Deputy Asks $500,000 In Slander Suit Against Driver

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A Seminole County deputy is suing another county employee for $500,000 for allegedly making slanderous remarks.

John Negri, a sheriff's deputy who lives in Apopka, is suing Herb Heroy, of 160 Lemon Lane, Casselberry, for alleged statements made by Heroy concerning Negri's behavior while in uniform.

According to the complaint, Negri maintains that Heroy said he was drinking an alcoholic beverage and smoking marijuana while in uniform the morning of Nov. 8.

The comments stemmed from an encounter Negri and Heroy had regarding Heroy's manner of driving.

According to the complaint filed Tuesday, Negri was traveling home in his Volkswagen Beetle after working the midnight shift Nov. 7 when he saw only the grill of a following vehicle in his rear view mirror.

Negri said in the complaint that the vehicle followed him closely until they stopped for a school crossing. He then partially got out of his vehicle, to show he was an officer, and told the driver of the truck behind to get off his bumper and to slow down.

The driver of the truck, a white county vehicle, motioned the deputy to drive on.

After the crossing guard indicated the vehicles could move on, Negri motioned for the truck driver to pull off the road, which he did.

Negri spoke with the driver, who said he "was not in the habit of breaking the law" and asked him if he wanted two tickets, one for speeding and the other for driving too close.

Heroy reportedly said he did nothing wrong and that he plays ball with two deputies, mentioning them by name. Negri then remembered that one of those deputies had recently committed a "charitable action" towards Negri's younger brother by not giving him a ticket for a traffic infraction and Negri decided not to give Heroy the tickets. The men then parted company, according to the suit.

But when Negri reported to work Nov. 12 he was told by the internal affairs investigator Deputy Donald Eslinger that Heroy had alleged that Negri had been smoking marijuana in uniform and drinking an alcoholic beverage.

Negri, 22, said he did not engage in those activities and took a voluntary urine test to prove he had not used marijuana within the previous 30 days, according to Negri's lawyer, Mark NeJame of Orlando.

NeJame said the test proved that Negri had not used any marijuana.

According to the suit, Negri said he has suffered great mental pain and anguish by Heroy's alleged remarks which he described as maliciously made with intent to defame, and that the remarks were false, scandalous, malicious, unprivileged, defamatory and injured his personal, social and professional life.

NeJame said the $500,000 figure was computed by figuring Negri's average yearly salary times his expected work life to determine how much money he would lose over a lifetime if the comments did damage his reputation.

Heroy said Wednesday he remembers the incident but did not know he was being sued.

He would not comment on the statements he is alleged to have made but did say that it didn't make much difference how much he was sued for because Negri would not "get 50 cents," from him.

Kennel Owner Gets 10 Weekends In Jail For Mistreating Animals

A woman convicted of animal cruelty was today labeled "intellectually arrogant" by the judge hearing her case and sentenced to 10 weekends in the Seminole County jail and five years probation.

She could have received up to nine years in prison and a $9,000 fine.

Laurian Spankie, owner of Snow Hill Kennels and Plant Farm, state Road 426, Oviedo, was sentenced by acting County Judge Volle Williams for nine counts of cruelty stemming from a raid on her kennel Aug. 25, in which several animals were taken into custody.

Of the nine animals rescued in the three-agency raid one dog died the same day and another five days later. A kitten, "Patches" also died, reportedly from malnutrition.

Mrs. Spankie was found guilty on all nine counts by a jury on January 11. Prior to sentencing, Williams, a retired circuit judge, said Mrs. Spankie was an "intellectually arrogant person" whose belief in what she did was so strong that nine years in prison would not change her.

He said she believed in miracle cures but he and the jury did not. "You should have used the services of a veterinary clinic," he said.

Mrs. Spankie's attorney, Edward Kirkland, who entered the case last week after former defense counsel Russell Hornsby withdrew, portrayed his client as an animal lover who was only guilty of misjudgement in caring for the animals, pointing out that they were sick when she took them in.

"I think she realizes now she should have been a little more careful in their care," Kirkland said.

Assistant State Attorney Kathy Simcoe said, however, that the kennel owner was guilty of abuse through flagrant malnutrition of the animals.

Besides the jail time — which is to begin the first week of April — and probation, Mrs. Spankie must pay a $250 fine and pay $20 per month for the cost of her probation.

The animals that did not die after the kennel raid in August were placed in the custody of the Humane Society Oct. 17. Unabused animals at the kennel were allowed to stay there temporarily.

Both Sides Charge Intimidation

County-Union War Goes Before State

By Britt Smith
Herald Staff Writer

The fight over unionization of nearly 400 Seminole County employees moved before the state Public Employees Relations Commission (PERC) today with the county pitted against the National Association of Government Employees (NAGE).

The PERC hearings are scheduled for today and Friday beginning at 9 a.m. each day in the county commission chambers in the courthouse.

As part of the broader issue of trying to keep the union out of county government, Seminole labor lawyers will be challenging the validity of some of the signatures on 143 cards reportedly signed by county workers calling for a collective bargaining election.

The union's petition and accompanying cards have been filed with PERC which requires the cards indicating employees' interest in being represented by a bargaining agent. PERC rules state that 30 percent of the workers targeted by the union must sign the cards before a union vote is held.

In November, PERC dismissed a union petition because the job descriptions of the card signees were unclear.

NAGE officials collected a list of 214 job classifications to be included in the bargaining unit and resubmitted its petition.

That's when county officials attacked, claiming some of the cards are invalid because they were signed more than a year ago. The county's labor attorney, David Kornreich, also claims some of the cards were signed by former county workers and those not eligible for union representation such as those in managerial posts.

The 143 cards reportedly signed by workers calling for a union vote represent roughly 38 percent of the proposed bargaining unit of 375 county employees. If the county can successfully challenge 31 of the signature cards, the union would not meet PERC's 30 percent rule.

Kornreich has maintained that the union has used "misrepresentation and coercion" to convince workers to sign the cards and claims the union should have had signatures from at least 50 percent of the workers before filing a petition calling for a vote.

He said he believes that some of those who signed the cards were told their cards would not be used unless the union had at least 50 percent of the targeted workers backing a union vote.

Union organizer Sam Ingham has said that he "would like to have 50 percent before filing. The state says 30 percent. We gave them more than that."

In its latest challenge to the NAGE unionization effort, the county earlier this month accused a road division supervisor of intimidating workers to sign cards calling for a collective bargaining election.

In documents filed with PERC seeking dismissal of the NAGE petition for a union election, one of the county's labor lawyers, John Gronda, said Terry Tyson, a road division grade foreman who supervised road paving and resurfacing projects, "personally solicited" about 70 of his subordinates to sign the cards.

Gronda contends that not only is it improper to solicit signatures during working hours, but that Tyson's union activities "would logically convey to them (workers) the message that their refusal to sign would result in retaliation by Tyson."

County officials subsequently interviewed road division supervisors to determine the extent of union activity within the division.

Interc. Union attorney Thomas Pilacek called the interviews "intimidating" in an effort to defeat the NAGE unionization effort.

Following the hearings, PERC is to decide whether the NAGE petition is valid and if it is, when an election should be scheduled.

$1,000 Reward In City Hall Arson

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

A $1,000 reward has been posted for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who torched the 60-year old Lake Mary City Hall early Monday morning.

The reward, posted by State Fire Marshal Jon R. "Bob" Christian, is being offered by the Florida Advisory Committee on Arson Prevention. Those seeking additional information are advised to write Arson Control, P.O. Box 1654, Winter park, 32790, or to call collect 305-843-7900.

Lake Mary Mayor Walter Sorenson said feeling is running high about the fire and some local businessmen are talking about adding to the reward, but nothing is definite as yet.

Meanwhile, Christian said today there are several suspects in the arson which occurred shortly after 1 a.m., Monday, but would give no further information.

Lake Mary Police Chief Harry Benson, however, declined comment on whether the police department has any suspects in the arson.

"I have no comment at this time,"

Benson said.

Damage from the fire is now estimated at $25,000 by the city's insurance carrier, Sorenson said, and bids for repairing the structure are being accepted.

He said he anticipates it will take six to eight weeks to restore the facility once work has begun and city hall will remain open during the restoration.

The scope of work will include replacing most of the city hall porch, about 80 percent of which was destroyed in the fire, erecting new doors at the Country Club Road entranceway, replacing glass in the front of the building cracked or broken by the blaze and replacing some ceiling fans that melted.

Sorenson said it will also be necessary to repair part of the hard wood flooring scorched in the fire. He said rather than trying to match wood to replace scorched boards, he would prefer the floor be sanded and refinished.

"If it's a choice of whether to have a scorch mark or new boards, I tend to favor the scorch mark," he said. "It isn't real deep."

Fire Chief Jim Orioles said Monday the fire, apparently set at the double-door entranceway to city hall, was discovered by a passing motorist who called police at 1:15 a.m. Some 18 firemen responded to the call and were on the scene from the fire station little more than a block away by 1:17 a.m. Orioles estimates the fire was set five to six minutes before it was spotted by the motorist.

Orioles said if the fire had not been reported so quickly the entire city hall would have "gone up like a tinder box."

A police dispatcher said a man who identified himself as Jim Dickenson reported he saw the fire as he was driving on Country Club Road and was calling in the alarm from a nearby pay telephone.

The structure, built in the 1920's as a community center, was purchased by the city for $35,000 in May, 1981. The city spent another $45,000 renovating and restoring the facility and residents of the community, city staff, Sorenson and other elected officials volunteered time stripping paint and doing other chores before it was officially opened as a city hall in August, 1981.

Arrests Of Sanford Men May Crack Burglary Ring

Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

The arrests of two Sanford men have made a crack in a burglary ring that has operated in Chuluota, Geneva, Midway and Osteen for the past several months, say Seminole sheriff's deputies.

Wednesday's arrest of Lenard Taylor, 21, of 2451 Crawford Drive, Sanford, "may have netted one of the leaders, if not the leader of the gang," sheriff's spokesman John Spolski said.

The group so far has netted between $250,000 and $260,000 worth of goods, he said.

The arrest of Taylor on charges of armed burglary and grand theft has been linked to the March 16 arrest of Bryan K. "Monkey Man" Knight who was charged with three counts of armed burglary and four counts of grand theft for his alleged role in four Midway and Geneva break-ins.

Eight to ten other alleged members of the gang, which Spolski said specialized in the theft of firearms and jewelry, are expected to be arrested as Seminole and Volusia county lawmen complete their joint investigation into the burglaries that appear to be linked.

Taylor, who was released from the Broward County jail on an armed robbery charge four months ago, was arrested at the Probation and Parole office, Sanford, at about 2 p.m. Wednesday. He was tied to the break-ins after sheriff's investigators identified as his latent fingerprints found in a burglarized home, Spolski said.

Investigators put Taylor under surveillance and reported spotting his car in the area of several burglarized homes.

Knight, 18, of 2441 E. 21st St., was arrested at 12:30 a.m. March 16, at the jail after he had been tied to a break-in, and allegedly made at the sheriff's department a taped confession of his part in several burglaries.

Altamonte Crash Victim Called Major Drug Smuggler

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

Investigators say one of two men killed when their marijuana-filled plane crashed near a New York Airport Friday was a major drug smuggler. The other was a former police chief.

And while investigators say Stanley Booker, 48, of Altamonte Springs was known to national law enforcement agencies as a "big drug smuggler" his death on a snow-covered hill 60 miles southeast of Albany shocked family members who said it was impossible for them to believe he was involved in illicit drug traffic.

Nevertheless, local law enforcement personnel, when they heard of the crash, said they were aware he was connected with the drug trade.

The other victim, Gordon Douglas, 48, of Fort Lauderdale, had been an East Bridgewater, Mass., police officer from 1963 to 1970, serving as acting chief at one point, authorities said.

Booker, whose wife, Mary Jean Audrey Booker and three children live in Altamonte Springs, died along with Douglas when their World War II-vintage airplane crashed about a mile from the Oncontia Municipal Airport shortly before midnight Friday with 50 bales of marijuana aboard. Authorities estimated the ton and a half load to be worth $2.4 million.

The bodies of the men were severely mutilated in the crash which hampered identification, according to New York State authorities. Booker was identified by fingerprints and Douglas by "discrete" inquiries with his family members.

Troopers said they believe the drug traffickers were trying to make a midnight landing because the landing gear was down on the Lockheed Loadstar when it crashed. Earlier authorities had speculated wing icing may have forced the craft down or the plane may have run out of fuel. Runway lights at the airport had been turned on from the air by remote control. State police said Douglas was a licensed commercial pilot and worked for Booker who was also a pilot though it is uncertain who was piloting the plane when it crashed.

The incident is being investigated by federal authorities.

According to authorities, Booker ran a flying charter business in the 1970s in Southeast Asia and Douglas had been a pilot on Saudi Arabia.

Officials said Booker had been under surveillance for a long time for smuggling drugs and reportedly the news of his involvement in the crash prompted several Drug Enforcement Agencies in the United States to contact New York authorities to confirm his death.

Booker, who maintained a post office box in Altamonte Springs while his wife and children lived in the city, was also a resident of Muscle Shoals, Ala.

Mary Booker, Booker's wife of 27 years in Las Vegas at the time of the crash, said that not only was her husband's death a shock but his reported involvement in drug smuggle was difficult to believe.

"It is hard to hear," she said. "He lived the type of life he wanted. He was a man of his word and a good provider and took care of everyone," Mrs. Booker said.

No funeral services are planned and Booker's remains were to be cremated in New York.

ACLU: Sleep Should Be Constitutionally Protected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sleep, when it is a form of political expression by the poor and the homeless, should be protected in the same way other symbolic speech is, according to the American Civil Liberties Union.

"The only effective way (of the homeless speaking) is to re-enact their plight," ACLU counsel Burt Neuborne told the Supreme Court Wednesday. "The notion of people sleeping in the middle of winter ... without any of the accoutrements of camping, wrapped in blankets or what winter coats they have, is to make the point."

Neuborne made his comments during oral arguments in a case involving a challenge to National Park Service regulations that prohibit sleeping as part of a protest demonstration in certain parks in the nation's capital.

'Candyman' Facing Death

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (UPI) — A former hijacker scheduled to die next week for killing his son with poisoned Halloween candy said he will be on a spiritual "high" right up to the time of his execution by lethal injection.

Ronald Clark O'Bryan, 39, is scheduled to die by a lethal drug injection after 12:01 a.m. CST March 31 for giving his 8-year-old son, Timothy, a cyanide-laced Giant Pixy Stix on Halloween night in 1974.

Prosecutors said the former Deer Park optician, tainted by other Death Row inmates as the "Candyman," planned to collect more than $60,000 in insurance money by feeding the granular candy mixed with granular cyanide to his son, his daughter Lane and three neighborhood children. Only Timothy ate the candy.

Black Engineer Cleared

DALLAS (UPI) — Black engineer Lenell Geter, who spent more than a year in prison on an armed robbery conviction he claimed was racially motivated, was cleared of the charges and is looking forward to his wedding and getting on with life.

Geter, 26, had been scheduled for retrial April 9 on charges he robbed a suburban Kentucky Fried Chicken restaurant of $600 in August 1982.

He was sentenced to life in prison, but won the new trial after nationwide media attention focused on his claims that his conviction was the result of poor police work and a racist judicial system.

Veto Threatened

Reagan Says Deficit Package Inseparable

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan threatened Wednesday to veto the $150 billion deficit-reduction package he supports unless Congress approves it intact — with both spending cuts and minor tax increases.

Reagan went to Capitol Hill to rally Republican support for the three-year plan to take a slice out of the national debt by slowing the growth of military spending to a 7.5 percent increase this year, cutting social programs and closing tax "loopholes."

The package is an effort to head off possible danger to the economic recovery posed by the government soaking up funds needed for growth and to relieve criticism of Reagan's $925 billion 1985 budget, which runs $180 billion in the red.

In two appearances before GOP lawmakers, Reagan said he also would reject any effort to raise taxes across the board this year, but suggested future major tax changes might be needed if annual deficits are not tamed. Economists estimate the debt will top $1.5 trillion this year.

"If anyone sends me this tax package and at the same time does not include the spending cuts, I will veto the tax package," Reagan told House Republicans, who answered with strong applause. He delivered the same message to GOP senators.

Democrats have their own deficit reduction plan, a $185 billion "pay-as-you-go" document for the next three years that would allow defense and social welfare spending to increase by 3.5 percent only if offsetting taxes are raised.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes told reporters Reagan thinks GOP support for his package is "fairly unanimous," and added, "I'll bet before the show is over there will be a lot of Democrats on the team."

Sen. Orrin Hatch, R-Utah, criticized the Democratic plan Wednesday, saying, "The president was appalled ... at the Democrat's military spending programs."

Hatch said the Democrats suggested cutting twice as much from the Pentagon budget over three years as Reagan agreed to accept.

Senate Budget Committee chairman Pete Domenici, R-N.M., who was instrumental in working out the GOP-Reagan plan, said Reagan promised "a full-court press on his part to get it passed through the Senate."

Domenici said the outlook for Senate passage is "excellent" and said he will try to get the package to the floor quickly, bypassing the regular budget process.

He also attacked the Democrats' plan as not "realistic. Frankly I don't think they can pass that in the (Democratic-controlled) House."

Reagan promised not to "play politics with the economy" with the deficit-reduction package, but attacked Democrats for heavy federal spending in the past. He also reiterated his call for a balanced budget amendment to the Constitution. "I think we will find it's not only good government. It's good politics," he said.

Separately, the Senate Finance Committee completed work on a tax and spending cut package that totals about $73 billion. Nearly $50 billion in tax increases — changing business tax writeoffs, increasing the levy on liquor by 20 percent, keeping the telephone tax and making corporate tax adjustments.

Finance Committee Chairman Robert Dole, R-Kan., said he wants to meld the bill with the latest Reagan-GOP proposal, and hinted it also could bypass the regular budget procedure.

Victim Of Attack Sues Assailant

A Winter Springs resident who was found guilty of attacking a man with an ax is being sued by the victim.

John Anderson, 30, of 719 Wilson Road, who pleaded no contest Feb. 22 to attacking Leroy Bowers, of Orlando, with an ax is being sued by Bowers for a total of $40,689 in damages.

Anderson was charged with aggravated battery, aggravated assault and criminal mischief from an Aug. 1 incident when he entered his plea and was judged guilty by Circuit Judge C. Vernon Mize.

For the no contest plea to aggravated assault, the state agreed not to prosecute another two counts. He was fined $609 March 16 for the offense.

The event to which he pleaded and subject of the civil suit occurred in August when, according to court records and the suit, Bowers went to his wife's residence — 719 Wilson Road — tell her he was going to file some charges against her.

Anderson was at the residence and according to Bowers, charged him first with a knife and then with an ax. Anderson, according to the complaint and court records said he was going to kill Bowers and pursued him as the man tried to escape by running to his car.

Bowers maintains in the suit that despite his pleas for Anderson to cease he continued to attack causing him serious injury and doing several hundred dollars worth of damage to his car.

Bowers maintains Anderson acted with malice and without justification and caused Bowers great physical and mental pain and suffering. He also states one of his hands was permanently injured from the attack.

Bowers is asking for $30,000 in punitive damages and $10,689 in general, compensatory, special and suffering damages.

He also wants a trial by jury.

Longwood Man Found Guilty Of Attempted Kidnap

A Longwood man who has served time for three rapes and kidnapping was found guilty after just 15 minutes deliberation by a Seminole County jury of attempted kidnapping and burglary.

His defense lawyer had asked the jury to find him guilty of two lesser charges, criminal trespass and battery, both misdemeanors.

Donald Neil Williams, 31, of 390 Wilma St. Longwood, was arrested at 12:18 p.m. Dec. 6 and charged with the attempted kidnapping of Jennie Nix, 25, of Casselberry and the burglary of her car, two felonies.

Tuesday and Wednesday, the five-man one-woman jury listened to testimony in the case including details about the current charges, his previous convictions, similar methods used in committing previous crimes and how the defendant has changed his appearance since the time of the arrest by shaving a beard and mustache and shortening his hair.

Previous to his Seminole County arrest Williams was sentenced in Orange County to six years in prison for three rapes, an attempted rape and kidnapping in 1979, according to Orange County court records. He served three of the six years.

According to Seminole court records Ms. Nix told a Seminole County sheriff's deputy Dec. 6 that a man in a van began following her as she was driving east on state Road 46 and signaled her that there was something wrong with her car. She drove to a service station on U.S. Highway 17-92 and an attendant said the car was OK.

Ms. Nix said the man resumed following her, flashing his headlights and pointing to her rear tire. The man told her the tire was going to fall off, the report said.

Ms. Nix told the man her car had been checked and she drove onto state Road 415-A where the man stopped her again in a parking lot and jumped in her car.

She said he put his hand over her mouth and told her he had a knife. She blew the car horn and screamed, which attracted a passing motorist. As he approached, the suspect ran, a report said.

State prosecutor Donald Marblestone told the jury in closing arguments that public defender James Figgate tried to indicate that his client was actually trying to help the victim and should be found guilty of the lesser included offenses which carry the maximum penalty of a year in jail.

However, Marblestone said, "you don't put your hand over someone's mouth and threaten to use a knife when you are trying to help them. He charged the jury with finding Williams guilty of the felonious counts or not guilty at all.

If convicted, Williams, who was also charged with burglary, could receive a sentence of up to 12 years under the new sentencing guidelines.

Nicaragua Asks Help Clearing Mines; 3 Killed In El Salvador

By United Press International

Nicaragua asked for international help to clear the country's ports of rebel mines and said a mine that damaged a Soviet oil tanker and injured five crewmen was "part of the strategy of the American administration."

The Soviet Union also blamed the United States for what it called "an act of banditry and piracy" and demanded compensation for damage to the vessel and crew injuries.

In El Salvador, officials Wednesday shut down the nation's schools until Sunday's presidential elections in the wake of a bombing that killed two children and an adult in a town outside San Salvador.

The mine in Nicaragua's Puerto Sandino harbor, 40 miles southwest of Managua, was hit Tuesday by the Soviet oil tanker Lugansk, which was hauling 250,000 barrels of crude oil. Five crewmen were injured and the ship was badly damaged.

The Lugansk hit the device, laid by CIA-backed rebels of the Nicaraguan Democratic Force, as the tanker made its second turn on its approach to the oil terminal, Nicaragua said.

"We are making requests to get the necessary equipment that will permit us to clear our ports of this type of terrorist explosive," Nicaraguan junta coordinator Daniel Ortega said Wednesday.

"This is not the work of the counter-revolutionaries, but part of the strategy of the American administration," Ortega said.

Ortega said requests for minesweeping equipment are "well under way," but declined to say what countries had been contacted.

In the past month, three of Nicaragua's ports were mined by U.S.-backed rebels trying to oust the leftist Sandinista government.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko echoed Nicaragua's charges, blaming Washington for the blast and demanding compensation for damages and injuries to the five sailors. The sailors are being treated in a Soviet-run hospital in Chinandega and the ship's sick bay.

In El Salvador, a bomb exploded in a pickup truck just outside Nueva Cuscatlan, 8 miles southwest of San Salvador early Wednesday, killing two children and an adult, judicial sources said.

After the bombing, government officials announced they would close all schools until after Sunday's elections.

Meese Requests Special Prosecutor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorney General-nominee Edwin Meese has asked the Justice Department to name a special prosecutor to review his financial dealings and other matters that have stalled his confirmation, Sen. Joseph Biden, D-Del., said today.

Biden told reporters that Meese advised him he has sent a letter to Attorney General William French Smith requesting the appointment of an independent counsel under the Ethics in Government Act.

The Justice Department has already launched a preliminary inquiry under the ethics law into Meese's receipt of a $15,000 interest-free loan.

Biden said Meese has asked the special prosecutor look into all matters of controversy — not only the loan, which Meese failed to disclose as required, but also his possible involvement on the transfer of Carter campaign documents to the 1980 Reagan campaign, the circumstances surrounding Meese's promotion to colonel in the Army Reserve, and suggestions Meese used his influence to secure federal jobs for people who gave him financial assistance.

Before the special prosecutor request was disclosed, Senate Republican leader Howard Baker said he does not expect any further revelations about Meese and believes the White House counselor still can win confirmation as the nation's top law enforcement officer.

Baker agreed the nomination "is carrying a lot of baggage, but I think it is still doable."

The GOP leader said the president's right to choose his Cabinet members — in this case "his lawyer" — is an important factor in favor of Meese. "I think it would take more than you've seen now to defeat the nomination," Baker said.

James Jenkins, Meese's top aide, said Meese has no intention of asking Reagan to pull back from the nomination.

"He's not going to withdraw," Jenkins said. "He's a tough guy."

The ring is believed to be responsible for 40 to 45 burglaries, Spolski said, but that number may increase.

Airport Authority OKs Bonds Sale

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

The sale of more than $500,000 in industrial revenue bonds has been approved by the Sanford Airport Authority to build facilities for three industries at the airport.

Bonds of this type are usually bought by a bank and under the industrial revenue bonding concept, interest earned by the bank is tax-exempt, said Airport Authority Attorney Bill Hutchison.

While the city of Sanford issues the bonds, as owner of the airport, it is not liable for their repayment. The industry which has asked for the bonds is responsible for repayment, Hutchison said.

J.S. "Red" Cleveland, director of aviation, said approval was given by the authority for bond issues for:

- Construction of a 10,000 square foot hangar for Celeste Industries Inc. which manufactures and fabricates interiors for aircraft and other specialty vehicles. Cost of construction is $140,000.
- Construction of a 4,900 square foot executive hangar, costing $80,000, for S&H Fabricating and Engineering Inc., a tenant at the airport.
- Construction of a 16,000 square foot dock height warehouse at a cost of $300,000 for Codisco Inc. Codisco's corporate headquarters is located at the airport. The firm was one of the airport's first tenants. A Codisco subsidiary, Metal Manufacturing, is already leasing 80,000 square feet of space at the airport.

Also approved by the airport authority was the lease of Building 415 to Orient Express Airways Florida Inc.

Cleveland said Orient Express is a new organization out of Miami and it will be using portable building 415 at the airport for air cargo and associated air activities.

Cargo planes owned by the firm will be flying in and out of the Sanford Airport, he said.

In mid 70s.

Anderson Switches To Challenge Selph

Joy Anderson, a paralegal and attorney's office manager, is withdrawing from a contest with incumbent Seminole County Commissioner Barbara Christensen for a county commission berth to challenge state Rep. Carl Selph, R-Casselberry, instead.

Mrs. Anderson, 40, and a Democrat, said she was approached by Democratic Party officials and asked to run against Selph.

She said she will be filing her intent to run papers with state election officials in Tallahassee within the next few days.

"We in Seminole County are facing critical problems in the years ahead and unless we have strong representation on the state level we will miss the boat," she said. "Selph is not providing that leadership and representation."

Selph is completing his first two-year term in office.

Married, the mother of three children and grandmother of one, Mrs. Anderson is employed by Faith Sialnaker, a Fern Park lawyer.

She and her family live in Fern Park.

This will be her first time to seek elective office.

Man Gets Car Back, But $15,000 In Jewelry Still Missing

A Winter Park man recovered his car which was stolen, but with a loss of $15,700 worth of jewelry and other items to thieves he still tops the list of victims in recent reports of thefts and burglaries to the Seminole County sheriff's department.

Christopher P. Cossette, 41, 2032 Sussex Road, gave deputies the names of two suspects who allegedly took eight diamond rings worth $15,000 and $700 worth of other items from his home when he was in the hospital recovering from surgery between March 2 and Monday.

A neighbor reportedly watched the suspects load the items in a vehicle and drive away Sunday. The victim's 1983 Toyota was also taken, but he said he received a call from a third suspect telling him where he could find the car, parked behind an Orange County motel.

Two laws were reported that a $300 bracelet and $40 cash were taken from their room at the Quality Inn, state Road 434 at Interstate 4, Longwood, between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday. Mike Eckerman, 21, and Eugene Elliott, 22, said there was no sign of forced entry to their room.

Julie Ann Rapellusch, 26, of 172 Alhambra Ave., Altamonte Springs, reported that her $300 stereo was stolen from a laundry room at 308 Tangerine St., Altamonte Springs, between Saturday and Tuesday.

Roberto Diaz, 42, found some jewelry in his yard that a thief dropped as he left Diaz's house at 1711 Sandwood Drive, Longwood, around 10 a.m. Tuesday, but the thief apparently got away with a $500 gold and diamond watch.

A thief who cut through a wire door carried off $639 worth of groundkeeping equipment from a storage shed at Poole and Fuller Nursery, 2440 Lake Howell Lane, Maitland, late Monday. A nursery employee reported it was the third time in six months the business has been burglarized.

TRACTOR, MOTORCYCLE STOLEN

In separate incidents, $16,500 worth of vehicles were taken in Sanford. Michael Alan Buck, 31, of 409 Lochmond Drive, Fern Park, told police someone took his 1973 International cab-over semi-tractor valued at $14,500.

Buck said he left the vehicle in a parking lot at 1801 W. 1st St. at 3 p.m. Saturday and "noticed" it missing 6:30 Sunday night.

After looking for the blue-over-white vehicle himself, Buck, a truck driver, "decided" to tell police the vehicle was missing and reported the loss Tuesday, according to an officer's report.

In another theft, a Sanford man told police someone took his non-running customized motorcycle.

Donald Hess Jr., 19, of 706 Laurel Ave., told police that while his motorcycle was at Larry's Chevron, 900 S. French Ave., someone took the $2,000 1978 Honda machine.

According to an officer's report, the bike is painted black with a custom multi-colored detail and chrome accessories.

It was not in running condition and Hess reported someone in a truck or van probably stole the missing bike.

GAS THEFT

A Longwood man arrested behind a Longwood business and charged with burglary to a structure and petty theft of gasoline is being held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

The suspect allegedly had climbed over a fence and siphoned gas from a vehicle when he was arrested at 12:20 a.m. Sunday, a sheriff's report said.

James Vincent Lorefice, 19, of 358 E. Jessup Ave. was arrested at the scene of the alleged theft, 103 Highline Drive, Longwood.

FORGERY TOO

A Sanford man arrested on a forgery charge at the Seminole County jail after he reportedly admitted to his victim that he stole and cashed a check drawn on Park Avenue Shopping Center, 104 Brentwood Ave., Sanford, was also charged with grand theft and trafficking in stolen property after jail officials discovered that he was wanted on those unrelated charges.

Steven M. Zaccour, 25, of 306 Elm Ave., was charged at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday for allegedly cashed at the Flagship Bank the $160 check which he allegedly drafted on the account of his former employer in March.

He is being held in lieu of $1,000 bond on the forgery charge and bond has not been set for the other charges.

THREE BICYCLES STOLEN

Three bicycles with a total value of over $600 were taken from a Sanford home.

According to a Sanford officer's report, someone, between 8 p.m. Friday and 3 p.m. Saturday took three bicycles valued at $630 from the home of Larry Williams, 34, of 400 Plumosa Drive.

Williams told police that missing from his garage was a Mongoose bike valued at $300, a 28-inch Murray bicycle worth $150 and a 23-inch Ross bike costing $180.

LEAVING THE SCENE

A Winter Springs man was arrested after being accused of leaving the scene of an accident with injuries. He was also charged with driving under the influence and driving with an unlawful blood alcohol level.

According to an officer's report a hit-and-run accident was reported at 8:28 p.m. Friday at the intersection of state Road 15 and Lake Triplet Drive, near Casselberry. The victim and a witness chased the suspect for almost a mile before the man stopped, the officer reported.

Bush Kent Allen Hage, 19, of 766 Sheeah Blvd., Winter Springs, told the officer that he was stopped at the intersection in his station wagon when another station wagon "rear-ended" him, then drove off. Hage, who had been in a previous accident, was complaining of neck and back pain.

The eyewitness, Thomas Duxbury, 25, of 2205 Cordoba Drive, Sanford, corroborated Hage's story. The suspect, whom the officer had to catch when he fell down trying to touch his nose as part of a roadside sobriety test, was then arrested.

Charged with leaving the scene of an accident with injuries, driving under the influence, and having an unlawful blood alcohol level is William Alton Dew, 4095 S. Hawthorn Circle. Dew was released from the Seminole County jail after posting a $5,000 bond.

Small Business Group Honors Banker

Janice R. Springfield of Sanford, group president of Sun Bank NA, Orlando, has been named 1984 Banker Advocate of the Year for Florida by the Jacksonville District Office of the Small Business Administration (SBA). The award is given annually in connection with Small Business Week May 6-12.

In announcing the award, Douglas E. McAllister, district director of the SBA in Jacksonville, said that Mrs. Springfield has been cited for her outstanding contribution to the small business community of Florida. As a banker advocate, she has been an active participant in seminars and workshops on financing for small business acquainting both banks and businessmen with the availability of SBA assistance.

Formerly a vice president with Flagship Bank of Seminole, Mrs. Springfield said she is "really honored and happy at being named Banker Advocate for the Year." She assumed her present position in January following the merger of Flagship with Sun Bank.

"Flagship was a big backer of SBA and made a lot of SBA loans," she said. "Many of the big industries, in Sanford and Seminole County were helped to get started here through Small Business loans. SBA helped me when I was coming up in the loan department. My involvement with SBA loans as well as the bank's training helped me develop depth in making loans."

Mrs. Springfield said she recently spoke on SBA loans to Florida Software and in two months will be speaking on the subject at Seminole Community College. She is also involved in the planning of a 2-day SBA Women's Business Ownership Conference to be held in June. Mrs. Springfield has been the recipient of many awards for her contributions to civic enterprises, education and human relations. She is vice chairman and board member of Central Florida Regional Hospital, and board member and treasurer of Pankhurst, Inc., a business women's organization that helps young women develop leadership traits.

County To Review Master Plan

Growth Catching Up With East Seminole

By Britt Smith
Herald Staff Writer

Once, not too long ago, the eastern part of Seminole County was a quiet, rural place to live, full of wide open spaces with room to stretch out and grow.

Well, it seems east Seminole has been "discovered" and the growth has come more quickly than expected.

Stuck with a comprehensive plan which still regards that section of the county as basically rural, the county commission Tuesday instructed its staff to begin a review of the plan and suggest changes so that future growth can be properly managed.

The problem is the result of eastern Seminole becoming a bedroom community for the rapid growth in northeastern Orange County — the expansion of the University of Central Florida and such major employers as Martin Marietta and Westinghouse. There is also talk of a toll road going through that area.

"We could continue to try to force rapid growth to fit into the rural-type plan we adopted back in 1978," County Administrator T. Duncan Rose said. "But that is no good. We have to be able to plan for what's going on out there."

For example, "we have a lot of rezoning requests right now" from agricultural to residential and commercial, "but the fire stations in that area are so far away that you get 10-12 minute response times," Rose said. "That raises the question, 'Should we allow those rezonings, allow people to put houses in there with that kind of problem?' We need a fire station in the (county Road) 520-Chapman Road area but our comprehensive plan doesn't call for it."

Rose said it will take up to two years for the review to be completed. In the meantime, growth will have to be managed on a project-by-project basis rather than by an overall plan.

Also Tuesday, commissioners tried to smooth the ruffled feathers of a group of area builders and developers upset over what they consider the commission's lack of appreciation for their study of the county's building fee structure.

The committee was formed last year after the commission upped all building-related fees 20 percent to determine if those charges are too high and accurately reflect the actual cost of providing such services as inspections, planning, and permitting.

The committee disbanded itself last week after members claimed commissioners were not taking seriously industry concerns that construction-related fees were too high and are being used to subsidize other areas of county operations.

In a terse, one-page statement given to commissioners, members of the committee said they were "discouraged and offended by the attitude of the county commission that regardless of what our findings might be, that there would be no changes in the Seminole County fee structure."

"As volunteers serving the county, we are unwilling to spend valuable time and effort in conducting this evaluation if its findings are not going to be considered."

It was all a misunderstanding, Rose said. "What we wanted to get across is that we are not going to commit ourselves to doing what the group recommends just because they recommend it," he said. "What we will do is take their information and consider it during our budget deliberations for a possible change in the fee structure next year," he said.

Those deliberations being in late June, with the new fiscal year starting Oct. 1.

"What is unlikely is that we would change the fees in mid-budget year," Rose said. "Of course, that is up to the board" of commissioners.

Commission Chairman Sandra Glenn said she plans to contact Homebuilders Association of Mid-Florida Executive Director Richard Allison to see if he can get the committee to reassemble and continue its study.

FCC Postpones Business 'Access Charge' Until June

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Communications Commission Wednesday postponed until June a telephone "access charge" on businesses that had been scheduled to take effect in two weeks.

The commission said in a statement that the tariffs filed by phone companies to justify the long-distance hookup charge had not allayed the panel's concerns.

Because the access charges will have "a broad impact upon the telecommunications industry as well as the user public," the commission said it will try to ensure "that the tariffs are generally reasonable and workable before they were allowed to take effect."

The FCC voted in January to delay the access charges — a flat, $2 monthly fee to cover the cost of hookups to long-distance lines — for residential customers and businesses with only one phone line until June 1985.

At the time, the FCC said the access charges for larger businesses — any with more than one phone line — would take effect April 3. But under today's order, those charges — ranging from $2 to $6 a line — will be delayed to June 13.

Free Health Screening Offered

Free health screening, along with information on how to develop a more healthful lifestyle, will be available March 27 from noon to 7 p.m. and March 28 from 9 a.m. to noon at the Sanford Civic Center on Lake Monroe.

Summary and referral by health professionals are two most beneficial aspects of the health fair normally not found in such an event, according to hospital officials. Another plus is a follow-up for those who may have had abnormal results to see if the participant has received further consultation and taken corrective action.

Sponsored by Central Florida Regional Hospital and the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, free tests will include vision, hearing, blood pressure, height/weight, anemia and (glaucoma March 28).

Two optional tests, blood chemistry and cardiac risk profile will also be offered at a low fee. The blood chemistry has a $8 fee and requires a minimum fast of four hours. If a participant wishes to also have the cardiac risk profile, the fee for analysis of the 24 tests in the blood chemistry and the cardiac profile will be $14 for both. The latter profile requires a 12 hour fast.

Participants must be 18 years of age or older.

One of some 35 sites in Central Florida, Health Fair 1984 is brought to the community through Hospital Corporation of America of which Central Florida Regional is an affiliate. WFTV9, the Central Florida Chapter of American Red Cross and the National Screening Council.

Rams, Apopka Set Stage For Saturday's Battle

Schmit Shakes Off Rough 2nd, Stymies Hawks

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer
Giving up five runs in one inning, with the help of a strong wind, may be enough to frustrate the average pitcher. But Lake Mary sophomore Mike Schmit is not your average pitcher.

After surrendering a three-run homer to Lake Howell's Paul Plaugher with no outs in the top of the second inning, Schmit kept his composure and closed the door on the Silver Hawks as he retired 18 of the next 20 batters he faced. Lake Mary then got its bats going and rallied to a 12-5 victory over the Hawks in Five Star Conference baseball action Wednesday at Lake Mary High.

"Schmit really knows how to pitch in tough situations," Lake Mary coach Allen Tuttle said. "I always feel we're in the game with him out on the mound."

The victory was an important one for the Rams since they remain one-half game behind Apopka for the conference lead. Apopka whipped Seminole, 7-2, Wednesday to improve to 8-1-1. Lake Mary, 12-4 overall and 7-1 in the conference, hosts the Blue Darters Saturday at 1 p.m. Lake Howell fell to 10-8 overall and 4-4 in the conference with the loss. The Silver Hawks host DeLand Friday at 3:30.

"This is a big win for us going into the Apopka game," added Tuttle.

Schmit, who held the Silver Hawks hitless after the second inning, struck out seven and walked two in picking up his eighth victory of the season.

Lake Mary got on the board first with two runs in the bottom of the first inning. Ryan Lisle drew a walk to lead off and, with one out, Scott Underwood walked. Schmit followed with a RBI single to right, driving in Lisle and sending Underwood to third. Barry Hysell then grounded out to first but picked up a RBI as Underwood scored.

Mike Schmit calls this pitch his hat trick. While Lake Howell's Terry Gammons is waiting for the next offering (halfway there), Schmit nods his head and his hat (right) falls downward. Gammons, the Silver Hawks' freshman center fielder, solved the Lake Mary righthander for a double in three trips, but Lake Mary ripped the Hawks, 12-5, to set up Saturday's first-place clash with Apopka. Schmit ran his record to 8-0 for the year with a five-hitter.

Lake Howell responded with five runs on four hits in the top of the second. Van Golmont led off with a walk and Terry Gammons ripped a double off the center field fence. Victor Roberts then lofted a high fly ball to right field which the wind took and blew over Lisle's head and both Golmont and Gammons scored and Roberts ended up at second. John Canfield then tapped a wormburner down the third base line for an infield single to put runners on the corners. Plaugher, the ninth hitter in the order, then lifted a fly ball to center field which the wind carried right out of the ball park for a three-run homer and a 5-2 Lake Howell lead. Still with no outs in the inning, Lake Howell had the top of the order up looking to add to its lead. But Schmit beared down and struck out Jeff Poindexter and then got both Bill Lang and Jay Robey to ground back to the mound.

Lang, the startin' pitcher for Lake Howell, walked the bases loaded with two outs in the bottom of the second but got Schmit to hit a comebacker to the mound for the third out.

Lake Mary came back with one run in the third inning to cut the Hawks lead to 5-3 and the Rams chased Lang with four runs in the bottom of the fourth. Shane Letterio drew a walk to lead off the fourth and Underwood was hit by a pitch. Schmit then drilled a double down the first base line to drive in Letterio and leave runners on second and third for Hysell.

Todd Minotti then came on in relief of Lang and he walked Hysell to load the bases. Rod "C.J." Metz then stroked a single up the middle to drive in both Underwood and Schmit and send Hysell to third. Hysell then scored the fourth run of the inning on a wild pitch, giving the Rams a 7-5 lead.

Lake Mary added some insurance with five runs on two hits and three Lake Howell errors in the bottom of the sixth. Hysell reached on a fielder's choice and Metz drew a walk. Kevin Hill then reached on an error scoring Hysell and Donald Grayson followed with a RBI single down the third base line. Dewaine Mitchell then reached on a fielder's choice and Ryan Lisle followed by smashing a two-run homer over the left field fence for a 12-5 Lake Mary lead.

Brewer's Hot Stick Batters Sanford, 7-2

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor
APOPKA — What's more menacing, Rodney Brewer firing strikes from 60-feet-6 inches away or Rodney Brewer knocking baseballs around the park like its his own favorite pinball machine?

Coach Bobby Lundquist's Fighting Seminoles only had to face one-half of Brewer's awesome arsenal Wednesday, but it was enough to leave Lundquist shaking his head and wondering outloud "why do we pitch to this guy?"

Brewer, turning in his golden arm for a golden bat, smashed homer, a ground-rule double and single for four runs batted in as the Blue Darters zapped Seminole, 7-2, in prep baseball Wednesday at Apopka High.

"That's the last time we're going to pitch to him," said Lundquist about Apopka's sweet-swinging lefty. "I'm serious. If we don't pitch to him, it's a decent ballgame."

Brewer started his barrage in the first inning. After Trey Brasseur walked and moved up on a wild pitch, Billy Johnson grounded out to shortstop. Brewer then jumped on the first pitch from lefty William Wynn and launched it over the right-field fence for a 2-0 lead.

"It was a curve," said Brewer, about his seventh homer. "Yes, it was a curve," Wynn later said. "But it was in a good place, low, he just hit it."

The Blue Darters added four more in the third. Brasseur, who walked three straight times, drew his second pass and Billy Johnson roped a single to left. Brewer followed with a towering drive to right center, which neither Larry Thomas or James Hersey could run down. It bounced once and then went over the fence for a ground-rule double to score Brasseur.

Livernois Returns In Style, Whiffs 11 In Lyman Win

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

It didn't take Lyman's Derek Livernois very long to prove he's recovered from a sore shoulder. The hard-throwing righthander fanned 11 batters over four innings and Steve Hutsell finished up as the Greyhounds trimmed Spruce Creek, 6-1, in Five Star Conference baseball Wednesday night at Lyman High.

Lyman, 8-7 and 5-3, entertains Mainland Friday night at 7 p.m.

Livernois, 3-3, started in impressive fashion by striking out the first six hitters. In the third, he struck out the first batter, got the second on a fly to center and whiffed the third. In the fourth, it was strikeout, walk, strikeout, walk, walk and strikeout.

Spruce Creek didn't get a hit until the sixth inning when Paul Courington slapped a two-out single to center off Hutsell, who gave up the lone run in the sixth frame.

Lyman gave Livernois a solid cushion with four first-inning runs which were helped by three consecutive Spruce Creek errors. With one out, Mike Henley walked and moved to second on Clint Baker's soft ground out to third.

When the center fielder dropped Livernois' fly ball, Henley came around for a 1-0 lead. Robbie Robinson then reached when the shortstop booted the ball and Livernois scored when the third baseman misplayed Greg Lorenz' grounder.

Illini, Maryland Fight For Attention Tonight

By United Press International
When they're not battling each other under the boards, Illinois and Maryland will be fighting for the attention of the crowd in tonight's NCAA Midwest Regional semifinals at Lexington, Ky.

Most of the fans who will jam into Rupp Arena consider the Illinois-Maryland faceoff as a mere preliminary for the second game of the doubleheader — an intrastate duel between Kentucky and Louisville.

"Our game might be a preliminary for the TV viewers and the fans in the arena, but it's the main event for us," Maryland's Ben Coleman said.

The sixth-ranked Illinois and No. 10 Terps figure to get noticed. Maryland, 24-7 and the ACC Tournament champion, is one of the hottest teams in basketball, having won eight straight games and 10 of the last 11.

They are big, physical and on an impressive shooting spree. Led by the 6-foot-9 Coleman and 6-8 guard Adrian Branch, they have made nearly 58 percent of their field-goal attempts in the past four games.

"They are," said Illinois coach Lou Henson. "A team that could give anybody trouble right now."

Illinois, 25-4 and the Big 10 co-champions, is also physical, although not as big or deep as Maryland.

"This team is not as talented as some you might see," Henson said. Forward Efrem Winters leads Illinois with just over 15 points a game. Bruce Douglas, a 6-3 guard, and 6-4 forward Doug Alteneberger also average in double figures.

Louisville and Kentucky will meet for the third time within a year after not playing for 24 years. In the regional semifinals, the game is much more than a grudge match.

"This particular game is more important from the standpoint that it's a tournament game," Louisville coach Denny Crum said.

"It's not who we're playing that's important," said Kentucky guard Jim Master.

Third-ranked Kentucky, 27-4, avenged its 12-point loss to Louisville in last year's Midwest finals by beating the Cardinals by 21 points in a regular-season game last November.

Louisville, 24-10, has greatly improved since then behind guards Lancaster Gordon and Milt Wagner.

In the East Regional semifinals at Atlanta tonight, No. 1 North Carolina meets No. 18 Indiana and No. 17 Syracuse battles unranked Virginia.

The pairings for next Monday's National Invitation Tournament semifinal round at Madison Square Garden in New York have been established.

The winner of the Thursday night's Xavier-Michigan game faces the survivor of Friday night's Tennessee-Virginia Tech quarterfinal tilt in the opener of the Garden doubleheader.

In the nightcap, the winner of Thursday night's Santa Clara-Southwestern Louisiana clash takes on Friday night's victor of the contest between Notre Dame and Pittsburgh.

Knocked For A Looper

SCC's Eddie Looper scrambles back to the bag as McComb's Vito Bertl tries to find the handle. Looper knocked the visiting Michigan junior college for a loop with two doubles and three runs batted in Wednesday as the Raiders swept a double-header to improve their record to 19-9-1.

Dodgers' 'Eye In The Sky' Grounds Talk Of Premature Termination

VERO BEACH (UPI) — The best story of the whole spring is Mike Scioscia.

For a couple of seasons Everybody in the world loves to see a guy who's knocked down pick himself up and make it all the way back, and that's what Scioscia has done. It's still a little early, of course. The season doesn't start for another two weeks, but the big left-handed hitting Dodger catcher has looked so good from the first day he reported, he not only has amazed all those who remember what happened to him, but already has put himself in line for "comeback of the year award."

That's not the whole story, though. Scioscia, only 25, came as close as he ever wants to come to being finished, all done, last year. He thought maybe he had thrown his arm out of its socket or suffered some other catastrophe like that, but it was worse. He was discovered to have an ulcerated rotator cuff. Problems with rotator cuffs have been responsible for prematurely terminating the careers of more ball players than probably any other condition you can name.

For all the other Dodgers, the regular season ended Oct. 2 at home last year. For Scioscia, it ended May 14 in San Diego. That was when and where he played his last game. He played in only 12 games last year. With his arm practically useless, he couldn't play in any more than that.

Where do you think the Dodgers sent Scioscia after he was unable to throw any more? Albuquerque or San Antonio? Wrong.

They sent him upstairs to work in the press box. Now in case you didn't know it, nine out of every 10 ball players would rather cut hay, drive a truck or run a grain elevator than work in a press box in the middle of a bunch of sports writers. But that's what Mike Scioscia did, and some of the things he has to say about his experience are the kind of comments you won't hear from many ball players. At least, I never have.

"Right now, I couldn't feel any better," beams the obviously happy 6-2 receiver from Upper Darby, Pa., whose season ended so abruptly last May after he threw out Alan Wiggins, the Padres' speedster, trying to steal.

"My shoulder was a big question mark this spring," Scioscia says. "Not in my mind, but in the manager's mind. The question was whether all the rest I had last summer and this winter would do any good. Well, I've been throwing without a bit of pain and I'm very encouraged."

So is Tommy Lasorda and all the rest of the Dodgers from what they've seen of Scioscia so far. He looks even better than he did three years ago when he won the Dodgers' regular catching job in his first full season in the majors. That could mean he'll be their No. 1 catcher again this year, which, at the very least, would make him worthy of a paper in the medical journal considering what he went through last year. He can tell you most of the details.

"We were playing in San Diego and were ahead by a couple of runs in the fifth or sixth inning," relates Scioscia, who hit his only homer of the season in that game. "Wiggins was on first and I knew he was going. As soon as I saw him take off and Dave Anderson covering second for us, I threw the ball as hard as I could. The moment I let the ball go, I could feel my shoulder stretch and then come back in the socket. The pain was one of the worst I've ever had in my life."

Nailing Wiggins was a major accomplishment all by itself inasmuch as he set a San Diego club record by stealing 66 bases last season and once stole 120 bases in a single season in the minors.

Scioscia was in such intense pain, he walked out to the mound. Jerry Reuss took one look at him and immediately guessed what happened.

"You blew it out?" he said.
"I think so," Scioscia answered him.
At first, Dr. Frank Jobc, one of the Dodgers' physicians, believed Scioscia had merely torn a muscle fibre in his shoulder and would be out three weeks. Later, it was discovered there had been some fraying around the rotator cuff.

Shortly after Scioscia hurt his arm, the Dodgers put him to work in all the press boxes in the league. His job was to set the Dodgers' infield and outfield defenses according to charts the club kept showing the tendencies of opposing hitters. Scioscia used a walkie-talkie in the press box to communicate with Monty Basgall, one of the Dodger coaches, in the dugout. Lasorda called Scioscia the Dodgers' "Eye In The Sky."

Scioscia hadn't known a whole lot about press boxes and got much more of an education about them and their occupants than he ever imagined. He reached the point where he was able to work "the machine" — the portable computer so many writers use — and even was persuaded to try writing a story for a California newspaper. He did it at the suggestion of Peter Schmuck, who was covering the Dodgers for the Orange County Register.

"He didn't use it, though," Scioscia says, voicing a newsman's familiar lament. "I learned a lot about sports writers, though. Believe it or not, they surprised me. Those guys really work hard. I was in every press box in the league and I watched them. They can kid around once in a while, but they've got their heads in the game and they're on top of things."

"As a ball player, you never see the other side of it, but I saw how the writers have to hustle downstairs to the clubhouse after every game and keep working after everyone else in the ball park is gone. They work much harder than people think."

Forget about Comeback of the Year. If Mike Scioscia keeps up this kind of talk, he's a cinch for MVP.

Patriots Pound Lady Seminoles

Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots banged out 10 hits en route to a 8-2 victory over Sanford's Lady Seminoles in Five Star Conference softball action Wednesday at Lake Brantley High.

It was the second straight victory for the Patriots who now stand at 2-6 overall and 2-2 in the conference. Seminole fell to 3-4 overall and 1-3 in the conference.

Lake Brantley took a 2-0 lead in the bottom of the first as Kim Wain singled and scored on a triple off the bat of Debbie Cook and Cook scored on Dana Gebhart's sacrifice fly.

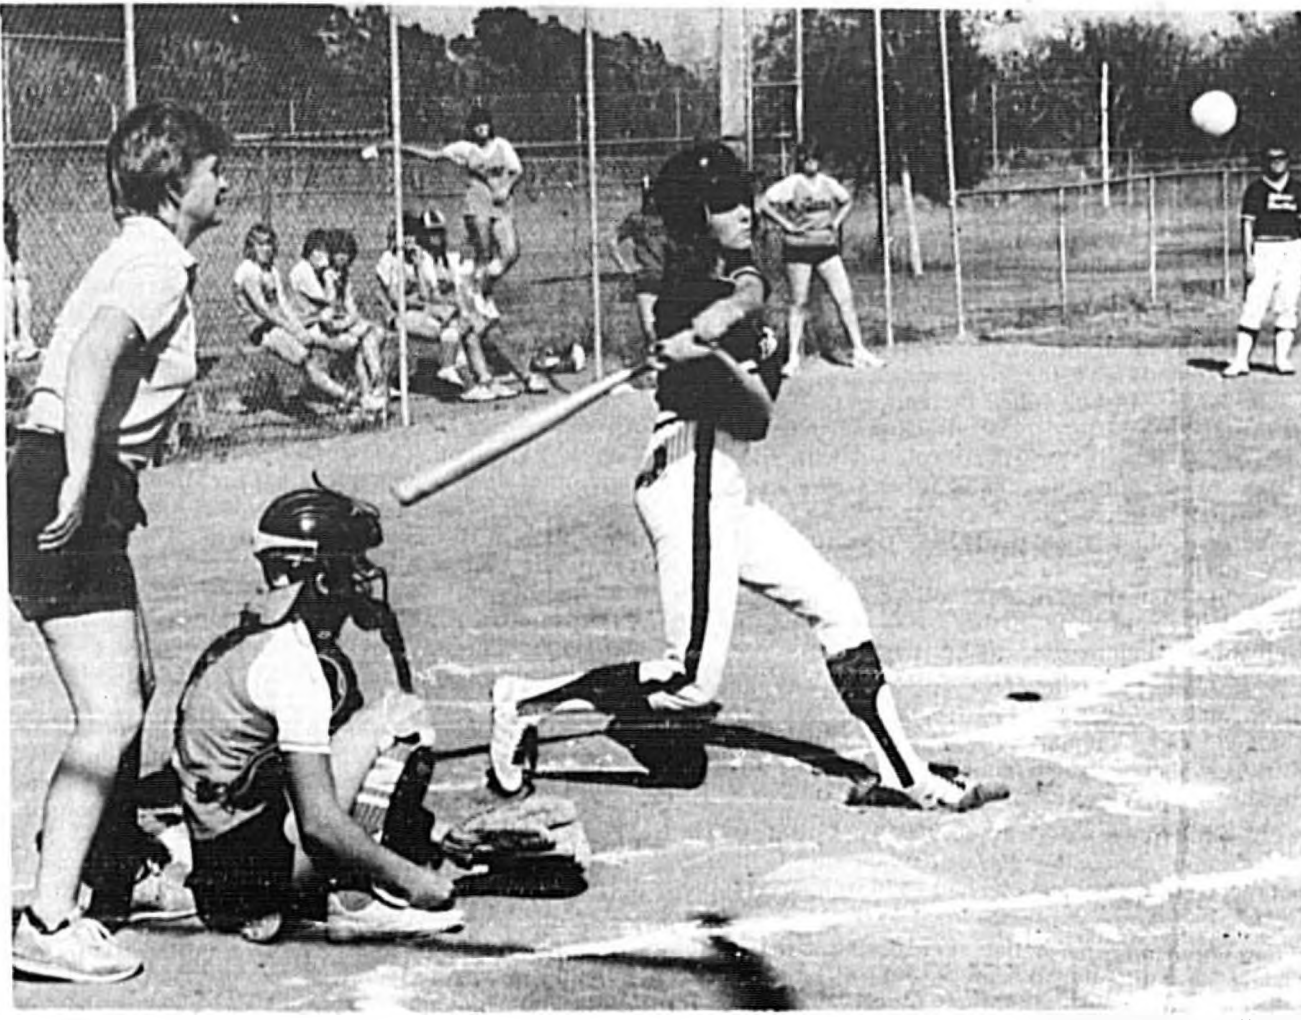

The Lady Patriots broke the game open with four runs in the bottom of the fourth inning. Kim Longhouser led off with a single and both Holly Hagaman and Wendy Jeffers walked to load the bases. Wain then drew a walk to force in Longhouser and two runs scored on a single off the bat of Sherry Asplen. Cook drove in the fourth run with a sacrifice fly.

Lake Brantley took a 8-0 lead with two more runs in the fifth. Laura Davis singled and scored on a single by Hagaman and Longhouser, who drew a walk, scored on a sacrifice fly by Ashley Thomas.

Seminole scored its only two runs in the top of the sixth. Shelley Harley and Jackie Farr hit back-to-back singles and Harley scored on a RBI single off the bat of Sheri Peterson and Farr scored on Barbours' single.

Seminole was hampered from further scoring by base-running interference calls which cut short the rally.

Peterson led the Tribe with a double. Seminole travels to Daytona Beach today for 4 p.m. battle with Seabreeze.

Lady Hawk Eileen Thiebauth gets ready to tee off as Oviedo's Kathy Mike reaches for the ball.

Hernandez, Bair Receive Apologies

By United Press International
Keith Hernandez and Doug Bair Wednesday got the apology they sought, saving themselves and former Major League Baseball Players Association director Kenneth Moffett the trouble of a lawsuit.

Moffett publicly apologized to the two ballplayers for remarks he made at a seminar at Washington last month. Moffett had hinted that the two were traded by the St. Louis Cardinals last year because of involvement with illegal drugs.

"I deeply regret having said anything on Feb. 22, 1984 which could have been construed in any way as linking Keith Hernandez with illegal drugs," Moffett said in a statement. "I want to publicly apologize to Keith Hernandez and his family, and make it clear that I have no knowledge, first hand or otherwise, of why the Cardinals traded Keith Hernandez. I also have no knowledge, first hand or otherwise, that Keith Hernandez was using, or ever has used illegal drugs."

In exhibitions:
At Yuma, Ariz., Al Oliver's fifth-inning double broke a 6-6 tie and keyed a five-run outburst that lifted the San Francisco Giants to an 11-8 victory over the San Diego Padres. Bill Laskay was the winner despite giving up nine hits and six runs in five innings.

At Tempe, Ariz., Mike Heath had a triple, three singles and three RBI to rally the Oakland A's to a 10-4 triumph over the Seattle Mariners. Tom Romana and Dave Kingman each added two hits for the A's.

At Palm Springs, Calif., Ron Romanek, vying for a spot in California's starting rotation, retired all 12 batters he faced to help the Angels to a 6-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

At St. Petersburg, the New York Mets, capitalizing on a five-run third inning in which they sent 10 men to the plate, routed the New York Yankees 9-4. Darryl Strawberry drove in three runs with two doubles.

At Sun City, Ariz., Paul Molitor hit a grand slam and Mark Brouhard and Robin Yount each hit three-run shots to lead the Milwaukee Brewers' 24-hit attack in a 20-10 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

At Dunedin, Jim Morrison clubbed a grand slam with two out in the eighth and Milt May drove in four runs with two homers to lead the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 12-9 victory over the Toronto Blue Jays.

At Pompano Beach, Dodgers shortstop Dave Anderson made three errors, leading to two unearned runs, and three Texas Rangers pitchers combined on a five-hitter for a 2-1 victory over Los Angeles.

At Fort Myers, Gary Roenicke's two-run double in the sixth lifted the Baltimore Orioles to a 6-1 triumph over the Kansas City Royals. Baltimore, 11-6, has won four straight and six of its last seven.

At Orlando, Kent Hrbek slammed a two-out bases-loaded double in the seventh to give the Minnesota Twins a 4-3 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies. Hrbek, hitting only .173 this spring, drilled his double off reliever Willie Hernandez.

At Lakeland, Dave Stapleton had two hits and two RBI and Mike Easler and Glenn Hoffman added two hits each to power the Boston Red Sox to a 5-4 victory.

At Cocoa, Jerry Mumphrey knocked in three runs and Ray Knight drove in two to key an 18-hit attack that carried the Houston Astros to a 13-8 victory.

At West Palm Beach, pinch-hitter Gary Carter doubled in the eighth to lift the Montreal Expos to a 2-0 decision over the Chicago White Sox.

Serious Accidents Infrequent In BMX

This article is to concerned parents, the ones who worry that their son or daughter could be seriously injured if allowed to race BMX.

Your fears, parents, are not totally unfounded. A rider can be injured, but nothing more serious than a fracture or broken bone. The tracks have insurance, and your child will receive medical attention.

The chance, though, of your child breaking a bone is not very good. As a matter of fact, your child is safer on a BMX track than the street in the front of your house. There are no speeding cars on a BMX track.

As parents your next worry would be, of course, expense. Well, as I've stressed, BMX doesn't have to be expensive. At first it might be because the rider may want to become a member of the National Bicycle League (NBL), which costs

Christy Davis Herald BMX Writer

$17.50 a year. Racers do not necessarily have to join this sanction. They can race an Open class and wait until they've saved up enough money to join NBL.

NBL is an organization that riders can join to earn national points. As a member, instead of racing the Open you race Novice or Expert. You will receive a card with an NBL number and a number to go on your plate. Every month, you will receive a publication called Bicycles Today. This informs you of your points standings, and gives general news about BMX.

A third worry parents may have is transportation back and forth to the track, especially since the nearest track is in Pine Hills. Well, if your child is on a race team, they usually provide transportation back and forth to the track. Where do you find a sponsor? Well, check out area businesses who might be interested in starting a race team. Check bicycle shops and see if they don't already have a team.

Remember, the tracks are totally supervised and all a rider needs to get started is a bike, pads, and a number plate.

This past Saturday NBL did not race because National Pedal Sports Association (NPSA) held its triple crown race at Barnett Park. Racing will resume next week with registration at 6 p.m. and racing starts at 8 p.m.

Casselberry Cats Prepare For '84 Season

The erstwhile "Casselberry Cats" are alive and well and still scratching on the softball field. Manned by a new influx of Oviedo High School athletes and now named the "Duda Flying Tigers," Orlando's only 16- to 18-year-old boys slowpitch team will compete again in the Longwood league.

The Tigers will play Wednesday nights and will enter numerous ASA "Jr. Olympic" tournaments in June and July. They will play in the Nationals in Ohio in August as the Orlando Metro ASA area's representative.

Heading the list of veterans will be Eddie Norton, Pat LaCore, Al Banyascki and Bob Bliss — all four year returnees. Norton, a football basketball player at Oviedo, will handle short or left center for the Tigers. LaCore, a Lake Howell football ace, is a first baseman.

Other vets returning are Lake Howell footballers Tim Weber and Robert Kerr and ex-Lake Howell baseball player Kenny Tuttle, now at Valencia. Weber is versatile and will play many positions. Kerr is the pitcher, Tuttle the other short stop-left centerfielder.

Newcomers are Lake Howell footballer Joe Brondon, an infielder; Oviedo football players Tim Turbyfield (second-short-third), E.J. Rossow (1b-0f), and Rob Moody (also soccer standout) outfield; Oviedo basketball players Kelly Klukks (infield and pitch), Al Unroe (3b-0f), Tom Couch (1b-c). Rossow also was on the Oviedo basketball varsity.

Two more Oviedo students roundout the Duda Flying Tiger roster — Orlando Cepeda Jr. and Raul Cocho, both transfer students who were ineligible to play high school ball this past year.

Ron Gardner Sr. will serve as the Tigers' coach.

Indians Run Record To 5-0

The Altamonte Indians came up with two runs in the bottom of the ninth inning to nip the White Sox, 3-2, in Little League action Tuesday and run their record to 5-0 at the Eastmonte Complex.

Eleven-year-old William Thompson took over for starting pitcher Kurt Prom in the seventh inning and picked up the win. Prom had held the White Sox scoreless for the first six frames.

Kevin Watson led the Indians at the plate with a single and a double. The Indians scored their winning run with a bases-loaded walk.

Kiwanis, Recreation Set Races

The two mile fun run will start at 7 a.m. at the Sanford Civic Center and the 10,000 meter run will start at 7:30. to right center to score two more for a 5-0 edge. Two outs later, Mike Brown singled in Hinde for the final run of the inning.

Brewer added the final tally in the fourth. With one out, Brasseur walked but was forced at second by Billy Johnson. Johnson then stole second and went to third when the ball glanced off the umpire. Brewer followed with a shot to right field for the run.

Lost in the Brewer hit parade was an outstanding pitching performance by righthander Steve Thomason. The portly senior escaped a first-inning jam which included Steve Dennis' record-tying 28th stolen base. Thomason then retired 12 batters in a row until Thomas walked in the fifth and Brian Sheffield rapped Sanford's first basehit.

The Seminole finally scored in the seventh when Hersey beat out an infield hit, pinch hitter Tom Wilks ripped a liner over third and Thomason walked to load the bases.

Sheffield chased home one run with a force out and Tony Cox did the same with a ground ball to shortstop on which the throw for the double play was wild. Thomason, though, regrouped and fanned pinch hitter David Hanson to end the game.

"Thomason is a program player," said Apopka coach Sonny Wise about his three-year starter. "Anytime we get a performance like that from him, we're going to be tough to beat. "Brewer is a much better hitter when he doesn't have to worry about holding a team to one or two runs. When he gets that bat in his hand with nothing to worry about but hitting, look out."

Apopka ran its record to 15-1 overall and 8-1-1 in the conference. The Blue Darters have their biggest game of the year Saturday at 1 p.m. at Lake Mary. Brewer will be on the mound. The Rams, with their win over Lake Howell Wednesday, trail Apopka by one-half game in the Five Star race.

singled to load the bases. Beams lowered the boom. The Patriot center fielder rifled a grand-slam homer over the right-center field fence to pull the Patriots within three at 7-4.

It gave Beams three homers and nine runs batted in this week. His homer was his fourth, tying him for the county lead. The Patriots then pushed across three more to tie the game on a single by Jimmy Robbins, a walk to Brad Dunn and a double steal in front of Brennan Asplen's two-run single. Asplen eventually came around to tie the game on an error.

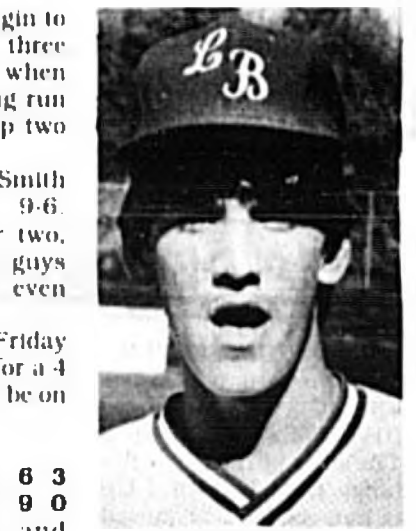

Seabreeze went ahead by two in the fifth, but Asplen singled and Robbins doubled him home to pare the margin to one. The Sanderabs went up by three with two more in the sixth, and when the Patriots added a seventh-inning run on Salmon's double, they came up two runs shy.

"Our walks killed us," said Smith whose club outlit Seabreeze, 9-6. "Every time we walked a guy or two, they got a hit. Then, when we got guys on base, we couldn't hit. We even messed up two suicide squeezes."

The Patriots try to bounce back Friday when they travel to Spruce Creek for a 4 p.m. game. Senior Kevin Gross will be on the mound.

IN BRIEF

Friday Execution Possible For Convict

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — Condemned killer Kenneth Griffin could be put to death in Florida's electric chair Friday unless his attorneys are able to gain him a reprieve in the federal court system.

Griffin's attorneys began preparing to present their case before the U.S. 11th Circuit Court of Appeals in Atlanta Wednesday immediately after U.S. District Judge Howell W. Melton refused to extend a 72-hour execution stay past 7 a.m. Friday. A Feb. 21 death warrant signed by Gov. Bob Graham extends five hours past the end of the stay.

If another stay is not issued, Florida State Prison Superintendent Richard Dugger will decide Friday morning whether to proceed with the execution, a state Department of Corrections spokesman said. Griffin, who is black, was convicted in April 1979 of murdering Hampton convenience store clerk Glen Lundgren during a holdup and then of abducting and killing 16-year-old Keith Kirshane, a customer in the store. Both of the victims were white.

Murders Remain Mystery

MIAMI (UPI) — Three men have been killed, one wounded and four others escaped injury in a mysterious shooting at a house in Opa-Locka, police say.

Two of the dead men were identified as Louis Clyde Allen, 28, who lived at the house and Delevis Lawrence, whose ages and addresses were not known, police said Wednesday.

The remainder of the identities of those involved were not released and police said Wednesday night they did not know the motive for the shootings and would not comment on whether the incident was drug-related.

Those who survived the shootings without injury were two small children, a woman and a man.

Crew Saved From Gulf

CLEARWATER (UPI) — Coast Guard helicopters snatched 15 crew members out of six-to-10-foot seas after their cargo ship full of railroad ties sank in the Gulf of Mexico about 100 miles west of Fort Myers, officials say.

Officials said the 285-foot cargo ship Panky, its leaky hull sprung open by the heavy seas and 20 mph winds, sank early Wednesday. Capt. Paul Schmidt of the Dominican Republic, skipper of the Panky, said his ship went down in 100 fathoms under the battering.

U.S. Aircraft Carrier Collides With Soviet Sub

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — A U.S. aircraft carrier that collided with a nuclear-powered Soviet attack submarine in the Sea of Japan sustained no damage, officials said. But there were conflicting reports today about the condition of the Soviet vessel.

The Soviet sub, identified by sources in Washington as a 5,200-ton Victor-I class attack craft that carries a crew of 90 and 18 torpedoes, collided with the Kitty Hawk in darkness in the southern Sea of Japan Wednesday.

Pentagon officials said the U.S. ship "shuddered" as it came in contact with the sub.

Reports from the conventionally powered 80,000-ton U.S. carrier said none of the 5,000 personnel aboard were injured and there was no hull damage.

A statement by the U.S. Navy in Seoul and the Pentagon in Washington said there was "no apparent damage" to the submarine. A Pentagon official said the Kitty Hawk stood by "to render any assistance it can to the sub."

But CBS News reported the sub was "dead in the water" and was being guarded by a Soviet ship. A Pentagon spokesman said he had no information on the report.

It was not known whether the carrier hit the sub or vice versa, but Pentagon sources said the "burden is on the submarine" concerning the right of way on the high seas. One Washington source said he thought the sub hit the carrier as it was surfacing.

The carrier, whose home port is San Diego, has been in the Japan Sea since March 1, participating in exercises with South Korean naval units.

The collision occurred as the carrier steamed at 15 knots toward the Yellow Sea, 150 miles east of South Korea, Pentagon and military sources said.

President Reagan was informed of the incident and "has what details are available from the carrier," a White House spokesman said.

In a statement, the Pentagon said, "Following a noticeable shudder which was felt throughout the ship, observers on the starboard (right) side of Kitty Hawk saw the outline of the sail (conning tower) of a submarine resembling that of a Soviet Victor Class moving away from the ship."

The submarine moved away slowly in a northerly direction under its own power and was joined by a Soviet Kara class cruiser, the Petropavlovsk, Washington sources said.

A Soviet submarine was known to be shadowing the carrier, which was participating in "Team Spirit 84" exercises with South Korean navy units. The carrier was not conducting flight operations at the time, sources said.

"The submarine is on the surface," the Pentagon statement said, adding a visual sighting of the boat by one of the carrier's SH-3H helicopters "indicated no apparent damage. Ships of the battle group are remaining in the area to render assistance if required."

But a Pentagon official said, "The Soviets never accept any help from us."

On Nov. 2, a Victor-3 submarine surfaced in distress in the Atlantic Ocean about 470 miles east of Bermuda. It eventually was towed to Cuba.

Assistance Hard To Come By

By United Press International

Emergency assistance in Tampa and Jacksonville is hard to come by for people who call for help, according to newspaper reports.

In one incident in Tampa, a 46-year-old man died Jan. 23 while his father waited 30 minutes for an ambulance to show in response to two frantic phone calls.

The dispatcher on duty for the Hillsborough County Emergency Medical Service has been fired and a second dispatcher is being investigated as a result of the incident.

In Jacksonville, police dispatcher Wendell G. Zimmerman has been charged with mishandling about 40 calls since November, including calls from two people who were being assaulted.

Zimmerman, a nine-year veteran of the force, denied the charges.

Kenneth Gearhart was fired Feb. 24 as a dispatcher for the Hillsborough Emergency Medical Service because he waited 22 minutes to send an ambulance to the home of Charles E. Throckmorton on Jan. 23.

Throckmorton's 70-year-old father made the call to Gearhart at 1:55 p.m. EMS records show. He had gone to his son's house and found him sprawled across a bed.

"We need an ambulance over here," the father said. "He's laying crossways in the bed with green stuff coming out of his mouth and everything."

A different dispatcher, not identified, received a second call from the elder Throckmorton 20 minutes later and reported incorrectly that an ambulance was on the way.

The son, 46, was dead when the ambulance finally arrived at 2:25 p.m., 30 minutes after his father's first call for assistance. Cause of death was not revealed because it is not a matter of public record in Florida.

In Jacksonville, Zimmerman has been transferred from police communications pending a disciplinary hearing March 30.

U.S. Servicemen Discharged For Illegal Drug Use

LONDON (UPI) — At least one U.S. serviceman a day, including some on nuclear weapons duty, is discharged and leaves Britain because of illegal drug use, the Times said today.

The newspaper quoted a senior U.S. Air Force official Wednesday as saying the discharge rate for the first quarter of 1984 was as high as that reported by the Defense Department for 1983.

According to the Defense Department, 445 drugs charges were brought against U.S. soldiers in Britain last year. It said about 30,000 Americans were based on 100 military sites in the country, among them Greenham Common, where American cruise missiles are deployed.

Recently, 14 servicemen at Greenham Common were discharged for drug offenses. A U.S. spokesman said all were in "non-sensitive" positions.

Most of the cases are dealt with internally and do not reach British courts.

Midway, Side Shows To Spark Peppercorn

By Doris Dietrich
PEOPLE Editor

"Professor Peppercorn and the Amazing Outdoor Traveling Show" is more than a highly animated performance.

When Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole presents its 16th annual concert, Saturday, March 24, at 8 p.m., another "first" for the talented dancers will be recorded. This is the first outdoor show for the guild and will be staged in the stadium of Lake Mary High School.

The stadium opens at 4 p.m. when a midway atmosphere takes over the ball field. Booths and tents will offer a variety of items and displays. Patrons may arrive early, shop, have a light dinner and listen to the music of Seminole High School Jazz Band before the spectacular show opens at 8.

Some of the added attractions are as follows: All Souls School will have a cotton candy booth and Ballet Guild Board of Directors and Auxiliary will sell T-shirts, balloons and coloring books (featuring the dancers).

In the stadium of Lake Mary High School.

Lake Mary High School Boosters Club is manning a food concession stand including hamburgers, hot dogs, beverages and other edibles. Lake Mary High School Band Boosters Club will have a popcorn stand.

The local chapter of the American Diabetes Association will have an "interesting slide show," according to Catherine Jackson. Members will have a "craft sale of unlimited variety aimed to help you fill your Easter baskets." Mrs. Jackson says. A tent will be set up to display the wares made by "clever hands."

Members of the Pilot Club of Sanford will sell their handmade Easter egg dolls and Gail McKee will offer soft sculpture dolls. Seminole High School Honor Society plans a funnel cake booth with the Junior Woman's Club of Sanford exhibiting a Ronald McDonald House display. Pamela Tucker will supervise a MADD display and Roseann Spain will conduct a swim exhibit.

According to Jonnie Butler, there is a lot more in store for patrons attending "Peppercorn."

Ballet Guild artistic director Valerie Weld says, "Expect a show charged with energy, spunk, spirit and surprises. The giant outdoor stage built especially for the 'Peppercorn Ballet' will be transformed into a carnival site as if the circus has come to town, replete with sparkling lights, animal cages, and, of course, the ever-present striped tent."

Mrs. Weld is optimistic that 1984 will be a year to remember as Ballet Guild "takes an unconventional leap into the World of the Big Top."

Several of the Guild's most popular dances including "The Blue and the Gray," and "The Grand Tarentella" have been revised for under the Big Top. The fast-paced show will end on a rousing patriotic note saluting America.

Funny clowns, Italian peasants, adventurous cowboys, Mexican señoritas and lively puppets are all a part of Ballet Guild's circus act.

The performance will feature 21 Ballet Guild company dancers and three guest dancers. BGS artistic director Mirlam Wright, Charmly Mann and Carolyn Moore. Dr. Frank Clontz plays the role of Professor Peppercorn, a lovable world traveler who speaks only in rhyme. His script was written by Mildred M. Caskey.

According to Jean Clontz, president of Ballet Guild Board of Directors, "The show is really great. Very lively. Very colorful."

Admission prices are: adults, $3; children and senior citizens, $2; and children under 6, free.

Tickets are available at Mary Esther's, Lois' Place, Flagship Bank of Seminole (Orlando Drive), Don Knight's Shoe Store, Gifts by Nan and Elaine's Card and Gifts

Makeup, Boys Can Wait For 11-Year-Old

DEAR ABBY: Am I an old fuddy-duddy or what? (I'm 32.) My daughter, who is 11 and in the sixth grade, insists that she is the only girl in her group who isn't allowed to wear eye makeup, shave her legs and go to the movies with boys unsupervised.

She's right, unfortunately. Most of her friends are allowed those things. It really burns me up that so many parents give their kids so much freedom that those of us who don't are "the bad guys."

Everyone keeps telling me that kids are more "mature" these days and do things at a much younger age. Sometimes I wonder if their parents aren't nuts.

We trust our daughter and know that she has a good head on her shoulders, but where is the line drawn? Am I really old-fashioned? We had hoped to make her wait to use makeup and shave her legs until she was at least 13, and hold off the boys until she was 14 or 15. But 11?

Please help me, Abby. I feel very "old" tonight.

OLDIE AT 32
DEAR OLDIE: Don't blame other parents for caving in when their children pull the old line. "Everybody else can — why can't I?" (It's not always true.) You are responsible for raising only your child — and setting the limits that seem appropriate to you.

Makeup can wait, and so can boys. But a girl who's old enough to be self-conscious about hairy legs should be given an electric shaver and permission to use it.

DEAR ABBY: I'll get right to the point: When somebody asks, "How are you?" isn't it proper to be perfectly truthful about it? If I am fine, I reply, "I am fine, thank you." But if I am ailing, I tell the person that I have a backache or I feel as though I am coming down with something, just getting over the flu, or whatever.

A friend of mine told me I should always say "I'm fine" whether I am or not because nobody really cares.

A DIFFERENCE OF OPINION

DEAR DIFFERENCE: Generalizations are dangerous (even this one), but usually when people ask "How are you?" they don't want an organ recital.

I once heard a bore defined as "A man who, when you ask him how he is, tells you." The same goes for a female bore.

DEAR ABBY: I was glad to see so many letters in your column urging readers to put their small children in proper car seats with seat belts.

Most people think they have to be in a terrible automobile accident for a child to be seriously injured or killed.

Listen to this: A neighbor of mine was driving with her 2-year-old daughter sitting beside her. While she was slowing for a stoplight — and going not more than 20 miles an hour — another car bumped her from behind, causing her little girl to fall in such a way that the child's eye was impaled on the gearshift! That gearshift went into the child's skull and into her brain. Emergency surgery was performed, but the child died on the operating table.

From that day on I have been a one-woman campaigner for children's car seats with the proper restraints.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY MARCH 23, 1984
 Fate is likely to intervene where your career is concerned this coming year. She may set into motion peculiar circumstances which could lead to your advancement.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Joint-venture commercial situations can be pulled off successfully today. However, both you and your counterpart must keep your target in focus at all times. The areas in which you'll be the luckiest in the year ahead are revealed in your Astro-Graph predictions. To get yours, mail $1 and your zodiac sign to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. To find out to which signs you are best suited romantically, send an additional $2 for your Matchmaker wheel and booklet.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Spend as many hours as possible today with one with whom you're seeking a more desirable relationship. Time can enhance your alliance.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're especially adroit today at updating or improving upon methods or systems where your work is concerned. Make the necessary revisions.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Diplomacy and tact will have greater impact than aggressiveness today. Keep this in mind if you are confronted by a difficult individual.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Should you experience strong urges to serve your fellow man today, by all means do so. Great satisfaction will be derived working for noble ends.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Important self-interests can be promoted today if you do things with a flare. Follow your instincts as a showman, but don't be too flamboyant.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't ignore your hunches in financial matters today. Your sixth sense can serve you well when trying to negotiate a bargain.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Try to relegate your activities to the mental realm today. Projects requiring you to use your imagination will prove the most rewarding.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) In order to generate a flow from a business involvement today, it may be necessary to spend a little seed money. Do so wisely.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Conditions in general look hopeful for you today, especially in matters where you are teamed up with another who shares your ideals.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) For best results today, don't broadcast your objectives. Quietly go about your purposes, but be quick to share your achievements.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You have a remarkable talent today for taking the ideas of others and putting them to practical uses of which they never dreamed.

Blocked Birth Canal May Require Surgery

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — I've had three different opinions about my medical problem. I have a ball-shaped object at the opening of my vagina. One doctor diagnosed it as the collapsed wall of my bladder. Another said the rectal wall had collapsed and would probably require surgery in three months. (It's been more than 10 months since that opinion.) The third said it was a common problem with women who've had children and that no surgery was necessary. I'm divorced and have been celibate for three years, so I don't know if there's any problem with sex. However, I want to be prepared if I should meet someone I want to marry.

DEAR READER — All three of those medical opinions are related to the same diagnosis. Many mothers have stretched and torn muscles and ligaments around the birth canal. As a result, the muscular wall at the front of the birth canal may separate enough to allow a portion of the bladder to rupture into the vagina. Or the same thing can happen at the back of the birth canal, allowing a portion of the rectum to protrude through the wall. Then the uterus may drop allowing the cervix to protrude. The urethra also may drop, causing urination problems.

In mild degrees these don't interfere with sexual relations, but the relaxed and stretched muscles may decrease satisfaction. This sometimes leads to marital discord.

You don't have to have any of these conditions repaired if they don't cause symptoms. But you should think of them as ruptures and if you want them corrected, it usually requires surgery.

You'll understand this common problem from the diagram and discussion in the Health Letter 14-12. Hysterectomy, Cystocele and Rectocele, which I'm sending you.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I've read too many stories about digoxin causing death when it was given to sick children in the hospital. I take digoxin (Lanoxin) and am very concerned about it.

I'm 67 and have taken digoxin since I had a mild heart attack 10 years ago. I'm asking you because when I ask my doctor about my medications he gets upset and says to leave that to him.

DEAR READER — Doctors have different ways of dealing with their patients. Some don't like their patients to worry about their treatment because they feel it's the doctor's responsibility.

Don't worry about the news stories of the possible use of digoxin in mysterious infant deaths at hospitals. Digoxin is a powerful medicine. It's been used for years in heart patients. After all, you've been using it for more than 10 years. It's one of the digitalis preparations that provide a family of drugs that are some of the most important medicines in the treatment of heart conditions.

The amount used in adults for this can be life saving, although it must be properly regulated. Don't be surprised that a useful medicine also can be harmful. Almost everything in life that's good can also be dangerous.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

WIN AT BRIDGE

one of those dream hands. Naturally he opens with a forcing two-bid and settles for six spades after very mild encouragement from North.

The Jack of spades is opened and South sees 13 easy tricks if hearts divide 4-3. Taking 13 tricks is fine, but safe play for six is better.

The safety play is to cash a second trump. West shows out and now only a 7-0 heart break or 9-0 diamond break can beat South.

He cashes the ace of hearts, enters dummy with the king of diamonds and leads a second heart from dummy.

East is faced with a dilemma. If he ruffs, South simply discards a low heart and will get to ruff the other one. If East discards, South takes his king, ruffs a low heart with the high 10 of spades and eventually loses the other heart.

It's not a difficult play for a national champion, but it's a play that does come up in some form or other in every bridge player's life.

Winger Wings It

By Vernon Scott
UPI Hollywood Reporter
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Debra Winger is a nominee for best actress in the Oscar race, just as she was last year and, like last year, odds are against her winning.

Chances are Debra will lose to Shirley MacLaine, her co-star in "Terms of Endearment." Last year her performance in "An Officer and a Gentleman" lost to Meryl Streep in "Sophie's Choice."

Debra would dearly love to win the Academy Award, but it's not a do or die situation for the flamboyant 28-year-old.

"I don't think about winning or losing," she said the other day. "The thrill is to be nominated. After the nomination I just short-circuit."

Debra was sitting in a friend's office with her enormous German shepherd companion, Pete.

Her soft dark hair was wind-blown and curly, her voice a low contralto and her eyes alive and full of subdued mischief.

Debra is unique. She has broken from the pack of other superb young actresses to become an unqualified movie star in only four starring roles.

Her first major impact on moviegoers was as the ragtag mechanical bull rider with John Travolta in "Urban Cowboy." Her presence was the best thing about "Canterbury Row." Then came back-to-back nominations for "An Officer and a Gentleman" and "Terms of Endearment."

Debra has not attained stardom through a beautiful face and sexy figure. Like Streep, she opens her veins on camera and talent pours out.

Off-screen she is vibrant, noisy, restless, opinionated and fascinating. She displays little tolerance for the mundane and has a short attention span.

She is also ambitious. Currently, Debra is doing what she can to publicize her new movie, "Mike's Murder," a mordant film about the death of a small-time drug pusher. She excels as the victim's lover seeking reasons for his death.

"It's my most personal performance and my most restrained," she said. "I'm very proud of this picture."

Spending by political action committees in last year's Congressional races in which an incumbent was seeking re-election was up 40 percent over 1982.

PACs Step Up Contributions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The public interest lobby Common Cause says a survey of records shows that political action committees gave $12.7 million last year to members of Congress seeking re-election.

The group said the figure represented a 40 percent increase over 1982.

Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., chairman of the Ways and Means committee, was the leading House recipient of PAC money with a total of $168,500.

He was followed by Rep. Robert Michel, R-Ill., the House Republican leader, $163,078; Rep. Don Sundquist, R-Tenn., $136,870; Rep. James Jones, D-Okla., chairman of the Budget Committee, $127,150; Rep. Tony Coelho, D-Calif., chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, $121,908; Speaker Thomas O'Neill, D-Mass., $112,025; Rep. Joseph Addabbo, D-N.Y., $107,703; and Rep. William Hughes, D-N.J., $101,724.

Common Cause President Fred Wertheimer said a bill is pending that would cap the amount of money a candidate can receive from PACs and would establish an alternation of financing campaigns through tax credits.

"Despite the staggering growth of the PAC industry in recent years, an effort to control the power of PACs is gaining momentum in Congress," Wertheimer said. "We are working to make 1984 the last election dominated by special interest PAC money."

The study showed that PAC receipts in 1983 alone were slightly larger than the $12.5 million contributed to all candidates for the Senate and House — incumbents and challengers — in 1973-74.

The study showed that 27 members of the House leadership, including O'Neill, Michel and Democratic leader Jim Wright, received $1.3 million from PACs. The 80 freshmen congressmen received $3 million, with 19 of them getting more than $50,000.

The study also indicated members of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee received, in the aggregate, the most PAC money — an average of $47,233. The members of the Energy and Commerce Committee were second. Rules Committee third and Foreign Affairs Committee last.

Addabbo was the biggest House fund raiser in 1983 with $386,398. He was followed by Rep. Steve Bartlett, R-Texas, $339,329; Rep. Tom Lantos, D-Calif., $336,485; Rep. John McCain, R-Ariz., $334,720; and Rep. Martin Frost, D-Texas, $302,930.

Deadly Prediction Has Come To Pass

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Last summer, Attorney General Jim Smith predicted executions would resume in the fall following a five-year delay in which anti-death penalty attorneys were able to prevent the state from carrying out death sentences with relative ease.

Although it looked at first as if Smith had missed the mark — such longtime Death Row inmates as Willie Darden were still able to get stays of execution — it appears in retrospect that Smith knew exactly what he was talking about.

In Nov. Robert Sullivan was put to death for the murder of a south Florida motel-restaurant official, and less than two months later Anthony Antone was executed for helping to arrange the murder of a Tampa policeman.

It also appears Smith may be right in another prediction he made at the time of Sullivan's execution. Smith said as many as half a dozen prisoners might be executed this year, with twice that many to die the next year.

One execution has already taken place this year. Gov. Bob Graham has maintained his untested policy of keeping an active death warrant in the works at all times and — just as importantly — there is no great public outcry over the increasing number of executions that have taken place in recent months.

That is bad news for anti-death penalty activists like Scharlette Holdman of the Florida Clearinghouse on Criminal Justice, who has said she expects a bad year in terms of executions.

But she has also said she expects those executions to help her win the war against the death penalty in the long run because of a public backlash against so many executions.

In fact, it may be that the opposite is happening. In Florida, the numbers of demonstrators actively protesting the three executions that have taken place since 1979 have become progressively smaller.

In place of the anger that surrounded the execution of John Spenkellink in 1979, the Antone execution in January was marked by quiet, somber, resigned demonstrations, attended primarily by a handful of full-time death penalty opponents.

At the same time, Graham and his staff have become progressively more polished at handling the events of an execution morning, perhaps the surest sign that executions have become routine.

Another sign is that the executions last week of James David Autry in Texas and James W. Hutchins in North Carolina — while still being treated as significant stories in the news media — no longer occupied the high priority places in the papers or on the newscasts.

Supreme Court

5-4 Decision Gives Worker Right To Pursue Claim Against Employer Despite Uncooperative Union

By Spencer Sherman

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court, voting 5-4, ruled Wednesday that a worker has the right to pursue a grievance against his employer even if his union does not back the claim.

The decision, a victory for the National Labor Relations Board, extends the power of a union contract from an organized group of workers to an individual worker with a complaint.

The ruling reverses a decision of the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals that said only groups of workers could pursue grievances against employers because the union contract protected only the "collective" membership of the union.

The dispute arose in May 1979 when City Disposal Systems Inc., which hauls garbage for the city of Detroit, dismissed James Brown for refusing to drive a truck he believed was defective.

Brown's refusal to drive the truck was based on a section of the union contract that said a worker did not have to operate a defective truck. But the union refused to back his claim.

Brown successfully appealed his dismissal to the NLRB but the NLRB ruling was overturned by the appeals court.

The Supreme Court, however, ruled Brown had a right to pursue his grievance.

Justice William Brennan, writing for the majority, said it would not make sense for "a union to negotiate a collective-bargaining agreement if individual employees could not invoke the rights thereby created against the employer."

Justice Lewis Powell, dissenting, said Brown was only challenging an order for him to drive the truck when he was fired, not arguing for a right shared by his fellow workers.

Other Court Action

Customs Officials Cannot Be Sued

In other action, the court: —Ruled 8-1 that U.S. Customs officials cannot be sued for damaging goods seized during an international smuggling investigation.

The justices rejected an appeal filed by a Navy officer whose oriental art collection was impounded by the Customs Service when he returned to Philadelphia Naval Base from a tour of duty in Guam.

Joseph A. Kosak was charged with illegally smuggling his collection in to country for resale. He convinced a federal court jury that the collection was for his personal use and was acquitted.

The Customs Service then returned his collection, which was worth $93,000, but several art objects had been cracked or broken. He sued the Customs Service for $12,000.

Both a federal judge and the U.S. 3rd Circuit Court of Appeals sided with the federal agency, however, ruling that actions taken in the line of duty made the customs officials immune from lawsuits.

Writing for the majority, Justice Thurgood Marshall said Congress explicitly meant to immunize the government from lawsuits brought against the Customs Service when it passed the Federal Tort Claims Act.

The Customs Service made more than 59,000 seizures of property in 1982 in an effort to stem the flow of smuggling drugs and other illegal activities.

IRS May See Accountant's Working Papers

—Ruled unanimously against allowing accounting firms to keep secret working papers used to prepare the taxes of corporations. The court sided with the federal government, which had appealed a ruling allowing such documents, called "tax accrual workpapers," to be withheld to preserve the confidentiality between an accountant and his client company.

Government lawyers said a lower court ruling favorable to Arthur Young and Co., one of the nation's top accounting firms, threatened to prevent the IRS from examining financial records of the nation's largest companies. They added that it also could undermine public confidence in the firms' financial statements.

A federal appeals court had ruled that failure to allow for an accountant-client privilege would handicap investors, who rely on independent auditors for financial information in reports filed by companies with publicly traded securities.

Tax accrual work papers are the company's projection of its tax liability for a particular year based on pending refunds, negotiations and law suits.

Writing for the court in the 9-0 decision, Chief Justice Warren Burger rejected arguments that an independent auditor must have immunity from disclosing his work papers in order to keep a open, honest working relationship with his client.

The accountant's "public watchdog" function demands that he maintain total independence from the client. Otherwise, his "ultimate allegiance" to the corporation's creditors and stockholders, and the investing public would be eroded, Burger said.

"Beyond question it is desirable and in the public interest to encourage full disclosures by corporate clients to their independent accountants; if it is necessary to balance competing interests, however, the need of the government for full disclosure of all information relevant to tax liability must also weigh in that balance," the chief justice said.

Burger added that such a policy choice would be better left to Congress than to the courts.

Arthur Young became involved in the case as the independent auditor for Amerada Hess Corp., the nation's 16th largest oil company.

Amerada Hess, headquartered in New York City, had been using corporate funds to make questionable payments abroad and had taken tax deductions on them. In May 1975, the IRS began an audit to determine the oil company's corporate income tax liability for 1972, 1973 and 1974.

The IRS issued a summons asking for Amerada Hess' tax accrual work papers. When Arthur Young refused to release them, a federal judge ordered the documents surrendered.

The 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New York City reversed, endorsing a "accountant-client privilege" because "these documents should remain confidential in order to protect the reliability of the independent audit process."

If the IRS could get the papers, the appeals court said, corporate management "might not be perfectly candid with independent auditors once it knew that the information revealed would be reachable."

Market Rates OK For Legal Aid

—Ruled 9-0 that non-profit public interest law firms can be awarded attorneys fees in civil rights cases at prevailing market rates rather than just the cost of providing the services. The justices, however, tightened restrictions governing when public interest lawyers may receive a court-approved "bonus" to reflect the work they did in a complicated case.

The fees, authorized by the Civil Rights Attorney's Fees Award Act of 1976, have become a major source of income for many public interest law firms.

They are usually based on the hourly rate charged by private law firms for similar kinds of litigation.

Wednesday's decision came on New York's appeal of a decision ordering it to pay $119,000 to the Legal Aid Society, which brought a successful class-action lawsuit in 1978 involving Medicaid eligibility.

The Legal Aid Society, founded in 1876 to help people who cannot afford a lawyer, won a fee based on an average rate of $100 an hour, plus an additional 50 percent bonus to reflect the complexity of the litigation.

The state argued that the award should be based solely on the actual cost of furnishing the legal services. Anything more than that, it argued, is a windfall for the non-profit groups.

Delivering the court's opinion, Justice Lewis Powell said the 1976 law established that reasonable fees "are to be calculated according to the prevailing market rates in the relevant community, regardless of whether the plaintiff is represented by private or non-profit counsel."

As far as a bonus for complex cases, Powell said there was "no evidence supporting an upward adjustment to fees calculated under the basic standard of reasonable rates times reasonable hours."

Such upward adjustments are only justified "in the rare case where the fee applicant offers specific evidence to show that the quality of service rendered was superior to that one reasonably should expect in light of the hourly rates charged and that the success was exceptional."

Powell knocked off the $39,656 increase the lower court gave to the Legal Aid Society.

Proponents' Scheme Blocked

Comptroller's Order Won't Kill Casino Issue: Graham

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Comptroller Gerald Lewis has told proponents of casino gambling to stop selling stock in their constitutional amendment effort, but Gov. Bob Graham is not betting that the issue will go away.

"I'm not prepared to declare victory over casino gambling yet, but it certainly was a blow," Graham said after Lewis issued his "cease and desist" order Wednesday.

Graham said he was pleased by the order but expected gambling interests to continue trying to legalize casinos.

"I wouldn't be prepared to go to a funeral service yet," Graham said.

"Certainly, it's going to be crippling," Graham said "I think it's very good public policy that this kind of scheme be shut down" and that proponents had been trying to buy their way into the Constitution.

Lewis called a news conference to announce he had issued the "cease and desist" order against Florida Casino Associates Inc., Citizens for Less Taxes Inc. and Earl W. Shomber & Co. Inc. of Miami Beach.

He said FCA, backed by the others, issued a stock prospectus in January saying it would raise $1.5 billion by Feb. 28 to finance a constitutional amendment campaign for casino gambling.

By the 2 p.m. close of banking hours on that date, however, Lewis said the coalition had raised only $834,236.65 — with $665,000 of it coming from three Miami Beach resort owners.

He said organizers quickly contributed another $584,200 of their own money, making a grand total of $1,422,872.26.

Lewis said it was "deceptive" for promoters of the casino drive to offer stock to the public without disclosing that "insider's money" was behind the effort. He said the after-hours infusion of $584,200 was questionable — but that even if it was legal, the gross amount was less than the $1.5 billion the prospectus promised would be raised by Feb. 28.

"They chose this rather unique way to put the issue on the ballot," Lewis said.

3rd DUI Conviction Nets Man 30 Days, $1,000 Fine

A Sanford man had his driver's license suspended 10 years and received a $1,000 fine and 30 days in the Seminole County jail for his third DUI conviction.

Keith L. Scheuring, 26, of 509 Vihlen Road, was found guilty in county court before Judge Wallace H. Hall of driving under the influence for the third time. He was arrested for DUI Nov. 30 by the Sanford police after they responded to a call of trespassing at Uncle Nick's Oyster Bar, 2605 Park Drive, Sanford.

In other court action, the following persons have either pleaded or been found guilty in court of driving under the influence or having an unlawful blood alcohol level, according to court records. As first-time offenders, most of them have had their driver's license suspended for six months, ordered to pay a $250 fine, and complete 50 hours of community service. Usually when a guilty or no contest plea is entered or if the defendant is found guilty of a charge, other charges are either not prosecuted or dismissed. In cases where the sentence differs, the actual sentence is reported:

—Mary Brown Carroll, 36, of 5573 N. Seminole Blvd., Winter Park, arrested Nov. 14 by the Florida Highway Patrol. A charge of failing to maintain a single lane was dismissed.

—Gary Cooper, 23, of Orlando, arrested Jan. 28 by Altamonte Springs police, received a five-year suspension of his driver license, a $500 fine, nine-months probation, five weekends in the county jail and participation in an alcohol education program. Charges of willful and wanton reckless driving and driving with license suspended or revoked were not prosecuted.

—Pamela J. Fields, 27, of Orlando, arrested Dec. 3 by Casselberry police. Charges of violation of driver license restriction and failure to maintain a single lane, were dismissed.

—Robert E. Frey, 57, of Box 25, Sanford arrested Feb. 1 by a sheriff's deputy. A charge of unlawful blood alcohol level was not prosecuted and a charge of failing to maintain a single lane dismissed.

—Walter E. Hand, 50, of Dunwoody Ga., arrested Dec. 2 by the Casselberry police. A charge of failing to maintain a single lane was dismissed.

—James V. Monroe, 20, of 652 Forest Cove, Oviedo, arrested Nov. 11 by Altamonte Springs police. A charge of having an unlawful blood alcohol level was not prosecuted.

—Thomas A. Wingate, 25, 1520 Oak Lane, Casselberry, arrested Nov. 23 by Casselberry police.

—Wayne F. Wutrich, 63, of 3675 Midron Drive, Winter Park, arrested Dec. 3 by Casselberry police. A charge of driving under the influence was not prosecuted and a charge of failing to maintain a single lane dismissed.

The following persons have had their DUI charge amended to the lesser charge of willful and wanton reckless driving:

—Alfred C. Barnes, 55, of 149 E. Cleveland St., Apopka, arrested May 28 by the Florida Highway Patrol. For the amended DUI charge he received a $500 fine. He was also found guilty of failure to drive in a single lane and an unlawful blood alcohol level charge was amended to willful and wanton reckless driving. Sentence for the latter two charges was suspended.

—William D. Bradham, 23, of 411 Belle Ave., Sanford, arrested Dec. 25 by Sanford police. For the amended DUI charge Bradham received a $250 fine. A charge of failing to exhibit a driver license was not prosecuted and a charge of careless driving not prosecuted.

—John F. Mochring, 25, of 221 Apollo Drive., Apopka, arrested Dec. 22 by Altamonte Springs police. For his amended DUI he received a $250 fine. His driver's license was suspended for six months because of unlawfully refusing to take a sobriety test.

—Joseph Allen Semrad, 37, of Ludington, Mich., arrested Jan. 29 by a sheriff's deputy. He received a $250 fine for the amended charge and had a charge of careless driving dismissed.

—Robert D. Starke, 26, of 409 Mellonville Ave., Sanford, arrested Sept.

23 by the Florida Highway Patrol. He received a $250 fine and was ordered to complete 50 hours of community service. Further, his driver's license was suspended six months for unlawfully refusing to take a sobriety test. A charge of driving with a suspended or revoked driver's license was not prosecuted and a charge of having no license plate dismissed.

—Wilma R. Turner, 36, of 8 Gumtree Court, Winter Springs, arrested Nov. 11 by Lake Mary police. For his amended unlawful blood alcohol level charge he received a $250 fine and has to complete 50 hours of community service. A DUI charge was not prosecuted and a charge of careless driving dismissed.

—Wilton H. Wilkinson, 24, of 1026 Princess Gate Blvd., Winter Park, arrested Dec. 26 by Winter Springs police. He received, for his amended DUI charge, a $250 fine and was ordered to complete 50 hours of community service. Three charges were not prosecuted, unlawful blood alcohol level, failing to exhibit driver's license, and driving with a license suspended for revoked.

Other dispositions:

—James A. Platt, 21, of 118 Country Club Road, Sanford, arrested Jan. 31 by Sanford police, had charges against him dismissed after private counsel entered a motion to dismiss.
