the leading feminine part in "Ladies of the Big House," which is scheduled as the feature attraction at the Milane Theater tonight and Friday.

This picture is Paramount's screen version of the story by Ernest Booth, life-term convict, author at Folsom prison. It is a gripping romantic drama of two persons who have run against the law and present a cross-section of a real drama of life within the quarters of a great prison.

"Ladies of the Big House" follows Miss Sidney's stellar appearance in "Street Scene," United Artists' production for which she was loaned by Paramount.

Miss Sidney gained prominence when Paramount selected her to take the place of Clara Bow in "It's a Wonderful Life," when the red-haired star became ill. She also had the leading role in "Confessions of a Co-Ed."

"Ladies of the Big House" features Miss Sidney's career as co-protagonist to Miss Bow, since "Ladies of the Mob," Booth's first screen story, served as Clara's most dramatic role several years ago.

LANDIS OPINION IS CITED BY SKIPPER IN PARTY FRACAS

Given As Reason For Refusing To Recognize State Group

MIAMI, Jan. 25. (AP.)—Glenn B. Skipper, Republican national committeeman, said in a statement here yesterday that "a good and sufficient reason" for refusing to recognize a state central committee headed by R. F. L. Paves of Tampa, were based on an opinion by C. D. Landis, Florida attorney general.

Skipper and Mrs. Clara C. Geise of St. Petersburg, Republican national committee women, declared illegal actions of a central committee meeting in Orlando, this week under the chairmanship of Paves and a motion they refused to recognize the committee.

This action, Skipper said, was based on an opinion delivered on Monday, Jan. 11, 1932, by Attorney General Landis. He stated part of the opinion as follows:

"Any candidate who shall willfully violate any provision of the primary election law of this state shall be subject to a fine not exceeding $100, or imprisonment not exceeding six months, or both, at the discretion of the court."

The opinion, Skipper said, was based on the fact that the state law provided that no candidate for office should be nominated by a party which had been declared illegal by the state court.
